

JOC sponsors sale for Family Services

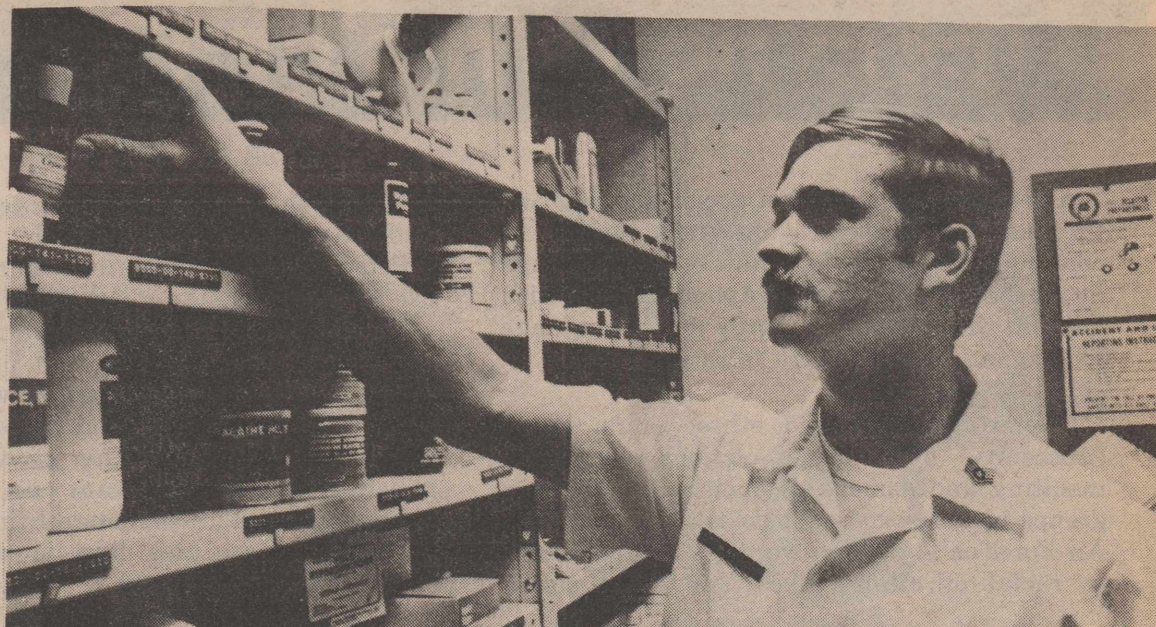

The Junior Officer Committee (JOC) is sponsoring a garage sale today and tomorrow in front of the Family Services Building.

The sale will be held from 2 until 6 p.m. today and from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. tomorrow.

Family Services provides a valuable service to all base personnel. For incoming personnel, they have kits available to tide them over until their household goods arrive, and for departing personnel, they have information about each of the bases around the world. If you are having company or a party, Family Services can loan you cots, coffee pots, punch bowls and other supplies to help you handle the additional load.

The JOC is asking for contributions from all base personnel in the form of saleable items for the garage sale or through your support in coming out to see what the garage sale will have to offer. Family Services works for you, and appreciates your support in the garage sale.

Contractor misreads cancer tests

The Air Force plans to reexamine some 32,000 Pap smears as one of several precautions taken because a contractor misclassified a portion of Pap smears taken during June-September 1977.

A Pap smear is a sample of tissue taken from the female cervix to detect cancer.

Although the Reese Hospital was not one of those serviced by that particular contractor, women in the South Plains area may have had Pap smears taken at other Air Force hospitals that did use the service. (A complete list of those hospitals is included at the end of this article.)

Women who received Pap smears at any of the involved hospitals between July 1, 1977 and May 31, 1977, who have not had another Pap smear taken at a different medical facility since then, should contact the Reese Hospital for information. Anyone with questions about the Pap smear tests should call Robert A. Gregorio, Patient Affairs Representative at ext. 3274.

