New Youth Center benefits from donation of surplus computers

Floyd County's State Representative and Texas Speaker of the House, Pete Laney, was so impressed with the Lockney Youth Center's recent Open House that he returned to Austin and set to work to help fill some of the Center's needs.

Within days Chief Probation Officer Bruce Ballou and Jim Doucette were contacted about a surprise donation of 10 computers, printers, and workstations--courtesy of the State's surplus inventory.

"Mr. Laney attended our Open House, saw our needs, and returned to Austin and made the necessary arrangements to tap into the surplus equipment," said Doucette.

"We took my horse trailer down to Austin and Mr. Laney and a Fort Worth representative helped us load up the computers."

"The computer lab will give the young people of Lockney a chance to develop new skills and learn more about the world through the internet," said Laney. "I can think of no better use for the state surplus computers, printers, and work stations, that we were able to acquire for the youth center."

"I hope the youth of the area will take advantage of this opportunity."

"Mr. Laney's donation of these computers has furnished our computer room and we thank him very much for his generosity," said the Center's director, Eloy Felan.

"There are still items needed for the Activity Center. Anyone wishing to donate a cash contribution (whether small or large) or any items is asked to call Denise Doucette, at 983-3944, or Tracy Long, 652-1120. We will pick it up. All donations are tax deductible."

Items Needed in Good Condition:
 Computer Room: 4 square wooden tables w/chairs; 1 end table; 1 corner table; and 2 sofa chairs.

Multi-Purpose Room: folding tables and chairs; couches or large sectional; 2 casual chairs; 2 end tables; casual table for corner; tall TV stand; big screen TV; VCR; DVD; 8 bean bag chairs.

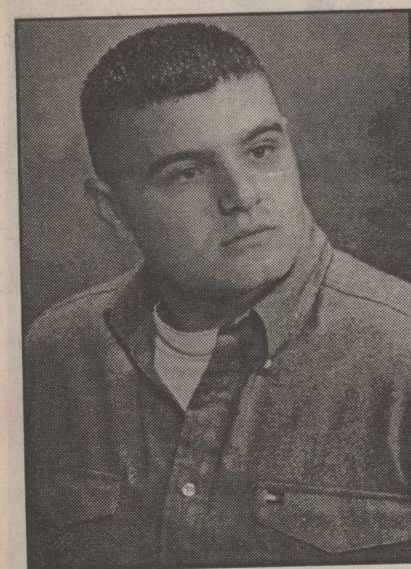

Kitchen/Cafe: cafe tables w/chairs; barstools for counter; microwave; popcorn machine; serving utensils; electric roasting pans; crock pots.

Miscellaneous: 250-300 folding chairs; folding tables; storage racks for chairs & tables; card tables; wall mounted TV & VCR for the exercise room.

Harmon is winning the battle

Chad Harmon, a 1997 Floydada graduate, has been battling the rare Wegener's disease since his diagnosis on April 9, 2001.

With the help of prayer, doctor's care, surgeries, chemotherapy, and one of his father's kidneys, Harmon can now see the light at the end of the tunnel. His disease is now in remission.

CHAD HARMON

Wegener's is a tissue disease that attacks the auto immune system of an individual. "It attacks the sinuses, kidneys and lungs," said Chad's mother, Donna Harmon, of Floydada.

"In the beginning my joints hurt so bad," said Chad. "I couldn't lift my arms halfway over my head without them popping out of the joints."

"When Chad was diagnosed the disease had already eaten a hole in the bone in his nose," said Donna. "He had to have a 3 1/2 hour surgery to repair that."

"Next, a lesion the size of a tennis ball was found on one of his lungs. Eight months of chemotherapy healed that. The chemotherapy also healed a lesion on his brain."

The Harmon's believe that the kidneys were the first organs to be attacked by Wegener's, because when it was discovered Chad's kidneys were already too far gone to help.

On August 14, 2001 Chad started dialysis--3 times each week--4 hours each time.

Since Chad's diagnosis he has been in the hospital 140 days in the past 1 1/2 years.

"He never gave up," said Chad's grandmother Ruth Mathis, of Floydada. "He was determined to get well and to finish school."

Although the illness forced Chad out of school in his senior year at Hardin Simmons, he transferred to Texas Tech to be close to his doctors and continue his studies.

Tackling each problem as it came with surgeries and chemotherapy, Chad continued with dialysis to keep his kidneys operating.

