Gas leases in Floyd County on the rise at Courthouse

By Alice Gilroy
(Editor's Note: Thank-you to Thomas Musser for his invaluable assistance and knowledge in writing this story.)

It may take years for Floyd County landowners to see any economic boom from gas exploration in the area, however the City of Floydada has already reaped some benefits through vacant buildings now rented and remodeled.

The Courthouse and the Floydada square have taken on a new look with filled parking spaces and at least one storefront on California Street has a new look.

La Esperanza, partnered with Bankers Petroleum, has taken over an office space at 107 W. California and added life to the street with a completely new look for downtown Floydada. Across the street from La Esperanza is T.F. Dudley Land Company Inc., who has also turned another empty office building into a busy and attractive business.

The County Clerk's office in Floydada has also changed from a quiet office to an everyday beehive of activity, with gas company clerks pouring over documents researching mineral rights and gathering information for leasing land.

Local lawyers are busy with legal work and restaurants and gas stations are being directly influenced with the influx of those interested in gas exploration in the Palo Duro Basin (which includes Floyd, Motley, and Briscoe County). When the drilling does start local dirt movers will also likely benefit from the explorations.

According to a spokesperson with La Esperanza and Bankers Petroleum, approximately 600,000 acres has been leased for gas exploration in Floyd, Motley, and Briscoe County. At least 25 companies are currently leasing land in the area. One year ago, it was reported in the Floyd County Hesperian-Beacon that 98,000 acres had been leased.

The Palo Duro Basin covers an area of about 22,700 square miles in the Texas Panhandle, eastern New Mexico, and Oklahoma. The largest geologic feature in the province is the Palo Duro Basin which is bounded to the north by the Amarillo Uplift, to the south by the Matador Arch, and to the east and west by minor structural highs that separate it from the Hardeman and Tucumcari Basin.

The central portion of the province does not currently produce oil or gas, but production does exist along the southern border (Matador Arch) and along the northern border south of the Amarillo Uplift in rocks of Mississippian, Pennsylvania, and Permian Age.

According to geologist Thomas Musser, the major interest by the companies is for gas production from the lower Pennsylvania Bend Shale (the name Pennsylvania refers to a geological time period). "There is also some interest by some companies for oil production from the Cisco Shale and the Wolfcamp Reef." (The lower Pennsylvania Bend Shale is 7,000 - 9,500 feet deep; the Cisco Shale is 6,500 - 7,000 feet deep; and the Wolfcamp Reef is 5,000 - 6,000 feet deep).

Musser's knowledge and assistance has become invaluable to many in this area for his expertise and his willingness to help with questions on the geology of this region and oil and gas exploration. He is also the author of "Floyd County Exploration Production" which is available at the Floyd County Museum. Musser has also researched Motley, Briscoe, Hall, Swisher, and Hale Counties.

"I'm trying to keep people informed," said Musser. "I've done work for the Museum and I'm in Floydada every month pouring over records and keeping track of what is happening with gas exploration in the area."

Although representatives of the companies leasing land and active in gas exploration may be tight lipped about what is going on in the area, Musser has a wealth of information from his research.

Musser says interest has now expanded into eastern Swisher and eastern Hale Counties.

"During 2004-2005 Vintage Petroleum Inc., out of Tulsa, Oklahoma, has drilled two wells in Motley County. Currently Vintage Petroleum is testing and evaluating these two wells and two additional wells," said Musser.

"During 2005 GeoSurveys, Inc., and Stable Resources, LLC, out of Abilene and Lubbock, began drilling one well in Floyd County. Currently this well is shut-in awaiting deeper drilling."

Anticipation has risen recently because five new drilling permits have been filed and approved by the Texas Railroad Commission. Four of these permits are in Floyd County and one is in Motley County.

The newly permitted well locations are on the Kenneth Broseh lease, 15 miles northeast of Floydada; 4 DG's Corporation lease, 9 miles north of Floydada; L.N. Johnson lease, 4 1/2 miles northeast from Floydada; the W.D. Miller lease, 4 miles northeast from Floydada; and the R.G. Stephens lease, 7 1/2 miles northwest from Matador.

There are also 7 wells located in the current areas of interest that are awaiting evaluation or have been 'shut-in'. One of those wells is the Fowler Unit, 3 1/2 miles N.E. of Cedar Hill. It is shut in and awaiting deepening. Four others are in Motley County, west and northwest of White Flat, and west of Matador. Two are in Briscoe County, N.E. of Quitaque.

