Van show set

Wing plans carnival

Reese will hold its annual Independence Day picnic and carnival two days early this year, and just to spice up the party, the event will include a custom van show.

According to Morale Welfare and Recreation (MWR) officials here, the custom van show, normally held here in the fall, has been added to this year's Fourth of July salute, beefing up an already impressive line up of activities. The show will include competition in categories for the "do it yourself" and "straight from the factory" vans. Trophies will be awarded in each division. For entry forms and details contact the Mathis Recreation Center staff at ext. 3787.

Also added to the July 2 line up will be a motorcycle exhibit and demonstration sponsored by the Reese Motorcycle Club. There will be a demonstration of riding skill over a special obstacle course and carnival patrons may enter an unusual "slow-race" where the idea is to ride as slow as possible while keeping both feet off the ground.

Several private organizations and base squadrons will man booths at the picnic grounds based event. Some will sponsor carnival games while others will offer food. Organizational Maintenance Squadron will give tours of the base aboard the "Express," a two-car train built by the maintenance troops for special functions.

Any Reese organization interested in sponsoring a booth at the picnic should call the MWR office at ext. 3412.

Base captains get regular commissions

Eight captains here have been selected for Regular Appointments by an Air Force selection board.

Tabbed for "regular" status in the five and seven year groups are Captains: Ronald R.

Emenheiser, 54th Flying Training Squadron; Jon H. Alexaites, Robert J. Gmyrek, John J. Kittle, Ronald D. Ryan and Peter F. Volkert, 35th FTS and William J. Brown and James M. Burgess Jr., 64th Student Squadron.

Recruiting gets boost from tours

During the summer months the base tour program cranks into full swing with nearly 200 visitors coming to Reese every week. Most of these visitors are elementary through high school age students. I know that many of you take time from your already full day to assist with these tours and you have probably asked yourself why? The answer is simple, these tours give us an excellent opportunity to sell the Air Force. You, in essence, are serving as Air Force recruiters.

When a tour group visits your work area, be as helpful as you can about telling them about your job and the Air Force. From your professional attitude and appearance, the students will gain an impression of Air Force life that may help them choose the Air Force as a career later in life.

The help you give to these young people today can be invaluable in the Air Force's constant search for a quality force built around quality people, tomorrow.

(Editor's Note: All calls to the CARE Line MUST be accompanied by the caller's full name and duty phone so that answers may be provided personally, if space is not available in THE ROUNDUP. All information will be held in confidence and names will be withheld from print upon request. Names and numbers are required in order to give quick, personal responses to legitimate questions. Good work Jewel

I have a compliment for Jewel Hervey who works in the Dining Hall.

She is the baker and cooks cakes and pies, etc. She kind of stays in the background but a lot of guys like the way she cooks her cakes and pies so for us all, I would like to say to her it is a job well done and I hope she keeps up the good work.

SSgt Steve L. Reynolds

We are glad to see concerned personnel such as yourself who notice the efforts of contract employees.

These employees, like many airmen, take pride in their work. Jewel Hervey, as you noted, is this type of worker. She readily accepts changes established by Food Service. This includes a wider variety of pastries and breakfast cakes. We have received favorable comments to these welcome changes.

The management has singled out Hervey and commended her on her outstanding efforts. I am sure she will continue to provide the best service possible.

There's a way to be sure of your pay

There is talk of a postal strike in July. Can you afford a delayed or lost paycheck?

Maybe you've got a rich uncle or a sizeable next egg tucked away and don't have to worry about stretching your budget. But there's still no reason you should have to put up with waiting, waiting, waiting and then having to track down your pay.

Whether there's a postal strike or not, you still might want to help guard against lost or delayed checks. How? SURE-PAY.

Under SURE-PAY, Air Force personnel and retirees have their paychecks deposited directly in a financial organization by electronic funds transfer.

Seventy-two per cent of active-duty military personnel and 61 per cent of Air Force retirees participate in SURE-PAY, Air Force Accounting and Finance Center officials said.

