New Chamber Manager brings new ideas Floydada Chamber hosting free lunch

A new chamber manager, Iantha Smith, has hit the ground running with fresh enthusiasm in the Floydada Chamber office. In the office for only a short time, the chamber manager has planned the chamber's free hot dog lunch in honor of local businesses and stayed on the phone promoting upcoming Punkin Days and the city in general.

The Chamber will pay tribute to local businesses, Friday, August 20, with a hot dog lunch at the Courthouse Pavilion.

The free lunch will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. and is sponsored by Tempie Francis, Attorney at Law.

"People who say this chamber office isn't busy just doesn't understand what goes on here," said Iantha.

"I've got lots of things going on right now and I've got lots of plans for the future."

"I'm excited about some large banners which 'Go Texan' donated to the Chamber. They will stretch across the streets and promote Floydada and Punkin Day. We will put them up for Homecoming. I'm also planning to have a booth for Homecoming to give away prizes, and I'm looking into having a fun '50's' day in Floydada.

"Go Texan' has also promised to help the office with grant searches to promote our city.

Immediate plans underway is the preparation for the free lunch.

"Everyone is welcome to the luncheon," said Chamber Manager Iantha Smith.

Iantha is also hoping for a new office to locate the Chamber of Commerce. "I hope we can find an office downtown that would be donated to us," said Iantha. "We would pay the utilities of course, but we can't afford to buy a building. The City of Floydada has been wonderful to provide us with an office space—but no one knows we are here. The chamber really needs to have a visible office where people will stop in and visit. If you're not seen—then you're forgotten."

Iantha says she welcomes ideas for the chamber and of course any volunteers who would like to help her sort through her first year of Punkin Day would also be appreciated.

SILAGE HARVEST GEARING DOWN--Due to weather conditions silage harvest got off to a slow start in the Lockney area. However, after a few days of dry weather harvesters were busy hauling silage to the Caprock Feed Yard north of Lockney. If weather conditions continue to be dry Caprock Feed Yard will reach storage capacity by early Friday. Caprock purchased approximately 54,000 tons of silage from local producers. This converts into approximately one and a half million dollars paid out to local producers. Caprock also uses approximately one million pounds of milo daily, at a cost of approximately $30,000 a day. Caprock purchases milo locally whenever possible.

Fireworks cause local house fire

By Darwin Robinson

A house located at 706 E. Thornton in Floydada was heavily damaged by fire Thursday, August 12. The northeast front bedroom was gutted by the fire and the rest of the house was damaged by smoke and water, according to resident Karen Davis.

According to Fire Chief Carroll Sims, the call came in about 2:40 P.M. and 15 firemen responded. There were 11 firemen from Floydada and four from Lockney.

Karen told the Hesperian-Beacon, "My mother, Carrie Davis, my 13 year old son and I lived in the house. There was a lot of damage from smoke and water to the rest of the house. My mother did have insurance."

FISD sets hearing for proposed tax rate

By Darwin Robinson

The FISD Board met in Special Session Monday, August 9, and discussed the proposed 2004-2005 budget and the proposed tax rate increase. The Public Hearing was set for Tuesday, August 24, at 7:00 P.M. at the FISD Central Office.

According to Superintendent Jerry Vaughn, the new proposed budget has not yet been finalized. However, the board has proposed an increase in the 2004-2005 tax rate from the present tax rate of $1.4434. The tax rate has been proposed to be raised to $1.7196 per $100 property valuation.

FISD Public Notices published in the Hesperian-Beacon states, the $0.2762 tax rate increase is necessary in order to pay the Interest & Sinking Fund expenses on the upcoming $14.5 million dollar Bond Election to be held on September 11, 2004, if it passes public approval.

In relation to this tax rate increase and the upcoming Bond Election on September 11, the FISD Board met in regular session Tuesday, August 10, and unanimously approved a resolution making a covenant with the voters of the FISD District.

The resolution states, "should the proposition for the issuance of the Bonds receive a favorable vote, the District will make application to receive State assistance in the payment of debt service on the Bonds."