One of the Motley County wells, 5 miles N.W. of Whiteflat, was drilled in 1975 and never produced. It is currently shut-in. A well, drilled in 2005, on the M. Burleson Ranch, 14 1/2 miles West of Matador is awaiting evaluation.

According to Musser it cost between 1 million and 1 1/2 million dollars to drill these wells.

"In Motley County Vintage Petroleum drilled to 9,300 feet," said Musser. "They are still testing and evaluating and being very quiet."

When asked why there is now so much interest in new gas exploration, and in old wells now 'shut-in', Musser said, "In the past it was not profitable to attempt to produce natural gas from these wildcat areas of the Palo Duro Basin, and now it is.

"SENIOR AIRMAN BELOW THE ZONE"--John Lopez, of Lockney, (left) stands with Major Patrick D. McEvoy, USAF, Commanding Officer for the 40th Maintenance Squadron, beside a B-1 Bomber. Lopez was recently named Senior Airman Below the Zone which is, according to Major McEvoy, "a promotion ahead of his peers, very competitive and a great honor". John's parents, John and Joyce Lopez, of Lockney, recently received a letter from McEvoy praising John's work. "He is a fine American," said McEvoy. "He is a leader among his peers and his supervisors speak very highly of him as having a strong work ethic and sense of mission. We have worked long hours here during his deployment and John never seems to lose sight of the mission or let anything get him down. Every day we launch combat sorties and your son has a direct impact in saving the lives of Marines and Soldiers on the ground by his fine work. He is professional in his approach towards his work, his peers and his supervisors and if I had more like John, my job would be obsolete."

Residents question the proposed dairy operation

By Alice Gilroy

Floyd County residents gathered at the Unity Center to pose their questions to TCEQ (Texas Commission on Environmental Quality) concerning a general permit which has been filed to open a Dairy 3 miles south of the intersection of 183 and Hwy. 70.

Residents were allowed to ask questions of TCEQ officials and a representative of Dale and Debbie Galloway, Norman Mullin. The Galloways' have applied for the General Permit, for a 4,000 head operation (3,000 milking and 1,000 dry and replacement).

The hearing's moderator, Jodena Henneke, made it clear to the crowd that only specific questions under TCEQ's authority would be considered and no comments would be accepted.

TCEQ deals with environmental problems such as water pollutants, and contaminated land and air.

The questions covered areas of concern from manure and wastewater management, dead animal storage and removal, contamination of wells, and nuisance conditions from flies, odor, dust, and traffic.

Preston Belt posed the first question at the hearing by asking if the soil types here were conducive to phosphate contamination.

Technical Specialist Darrell Williams stated that safeguards are put in place to ensure that contaminants do not get into phosphorous.

Steven Afill questioned manure and wastewater application to land. The general permit requires pollution prevention plans in the areas of manure, sludge, wastewater, dust, silage stockpiles, fuel storage tanks, pesticides and storage, lubricants, and disposal of animals.

The permit requires soil sampling before applying manure and annual samplings.

Daily inspections must also be conducted on all water lines located within the drainage area.

When questioned on where dead animals would be stored, Mullin stated dead animals would be removed within 72 hours. While waiting to be removed the animals would be kept on the south side at "the bottom end of the downhill side of public view."

Don Kelly, who stated he lives 3/4 miles from the proposed site, asked who would make up the

City code to be enforced for junk and trash on property

By Darwin Robinson

The Floydada City Council met Tuesday, June 21, and heard complaints from concerned citizens about junk cars, discarded appliances and assorted trash in the front and back yards of several residents living inside the City limits of Floydada.

Some of the comments presented to the council during Public Forum were: "Who enforces the City Code that prohibits junk in front yards, and back yards, that can be seen by the general public? Why aren't we enforcing the code? And why can't we put a fine on their utility bill? These 'junk yards' are a distraction to our City's good image."

Mayor Bobby Gilliland said, "We do have a code enforcement officer who gives citations for not cutting weeds and grass in yards."

City Manager Gary Brown added, "I am not sure of the legality of adding a fine to the utility bill."

Councilmember Ruben Barrientos asked, "Then what can we (as a council) do about this?"

Writing citations and letters to those with junk in their yards was

The technology has also improved which now enables them to find the producing formations that were more difficult to find in the past.

"Also, Ottis Mullin and his son-in-law Steve J. McClain are credited with researching this area of the Palo Duro Basin and getting various companies interested in coming to the area to explore for oil and gas."