Lt. Col. (Dr.) Phillip Pixley, Hospital Commander, said Monday that few women in the area are expected to need new tests. "Most women receive a Pap smear annually," he said, "and since Reese wasn't one of the hospitals using the contracted service there probably won't be very many women here that will need to have a new Pap smear taken."

A team of Air Force medical specialists began reexamining the slides Monday at Brooks AFB, Tex. The team will notify bases involved of slides showing results significantly different from those reported by the contractor.

Hospitals and clinics at the following bases in the continental United States which used the AMSO service include: Andrews AFB, Md.; Baudette AFS, Minn.; Bergstrom AFB, Tex.; Bolling AFB, D.C.; Castle AFB, Calif.; Charleston AFB, S.C.; Dover AFB, Del.; Dyess AFB, Tex.; and Eglin AFB, Fla.

Other U.S. bases are: Ellsworth AFB, S.D.; Fairchild AFB, Wash.; Forbes AFB, Kan.; Grand Forks AFB, N.D.; Grissom AFB, Ind.; Hill AFB, Utah; Homestead AFB, Fla.; Kincheloe AFB, Mich.; and Kirtland AFB, N.M.

Also utilizing services were: Barksdale AFB, La.; Beale AFB, Calif.; Blytheville AFB, Ark.; Cannon AFB, N.M.; Chanute AFB, Ill.; Davis-Monthan AFB, Ariz.; Duluth Int'l Airport, Minn.; Edwards

AFB, Calif.; and Ellington AFB, Tex.

Also in the followup programs are: England AFB, La.; F.E. Warren AFB, Wyo.; Goodfellow AFB, Tex.; Griffiss AFB, N.Y.; Hancock Field, N.Y.; Holloman AFB, N.M.; Keesler AFB, Miss.; Kingsley Field, Ore.; and K.I. Sawyer, Mich.

Other bases to be contacted include: Langley AFB, Va.; Little Rock AFB, Ark.; Loring AFB, Maine; Luke AFB, Ariz.; Malmstrom AFB, Mont.; McClellan AFB, Calif.; McGuire AFB, N.J.; Minot AFB, N.D.; Mountain Home AFB, Idaho; Nellis AFB, Nev.; Offutt AFB, Neb.; Otis AFB, Mass.; and Pease AFB, N.H.

Also in the program are: Plattsburgh AFB, N.Y.; Richards-Gebaur AFB, Mo.; Robins AFB, Ga.; Seymour Johnson AFB, N.C.; Tinker AFB, Okla.; Vance AFB, Okla.; Laughlin AFB, Tex.; Lockbourne AFB, Ohio; Loss

Other new E-5s are: Ronald W. Boone and Jo Anne Busby, 64th Student Squadron; David L. Carmichael and Robert W. Harlow, 64th Supply Squadron; Monte F. Congleton, Mark A. Goodloe, and Allan K. Judy, Detachment 2 - 64th Air Base Group; Belvin R. Eddington, Orin S. Guthrie, Jerry G. Housand and Nathan J.

Watch your language!

A recent Supreme Court decision concerned the use of certain "obscene" words in communications media. Whatever your feelings about those words, I am sure you will agree with me that there are other words in our language today that are even more "obscene"

I refer to racial and ethnic slurs whose "obscenity" lies in their obvious purpose of insulting and demeaning members of certain groups in our society. These words, which the Air Force calls "trigger words", are often found in racial or ethnic jokes. Air Force policy prohibits their use. Violations are punishable under Article 117 of the UCMJ.

Personally, I do not care for nor condone the use of racial or ethnic slurs. Professionally, I will not tolerate it. Commanders and supervisors have been instructed to deal promptly and severely with those individuals who persist in their use. That is one good reason for you to avoid these words. Another good reason, and hopefully a more important one, is that they hurt and offend other human beings.

Elimination of this hurt is my goal and everyone's responsibility.

