Quanah wins battle of the Tribes

Unfortunately for the home folks, the wrong Tribe won this non-district battle near the northern border of Texas. The Quanah Indians defeated the Haskell Indians 43 to 14.

Quanah would score on their first possession using seven passing plays out of their ten play drive. Their two point conversion was good to give Quanah a quick lead.

The Haskell Indians, not to be outdone, used an eleven play 71 yard drive to score on the first play of the second quarter with quarterback Isaiah Llewellyn scoring on a pass play to Kiefer McNelly. The two point conversion try was good and the score was tied 8 to 8. Quanah would score two touchdowns and connect their PATs during the second quarter to take a 23 to 8 lead into the locker room at intermission. Haskell would narrowly miss a scoring opportunity from the four yard line on the last play of the half.

The Tribe from the south, Haskell, would open the last half of play or the kick off as Matthew Martinez raced down the sideline 84 yards to give Haskell the ball on the four yard line. Running back Ryan Markey would score on a four yard run; however, the PAT failed.

Quanah came right back with a score and a PAT kick to add to their lead, 30-14. The Tribe from the north, Quanah, put the finishing touches on the southern Tribe with two touchdowns and one extra point during play of the fourth and final quarter.

Haskell has a homecoming game left to play before beginning district play and will take on Jacksboro at Indian Field, Friday evening. Kick off is 7:30 p.m.

The Indians had 40 rushes for 159 yards and was six of twelve with two interceptions via the air for 55 yards. Quarterback Llewellyn had eleven carries for 16 yards. Running back Martinez had seven carries for 24 yards and an 84 yard return of the second half kickoff. Running back Warren Fly had two carries for one yard. Running back Markey got 26 yards on three rushes. Wide receiver Payne Utley scored a two point conversion try on a reverse play on Haskell's first touchdown score.

The seventh and eighth Warriors won their games against Quanah, but the JV Indians were defeated in their game. Seventh, eighth and JV teams travel to Jacksboro Thursday to play. Games start at 4 p.m.

High speed chase ends in arrest of fleeing suspect

A high speed chase covering three counties, ended with the suspect, Billy Joe Malone of Hawley, in custody.

As DPS trooper Cody Pack attempted to conduct a traffic stop in Knox City, on the morning of Sept. 20, the blue passenger car driven by Malone, fled at a high rate of speed. Racing through the streets of Knox City, the trooper temporarily lost sight of the vehicle. He received a phone call from a motorist that had observed the car traveling south on State Highway 6 at an excessive rate of speed.

Trooper Pack then attempted to catch up to the vehicle, which traveled down FM 2047 and then turned east onto US 380 in the direction of the City of Haskell. City officers Dan Kaszuba and Jeff Caparoon, along with Haskell County Chief Deputy Winston Stephens and Deputy Greg Hearn joined the effort to stop the racing car.

Haskell officers attempted to spike the tires of the fleeing vehicle, but the driver managed to avoid the spikes.

Trooper Pack followed the car into Haskell, where it turned off of US 380, onto South Ave. H. At this point, a passenger car and the trooper's vehicle collided near the intersection. The driver of the passenger car involved in the wreck was transported to Haskell Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released.

The fleeing car continued south on past the elementary school and made its way onto US 277, where City of Haskell officers continued the pursuit. The chase eventually came to an end at the intersection of US 277 and SH 6 north of Stamford.

With the help of Stamford City officer Darwin Houston, the suspect was placed in the Rolling Plains Jail and faces three felony charges including evading arrest, child endangerment and aggravated assault.

City officer Jeff Caparoon would like to thank all who assisted the officers during this dangerous chase through the city.

is a serious contagious disease.

Each year thousands of people are hospitalized and die from flu complications.

Some steps to protect yourself and others from the flu that The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommend are as follows:

Vaccinate: A yearly flu vaccine is the first and most important step in protecting against this serious disease. Getting a flu vaccine is very important for people at high risk for serious flu complications, including young children, pregnant women, people with chronic health conditions like asthma, diabetes, heart disease, lung disease, people who are 65 years of age or older, caregivers to the young and elderly, and health care workers.

