ATC Sets OJT Record; Reese Rate High

The highest number of annual On-the-Job Training completions and the highest monthly completion rate since 1958 has been recorded by Air Training Command.

During the 1962 calendar year, 12,539 airmen completed OJT programs at ATC bases and were awarded AFSC or upgraded in skill level. This represents an average of 10 per cent per month of the total number in OJT status and marks the highest month completion rate in ATC since 1958.

During the year 74 per cent of the total number of airmen administered Specialty Knowledge

Tests qualified on these exams, a percentage 4 per cent higher than the desired percentile rankings established by USAF headquarters and the highest ATC qualifying rate since 1959.

During last year Reese was just a little higher in SKT qualifications than the ATC average. Of those airmen administered tests, 76 per cent qualified. In the M&S Group this year a mark to shoot at was set; 94 per cent of the men tested in the 431XIC career field had a passing rate.

In 1962, Reese had 3,097 airmen in training. A total of 272 were upgraded, giving the base an 8 per cent upgrade to meet minimum requirements of ATC.

In training in the "7" level were 552 airmen, with 48, or 8 per cent qualifying; in the "5" level there were 2,227 airmen training, with 156, or 7 per cent, qualifying. In the "3" level there were 318 training, with 68, or 21 per cent, qualifying.

In ATC for 1962, the number of airmen completing training exceeded the command completion at every skill level.

June Quotas Reach 47,000

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — The Air Force has released 47,000 slots for the June airman second class through master sergeant promotion cycle.

The quota by grade: master sergeant 3,300, technical sergeant 5,000, staff sergeant 5,700, airman first class 15,000 and airman second class 18,000.

Major air command allocations will be released next week, officials said.

Airmen hoping to move up to E-6 and E-7 will find their chances somewhat less than that of the December cycle. However, viewed from a fiscal year standpoint, 1963 was a banner year for the two grades.

The Fiscal Year '63 master sergeant quota of 7,500 ran nearly nine per cent higher than the 1962 total of 4,600. The technical sergeant ratio was even better with 11,500 promotions in 1963, compared with 6,100 in 1962, or a 47 per cent increase.

The overall increase in stripes for all grades was nearly four per cent.

Youth Club Show Highly Attended

SERVICE RECOGNIZED — Certificates of Appreciation for more than 300 hours of volunteer service as Gray Ladies were given Mrs. Ruth Payne and Mrs. Loris Christian during capping ceremonies for graduates of the Reese Gary Lady class. Here they receive the certificates from Pete Upton, manager of the Lubbock Red Cross chapter. Other class graduates of the course taught by Mrs. Betty Reese, coordinator, and Pat Blankenship, Red Cross field director, were Gwynne Lee, Rita M. Dixon, Ike Connally, Patricia Hall, Bettie Woodruff, May Hart Hertel and Cora Hamilton.

Command Programmed Instruction Shows Better Training, Less Cost

Programmed instruction under test in Air Training Command, including work in navigation conducted at Reese, has passed preliminary tests with flying colors.

"Preliminary results in Air Training Command experiments using programmed instruction in its classroom indicate that this new method of education will reduce costs and time in training men, while at the same time providing the Air Force with more thoroughly trained personnel.

Speaking at the National Society for Programmed Instruction's (NSPI) first annual convention March 28-30 in San Antonio, Lt. Gen. James E. Briggs, ATC Commander, said preliminary results in testing programmed instruction methods in ATC classrooms indicate that students using this new system score higher than those taking conventional instruction while requiring less time to complete the course.

General Briggs said the Air Force must remain alert for future breakthroughs in educational technology to meet its ever increasing training requirements. He said ATC will continue to maintain close liaison with educators, research institutions, industrial concerns, and other armed services to keep training methods on a parallel with technological advances in aerospace weapon systems.

The ATC Commander outlined command efforts in developing a programmed instruction capability. He told the conventioners that since November, 1961, ATC has trained more than 300 persons throughout the Air Force in the technique of developing programmed materials with which to conduct training in this new method of education.

The quoted figure more than double the number of instructional programmers in the United States however, General Briggs said this capability is still minimal when considering that ATC has more than 2,400 training courses.

Summing up a report on ATC experiments in programmed instruction, General Briggs said, "We do not, of course, claim that programmed instruction is the answer to all our problems. We do feel that extensive use of this technique, under appropriate conditions, will help us to meet our training requirements faster, with less cost, and at the same time provide the using commands with more thoroughly trained personnel."

Reese Clean-Up Week Set Here To Reduce Fire

Next week has been designated as Spring Clean-up Week at Reese and all persons assigned here are asked to eliminate potential fire hazards, Truett Cranford, fire chief, has announced.

Unit fire marshals and fire wardens have been instructed to supervise a general clean-up and cooperation of all personnel, including families in Reese Village, is sought.