The resolution expresses the intentions of the FISD Board to issue up to $5,850,000.00 in principal amount of the Bonds, if approved by the voters on September 11, to begin the construction of school improvements. However, the Board will only issue the remaining $8,650,000.00 in Bonds, if the District receives State Assistance Program (EDA) revenues for that portion of the Bonds.

Superintendent Vaughn said, "We can't proceed in this (bond) project without this EDA funding. It will be over. We cannot tackle this project without their funding. This a legal and bind-

O'Connell earns Eagle rank

After 12 years of hard work, Mike O'Connell, of Lockney, has earned the rank of Eagle Scout.

Entering Boy Scout Troop 259 when he was 6 years old, as a Tiger Cub, Mike has stayed in the Scouting program and worked his way to the top.

Thursday, August 12, at the age of 18 years old, Mike was presented with his Eagle pin at a Court of Honor ceremony in the San Jose Catholic Church in Lockney.

To earn the rank of Eagle, a Boy Scout must earn 21 merit badges. The merit badges cover areas of study in camping, wilderness survival, life saving, community service, government, conservation, communications, etc. They also must hike, hike, hike.

"I've hiked more miles than I can count," laughed Mike.

Off the top of his head, Mike remembers three 50-mile hikes, two 80 mile hikes at Philmont, two hikes up the 13,161 foot Wheeler Peak, two hikes up the 8,749 foot Guadalupe Peak, 68 miles on the Pecos Packer, and numerous Caprock Canyon outings.

Mike was also required to plan, organize, document, and work at a "Eagle Project" for the community. Mike took on a daunting task of building a wheelchair ramp for the Lockney Library. It turned into a much larger project than anyone expected.

The project ended up taking 446 man hours. As is done in all Eagle projects, other Scouts in the troop pitched in to help Mike on his project.

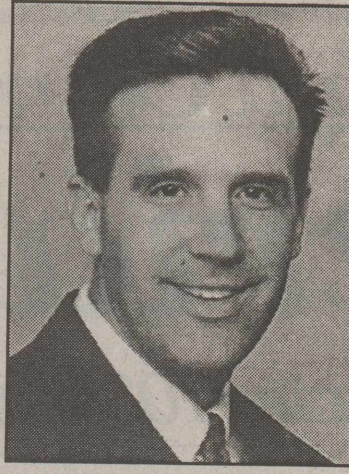

While in Boy Scouts, Mike served as Assistant Senior Patrol Leader for 2 years and Senior Patrol Leader for 2 years. He has also been Troop Guide (guiding young new Scouts into the troop).

"I believe I have achieved something that most people will not achieve outside of earning a degree or military honors," said Mike. "The Eagle Scout honor serves as an example and is respected by many."

Mike graduated from Lockney High School this fall and will be attending Wayland Baptist University. He will major in Pre-Med.

PINNING THE EAGLE SCOUT--Dorothy O'Connell pins the Eagle Scout emblem on her son, Mike O'Connell, during a Court of Honor held at San Jose Catholic Church in Lockney, Thursday, August 12, 2004. The worship service and the seminar are both open to everyone in the community. The church will provide a light supper and child care.

"Give yourself the gift of taking this free seminar," said Dr. David Jones, pastor. "Mary Lou and I found freedom and joy in using the biblical principles that Bruce Ammons shares so dynamically! This is your invitation to attend."

FISD passes bond resolution

ing resolution." It was further explained that this board and any future FISD boards would be bound by this resolution.

According to Vaughn, if the Bond Election passes, but no State assistance is received after making application for it, then the first $5,850,000.00 worth of bonds sold would not be spent and they would be paid off as soon as possible. The second $8,650,000.00 worth of bonds will not be sold and the $14.5 million school renovation project would be ended.

Business Manager Sharon Rainwater presented the board with an updated Cash Flow Statement for the 2003-2004 school year. It showed an Average Monthly Expense at $561,198.20 and a Current Cash Balance of $4,591,373.28. A Tax Statement showed $2,023,758.56 taxes collected as of July 31, 2004, which is 96.49 percent collected.