His last dialysis was August 19, 2002, two days before he received a transplant from his father, Paul Harmon.

"After the kidney was in, the doctors said it was a great kidney," said Donna. "They said they had never had a transplant patient do this well and accept the kidney this fast. They also said they had never seen a kidney start putting out that much urine that fast."

Chad was released from the hospital August 25. For 21 days he must undergo blood work, and then gradually taper off.

"The major thing they have to check is if the level of anti-rejection medicine is right for him," said Donna.

Cities join together to fight Mackenzie water shortage

The cities of Floydada, Lockney, Silvertown, and Tulia, have joined forces and called on the Mackenzie Water Authority Board to immediately take steps to "assess the advisability of discontinuing water production from Lake Mackenzie to the member cities."

The resolution was unanimously approved by all council members during the regular Floydada City Council Meeting, August 27.

"We can't wait any longer to take action," said Floydada City Manager Gary Brown. "We have to make sure all four cities have adequate water supply if Mackenzie cannot continue to furnish water."

"Mackenzie Water Authority estimates that without additional runoff the Authority will only be able to supply water for another 1 1/2 years."

"We pay $360,000 a year to Mackenzie whether we use the water or not. We have been using 97% of our allotment (240,000 gallons a day). We only get 40% of what our original contract was, but we are paying more."

The concerns laid out to the Water Authority Board covered the costs to the cities and the emergency nature of taking care of future water needs.

"The water level continues to decline and there are no signs that the lake will return in the foreseeable future to a level where all cities could receive their full contractual allotments," read the resolution. "External factors such as CRP, dams on the watershed and better farming practices have been major contributors to the decline in lake levels and these are factors which are not likely to change in the foreseeable future."

The resolution also points out that the cost of wholesale water to the cities is "extremely high, averaging over $2.50 per 1,000 gallons. In addition to costs paid by the cities, the residents of our communities are paying approximately $500,000 per year in property taxes to the Authority."

The resolution states that because of restrictions by the Water Authority the cities have already invested considerable amounts of money in their own water systems to prepare for the day the lake will not be able to provide water. "The cost to operate these systems (in the individual cities) is much less than the cost to purchase water from the Authority," said the resolution.

The resolution says that with the declining population and "stagnant" municipal revenues, each city can "ill afford to support a facility that is not cost-effective."

In the resolution the cities made strong "requests" of the Water Authority including:

Directing the Authority to have auditors prepare detailed analysis explaining what expenses could be dropped by each city if water production stopped;

Directing the Authority to retain a qualified financial advisor to determine if it is feasible to refinance the debt owed by each city to obtain lower payments;

Asking the financial advisor to offer advice on reducing Authority debt by using reserves."

All the member cities have agreed the Authority should consider ways to move water from all directions to member cities.

"The lines are already there," said Brown. "We have to get a system in place that can move water in any direction (reverse the flow). If Floydada has the water and Silvertown needs it then we can send them water from here."

With these concerns in mind the member cities called on the Authority to retain a "qualified engineering firm to determine the costs to move water within the existing system from city to city."

The engineer should also determine the cost to deactivate and preserve the condition of the Authority's facilities so they can be reactivated at a later date in a cost-effective manner."

The resolution scheduled a meeting with the governing bodies of the member cities within 60 days to report on what actions the Authority has taken, or plans to take.

"The resolution is not binding," said Brown. "There is nothing that says the Authority must do what we ask, however, we appoint the representatives to the board."

"I believe the representatives from Floydada understand and appreciate our concerns."

The Floydada representatives to the Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority are Gary Carthel and Jeff Johnson.

BY THE WAY-- Pray for the families left behind, and remember those who perished working in the towers and the brave firemen, police, and citizens who rushed into the chaos to help.

"The doctors have told us that the disease is in remission, and more than likely it will never come back."

Although he will have to wear a mask until September 11, Chad has wasted no time getting back to work after his surgery. He has started back to school this week and will be taking 13 hours. He lacks 35 hours to having his hours completed for a double major in Business Management and Economics.

"I hope to find a job in management somewhere," said Chad.

The family says they are very grateful for the support from friends and the community through love funds and prayers.

"I've had so many prayers," said Chad. "I know the Lord has answered prayer. Now I just take it one day at a time."

Chamber of Commerce promotes businesses with "Chamber Bucks"

The Floydada Chamber of Commerce is actively promoting a drive to encourage consumers to shop at home with their "chamber bucks".