SURE-PAY makes it simpler for Air Force members to deposit their paychecks to banks, credit unions and savings and loan offices. It also saves the taxpayers more than $3 million in postal charges and other processing costs each year.

Still not convinced? Then talk to any of the officers at Kelly AFB, Tex. All 803 of them have signed up for SURE-PAY, making Kelly the first stateside base to have 100 per cent of its officers participate in the program.

Here's how SURE-PAY works:

— The Air Force Accounting and Finance Center computes the payroll near the end of the pay period.

— The center takes a computer tape with the pay credits and identifying data to the Denver branch of the Federal Reserve Bank.

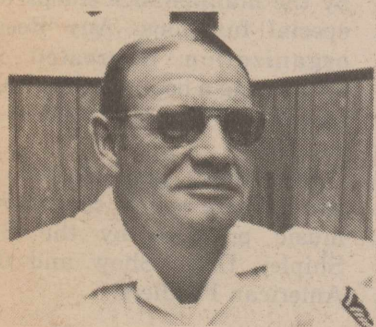

— The bank transfers the pay data to other regional centers.

— The branch offices then transfer the funds to individual financial institutions.

— On payday the AFAFC deposits a check to cover the full payroll to the Denver Federal Reserve Bank.

Sound secure? Sound safe? It's SURE-PAY. Make it your way.

correlation between job performance and the individual's acceptance or nonacceptance of the proper uniform wear and personal grooming standards.

Within certain limits, every military member has the right to express individuality through his or her appearance. Your co-workers and supervisors draw certain conclusions on what they see; that is, the image you project.

Air Force appearance standards are designed to reflect a moderate image and to exclude the unusual and the fad. As with other personal appearance standards, the Air Force emphasizes a "neat, clean, and professional" image. Your uniform is your personal property and it is your responsibility to keep it clean, pressed, and in good repair.

The wing campaign to "Look Great in 78" is not for the other gal or guy. The campaign is directed to all Air Force professionals.

Tale of consumer woe illustrates legal rights

by Maj. David F. Sullivan
 Staff Judge Advocate

(Editors note: The objective of the Air Force Preventive Law Program is to teach people how to avoid legal problems. Many problems arise because people are not aware of their rights and obligations under the law. Common sense tells us that it is more difficult to solve a problem then to avoid it in the first place. This preventive law problem will help you understand one of the rights you have as a consumer and may save you money, worry and trouble.)

Airman Avery works swings at Reese. His wife, LuAnn Avery, sits at home every evening. Since she is not an avid reader, she has only the television for company.

One Wednesday evening shortly after the dinner hour, a salesman comes to the door and asks to come in and demonstrate a Magic Vacuum Cleaner. Being bored, LuAnn lets him in.

The salesman spends over two hours demonstrating that this vacuum can do anything from shampooing the furniture to walking the dog — and all for only pennies a day. LuAnn is just fascinated and thinks about all the things she could do around the house with it. Naturally she signs on the dotted line. The vacuum cleaner is to be shipped from New York in 15 days.

Airman Avery comes dragging in at midnight. LuAnn immediately starts telling him about the wondrous machine that does everything for only pennies a day. But when Airman Avery looks at the contract, he nearly faints because the total cost of the Magic Vacuum Cleaner was $550.68. To make matters worse LuAnn used the $50 they had saved for their car repair bill as a down payment on the vacuum cleaner.

On the salary of an E-3 he just can't afford it. LuAnn realizes that she made a mistake but thinks it is too late to correct it. What should she do?

- A. Rob a bank.
- B. Cancel the order.
- C. Keep the vacuum cleaner and somehow try to make ends meet.

ANSWER: Cancel the order. On certain door to door sales of $25 or more, a Federal Trade Commission rule gives her the right to cancel the contract. Written notice of cancellation must be sent to the seller within three business days of the sale. The seller is obligated to refund her downpayment within 10 days.

For more complete information on this subject contact the Legal Office. Some sales are not covered by this rule. Also, a buyer has an obligation under this rule such as having the goods available for pickup by the seller in the same condition as delivered.