According to Musser's research (and available in his books), in Floyd County from 1927 to present, 75 wells have been drilled for oil and gas. Seven of those wells produced. Currently two wells are producing oil: the E.M. Carmickle lease, Arick Field, has been producing since 1948; and the Adams lease, in Stanley Gray (Canyon) field has been producing since 1985. (In 2004 Floyd County oil production amounted to 1,606 barrels. There are 42 gallons in a barrel).

Challenges face gas companies when drilling starts. According to stories in the Plainview Daily Herald, and Avalanche Journal, H. Wayne Hughes, executive director of the Panhandle Producers & Royalty Owners Association said what may challenge the project is finding people to work the wells.

"There just aren't any out there. The rigs we have operating up here (in the Panhandle) are working around the clock 365 days a year. We could put 20 more rigs to work tomorrow, but you can't find the bodies."

Pipelines will also have to be laid to move the gas.

"There is already a pipeline in place that is part of a pipeline system that runs through the Panhandle called the OneOK pipeline," said Musser. "Any gas will have to be hooked up to that pipeline. For instance, the Cogdell well is 18 miles from the line."

Whatever the future holds in Floyd County the land leasing frenzy does not appear to be slowing down. Even small acreage is a commodity if surrounding land can also be leased.

"Statewide rules require 640 acres to drill a gas well and 40 acres for an oil well," said Musser. "However, as the field develops these rules can be amended."

"The gas well also has to be 467 feet from the property line."

Leasing prices vary and have jumped from a $10 acre bonus upward to $40. A Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners newsletter, "Pipeline", says local sources are convinced lease rates in Floyd County could hit the $100 mark.

If the Wildcatting does produce, a whole lot of other changes may be evident in Floyd County.

"If they find what they think they're going to find," said Hughes in an Avalanche Journal March 25 story, "it will change those economies forever."

TEXAS MIGRANT COUNCIL'S NEW BUILDING GOING UP-Several portable buildings were seen Monday morning being installed together to make TMC's new facilities at the Floydada office. TMC Transportation/Facilities Coordinator Karen Poe of Lubbock told the Hesperian-Beacon, "This new building, which will be ready by June 30th, will take the place of the old facility. We plan on tearing down the old facility at a later date. That space will be used for parking and a playground. The new facility will have five new classrooms and four new offices. We already have two other module buildings that are two years old, which have two classrooms each. We are funded for 100 kids and 27 employees. We need more help right now and we are hiring. Our seasonal program is year around and our summer program is in progress now. We serve all migrant worker's kids here in Floydada from Lockney, to Ralls, and to Petersburg. Our other offices in this region are located in Plainview, Lubbock, Brownfield, Muleshoe and Hereford."

difference in the decline of property value. He was told the TCEQ does not deal with those areas, but that he might have civil rights, but he must meet USDA standards.

When questioned about the danger to wells, and if all wells close to the facility had been plugged, the audience was told if they knew of any deficiencies in the general application relative to wells in the area they should put their concerns in writing.

Mullin stated if there were wells they had not located and were not plugged, they wanted to know about them.

According to the general permit the permittee must not be located or operate retention control structures, holding pens, or land management units within the "following buffer zones: 500 feet of public water supply wells; 150 feet of wells used for private water supply; or 100 feet of wells used for agriculture irrigation."

Bill McCarter questioned the problem of flies and mosquitoes.

Mullin stated that the typical way to handle the pests was with spraying. "The most effective way is proper pen management," said Mullin. "There will be routine raking to keep manure dry and it is important to maintain weed control."

"It is a sensitive issue," said Mullin, "but the dairyman wants his cows to be productive, so he strives to make them happy."

Don Kelly also questioned whether a large rain of 12-15 inches would not cause lagoon run-off to end up in White River Lake.

Kelly was told that as required by the permit wastewater would be captured in a retention structure and that they must be constructed to protect them from a 24-hour/25 rain (catastrophic event).

LaDora Afill asked about after hour nuisance problems such as dust and odor.

Randy Ammons, a Regional Director with TCEQ, stated that representatives have gone out after hours for emergencies, but that documentation of frequency and duration are needed for most complaints. Ammons stated that anyone with a complaint should keep records. "Does the dust problem occur all day-or just at certain times of the day, and how long does it last?"

Henneke stated that nuisance problems are not easy to validate. "What is a nuisance to one person is not necessarily objectionable to another."

Henneke also said there was no measuring device for an odor.

Ammons stated that if anyone had nuisance complaints they should call: 888-777-3186, or 806-796-7092.