The board approved Alice Pathina as Deputy Early Ballot Clerk, Maybelle Monreal as the Election Judge and Cecilia Arriana as the Alternate Election Judge for the September 11, 2004 Bond Election.

In Superintendent Vaughn's closing report to the board, he stated, "I want to remind the voters of the residence homestead exemption for those citizens 65 years and older. Their taxes will not increase, regardless of changes in the tax rate or property values."

The board approved the resignations of Brooke Evans and Guadalupe De La Fuente and employed Ismael Vega, Paige Johnson, Sandra Daigle, Nancy Trevino, Erica Reagan, Phillip Navarro, and Adrian Martinez.

"We will still stay open," said Manager Alicia Luna, "but we won't be able to be associated with the Salvation Army any-

"This building is very old and very small. We don't even have a bathroom."

Anyone who would like to donate space to the Salvation Army should call Barry Barker, at 652-3379, or 652-2642.

We are still dreaming of trees on the east side and a canopy in the back. There is no end to our dreams. We do appreciate all the support given to us." Staff Photo

Kirk and Sanders exchange vows

MRS. DANE ANDREW SANDERS
(Nee Robin Renee Kirk)

Robin Renee Kirk and Dane Andrew Sanders were united in marriage on Saturday, August 14, 2004 at Second Baptist Church in Levelland. Michael Holster, music minister of Second Baptist Church officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Larry and Nancy Kirk of Levelland, formerly of Floydada. She is the granddaughter of Louis and Ferne Anderson of Floydada, Betty Motley and the late Weldon Motley of Olton, and Sandra and the late Lacie Kirk of Marble Falls.

The groom is the son of Mark and Dee Sanders of Floydada. He is the grandson of Sterling and Gleyann Earle Cummings and Hansel and Connie Sanders, all of South Plains.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father. The bride wore an ivory satin A-line gown fashioned with an elegant scoop neckline and spaghetti straps accented with glass bugle beads. The bodice was trimmed with ivory beads that surrounded an embroidered floral design and rum pink flowers. She wore a tiara embellished with porcelain roses and rhinestones. She also wore an elbow length veil edged with rum pink cording. The veil was accented with crystals and pearls. She carried a bouquet of Vouge, Virginia, and Anna roses wrapped in double face bridal white satin.

Representing something old for the bride was her grandmother's gold wedding band. Something new was her wedding gown. For something blue the bride wore the same garter that her mother wore in her wedding. The bride borrowed an ankle bracelet from a friend.

Serving as matron of honor was Tara Holder of Lubbock, college friend of the bride. Maid of honor was Lindsey Whitten of Lubbock, lifelong friend of the bride. They both wore soft pink floor length gowns. They each carried a bouquet of pink and white Gerbera daisies tied with an iridescent ribbon.

The flower girl was Rebekah Quigley of Olton, cousin of the bride. The ring bearer was Jonah Quigley of Olton, also cousin of the bride. He carried a white lace pillow that was used in the bride's parent's wedding.

The groom was dressed in a black notch two button tuxedo. He wore a laydown white collar shirt with a silver vest and tie. His boutonniere was a Vouge rose with green leaves.

Serving as best man was Phillip Peabody of Lubbock, college friend of the groom. Chad Turner of Lubbock, lifelong friend of the groom, served as groomsman.

They were attired in formal black tuxedos with a black vest and tie. Their boutonnieres were made of white daisies.

Ushers were Cory Kirk of Fieldton, brother of the bride; Joey Couch of Richland Hills, friend of the bride and groom; Lonny Nelson of Lubbock, friend of the groom; and Tyson Whittle of Hobbs, NM, friend of the groom.

Registering the guests were Jenna Payne of Waco and Rebecca Warren of Amarillo, both friends of the bride.

The sanctuary was adorned with cascading white tulle accented with clear lights, votives, and pink roses. Large white tulle bows were placed on the pews to accent the aisle. A white pillar adorned with greenery and small pink roses held the unity candle.