"This is an excellent opportunity for Reese personnel to show we appreciate the highly important aspects of fire prevention discipline," the chief said, citing that Fire Prevention and Clean-up Week is being observed elsewhere, also.

"Prompt disposal of trash and rubbish will destroy favorite breeding grounds for fires and at the same time remove a major cause of spontaneous combustion fire caused by oily rags, oily mops and other materials such as chemicals, newspapers, wood shavings, paint cloths and surgical dressings."

Building inspections will be accomplished next week in all areas inside and outside, including trailer parks and surrounding areas.

"Good housekeeping cleanliness and policing of areas not only will increase morale and pride in our installation, but it also will reduce fire hazards and unnecessary loss by fire," Fire Chief Cranford commented.

"We all have pride in our base and Clean-Up Week will give us another opportunity to prove it," He warned especially against smoking materials as being the No. 1 cause of fires.

"Remember," he said, "fire won't start if we do our part."

Seven Easter Services Set

Seven Easter services have been planned for the Reese Air Force Base chapel.

The Catholic Easter vigil service is scheduled for 11 p.m. Saturday, followed by midnight Mass, with Chaplain Neil Daley officiating. Other masses are scheduled for 9 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. in the chapel.

Chaplain Wayne Stork will be in charge of the Protestant Sunrise service at 6:30 a.m. Sunday and Chaplain James D. Taylor is to have charge of the 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. Easter services.

Starting with Easter Sunday, the Sunday school will meet at 9:45 a.m., instead of 9:30 a.m.

Chaplain Daley also has announced that there will be no catechism classes Saturday, April 13.

GENERAL NAMED

Lt. Gen. Frank A. Bogart, comptroller of the Air Force who visited Reese in 1959 with the then secretary of the Air Force, Donald Quarles, has been named chairman of the board of the Army and Air Force Exchange and Motion Picture Services.

Annual Egg Hunt Sunday

The annual Reese Easter Egg Hunt will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday on the former drill field near the Officer's Club, with prizes offered for boys and girls finding the most eggs.

The Easter bunny will be on hand and has promised to do a Bunny Hop as part of the entertainment.

Members of the Reese Girl Scouts are to assist in managing the hunt.

All children up to 12 years of age may hunt eggs and compete for prizes offered for the most eggs and for specially marked prize eggs.

Future Inspection To Include Test For Supervisors

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Future operational readiness inspections will include written examination of military supervisors in certain specialties, the Air Force has announced.

The Air Force explained that the examinations will determine if supervisory training programs are adequate, show how well the supervisor understands current procedures and directives affecting his job, and test guidelines set up to insure that all personnel understand and comply with current directives.

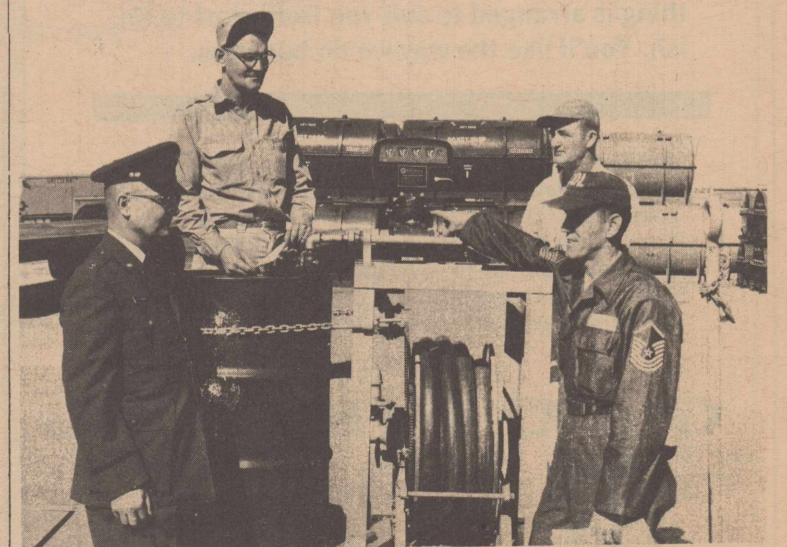

The examinations will be given to supervisors in maintenance, supply, operations, and security.

German Students Become Officers

Five members of the German Air Force undergoing pilot training at Reese have been notified of promotion to second lieutenants Lt. Col. John Slaughter, Reese Pilot Training Group executive officer, gave the notification at the request of the German Air Force liaison officer in the Air Training Command headquarters.

Promoted to officer rank were aviation cadets Juergen Hoeche, Berlin; Peter M. W. Synwoldt, Branschweig; Heinrich J. Tebel, Prezier; Eckard F. Federhen, Mayen; and Ulrich O. Kahl, Buesum.

Also attending the ceremonies were 2nd Lts. Joachim Hans Domanowski, Juergen F. Wirthgen and Reiner Simmendinger, other German student officers at Reese. Promotions were effective as of April 3.