Approach Fourth safely

by L. C. Walls
 ATC Safety

If you're into driving on long weekends, you're chances of getting "scragged" by traffic encounters are better during the Fourth of July weekend than any other single holiday period!

Almost 600 died on the nation's highways last year (traffic encounters of the third kind) and approximately 20,000 others were hurting (encounters of the second kind. Of course, thousands needlessly wrecked their holiday with fender-benders (encounters of the first kind), and unfortunate experiences with fireworks, swimming pools, boats and beaches (encounters of every kind).

Granted, you can come up with some examples of pleasing encounters that could be most gratifying — encounters of the close kind.

I'm not going to list all the possible precautions one should take in the many various activities you might participate in this holiday season. I couldn't. You wouldn't read it anyhow!

So when you make your plans, consider all the hazards and make a mental list of pertinent precautions. Act accordingly. Hopefully you'll have only encounters of the pleasant kind. Be careful — the Air Force needs you!

60 first-term airmen apply for early outs

As of Monday, approximately 40 per cent of Reese's first-term airmen eligible for the Air Force's newest early out program have applied for separation.

Base personnel officials said Monday that 60 airmen have applied for the early out program. There are 149 bluesuiters eligible for separation here in August.

"It is too early to tell what affect the early outs may have on mission accomplishment," said Lt. Col. Ivan R. Jenkins, director of Personnel, "but we will be keeping an eye on applications in each Air Force Specialty Code (AFSC) to make sure that manning levels don't get too low."

All but about 29 of those eligible for the program have been interviewed by personnel officials. Units most likely to be affected by the program here are Organizational Maintenance and the Civil Engineers. If all eligibles apply and receive approval for separation by the Military Personnel Center, OMS could lose 55 airmen and CE could lose 16. so far, 27 have applied for separation in OMS and 11 have applied in CE.

Airmen in 80 AFSCs may apply for early separation to be effective in August under the fiscal year 1978 airman voluntary early separation program.

Air Force personnel officials say that the program is designed to enable the Air Force to meet mandated end-of-year enlisted strength.

Completed applications must be turned into CBPOs no later than July 7. After submission, applications cannot be withdrawn except in cases of undue hardship.

Eligibles include first-term airmen with dates of separation (DOS) from Sept. 1, 1978 - Sept. 30, 1979, who are based in the continental United States. First termers who are residents of Alaska, Hawaii or U.S. territories and currently serving in their home of record are also eligible if they meet the DOS and Air Force specialty code criteria.

Air Force Military Personnel Center officials said that application approval isn't automatic. Applications will be evaluated based on manning and mission requirements.

Where possible, priority consideration will be given airmen having the least service retainability to DOS within each AFSC.

AFSC listing

Qualified airmen in the following AFSCs are eligible for the early separation program: 271X1, 271X2, 291X0, 303X2, 303X3, 304X0, 304X4, 304X4, 306X0, 306X2, 307X0, 328X0, 328X1, 328X3, 328X4, 362X1, 426X2, 427X3, 427X4, 427X5, 431X0C, 431X1*, 431X2*, 462X0*, 472X2, 545X0, 547X0, 566X1, 571X0, 602X1, 605X0, 645X0, 645X1, 702X0A, 702X0B, 702X0C, 732X0, 811X2, 902X0, 902X2, 903X0, 904X0, 906X0, 915X0, 922X0, 981X0, 99004.

As part of an increased base security program, procedures for entry to the base are being changed. Identification checks will become more commonplace and visitors will be more closely screened.

The new procedures will go into effect in the near future. From 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. vehicles with a valid military registration decal on the front bumper will normally be passed through the gates. During these periods a limited number of driver identification checks will be conducted. After 10 p.m. and before 6 a.m., identification checks will be made of all drivers.

All vehicles that do not have a decal displayed will be permitted to use the main gate only. These vehicles will be stopped and identification must be presented. Visitors must have a host or sponsor to vouch them onto the base. Personnel assigned to Reese must have a valid reason for not having their vehicle registered on base prior to being authorized to enter the installation.