"We will be giving away free chamber bucks (worth $10.00) at different chamber functions throughout the year," said Chamber Manager Irene

Hernandez. "The coupon is redeemable at any local business who is a member of the Chamber of Commerce."

"If you win a coupon take it to a participating store and use the coupon to purchase $10 worth of the store's product. Then business owner will then present the chamber bucks to the chamber office and will then be reimbursed.

"We think this is a great way to show citizens what they can buy at home--and a great way to promote local businesses and the chamber of commerce."

City of Floydada sets tax rate and approves help for EMS and PAC

Floydada City Council adopted their budget and a tax rate of .36¢ per $100 valuation during a meeting August 27. In a 5-1 vote, the council also approved financial support for Floydada EMS.

Since August 2000, all vehicles, travel trailers, motor homes, boats, airplanes and motorcycles which are owned by a family or individual and which are not used for the production of income are exempt from Ad Valorem tax by the City of Floydada. There is also a $3,000 senior citizen exemption. The taxable property within the City of Floydada is $59,156,886.00.

Before budget and tax discussions the Council was approached by Carprock Hospital District Board Members Rex Lawson and Tom Farris asking for a $500 subsidy from the City of Floydada to help support Floydada EMS. Lawson and Farris also asked for free utilities to the EMS building.

City Councilman Jon Nielson made a motion to approve the request and Eric Cornelius seconded. The vote carried 5-1. Councilman Clar Schacht voted against the request.

"This will increase our budget by $10,200," said Schacht. "We shouldn't have to subsidize the hospital district, but if we are going to then we should increase our tax rate by 2¢ to cover it."

The 2002-2003 operating budget was approved on a motion by Clar Schacht and a second by Bettye King. All councilmen voted in favor except for Ruben Barrientoz who abstained.

Councilman Sheldon Sue made the motion to adopt the tax rate and Ruben Barrientoz seconded. The vote carried 5-1 with Clar Schacht voting against.

"We should be increasing our tax rate by 2¢ because we will be adding an expense of $10,200 to subsidize the hospital district," said Schacht.

The Council also approved the 2003 budget for the Floydada Economic Development Corporation.

The EDC proposed budget showed a total income of $109,600.00. Of that income, $55,000 may be generated in tax revenue; $600 in interest; $9,000 in rent; and $45,000 in grant income.

Expenses will include: $24,000 in employee salary, $3,600 in vehicle allowance, and $1,900 in health insurance. The total office operating expense is budgeted at $48,500.00.

Building expenses, including a purchase price of $20,250.00, renovation at $15,000.00, and furnishings at $14,750.00, were budgeted at $57,000.00.

The total expenditure for the EDC was budgeted at $105,500.00.

The Council also approved to once again pay 50% of the utilities at the Parent Adolescent Center.

Jesse Morales was unanimously approved to be the Code Enforcer for the City of Floydada. Morales will enforce building and safety codes in the city.

The Council reappointed the following board members:

Charles Craig, Jim Crawford, Jeff Johnson and Larry Jones, to the Airport Board;

Anne Carthel and Ralph Jackson to the Planning and Zoning Commission;

Todd Beedy and Philip Smitherman to the Housing Authority Board; and Monte Williams, Brenda Whitten, and Pat Bradley to the Economic Development Board.

The Council voted to advertise for the police officer position left vacant with the resignation of Reuben Ramon.

The Council also voted to make all intersections around Jimmie Lou Stewart Park, four way stops.

Muse News

Nancy Marble and Carolyn Jackson attended another session Tuesday, August 27, at Tulia, concerning the application to the Texas Historical Commission for the "Texas Plains Trail". There are 54 Panhandle and South Plains Counties included in the region.

Deadline for the application is December 1. All paperwork, resolutions of the commissioners' courts, letters of support, physical inventories, slides, etc., must be turned in prior to October 15. Floyd County Commissioners' Court adopted a resolution supporting the Plains Trail at its regular August meeting. Letters of support from the cities of Floydada and Lockney, businesses, financial institutions and individuals would greatly enhance the chances of Floyd County sites appearing in the 400,000 brochures if the application is accepted by the Texas Historical Commission.

Anyone desiring information can contact the Museum at 983-2415 or the Texas Historical Commission at 512-463-5754.

