Bareback Bronc Riding Was Originally Time-Filler In Rodeo's

The 8-second bareback ride is confusing because some cowboys' wild spurring appears to be simply showing off while in actual fact the rhythm of a man's legs on some horses is all that keeps the rigging -- a handhold on a surcingle like the handle on a suitcase -- from being torn out of his hand. The bareback rider throws his feet forward in time with the horse's jumps, and at the same time this motion keeps his seat close to his riding hand. He's well aware that once he slips from the handhold he's on the launching pad. The further back he gets on a high-kicking horse the further out he is on the catapult.

Also the cowboy who has his riding arm straightened invariably winds up having his cleaned riding hand jerked open.

Rules require the rider's dull spurs to be over the break of the horse's shoulders when the animal lands the first jump out of the chute. Some bareback brones wheel out almost as quickly as the gate can be jerked open and the cowboy has a hard time keeping that outside foot where it is required to be.

The judges are looking for the horse that gives the rider the most trouble for the full eight seconds. Onlookers when hearing the score often are mystified because the bronc who threw the spectacular whinging, one or twice, wasn't marked higher. They failed to take into consideration that for half the eight seconds the horse, in the judges' opinion, wasn't difficult to stay on.

The event originally started as a time-filler when it was necessary to shuffle animals behind the chutes. The riders often were youngsters with nothing but a burning ambition to become rodeo hands and a rope they looped around a wild horse's middle.

The aspirants hung on with both hands and stayed aboard as long as he could for "mount money" usually about $2. Many a rookie who started this way went on to the top.

The equine stars in this event often find their niche because they fire better without a saddle and the restriction of the buck rein.

STAR DRAG CARE — When storing a star-drag reel, always completely back off the tension. Prolong storage with the drag tightened down will ruin the drag discs, causing them to chatter and slip when again put to use.

Two Locations To Serve You

Calf roping is a race against time with seconds counted in decimal points and the money going to the swift -- there is no time to be lost in waste motion, even less to be spent signalling the horse.

To win, horse and rider must work together at peak efficiency with automatic teamwork polished to precision. And that requires constant practice.

The contest begins behind the barrier, a rope stretched across the box-like space where the roper and his mount wait for the quarry to be released. The barrier is automatic, triggered by a measured length of twine around the calf's neck.

If cowboy intends to use two loops, two ropes must be carried. Cowboy must throw calf by hand, cross and tie any three feet. If calf is down when the roper reaches it, he must allow calf to get up and then throw calf. Tie must hold for six seconds after roper calls time.

When the calf, released from the chute, reaches a predetermined head start he hits the end of the twine which falls away as it trips the barrier.

Because a tenth of a second often will win a roping, the roper and his horse try to hit the barrier at the exact moment it is released. If the cowboy rides through the barrier before it trips a penalty of 10 seconds is added to his time, usually enough to keep him from finishing in the money.

So teamwork starts at the roping box. The horse should break instantly on signal from the roper. A slow start will cost precious seconds after the fast breaking calf; a fraction too soon will cost the 10-second penalty.

Out of the box, a good horse will rate the calf, closing on him quickly and holding a steady interval, regardless of how the calf bobs and weaves. Most ropers like their horse to stay a length behind and a fraction to one side to allow a clean throw.

If the thrown loop misses, the cowboy gets another try, provided he carries another rope tied to the saddle. Calf roping is catch as catch can as long as the loop holds until the roper gets his hands on the calf.

The horse's quick stop is used by the cowboy to propel him down the rope to the calf. He comes off the horse running. If stop and dismount are not timed perfectly the roper is left flat-footed beside his horse.

On the ground, the roper must throw the calf by hand, a task made easier if the horse keeps backed against a tight rope. The calf may be downed either by "legging" -- using a foreleg as a pry to tip him over -- or by "flanking" -- picking the animal up bodily and laying him on his side.