Entry control procedures to the base housing area will remain unchanged.

The Security Police are doing everything possible to assure a smooth traffic flow. Base personnel can help by being familiar with these new base entry procedures, by cooperating with the Security Police and insuring that their vehicles are properly registered.

Vietnam veterans urged to use GI Bill benefits

The Veterans Administration has announced a drive to encourage Vietnam-era Veterans to use their GI Bill education benefits while they are still available.

The campaign, called "Operation Boost," will focus on areas where fewer than 50 per cent of the eligible veterans have taken some GI Bill training.

"Time is important, for veterans must use this benefit within 10 years from the date they are discharged from military service," said Max Cleland, administrator of Veterans Affairs.

"Of course, the decision to pursue education and training has to be made by each veteran," Mr. Cleland said. "I just want to be sure no veteran fails to take advantage of the GI Bill opportunity because he doesn't know about the program and the importance of the benefits it offers."

The VA now pays a monthly allowance of $311 to a single veteran going to school full-time; $370 to a veteran with one dependent; $422 to a veteran with two dependents; and an extra $26 for each additional dependent.

Persons with active-duty service between Feb. 1, 1955, and Dec. 31, 1976, may receive VA educational assistance at the rate of 1½ months of schooling for each month of active duty. Forty-five months of educational assistance is the maximum entitlement.

For courses taken while on active duty, the VA will pay the cost of tuition up to $311 per month.

The base education center has more information about the GI Bill and the VEAP program. Call ext. 3469 for details.

Satellites to scan space

The Air Force has contracted for a five-site worldwide satellite detection network. It will pinpoint and track space objects across the night skies.

The award for the ground-based electro-optical deep space surveillance system (GEODSS), was announced by the Electronic Systems Division of the Air Force Systems Command. The contract is for more than $33 million with the Defense and Space Systems Group of TRW, Inc., Redondo Beach, Calif.

A belt of monitoring stations will gird the earth at spaced intervals to insure worldwide coverage.

Motion is the key to singling out a satellite from among the millions of stars. A television camera will feed pictures from an electro-optic telescope into a computer. This will be translated into a digitally automated display. Using a stopaction sequence, the satellites will be identified as light streaks across the display screen.

The global network will have observatories at White Sands, N.M.; South Korea; Maui, Hawaii; the Eastern Atlantic; and the Middle East. (AFNS)

388thTFWgets F-16

The 388th Tactical Fighter Wing, Hill AFB, Utah, is scheduled to convert from F-4D Phantom aircraft to the F-16 multimission fighter aircraft. The action is expected to result in an increase of about 370 personnel authorizations and expenditures of about $15 million in construction at Hill AFB. Integration of the F-16 into the 388th is scheduled to begin in January 1979. The full complement of three operational squadrons of 24 aircraft each, and a training squadron of 30 aircraft, will arrive by September 1980. During the 21-month phase-in period, the 388th will turn over 54 F-4D Phantom aircraft.

Coins fascinate sergeant

by AIC Gregory Bova
1958th Comm. Sq.

A love of history and a knack for collecting things have lead SSgt. Gary M. Huber to become a coin collector and then a coin dealer

His father got him started collecting coins when he was only seven. With the help of his grandfather, who started collecting in 1917, Sergeant Huber built up a large collection by the time he entered high school.

"I was interested in world history, particularly from A.D.

1000 and on," said Sergeant Huber, a member of the Weather Complex of the 1958th Comm. Sq. at Reese AFB, Tex. "This is the area I deal in now though I do buy and sell United States coins. My specialty is European crowns and thalers."

Thalers are silver dollar size coins that were made from the late 1400s into the 20th century. The word dollar comes from the Dutch word for thaler, Daller. It was in common use in New Amsterdam (New York) during the early days of our country.

Sergeant Huber's oldest coin is a Persian silver Siglos from about 500 BC. "I'm often asked that question. People think the older the coin, the more valuable it is. This is almost never the case. My most valuable coins are all 20th century issues. This is due more to demand than rarity."