The next meeting of representatives from the 54 counties will be held in Muleshoe at the Heritage Center (former depot) on Tuesday, October 1, at 1:30 p.m. We would encourage anyone interested in promoting Floyd County and its attractions to please attend this meeting.

Approximately 250 visitors registered at the Museum during August. Guests from all over the state of Texas visited, as well as from the states of Oklahoma, Georgia, California, New Mexico, Virginia, Nevada, Washington, Arkansas and Arizona. One guest from Canada, Myron Barton, visited the Museum twice during his visit with his great uncle Wilson Barton of Matador. Myron, a retired commercial pilot, is a great-grandson of Al Barton.

Researchers continue to use the many resources in the Mary Lou Bollman History and Genealogy Center. Among family names researched during August were Finley, Glass, Holland, Cox, Sparks, Bean, Edwards, Auld, Boon, Dunavant and Harrison.

Several tours are expected now that school has resumed. Dr. Gregg Fehr of LCU is bringing approximately 25 students Thursday, September 5. School groups are always welcome regardless of age. History has something to offer to all ages.

The Floydada "Punkin Day" Celebration is planned for Saturday, October 12. The Museum will be open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

There will be rope-making demonstrations all day and youngsters making rope will be allowed to take them home. Lockney and Floydada Boy Scouts have been asked to assist the rope-makers again this year.

Memorials help the Museum in its daily operations and those specifically designated to genealogy will be used to purchase books, film and other research materials in the Mary Lou Bollman History and Genealogy Center.

Memorials for the month of August were:

In memory of Hazel Bird: Janet Milam.

In memory of Billy Baker Bybee: Don and Nancy Marble, Carolyn Jackson.

In memory of Henry Barber: Don and Nancy Marble, Janet Milam, and Mary Helen Baxter.

Wildcats edge Floydada 10-7 in season opener

By Bill Gray
A 30-yard field goal by Idalou's Casey Rollings, as time expired on the final play of the first half, proved to be the difference in a 10-7 victory by the Wildcats over the Whirlwinds in the season opener for both teams at Floydada's Wester Field last Friday night. The Whirlwinds had an opportunity for a tie with a field goal in the final 30 seconds, which would have sent the game into overtime. However, Tyler Helms' 26-yarder was ruled wide to the right by game officials.

It was a contest filled with superlatives by two of the better Class 2A clubs this year on the South Plains. According to Floydada Coach Lee Hurt, "It was a great game and our kids gave a great effort. I was really proud of the way they held their composure there late in the game as they put themselves in a position to either win the game or go for the tie. It just didn't work out for us, but we did give a great effort. After a close loss like that, they might be a little down, but they'll rebound, have good practices this week, and be well-prepared for Ralls this next week."

The visitors fumbled the opening kickoff, with Brady Rainwater recovering the ball and putting the Whirlwinds in great position at the Idalou 27-yard line. The Whirlwinds were unable to capitalize on the opportunity and the Wildcat defense held and then blocked Floydada's 44-yard field goal attempt.

Wildcat quarterback Shae Reagan, who would pace all runners with 93 yards in 23 carries, converted on three fourth-down attempts to guide Idalou down the field late in the first quarter. Reagan hooked up with Trynt Sewell for a 20-yard scoring aerial to open the second period. Kicker Casey Rollings tacked on the PAT to put the Wildcats up 7-0.

Shae Reagan displayed his versatility by booming a 45-yard quick-kick to pin the Whirlwinds deep in their own territory midway through the second quarter. Mixing the rushing of Dustin Covington and Gerald Henderson with key pass completions to Brady Rainwater and Jeremy Duran, Helms directed Floydada on a 13-play, 87-yard drive. A 4-yard TD toss from Helms to Rainwater put the 'Winds on the board for the first time in 2002. Helms added the extra point to knot the score at 7-all late in the quarter. It only took the Wildcats six plays, capped by an 11-yard toss from Reagan to Tyler Bigham, to put kicker Casey Rollings in position for a 30-yard field goal - which he nailed with no time remaining on the first half clock. The precarious 10-7 Wildcat lead, which the visitors would take into the halftime locker room, would eventually be the game's final score.

A fumble recovery by Idalou's Kent Truett stopped Floydada's opening drive of the second half. Following an exchange of punts, Floydada's Ross Bennett stepped in front of an intended receiver to pick off a Shae Reagan pass midway through the third period. Floydada's ensuing 12-play, 48-yard drive extended from late in the 3rd quarter until early in the final period. Helms' 37-yard punt drove the visitors back to their 17-yard line. An apparent turnover by Idalou, following a pass completion, was nullified by the game officials.