Stop Germs: Cover your mouth and nose when you cough or sneeze, throw used tissues in the trash, wash your hands often with soap and water, use alcohol-based hand cleansers, try to avoid contact with sick people, avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth, and if you get sick with the flu stay at home from work or school.

A simple thank you...

What if you woke up today with only the things you thanked God for yesterday?

We take so much for granted. The real blessings are right in front of us. I'm not talking about your TV, couch or even your dog. What I mean is to thank God for that breath of air you just took. For having running water instead of having to go down to the stream and carry it by bucket. For the food you have in your pantry and fridge instead of waiting in line for a spoon full of rice. Or having clean clothes to put on every day. The thing is if we can hear, talk, walk and are in good health, these are the very things we need to be giving thanks for. We need to be thankful we have the freedom and privilege to hold God's Word in our hands. To be able to use God's Word to encourage a friend; or about the Cross where Jesus laid down His life so we might have everlasting life and all our sins are paid in full.

I want to encourage each of you. When morning comes how about sending up a simple thank you to God, for we are blessed.

Wall of Honor project continues, needs donations

by Caron Yates

The Progressive Study Club would like to remind everyone, including those visiting here for homecoming, of the Veterans' Wall of Honor project now underway.

Through many fundraising projects, including selling of scrap metal, manning various concession stands, selling grave site flag holders, and receiving donations, the club has raised about half of the needed funds.

The Veterans' Wall of Honor will be located on the southwest corner of the county courthouse. The first stage of the project includes names of service personnel who died while serving their country. The names are on black granite levels, placed on the flat top of the existing memorial. These have already been paid for and placed, however two had mistakes which are being corrected.

The Progressive Study Club is still actively seeking donations for the second stage of the project. This will include placing black granite tablets, five north and five east of the original monument, with names on both sides.

The goal is to build a memorial that will include any veteran that has made his or her home in Haskell County, has worked, raised a family, worshipped here, or is buried in any county cemetery.

While they have many names already on the list, they are requesting the names of any veterans from this area, who served in the past or are currently serving, to be submitted. If you know names of any veterans who should be on the list, be sure to contact a club member. All donations are tax deductible.

The Club will have a booth at Homecoming, or donations and veterans' names can be sent to Dorothy Hartsfield at 405 N. Ave. H, Haskell, TX 79521. Please make checks payable to Progressive Study Club.

It is the desire of the club to fix the names of members of the armed services of Haskell County, in a place of perpetual honor and remembrance.

Don't miss your opportunity to be a part of this endeavor. The Wall of Honor is one way to say thank you to these men and women, who have served, so that we can walk the streets of our hometown secure in the blessings of liberty.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS

By Ed Sterling

Perry spars with field in GOP debate

AUSTIN—A field of nine Republican candidates participated in the Fox News-Google GOP Presidential Debate on Sept. 22 in Orlando, Fla.

As the top-polling candidate present, Gov. Rick Perry drew extra fire from rivals over his positions and/or record on Social Security, border security, job creation, health care and education.

For example, he took heat over his withdrawn executive order that would have required pre-teen girls to get vaccinated against human papilloma virus. And he defended his support of in-state college tuition for children of undocumented workers.

Meanwhile, as national media attention to campaign issues continued to build over the week, it was learned that questions over the legality of redistricting maps passed by the Texas Legislature would have to be addressed.

The U.S. Department of Justice elected not to “preclear” the proposed Texas House and congressional district maps, alleging possible dilution of the voting rights of minority populations in some districts.

Most of the growth of the state’s population over the last 10 years was among minority groups and pursuant to the 2010 Census, Texas picked up four congressional seats to bring its total to 36.

Texas is among a group of states required to have its redistricting maps precleared under the Voting Rights Act of 1965. On July 19 Texas submitted its redrawn district maps to the Department of Justice for preclearance.

If the maps prove unacceptable, Gov. Perry has the option of calling a special session of the Texas Legislature to have the maps adjusted and any other voting issues fixed. Another possibility is that U.S. district courts could be tasked with fixing the maps. In either case, the pressure is on to have any voting rights issues resolved in time for the 2012 elections.