Col.
Charles
Bishop

Barracks laundry

I am just calling about the laundry room on the bottom floor of Dorm 220. I came back from leave recently and there were two dryers and they would dry your clothes but they would make a real loud screeching noise. I called up Services on June 5th, 6th, and 9th to complain about the noise. We had a meeting with Col. Bobby R. Bagley on June 12 and the dryers screeched through the whole meeting. Colonel Bagley said that he would see they were fixed at the end of the meeting. They were worked on and were fine on Friday and Saturday the 16th and 17th and started making loud noises again on Sunday.

I drive mail on the mail run every day. Last week I stopped in Services leaving messages to get them fixed. I stopped in Services today June 29 to leave a message that the dryers were still screeching. We have had a meeting about the laundry room before and it was decided that it was because the machines were being torn up because of the residents' frustration.

The first floor won't use the noisy dryers but the other floors but we can. It is hard for the people to be wide awake listening to the noisy dryers. Just last night someone decided to use the dryer between one and two a.m. and that is not unusual.

If the dryers aren't going to be fixed, please take them out before someone puts their foot through them. Colonel Bagley can tell you about the noise and I am sure that he doesn't know that the noise still goes on. Please help. Thank you.

A1C Gene Young

The contractor has made repairs on the dryer which has screeched two different times since they were fixed on 13 June 78. Both times the repair work did not totally correct the problem and they have been called back. A new bearing is required and should be installed on 30 June 78. This should correct the problem with the screeching.

Each time you reported the problem to the billeting office, they in turn contacted contract maintenance who in turn notified the contractor of the urgency in making repairs. The delay was in obtaining a new bearing for the dryer.

In the future, equipment that is noisy and irritating to the dormitory residents will either be disconnected or a sign placed on the equipment to alert the user of the problem associated with the operation.

SURE-PAY

MAKE IT YOUR WAY!

There was a time when accounts in financial organizations didn't make too much sense for people serving a first term. Back when an E-3 could expect a paycheck of $45, a wallet was about all he or she needed.

It's different now.

$200 is just too much money to carry around in your pocket, and that barracks locker or the sugar jar at home isn't any safer. You could bury it in a bucket or keep it in your mattress, but you won't get any interest — and you might not get much sleep!

Look into the Air Force's direct payroll deposit program, SURE-PAY. It's safe and sure. See your base accounting and finance office for details.

Your right - your responsibility

If you have absolutely no intention of voting this year, you may as well turn the page.

But maybe you haven't made up your mind yet, or realized how easy it is. Surely you don't mind talking about it a bit.

Talking constitutes the major contribution many Americans make toward their government — other than taxes. Talk is cheap — so cheap, in fact, that some people feel it should cost something to talk. That way others would weigh their words more carefully.

It doesn't cost anything to say, "My vote doesn't count," or "I don't like anyone who's running this time," or "Who cares who's governor or congressman or senator or president? They're all crooks anyway."

If — superb emphasis on that IF — if there are any crooks in public office, how do you think they got there? You either elected them, or you did little to prevent their election.

Crooks, public and private, thrives on apathy. The I-don't-care, what-difference-does-it-make, what-can-I-do syndrome.

What CAN you do?

Well, you sure can't affect the score if you're not in the game. You have to vote. Good candidates go under every year because they don't get the support that would get them elected.

"Whoa! Wait just a doggone minute," you say? "I'm not wearing this blue suit because all my other clothes are at the cleaners. The fact that I'm in the Air Force proves I'm patriotic."

Maybe. But patriotism (what an often misused word THAT is) is more than just wearing a uniform. It's more than standing your ground when retreat is played. It's even more than casting a vote.

But it does include voting, and like we said, absentee voting is so easy. All you have to do to get your ballot is complete and mail (postagefree) a red-and-white Federal Post Card Application. Your unit voting officer has them.

Sometimes what counts is not what you like about your country, but what you don't like. And what you do about it.

End of sermon. (Courtesy AIRMAN magazine).

It's up to you to save energy.