Once the calf is downed, the cowboy gathers three legs, wraps and ties them with a short, light rope, called a pigging string, carried either in his mouth, or tucked in his belt. He signals completion of his run by raising both hands high. Smoothness, in calf roping is all-important. The cowboy who never gets "in a storm" with a calf has not always drawn the easiest stock. Often his instinctive knowledge of when to move in, just when to flank or leg his catch, makes the whole run seconds faster than if he had

Bull Riding Most Popular, Also Most Dangerous Event In Rodeo

The most popular riding event, and the most dangerous in rodeo, is the bull riding. Watching these cross-bred Brahmas do everything but turn inside many who have gone a whole season without being ridden the required eight seconds, but there are some who will go after the rider whether he left their back intentionally or not.

Because bulls will charge a man or horseback -- and pick-up men can't be used as in the other two riding events -- only the clown can help the scrambling, stunned, or upended cow-out the question immediately arises why would anybody in their right mind get on these heaving, spinning juggernauts. Not only have there been boys.

At this moment, the man in the baggy raiment is the most important person in the world to the bull rider. Often his courage, recognition of what a bull has on his mind and his reactive speed, is the reason that bull rider can eat supper that night.

If a man is motivated by testing his own nerve, bull riding will do it. In addition, the event has added appeal because any one who can ride half his stock during the season will wind up with a lot of prize money.

In the other riding events an unlucky cowboy conceivably could draw horse after horse on which he couldn't win a dime.

A bull rider uses a rope which is looped like a noose around the animal's middle. It is a flat plait with a handhold like the snug handle of a dufflebag. The rider puts his gloved hand in this loop, knuckles down, and a helping friend, standing on the chute, pulls the slack out of the rope as if he were tugging a heavy bucket from a well.

When the rope's tightness feels right to the rider, he takes the free end of the rope and lays it across his palm. Then he wraps it once behind his hand and lays it across his palm again. He clenches his fist with everything he can muster! he hunches his body close to his hand and, as soon as he feels the bull standing squarely, he nods and the gate swings open.

As long as the cowboy doesn't touch the bull with his free hand and still has his riding hand on some part of the rope at the end of the eight seconds, the judges will score his ride from 1 to 25 on how hard the bull bucked, and from 1 to 25 on how well the cowboy rode.

A bull rider dreads being bucked off away from his riding hand. When this happens his weight -- even though his fist has opened -- can bind the wrap behind his hand and there he's hung. Looking like a rag doll tied to a mad dog, the cowboy is helpless until his hand wrenches free or the clown comes to his rescue.

SWIFT WATER FISHING — You can fish fast-current water without having to use a pound of weight to reach bottom. Simply cast ahead and into the current. Your baited hook will reach bottom by the time the current carries in across in front of you.

WINCH CAUTION — Before putting a strain on your boat trailer winch be sure the anti-reverse gear is engaged. A wildly spinning winch handle can badly bark knuckles and even break fingers.

One Of Rodeo's Oldest Events Is Saddle Bronc Riding Contest

Oddly enough, saddle bronc riding, the classic event, has less competitors than any other in professional rodeo.

Cowboys with little ranching experience yet with a strong hand, have gone to the top in bull riding and bareback bronc riding, but rodeo's oldest event, and with roping, the most closely linked to actual ranch work, demands a contestant with years of actual experience on rough horses.

Few outsiders have ever crashed the upper ranks. The instinctive reactions required to keep the stirrups, sense what a horse will do next, and the rhythm required -- because there is nothing solid to hang onto -- make this event one in which there is no substitute for the school of hard knocks.

To give the horse every advantage, the rider is required to have his dulled spurs over the point of the animal's shoulders when the bronc's front feet hit the ground first jump out of the chute.

Quoting former six-time world champion saddle bronc rider, Casey Tibbs, "the first thing we think about when we know what horse we've drawn, is how much rein we'll give him. If we don't know the horse, we'll find someone who has been on him and they'll tell us."

The dependency a cowboy has on his rein makes the difference between the good and the champion rider. A man who is not dependent on the rein alone -- relying greatly on balance -- can use his feet with more freedom. The judges, marking the rider from 1 to 25, will give him a higher mark for this full arc stroke which cowboys call "lick."

Equally important is the fact that some horses, which the judges also score from 1 to 25 on how hard they buck, will "turn on" better if his passenger isn't hanging on to the rein with brute strength.

