Jimmy Willson, Jr. wrote an article in the Floyd County Hesperian-Beacon dated May 24, 1990 about the formation of the American Legion Post No. 118 in Floydada. Willson said he gleaned his information from Floyd County Hesperian newspapers dating back to 1916.

Willson wrote, "Immediately following World War I, a number of Soldiers and Sailors days were held to honor those who fought in the war. One such day was October 3, 1919. > City Manager Brown discussed the future of Floydada's water source from Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority. Brown said in a letter to the board members, "I have been told by one of our board members to expect the Mackenzie budge to show a $150,000 repair bill on the tank at Lockney. Our (Floydada's) part of this will be $100,000. There is also talk that the treatment plant is going to have to be updated in the next couple of years. The water we get from Mackenzie is already high. The usefulness of the lake as a water supply may be nearing an end."

Brown told the board, "We just don't have $100,000 laying around to be used on such a short notice. Somebody needs to be telling us a little more in advance about these kind of future

Brown said, "Floydada is using about 96 percent of our allotment from Mackenzie even after our cut back. Our original usage was about 752,000 gallons per day and we were cut down Bobby Gilliland said, "I am proud of 40 percent from that, so we are using about 96 percent of our 60 percent allotment now.

> "If we quit using Mackenzie water, then the four towns of Tulia, Lockney, Silverton, and Floydada would need some way to share our water with each other, such as a pipeline connecting the towns.

"If we quit using Mackenzie water, and their (operating) tax stayed in place, then we could save $216,000 per year that we are paying them now.

"Mackenzie people think they have a three years water supply in the lake. The lake is at about 72 feet now and when it drops below 52 feet and down, then that water will not be the best

"The other side of the coin is that the treatment plant no longer meets the TNRC-CEPA requirements. We are probably looking at a couple of million dollars to bring the treatment plant up to specifications.

This is not going to happen over night, but it is something that we must begin to think about now. When and if this comes to pass, we have got to make a decision. Maybe if we (all the towns involved) could become independent with water wells, it would help with this problem," Brown con-

No action was taken on the issue by the board.

In Public Forum, Council member Sue gave the council an update of the Economic Development Board and its possibility of getting some dairies in the county in about two years. "It takes that long for them to get an approved license for a dairy," Sue said.

Police Chief Darrell Gooch addressed the council concerning security problems at local dances. Gooch asked the council to make it mandatory for two police officers to be hired by those who acquire dance permits from the City. A motion to that effect was unanimously approved by the

READY TO ASSEMBLE

Letter To The Editor

I was recently online reading the news in the Floyd County Hesperian. I so enjoy reading your publication. This is what has prompted me to contact your office.

I was born and raised in Floydada and growing up I never appreciated the simple life I lead. I had a deep desire to flee the small town and did. I soon found myself consumed by the city life and to a small town girl this was very exciting. Throughout my journey of growing and trying to better myself. I have truly been blessed. I have had the opportunity to travel to many places. I have met the most extraordinary people. But, I can honestly say that I have made very few good friends. Life in the city moves too fast and there is just not enough time in the day to invest in those "small town" relationships.

I left Floydada 12 yrs. ago vowing to never return. Since my departure I am now a wife and mother of 2 small children. Jonathon is 5 and his father and I recently enrolled him in a Christian private school. We just simply couldn't bare to send him into the public school system.

My daughter Rachel is 20 months old and it won't be long before she is trotting off to her first day of school.

I work full time in the orthopedic industry and what should be a 20 minute commute is actually an hour and ten minutes. So, I do all the little things out of my car as I sit in bumper to bumper traffic. I make dentist, doctor, and veterinarian appointments all from my car. (Yes, I am guilty of cell phone driving) All the while making lists of things I need to do...pick up the dry cleaning, my glasses are nounced they will be acquiring ownready...I add to the already existing ership of the Dairy Queen restaurant grocery list... So, I go through my day praying the Lord will give the strength to do all that needs to be done.

It is at the end of the day when I sit with my husband to relay the horrid Fritch, Groom, Hereford, Hobbs, details of my trip to the super market, that I am grateful for the small town life my parents gave me.

My parents did not have much and looking back now we were poor. Yet we couldn't have been happier. Could it be we just did not realize we didn't have much? I often tell my children stories about where mommy grew up and the silly things I did as a child.

I cannot give them the small town life, but I certainly try to instill the small town values.

Every night we sit together as a family for dinner and most importantly we pray as a family.

Although my immediate family moved away years ago, I still have extended family in Floydada. I hope to one day return to my hometown with my own children, so they will know there is a place where people still smile and say hello. There is a place where people still care about their neighbors. There is a place I use to call home.

