LISD drops appeal Mandatory drug testing now over

Economic considerations finally ended the mandatory drug testing battle between LISD and the ACLU, Wednesday, May 23rd.

The Lockney School Board signed a compromise settlement on that date, agreeing to stop mandatory drug testing in LISD, and pay a settlement amount of $50,000 (in attorney's fees). In return, Larry Tannahill (acting on behalf of his minor son, Brady) would release the school district and the board of trustees from any further lawsuits.

"This is a business decision," said LISD Superintendent Raymond Lusk. "The number one reason we have agreed to settle is because of an economic situation."

According to Lusk the insurance company (which is an Oklahoma Insurance Company), is pulling out of Texas and cancelling all of their Texas policies.

"They had assured us we were covered during the litigation," said Lusk. "But there is always a fine print clause that addresses settlements. The clause stipulates that the insurance company can't force us to settle. However if the insurance company decides it wants to settle (which it did), then they will tell you a dollar amount on what they feel they can settle with. That dollar amount would be all they will continue to pay you.

"We could not have continued this fight to the Supreme Court with the dollar amount they set."

According to Lusk the school's attorney had advised the board that they had a 50% chance of winning the case in the Supreme Court.

LISD and Lockney parent Larry Tannahill have been in a legal battle since February 2000 when Lockney Jr. High and High School began random drug testing of 6th-12th grade students.

Tannahill objected to the policy's criteria that a parent must sign the policy and any refusal to consent to the drug testing would be considered a positive test by the student.

Tannahill refused to sign. Backed by the ACLU, Tannahill filed suit on behalf of his 6th grader son, Brady. Tannahill said the mandatory drug testing violated his constitutional rights against unreasonable search and seizure.

The policy was amended in July 2000. In the new policy refusal to sign would not be considered a positive test. Instead refusal would subject the student to a ban from extracurricular activities. The new policy included only 7th-12 grade students.

March 1, U.S. District Judge Sam Cummings ruled in favor of Tannahill.

March 29th, the LISD Board voted to appeal the decision.

The policy created controversy and drew a large amount of local and national media attention to the small town of Lockney. On the local level the drug policy was supported by the majority of Lockney citizens.

Lusk said he would appreciate input from the Lockney community on whether they want the school board to revisit this issue with an alternative policy—such as an aggressive voluntary policy. "I would like feedback from parents if they want us to pursue it," said Lusk.

(The school board also released a statement concerning the settlement which can be found on page 2.)

Tannahill said he is glad the lawsuit is settled. "It is a relief and I hope it calms down now. I know it caused hard feelings, but I felt the school board went too far with the policy. It is the parent's prerogative to test their child—not the schools."

Tannahill also said he would not sign his son up for voluntary drug testing unless he saw a need for testing his son. "If other parents think it is necessary then that's fine. It should be their choice."

PAC opens automotive center

The Parent Adolescent Center is now ready to venture out into new areas of vocational training for the youth at the Center.

Chad Green, of Floydada, has recently been hired to teach PAC residents the art of automotive skills.

The newly built automotive center at PAC is part of the Vocational Instructional Program (VIP) being implemented at the Center.

Born and raised in Floydada, Green graduated Floydada High School in 1992. He studied diesel mechanics at TSTI and has previously worked at City Auto, Ray Lee Equipment and Brown Implement. He is married to Tali Green and has a 22 month old son. He is the son of Don and Carolyn Green, of Floydada.

As the Vocational Coordinator, Chad teaches automotive services and oversees all work.

"The kids seem to be enjoying this and are willing to learn," said Green. "It is interesting work for me and very challenging. The residents will enjoy it even more once we get busy."

"We are so fortunate to have this new facility," said Chief Juvenile Probation Officer Bruce Ballou. "It was all donated to us. The cost of construction, tools, and equipment was paid for through the generosity of Jim Doucette, of Lockney. He donated between $65,000 - $70,000.

"We are grateful that Mr. Doucette believes in us and for his investment in our children's future.

"We also wrote for and received a grant for operating costs for the next 3 years. The revenue generated from services will be put back into the VIP program."

Ballou said others in the community have also donated to the project. "People have been very cooperative," said Ballou. "The support has been marvelous. The City of Floydada has donated service work and other private individuals have donated service and equipment."