Sergeant Huber travels to coin shows over a five or six state area. Dealers rent space at these shows and sell to collectors as well as between themselves. "Much of my business is through the mail. My material is very specialized and there are few collectors for it in the local area."

Recently there has been legislation pending in Congress to outlaw the illicit importation, buying, selling, and trading of antiquities with an age of 500 years or older. When asked how this would affect his dealing in coins he replied, "It is going to ban the importation of illegally acquired material. This legality will be determined by the country involved and proof of ownership will rest upon the collector. The United States is the only major power Free World subscriber to this UNESCO Resolution.

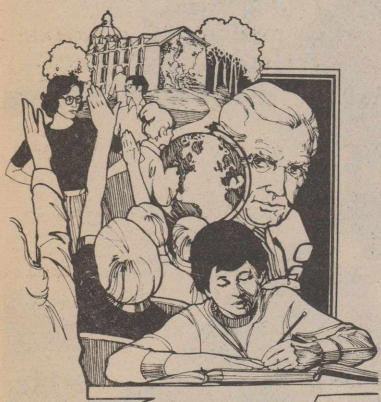

"Both Great Britain and France have refused to adopt the UNESCO Resolution on the grounds that the proof of ownership should not be placed upon the collector but rather on the country making a complaint of pillaging of national treasures. Most of the coins can not be concerned national treasures."

Shows coins SSgt. Gary M. Huber shows off some of the coins he has collected over the years. The 1958th Communications Squadron weather maintenance technician is fascinated by coins. (U.S. Air Force photo)

35th slugger feasts on OMS

James Michelini feasted on Organizational Maintenance pitching last week, slamming three homers including a game winning blast that gave the 35th Flying Training Squadron an 11-10, upset of the former league leaders.

The slugging shortstop ripped a two-run homer in the first inning as the 35th built a 32 lead. He followed with a solo shot in the second and walked his next two trips to the plate. OMS had rallied from an 8-3 deficit to take a 10-8 lead in the top of the seventh inning.

With two men aboard and one away in the bottom of the seventh, Michelini stroked the game winner out of the War

Highway field, giving OMS its second straight loss to a flying squadron. Two weeks ago the 54th derailed the OMS title express, 21-11.

Meanwhile, Supply-1 stretched its circuit lead to one and one-half games over runner-up OMS by dropping Field Maintenance-1, 17-9. Supply-1 stands 13-2 on the season with just under half of the league slate left to play. OMS picked on the Youth Center (winless on the field) 14-4 to stay in contact with Supply-1.

In other loop action last week the Youth Center notched its third win against 11 losses with a forfeit victories over Sturon-2 and Communications. All three of the squad's wins have been via the forfeit route. Three other squads notched free wins. Group-2 received a walk-over from Group-1, Comm. forfeited to the 35th and Supply-2 was credited with a win over Group-1.

Rounding out last week's schedule, the Medics nipped Supply-2, 7-6; the Civil Engineers beat Sturon-2, 13-3, and Group-2, 11-10; and FMS-2 downed Supply-2, 9-4.

The standings in the intramural slow-pitch softball league, as of Sunday were:

Team	W	L	GB
Supply-1	13	2	—
OMS	11	3	1½
CE	9	3	2½
FMS-1	9	4	3
Medics	9	4	3
54th	8	4	3½
Sturon-1	8	6	4½
Supply-2	7	8	5
35th	6	7	5
Group-2	6	8	5½
Sturon-2	5	10	8
Group-2	5	10	8
FMS-2	5	11	8½

Comm.	1	15	12½

Advanced golf lessons available

Curt Wilson will be instructing advanced golf lessons here during the next two weeks.

Local duffers with a 14 handicap or less are eligible for the lessons, which run $18 per person for the six classes. Some of the major topics which will be covered in each lesson are five basic shots with a sand wedge, golf theory and scrambling for pars and birdies.

Advanced classes will be held next Tuesday through Friday with the final two lessons set for July 6 and 7. Instruction begins at 5:30 p.m. each night. Registration deadline for the advanced course is 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday.