Check for toilet leaks. Pour a colored toilet bowl cleaner into the upper tank after the bowl is full. Don't flush. If the coloring appears in the bowl, you have a leak — get it fixed. A 1/16" leak pours 3,000 gallons down the drain every month.

Chaplain's comment

God Can Be Known

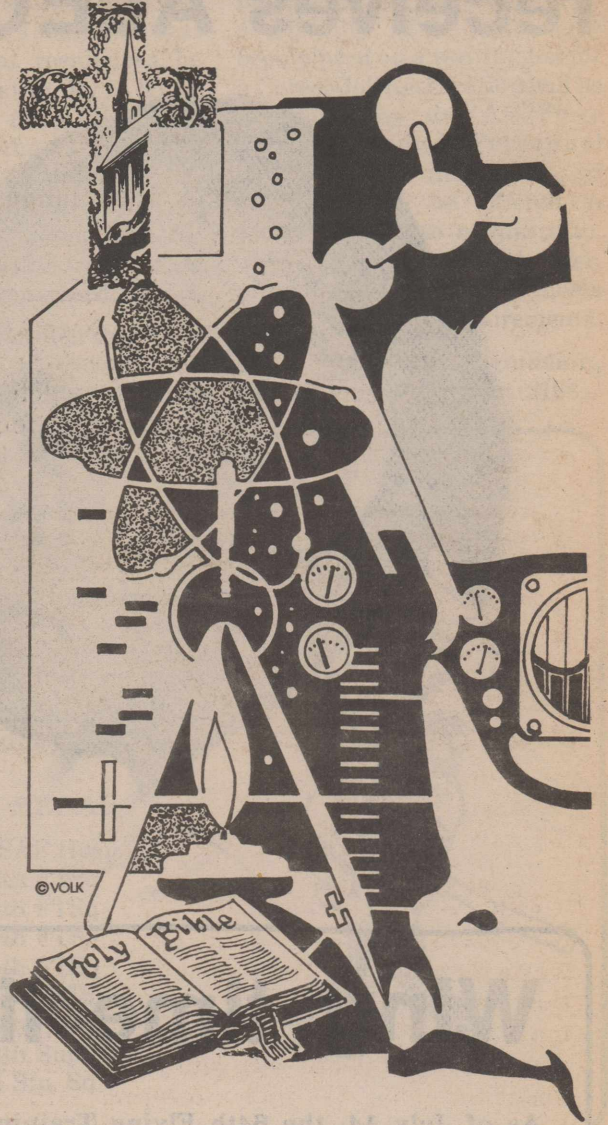

by Chaplain (Capt.) Lawrence T. Quinn

There is no scientific proof for the claims and contents of faith, nor is there any possibility of objectifying and substantiating any of the stages in the process of faith. The experience of coming into faith is simply not open to this kind of scientific investigation. No natural science could possibly establish as fact the supernatural entrance of God into human history or into an individual human life.

These events lie outside the scope of the natural sciences. There is, however, what we might call an "existential" or experimental verification of faith. It is something like the experimental proof for the delight of chocolate ice cream or the beauty of a day in Autumn when the leaves are changing and the air is crisp. There are in fact many realities that can be known only through personal experience.

The playwright, William Alfred, author "Hogan's Goat," once said: "People who tell me that there is no God are like a six year old saying that there is no such thing as passionate love. They just haven't experienced Him yet!" The evangelist, Billy Graham says: "I know that God exists because of my personal experience. I know that I know Him. I have talked with Him and I have walked with Him. He cares about me and He acts in my everyday life." Faith remains a matter of personal experience, like chocolate ice cream or a beautiful Autumn day.

The whole presumption of Jesus in his teaching seems to be that you and I can expect to experience in our lives the power, the peace and the loving presence of God.

Command supports letters to Congress

Command officials believe that some Air Training Command (ATC) personnel are unsure about their rights concerning letters to members of Congress.