The VIP program would benefit now from donations of old cars or motors for residents to work on. All donations are tax deductible.

Regional champs going to state

Ladyhorns make school history

By Coach Hallmark

With a total 49 points, the Ladyhorns made history with their team championship win at the Regional Track Meet in Abilene.

"I could not be more proud of these young ladies and what they were able to do this past weekend in Abilene," said Coach Hallmark. "It is extremely difficult to win a regional track meet and this feat was accomplished by just five girls. This has never been done in the school's history."

Competing were Brandy Collins, Elizabeth Torrez, Jenna Ford, and Vanessa Walker. The alternate to the relays is Laci Schumacher.

Jenna Ford and Vanessa Walker both competed in field events. Jenna competed in the long jump and Vanessa competed in the triple jump. Neither one finished the way they would have liked, but bounced back extremely well the next day in the running events.

Things got off to a great start as the 400 meter relay team of Brandy, Elizabeth, Jenna and Vanessa finished 1st with a time of 49.6 and a trip to Austin.

This was followed by Brandy and Vanessa in the 100 meter dash. Brandy finished 2nd with a time of 12.4 and a trip to Austin as Vanessa, who went into the finals as the 8th fastest time, moved up two spots to finish 6th which would be big in the point total.

The same four ladies that ran the 400 meter relay ran the 800 meter relay. The 800 meter relay came down to a photo finish and placed 2nd with a time of 1:45.52 and a trip to Austin.

Jenna Ford made the finals in the 200 meter dash. She entered the race as the 6th fastest time, but in order for the Ladyhorns to take the lead in the point standing she had to beat a girl from Olney and Jenna moved up two spots to finish 4th.

"These young ladies have represented the school and community

County to benefit from another Boll Weevil office

Floyd County can now boast of two new businesses after the official news release this week of a Lockney location for a Boll Weevil Eradication District Office.

Floydada had already acquired a district office in March, which is now located in what was formerly Babe's Restaurant.

The new district office in Lockney will be located in the City's Community Center.

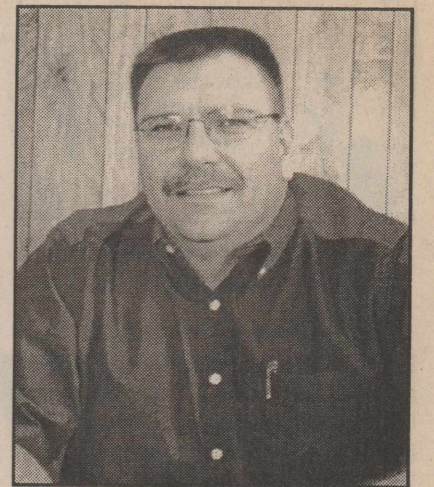

The Northern High Plains Boll Weevil Eradication Program will lease the Community Center from the city for 3 years with 2 one year options.

The City of Lockney will air condition the building and lay rocks or gravel in the lot around the Community Center. The Floydada School District will also join in the economic development by donating the use of a lot south of the Community Center for Boll Weevil vehicle parking.

The lot was recently donated to the school in memory of George Taylor. After the boll weevil office vacates the community center the lot will be used for baseball park parking.

Lockney Co-op Gin has also leased half of the old Wofford Manufacturing Building to the Eradication Program for use as a shop.

Floyd County is part of Zone 6 of the Northern High Plains Boll Weevil Eradication Program (NHPBWE), and has been very fortunate to be the recipient of two district offices. Other counties in Zone 6 are: Hale, Swisher, Randall, Armstrong, and Briscoe.

Zone Manager Wes Jones, said the Lockney office will be open as soon as possible, however phone calls can now be made to the Floydada office at 983-5964.

According to Jones, permanent positions the Lockney office will employ are: 5 Field Unit Supervisors, 1 District Supervisor, 1 Environmental Monitoring Specialist, 1 Field Clerk, and 1 mechanic.