2 Texas Senate leaders to retire

State Sens. Steve Ogden, R-Bryan, and Florence Shapiro, R-Plano, announced they would not seek re-election.

As chair of the Senate Finance Committee, Ogden has been one of the state’s chief budget writers in addition to serving in other high-profile capacities. Before serving in the Texas House from 1992-97 he was an officer in the U.S. Navy. He won the Senate Dist. 5 seat by special election in 1997.

Shapiro, a member of the Senate since 1993 and a former Plano mayor and city council member, is chair of the body’s powerful Education Committee and former chair of the State Affairs Commission. Among her accomplishments is principal authorship of a series of laws to protect children from sexual predators.

Widespread wildfire threat remains

Last week the extraordinary drought continued its merciless encampment in the Lone Star State with an unwelcome development.

The Texas Forest Service on Sept. 24 warned of a cold front bringing high winds that could make many parts of the state even more susceptible to wildfires and flare-ups.

“Since wildfire season started on Nov. 15, 2010, firefighters have responded to 23,519 fires that have burned almost 3.8 million acres and destroyed 2,742 homes,” the Forest Service reported, adding nearly 35,000 homes have been saved by firefighting efforts, so far.

The Texas Railroad Commission brought up another dimension to the wildfire problem: propane storage containers.

If a container has been involved in one of the state’s recent wildfires, it must be replaced or evaluated by a licensed propane supplier before use, the agency said.

Last meal practice discontinued

Brad Livingston, executive director of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, stopped the practice of allowing death row offenders to choose their last meal, effective Sept. 22.

“They will receive the same meal served to other offenders on the unit,” Livingston said.

The change was made after state Sen. John Whitmire, D-Houston, wrote a letter to Livingston in disapproval of the last meal tradition after death row inmate Lawrence Brewer ordered a long list of food for his last meal before execution and did not eat it.

Whitmire is dean of the Senate and chair of the Senate Criminal Justice Committee.

Holiday road arrests top 2,000

Texas Highway Patrol troopers arrested 2,033 intoxicated drivers statewide during a Labor Day holiday enforcement program conducted Aug. 19 through Sept. 6, the Texas Department of Public Safety said Sept. 20.

Troopers focused on looking for and stopping intoxicated drivers in high-risk locations during the times when alcohol-related crashes occur most often.

Letter to the Editor

Dear editor,
The Experienced Citizens Center would like to thank each and everyone who donated to our ‘Call for Help.’ We feel so lucky and thankful that this loving community, again, stepped up to the plate, and filled our needs, with your loving donations.

Some were large, some were small, but every single one of those donations, were wonderful in our eyes, as we were able to purchase a new convection oven, a brand new dishwasher and repairs were made to the stand up freezers. You made this possible with your open hearts. We are so grateful, and we thank you for caring about our center.

You know this center is for YOU, to come and enjoy a wonderful noon meal with lots of fellowship and laughter. I love standing back, watching so many seniors, laughing, loving life and enjoying each other. We are all a big family here, and we care about each and every one. When you are sick, we are concerned and we check on you. When you need someone to talk with, we are always here to share your life. If you need a shoulder to cry on, we are here to hold you up, with open arms. If you or your family needs our thoughts and prayers, we are here for you. Our center needs you, but you need us too, so please come and join us.

Meals are $2.00 for ages 60 and older and $4.50 for all others. Meals are all you can eat.

Service is Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 12 noon. Give us a try, and I feel like you will want to come every day we are open.

We deliver meals to those who are unable to drive, have no one at home to cook for them and are 60+ years of age. If you know of someone needing our services, please call 940-864-3875 or 940-256-2163.

Hope to see you there,

Ask the Mayor

By John Gannaway, Mayor of the City of Haskell

Homecoming weekend is here! I hope you noticed the six new Homecoming banners donated by Haskell National Bank, First National Bank, Rike Real Estate, Big Country Realty, Toliver Chevrolet, yours truly and printed by Kim Nemir. This is money well spent as we’ll drag them out every homecoming.