With the game on the line, at the 4:12 mark of the fourth quarter, Helms completed passes of 10 and 11 yards to Rainwater and a key 12-yard pass to Andrew Arvizu. A 17-yard pass to Ross Bennett from Helms on fourth down moved the Whirlwinds to the Idalou 15-yard line with 50 ticks left on the game clock. A couple of incomplete passes from the Idalou 9-yard line made it necessary for the field goal attempt to tie the game.

Only 30 seconds remained. The 26-yard attempt by Helms was ruled wide and Reagan went to his knees twice as time expired.

Dustin Covington led the Floydada rushers with 52 yards in 13 attempts. Helms followed with six carries for 36 yards. Andrew Arvizu carried 6 times for 19 yards, Gerald Henderson was 4 for 17 and Chris Wickware carried six times for 8 yards. Helms completed 11 passes out of 22 attempts for 125 yards and no interceptions. Brady Rainwater led all Floydada receivers with six receptions for 56 yards and one touchdown.

When asked about the field goal attempt, Helms said, "I was hooking the ball during the pre-game...so I adjusted, and just adjusted a little too much. If it had been five yards longer, it would have been good because it was hooking in there at the last." Coach Lee Hurt commented, "I really feel bad for Tyler for that field goal attempt there at the last because he's a great kicker and must have missed by only inches. It looked good to me, but those game officials were in position to see it there at the goal posts...it must have barely missed." Coach Hurt added, "Ralls is coming in next week and we'll rebound. We know we played well in the close game against Idalou and we gained a lot of confidence. We'll do all right...you can count on it."

Bill's Notes:
It was a heartbreaker, for sure, but the 'Winds will profit from it and be a better team because of the Idalou game. The way the Whirlwind offense was clicking there at the end, it is just a shame that it had to come down to a field goal attempt to tie and go into overtime. Floydada's defense, especially some of the younger players, had a good season opener. Ty Heflin and Morgan Tijerina made some outstanding plays, as did Gerald Henderson, Bryce Bowley and Dustin Covington. Ross made a good break and decision and ended up with a nice "pic." Jeremy Duran made a couple of "circus catches" and Brady lived up to his reputation as Tyler's favorite target - although five receivers accounted for those 11 completions by Helms.

Longhorns open season with 28-7 victory

The Lockney Longhorns opened their season on a bright note with a victory over the Slaton Tiger 28-7. A game with total ball control and a stingy defense were key components in the win.

The Longhorns ground attack compiled 218 yards with four rushing touchdowns. Sophomore running back, Mark Ford led the team with 115 yards on 11 carries and touchdown runs of 3, 46, and 41 yards. The defense kept the Tigers out of the end zone for the three and a half quarters. The Longhorns limited the Tigers to only 198 total yards and holding Slaton's dangerous Curtis Clinton to 58 yards on the ground.

"Overall, I felt like we dominated both sides of the ball," Head football coach Joe Robertson said. "Our offense was clicking for most of the game and our defense fought and stayed strong for four quarters of football. I am very excited by our young men's performance."

The Longhorns got on the scoreboard first when Mark Ford scampered into the end zone from three yards out with 4:36 remaining in the first quarter. Aaron Blanco's extra-point kick was good giving the Longhorns a 7-0 lead.

In the second quarter, Lockney put together an impressive 19 play drive which ended with a 1 yard plunge by senior quarterback Ben Sherman. Blanco's extra point was good giving the Longhorns a 14-0 lead at halftime.

Lockney picked up where they left off in the first half with Ford busting out a 46 yard touchdown run with 2:11 remaining in the third quarter. Blanco's kick was good extending the Longhorns lead 21-0.

Slaton regained some life in the fourth quarter. After completing several passes marching themselves into Longhorn territory, Curtis Clinton hurried into the end zone from 18 yards out. Max Bledsoe's extra point was good closing the gap to 21-7 with 5:27 remaining in the contest. After an errant onside kick attempt by the Tigers, all the life they had regained was taken away. From the first play of scrimmage, Lockney's Ford hustled into the end zone from 41 yards out. Blanco's kick was good giving the Longhorns a 28-7 advantage with 5:13 remaining in the game. Lockney's Matt McPherson intercepted a pass which closed out the game.