Citizens at the hearing were encouraged to submit questions or concerns to the TCEQ if they felt the applicant failed to meet the technical requirements or conditions of the general permit. The executive director, after considering public comments, will approve or deny if the requirements are not met. The address for the Texas Commission of Environmental Quality is: Box 13087, Austin, TX 78711-3087.

suggested to see if the residents would clean up their yards.

Floydada Police Chief Darrell Gooch told the Hesperian-Beacon, "We plan on starting next week enforcing the City Code to those who have junk in their yards that can be seen by the general public."

The City Code states in Section 8.402, "It shall be unlawful for any person, who owns or occupies any house, building, establishment, lot, or yard in the City, to permit, or allow, any trash, rubbish, carrion, filth, or other impure, or unwholesome matter, to accumulate, or remain thereon or therein. It shall be the duty of such person to keep the area from the line of the property to the curb line, or street adjacent to it, free and clear of the matter referred to above."

Section 8.403 states the same about "weeds and other unsightly vegetation" and Section 8.404 states the same about "abandoned vehicles and appliances, etc."

Section 8.407 states: Following notification in person, or by mail, or by posting a notice upon the structure or on the property, the person or party involved will be "guilty of a misdemeanor and issued a warrant to appear in municipal court and upon conviction shall be fined."

The code continues: After 10 days of the second notification in the newspaper, the City may go upon the property to correct the condition at the cost to the owner of the property. If the cost is not paid within 30 days, the City shall have a privileged lien on such property.

In a related matter, the council discussed, but took no official action on, the subjects of dilapidated structures and old dead trees in the City limits.

City Manager Brown told the council, "We are continuing to tear down dilapidated structures as we can. There are many more that need to be removed. Also, we need to inform the public that the City will be willing to remove dead trees from a property, if we can get equipment to the tree and if the owner signs a release."

Brown added, "If we can continue to remove unsightly items from our town, maybe we can build a little bit of pride in our people."

In other matters, the council voted unanimously to charge the "actual cost" to the customer for a "water tap" hook up to the City's water system and a deposit must be paid up front. The City has been charging a set fee, which did not cover the "actual cost," according to Brown.

Examples given to the council by City Manager Brown were: a 3/4 inch water tap "actual cost" to the City is $260.88, while the current set charge was only $150. A one inch water tap "actual cost" is $433.94, while the current set charge was only $200. A two inch tap "actual cost" is $1,156.95, plus a 2 inch gate valve at $79 and a valve box at $49, while the current set charge was only $300.

The council approved an amendment to modify the ordinance concerning the RV Pavilion fee charges. The charges will include the $50 rental fee per day, and a one time janitorial charge of $40 for use over two days.

Elaine Austin was unanimously appointed by the council to take the place of resigning Sylvia Capehart on the Floydada Housing Authority Board.

City Manager Brown told the council about the possibility of financing the capital improvement projects by letting the citizens decide to use bonds to fund the individual projects, or perhaps choose another way. He said he was working with First Southwest of Lubbock concerning the financing of these projects needed by the City.

A Special City Board Meeting was scheduled for the evening of July 5th to decide on what type of funding will be used to fund the capital improvement projects.

Lockney Senior Citizens News

By Vera Jo Bybee

Yes it will soon be July 1st and you know what that time is? Can you believe another year has rolled around. These years just go by too fast when you are Senior Citizens.

It is dues paying time again. They are still $20.00 a person. Due and payable to Senior Citizens, Box 82, Lockney, Tx. 79241. I know a lot of members pay their dues and don't ever get to come to Lockney. I want to tell you how much it is appreciated because if it wasn't for all the members, memorials and donations there wouldn't be a Lockney Senior Citizens. It would be missed so much if they had to close the doors.

Every morning the coffee drinkers enjoy visiting with each other while they drink their coffee. The domino and bridge players, the exercisers, the Thurs. night pot luck suppers and all the other activities that are held at the Center would be missed. So if I ask for money real often it is for a good reason I promise you.

Last Wednesday Thurman and Lynna Jay Davis, former Lockney residents, were in town and ate lunch at the Center. Everyone there enjoyed visited with them so much.

On Thursday of last week a group of ladies ate lunch at the Center too. One of the ladies, Wilma Edwards entertained us with great piano music. She was accompanied by Jessie Savage on his guitar. The ladies were Wilma Edwards, Kat Wallace, Judy Macha, Margie Savage, Mary Carter and Vera Bybee.