Protestant Unit Installs Officers

The Protestant Women of the Chapel installed new officers at their Tuesday salad luncheon and heard Mrs. Helen K. Fuller, base librarian, discuss facilities of the library.

Mrs. Kermit Kuhns was re-installed as president for another six months.

The women voted to divide $246 accumulated from the Christmas wrapping booth and love offerings between the Teen-Age Youth group of the chapel, the Protestant Hospital Visitation committee, the Sunday School Workshop committee and the Summer Vacation Bible School. Volunteer workers are needed for each unit.

Commander's Comments . . .

By COL. JAMES A. GUNN III
Wing Commander

Although warning had been given earlier this month, it is safe to assume that Monday's disaster control exercise came as a surprise to many people. This unannounced alert, though, revealed quite a bit to our planners and also served to refresh everyone's memory regarding several emergency procedures.

Overall, the response to the alert was good, and I believe we gained a little more knowledge through the experience. True, this was just a practice exercise, and as such contains the danger of causing complacency among some people; since repeated practice "dry runs" could foster this attitude. However, this is just what we should guard against. To become adept at anything requires practice, and because the "real thing" has not yet happened does not necessarily mean that we should not stay ready for an actual disaster condition.

The truth is that something could very well happen which would require everyone on base to seek shelter as quickly as possible, with the least amount of confusion. We are all familiar with West Texas weather conditions, and it is not possible that severe weather conditions or tornado alerts could trigger the shelter signal.

It is our individual responsibility to stay ready and briefed on all the latest procedures. Our own lives and the lives of our families could well depend on this knowledge.

BENCH AND GAVEL

(From Office of Staff Judge Advocate)

While stationed in Germany, a Private Smith had some friction with the accused, a paratrooper. To bring the matter to a head, the paratrooper, accompanied by three of his buddies, located Smith's room and proceeded in. When they entered, Smith was on his bed. He started to rise, but was pushed back. One of the visitors left to "keep watch" while the other three proceeded to pound Smith with their fists. When Smith fell to the floor, they kicked him. Smith's screams alerted others, and the attackers fled.

Fortunately, the accused and his cohorts were found hiding behind some lockers. Upon their arrest, the accused was charged with several counts of aggravated assault under UCMJ Article 128.

Following trial by General Court-Martial, the accused was given an approved sentence of dishonorable discharge and a one and one-half year confinement at hard labor.

There is never any excuse for such calculated and unwarranted physical attacks upon a person in his room, or anywhere else. No amount of foul words, taunts, or boasts ever justify the striking of another. The Air Force means to protect its members from being physically injured by irresponsible opponents. The only time when fighting is justified is when it is absolutely necessary to protect your person from physical injury at the hands of an antagonist.

Mingled Emotions Typical of Life

By CHAPLAIN NEIL F. DALEY

A strange mingling of joy, anticipation, and fear seems to be the common note of all the goals that open up new roads. It seems to be the genius of our nature to be forever seeking wider longer, harder goals, to approach them with mingled fear and joy; yet to be forever seeking wider, longer, them.

All this is, of course, true of the goal of death which opens up the horizons of eternity. From this point of view, the story of Easter, the story of the Resurrection of Christ was particularly well told, with its note of fear on the part of the soldiers, of great joy on the part of the disciples; for the combination of these two is typical of the emotions of every man as he reaches an end that starts him off again on a new road.

Easter is the story of Christ's conquering of death. In it we see the door of death swing wide into a new life, and thus there is joy of knowing that this present life with its fears, disappointments, sorrows and trials, and yes, even its joys has its fulfillment in something greater, the greater life of eternity.

Yet, seeing this door of death swing wide into a new life, there is, too, a distinct and healthy note of fear in facing the endless stretches that will satisfy our hearts. For if death is conquered and life goes on forever, while the good is preserved, the record of evil, too, has to be faced. The man who is utterly fearless at such a prospect is somewhat of a fool. Briefly, the conquest of death not only opens up the possibilities of heaven but also of hell; it guarantees judgment, complete and accurate casting up of all accounts. This life then, must be lived with a view to eternity. This is the only safe and sane course life can take.

ATC Comptroller

A much decorated veteran who has served with bombardment, strategy and missile units, as well as in management, is deputy chief of staff for comptroller in Air Training Command.

He is Col. John F. Batjer, a West Point graduate and a 1933 graduate of Texas A&M College.

He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Field Artillery upon graduation from the "Point" in 1937, but he chose a flying career and earned his "wings" at Kelly Field the following year.

During World War II he flew 52 combat missions in B-17s and commanded the 301st Bomb Group in Italy.

Later, he served as Mediterranean Allied Air Force Liaison Officer to the Third Ukrainian (Russian) Army in Bucharest, Rumania.