During the seating of the grandparents and parents "Pachelbel's Cannon in D" was played. The wedding party entered to "Trumpet Voluntary." The processional was played by pianist Darla Chappell of Floydada, and organist Kathy Howe of Levelland. Special music was performed by vocalists Danny and Lea Cay Farr of Levelland. Together they sang "Prayer for Home" as the bride and groom's mothers lit the unity candle. Danny also sang "God Knew That I Needed You." As the couple lit the unity candle and observed the Lord's Supper, he sang "I Will Be Here."

Following the wedding a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall, hosted by the bride's parents. The cake and punch were served by Shea Sanders and Kylan Francis, sisters of the groom; Stephanie Kirk, cousin of the bride; and Courtney Cummings, cousin of the groom.

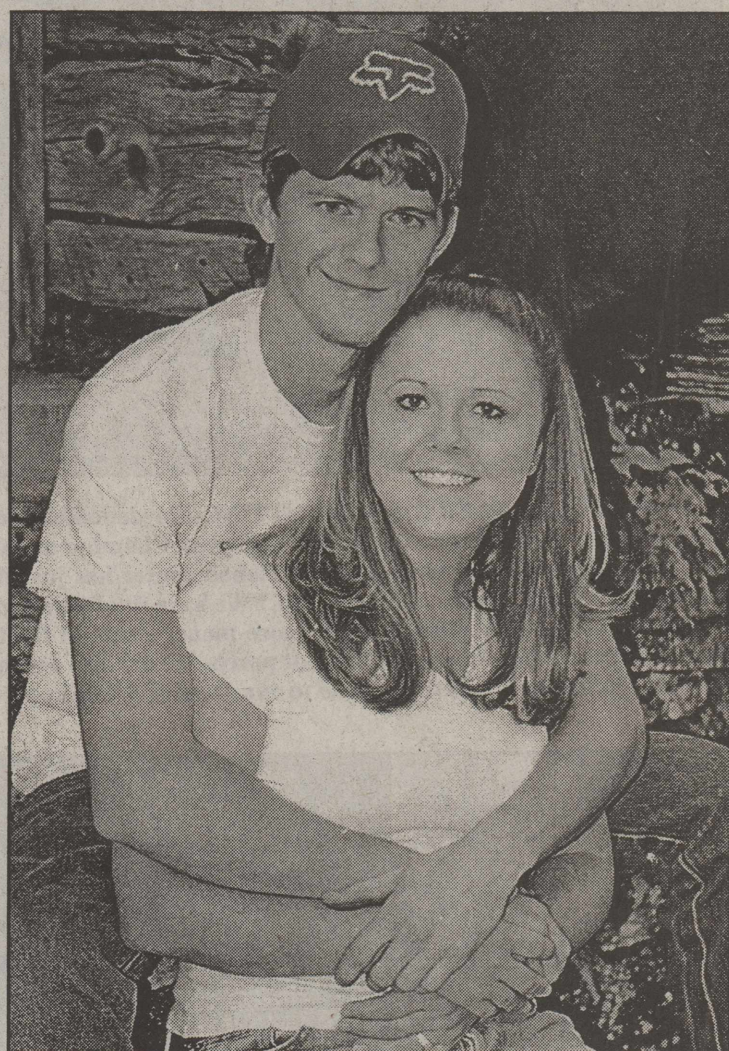

The tables were decorated with ivory table cloths. Sage green satin accented the center where mirrored tiles were adorned with pink rose topiaries, rose petals, and crystal ice.

The groom's parents were hosts for a rehearsal dinner August 13 in the Fellowship Hall at Second Baptist in Levelland.

The couple was honored with a shower in Floydada at the home of Julie Duke and in Levelland at Second Baptist Church. A lingerie shower was given at the home of Lindsey Whitten and Heather Ware.

After a wedding trip to Playa del Carman, Mexico, the couple will make their home in Lubbock.

Lockney Senior Citizen News and Menu

By Vera Jo Bybee
Every Thursday night at 6:00 all Senior Citizens are invited to come to the Center and enjoy a great pot luck supper followed with domino and card games.

Be sure to attend this Thursday night because there is going to be live entertainment by J.V. Martin, Dowell Brewer, Mollie Huffman, Cecil Jones and his mother, Betty Jones and possibly others that I don't know about.

