

Reese joins Marines' Toys for Tots drive

The Reese Toys for Tots drive, a part of the Lubbock Marine Corps annual Toys for Tots Campaign, is underway here, but, the drive is a little bit different from those in past years.

Sponsoring the on-base effort is the 1958th Communications Squadron with Capt. (major selectee) Robert A. Allen, serving as the base project officer.

"Last year we had tremendous support for the campaign," said Captain Allen, "but, more than half of the used toys we received were in too bad a shape to be fixed. That's why this year we are asking for new toys or playthings in "like new" condition."

Another change this year is in the way toys will be collected. Instead of designating certain dates for people to bring in toys or sponsoring collection drives through the housing area, the bulk of the collections will be handled by base special interest units and organizations.

For example, the Reese Girl Scouts are expected to make toys, the Base Exchange will sponsor a cartoon day for kids with a toy set as the admission price, the Chapel has set aside Dec. 10 as special toy collection day and the Mathis Recreation Center will host a Toys for Tots dance on Dec. 15 and 16. The Reese Bowling league is also expected to hold a toy gathering rolloff. In addition, most squadrons will combine their unit Christmas parties with toy collections.

He also pointed out that any groups planning on holding fund raising drives in support of the campaign need to buy new toys with any money raised.

The Toys for Tots Campaign is a United Way activity, sponsored by the Marine Corps and supported by Reese. Anyone with questions about the drive should contact Captain Allen at ext. 3885.

Plan special exercise

Base, Methodist Hospital work together

Reese Air Force Base and Methodist Hospital in Lubbock have scheduled a joint emergency training exercise for Monday between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The coordinated plan is designed to test the ability of both organizations to react to a major mass casualty disaster situation. It will help both organizations determine whether their individual disaster response plans are workable when faced with the need to cooperate with other agencies.

There are two major differences between this and other exercise-drills. This exercise will be publicized in advance in order to reduce alarm or apprehension by the civilian population because it will be conducted in part outside of the confines of Reese and Methodist Hospital. The other reason is that it will last longer than normal in order to give the agencies involved the opportunity to be tested in greater depth than usual.

The public may become aware of the disaster exercise at about 1 p.m. when a simulated accident will take place within the confines of the City of Lubbock's Radio Controlled Model Airplane Field on FM 179 (half-way between 4th and 19th streets) about two miles east of Reese.

Thereafter, emergency vehicles and aircraft may be seen on the roads and in the air between the simulated accident site, the Reese Hospital and Methodist Hospital. Fire, police and medical vehicles from Reese, ambulances from AID and EMS in Lubbock, Lubbock Fire Department vehicles, and two Texas Department of Public Safety helicopters will participate in attempts to save the maximum number of lives of simulated casualties.

The simulated victims, approximately 50 in number, will be Reese airmen and Methodist School of Nursing students. They will begin preparing simulated, but realistic looking injuries with moulage kits at 10 a.m.

Command officials praise response to Ripe Charger

Complete details on the results of RIPE CHARGER have not been compiled but initial reports indicate that Reese and the rest of the Air Training Command (ATC) can successfully accomplish its wartime tasking in a highly efficient manner.

Gen. John W. Roberts, ATC commander, said, "I am very pleased with the results of RIPE CHARGER, in particular with the motivation and dedication displayed by the people of this command in accomplishing our wartime mission. I want to thank all our people for making our first command wide readiness exercise a resounding success."

During the exercise the alerting and mobility processing of more than 3,000 ATC people involving all base functions was successfully accomplished. This included checking shot records, issuing special clothing and equipment and processing orders.

After the initial processing was completed, Transportation Management Offices simulated the arrangement of transportation and the ATC support teams were ready to deploy in support of wartime commitments.

The alternate ATC Headquarters was successfully activated at Laughlin AFB, Tex., and the alternate staff was deployed to the base by C-130 aircraft from the 433rd Tactical Airlift Wing (USAF Reserve), Kelly AFB, Tex.

Flying units exercised simulated aircraft dispersal and actually flew airborne reconnaissance missions from forward operating locations.

A thorough post exercise "lessons learned" report will be prepared so any weakness identified can be corrected prior to RIPE CHARGER II.

Impressions of Reese

When I first reported to Reese last August, one of the things that impressed me most was the friendliness and courtesy of the people.