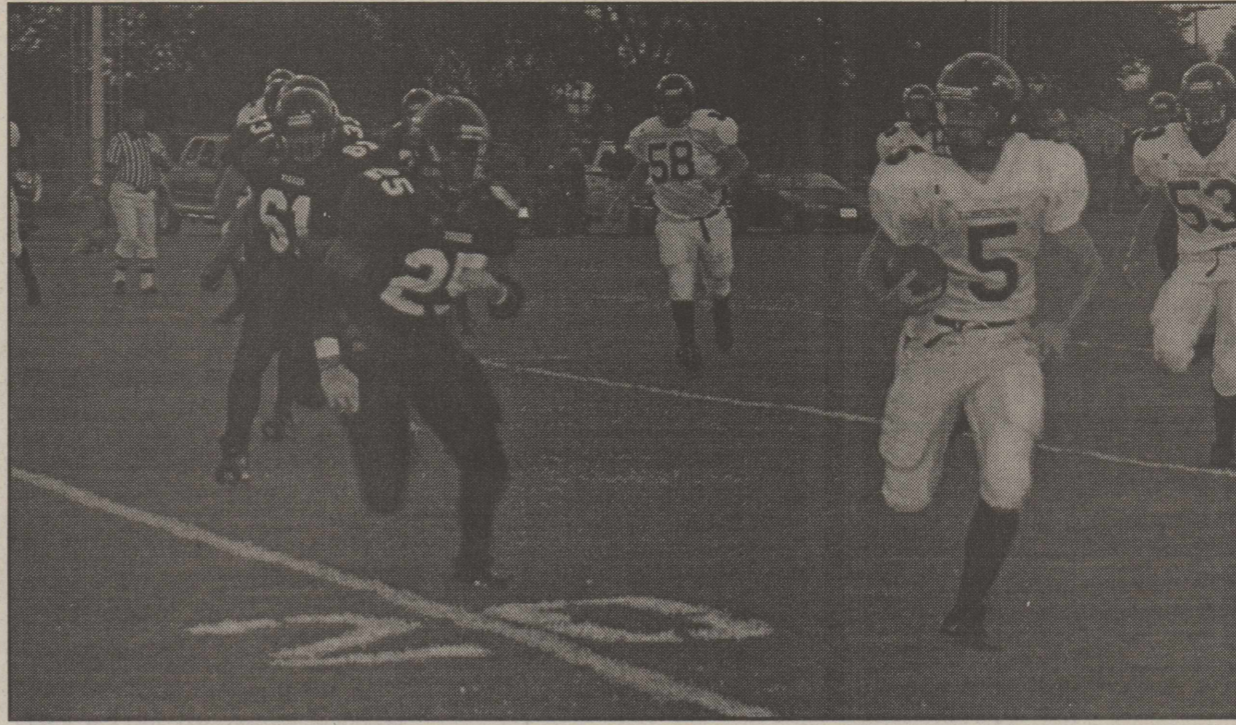

"It is always nice to win the first one," said Coach Robertson. "Now all we have to do is just get better each week which I have all the faith in our team to do so."

The Longhorns will resume play on Friday, September 6th when they play host to the Paducah Dragons at 7:30.

New Farm Bill makes a difference

By: Shawn Wade

Figuring out how much the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act (FSRIA) of 2002 will mean on the turn row has been a topic for speculation ever since the Bill was signed into law May 13 of this year.

The only problem with trying to figure it all out was that, until recently, few of the rules governing base and yield updates options and the mechanics of signing up for the program had been finalized.

Recently released projections from the U.S. House Committee on Agriculture, however, indicate that overall the FSRIA program will indeed deliver a significant increase in federal agriculture assistance to rural communities in 2002.

Estimated 2002 program payments have not been computed for all counties in the Plains Cotton Growers service area at this time.

Economists with the U.S. House Committee on Agriculture, however, have computed estimated payments for several High Plains and Rolling Plains counties.

The analysis estimates the new program provides as much as 65 percent more assistance to producers than they would have received under the old Farm Bill.

Even though the analysis has only been completed for a small area at this time, it clearly illustrates just how much the new Farm Bill is going to mean to producers and rural communities.

Probably the most important aspect of the chart is that overall payments to growers under the old Farm Bill (Freedom to Farm) would have been considerably lower than payments estimated to be made under the FSRIA. The difference is an impressive $150.132 million dollars more under the FSRIA program.