The rider is marked down by the judges if he loses control -- cowboys call it "getting into a storm" -- and in this event the saddle itself makes recovery more difficult. The cantle of the saddle, behind, and the swells, in front, get under a man and literally knock him out of there. The fear of hanging up in a stirrup, always in the back of the rider's mind, is another angle adding to the event's danger.

In the fraternity of saddle broncs, the tried and true cam-them. In spite of the fact one of these horses may be the victor over a cowboy more often than not, that same cowboy has a quiet affection for this consistent, hard-trying opponent. For this cowboy knew, had he been able to stay aboard, the judges would have given the horse a high marking and the cowboy could have won money.

"WEEKLY MEDITATIONS"

Love Makes The Difference
Bible Thought: "If ye love me, ye will keep my commandments." (John 14:15).

Love for God is the noblest motive that moves a man to serve God. A man may believe in God and in Jesus Christ as His Son (John 12:42), and be unfaithful, but when a man loves God he will keep His commandments. Jesus said, "He that loveth me... and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him." (John 14:21). Thousands upon thousands of people believe in God and in Jesus as the Son of God, but they refuse to obey the gospel in order to be saved, because they have not love for God or because they have misunderstood what true love is.

The apostle Paul said, "And now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; but the greatest of these is love." (1 Corinthians 13:13).

Jesus said, "If a man love me, he will keep my word: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him. He that loveth me not keepeth not my sayings: and the word which ye hear is not mine, but the Father's which sent me." (John 14:23-24). "But whoso keepeth his word, in him verily hath the love of God been perfected: Hereby know we that we are in him." (1 John 2:5). "For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments: and his commandments are not grievous." (1 John 5:3). Love for God and obedience to His will are inseparable. When Christians forsake the assembling of themselves together (Hebrews 10:25), to go fishing, attend to business or recreation, it is not because they no longer believe in God, but their hearts have been stolen and they love self or something else more than they love God. Like the Ephesian Christians, they have lost their first love. The apostle John therefore wrote, "I know thy works, and thy labour, and thy patience, and how thou canst not bear them which are evil: and thou hast tried them which say they are apostles, and are not, and hast found them liars: And hast borne, and hast patience, and for my name's sake hast laboured, and hast not fainted. Nevertheless, I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love: Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and do the first works; or else I will come unto thee quickly, and will remove thy candlestick out of his place, except thou repent." (Revelation 2:2-5).

A Pharisee once questioned Jesus about the greatness of the Law of Moses. The lawyer asked Him, "Master, which is the great commandment in the law?" Jesus said unto him, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets." (Matthew 22:34-40).

Truly, one can believe without love, but one cannot truly love God without believing and obeying.

Rodeo's Most Exciting Event Is The Wild Steer Wrestling

Steer wrestling has a surprising number of spectator votes for the most exciting event in the rodeo arena. When a man drops from a galloping horse onto the horns of a steer who is going full tilt, stops the steer and throws it to the ground, they have seen skill overcome heavily weighted odds.

The first time people see this they are sure the strongest man, who is lucky enough to draw the slowest and most cooperative steer, should be the winner. The truth is, the man who quickly and consistently can get a steer off balance while he himself stays in control is on the way to the winner's circle.

Briefly, the secret is this. As the cowboy catches up to the steer he reaches with his right hand, scooping up the right horn, and as his horse speeds by the steer the cowboy gets this horn snugly in the crook of his right elbow. At the same time, his left hand pushes down on the other horn while his horse veers off to the left. The cowboy's heels are dropped ahead, and at a 45 degree angle, to the path the steer is taking.

Digging in his heels, the cowboy is tipping the steer's head as much as he can and pulling it toward the center of a left-hand turn. As the steer stops -- his hindquarters having swung around -- the cowboy's left hand reaches for the animal's up-turned nose and with this hold he is able to throw the steer on its side.

The winning run takes perfect coordination. Besides the steer wrestler and his horse there is a second man who starts from the opposite side of the steer and his job is to keep the animal running straight.