In January, 1946, he was assigned as chief, statistical control division, Headquarters Air Materiel Command, Wright-Patterson AFB. After attending the Advanced Management Course at Harvard University in late 1948, he returned to Wright-Patterson and served as the chief of the Cost Control and Analysis Office until March 1949.

His next assignment, at Craig AFB, Ala., saw Colonel Batjer as director of the comptroller division, USAF Special Staff School. In October, 1950, he moved to Maxwell AFB, Ala., as chief of the comptroller division of the Command and Staff School.

Colonel Batjer attended the Air War College in 1952, and upon completion of the school a year later he was assigned as deputy wing commander of the 308th Bombardment Wing Headquarters at Hunter AFB, Ga.

He later became wing commander and led the 308th when it was presented the 1954 Mackay Trophy for making the most meritorious flight during that year.

Two years later Colonel Batjer transferred to Newfoundland where he served as commander of the 4081st Strategic Wing.

He returned to the United States in June, 1959, and was named assistant commander in chief, Strategic Air Command (SAC MIKE), for ballistic missiles. Colonel Batjer received his present assignment as deputy chief of staff, Comptroller, ATC in January, 1961.

Pistol Competitive Training Restricted

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Competitive shooting in the small arms training program has been restricted for the remainder of fiscal year 1963, the Air Force announced this week.

Officials said that lack of travel and per diem funds and dwindling ammunition supplies made it necessary that the more important phases of marksmanship training receive priority.

Volleyball

Civil Engineers lead the Reese Intramural volleyball play with 8 wins, 1 loss, closely pushed by Student Team 1, with 7 wins, 1 loss. The 3500th PTS has a 4-2 record, MATS 4-3 and Air Base Group 4-4.

A championship between the two top teams is scheduled for 8 p.m. today.

Outstanding Airman

Personal Services workers and Reesites generally who deal with the section rate A1C John L. Lowder Jr. as one of the "top" troops on the base. His supervisors say they ask the airman to perform a duty, and then forget it because the job will be done.

Airman Lowder, in charge of Personnel Services supply, in the past has supervised installation of blinds on the golf course lake, obtained decorations for the base, made signs and set up security at Acqua Villa and served on the planning committee for the annual Reese Christmas party. He helped set up a base typing class, managed the base boxing team which took fourth place in ATC competition, and managed the base volleyball team which was fourth in District A play.

This voluntary work was performed in addition to regular duties. The airman, ranked high for proficiency and professional attitude, is an active worker in the Ascension Lutheran Church of Lubbock.

Airman Lowder, an Iowa farm boy, served in the Navy from 1950 to 1954. His ship operated from Pearl Harbor to other islands, in addition to Japan, Korea, Formosa and China. It engaged in three combat activities — Inchon, Wansong and Hounan evacuations. Airman Lowder spent two years along the East coast of the U.S. and was discharged as a petty officer, third class.

NEW GUN — A1C John L. Lowder Jr., shows one of the new 308 deer guns recently added to the personnel services supply and available for loan to hunters.

Airman Lowder entered the Air Force in April, 1955, attended supply school and then served in Labrador, at Hahn AFB and Reese.

Deadline Set

Deadline for the base-wide bowling tournament entry is this weekend. Six lines will be bowled Monday and Tuesday for qualifiers and eighteen lines will be bowled to select the six top men to represent Reese in the ATC tournament. Trophies and other awards will go to the six.

M&S Cage Center Leading Athlete

A2C Perry Gould, center on the M&S Group basketball team, has been selected Athlete of the Quarter at Reese. He was presented with an award by 2nd Lt. Paul Iszler, personnel services officer.

Airman Gould was high scorer of the M&S cage team, which won 15 and lost 1 game during Intramural league play. He also was high scorer of Reese teams in the squadron level and base level Air Training Command competition and "his teammates have looked to him as their leader and outstanding teammate," said the letter of recognition.

Gould also is a member of the Reese baseball team, last year playing shortstop, first base and outfield.

BOWLING

OFFICERS LEAGUE

The Dust Devils sewed up the championship of the Officers Bowling League Wednesday night by moving out five games in front. One week remains in the season and the margin cannot be removed. The Dust Devils have a 43 win-13 loss record.

The Rairdancers and Flight 6 in the final session next week will battle for second place. The Dancers have 38 wins, 18 losses and Flight 6 has a 36-20 record. The flight 6 victory would change the standing. The Throttle Jocks are in fourth place with 34 wins, 22 losses.

High game this week was rolled by 1st Lt. Fred Hutchinson and Capt. Sam Burns, each with 232. The lieutenant had a 636 series, a new high for the season, and the captain 580.

Flight 6 hit a 945 high game and the Dust Devils 933, both higher than previous highs for the season. The Dust Devils hit a 2,623 game and Flight 6 a 2,602.