Old Fashion Saturday is going to be this Saturday. With goings on all day and into the night. The Library is going to have a bake sale and a quilt show that I know of. The day features a talent show, games of volley ball and basketball, a tractor pull, all kinds of food booths, and ends with a good old street dance. Come on out and bring your lawn chair and enjoy all the festivities. Since I don't have all that much news to write about this week, I'm gonna write about grandson J.W. McPherson. He is my last Lockney Longhorn that I get to coach or I mean watch. Ha!! He is 16 and a junior. They have started scrimmaging but it rained me out last week but not the team. They played in the rain. I've told Jay to put something on his helmet or wear a different colored sock or something so I can tell which one he is. But he said, "Aw Maw Maw I can't do that." He isn't for sure he will get much playing time this year cause being a Junior he is playing behind a lot of good Seniors. Who knows? We'll just have to wait and see.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the merchants for buying advertisement time on the Plainview radio station KRIA 103.9 F.M., so Bobby Hall and Phil Cotham can announce our weekly football games. They are such good announcers. I hope everybody goes by these businesses to thank them. Buy something to show how much you appreciate them doing this. This Senior Citizen doesn't do much driving after dark so getting to listen to Bobby and Phil call the game and give us the stats is a great pleasure. Especially if grandson does something great they can tell me about. When I go to all the local games I even wear my headphones cause Donnie doesn't like me asking him things about the game. So I depend on Bobby and Phil to tell me.

Good luck #40 and all the Horns for a great 2004 season.

United Blood Services makes urgent appeal

United Blood Services has issued an urgent appeal for blood donations. Increased use in trauma cases combined with holiday travel has exhausted all available supplies of O- blood. All blood types are currently on short supply. Hospital orders for O- are not being filled. The supply shortage is critical.

Not only does UBS not have blood on the shelves, but neither do the hospitals! Lockney residents can help by donating blood at the Mangold Hospital Lorena Davila at 652-3373, ext. 229 for an appointment.

Blood donation requirements are simple. You must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 110 pounds, be in good health, and have valid identification.

on Friday, August 27 from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. in the mobile coach. All donors will receive their choice of a T-shirt, insulated mug or baseball cap. We will also be giving a portable AM/FM CD stereo away as a door prize. Please contact

Quisenberry named head coach at Devine

By Bill Gray
Former Whirlwind quarterback and 1989 Floydada High School graduate Chad Quisenberry has been elevated to head football coach at Devine, Texas. He replaces former Floydada coach Dean Bates, who has taken over as athletic director at Pleasanton of District 30-4A. The Devine Warhorses compete in District 29-3A - along with Carrizo Springs, Hondo, Cotulla, Crystal City and Pearsall. The San Antonio Express-News recently named Devine the top Class 3A athletic program in South Texas.

Son of George and Betty Quisenberry and the late Sharon Quisenberry of Floydada and a 1993 graduate of Texas Tech University, Chad is married to the former Kalli Hicks of Floydada (daughter of Bill and Kay Hicks) and they have two daughters - Baylee, age 7, and Preske, age 3. Chad is also the grandson of Betty Fuller of Floydada and Billie Quisenberry of Plainview. Quisenberry has coached 9 years at Devine, and has spent the past five years as offensive coordinator of the Warhorses. His first year of coaching was at Floydada.

Devine was a Class 3A, Division II, regional finalist in 2003 - going two rounds into the postseason before losing to the Altair Rice Raiders. The Warhorses have been installed as the district favorite in most of the preseason football polls.

Five biggest mistakes made about Social Security

By Mary Jane Shanes

When it comes to Social Security, a lack of basic knowledge can put you at a disadvantage. Every day I talk with people who take Social Security for granted. What they don't know can make a difference in time and money and in their future.

Here's my list of the five biggest mistakes people make when it comes to thinking about one of their most important financial lifelines - Social Security.