"This year we will hire 15-20 seasonal employees," said Jones. "Next year this will increase to 35-40 trappers, 5 ground observers, 5 mist

Jenna Payne earns 2nd trip to State

By Bill Gray

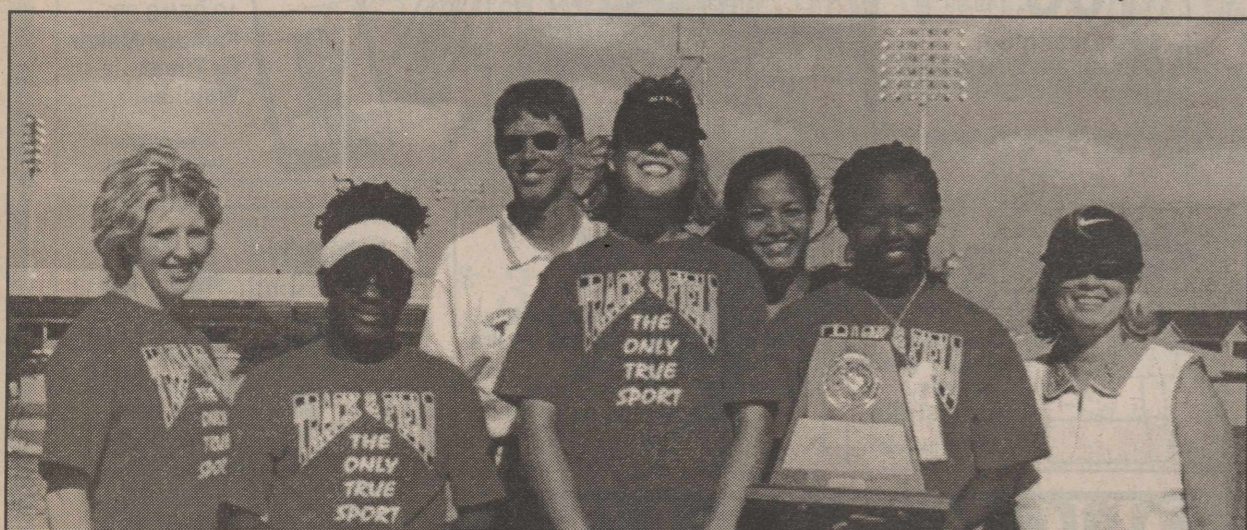

Floydada junior Jenna Payne ran to a first-place finish in the 3,200-meter run at the Region 1-2A Meet at Abilene Christian University on April 27. Payne out-distanced Sundown's Andrea Yberra by 20 meters, capturing her second consecutive trip to the State Track Meet in Austin. Jenna's winning time of 11 minutes 57.29 was her personal best-ever in the grueling event.

Sixteen girls from Region 1-2A's eight districts participated in the 3,200-meter run, with the top two finishers earning a ticket to the State Meet. Hobbs of Sonora set the early pace, and took the lead in the first lap. Payne held the second position after

Yes, Lubbock Has Running Water--and Knight Too

By Berry Tramel
Sports Editor
Daily Oklahoman
Reprinted With Permission

"To hear the national masses tell it, Robert Montgomery Knight has landed at an outpost so remote, it's next in line for the setting of Survivor.

You'd think Lubbock was in Mongolia, not West Texas. Writers journeying to Lubbock to get a rise out of Knight act as if they're headed for a stagecoach ride after flight to Dallas. They talk about Texas Tech the way Kelvin Sampson talks about Montana Tech. To which I say, bullfeathers.

You want remote, try the Chicago suburbs. You can't get anywhere from there. Driving from downtown Chi Town to the suburban border, I once went 58 miles in five hours. And people bad-mouth Lubbock because it's four hours west of Dallas?

I like Lubbock. Lubbock is cool. American rock 'n roll was born in Lubbock, in Buddy Holly's garage. Lubbock has the Big 12's best steakhouse, the 50 Yard Line. Southwest flies to Lubbock, and anywhere Southwest goes is good by me. Lubbock has streets as wide as freeways and some of the nicest people you'll ever meet and weather like you've never seen before.

I once spent five days in Lubbock, during which we had a flood, a heat wave and a dust storm. Boring it ain't. Lubbock feels good. Feels like the frontier. Feels like an America that's hard to find. Lubbock is Texas the way it used to be. The way it claims to be.

