Early Mining Days in Newcastle Recalled by Mrs. R. J. Farabee

Mrs. R. J. Farabee

Mrs. R. J. Farabee, whose husband was a coal miner, has been a resident of Newcastle, Texas, for over 50 years. She can sit for hours and recall names, dates, and interesting stories of the colorful past. The booming, wild noisy days of the coal mining town comes to life again as she talks. One can almost hear the 4 p. m. whistle of the mines or the jingling, clanging of the harnesses of the mules and wagons as she tells stories of the early days of Newcastle.

The poise and eloquence of her speech is the first thing one notices while conversing with Mrs. Farabee. She is one of the most beautiful and attractive ladies this writer has ever talked with. Her manners and English usage are superb. I have known her all my life and the above mentioned attributes are the things I shall always remember.

Emma Crowell Broach Farabee was born in Kosse, Limestone County, Texas, December 20, 1881. To this day she has never traveled outside of Texas.

Her father was Marion Crowell, born near London, England. As a very young immigrant, he was an early day settler in Kosse, Limestone County. He was a woodcarver and a woodcraftsman. He owned a company in Limestone county in the 70's and 80's that manufactured barrels, rockers, settees and all other items in demand during that era. He had a brother who was a jeweler in Ennis, Texas, and a brother who was a blacksmith in Abilene, Texas.

While very young and shortly after the death of her mother, Emma Crowell lived in the home of close neighbors, the Broach family. Mr. Broach worked for her father, Marion Crowell. She was reared by the Broaches and is always quick to reiterate that her foster parents were the most wonderful parents any child could ask for. The Broach family had three sons of their own, and they reared three orphans, one of which was Emma. She loved her parents, brothers and sisters and they loved her. She had a wonderful childhood.

Mrs. Farabee's own mother was first buried in a family mausoleum in a country cemetery near Kosse. Several years later Mrs. Crowell had her remains reinterred in a cemetery in Kosse, where he now lies buried. He died at the Carpenter home in Kosse.

On Nov. 15, 1899, at Bridgeport, Texas, Emma married R. J. Farabee. They were parents of five sons, all of which were reared and educated in Newcastle. They are: Gordon Clarence, Clifford Clyde and Clifton Curtis (twins), Russell Jordan, and Leonard Marion. There are 12 grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren.

To say that a book can be written about the Farabee family is literally true. It has already been done. One of the treasures of the Farabee family is a book, published in 1910 by Louis Thomas Farabee. The book is 345 pages, beautifully bound and entitled "Genealogy of the Farabees of America." The book contains over 10,000 names and dates of the family history and is priceless in terms of research value and family heritage. The Farabee family resided in the northwestern part of England and were of Scotch-Irish origin.

Caleb and Waitus Farabee were residents of Kent County, Delaware, as early as 1758; Caleb was a Captain in the Kent County Militia. Waitus Farabee's son was a soldier in the Revolutionary War of 1776. This is the ancestral line of the R. J. Farabee family of Newcastle.

Dr. N. M. Ferebee of North Carolina published the genealogy of the Ferebee line and is a separate genealogical study from the FARABEE.

R. J. Farabee's father was a Methodist minister. R. J. Farabee (1871-1956) is buried in the Newcastle Cemetery. He was a member of Newcastle Masonic Lodge No. 1057.

Mr. Farabee was a coal miner in Bridgeport before coming to Newcastle. He came to work in the mines and as soon as a home could be found for his family, he brought them to Newcastle. Mrs. Farabee recollects the cold December night she arrived in Graham. The hotel was not what she expected. There was no heat in the room and the old fashioned wash tub was brought to her room for bathing the children. She was so discouraged after her first night in Graham that, if given the opportunity, she would have easily returned to Bridgeport.

They traveled on to Newcastle and set up housekeeping.

Bobcats down Millsap 45-14

The Newcastle Bobcats won number five Friday night before a homecoming crowd of 500 fans. The Bobcats defeated the Millsap Bulldogs 45-14.