Thinking that social security can do it all - Social Security never was meant to be your only source of retirement income. It always was meant to be part of a three-legged financial stool, along with private pensions and savings or investments. Most financial planners tell people to figure out how much money they'll need in retirement, usually 70 to 80 percent of their pre-retirement incomes, and then start socking away 10 percent of their incomes to meet this goal. If you can't do that much, at least set aside one dollar for retirement savings for every dollar of Social Security taxes you pay.

Remember, for the average wage earner, Social Security will replace only about 40 percent of what you make before you retire.

Giving Your Social Security Number To Others - You may not realize the potential problems that can come about from letting the wrong person get hold of your Social Security number. Most of the time letting a business or organization know your Social Security number seems harmless enough, but do you know what they will do with it? Or to whom they will pass it along?

One of the key elements needed to steal your identity is your Social Security number. It's also a good idea to keep your Social Security card in a safe place, and to be careful in who you give your number to. If your Social Security card is stolen or your number is being misused, contact Social Security's Fraud Hotline at 1-800-269-0271.

Thinking Your Social Security Taxes Are Building Up A Personal Retirement Account - Some people think that because they have a Social Security number and they pay Social Security taxes, there's a special account that has all the money they've paid into Social Security, plus interest. That just isn't so.

Social Security is basically a pay-as-you-go system. The benefits people get today are being paid from the taxes of today's workers. Because it's a "social" insurance program, Social Security makes sure that there's money to help everyone. You may get back more or less than you paid in, depending on how much you earned and how long you live. But the money you are paying to Social Security today in taxes is not going into an account for you.

Throwing Away Your Social Security Statement - If you're 25 or older and you work, you receive a Social Security Statement in the mail each year about three months before your birthday. One of the biggest mistakes you could make is to throw it out without looking at it.

The Statement has a lot of useful information and if you don't already have a plan for where your money will be coming from after you stop working, Social Security should be the first place you look. The Statement shows how much you paid into Social Security through the years and what you can expect to get back at various retirement ages. It also shows how much you'll get if you become disabled and can't work for a year or more. And it shows what your family will be eligible for if you die before retirement.

We recommend that you keep a copy of the Statement with your financial records. If you decide not to keep your Statement, please make sure you destroy it before discarding.

Those who take their Statement seriously even visit Social Security's website, www.ssa.gov/planners, to plug in various financial scenarios to find out how different wages will affect their future benefits.

Not Having Your Social Security Checks Direct Deposited Into Your Bank - Here's a no-brainer. If you're looking for the safest, most convenient way to get your benefit payments, direct deposit is the answer. Your money goes directly into your bank account and it's there on your check payment date. There's no staying at home waiting for the mail. There's no worrying about your check being lost or stolen. Your money is in your account, even if you can't get to the bank. It's there on your check payment date.

Are you making any of these mistakes? If so, it might be time to update your ideas about Social Security.

And remember, visit our website at www.ssa.gov to get all the latest information on just about any aspect of Social Security.

Cotton

www.plainscotton.org

Throughout the season most cotton discussions have been shaped by the fact that 2004 was shaping up to be a record year for cotton around the globe.

Thursday's August Crop Production report from the National Agricultural Statistics Service did nothing to dispel that sentiment.

Projecting a strong U.S. Upland cotton crop of 19.48 million bales, the NASS report was perhaps a little above the general range of expectations for the first measure of the 2004 crop. On the other hand the reaction by the market and among industry observers, certainly showed that the number is not out of the realm of possibility.

Texas numbers released by the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service illustrate clearly the excellent shape the crop was in during the late July survey period. Overall Texas is forecast to produce a record 6.3 million Upland cotton bales from 5.5 million harvested acres and set a new yield record of 550 pounds per harvested acre.

Closer to home, the estimated production for the High Plains region was set at a record 3.89 million bales for crop reporting districts 1-N and 1-S. Projected yields for 1-N and 1-S were 742 and 498 pounds respectively.

To some these numbers seem a little high when considering the wide range of maturity that comprises the 2004 crop. With cotton ranging from the very early to the very late, the calendar and the September/October temperature pattern become the primary factors driving what may or may not happen.