I hope when your returning classmates see their old hometown that they will realize the effort we’ve all put forth to make Haskell a more pleasant place to call home. Of course, we’d love to recruit those retirees to return to the “reservation.” Please tell them about our low taxes, good water, and low water fees, good and cheaper housing. A place you can sit on your patio and hear the Methodist chimes ring harkening one back to years of old. Do you remember when the fire siren used to go off everyday at noon? (No, it doesn’t now). Hadn’t thought of that in years. Don’t forget to tell them to see the newly refurbished hospital as well as school. They might want to take a walk around the square and make notes as to what business/store was in that place when they lived here. Turn those notes into someone at Homecoming: Ben McGee or me as we’re working on a project to identify all the old spots. For instance: Payne’s Drug Store is now an antique store...what was it before Payne’s? Where was Perkins and Timberlake? Reed Drug Store? Collier’s Grocery? Gholson’s Grocery? Bynum’s Office Supply? Frazier’s Record Shop? I could go on and on, but you have the idea. Just go store by store with what it is now in 2011 and go as far back as you can. We’d love to have that information.

My wife has invited her class of 1961 to a “50th Reunion” here at the house. She’s had me working in the yard prettying up things. They plan to eat dinner outside on the patio and spend the balance of the evening reminiscing (like we all do). Gee, I knew I was an old geezer, Class of 1959, but hard to realize my bride has been out of school 50 years!

I noticed on one of our many trips to Abilene this week that the irrigation center pivot is being put up on the property that the city bought which is located just almost due east of our southern most ‘Haskell’ monument. This is where the effluent water will go. That water will be used to irrigate some hay to be grown on that property. I wish we’d had hay growing there this year so we would have been able to help some of our local cattlemen with their feed supply. As fast as the pivot builders are working, it may be up and visible by homecoming. However, it will not yet be working because we have to run a water line from the water treatment plant, under the by-pass and on to the pivot. When completed, we will be using our effluent water to produce a crop rather than running it into the creek.

Let me re-iterate from last week’s column: The possibility of acquiring additional lamp posts exists if anyone is interested. The form will be at the registration table, sign your name, address, email, etc., and we’ll see if there is sufficient interest to pursue it further. Signing the form is not agreeing to pay for one nor ordering one. Let’s call it a “straw” vote. For citizens not checking in for Homecoming, call the City Hall and express your interest.

We’re mighty proud of our park; please make an effort to go by, sit and enjoy. The crape myrtles and the huge limestone rocks are new. Those plants are hearty to have survived this severe drought. (They’ve been nursed along, watered almost daily in order to survive.) In addition, the gazebo has been repaired, repainted and relighted, the Texas flag replica in front of the U.S. flags has been repainted (thanks to Brandon and Penny Anderson), and the grass is green, thanks to our city workmen. The crape myrtles are on both sides of U.S. 277 and along U.S. 380 across from the Star Stop. The monuments announcing “Haskell” are finished on three ends of the town. Many eyesores are gone including 90 old vehicles.

Let the fun commence.

A NEW LOOK—Rule High School math teacher, Jill Brown, recently designed a new logo for Rule ISD. The logo is displayed in the Superintendent's office.

Rule ISD earns state's highest fiscal accountability rating

Rule Independent School District officials announced that the district received a rating of "Superior Achievement" under Texas' Schools FIRST financial accountability rating system for the 2009-2010 school year. The Superior Achievement rating is the state's highest, demonstrating the quality of Rule ISD's financial management and reporting system.

This is the ninth year of Schools FIRST (Financial Integrity Rating System of Texas), a financial accountability system for Texas school districts developed by the Texas Education Agency in response to Senate Bill 875 of the 76th Texas Legislature in 1999. The primary goal of Schools FIRST is to achieve quality performance in the management of school districts' financial resources, a goal made more significant due to the complexity of accounting associated with Texas' school finance system.

"We are very pleased with Rule ISD's Schools FIRST rating," said Rule ISD Superintendent Bryan Davis, "as it shows that our district is making the most of our taxpayers' dollars. This rating shows that Rule ISD is accountable not only for student learning, but also for achieving these results cost-effectively and efficiently. Credit for this rating, for the 2009-2010 school year, needs to go to retired Superintendent David Parr and former Business Manager Brenda Turner. As the new Superintendent of Rule ISD, I will work very hard along with our new Business Manager Amy Tanner to keep our Schools FIRST rating at the Superior Achievement level."