It seemed that everywhere I went, people of all ranks greeted me with a cheerful smile and asked if there was anything they could do for me. Another thing that impressed me was the appearance of the base; it was clean, neat, and orderly, and reflected a lot of community pride. Without exception, my first impressions were good ones.

Having been here for almost three months now, I have learned a great deal more about Reese Air Force Base and the people who live and work here. I have found that you are professionals who take pride in your work and in yourselves. You care about the Air Force, you care about the base, and you care about each other. Perhaps more importantly, you care concerned about the mission — training high quality young men and women to be high quality pilots. And, as shown by the results of the recent MEI, you are doing a superb job of accomplishing that mission.

First impressions are important, but second and third ones are even more important. You have impressed me, and I'm proud to be one of you.

I look forward to working with all of you in making the 64th Flying Training Wing the best in Air Training Command.

CARE Line

(Editor's Note: All calls to the CARE Line MUST be accompanied by the caller's full name and duty phone so that answers may be provided personally, if space is not available in THE ROUNDUP. All information will be held in confidence and names will be withheld from print upon request. Names and numbers are required in order to give quick, personal responses to legitimate questions. Reese people are urged to use their chain of command or the office of primary responsibility to air complaints or comments, if possible. If not, call the CARE Line, (Ext. 3273)

Flightline dress

This is in regard to the policy that we have to wear our shirts in the day now. When we come in the morning we are wearing our T-shirts and in the afternoon it gets hot and we can't take our shirts off. I would like to know if that can be rescinded in the hot weather now.

Name withheld by request

Because of the weather conditions in this area, a change is being made to the Wing Supplement to AFR 35-10. It will authorize an individual to remove the utility shirt when, in the opinion of the work center/immediate supervisor, weather conditions warrant it; a white or olive green T-shirt must be worn when the utility shirt is removed. The utility shirt must be put back on when leaving the immediate work area.

Dining Hall

I would like to know if there is any requirements or guidelines to enter the dining room facility. I have been on this base three months and several times I have seen service men enter the dining room in tight t-shirts, very short shorts and females entering with t-shirts. Does the civilian manager of the dining hall have the authority to refuse service?

TSgt. Leonard Zugby

AFR 35-10 contains guidelines for civilian dress and provides for the installation commander to supplement these standards when appropriate to promote health, welfare and morale of personnel assigned to the base.

The guidelines established are felt to be adequate and that additional restrictions would not promote morale.

The Wing Dining Hall is operated by a civilian contractor and they have no authority to enforce dress regulations. The contractor may point out to an offender that he or she is in violation and ask them to make appropriate correction. If the individual does not wish to make the correction the contractor may report the violation through official channels; however, service cannot be refused by the contractor.

Each and every member of the Air Force is responsible for complying with AFR 35-10 and it is their duty to bring violations to the attention of the individual concerned.

Helping hand

This morning (Oct. 25) there was an automobile accident in Carlisle. Second Lt. Kenneth Simpson was getting off the night shift at the Reese Hospital and although I would estimate that almost 50 cars passed around the wreck, only Lieutenant Simpson stopped to inquire if there was any injuries and see if he could help. He examined the person injured and stayed with him until the arrival of the ambulance. I thought you would like to hear of the professionalism of one of your officers. I for one say thanks for caring.

Social Actions editorial

Alcoholics—living in a fantasy world

by TSgt Doug Stevens

One of the most obvious and frustrating truths about the practicing alcoholic is their inability to see themselves realistically.

People around them are constantly thinking about them, or saying to them, "with all this anti-social behavior which now fills so much of your recent past, why can't you see and admit that drinking is at the root of your problem?" or "How can you look back on this long list of bizarre behaviors and apparently ignore what it is describing about your drinking to everybody else who sees you?"

One of the major reasons for self delusion in addition to rationalization, projection and denial is the faulty use of memory. The limiting circumstances involving the faulty use of memory can be divided into at least three categories.

First, the chemically-induced blackout. There is a difference between "pass-out" and blackout. Passing out is defined as a loss of consciousness. Blacking out, on the other hand, is a loss of memory which the person goes on functioning as though they would remember the whole period of time involved. The blackouts, as the illness progresses, become more frequent, of longer duration, and more unpredictable as far as quantity of alcohol consumed is concerned.

Second, are the psychologically-induced blackouts. This is the suppression or repression of painful or shameful incidents which cannot be rationalized. For the most part, this is done on a spontaneous instinctive level rather than through deliberate and premeditated effort.