After fly ball

Pagett construction nabs women's softball crown

Pagett Construction was forced into the "if necessary" game in last weekend's Women's Invitational Slow-pitch tournament, but; in the finals the local power returned to championship form.

After cruising through the tournament winner's bracket with three easy wins, Pagett faced the Zodiacs, a team they had already beaten, in the finals. The challengers, needing a victory to force a second game, upset Pagett 4-3.

But the loss didn't seem to bother the 1978 champs too much as they rebounded to nab the Reese title, 20-4. Enroute to the championship Pagett Construction blanked the Red Hots (a Reese team), 11-0; bombed S&S Tractor, 16-4 and sent the Zodiacs into the loser's bracket, 12-8.

Another Reese team, the Blue Diamonds, finished third in the 12 team tourney. The Diamonds beat Century 21, 12-6; S&S Tractor, 4-1, the Dusty Devils (also from Reese), 10-9; and Bad Company 7-6. The Red Hots tied for fifth with wins over the Better Halves (the fifth base team in the tourney), 11-4; and the Reese varsity, 22-5.

Little League

Reese Little League Braves pitcher David Molena serves a curve ball to a Pirate batter. (At right) A Pirate runner scores as the throw to the catcher comes in high.

Red Sox red hot

The Reese Little League Red Sox continued to play as 'red hot' as their major league namesake last week, romping to two wins and a 4-0 season mark. Playing with the same intensity as the American League's Boston Red Sox, whose 45-20 mark leads the majors, the Reese Little League leaders bombed the Braves, 12-5 last Tuesday night and came back Thursday to bury the Tigers, 24-14. The Sox rode a six-run second-inning burst to down the Braves. John Roses held the Braves to just three hits while going the distance for the Sox. The Red Sox chased three Tiger pitchers with 13 base hits. Jake Cartson and Mike Davis combined on a four-hitter. Davis drove in six runs on three hits to help pick up the save. Teammate Jake Cartson notched five RBIs on two hits. Gentre Dozier sparked the Braves on offense and defense last weekend to keep the Braves within one and one-half games of the loop lead. Dozier, who preserved the win for starting pitcher David Molina, combined with Byron Gross for seven RBIs as the Braves dropped the Pirates, 15-8. The league takes its mid-season break next week.

Rattlers notch ninth city league victory

The Rattlers smoked city league foe Pony Express, 16-1, last week but the hero of the landslide win is probably out for the rest of the season. Rattler catcher Steve Coleman led the 16-hit attack with a homer, double and single in three trips. However, later in the week he fractured his left hand in an intramural game and is expected to be out six weeks. Coupled with the doubtful status of power hitter Larry Schweppe, who has been nursing an injury for the past few weeks, the Rattlers may have to face the rest of the league schedule and the Air Training Command regionals without a lot of their offense. The varsity squad capitalized on eight errors and four walks posting the team's ninth victory against just two losses. Adding fire to the Rattler attack was Terry Cox, who drove in four runs with a bases loaded triple in the first inning and a run scoring double in the second. The Rattlers will be in a 3-2 tournament here this weekend. The base team is tied for second place in the city league, one game behind the Lubbock Stars.

★★ Sports in brief ★★

Three-two tourney set
Reese will host a 3-2 softball tournament July 1 and 2. Any teams interested in playing should contact the gym staff at ext. 3783. No entry fee will be charged, however, squads must submit a team roster to the gym staff by 9 p.m. June 28.

Tennis players
Anyone wanting to play on the Reese women's and senior's tennis teams at the Air Training Command Championships at Randolph AFB, Tex., July 28-30 should contact gym officials as soon as possible.

Forfeits aren't gifts
TSgt. Loren Beck, NCOIC of the base gym, said Monday that many players and coaches appear confused over the forfeit rules in intramural slowpitch. In order to be awarded a forfeit victory, a team must have 10 players present. Having nine players on hand while the other team has but seven nets both teams a forfeit loss.