The right of Air Force members to communicate with members of Congress, either for or against legislation and other matters, is explicit according to ATC legal officials. That right is protected by United States Code 1034, by Department of Defense Directive 1325.6 and by

Air Force Regulations 11-7 and 35-15.

In addition, ATC Regulation 500-6 (Commander's Special Interest - Letters To Congress) explains the right simply and directly. The regulation also states that commanders are expected to ensure that the right of Air Force members to communicate with a member of Congress is not abridged and to ensure that no action is taken against an individual because of contact with a Congressman. Reese Security Policeman receives ALEOA certificate

A Reese security policeman has been honored by the American Law Enforcement Officers Association (ALEOA).

SMSgt. James R. Morrison, Security Police superintendent, was presented the American Law Enforcement Officers Association Honor Award by Col. Charles E. Bishop, 64th Flying Training Wing commander.

The citation was presented to Sergeant Morrison in honor of his 20-years of law enforcement service and his various activities in many international law enforcement associations.

Chief Robert Ferguson, president of the ALEOA, cited Sergeant Morrison in the award letter, stating, "Too often we take for granted the vigil of our nation's law enforcement officers . . . these men are often alone and asked to enter situations that could easily end up in a tragic injury or the death of the officer."

Wing time line

As of July 14, the 64th Flying Training Wing is behind in flying days on the T-37, .4, and ahead on the T-38, .2, aircraft. The breakdown according to classes is:

Class	A/C	+/- Days
79-03	T-37	+2.7
79-04	T-37	+2
79-05	T-37	-.3
78-07	T-38	+3.3

ATC examines Baake case

by TSgt Clyde McDonald
Social Actions

Air Training Command has received numerous inquiries from ATC bases, regarding the impact on the Air Force Affirmative Actions Plan (AAP), of the Supreme Court's recent ruling on the Alan Baake case.

Social Actions has recently received a message from ATC indicating they have been apprised that the case is presently under study by the office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Equal Opportunity and other Department of Defense agencies. The message also advised that when a final assessment is made, the information will be forwarded to all ATC bases.

At Reese, we anticipate no major impact or modifications to the AAP since the AAP is not a plan based on specific quotas. When we have been advised by ATC of the outcome of the study, a follow-up article will appear in the Roundup.

Air Training Command recently gave all its bases the "go-ahead" to implement a base level program aimed at increasing retraining through the "CAREERS" Job Finder System (JFS) for potential First Term Airmen reenlistees.

This program is a result of recommendations by Base Career Advisors within ATC through a command Retention Workshop held at Randolph AFB, Tex. in February of this year.

The recommendation was to allow potential First Term Airmen reenlistees that are offered a Job Finder System Air Force Specialty Code (AFSC) the opportunity to learn more about the AFSC before applying for retraining. Since the individual is considering reenlisting for another four, five or six years in a new specialty which the applicant has only limited knowledge, the Base Career Advisor's suggested that these potential reenlistees be offered an opportunity to try or take a look at the AFSC being offered. If the airman is satisfied and meets all the requirements for retraining, an AF Form 299, application for retraining/lateral training is provided and processed.

First Term Airmen that have applied for a Career Job Reservation (CJR) in their present AFSC, but due to non-availability of a quota have been placed on a waiting list for a Career Job Reservation will be monitored by the Air Force Manpower and Personnel Center. These individuals, if selected, will be offered a specific AFSC to retrain into. This is a guaranteed job offer, providing the individual meets all the retraining requirements.

Registration Now Underway at St. Elizabeth's School

St. Elizabeth St. John Neumann School, located just off 19th and Loop 289, at 22nd and Frankford, is now registering for fall. The program at St. Elizabeth St. John Neumann includes morning sessions for four-year-olds, afternoon sessions for five-year-olds, and all-day enriched curriculum for first through sixth grades. In addition to a complete academic program, as prescribed by the Texas Education Agency, the school includes instruction in religion and Spanish, as well as after-school programs in sports, ballet, piano, gymnastics, karate, guitar and Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts.