The School FIRST accountability rating system assigns one of four financial accountability ratings to Texas school districts, with the highest being "Superior Achievement," followed by "Above-Standard Achievement," "Standard Achievement" and "Substandard Achievement."

Districts with serious data quality problems may receive the additional rating of "Suspended-Data Quality." Districts that receive the "Substandard Achievement" or "Suspended-Data Quality" ratings under Schools FIRST must file a corrective action plan with the Texas Education Agency.

September garden checklist

by Wes Utley
CEA-Ag/NR, Haskell Co.

- Sustaining adequate moisture in the garden and landscape is the #1 priority for late summer and fall 2011. Water trees and shrubs by giving them at least one inch of water per week, delivered slowly, around the plants as far out as the "drip-line" extends.

- Rejuvenate heat-stressed geraniums and begonias for the fall season by lightly pruning, fertilizing, and watering.

- Don't allow plants with green fruit or berries to suffer from lack of moisture. Hollies will frequently drop their fruit under drought conditions.

- Prune out dead or diseased wood from trees and shrubs. Hold off on major pruning until midwinter. Pruning now may stimulate tender growth prior to frost.

- Divide spring-flowering perennials such as irises, Shasta daisies, gaillardias, cannas, day lilies, violets, liriopse and ajuga. Reset divisions into well prepared soil with generous amounts of organic material worked into the top 8 to 10 inches. Water in thoroughly.

- Prepare the beds for spring-flowering bulbs as soon as possible. It is important to cultivate the soil and add generous amounts of organic matter to improve the water drainage. Bulbs will rot without proper drainage.

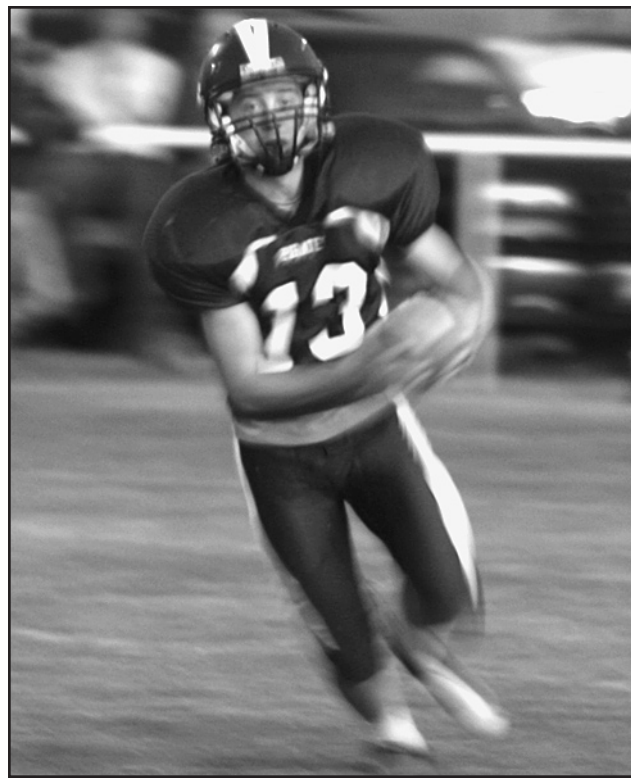

- Plantings at this time can provide landscape color for three seasons in central, east, and south Texas. Annuals set out early enough will bloom as soon as Thanksgiving, and frequently last until Memorial Day. Annuals that should soon be available in nurseries and garden shops include petunias, calendulas, pansies, snapdragons, stock, sweet peas, and violas (from seed).

- Christmas cactus can be made to flower by suppling 12 hours of uninterrupted darkness and cool nights (55 degrees F) for a month, starting in mid-October. Keep plants on the dry side for a month prior to treatment.

- Replenish mulches around trees and shrubs.

- Start cool-season vegetables, such as mustard, lettuce, arugula, broccoli, carrots and turnips, from seed in well prepared beds.

- Harvest okra, peppers, squash, and other vegetables often to encourage production.