Bobby and Mervean Carthel's children visited them on Father's Day. Those here were their daughter Sherrey and Jim Price of Plainview, Sherrey and Jim's daughter Lana and husband Cory Castleberry and their daughters Bree and Brook of Canyon, their son Dart and Joann of Lockney and their daughter Jackie of Lawton, Oklahoma. Their daughter Tammy and family of Farwell had other obligations and couldn't come.

Jackie is the baker of the family. That girl can bake. After they all go home Mervean shares her goodies with Donnie and me. Like I need all those sweets but I do love them and always want Jackie's recipes.

Molly and Charles Huffman's grandson Chaz has been her visiting. He enjoys going down to the front of the church for children's story time. He is really a cute little boy.

Our Methodist Church preacher, Neely Landrum is gone on vacation so Sunday we had a visiting preacher. It was our own Kyle Brock. He is so good. He had the best sermon and delivery. Don't miss hearing him preach if you ever get the chance.

The Center will be closed on Monday the 4th.

Floydada Rehab and Care Center holds June Birthday Party

By Joyce Williams

Three Floydada Rehab and Care Center residents were honored at the monthly birthday party, Thursday, June 16, at 3:00 p.m. Ethel Meador's birthday was June 1, Bettye Chownings will be June 24, and Elbert Day's will be June 26. Mrs. Cyndi Williams from City Park Church of Christ presented gift bags to the birthday honorees. The gift corsages and boutonniere were presented by Cathy's Florist. The Hesperian photographer took pictures of the celebrant and honorees as they gathered in the dining room for the party. Fruit punch and chocolate birthday cake were served to all. The date of each honoree's birthday was decorated on the cake.

The party hour was moved up to accommodate a special recognition for the CNAs, but next month will be held at the usual 3:30 p.m. hour on the third Thursday of the month.

Mrs. Lorilla Bradley wrote new individual poems for each honoree:

Ethel Meador loves to play Ball games or any other,

It keeps her sharp and glad Each along with all the others.

Bettye we salute you with all the good old wishes That everyday of the month it brings, Be good and joyful everyday Keep on the stitches.

Mr. Day works to keep us happy And is a very busy man looking here and there, Everyday is fun if he can keep it there.

Mosquitos on the attack around Floyd County

By Darwin Robinson

The Floydada City Council met Tuesday, June 21, and heard a mosquito report from Floydada Maintenance Supervisor Julian Alaniz.

"We are spraying all over town with our pickup sprayers. We are using a mixture of insecticide with malathion. We are trying our best to rid the City of mosquitoes. Mitch Probasco will spray Wednesday morning by airplane," said Alaniz.

Following a question about the playa lakes in and around town, Alaniz said, "We can only use insecticide on and around the lakes in town, so we don't affect the wildlife and fowl that come in later. Some farmers may spray diesel on their lakes, but it is the out-of-town lakes that are bringing in our mosquito population. The wind brings them into town."

According to a report handed out to the council by Alaniz, there are roughly 1700 species of mosquitoes in the world. They fly from sea level to 10,800 feet high. When a mosquito bites, it takes only 5 millionths of a liter of blood. They can migrate as far as 75 to 100 miles and live from 15 to 65 days.

A mosquito can detect its prey from up to 15 to 30 meters by the infra-radiation, carbon dioxide, and lactic acid emitted by the host. Mosquito saliva contains anticoagulants to prevent the host's blood from clotting. Their eggs can remain dormant for over a year, and will hatch if flooded with water.

An email document from Phillip L. Hamilton, of A-J Plainview Bureau, reports on the fight against mosquitoes in Plainview, supervised by Rick Cox. Cox states, "We put (larvicide) brickettes in lake beds and drainage ditches. The larvicide poses no danger. While spring rains activate the larvicide, too much rain can wash away the bricks and allow mosquitoes to hatch. That's what happened this year."

"The females bite to get protein to develop eggs over and over again. The males do not bite. If we have a 10 mph wind, we can't spray. It is impossible to kill all mosquitoes. If you stay outside for three or four hours, you are going to get bitten," said Cox.

What every pregnant woman should know about her diet

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, almost four million American women give birth every year. Nearly one third of them will have some kind of pregnancy-related complication. A healthy diet throughout pregnancy can decrease the risk of complications.

Even before a woman is pregnant, it is important for her to enjoy a healthy diet. Women who are obese before pregnancy are more likely to develop gestational diabetes and other diseases while pregnant.

Every woman who may become pregnant should take folic acid supplements, especially in the first 28 days of pregnancy. This is the time when the fetus is most at risk for neural tube defects due to a lack of folic acid.

During pregnancy, weight gain of 25 to 35 pounds is average. The common misconception of a pregnant woman "eating for two" can be misleading advice, only 300 extra calories per day should be consumed during pregnancy.