Lubbock is the perfect place for Bob Knight. Tech is far removed from the media glare. Knight once toiled at Indiana, where writers trip over themselves chronicling the Hoosiers. Only one newspaper covers Tech full time. Knight has committed many transgressions. But one of his chief hobbies was pot shots at the media. We are too easy a target for Knight. He sees us like birds on a high line and can't keep himself from firing a .22, just to see us scatter.

After the dust has settled in Lubbock, if Knight throws a chair or shames a young writer or curses out a ref, it won't automatically lead off that night's SportsCenter. In Lubbock, Knight won't coach a bunch of young lads raised to believe he's the state's high priest. He'll coach some raw-boned West Texans raised to believe that if a guy grabs you by the neck, you punch him right in the nose. Maybe that's what Knight has needed for these many years.

Knight in Lubbock seems like a grand marriage. Knight most needs redemption, a chance to prove he's not what America thinks he is (a bully) but what Indiana folks swear he is (a stern coach who turns boys into men). The frontier has brought redemption for centuries. The frontier is fresh-start territory.

While Lubbock provides Knight a frontier bunk, Knight provides Lubbock a little recognition. The nation will come to Lubbock and discover it's no Mongolia. Monday night, Knight and Tech president David Schmidly appeared on CNN's Larry King Show. King seemed shocked that Tech was more than a Technical school; Schmidly pointed out that Tech has a law school, a medical school and rampant liberal arts programs.

Maybe he should have mentioned running water, too."

PAC opens automotive center

Ballou said the intent of VIP is to "teach job related skills to PAC residents so they can be successful in young adult hood."

The automotive services being offered to the community include large and small engine repair, including: car washes, oil changes, brake work, tire repair and replacement, wheel balancing, engine overhauls and replacements, and irrigation overhauls. Repair will also be offered on lawn and garden equipment as well as tractors.

"We also plan on offering classes to other kids," said Ballou. "We would like to develop an elective automobile mechanics class for the local school districts."

"We have also discussed developing classes to teach women preventive maintenance on vehicles, changing tires, checking oil, etc."

The automotive center is just one component of VIP. The Center is also working on an Industrial Arts Component (woodworking). "We hope to have a facility soon for this," said Ballou.

"We feel like we've been successful with juveniles in our current system but there is a portion of the population of offenders that are in need of vocational skills. After going through the vocational program we feel like the kids that graduate will be better prepared for adult living and less likely to re-offend. With this new addition to the staff I feel this makes us one of the finest small departments in the state."

PAC plans an Open House for the facility on May 18th. Anyone needed more information should call 983-4925 or 983-4940.

blower operators, 1 ground rig operator, and 2 airport recorders."

Positions already filled in the Lockney office are: Ricky Adams, Ronald Watson, Tad Terrell, Billy Sherman, and Betonia Belt as Field Unit Supervisors; Field Clerk Pat Garza, and District Supervisor Paige Underwood; and mechanic John Hernandez.

In the Floydada office are: Field Unit Supervisors Kenny Chance, Terry Moore, and Derinda Patton; Field Clerk Kristal Kimbrell; and District Supervisor Joel Hendrix.

There is a position open for a Field Unit Supervisor in Floydada and the Environmental Specialist positions are also open in both offices.

According to Jones a Field Unit Supervisor will be responsible for everything that goes on within a 25,000 to 30,000 acre work unit.

"Individual producers will have to protect their fields early this first year," said Jones. "We won't spray until around September 1st."

This year one trap will be placed in each field to gather data.

Jones says it is important for producers to leave an access around all sides of their fields for trappers to place the boll weevil traps. "Traps will be on the outside of the field where the access is," said Jones. "We won't put the traps where someone would drive across their fields. We want to work with producers and keep the traps out of the way."

Sheriff's Report

Since April 3rd, the Floyd County Sheriff's Office has served 10 subpoenas, issued 1 civil summons, 13 civil citations, 1 Writ of Execution, issued a citation for Permitting Livestock to Run Astray.

Deputies have also executed warrants against: Paul Gomez Gonzales on April 10; Cody Gilbert, on April 10; Santiago Tobis Hernandez, on April 17; Manuel Riverra, on April 19; Mary Jane Delafuente, on April 24; and Randy Lerma, on April 24.