There is no getting around the fact that a fair number of acres south of Lubbock are non-irrigated and were planted late in June. These acres have generally received the moisture they need. How they turn out is essentially a factor of the calendar and their receiving normal weather the rest of the season.

Cotton acreage north of Lubbock is in essentially the same position, but has a much smaller margin of error. The calendar there is an even bigger factor, due to the fact this area tends to add heat units at a slower pace in September and October.

In order to capture the tremendous yield potential that exists in this area another warm, open Fall is the must have ingredient.

As is so often the case, whether or not the High Plains crop breaks records or hearts in 2004 will depend on the weather pattern that dominates over the next 6-8 weeks.

Warm temperatures and clear, sunny days are the key to breaking records in 2004. Anything less could begin to slowly shave 2004 crop potential one shed boll at a time. This is especially true in northern areas that historically accumulate heat units at a slower rate from mid-August through the end of October.

To illustrate this point, from August 11 through October 31 Lubbock will historically accumulate around 828 heat units. In order to reach the Long Term Average (LTA) heat unit accumulation Lubbock only needs to accumulate 810 Heat units through October 31.

This would seem to indicate that growers in Lubbock that planted on or before May 15 are 1-3 days ahead of schedule in terms of heat unit accumulations compared to the LTA.

A different situation exists north of Lubbock where growers are in a slightly more precarious position.

Looking at the LTA, crops in this region are either running slightly-ahead of schedule for acreage planted May 1 or slightly behind if they were planted by May 15. Amarillo area growers should normally expect to receive only about 680 more heat units through October 31. That number has certainly not been the norm the past few seasons, especially in the Amarillo area.

Most everyone agrees that the crop projected by Texas Agricultural Statistics Service is probably in the field today. What they also need to acknowledge is that regardless of everything that has gone into getting the crop to this point, the final outcome could still leave many shaking their heads and wondering - "What if?"

The following tables illustrate where the 2004 crop stands in terms of total heat unit accumulations (DD-60s) versus the long-term average and the 2002-2003 seasons.

Vesicular Stomatitis drifting northward Worst may be over for Texas

Animal health officials say that the Vesicular Stomatitis (VS) outbreak in Texas appears to be winding down as of mid-August, but more than 150 infected animals have been detected in Texas, New Mexico and Colorado and more cases may be seen before the outbreak is over. VS is a viral disease that appears every few years. Infected livestock, such as horses, cattle, goats, deer, swine or other susceptible animals, develop blisters, ulcers, or sloughing of the skin in and around the mouth, teats or hooves.

"This year Texas has two diseases that occur only sporadically "anthrax and VS," commented Dr. Bob Hillman, Texas, state veterinarian and head of the Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC), the state's livestock and poultry health regulatory agency.

"Anthrax and VS are not related. Anthrax is a bacterial disease which is fatal to animals that become infected. However, outbreaks are usually localized. This year, we've had several confirmed cases of anthrax in Uvalde and Val Verde counties. Animals ingest the deadly bacteria when they graze where anthrax spores have become vegetative," Dr. Hillman explained. "VS is thought to be transmitted by sand flies and black flies, and while the viral infection causes lesions and temporarily debilitates an animal, it rarely causes death."

Dr. Hillman said eight premises in Texas currently are under VS quarantine, but no new cases have been confirmed since late July. VS-infected livestock and their herd mates are quarantined until at least 30 days after the last lesions are healed, a process that usually takes about two weeks. Restricted sites currently include a ranch in Dimmit County with equine animals; four in Starr County, two of which include cattle; an equine premises in Yoakum County; and two equine premises in Kerr County.

"We've released the quarantines on four premises since the outbreak began," noted Dr. Bob Hillman, Texas, state veterinarian and head of the TAHC. "The first released was in Reeves County, where the nation's initial VS case was confirmed in mid-May in a horse. Quarantines since have been lifted on one premises each in Val Verde, Starr and Uvalde counties.

"When a VS outbreak occurs, it is not unusual for the disease to drift northward, as if it were being moved by a light breeze," commented Dr. John Romero, assistant state veterinarian for the New Mexico Livestock Board. "Right now, New Mexico has 80 VS-infected equine animals and one llama confined with their herd mates on 51 premises in 11 counties. No new cases have been confirmed recently in the southern part of the state."