Rubina Mujahid, R.D., L.D., clinical dietician on staff at Covenant Health System, suggests these calories be made up of nutrients such as calcium and iron. "A pregnant woman should try to have variety, this means eating a balanced diet from all food groups. Dairy, meat, vegetables, fruits, breads and good fats are all important for food variety," Mujahid said.

As a general rule, a pregnant woman should follow the food pyramid guidelines to a well-balanced diet. Of course, no alcohol should be consumed during pregnancy and other foods to avoid are:

- Soft, unpasteurized cheeses (often advertised as "fresh") such as feta, goat, Brie, Camembert, and blue cheese;
- Unpasteurized milk, juices and apple cider;
- Raw eggs or foods containing raw eggs, including mousse and tiramisu;
- Raw or undercooked meats, fish or shellfish;
- Processed meats such as hot dogs and deli meats (these should be well-cooked).

Mujahid also recommends low impact exercises such as swimming and water aerobics, as well as walking and other light exercise. "Being pregnant means you can eat more food, but don't overdo it. Eating healthy means only eating when you are hungry and your body tells you to," she said.

Thirteen Folds for the Flag

The 1st fold of our flag is a symbol of life.

The 2nd fold is a symbol of our belief in eternal life.

The 3rd fold is made in honor and remembrance of the veterans departing our ranks who gave a portion of their lives for the defense of our country.

The 4th fold represents our weaker nature, for as American citizens trusting in God, it is to Him we turn in times of peace as well as in time of war for His divine guidance.

The 5th fold is a tribute to our country.

The 6th fold is for where our hearts lie. It is with our heart that we pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States Of America, and the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

The 7th fold is a tribute to our Armed Forces.

The 8th fold is a tribute to the one who entered into the valley of the shadow of death, that we might see the light of day.

The 9th fold is a tribute to womanhood, and Mothers. For it has been through their faith, their love, loyalty and devotion that the character of the men and women who have made this country great has been molded.

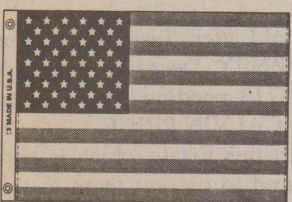

The 10th fold is a tribute to the father, for he, too, has given his sons and daughters for the defense of our country.

The 11th fold represents the lower portion of the seal of King David and King Solomon and glorifies in the Hebrews' eyes, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

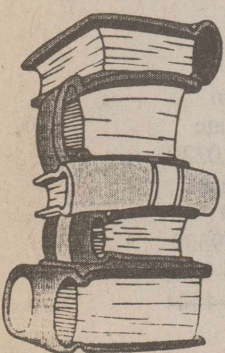

The 12th fold represents an emblem of eternity and glorifies, in the Christians' eyes, God the Father, the Son and Holy Spirit.

The 13th fold, or when the flag is completely folded, the stars are uppermost reminding us of our nation's motto, "In God We Trust."

After the flag is completely folded and tucked in, it takes on the appearance of a cocked hat, ever reminding us of the soldiers who served under General George Washington, and the Sailors and Marines who served under Captain John Paul Jones, who were followed by their comrades and shipmates in the Armed Forces of the United States.

Texas Agricultural Extension Service
IPM Update By Steve Davis, Extension Agent-IPM

Local Conditions

Cotton growing conditions in Crosby and Floyd Counties have improved somewhat with high pressure dominating the weather for the last week. Most fields are in the 5 to 8 true leaf stage (highly variable, even within individual fields) and are beginning to set squares. Although some thrips damage and weather-related effects are still present, the newer leaves and terminal buds have significantly improved in appearance.

Square set should be observed closely at this time to ensure that the 'first position' fruit is being retained, as the first three weeks of squaring is crucial. This is especially true considering the relatively late start that the season has suffered resulting in our significantly compressed growing season. At our present rate of plant development, blooms may not be obvious until mid-July. Square sets should be maintained above 85% for the first two weeks of squaring, with a 75% rate minimal during the 3rd week.

Two insect pests may reduce square set if not monitored closely. Those being the cotton fleahopper and Lygus bugs, both of which are being found (in sub-economic numbers) in program fields this week. Most are in the extreme edges of fields adjacent to corners and borrow ditches filled with native grass, silver leaf nightshade and other weed species. Texas Cooperative Extension Publications E-6 and E-6A, mentioned previously, can be accessed at <http://tcebookstore.org/pubbrowse.cfm?catid=11>

Again, these are free and help to provide suggestions for pest management and insecticide recommendations as tools for controlling these and other pests. Insecticide choices are too numerous to be listed here. Should you need a hard copy of these publications, they can be provided through your local County Extension office, upon request.