Business to relocate to Big Country area

Jackie Lackey, Inc., which includes the media and customer service companies Encore Visions, Unit Visions and DRIVE will move its corporate headquarters from College Station to the Big Country region before the end of November 2011.

CEO and Director, Jackie Townsend Lackey, hopes the move will further unify her business operations and bring economic growth to the area where the Lackey family has resided for more than 50 years.

"I am excited about moving our operations to the Big Country. Over the last six years, I have turned what was originally a home-based business into a national marketing and communications firm with 17 full-time employees. We are positioned to grow and I want to bring growth to the area my family and I live, work and call home," says Lackey.

Jackie Lackey, Inc.'s three companies cover a wide range of services. Encore Visions, which Lackey established in 2005, offers advertising and design for a variety of service industries including agriculture, medical, insurance, retail and everything in between. Unit Visions, created in 2006 offers online communications services for Mary Kay sales directors and other direct selling agencies. DRIVE, Lackey's newest business venture created in November 2010, is the corporation's print and online magazine that highlights youth and their show livestock projects in addition to a youth scholarship program and online livestock auction services. In less than a year, DRIVE has become Lackey's most recent success with a circulation to more than 6,500 individuals in 46 states.

Currently, Lackey is working with area developers and councils on choosing the right community within the Big Country region to relocate their headquarters.

A NEW LANDFILL HAS BEEN APPROVED OR HADN'T YOU HEARD?

Currently your government officials publish their plans and decisions in the newspaper – including where they intend to build facilities you might not want down the street.

That could change in the future because they want to bury their public notices somewhere online, on a little seen, rarely visited government website – out of sight, out of mind.

Don't let government keep you in the dark.

If it is not in the newspaper, you won't know about it.

Monsanto offers safety training

Safety at the workplace is important to all companies, and for most, safety at home is just as vital. That is why Rolling Plains Cotton Research in Haskell has been using on-the-job training to teach its employees how to respond to off-the-job situations.

"According to the National Safety Council, we are much more likely to be injured away from work than while on the job," said Mark Schuerman, Global Off-the-Job Safety Lead at Monsanto. "With this in mind, thinking about safety in whatever activity we are doing is important; whether we are at work, home or in the community." This summer, the Monsanto site brought in the American Red Cross to perform First Aid and CPR training for its employees. The site also showed a presentation entitled "First Aid Training for All."

Studies have shown that eighty percent of the time in a crisis situation, the person needing CPR or First Aid is a loved one. CPR can be used to save lives when someone is experiencing a heart attack, a stroke, severe electrical shock, choking, or severe electrical shock, among other situations. So, knowing how to properly respond and doing it quickly, is important in helping save lives.

"Not only did we have our first responders trained, but also we had all of our employees, including our temporary workers, trained so that way they could use the training outside in the community and their homes if an incident ever arose," said Rachel Keck, research assistant at Rolling Plains Cotton Research. "Next year, I'd like to see if we can expand that to include significant others and child caregivers of our employees, so we can increase the amount of people who are trained in the community."

During harvesting season, employees from temporary agencies are hired by the Haskell site for field work. These workers are provided with personal protective equipment (PPE), which includes protective sunglasses and gloves for outdoor work. After the field work is completed, the workers keep the PPE, and off-the-job safety training is provided. The training encourages them to use the equipment around their homes and for upcoming jobs.

"This event helps around 40 temporary employees each year," Keck said. "We did it in Altus and Haskell for the 2009 and 2010 harvest seasons. We added San Angelo this year during hoeing season, which included 20 employees, and plan to do it again in Garden City with the 20 to 30 employees we will have during harvest season this year."

"At Monsanto, the safety of our employees and their families is a priority," Schuermann said. "Our off-the-job safety efforts are intended to provide tools to help us be safe and extend safety to our families, friends and neighbors."

Anyone interested in learning more about CPR or First Aid can contact their local American Red Cross or visit www.redcross.org.

Texas counties eligible for USDA forage program

Haskell County USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) Executive Director, Glenn R. Brzozowski, announced that all counties in Texas have met the Livestock Forage Disaster Program (LFP) trigger requirements for a three-month payment for native pasture, improved pasture and forage sorghum.