Some may argue that the chart isn't a true comparison since it doesn't estimate any extra payments that might have been part of an ad hoc economic, or Market Loss Assistance, package.

It is important to note that MLA payments were not included mainly because there was never a guarantee that such assistance would have been approved for 2002.

The bottom line in the analysis is that the new Farm Bill is, "Apples-to-Apples", 65 percent better in terms of total dollars paid to producers.

Upping the payments estimated under the old Farm Bill to reflect an additional MLA payment (or double AMTA payment) equal to the 2001 MLA payment rate would only halve the percentage by which the new Farm Bill increases payments.

Source: U.S. House Committee on Agriculture

This is good news to producers who had, through no fault of their own, come to depend on the combination of legislated payments plus ad hoc market loss assistance to survive. Under the new Farm Bill the end result will be at least a 30 percent increase in government support.

The House Ag Committee's analysis only includes projections for Loan Deficiency Payments, and program crop payments for commodities covered by both the Freedom to Farm Bill and the FSRIA of 2002.

The analysis does not include any payments for new program crops added to the new Farm Bill such as peanuts, dairy, conservation assistance or the Conservation Reserve Program.

TEXAS AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE IPM Update

By Steve Davis, Extension Agent

Heat Unit accumulations have not reached the target level of 850 units past cutout (ideal for harvest aid application) and will probably not until late September. (Dryland fields have certainly reached maturity ahead of schedule.) Projected calendar days and heat unit accumulations indicate around the 20th of September as the ideal time for harvest-aid applications to begin in irrigated cotton. Key word, of course, is projected. Just like insect scouting, each field is an individual.

Rainfall occurring early the 29th has put an exclamation mark on this cotton crop. Those fields that were being watered for the "last time" can certainly be terminated a bit earlier. Rainfall amounts were fairly general over the two-county area; Barwise 1.5", Floydada 1.5", Dougherty 1.0", Lorenzo 1.0", Cone 1.5", Crosbyton 1.4", Robertson 0.8", Caprock Gin 1.5".

Insect problems with bollworms in cotton are over in Crosby and Floyd Counties with only a few widespread program fields still containing eggs. Populations of bollworms remain well below threshold levels, but, lush fields need to be monitored for at least one to two more weeks to ensure no pest problems occur.

Beet armyworm flare-ups continue to be reported in program cotton but only one program field has had to be treated to date.

Aphid problems in program cotton fields no longer exist and this welcome rain should have cleaned up the honey dew symptoms that remained. With this latest rainfall event, the mosquito population should explode again after the hot and dry spell had just about starved them out. It will behoove everyone to keep standing pools of water to a minimum to help reduce mosquito survival. West Nile Virus (WNV) is solely dependent upon this vector as a transmitter of disease.

Thornberry receives endorsement

The Texas Farm Bureau Friends of Agriculture Fund (AGFUND) has endorsed incumbent Republican Congressman Mac Thornberry in his race to retain the District 13 Congressional seat.

"Mac Thornberry has been a key supporter of farmers and ranchers and he represents a key agricultural area of our state," said Donald Patman, president of the Texas Farm Bureau and AGFUND. "We need to keep Congressmen like Mac Thornberry in office, and we will work hard for his re-election."

In his four terms in Congress,

Thornberry has become known as a leading authority on homeland defense, nuclear security and defense matters. Thornberry proposed a National Homeland Security Agency six months before September 11.

As of July, Thornberry has sponsored or co-sponsored 89 pieces of legislation in the 107th Congress. The majority of these reflect his priorities in office. Chief among his stated priorities are, keeping national security strong, reducing the tax burden on working families and businesses and making the federal government

"smaller and smarter."

He has authored legislation to help family farms and businesses by repealing the inheritance and gift taxes and to provide a tax exemption for oil and gas producers to bring inactive wells back on line.

AGFUND is Texas Farm Bureau's Political Action Fund. It is a legal entity separate from the Texas Farm Bureau and may endorse and contribute financially to political candidates. AGFUND is funded only by voluntary contributions from TFB members.

Study focuses on a new treatment for ulcerative colitis

An experimental medication, derived from the aloe vera plant, could help patients with ulcerative colitis that is unresponsive to conventional treatment.

Researchers at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston are participating in a multi-center, double-blind and randomized study that will follow more than 300 patients for six weeks. The Houston site will enroll at least 60 study participants.