Latest heat unit accumulations are 685 HU's through June 21, 2005, (since January 1) with the average for the same time frame for the past 5 years yielding approximately 952 HU's accumulated for that same period. From May 1 through June 21, 2005, there have been 617 HU's accumulated.

Grasshopper numbers continue to hold at a sub-economic level in most local I.P.M. Program fields. However, some isolated areas adjacent to dryland wheat corners and pastures have required treatment this week as hoppers are 'spilling over' into improving stands of cotton. Although time is premium during and after planting, shredding of these weedy corners prior to crop emergence would help to eliminate these habitat sources, potentially requiring fewer rescue efforts later.

Thrips can still be found in program fields, but are of no real concern. They are providing beneficial insects with a food source.

Beneficial predator insects and an assortment of spiders are feeding primarily on thrips and small aphid colonies. Lady beetles, hooded beetles, big-eyed bugs and minute pirate bugs have been noted this week.

Cotton aphid numbers have remained at low levels in Program fields, but can still be found in isolated areas.

Pumpkin growers should be aware of the presence of squash bugs in pumpkins. Some of the older pumpkins (4 to 8 leaf stage) have been increasingly attractive to these adults emerging from their 'overwintering' habitat. Mating adults and eggs have been found primarily in the western and southern edges of these infested fields.

Squash bug adult
Squash bug egg mass

Squash bugs are 'true bugs' which utilize piercing-sucking mouthparts to remove plant juices, thereby reducing plant vigor and creating a weakened, shriveled plant when occurring in high numbers. Squash bugs generally favor well-established plants with larger leaves (as opposed to being a pest of seedling plants).

Adult squash bugs move to commercial fields and gardens from various adjacent protected overwintering sites. Adult females deposit brownish-red eggs in clusters on lower leaf surfaces. Newly emerged nymphs are small with a green color and black legs. First generation adults deposit eggs for a second generation, the adults of which overwinter.

High squash bug populations can literally drain plants causing them to die and wilt, but they may also transmit 'Cucurbit Yellow Vine Decline', a bacterial infection yielding spores which gradually block the plant's phloem tissue. Heavily infested fields may wilt and die in as little as seven days. This is more prevalent in melons, but pumpkins on the High Plains have also been affected.

Cotton Market Weekly A service provided by Plains Cotton Cooperative Association

Simultaneous buying in the July and December contracts with less than 15 minutes remaining in Thursday's trading session at the New York Board of Trade produced an unexpected rally and sent cotton futures prices to their highest level in more than a month. Meanwhile, USDA's weekly export sales figures were healthy but within market expectations.

According to USDA, net export sales of 143,200 bales in the week ended June 16 were 40 percent lower than the previous week and 30 percent less than the four-week average. China was the major buyer for the week followed by Taiwan, Colombia and Turkey. Net sales of 94,700 bales for delivery in 2005-06 were primarily for Mexico, South Korea, and China.

Export shipments of 268,500 bales were 11 percent lower than the previous week and three percent less than the four-week average. Primary destinations included China, Turkey, and Mexico. The department said total shipments for the 2004-05 crop year now total 10.152 million bales versus 11.41 million bales shipped at the same time the previous year. USDA currently projects exports for the 2004-05 season will total 11.860 million bales. To meet the department's projection, weekly export shipments must average approximately 283,000 bales in the remaining six weeks of the marketing year.

In the spot cotton market, expectations of higher Step 2 payments prior to July 31 boosted sales. Online trading by producers in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas in the week ended June 23 totaled 19,272 bales compared to the previous week when 2,113 bales were traded. Average prices received by producers in the most recent week ranged from 40.18 of 41.32 cents per pound compared to 25.00 to 43.07 cents per pound the previous week.

In other news, National Cotton Council (NCC) data showed U.S. textile mills used cotton at a seasonally adjusted annualized rate of 6.09 million bales in May, down from the same time last year when mills consumed cotton at a rate of 6.21 million bales. The NCC revised its April 2005 figure up slightly to 6.2 million bales from a previous 6.14 million. The mill use number was considered disappointing to many market observers though it had little impact on trading.

As is usual for this time of year, traders were closely watching weather conditions in cotton producing regions of the United States. While crop progress is slightly behind the curve, the overall condition of the crop is good and there is no concern at this point.