"I have been very fortunate to be able to coach such great individuals. I would like to thank everyone that attended the meet in Abilene and for the welcome home the team received. It meant a lot to them. We will travel to Austin May 10th to compete in the State meet where anything can happen. I know they will go and compete with everything they have."

We visited Vickie Christian on a "bad hair day" and she did all she could to improve our appearance. She has Vickie's Kustom Kuts in the Fitness Center at White Bluff, a beautiful residential area on Lake Whitney. She and Joe have a lovely home there; and Joe is staying busy as school superintendent in Whitney. We are happy for them. Joe and Vickie were our guests at a Hamburger Cookout one evening.

Thanks to all the participants and the good weather, we had a great campout which was closed with a Devotional led by Jo and Hollis Payne.

Kids Korner Clubhouse summer activities are being planned and the excitement is building at the center. We will be offering swimming lessons and all the children that take swimming lessons or can already swim, will be taken to the pool one afternoon a week for a fun time in the water.

Our calendar is full of activities and field trips. We will be focusing on a theme each week and our activities will revolve around that theme. For instance, the Week of Transportation we will be taking the children to the airport to see the planes. We will go to Lubbock to ride the public transport bus; to Plainview to ride the trolley. To go along with this theme we will be having a paper airplane-making contest and we will be play a game about buses and do a train craft.

Every Tuesday will be Super Tuesday and we will have a field trip come to us. These field trips will be special activities that are being brought to Floydada Courtesy of businesses in our town. Some of the activities involve the science spectrum. They will be bringing shows that Kids Korner will open to the public as well as to children attending our center.

Some of the shows are: Restless Native, West Texas animals; Storm, a show where the children will learn about stormy weather and electricity; Fire and Ice, this will explore the states of matter and will involve highly interactive experiments; Space Bubble, this is an indoor planetarium that measures 23 feet in diameter by 11 feet tall; Starry Night, this lets children sit under a night time sky and investigate the stars; 3-2-1 Lift-off, a traveling workshop for each child to build, decorate and launch their own model rocket.

We will also be doing crafts, lots of hands on cooking, having movie days and playing outdoors.

A favorite field trip in Kidsville in Plainview and on very hot days we raid the ice machine and play in the ice outside.

The children will be continuing their learning and working together on Life Lessons - how to get along with others, sharing and cooperation. We will also be doing some community work with the nursing home and we will be playing tennis and basketball in the courts around Floydada.

Our summer calendar is filling up we are now enrolling for the summer months.

For more information call Melodi at 983-2542. Please call or come by Kids Korner to enroll your child for a summer full of adventure.

Unity Center News

By Jon J. La Baume - Manager

The Unity Center has been a very busy place since the first of the year. The month of January saw a total of 18 events with 3568 people attending. February saw a total of 22 events with 778 people attending. The month of March also saw 22 events with 1430 people attending. The month of April saw 27 events with 1560 people attending. We're Nuts About You
 The them for Teacher Appreciation Week at Lockney Elementary, April 30-May 4th is "We're Nuts About You". The PTO is encouraging each student and parent to write a note of thanks or appreciation to their teachers and those staff members who have helped them this year. Special sheets of paper will be available in each class for students to use, but any paper is fine. Students (ad parents) can "mail" the notes in a box next to Mrs. Carthel's desk all week long. The mail will be "Delivered" on Friday. Please encourage your child to make this effort and help them if they are too young to write a note by themselves.

Tips for solving problems at school

By Ron Trusler

Two problems that occasionally confront parents of school-age children are cheating and fighting. If the problems are left unsolved, a child can develop poor learning skills, a negative self-concept and inappropriate ways of dealing with anger and frustration.

Cheating is an anti-social problem that children often exhibit as a result of unusual pressures for achievement. The child may feel the need to cheat to please the high expectations of his parents, teachers and/or society.

The child who cheats often is highly motivated to achieve but may not have the intellectual capacity. Children who are unable to meet expectations often rely on cheating to avoid facing defeat or humiliation. Feelings of inferiority may result and must be dealt with by parents and teachers to prevent a child's low self-esteem.

Cheating alone only meets surface expectations of others while the cheater feels worse because he knows how he achieved the expectation - by cheating. That lowers self-esteem.