Eligible ranchers and livestock producers have until Jan. 30, 2012 to apply for LFP benefits for losses incurred during the 2011 crop year.

LFP provides payments to eligible livestock producers which have suffered livestock grazing losses due to qualifying drought or fire. Fire losses apply only to federally managed rangeland. Eligible livestock under LFP include beef cattle, alpacas, buffalo, beefalo, dairy cattle, deer, elk, emus, equine, goats, llamas, poultry, reindeer, sheep and swine. For losses due to drought, qualifying drought ratings are determined using the U.S. Drought Monitor located at <http://www.drought.unl.edu/dm/monitor.html>.

"It is imperative livestock producers meet this deadline for disaster assistance as there are no late file provisions for LFP," said Brzozowski. "I encourage eligible producers to contact their local FSA office to learn more about LFP eligibility requirements," he said.

For more LFP information, contact the Haskell County FSA office at 940-864-2617, ext 2. Information can also be obtained online at <http://www.fsa.usda.gov>.

Drought taking its toll on pumpkin patch

by Wes Utley
CEA-Ag/NR, Haskell Co.

Linus of "Peanuts" comic strip fame might be a little disappointed if he waits for the "Great Pumpkin" in a Texas pumpkin patch this year, said a Texas AgriLife Extension Service expert.

Dr. Russ Wallace, AgriLife Extension vegetable specialist at Lubbock, said pumpkins, like all Texas vegetables in 2011, had a hard time struggling through the record-setting high temperatures, low humidity and drought conditions.

"With only limited rainfall, the quality of the pumpkin fruit itself should be excellent, but I expect the overall production will be much less than normal," Wallace said. "I visited with Mark Carroll, AgriLife Extension agent in Floyd County, which is normally our leading pumpkin producing county in Texas. He told me he estimates the actual size of the pumpkins along with the yields this year will be roughly half what they normally are."

So what does this mean for the annual trek to the pumpkin patch for Halloween?

Wallace said the shortage in West Texas, coupled with reduced yields from pumpkin growers in the Northeast due to flooding from Hurricane Irene, will likely result in fewer pumpkins, higher demand and higher prices.

Each year, Wallace grows up to 40 pumpkin varieties in replicated trials at the Texas AgriLife Research and Extension Center in Lubbock. This year, he had 25 varieties and said each of them struggled to make a decent crop.

"Our small pie and mini-pumpkins don't appear to have suffered much, but the mid- to large-sized varieties grew vines at a slow pace during the high temperatures and really struggled to set fruit," he said.

"About the only good news for the High Plains

PAINT CREEK ISD Earns State's Highest Fiscal Accountability Rating
Paint Creek ISD will hold a public hearing on October 10, 2011 at 6:30 p.m. in the Administration Office to discuss Texas' Schools FIRST financial accountability rating system for 2009-2010 school year. District officials announced that the district received a rating of "Superior Achievement" under Texas' Schools FIRST financial accountability rating system for the 2009-2010 school years. The Superior Achievement rating is the state's highest, demonstrating the quality of Paint Creek ISD's financial management and reporting system.

The primary goal of Schools FIRST is to achieve quality performance in the management of school districts' financial resources, a goal made more significant due to the complexity of accounting associated with Texas' school finance system.

"We are very pleased with Paint Creek ISD's Schools FIRST rating," said Paint Creek ISD Superintendent Donald L. Ballard, "as it shows that our district is making the most of our taxpayers' dollars. This rating shows that Paint Creek ISD is accountable not only for student learning, but also for achieving these results cost-effectively and efficiently."

The School FIRST accountability rating system assigns one of four financial accountability ratings to Texas school districts, with the highest being "Superior Achievement," followed by "Above-Standard Achievement," "Standard Achievement" and "Substandard Achievement." 39c

Program offered to help teens make good choices

Aim for Success, Inc., will be presenting their nationally acclaimed Achieve Success program to the students and parents of Haskell CISD. The Aim For Success motivational programs have educated over 1.5 million young people across America during the past 15 years on topics such as sex, drugs and alcohol.