There are a limited number of vacancies existing in each grade. An additional second grade has been opened to accommodate those on the waiting list, and there are now vacancies for this grade, also.

The classrooms are self-contained and much individual attention is given to youngsters' needs. A hot lunch program is available, and the school is completely accredited with the Texas Education Agency. A new combination gymnasium-auditorium building is now under construction, and will be opened for the school's use sometime during the fall.

Principal of the school is Mary Jo Moore, who holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Texas Tech. Mrs. Moore is the wife of retired (AF) Lt. Col. Richard L. Moore. The Moores were stationed at Reese seven years before retirement.

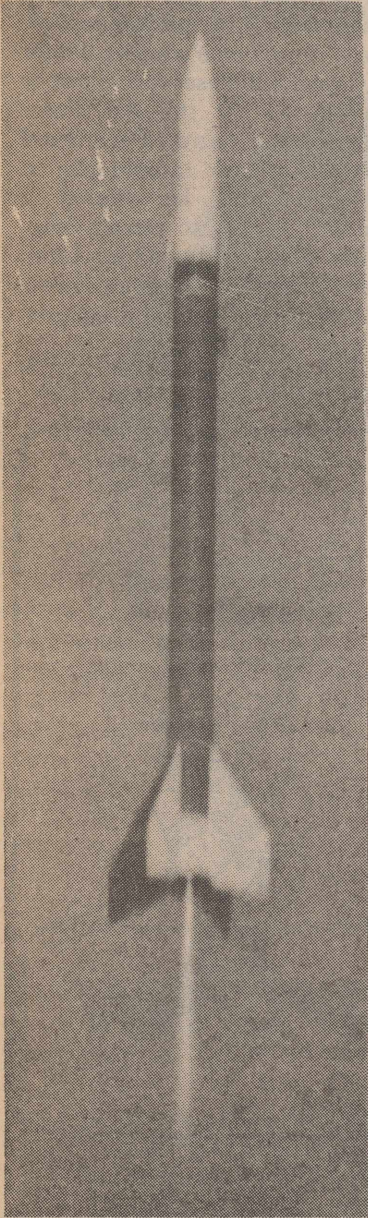

About forty children from Reese A.F.B. attend St. Elizabeth School each year. Bus service from Reese Village to the school has been provided by the base for several years, and this is a great service for families residing on base.

For information concerning enrollment, call Mrs. Moore at 799-1720, or St. Elizabeth Church at 762-5225. Registration will be taken on a first-come-first-serve basis, until classes are filled. Official registration will be held Wednesday, August 23, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Half-day classes for grades one-six will be held Thursday and Friday, Aug. 24, 25, with all-day sessions and the Pre-Kindergarten and Kindergarten commencing Monday, August 28. The first school holiday will be Labor Day.

Airmen launches missiles

Launching missiles in Lubbock may be a hard to believe spectacle, but; for one base airman it's a weekly occurrence.

A1C Matthew Ota, T-38 jet engine mechanic with the 64th Field Maintenance Squadron takes practice shooting off miniature rockets each Saturday at a clearing east of the base off Fourth Street.

The Cleveland native got involved with this unusual hobby at the age of 10 when his brothers took up the activity as a past time. After moving to Evansville, Indiana at 12 he continued to get involved. "It was at the time when the space program was going into full gear that I really became interested in rockets and what they were all about," stated Ota.

Ota's infatuation with missiles continues while here as a member of the National Association of Rocketry's local club, the Rocket Benders. This local group is made up of professional people, high school and even grade school students.

"The national association is a spin off group of the Federation Aeronautics Internationale in Paris," says Matthew. "It is the official organization which sanctions all contests, such as those held in Phoenix and Dallas this past year which I took part in, and that certifies all records."

"The rockets we use are made up of light weight material such as paper, balsa wood and cardboard, averaging in cost of $1.50 and $25. The engines are preloaded, under Department of Transportation guidelines, with Class C black powder that is ignited by an electrical charge," stated Ota.