Parents need to address the problem with understanding. Here are some tips:

1. Don't compare children. Show love and admiration for each child's individual abilities rather than comparing achievements.
2. Make sure your expectations are realistic.
3. Family stress may be a cause. Family problems can create feelings of inferiority or prevent the child from achieving so that he relies on cheating to get ahead. It is very difficult to focus on schoolwork when all your energy is spent on surviving at home.
4. Work closely with teachers. Discuss the pressures the child may be facing. Develop a plan to include a variety of solutions to help the child in the classroom or reduce the opportunity for cheating. The teacher can suggest a tutor if the child needs one.
5. Reward non-cheating behavior to build the child's self-confidence and self-esteem.

Little Dribbler All-Stars ends season undefeated 12-0

By Lyle Miller and Ray Morales
The Floydada 3rd and 4th grade Little Dribbler All-Stars finished the season undefeated. Their All-Star record of 12-0 was the result of many long practices and team effort in each and every game. The average score over twelve games was 28-16. The average halftime score was much closer, with Floydada being behind in at least one halftime score.

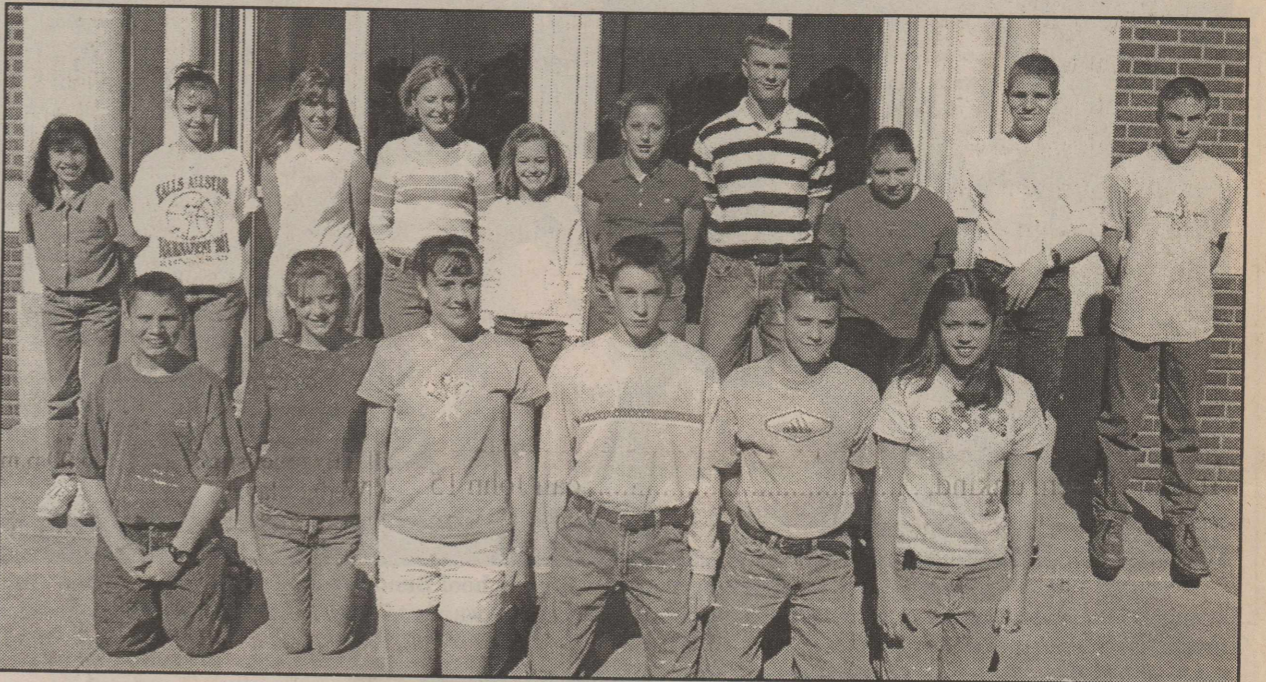

This team particularly excelled in fourth quarter play when full court press was allowed.

We participated in. Slaton really bragged on how positive and good our attending fans were.

As coaches we thank our team's parents for their magnificent support. Our parents were good all the way from getting boys to practice, to attending games. Floydada can be proud of the way team members, coaches, and parents represented our community in each of the four tournaments

We thank each of the communities that hosted tournaments we were in. Each one did a fine job. Thanks to Lockney, Matador, Ralls, and Slaton.