Lastly, a great deal of self-delusion and self-evasion can be traced to "euphoric" or "feeling memory." This is when the individual "under the influence" is rendered incapable of remembering accurately how they behaved. They do not — remember the weaving gait and bellicose behavior. they remember only "how they felt" and "how they acted."

Blackouts are a major symptom of alcohol abuse and alcoholism. Assistance for alcohol related problems is available through the Social Actions office. If you or someone close to you is having problems with alcohol, get help, call me at ext. 3575, for an appointment. The life you save could be your own.

If You Have A Need — Christ Is The Answer

by David F. Sullivan
Reese Legal Office

The objective of the Area Defense Counsel Program is to provide assistance to all Air Force members facing court-martial proceedings, Article 15 punishment, or other administrative action. Many problems arise because people are not aware of their obligations or do not know who they can turn to for advice during times of need.

The following problem will help you understand your obligations under the law and the role which the Area Defense Counsel plays in the military justice system:

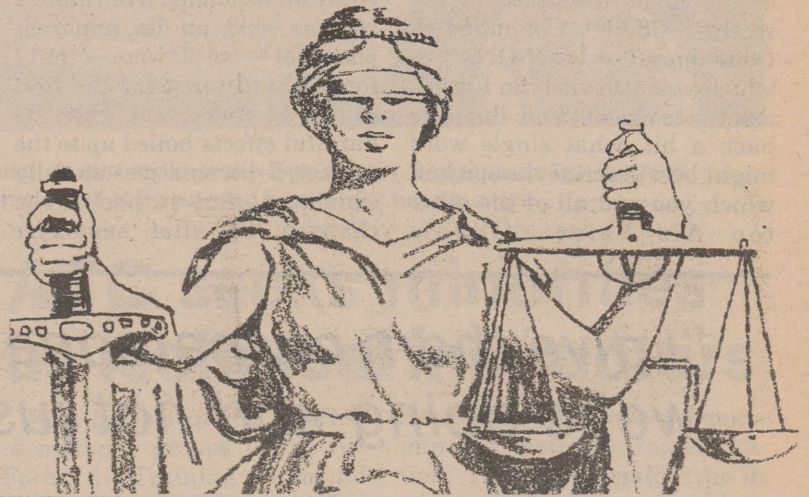

Airman Jones is stationed at Reese. He has recently purchased a number of items including a used Dodge van, stereo equipment, a tape deck, and a television set.

Airman Smith has a pair of speakers and offers to sell them to Jones for $100. Jones has no money left in his checking account, but decides to buy the speakers anyway. Jones borrows $50 from a friend in the barracks and writes a check for $50 at the base exchange. Jones gives the money to Smith for the speakers. Jones plans to "cover" the check he wrote at the BX with $65 that Airman Wiley owes him. Wiley is getting

Has Jones committed an offense under the Uniform Code of Military Justice? What should Jones do?

Airman Jones has violated either Article 123a or Article 134 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice. These provisions make it a criminal offense to write bad checks. Jones committed a violation of Article 123a for writing a check at the BX when he knew that it would be this money from home, and has told Jones that he will pay him, in the next couple of days.

As a week passes, Wiley tells Jones that this money still has not arrived. In the meantime, the BX manager notifies Jones that his check has been returned by the bank for nonsufficient funds. Another few days pass by and Jones received a second notification with a request for immediate repayment. Jones' first sergeant finds out about the bad check, and advises Jones to repay the BX. After more time passes, Jones' commander notifies him that he is being given an Article 15 for writing a bad check on base.

Jones still has not received any money from Wiley, and he is not sure when he can repay the BX.

dishonored. Jones also violated Article 134 for failing to maintain sufficient funds in his checking account for payment to the BX. The fact that Jones could not cover the check because of Wiley's failure to pay him the $65 is not a valid defense. Jones had the responsibility to insure that his checking account was properly maintained and in good standing at all times.

Under the present circumstances, Jones should seek the advice of his local Area Defense Counsel. The Area Defense Counsel is a lawyer that Jones can talk to about his case. Anything said is in confidence, and will not be repeated without Jones' permission. After discussing the facts with Jones, the Area Defense Counsel will advise him on how best to proceed.

If you face administrative or other judicial action, you should contact, Captain Carson Grimm, the local Area Defense Counsel at 3645.