Achieve Success examines the problems of teen pregnancies, STDs and emotional scars, and addresses the issue of how to live the abstinent lifestyle. This includes controlling sexual excitement, defining true love, and dealing with peer pressure, the media and pornography. Students learn that avoiding sexual activity until marriage provides freedom from pregnancies, STDs and regret which gives them the freedom to fulfill their dreams and goals. This program will be presented

Tues., Oct. 4 at Rochester Junior High for sixth, seventh and eighth grade girls from 9 to 10 a.m. and boys from 10 to 11 a.m. and at Haskell High School for eleventh and twelfth grade students from 1 to 2 p.m. and for ninth and tenth grade students from 2 to 3 p.m.

The Parent Program will be presented Mon., Oct. 3 at 6:30 p.m. at the Haskell High School auditorium. The program is a preview of the student presentation where parents will learn creative ways to easily talk with their children about sex, and encourage them to avoid sexual activity until marriage. "This is a must see event for anyone concerned about the problems associated with teen sexual activity," said Marilyn Morris, President of Aim For Success.

Community guests are welcomed to attend.

National 4-H Week is Oct. 2-8

by Wes Utley
CEA-Ag/NR, Haskell Co.

Oct. 2-8 is National 4-H Week, and Haskell County 4-H'ers are celebrating and would like for the county of Haskell to help them celebrate.

To start off the 4-H Week event, some of the youth from three of the four different 4-H clubs met after school at the Haskell County Courthouse Wed., Sept. 21 with County Judge David Davis. The 4-H'ers had a group picture made with the County Judge to honor the upcoming event.

Sun., Oct. 2, is the start of 4-H Week, as it is called 4-H Sunday.

Local 4-H youth will connect with the community also by airing radio spots during the week of Oct. 2-8. The Haskell Jr. and Haskell Sr. 4-H Clubs plan to pass out 4-H pencils and enrollment forms Mon., Oct. 3 at the local schools. On Tues., Oct. 4 the 4-H'ers will be wearing black 4-H t-shirts, at Haskell Elementary, Haskell High School, Haskell Jr. High School in Rochester and the Paint Creek School.

Oct. 6, Thurs., the two Haskell 4-H Clubs will have a booth set up at the Jr. High football game in Paint Creek, handing out 4-H goodies.

On Oct. 7, the Haskell 4-H Clubs will have a booth set up at the Haskell High School football game, again handing out 4-H goodies.

Haskell County 4-H'ers will also be participating in an activity, One Day...4-H. This activity will include the 4-H'ers going around the Haskell city area collecting non-perishable items for the local food bank this next Sat., Oct. 8.

In Haskell County, more than sixty 4-H members and twenty volunteers are involved in 4-H.

The fundamental 4-H ideal of practical, "learn by doing" experiences encourage youth to experiment, innovate and think independently. 4-H programs are offered through school-based, after-school and camp settings and within community clubs.

You can join the 4-H community today. To learn how to become a 4-H member or volunteer leader in Haskell County, contact Wes Utley, County Extension Agent-Ag, at the Haskell County Extension Office located at 101 S. Ave. D in Haskell, or by calling 940-864-2658 or e-mail the office at haskell@ag.tamu.edu.

4-H is a community of six million young people across America learning leadership, citizenship and life skills. National 4-H Council is the private sector, non-profit partner of National 4-H Headquarters (USDA). The 4-H programs are implemented by the 106 Land Grant Universities and the Cooperative Extension System through their 3,100 local Extension offices across the country.

C.W. 'Wayburn' Oates in memory of Virgil Cobb.

Progressive Study Club, proceeds of concession stand at Clay Shoot.

Ken and Nelda Lane. Gregory W. and Cynthia Lewis.

CORRECTION: Tom Davis, long time Haskell attorney and father of Catherine Davis Schultz and the late Tommy Davis, was a veteran of World War I and was never a POW. Son, Tommy Davis was a POW during World War II. This information was incorrectly stated in the last memorials listing.

Making money is offense: Touchdowns, "yahoos", and "read about it in tomorrow's newspaper". Saving money is defense: Grunts, bruises and "getting clobbered, but having the discipline to hang in there no matter what". If you want to win, you have to play on both ends of the field.