Last and no least. Thank you for your team effort. As coaches we sincerely hope this team's great experience serves a good purpose in you life.

Look Past the Bait

Ol' man Lister and I went fishing on Lake Stillwater last Friday and I knew it wouldn't be long before he shared some of his homespun philosophy. Homefolks call it "Listerine" philosophy. It might not taste too good at first, but it's bound to be good for you.

Sure enough, after about the third bass was on the stringer, ol' man Lister started up, "You know, kid, (he always calls me kid) them fish ain't too smart, gittin' caught like that. If they'd look past the bait and up the line they'd see who was out to git 'em and they'd scatter."

I began to wonder why we were discussing the intelligence of the average bass when he elaborated. (Ol' man Lister always elaborates.) "Oh, well, I guess most of us humans ain't much smarter. When we're tempted we don't usually look past the bait, either. If we did, we'd see who's holding the pole and head the other way ourselves."

You know...I reckon he's right.

Lighthouse holds annual meeting

By Larry Ogden
The largest crowd in several years attended the 62nd annual membership meeting of Lighthouse on Thursday, April 26, at the Floyd County Friends Unity Center at Muncy.

Almost 100 members and guests took advantage of the Health Fair, which ran from 2:00 until 5:00 p.m., to get their blood pressure and cholesterol level checked, screened for glucose, and gather information from the American Cancer Society, Cogdell Clinic, Cooperative Care Planning Service, and University Medical Center.

Approximately 575 members and guests attended to visit with friends and neighbors, enjoy the meal catered by Danny's Fins & Hens, listen to outstanding entertainment, and hear reports on how their Cooperative fared in 2000.

Prior to the business meeting, the crowd was entertained by Brady Rasco, exceptional young fiddler from Lockney, accompanied by his grandfather, Marvin Goodall, and friends. After the meal and musical entertainment, the youngsters present adjourned to the community room to be entertained by the Science Spectrum's "Starry Night" presented in their portable space bubble.

Cooperative President Louis Lloyd of Floydada called the business portion of the meeting to order and called on Floydada First United Methodist Church pastor Wendell Horn for the invocation. Following the invocation, Cooperative Secretary Gaylord Groce introduced special guests present.

Emcee Vinoka Morris, with the help of the planning committee, conducted the first of three prize drawings, and Groce presented the roll call, the reading of minutes of last year's meeting, and the reading of the notice of meeting.

nership with Denver City Energy Associates. "We made a lot of money on off-peak sales to Southwestern Public Service Company from Mustang Station last year," he said. "When everything is said and done, we believe in 2001 we will return $22 million to our member systems, which will flow through to you as credits on power cost."

Following Bryant's report, Cooperative attorney Harry Jung conducted the election of directors. While the ballots were being counted, Chad Luig of the cooperative's auditing firm reported on the 2000 business of Lighthouse. "I would like to point out that in 2000 Lighthouse retired $250,000 in capital credits. It is my understanding that they are retiring another $250,000 this year. This makes the third year in a row that your cooperative has been able to retire a quarter of a million dollars in capital credits."

Following the auditor's report, General Manager Bill Harbin introduced Lighthouse employees and their families, and introduced the board of directors and their wives. He then called board president Louis Lloyd to the stage to be recognized. "Louis has been president of your board for the entire fourteen years I have been privileged to be your manager," he reported, "and as of tonight, he has reached a milestone of 25 years of service on your board of directors." Harbin then presented Lloyd with an engraved watch as a token of appreciation for his years of service.

Following the second round of prize drawing, Cooperative Member Service Manager Larry Ogden introduced the Member Services Committee who helped plan and conduct the meeting. Members of the committee were Regan and Paris Ware of Ralls, John and Dee Leatherman of Floydada, Brett and Gayla Marble of South Plains, Neil and Kayla Guest of Turkey, Lanney and Christy Bennett of Plainview, Vinoka and Melanie Morris of Petersburg, and Gerry and Vickie Norrell of Floydada.

The youngest and oldest members present were also recognized. The youngest member present was Tate Glasscock of Floydada, and the oldest member present was Charles Featherston, 92, of Petersburg.