Update: Interview with ATC boss covers command interests

(This is the second in a continuing series of interviews in which Gen. John W. Roberts, commander, Air Training Command (ATC), discusses subjects of interest to ATC members with Bob Reed of the command Office of Information.)

As you know, general, we've already released a story to our base papers that ticks off many of the items discussed at the recent USAF Commanders Conference — CORONA — which you attended. So I won't ask you to repeat them. But to go back a bit, what single word might best describe the spirit in which you and all of the other top Air Force officials controls. No hemming and hawing. Just ordered it removed from the OER.

I don't mean to needle, general, but weren't you Air Force Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel (DP) when the system was initiated four years ago?

That's not needing. That's the truth. I was the DP, and I freely accept my full share of the blame. Even more, I was so sold on its apparent potential — we all were — that I fought hard for it for the first couple of years. But when its harmful effects boiled up to the surface, I became just as fully convinced that it had to be changed. So after agonizing tions to a lively discussion which I hope will bear fruit in the near future.

Back to some intangibles, general. I'd like you to comment on a feeling that runs deep with some in ATC—probably throughout the whole Air Force. I constantly run into the skeptical belief, expressed by officer and enlisted members alike, that our senior Air Force officials aren't really interested in doing anything about their complaints—the irritants that bug them. As one disenchanted young officer put it, "they just keep talking, not doing."

I give them my personal word that we're "doing" and not just talking! I really

ATC commander

"I give them my personal word that we're doing and not just talking" approached the meeting? How about panic, urgency, determination?

(General Roberts, smiling) —I might accept two of those. Perhaps the best one is "urgency," although it falls short, too. I can state, unequivocally, that this CORONA was the most productive, as well as people oriented, of any I've attended in the past five years. In addition to the usual analyses of operational and global issues, there were more discussions of down-to-earth details, more pointed comments from all present, including Secretary Stetson and Chief of Staff General Allen, and more actions taken by the Chief than ever before. It was a fine session.

What topped the agenda as the most pressing problem?

That was predictable: The Officer Effectiveness Report (OER) system. What we had originally thought would be an excellent management tool had proven to be extremely damaging to officer morale — particularly its controlled rating provision. The Chief took care of that quickly. After a comparatively short discussion he eliminated the over it a little longer, I wrote the present DP and told him how I felt.

Will there be more changes, or modifications, in the OER system?

Undoubtedly. But they'll take time. The main thing was to get that controlled rating removed immediately, and the Chief did it.

Am I safe in assuming, general, that the current distressing drop in pilot retention was also high on the list?

You certainly are. It was as hot a topic at CORONA as it is here in ATC. I was happy to be able to report on some of the positive steps we've taken: Making sure that pilots are reimbursed for out-of-pocket expenses incurred while on directed TDY; increasing the crossflow of pilots, both FAIPs (First Assignment Instructor Pilots) and non-FAIPs, into new weapons systems; sending two second lieutenants out into the field to get a direct 'grass roots' feedback on complaints and irritants; the use of 'Buck Stop' to put initiatives into the hands of unit commanders and their people—I won't go into the rest. The others present at CORONA also made contribu-wish some of those who feel that way could have been with me at CORONA. For example, we were in session when that disgraceful furor about a delayed payday was approaching a climax. There was a lot of discussion; and everyone, including General Allen, the Chief, was determined to get our people paid on time. Believe me, they were sincerely concerned. Our top finance people were equally concerned, and they really did a bang-up job. The real reason everybody in the Air Force got paid on time was because Lieutenant General Driessnack, the Air Force Comptroller, and his people had everything in position and ready to go. Also, I'm proud of the job we did here in ATC. For instance, Col. Ken Baliles, our comptroller, and his people worked with General Iosue at Lackland. It took quite a bit of improvising, and a lot of ingenuity; but we saw to it that every single airman who left Lackland—whether being discharged, or going TDY or PCS—got every single penny due them.

One more hard-ball question, general. It has to do with the group you've set up here in the headquarters to work with representatives from our bases on problems in the command: Some fear it might turn into a debating society. Would you comment?

Of course they'll be debating—looking at the problems from all angles. However, when they've reached their conclusions and come up with recommendations, they've been instructed to present them to me. Does that answer your question?

Definitely, general. I'll pass it on.