The steer actually trips the barrier, in front of the contestant's horse, when he reaches the end of a premeasured light rope. This rope is looped around his horns - in it there is a breakable string link which allows it to fall free. Another such link in the barrier breaks should the steer wrestler hit it before the steer crosses the scoreline.

During the year thousands of dollars are divided by split seconds so the art of brushing the barrier becomes important.

The hazer appears to be merely galloping alongside the steer and to the uninitiated onlooker all he clearly does is retrieve his partner's horse after the jump is made. In reality, from the moment the steer leaves the chute the hazer plays an important part. Possible mishaps might include the steer slamming on the brakes or veering away from the oncoming steer wrestler, so the hazer has to foresee these possibilities -- and do something about them -- in a matter of split seconds.

NYLON CARE — Nylon rope on your boat trailer winch won't rot, but be careful of rust gathering on the winch sides and spindle. This rust can cut nylon. Occasionally remove the nylon rope from the winch. Carefully sand the spindle and sides and coat with a rust resistant paint.

Stop Short Strikes

Often when ralling a pork rind on your lure, especially from a bait equipped with a treble hook, the fish will strike short. There are two ways to remedy this.

First is to switch to a tall hook pork rind.

Second, open the eye of another hook and attach it to the shanks of one of the treble hooks.

Silencing the Bow

Why take a chance that even the slightest twang of a bow string might scare game and give away your position?

You can silence your bow string with rubber bands cut from an inner tube. Bands should be at least six inches long and tied top and bottom to bow string about two inches from tip.

FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL

Saul Pullman Formally Announces
For State Representative, 63rd Dist.

Saul Pullman 25, Eastland attorney has formally announced as a candidate for State Representative for the 63rd District. The District is composed of Callahan, Eastland, Palo Pinto, Shackelford and Stephens counties.

Pullman a graduate of Texas Christian University as well as the University of Texas Law School has lived in Eastland his entire life and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pullman who are pioneers of Eastland.

His announcement is as follows:

"I am the only Candidate who is a lawyer and who has graduated from college. I feel that if a man is going to be a strong Representative for the 63rd District, he must have graduated from college so that he can give full time to the people of these five counties whenever they should call on him. I know from my own experience at the University of Texas, that many members of the legislature were attending Law School with me. This I feel is a great injustice to the people at home that sent these men to Austin to represent them."

"My decision to become a candidate for the Texas House of Representatives stem from a keen sense of duty in government affairs. It is the responsibility of every citizen to give of himself to truly make this a government of the people, by the people, and for the people. The increased demands of legislation at the state level and the complexity of state government calls for aggressive and intelligent representation. I believe that my education at T.C.U. and the University of Texas Law School qualifies me for this public office.

"I believe that a state legislator should not go alone to Austin. He must work in harmony with the county delegations and receive ideas and aid from a cross-section of his District. He must acknowledge that it is the people who sent him to represent them and he must follow their suggestions."

"There are no real issues in this race because none of us Candidates have held the office before. All the laws that have been passed are the law and we had nothing to do with it. We should look to the future and do what the people of these five counties want. As your State Representative I pledge full time, energetic positive representation in Austin for our District. I believe that the government should use the same prudence which in private life would forbid our paying money for unexplained projects and not have unexplained disposition of public money. If this is followed I feel that our present source of revenue is sufficient without an increase in taxes."

"If I am elected your State Representative the best interest of the 63rd District will be my constant goal."

An Open Letter To The People Of CALLAHAN COUNTY

In recent weeks I have tried, with all the time available to me, to contact as many people of this county as possible in regard to my present campaign for reelection to a second term as County Judge.

I am impressed by the manifestations of good citizenship by our citizens as evidenced by their interest in political issues and the affairs of their government.

The best way to have a good government is to have interested individuals who make an effort to find out what is going on in their government and people who acquaint themselves with the candidates and what they stand for. I want to emphasize that we as elected officials are representatives of and directly responsible to the people and during my first term I have attempted to follow the will of the people. Each decision made has been based on what was considered to be the best for Callahan County.