Rockets average in heights of three inches to 10 feet. Some of which are home made and others are kits that can be bought through local hobby shops. Some of the rockets are exact replicas of the Minuteman, Titan and Saturn series missiles, there is even a Star Wars version available.

"It's fascinating and a thrill to see your rocket take off, go 500 or more feet straight up then to see the parachute bring the projectile back," says Ota. So far this year he has had 100 flights including contests and the Saturday morning sessions with the club.

Ota is currently the Bender's Secretary and says that anyone interested in participating or watching the club can contact him or come out to their practice missile range on Fourth Street in the Terre Estates North edition each Saturday around 11 a.m. to have some fun and have any questions answered.

SYSTEMATIC SAVING
THE ONLY WAY TO GO

Have you often wondered how your neighbor or co-worker is able to keep adding money to his saving account while your balance seems to stay the same or drop? It's really no big secret. Your friends are probably using a systematic, planned saving system.

Systematic savings is not complicated. All it means is that a certain amount of money is put into credit union shares on a regular, pre-determined basis. Regular can mean weekly, bi-weekly or monthly. The amount to be saved at each interval varies from person to person, according to the individual economic situation. With a savings commitment made, your share balance will grow on a steady basis.

A big help to systematic savers is payroll deduction. Under this plan a certain amount is automatically put into your share account each pay period.

However you handle it, systematic savings is a sure way to make your share account grow!

AF announces

Some baggers due pay

The Civil Service Commission has determined that individuals who bag and carry-out patron's purchases solely for tips at Department of Defense (DOD) Commissaries located in nonforeign areas are covered by the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA). Consequently, these "Bagger" are entitled to the full protection afforded by the FLSA, which includes a minimum wage guarantee and appropriate compensation for overtime work.

Any person who has worked as a Bagger since May 1, 1974, is entitled to minimum wage and, possibly, overtime payments under the FLSA. Claims for retroactive wages under FLSA may be filed with the appropriate regional office of the U.S. Civil Service Commission. Each claim must specify the location of the Commissary at which the Bagger worked. A claim should include approximations of hours worked, dates worked, and amount of tips received. Claims should also include some means of verification, such as names of Commissary Officials, name of Head Bagger, copies of PCS Orders, copies of parental permission slips and/or copies of Federal/State Income Tax Returns covering the period worked.

Any questions concerning entitlements or the processing of claims should be forwarded to the Civil Service Commission. The addresses of the Regional Offices of the Civil Service Commission are available in the Civilian Personnel Office.

Shoppers are reminded that tipping after Aug. 1 will be discouraged because the baggers wages will be computed into the cost of the groceries through a two per cent surcharge. Patrons wishing to bag their own groceries and not pay the surcharge will be handled at a special check-out counter.

Applications for bagger/carryout personnel are being taken at the Civilian Personnel Office. Anyone interested in applying should contact the Civilian Personnel Office as soon as possible. Commissary officials remind Roundup readers that the jobs are open to all, including military personnel and their dependents.

Commissary survey shows customers getting bargain

Prices at Air Force commissaries are about 25 per cent less than at supermarkets off base, according to a June survey by the Air Force Commissary Service (AFCOMS).

AFCOMS officials said teams surveyed two supermarkets nearest each of eight bases scattered throughout the United States. Commissary prices ranged from about 21.6 to 29.8 per cent less than off-base prices, for an average of 24.9 per cent.

Chain stores may be able to beat commissary prices on some items by selling at a loss to attract customers, said SMSgt. Rodney Miller, commissary management specialist at AFCOMS. "However, overall savings to our patrons would still be at least 20 to 21 per cent after the surcharge (4 per cent)," he stated.

To add to day-to-day savings, General Burkett urges commissary shoppers to watch for the AFCOMS "Smart Owl" signs which indicate special savings.

"When our customers see the Smart Owl, they can be assured that the item is being sold at a price of at least 15 per cent below the normal savings," he said.