New Mexico counties with quarantines include: Bernalillo, Eddy, Grant, Mora, Rio Arriba, San Miguel, Sandoval, Santa Fe, Socorro, Taos and Valencia.

In Colorado, 52 premises with cattle and/or equine animals in 13 counties are under VS quarantine. Counties involved include Adams, Alamosa, Boulder, Douglas, El Paso, Fremont, Huerfano, Larimer, Las Animas, Otero, Park, Pueblo, and Weld.

"The number of cases will slow when weather cools, sometime in early October," noted Dr. Keith Roehr, assistant state veterinarian with the Colorado Department of Agriculture's Division of Animal Industry. Dr. Roehr explained that the VS outbreak will not end until sometime in early November, when consistent freezes will kill the flies thought to transmit the disease.

"Livestock owners in Texas, New Mexico and Colorado call the state of destination prior to shipping animals, to ensure that animals meet all entry requirements," Dr. Hillman urged. "Some states have imposed permitting, testing or quarantine restrictions to protect against the spread of VS. Call before you haul to avoid complications later."

Livestock owners should report potential cases of VS to their respective state veterinarians, office, so tests may be run to correctly diagnose the illness, and to rule out an accidental or intentional introduction of foot-and-mouth disease (FMD), a highly dangerous foreign animal disease that can affect cattle, sheep and other cloven-hooved animals.

To make a report, owners and private veterinary practitioners should call:

The Mountain Top

There's nothing quite like a mountain top,
To make you feel complete.
But you have to go down to the valley
To give your soul a drink.

We'd like to live out our lives
Perched high in an eagle's nest.
But it's down in the valley,
Where we have to pass the test.

God visits us on the mountain top,
And our hungry souls he feeds.
But it's down in the valley,
Where He meets our every need.

The family of Wayne A. Russell wishes to extend heartfelt appreciation for the countless acts of kindness, love and concern during the time of our loss.

We would especially like to thank the ladies of the First Baptist Church for providing the family meal, those who brought food to the home and those who sent cards, letters, donations and memorials.

Our special thanks also for our long association with Dr. Floyd Bradley, who brought the comforting and inspiring message; the beautiful and appropriate music by Gayla Griffin, Mike Holster and our own Henry, Dahlia and Kim; the "Letter to Dadaddy" by Dorma, on behalf of the granddaughters; the efforts by Police Chief Darryl Gooch and the EMS crew, as well as Dr. Stennett and the staff at Mangold Memorial Hospital; and the beautiful and meaningful services conducted by Doyle Walls and the brethren of Floydada Masonic Lodge. May God bless all of you.

We have witnessed how great and loving our God is as he provided for our every need. Because of your willingness to be his voice, we have been comforted by many calls. Because you allowed his hands to guide yours we have received cards and letters that remind us of how many wonderful people He has made a part of our lives.

With your arms He has hugged and held us and through your visits He has made his presence tangible. He fed us with the meals you provided at just the right times and in the perfect amounts. Your prayers for us are being answered as we feel God's peace even in the darkest hours. Thank you each and every one for letting God use you to show us how He loves us. We are so blessed to have such wonderful and caring family, friends and neighbors!

To our Family and Friends:

We have found much comfort in your prayers and kind gestures during this difficult time. Your attendance at Eddie and Amelia's viewing, service and interment made us feel their continuing love through you and gives us peace to see how they touched they lives.

We continue to be amazed by your kind gifts, beautiful flowers and delicious food. Through you generous contributions, Amelia and Eddie continue to bless the First United Methodist Church in Abernathy.

Because he Lives -

God is always at work for the good of everyone who loves him.
Romans 8:28

Thank you to all the firefighters that came to get rid of the honeybees that took up residence in the wall of my house.

Words cannot express my appreciation of all the hard work and effort.

Sincerely,
DeAnn Collins

We appreciate the fine job Commissioner Craig Gilly and all Precinct 4 workers did on the road to our house.
Our deepest gratitude on a job well done.