Many Changes In Laws

When I took office, I was familiar with many of the responsibilities of being County Judge and I have tried to keep abreast of the many new and changing laws regarding probate, juvenile, criminal, civil and administrative procedures; also I have found many small but important decisions which must be constantly made. I feel my first term has made me better qualified to serve you. At all times I can say with humility that I have tried with all my power and ability to do what I felt in my heart was the right thing to do. I can only pledge to continue to serve you as best I can.

Expenditures Cut Over $100,000

During my first term in which I have been privileged to serve you as your County Judge, income to the County has decreased by approximately $60,000 per year, due largely to a decrease in county oil evaluation. While other expenses such as social security, postage and equipment has increased, the expenditures of the county have been cut by over $100,000. The criminal case load has increased from 112 in 1962 to 211 in 1965. Approximately 27 miles of Farm to Market Road has been built where the state average is only 4 miles per year. Indebtedness of Callahan County has decreased from $152,000 when I took office to only $60,000 as of this time.

Duties at the courthouse do not allow me the time needed to contact every citizen of the county, although I would like with all my heart to do so. To those of you I am unable to meet and talk with before the forthcoming election, I hope you will consider this as a personal solicitation of your vote and influence.

Richardson Thanks People of Callahan County

I wish to thank each of you for the privilege of having served as your County Judge for one term and promise that if reelected I will rededicate myself to working untiringly for the best interest of all of our people at all times.

Sincerely,

Byron Richardson
Candidate For A Second Term As
CALLAHAN COUNTY JUDGE

Hi neighbor! People out this way are still rejoicing over the rain we got the past week. From Friday until now we have got 3.3 here at my house. Other places have got more, some less. We haven't caught very much water in the stock tanks yet. Hope we get a hard rain that will fill the tanks.

Betty Mobley and Mabel Carico visited last Wednesday morning a while with Ruth Mobley, who is in the hospital at Baird. We are glad to say she is doing fine, and Mrs. Laura Jobe is feeling a lot better. She is also in the hospital.

Visiting Sunday with Mark and Ollie Burnam were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Burnam of Stanton. They are trying to get their house at Lake Leon ready to move into. I had heard they had already moved in, but they haven't.

The Mobley girls and I visited a while with D. A. Yarbrough while we were in Baird. He is doing OK.

Mark and Ollie Burnam were shopping and visiting in Baird last Wednesday.

James, Gayle and Steven Isenhower were visiting the Burnams and Isenhowers over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Allen of Cisco visited a while with the Burette Ramseys Sunday afternoon. Reba Francisco and Mrs. Grady Pruet also visited the Ramseys Sunday afternoon.

The Jeter reunion met last weekend at Cisco in the camp grounds. There were 80 people registering. Think the high water kept several from getting to come. Bro. Larry Jordon, Miss Becky Barlow and Burette Ramsey and I went down after church and had dinner with them. There was lots of good food, and we enjoyed seeing all of them. Visited a while in the afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hazelwood of Dothan, at the reunion.

Last Thursday, Johnny May Ramsey, Linda Hughes, Mabel Carrico and I went to Abilene. We enjoyed looking and shopping a little.

Friday afternoon I went to Cisco and spent the night and Saturday with my sister, Fay Wood. While there we went over to see our aunts, Lucille Kelley and Lennis Wood. Sorry Lennis is not feeling so well. She has a real bad cold but was feeling some better.

Fay and I drove over to Eastwood Saturday afternoon. Shopped a little, mostly looked.

Guess I better get busy, so be good and I hope to see you next week.

Leonard Swafford of Midkiff visited his mother, Mrs. Lillie Swafford and other relatives over the weekend.

Mrs. Lee Ivey Visits In Jefferson

Mrs. Lee Ivey, a member of the Callahan County Historical Survey Committee, visited in Jefferson last weekend where she attended the Jefferson Historical Pilgrimage, sponsored by the Jessie Wise Garden Club.

The town ranks first in Texas in the number of official Texas Historical Medallions and Markers placed on homes and business buildings, a total of 46. Each year a number of beautiful homes built before the Civil War when the town was the second largest port in Texas, are opened to the public.