Squaring progress in the week ended June 19 was well behind a year earlier and the five-year average, according to the National Agricultural Statistics Service. Just 28 percent of the crop had squared versus 38 percent last year and the average of 36 percent. Arizona, Louisiana, North Carolina and Tennessee were the only states equal to or ahead of the normal pace.

Crop conditions made a modest improvement during the week. U.S. cotton rated good to excellent accounted for 63 percent of the crop compared to 60 percent a week earlier. Last year, 65 percent was considered to be in good to excellent condition at this time.

Food Protection training to be offered July 19-20

Statistics indicate that foodborne illness continues to be a health issue in the United States. Each year, 1 in 4 Americans will become sick, 1 in 1,000 will become hospitalized, and 5,000 will die due to a foodborne illness.

During the past legislative session, a statute was amended that allowed the Texas Department of Health (TDH) to require each food establishment to have one certified food manager.

Recently, the Texas Board of Health adopted rules to implement this statute. Many of you have already received a letter from the Texas Department of Health regarding this. Under these new rules, each food establishment permitted by the Texas Department of Health must have one certified food manager. New food manager certificates will be valid for 5 years.

Texas Cooperative Extension, is offering a food manager certification training. This program will be offered for $79 on July 19th & 20th at the Ollie Liner Center in Plainview. Cost includes training, materials, and the State food manager certification examination.

Foodborne illnesses are estimated to cost thousands of dollars in lost wages, insurance, and medical bills.

Foodborne illnesses can be prevented by following simple food safety practices. For more information about the Food Protection Management training program contact Texas Cooperative Extension in Hale County at 291-5271 or Floyd County at 983-4912. Registration with money is due by Thursday, July 7.

By Ron Trusler

Our country, our military men and women and our leaders need your prayers

By Ron Trusler
It concerns me when I hear someone criticize another person about their response after experiencing a traumatic event such as death, divorce, job loss, war, physical/mental disabilities, health problems, loss of a pet, etc.

It is difficult to understand the depth of another's trauma. Even the victim of trauma does not know the full impact. They only know they are deeply different than they were before. Something has changed!

Two people can experience the same thing and the depth of the trauma can vary. It depends on past experiences, perception, core beliefs, and personality.

All the affects of a trauma are not seen immediately. Life doesn't just suddenly go back to what it was before. Victims even tend to deny or hold it in. Usually, it will resurface years later. It's like trying to hold an inflated balloon under water - after a while it will pop back up somewhere and in some unusual places.

Here are some things that are common reactions to trauma. Remember, these will vary depending on the individual.

Depressed or sad and/or withdrawn.

Irritable, angry or resentful.
Anxiety or fear.
Despair or hopelessness.
Feelings of apathy.
Flashbacks and recurrent dreams of the event.
Uncontrolled mood swings, periods of crying.
Frustration.
Sleep disturbance.
Vague body complaints.

Headaches.
Tightness in chest, throat, or stomach.

It may not be easy to determine if there is a connection from these symptoms and a traumatic event. It will depend on a person's willingness to look at it thoroughly and honestly. The person will need an understanding and objective ear, a lot of support. The good thing is that they can get through it and be free from the baggage of the trauma. That does not mean they have no "marks" leftover.

A personal, minor illustration - over a hundred years ago I was a Diesel Mechanic in Amarillo. One day a wrench slipped and I gashed my hand on a gear. It bled like a stuck hog and hurt like crazy! I yelled, hollered and said things that I best not remember. I babied that wound for days. For a long time it seemed like everything hit it. It was very sensitive and I was very careful with it. After some time of taking care of it properly, it quit being sensitive and I did not think about it all the time. Today, I have a scar from the wound but the pain is gone.

The same can be true of "real trauma." The pain seems to last forever and tends to control your life. As you deal with it properly, that stabbing, gut-wrenching pain may go away. However, you will have a scar - it may not be obvious to others, but you know where it is. I am sorry.

Any animal already declared to be dangerous which is seized for causing injury to a human to a human being or another animal may be ordered removed from the city or humanely destroyed and may not continue to be a registered dangerous animal.

(i) No animal shall be declared a dangerous animal if the threat, injury or damage caused by the animal was the result of a willful trespass upon another's property, or the person injured was formenting, abusing, or assaulting the animal or its owner, or was committing or attempting to commit a crime at the time of the injury.

(j) Orders of the public health administrator pertaining to dangerous animals may be appealed to the City of Lockney Permit and License Appeal Board by filing a written notice of appeal within five (5) days with the city manager's office.