Caution urged with use of fireworks

Vegetation in south and west Texas is extremely dry and fire-prone, but dry vegetation also exists in other areas of the state as well. With summer heat expected to continue to take its toll on vegetation across the state, state fire control leaders urge everyone to take extra precautions when using fireworks to celebrate our nation's birthday during this year's celebra-

When dry weather coincides with the Fourth of July holiday period, irresponsible fireworks use increases the likelihood of wildfires," says Bobby Young, associate director for forest resource protection with the Texas Forest Service in Lufkin. "The threat of wildfires is highest in the southern half of the state; but even in the rest of the state where danger is generally low to moderate, vegetation will dry rapidly and become increasingly fire-prone if hot, dry conditions persist for any length of time.

The state fire control leader offered several suggestions for safe fireworks use. Adhere to all county and city fireworks laws. Use fireworks outdoors, in a safe area away from dry grass and buildings. Follow directions carefully - with close adult supervision. Keep a bucket of water, wet towels and a garden hose handy. Never shoot fireworks from metal or glass containers and never experiment with homemade or altered fireworks. Electric No Call List Available

In 1999, the Texas Legislature enacted a law restructuring the retail electric market. A provision in this law allows business and residential consumers to place their telephone numbers on an electric "No Call" list, similar to the Texas "Do Not Call" list to avoid solicitation calls only from Retail Electric Providers (REPs). Consumers may pay $2.55 for five years to place their information on the electric "No Call" list.

To add a telephone number to the list, call toll free at 1-866-TXNOCAL(L) (896-6225). Customers may also register or request an application online at www.texasnocall.com. To request an application and pay by check, money order, or credit card write to TEXAS NO CALL, Box 313, E. Walpole, MA 02032.

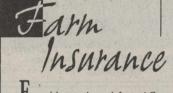

Keep in mind, the statewide "Do Not Call" list applies to all telemarketers including REPs. Therefore customers will be shielded from REP calls if they sign up for the statewide "Do Not Call" list.

However, a $2.25 registration is only good for three years on the statewide list. Customers may sign up for the electric "No Call" list for five years for $2.55. If they choose, customers, may sign up for both lists for $4.80 and it is good for five years

Some additional suggestions to help keep your children safe:

• Never leave your child alone near the water, even for just a few seconds. Be actively attentive and keep small children within arm's reach.

· Have a first-aid kit, a phone and emergency phone numbers nearby.

· Be sure all neighborhood pools have fences or walls at least 4 to 5 feet high all the way around that do not have footholds for children to climb. Avoid vertical bars more than 4 inches apart and chain link fences that pro-

Flow meters measure the amount of water that is moving through pipes, while leak detectors can find leaks in pipes buried beneath the land's surface.

"Using flow meters can help an irrigator find out if a well is producing as much water as it was originally designed to do. This simple test can save a lot of money," said Arnold Husky, Water Use Division Director for the High Plains Water District.

"For example, of your pump is designed to produce 600 gallons of water per minute and the flow test shows it is only producing 400 gallons of water per minute, then there appears to be a problem with the pump and it should be repaired. This saves money in the long run, because it costs about ducing 400 gallons a minute when District's leak detector can help you

The Water District also offers underground leak detectors on a free loan basis. The leak detectors use sensitive microphones, which can "hear" the sound water makes as it flows from a leaking underground

Husky said it is important to conserve as much water as possible, and the free-loan flow meters and leak detectors are tools to help people conserve water for a more beneficial use.

ROOFERS, ROOFERS, EVERYWHERE-The roofing business has been booming the last month in Floydada and Lockney since the several hail storms passed over the county. The Country Preacher

By Pastor Darwin Robinson

STOP THE MUSIC! I appreciate good gospel scriptural hymns. I admire those who have voices good enough that they can sing specials. I believe God honors those who try to cated back in the foot hills of the glorify Him in song,

In Tennessee during the '60's, we always had someone to play the old upright piano in our little country church. During our home cottage prayer meetings on Saturday nights, we had an accordion player that traveled with us.

In Mexico during the '70's, we always sang accapella in our church services because we had no pianos, no organs, and very few guitars. Most of our churches in the mountains did not even have electricity. So that eliminated electric organs, electric guitars, or even amplifiers.

On one trip to southern Oaxaca, Mexico, we left the paved highway and arrived a couple of hours later at a Chontal Indian village that was lo-mountains near the Pacific Ocean. We gathered for the night service in the little church house made out of adobe brick and stucco. Before the services I had noticed an Indian young man about 16 years old playing a guitar outside.

Sure enough he began strumming his guitar real loud when we began singing our first congregational song. He was just "striking" the guitar, not even strumming it. I patiently waited for the first song to end and I just knew he would not continue this type of interruption to our singing. It was really loud and very much off key.