"While some patients with ulcerative colitis respond to conventional medical management, approximately 20 percent do not," said Dr. Atilla Ertan, the study's principal investigator. "We have high hopes that this new treatment may work for that second group."

Approximately 250,000 Americans suffer from ulcerative colitis, an inflammatory disease of the large intestine. Most cases are diagnosed before age 30. Each year, the disease accounts for a quarter million physician visits, 20,000 hospitalizations, and loss of over a million work days in the United States.

Ertan, also a Baylor professor of medicine and chief of the gastrointestinal section, believes the new therapy may be an important tool in managing this life-long illness.

Unlike current medications, the new treatment is a powder that is mixed with water and taken twice daily. As it travels through the gastrointestinal tract, the solution coats and protects the intestines mucosal lining and has an anti-inflammatory effect.

"In animal tests, this coating has been shown to more effectively heal the ulcers and decrease inflammation, with no significant side effects," said research associate Dr. Alexandra Cutler.

According to Ertan, the new therapy may act like a "smart laser," allowing physicians to go to the source of the inflammation.

"The disease is very debilitating and causes many problems among the young," Cutler added. "It is important to find a treatment, diminish the symptoms and improve the patient's quality of life."

Ulcerative colitis is a painful condition, often causing rectal bleeding, abdominal pain or cramping, bloody diarrhea, and unexplained arthritis, eye ailments or skin lesions. Because it increases the risk of colon cancer, diagnosis and effective treatment are important.

The family of Hazel Parker Swepton would like to thank her many friends who sent cards, brought in delicious food or just offered comfort by stopping by the house.

Hazel was a wonderful "lady" and Floydada was her life. She will be missed by everyone who knew her.

Thank you,

Prof predicts cloning may lead to cures for human diseases

COLLEGE STATION - Based on their frontline research in nuclear transplantation - better known as cloning - scientists at Texas A&M University's College of Veterinary Medicine can envision cures for such diseases as diabetes and Parkinson's, as well as the rejuvenation of damaged organs.

"Cloning may one day be used to benefit both animal and human patients by constructing a new organ or tissue to replace a diseased one," said Mark Westhusin, a member of the university's cloning research team.

The cloning process begins with removal of the nucleus of an unfertilized egg from one individual, leaving an egg-cell composed basically of cytoplasm. Then this egg is essentially fertilized with a cell taken from the individual that is to receive the cloned organ or tissue, Westhusin explained. Once the resulting embryo begins to grow, its cells have the ability to develop into a variety of different organs and specialized tissues.

"By manipulating the growth of the cells, scientists may one day be able to change them into whatever type of tissue is needed," Westhusin said.

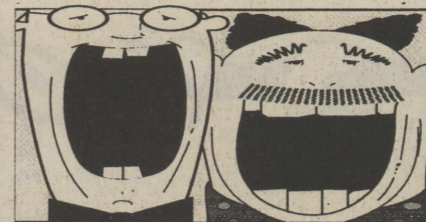

For diseases like diabetes, for example, a skin cell might be used to create a new embryo.

"The cells created from this embryo could be genetically engineered to produce and secrete insulin," Westhusin observed. "These cells could then be manipulated in a laboratory to develop into pancreatic cells, which could be transferred to the patient's pancreas. The cells would not be rejected because they originated from that individual. The resulting organ growth could cure the patient of diabetes."

Trinity Assembly celebrates merger

Trinity Assembly in Floydada will be celebrating the merger of First Assembly of God and Trinity Church by having a Dedication Day, Sunday, September 8th. The two groups merged together in January and everyone is quite pleased with the decision. Many improvements have been made, including a new lighted sign, and a new paved parking lot, and also a new youth program with Marty and Becky Gilbert as youth pastor.

The schedule for the day includes a guest speaker, Rev. Robert Slaton. He will be speaking at the 10:30 and the 2:30 services. The official dedication service will be in the 2:30 service. A noon meal will be served at the church.

Rev. Slaton has served as superintendent of the West Texas District Council of the Assemblies of God since 1989. He also serves as General Presbyter of the Assemblies of God; a member of the Board of Regents of Southwestern Assemblies of God University, Waxahachie, Texas; a member of the Board of Directors of the American Indian College, Phoenix, Arizona, and a member of the Board of Directors of Pleasant Hills Children Home, Fairfield, Texas.

Co-pastors, Vance Mitchell and Henry Russell extend an invitation to everyone to share with us the joys of this celebration.