The Bobcats scored eight touchdowns in the first 14 minutes, but saw four of them called back. TB Donnie Hulse scored the first TD to count on a 12 yard end run. Minutes later Slotback Mike Mitchell got loose on a 43 yard TD run. The second quarter was a big one for the Cats. With only seconds gone in the 2d quarter, QB Casteel passed to End Jack Clayton on the Millsap one. From there QB Casteel took it in for the score. Next score was by Hulse who went 19 yards for a TD. The last TD of the first half was on a pass from Casteel to TB Preston Pitts for 15 yards, QB John Tomlinson kicked the point after.

After the halftime homecoming activities, Donnie Hulse broke for 73 yards on a dive play for a TD. Tomlinson kicked the point after. The Bobcats last TD was No. 4 for the night for Hulse going 47 yards.

Millsap scored two TD's in the last quarter against the Cats second team. David Guess and Billy Pierce scored one each.

Donnie Hulse, the Bobcat TB is only a 100 yards away from setting a new rushing record after five games. Hulse set the record as a Soph at IHS yards. He already has 1018 yards to his credit.

Fort Belknap Society Meets Saturday, October 17

Mr. Donley Suddath, Henrietta, Texas, an authority on the Comanche Indians, knew personally J. Emmor Harston, the author of COMANCHE LAND and will review Mr. Harston's book at the Annual Meeting of the Fort Belknap Society, October 17, 9:45 a. m. at the restored Fort near Newcastle. Emmor Harston learned the language of the Comanche, Kiowa and Wichita tribes at an early age, as his father owned a trading post at Fort Sill in 1871.

The Comanches appear on the American scene as far back as Cabeza de Vaca. It was Coronado who left some 700 horses in present New Mexico with the Comanches. Then there were silent years during which time the Comanches were changing to expert horsemen, and then they became the dread of the plains.

As early as 1759 the Comanches defeated Juan de Padilla, leader of 600 Spanish soldiers from San Saba at old Spanish Fort in present Montague county. Dr. J. J. Strum in 1840 came among the Indians as a physician. His work extended into the Fort Belknap area.

In the battle of Palo Duro Creek September 27-28, 1874, in which Ranold S. McKenzie captured 2000 Indian horses, after selecting the best, the remaining 1040 were shot to keep them from falling again into the hands of the Indians. This band of Comanches, remnant of a once proud, fearless and ruthless race, at last dismounted and destitute made its way to Fort Sill and surrendered.

Nocona, husband of the captured Cynthia Ann Parker, and father of Quannah Parker, was one of the best known. Quannah Parker was the last of the Comanche Chiefs.

All who are interested are invited. Barbecue lunch under grape arbor on Fort Belknap grounds.

FOOTBALL Scoreboard News

We were all so proud to see the electric scoreboard up and ready for our homecoming game last Friday night. It also made us happy for the Bobcats to register the first score. For awhile there I thought the Bobcats were going to keep scoring just to see how high the board would tally.

I understand Paul Beckham donated the pipe used to erect the board. Also Coach Vaughn, Ward Pendleton, the high school boys, Dewitt Graham and Geo. Clark are to be thanked for their time and work donated. Heath Electric did the wiring. We should also thank our school superintendent, Wayne Hales, for getting behind the above mentioned project and seeing to it that the work was done.

Last week I stated that the exes must all be dead, but I was wrong. Here is a very nice letter I am happy to share.

NIS Exes meet Sunday

John R. Bullock, president of the Newcastle Exes, has called a meeting of all officers and executive committee members of the organization for Sunday, October 18, at 2:30 p. m. in the Club Room at Fort Belknap.

It is hoped that all will be present. The homecoming of school exes as well as former residents, is planned for the summer of 1965, and plans are now underway. The date has not been set but this will be decided at this meeting. Other business will be transacted.

At the last homecoming in August, 1962, there were some 600 exes of the town and school who attended. There is much enthusiasm among folk for the next one. If you have any suggestions for class activities, entertainment, etc., please contact John R. Bullock this week.