Cooperative attorney Harry Jung then announced that incumbent directors Gaylord Groce, Jerrold Vinson, and Jimmy Bownds had been re-elected to the board of directors.

Following this, the third prize drawing was held, and the final agenda item was the drawing for the grand prize, $500, which was won by G.L. Fawver of Floydada. Other lucky prize winners were: Mae Williams, Floydada; Lillie May Milton, Floydada; Cynthia Burnam, Plainview; Chad Williams, Floydada; Phyllis Smith, Floydada; Susan Dunavant, Floydada; Floyd Bradford, Floydada; Bill Daniel, Floydada; Terry Andrac, Plainview; Appling Farms, Floydada; Lou Burleson, Floydada; G.L. Charles Ball tournament successful Thirty-four fishermen in thirteen boats from the Lockney area were at White River Lake this past Saturday, April 28th. Fifteen men and youth weighed in 58 fish for a total of 73.91 pounds. There were black bass, walleye, and crappie caught.

This year, for the first time, we presented a trophy to the age group of thirteen years and under. We started this age group in hopes to get more fathers and sons involved in the fun of fishing. This year we had five entrants in this division, Ty Young, Skee Hardin, Dahlen McCarter, Trevor and Tanner Morris. Four of these young men weighed in fish and Trevor Morris won with one black bass and four crappie for a total of 3.84 pounds.

Paul Willis from Petersburg, with help of his guide Don Kelly, won 1st place, a jacket, the traveling trophy with six fish totaling 10.10 pounds, Joe Marks won 2nd place, $30.00 with three fish weighing 9.92 pounds, and Glen Hardin, last years 2nd place winner, won third place, $20.00 with eight fish weighing 9.73 pounds. The big fish for the day was a 5.90 pound black bass caught by Paul Willis.

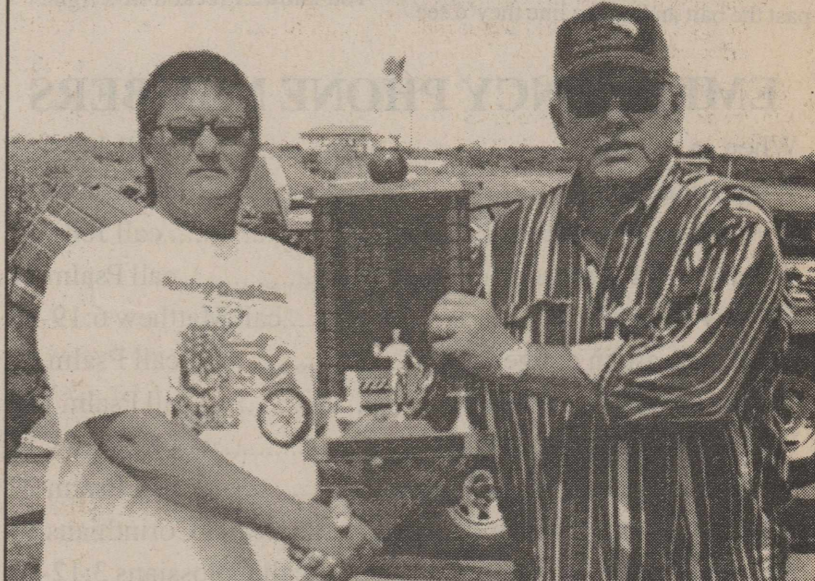

Everyone there had a great time on this very beautiful day, but they all agreed that the real winners are the recipients of the scholarships that will be presented to several seniors going to college or trade school at the Awards Assembly on May 18th. Through entry fees, a calcutta auction, and donations the scholarship fund was increased by $3,100.00 for a total of $32,950.00 presented over the past fourteen years. Thanks Lockney for your support of this worthy project.

If there are any questions or if there are those who would like to make a contribution to the scholarship fund, please contact one of these board members: Ronnie Aston, Monty Teeter, Pat Frizzell, Ted Young, or Eddie Teeter.

The board would like to say a big "Thank You" to Pat Frizzell who has asked to be taken off of the board after 14 years of service. We will miss his compassion for this scholarship Fund. Lonny Hooten will take his place.