Special features included the Presbyterian Manse, built in 1839, the Excelsior Hotel, built in 1954, where in 1881, Jay Gould wrote on the guest register "The end of Jefferson," and the Freeman Plantation which has been designated by Congress as having outstanding architecture. The elegantly decorated private railroad car of the late Mr. Gould also stands in the center of the old town.

Mrs. Ivey was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. R. V. Pinson of Cleburne, her daughter-in-law Mrs. Tom Ivey of Big Spring, and the latter's mother, Mrs. John A. Allen of McAdoo.

They also visited relatives and friends in Henderson, Jacksonville, Overton and Dallas. They reported that wildflowers especially bluebonnets and Indian paint brush were abundant and beautiful along the roadside.

He repeated his performance again Saturday, plus campaign speeches.

During the course of his campaign tour, Musgrove and his bandwagon made appearances in several surrounding towns.

May 1, 1966 An Important Date

Wheat producers who have signed intentions to participate in the 1966 program and have excess wheat acreage have until May 1 to: (1) dispose of the excess acreage, (2) notify the county office, (3) pay the cost for checking the disposition (when required). Failure to take the above action will violate the wheat agreement and no payment can be made.

Acreage to be diverted under all annual programs (wheat, feed grain, and cotton) cannot be grazed between May 1 and November 1, 1966. Harvesting of any crop from diverted acreage during this year is not permissible except that it can be grazed other than between the dates listed above.

By your vote on May 7th, you can show that time has run out for the kind of unproductive, ineffective congressional representation we have had for 20 years. STATE CAPITAL
Highlights AND Sidelights
by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Candidates for statewide offices are getting set for the final week of their campaign.

Democrats will vote at their May 7 primary for seven statewide offices.

Spotlight has been on the race for attorney general. Candidates are Galloway Calhoun, of Tyler, Crawford Martin of Hillsboro and Franklin Spears of San Antonio.

Spears pledges efforts to improve law enforcement. Martin is emphasizing his 27 years' experience as a lawyer and his long service as state senator and secretary of state. Calhoun identifies himself as the "only real conservative" in the race.

All three candidates are eyeing the large number of voters who apparently still are undecided despite their long campaigns.

Gov. John Connally, seeking a third term, virtually has ignored attacks on his administration by Stanley Woods of Houston. The third candidate for governor, Johnnie Mae Hackworth of Brenham, has not actively campaigned.

Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline, running as Woods' ticket-mate, is opposing Lt. Gov. Preston Smith.

Paul B. Haring of Gollad is waging a spirited campaign against incumbent Railroad Commissioner Byron Tunnell of Tyler.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr is opposed by political newcomer John R. (Jack) Willoughby of Houston for the U. S. Senate nomination.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has opposition from Fred Williams of Del Rio.

Only contested statewide judicial race is between incumbent Court of Criminal Appeals Judge W. T. McDonald of Bryan and District Judge John F. Onion of San Antonio.

Light voter interest is expected to be reflected in a predicted 50 per cent voter turnout.

POPULATION — Texas is growing at the rate of 1.5 per cent a year, UT's Population Research Center reports.

An estimate of population shows that there were 10,336,141 Texans on April 1, 1965. This is a gain of 756,464 over the 1960 census.

Irrigated farming areas in the High Plains produced the two fastest growing counties - Randall and Deaf Smith. Respective growth rates are 7.7 and 7.1 per cent a year. Hartley County, in the top of the Panhandle, has gained 7 per cent a year.

But Texans still are moving to town. Study shows that the 21 metropolitan counties, which contain cities of 50,000 or more, gained 637,374 of the total. Only three of the 21 failed to gain. They are Midland Ector and Cameron Counties.

POLLUTION — Population growth essentially is to blame for growing problems of stream pollution. For example, the State water plan, soon to be released, predicts that Fort Worth and Dallas will be discharging 750,000 acre feet of waste water a year into the Trinity River.

This prediction has the Texas Water Pollution Control Board looking for ways to require cities and industries to treat their wastes so they will not cause pollution. Board must adopt a plan for maintaining good quality water in all Texas streams by June 30, 1967, or Federal agencies will take over the job.

Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, has appropriated $25,000 to be used, with matching money from the Pollution Control Board, to devise a work plan for a $4,000,000 study of how to keep the Galveston Bay System clean.

COLLEGES — Population growth produces more college students. Coordinating Board forecasts that enrollments in 17 state colleges and universities will double by 1978 -- from 115,15 to 260,097.

This determination was made for the purpose of splitting up the $156,000,000 Texans will pay in the next 12 years on the 10 cent per $100 ad valorem tax to finance college buildings at the 17 schools. Schools in the University of Texas and Texas A&M Systems get their building money from their permanent fund endowment.

A $20,000,000 bond issue to finance the first two years of student loans under an overall $85,000,000 state program was approved by the Board.

TOURISTS — Texas Highway Department reports that 12,688,000 tourists visiting Texas by car in 1965 spent $613,148,000 -- 16.4 per cent more than in 1964.

Governor Connally, pushing for tourism, pointed out that when air, train and bus visitors are added to the total, it shows that $907,000,000 was spent by the visitors.

He also emphasized the need for more recreational facilities at major reservoirs during the dedication of Canyon Dam on the Guadalupe River.

AG RULINGS — A County Sheriff of his deputies may not contract with an incorporated city to provide it police protection which are performed regularly by city police officers or city marshals. Atty. Gen. Carr so advised Galveston County District Atty. Jules Damlana Jr. In other opinions Carr concluded that:

In order to obtain a Texas license to practice chiropractic, it's immaterial whether an applicant has passed an examination conducted by the National Board of Chiropractic Examiners.

Only territory that was in Justice Precinct 2 of Denton County, when voters legalized sale of beer in 1935, legally is wet. Precinct was enlarged in 1948, taking in part of a dry precinct.

Lamar County Hospital District has no authority to convey any of its land to the county as a site for a building to house welfare agencies.

EMERGENCY PLAN ACCEPTED — A committee named to draw up a plan for management of natural resources in the event of a nuclear attack knocked out federal controls presented its report to Governor Connally.

Area covered by the plan include construction, economic stabilization, electric power, food, petroleum and gas, health, transportation, water, industrial production, housing and manpower.

Connally requested the Emergency Resources Planning Committee to remain in operation 60 days longer.

COURT SPEAKS — Texas Supreme Court agreed with lower courts that A&M Consolidated Independent School District (Brooks County) tax assessments are not arbitrary though district does not levy on personal property like bank deposits, autos and furniture.

High court declined to review a damage judgment favoring a Lubbock area farmer who said his hogs were killed by aerial spray.

Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld a 1965 permit allowing a Bexar County concern to discharge 696,000 gallons of treated sewage into Salado Creek near San Antonio.

Court of Criminal Appeals ordered new trial for C. L. McCaleb who had been convicted of selling securities without registering with state securities commissioner.

OEO APPROVALS — Governor Connally has announced approval of seven projects under the Economic Opportunity Act.

Projects are: Jim Wells County, $69,198; Matagorda, Brazoria and Fort Bend Counties, $64,560; Harrison-Panola Counties, $24,217; Victoria, $13,459; Cottle, Foard, Hardeman and Wilbarger Counties, $11,046; Nacogdoches, $7,692; and Castro County, $27,477.

OIL OUTPUT BOOSTED — Texas Railroad Commission raised the limit on oil production to 35 per cent of potential -- highest point for the month of May in seven years.

Allowable was boosted due to increasing demand and decreasing stocks on hand.

New allowable is an increase of 75,700 barrels a day over April.

SHORT SNORTS — Grayson County officials received a Highway Department survey recommending a new route for U. S. 75 from Sherman to the Red River.

Texas veterans are paying up well on their farm and ranch loans, with only 4.44 per cent of the 28,199 active accounts, due November 1, late on their payments, reports Land Commissioner Sadler.

State Health Department advised local health units of the new Federal aid policy making birth control information available to all who seek it.

Governor Connally named

Frank W. Mayborn, Temple newspaperman, to the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, succeeding the late W. R. Baumler.