Before we wind up, I'd like to report on a gratifying experience I had at CORONA. For the second year in a row, a number of other major commanders made a point of congratulating me on the quality of young men and women coming out of ATC to TI, commander, classroom instructor—depends on others for support. None of us could function without them; we are truly interdependent. So I want to pass on those compliments to every single person—officer, enlisted and civilian—in ATC.

"... everyone of us — pilot, TI, commander, classroom instructor — depends on others for support."

join their outfits. Of course I enjoyed the compliments. But even as I was accepting them, I was fully aware that they belonged to every member of the command. It may sound trite, but we can't be reminded too often that every one of us—pilot,

They belong to you. But remember, you've made it tough on yourselves, because now you have a terrific reputation to protect. With your work appreciated as it is throughout the entire Air Force, you don't dare let down.

ATC seeks minorities as technical instructors

With the continuing increase of minority groups in the Air Force, Air Training Command is seeking highly qualified minorities to fill present and projected instructor vacancies at its technical training centers. Many technical training courses do not have adequate minority instructor representation. This is especially true in career fields such as avionics, electronics and aircraft maintenance.

Minority instructors are important to the training programs to give minority students counterparts on the academic staffs with whom they can relate when they have academic or personal problems.

People interested in becoming technical instructors should contact the Consolidated Base Personnel Office Customer Service for information and application procedures.

'Lump sum' SRBs get nod

Because the fiscal year 1979 budget contains only enough funds to pay for approximately one half of the selective reenlistment bonuses (SRB) in lump sum, April 1, 1979, has been set as the start date for these payments, Air Force officials announced.

As in the past, members applying for reenlistment bonuses before April 1st will receive them as yearly installment payments on the anniversary of their reenlistment.

Through the SRB program the Air Force pays a bonus for reenlistment in certain skill fields as a method of encouraging retention.

A special provision was contained in the new appropriation bill for airmen in retraining status. Airmen with specialty codes slated for termination or reduction will still be eligible for SRB for the purpose of reenlistment in zones A or B.

These zones determine the amount of the bonus.

Authority to pay SRB suffered a gap between Oct. 1, and Oct. 20, when the legislation was cleared, but Air Force established the following policies to compensate:

Airmen who reenlisted between Oct. 1 and 20, 1978, are entitled to full SRB at the level set for their Air Force specialty codes.

AF may replace T-37

The whine of Cessna T-37 jet trainers, a familiar sound on the South Plains since the early 1960s, may be silenced if future modifications to the aircraft become too expensive.

Air Force officials announced late last week that plans are being formulated to replace the aging T-37. The new trainer will be developed if defense officials determine that improvements to the trainers will cost too much.

An Air Force program management directive is being implemented by Air Force Systems Command's Aeronautical Systems Division (ASD) at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, to begin planning for the conceptual phase. The "Trainer-X" or next generation trainer aircraft is to be developed as a follow-on for use in primary undergraduate pilot training by Air Training Command (ATC).

Envisioned by ATC and ASD is a twin-engine (about 1,400 pounds thrust each) aircraft of not more than 6,000 pounds maximum gross weight, with side-by-side cockpit seating, and comparable in size to the T-37.

MSgt. Phillip Belliveau, NCOIC of Maintenance's Job Control Branch, says that there are 90 T-37s on Reese, ranging in age from 18 to 21 years old.

Future cloudy

Amn. George Ford checks over the nose of a T-37 on the Reese flightline. Air Force officials announced last week the possibility that the workhorse trainer may be replaced in the 1980's. (U.S. Air Force photo)

Tidbits

Gym closes

The base gym will be closed from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday because of the special exercise with Methodist Hospital and Air Force Academy testing.

Base Exchange hours

Nearly all base exchange facilities will be closed Thursday in observance of Thanksgiving. The only facilities which will be open are the Talon Inn, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. and the Reesette, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

JOC, Family Services sale

The Junior Officer's Committee, part of the Base Advisory Council, is sponsoring a garage sale to benefit Family Services this weekend.

People with clothes or household items they would be willing to donate to the Family Services fund raiser should drop them off at the Family Service Center. The sale will run from 4 to 6 p.m. tomorrow and from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday.

Handball reservations

The gym staff reminds handball and racquetball players that the reservation extension for Reese courts is 3875 after 8 a.m. on weekdays. For weekend and holiday use, courts may be reserved after 2 p.m. on the last workday of the week.