We began our second song and the people began looking back at the guitar strummer. It was really disturbing our service. My patience began to wear thin. Before we finished this second song I finally decided to STOP THE MUSIC!

I waved my hands at the song leader. Everyone stopped singing. I turned to the young man and asked him to put the guitar down. I told him if he wanted to sing a special later that would be fine, but for now STOP STRUMMING THAT GUITAR! He stopped, but he did not sing a special later. I guess I offended him.

MORAL OF THE STORY: "If you have a good voice, use it for the Lord, but don't drown it out with a loud instrument.'

Teaching Your Children To Make Good Decisions

By Ron Trusler

Children can grow up and make cisions for him/her. some bad decisions. It is not always the parent's fault when a child does that. They have a mind of their own and can be trained in all the right ways, and still decide to do opposite what the parents taught. I have seen it just the opposite - a child is reared poorly but grows up to make responsible, good, sound decisions - again they have the ability to choose.

For the past several weeks I have talked about this topic on the Thursday morning (about 7:15 a.m.) "Community Focus" on KKYN 1910 AM. I will attempt to make this topic a series of articles for the next few weeks.

There is quite a bit involved and the concept is difficult to get across when trying to communicate it in writing, but here goes. If you want to provide an environment that will allow your child(ren) the opportunity to learn responsible decision making it will be vital that you provide the following elements.

1. Consistency on the parent's part. Do what you say you will do.

2. Structure – specific guidelines or boundaries that are not too restrictive or too loose.

3. Decision making opportunity tinued wrong/bad decisions. I will give more details about each

This type of home environment will help reduce the power struggles between parents and child. Some parents do more yelling at their kids than talking to them. Some children seem to know how far to push parents. It's like they can hear when the yelling is at a certain pitch or frequency and they

of the above areas each week.

know just when to stop. They seem to know just how far to push Mom or Dad. That should not happen. The parents should not be suckered into a yelling match with their children. Most of us have been stopped and given a traffic ticket of some kind, I am sure. I have never had a police officer yell at me or even raise his/her voice. They politely came up to my car, asked if there is an emergency, asked for my drivers license, asked if I knew how fast I was going (which I have sometimes lied and said, "No" and then I acted surprised when they tell me what they clocked me at). They just get out that little ticket book and write out the nice little ticket. I wonder what would happen if the for the child. Don't make all the depolice officer came to my car window yelling and screaming, and climbed up 4. Escalated consequences for con- on the hood of my car and beat their fists out of frustration? I probably would think much less of that officer and would assume they all are like

Instead, they are calm and controlled. They have all the authority they are certified, they carry a gun, have the uniform, and they have the authority to write me a ticket! They use the authority they have. If you push it, you will have consequences to face. If you really get bent out of shape, the consequences will get

Parents who get in a yelling match with their children do not know how to use the authority they have in a proper manner. The child can learn to make better choices than yelling at the parents if parents will use authority correctly.

If, during this series of articles, you have any questions about how this might apply to your personal situation contact me at any of the methods listed

Ol' Man Lister

By Steve McLean

Where Do You Live?

Stu Limpett was sitting in the corner booth at the Bottomless Cup, stirring a cold cup of coffee and staring into space. Ol' man Lister headed his way while I got two clean cups for Lister and me and poured refills for the other Ponder Point patrons.

Lister sat down across from Stu and said, "Why the far away look, Stu?" "I'm just thinking Lister. I keep thinking about how my life is going by and I've made so many mistakes. I've failed so many times I just don't know what to do anymore."

Ol' man Lister said, "Stu, do you know why God created both yesterday and today? He created yesterday to give us a place to bury our mistakes, and He created today to give us a place to live. Your problem is you are trying to live in yesterday and carry your mistakes around with you today You've got it backwards."

You know...I reckon he's right.

THROW YOUR HEART

Ol' man Lister and I went to the high school track meet last weekend and as usual I was fascinated by one particular event - the pole vault. Our best pole vaulter is Stretch Longly and he is amazing to watch. His long, lanky frame springs down the narrow path and suddenly he's flying fifteen feet in the air, feet first!

I asked ol' man Lister, "Lister, how does a kid get the guts to do stuff like

He replied, "Kid, let's go ask the man with the pole.' Stretch was, well, stretching when we caught up with him, and I said, "Stretch, tell us how you do it. How do you get the courage to throw yourself that high in the air? You could get hurt, you know."

"Well," Stretch said, "my coach says the secret is to throw your heart over the bar. When you do, your body will Ol' man Lister said, "Stretch, I reckon that's true in other areas of life, too. When you commit your heart, the rest of you will follow. You know...I reckon he's right.