AFCOMS is able to offer the special prices because of "great cooperation from our vendors, suppliers or the manufacturer of those products. Last year the AFCOMS special national sales program saved our patrons at least $1.5 million. We expect savings this year will exceed $2 million," General Burkett said.

THE PRICE OF PRESTIGE JUST WENT DOWN. DRASTICALLY.

The base Thrift Shop reopened Tuesday morning, ending weeks of self-help renovation by volunteers from the Officer's Wives Club (OWC).

The Thrift Shop is now open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Tuesdays and Fridays. The OWC collects 20 per cent of the revenue gained on consigned items and all of the money earned on Thrift Shop property.

Some of the items in high demand at the Thrift Shop include baby items (such as cribs and walkers), furniture and draperies. A large supply of

OMS grabs softball lead; Becomes tourney favorite

Organizational Maintenance Squadron exploded for five victories last week catapulting the slow-pitch squad to the top of the league standings and into the favorite's role for next week's championship tournament.

The new intramural leaders started the week one-half game back of Supply-1, but an upset loss for Supply to CE coupled with OMS' "major league" stretch drive moved OMS in front. Victories over Air Base Group-2, 10-3; Sturon-2, 7-0; Group-2 again, 12-5; the Medics, 6-4; and Supply-2, 18-8; left OMS with a two-and one half game lead with less than one week left in the league slate.

The Civil Engineers out-scored Supply-1, 13-8 through five innings and then stopped a last inning rally for the 13-12 upset win.

OMS (22-3), Supply-1 (18-4), the 54th Flying Training Squadron (16-5) and Field Maintenance-1 (17-6) have all locked up berth's in the championship tourney which begins Monday at 5 p.m. CE (14-8) should also make the six-team tournament roster, but; the Medics are the team on the bubble. If the tournament started today the Medics would go with a 15-10 mark. The 35th FTS, 12-8 on the year, still has a chance to knock the Medics out of the final spot.

Close play

An unexpected toss to second base gives both the runner and second baseman problems during OMS' win over the Medics Monday night. The ball bounded free on the play leaving the runner safe. (U.S. Air Force photo)

Reese tennis squad eyes title

The annual Air Training Command Tennis Championship will be held at Randolph AFB Tex., July 28-30.

Heading up the Reese team is Scott Benson. Also in the lineups for the open division are Jack Madison, Dave Roberts, and Clark Baldwin.

In last year's tourney Reese failed to turn up any victories, but this year may be different. Scott Benson, who was the Air Force Academy's top tennis player two years ago, is optimistic. "I want to win. I think I can," he predicted.

Scheduled in the Senior division (over 40) is Fred Blume. No one volunteered for the women's division.

Sports in brief

500 mile club

The founder of the Reese 500 Mile Club reached a new milestone last week, raising his jogging total to more than 570 miles. Charles Lowrey, who began the club in 1974, averages four miles per day and to date, has logged 573 miles.

Lowrey

Weight lifter sets mark

Joe Dentice, an athletic specialist at Lackland AFB, Tex., has broken the national record in the Teenage National Power Lifting Championship at Evansville, Ind.

The 19-year-old won the 181-pound class and broke records for dead lift competition by 45 pounds and the total weight lift by 10 pounds. Competing against 30 other teenagers, 16 to 19 years old, Dentice lifted 460 pounds in the squat competition, 330 in the bench press and 625 in dead lift for a total of 1,415 pounds.

The athletic specialist has been lifting weights for four years and placed second in the same championship event last year.

Golf tourney

Reese will host the Broken Putter Golf Tournament between the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce Armed Forces Committee and Reese golfers on July 31.

The Tourney will be held on the Reese Golf Course with Col. Charles Bishop leading a team of seven other officers and NCOs for Reese.

The Broken Putter trophy has been on display at the clubhouse since Reese last won it in May 1974. Traditionally 18 holes are followed by an informal dinner at the golf course clubhouse.