Women's soccer

Any women interested in playing soccer should take advantage of lessons being offered tomorrow at 10 a.m. Students will meet at the base gym. For more information contact Lynn Rauscher at ext. 3875.

Mexican-American Club

The Reese Mexican-American Club will meet today at 5:30 p.m. in the NCO Open Mess.

The Mexican-American Club is open to all military and civilian employees and their dependents.

There are no dues required for membership. The Club sponsors fund raising events throughout the year with proceeds going to various community projects.

Commissary closes

The Commissary Sales Store will be closed on Thursday in observance of Thanksgiving.

Golf course breakfast

Because of limited patronage, breakfast will only be served at the golf course clubhouse during tournaments and special events. The facility will resume weekend operation in the late spring.

Storkie's
MATERNITY & BABY SHOP

MATERNITY FASHIONS	• CHRISTENING GOWNS
• BABY GIFTS	• BABY FURNITURE

34TH & AVE. H. 747-8331

"For the height of fashion in maternity wear, or for an adorable baby gift item, it will pay you to stop in at Storkie's, 3414-B Ave. H (in Family Park Shopping Center) and visit with Faye and Genny."

Storkie's, with its complete line of clothing and gifts for mother and baby, opened in September, and the response has been most enthusiastic.

The owners report customer comments including:

"I can't believe the selection — it is great; these are the most reasonable prices I've seen anywhere"; and an Air Force wife who reported "I've been in maternity shops all over the country and you have the cutest clothes, the best selection and the best prices I've seen."

Special Offer

The owners at Storkie's want you, too, to learn of this unique shop, and to accentuate this invitation they are posting a special offer:

"Bring in this story, or the related ad on these pages, to Storkie's today, Tuesday or Wednesday and we will give you a 10 per cent discount on any one regular-price item in stock!"

This is the word from owners-operators Faye Spoth and Genevieve Judd, both of whom are longtime Lubbock residents with a host of friends.

Select at Storkie's for maternity wear, budget to better, in sizes 4-20. There are formals, disco dresses, pants, jeans, tops, sweaters, lingerie and even a sale rack.

For baby, there is adorable infant wear, take-me-home outfits, Christening sets, Christmas velveteens, fleecy warm pram bags and hats in holiday red and pastels. Shop now for best selection.

With the shopper in mind, marketing by the owners is done very selectively to bring up-to-the-minute styles at affordable prices. Consequently, new fashions are arriving regularly from New York, Chicago and California to assure Lubbock and the area a wide selection of everything that is new in the maternity world of fashion.

Hours at Storkie's are 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays; and layaway, Master Charge and Visa purchases are welcomed.

"Aren't you glad that there is a Storkie's to serve you?"

Eight run EEO program

A resource that all Air Force civilian employees should know about is the Equal Employment Opportunity Program (EEO). EEO is designed to assist all employees or potential employees in the areas of counseling, referral, and special emphasis groups.

The primary function of the counselors is to try and resolve any alleged discrimination problems informally at the lowest level. If the problem is not resolved satisfactorily within 21 days, the complainant may seek further action through Air Force channels with a formal complaint.

Bettye Wood is originally from Dallas and was graduated from the University of Texas at Austin. She has been employed at Reese for two years and is currently an Account Technician in the Accounting and Finance Office, bldg. 800. Recently appointed as the Chief EEO Counselor on base, her extension is 3781.

Lena Hall is a native of Lubbock, and has been working at Reese for three years as a Non-Appropriated Fund Coordinator in the Civilian Personnel area. She is the assistant EEO office for NAF personnel; her extension is 3801.

Bonnie Dooley grew up in the Lubbock area, and started working at Reese five years ago. She is now employed in the Travel Section of the Accounting and Finance Office. Bonnie as an EEO Counselor and can be contacted by calling extension 3163.

Billie Richardson, also a native of Lubbock, was in the Army for two years before coming to Reese. In his 13 years here he has been in a variety of positions, working most recently in the Aircraft Chemical Cleaning shop, Field Maintenance Squadron. He has been an EEO counselor for approximately three years; his extension is 3374.

Leslie Hatchett graduated from Texas Tech University in 1976 and has held several positions within the Civil Service. She is currently in the Supply Repair Cycle Support Unit. She is now the Federal Women's Program Coordinator. Her extension is 3478.

Salvador Anguino has been at Reese since 1961. He works in Field Maintenance Squadron as an aircraft painter. He was appointed as an EEO counselor here in 1973. He can be reached at ext. 3794.

Carlos Jordan is the Technical Representative of the Contract Officer here. Recently cited by the Air Force for his outstanding management

Youth loop slates action

Registration for the Youth 7 to 12-year-old boys and girls basketball league will be held at the Youth Center tomorrow.

The registration is scheduled for a 9 a.m. start with entrance fees set at $7.50 per player.

Parents must attend the registration.

League play will begin in early December and continue through February. Games will be played from 9 to 11 a.m.

Saturday mornings in the base gym.

The loop is open to dependents of Reese employees, military and civilian. Volunteers are still needed as coaches, officials and organizers.

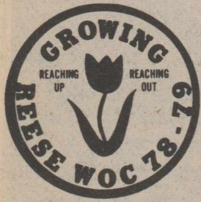

Payne plays The Jimmy Payne group from Nashville will appear at the NCO Open Mess tonight. The group features country rock music and adds a special imitation section to their show.

WOC makes Christmas decorations

Reese Women of the Chapel will meet Tuesday to make felt wreath doorknob decorations for the Golden Age Nursing Home.

The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. and all participants should bring scissors, needle, green thread and some vegetables for a pot of homemade soup if they can stay and work through lunch.

WOC members will escort some of the Golden Age Residents on a shopping trip and lunch date Dec. 5. Other holiday activities are also planned. The WOC includes both the Protestant and Catholic congregations of the Chapel. Chapel sponsored nursery care is available by making reservations at the base nursery.

Beautiful, Delicious & Affordable

At Harrigan's our approach is simple. Beautiful decor, delicious food, and affordable prices. We believe that eating out should be more than just eating; it should be entertaining and fun as well as delicious, and should not be preceded by a trip to your savings account.

Our decor is one of beautiful and unusual antique collectables which our customers still offer to buy. The menu is a collection of beautiful and unique food pieced together from the exciting eating experiences of well traveled people all over. We've combined some gourmet items such as delicious seafood Quiche with some mouth-watering old standards like golden fried chicken bits to give each diner a choice to fit his or her taste and mood. High priced restaurant formality has been forgotten as you may see one diner enjoying one of our juicy, thick steaks while his partner is enjoying a simple but filling crock of French Onion Soup. At Harrigan's we want to give you a choice and a price that's comfortable.

Try us. We're located in the west end of Memphis Place Mall, 3827 50th. Try us for dinner, for lunch, for happy hour, after the show, after the game, after anything. Open till 11:00 on the week-end for your late nite dining pleasure.

Fuller, Hollis scorch net; Rattlers drop two anyway

Despite sensational scoring performances by Don Fuller and Willie Hollis, the Rattlers dropped both ends of a doubleheader against Bergstrom last weekend, handing the squad its fifth loss in its last six tries.

Fuller led all scorers in last Friday night's 113 to 108 loss game, hitting 14 field goals enroute to a 32 point night. He followed that up Saturday with his career high as a Rattler, scoring 43 points in the 96-98 defeat.

Hollis, who hit a career high 39 points two weeks ago, scored 31 in game-one and added 21 counters in the second game.

Reese was unable to match the balanced attack of Bergstrom's Jerry Carson, Terry Martin, Daniel Davis and Tony Ellison and Mike Brown. All five starters reached double figures in both games.

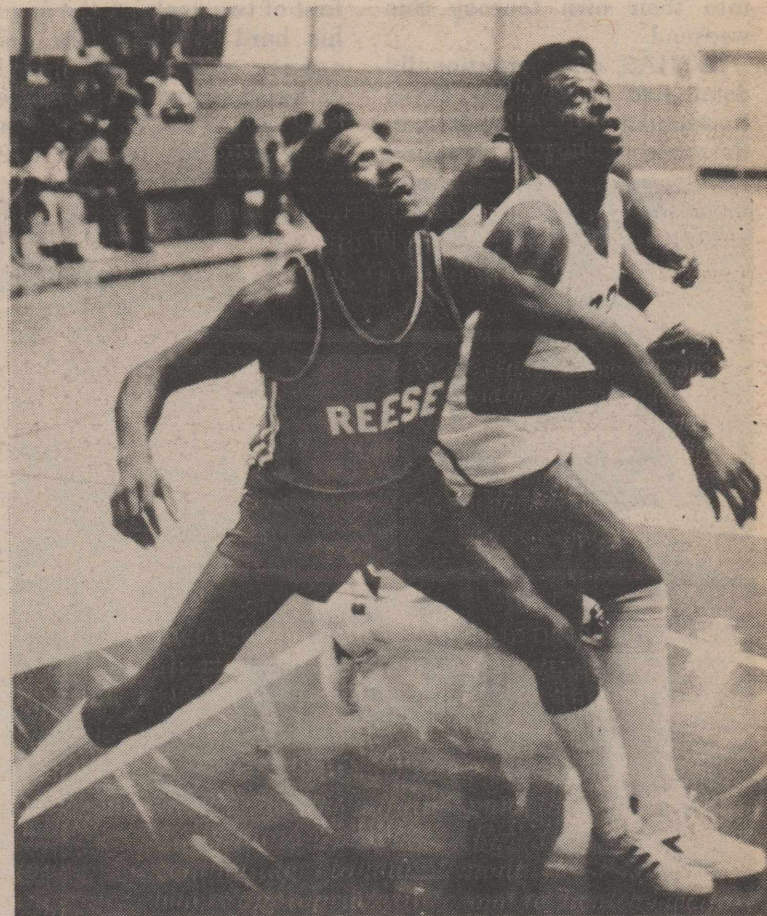

Randy Core hit for 10 and 16 points respectively in the pivot for the Rattlers. Bo Wilson added 10 points in the first game but slipped to a four-point performance in the second game. Alex McClanahan was the only other varsity cager near double-digit scoring with eight points in the opener.

The varsity cagers will try to rebound tonight and tomorrow with games against Kirtland here. Tonight the Rattlers hit the hardwood at 8 p.m. with tomorrow's game set for a 1 p.m. start.

The Rattlers stand at 5-8 on the year.

Getting position

Unbeaten Rattlers host tourney

The Reese soccer team had to come from behind to do it, but paced by Jimmy Johnson's two-goal performance, the Rattlers beat IOTHAS, 3-1, last weekend to give the Rattlers an 11 game unbeaten streak as they head into their own tourney this weekend.

IOTHAS, an internationally dominated team from Texas Instruments, got on top early in the game when a hard crossing shot got by Rattler goalie Kevin Court. The IOTHAS squad, loaded with Dutch and English players, kept Reese off the scoreboard until the 20-minute mark of the first period.

Jimmy Johnson scored the first of two goals on the day as his hard shot into the right corner was accidentally deflected away from the goalie's grasp by an IOTHAS defender.

Brian O'Dell made it a 2-1

Rattler lead just before the half on a 20-yard screamer into the lower right corner of the goal. Johnson's second goal capped the scoring midway through the second half.

The Reese invitational kicks off at 9 a.m. tomorrow with Texas Tech playing IOTHAS and Reese battling Sting. Two games will be played every hour during tomorrow's five-hour schedule as the base hosts action on the soccer field and converted football field.

Sunday's championship round begins at noon with all games being played on the soccer field. The two divisional champs will meet for the tournament title at 3 p.m.

Scheduled to play in Division "A" are: Texas Tech, Albuquerque United, IOTHAS and LASA-Latin Club. In Division "B" will be: Lubbock United, Reese, Sting and the North American All Stars.

The Rattlers will be shooting for the second straight tournament title. The varsity squad walked off with championship honors at the New Mexico Tech Invitational a few weeks ago, dominating a field of college and semi-pro squads.

The base team will be operating concession stands at both fields during the tournament.

Nyron Noble and high scoring Cecelio Young, both rebounding from knee injuries, will be in the starting lineup this weekend. Both sat out last week's game.

Steals ball Mike Redley intercepts a pass during recent soccer action here. The Rattlers, 8-0-3 on the year, will host their own tournament here this weekend. (U.S. Air Force photo)

"YOU GET WHAT YOU PAY FOR."

Car and Driver - July 1978

After testing the 13 best-selling '78 cars and choosing the VW Rabbit as the favorite, that's what Car and Driver had to say. In their most grueling battery of tests — tests of comfort, durability, economy, handling, even fun — "The Rabbit scored well in every category." The Rabbit costs more than the others, but as Car and Driver so aptly put it "...the Rabbit delivers on the investment."
