Final plans for launching an education and finance program were made at a meeting of the all-committee organization of the First Methodist Church board of stewards Tuesday night.

Goal of the program is to raise $4,500 in the next three weeks, to be used for building repairs and maintenance of the church. This supplements the regular budget, and brings the over-all budget for the conference year 1959 to approxi-mately $21,000.

Theme of the program is shall I give God, but how much of God's money Lnall I keep for myself?"

General chairman of the program is re son, and serving with him will be W. H. Pitman, Allen Rieves, Joe Harper, Henry Withers, Oscar Bruce, T. A. Barfield George Tyler.

Co-chairmen of the mechanics division are Allen Rieves and Floyd Cook: and of the education division are T. A. Barfield and Joe Harper.

Welcome News To Taxpayers

The Commissioners Court is to be commended for setting up and adopting a reduced budget covering 1959 operations, indicating their intention of operating the county's affairs for a total outlay of some $100,000 under last year's expenditures.

The budget, prepared with the assistance of County Auditor Coburn after a careful study of anticipated needs and past expenditures, lists anticipated expenditures of $435,175.16 for

If county expenses can be kept within this total, the net result will be a reduction of $107,115.43 from last year's ex-

This figures a saving of approximately $300 per day in operating expenses of the county, a saving that will come as welcome news to county taxpayers.

Springtime Is Clean-Up Time

The coming of spring brings new beauty to our town with its myriads of attractive lawns and flower gardens, trees and shrubbery in a profusion which has earned our community the reputation of being one of the "prettiest towns in West Texas."

The spring season also brings the necessity for a general town-wide clean-up to eliminate the harsh vestiges of winter represented in the accumulation of rubbish of all kinds, along with encroaching weeds and other unwanted growth which can mar the beauty of otherwise attractive surroundings,

The City Council has designated the coming week-April 27 to May 2-as Spring Clean Up Week, in which the entire community is asked to cooperate.

A little effort on the part of every homeowner is all that will be required to make their premises more attractive, enhance the beauty of their neighborhood and make our entire town a prettier and more healthful community in which to live. Clean-Up Week should also be observed in the business section, particularly in the alleys where accumulated trash and rubbish create not only an eyesore but a definite fire hazard

So, while we're about it, let's not put all the burden on the homeowner in the residential areas, let's do some housecleaning in the downtown area as well.

Legislators Under Pressure

With just about three weeks left in the regular session, legislators will be under pressure—to do many things and do

Each day that passes without agreement on financial matterns heightens the possibility of a special session as soon Abilene and will go to Austin

Many measures will be trampled under or pushed aside '61. But as Speaker Waggoner Carr told the House, the problem of raising some new money "won't go away, it has to be faced.'

Like every other tax proposal made this session, the huge "something for everybody" omnibus tax bill recommended by the House Tax Committee brought howls of protest.

It would raise an estimated $151-million a year by raising some old taxes and placing new taxes on hundreds of items. Tabbed for increases are natural gas, motor vehicles, cigarettes, liquor, wine, beer licenses.

New targets include hotel rooms, restaurant meals, cigars, chewing tobacco, snuff, aircraft and auto parts, dozens of luxury items (jewelry, furs, cameras, watches, silver etc.) radio and TV parts, business machines, commercial rentals, club dues, construction materials, dance studios, reducing salons.

Officially, the bill is known as the Tax Committee substitute for H.B. 727. Unofficially, it's called a lot of other things. House members showed no more eagerness to rally behind this broad-based approach than they had for Gov. Price Daniel's less "spread out" plan.

Regardless of the final form of the tax bill, the small individual taxpayer may as well prepare himself for reaching deeper into his pocketbook to foot the raise.

That 20-pound yellow catfish caught by Ross Hemphill re-cently and which we duly recorded as quite a feat, can now be relegated to second place at best. And Ross, as good a fisherman as he is, can take a back seat to a couple of feminine anglers.

The two women, Mrs. W. R. Howard of Haskell and Mrs. Lola Kinser of Lubbock, a beauty operator, snared not one but three big fish that in total poundage amost tripled Hemphill's catch.

The women, fishing out from Shaw's Camp where Mrs. Shaw had baited out a trotline for them, caught a 27-pounder and two other yellow catfish weighing 16 and 15 pounds respecti-

As a hint to some of these know-it-all fishermen who swear by perch as the only bait for yellow catfish, they might keep in mind that Mrs. Shaw added the feminine touch in her selection of bait. She used goldfish on the trotline!

There is no telling how many 20, 30 and even 40 pound fish have been caught out of the lake. Where they came from is anybody's guess but the most likely theory is that they were already big fellows in Paint Creek when the lake was built. then developed rapidly into monsters.

There's a widely-held belief among local old-time fisher men that a monster fish inhab its a certain deep pool on Paint Creek. "Old Blue" as he has been talked about for years. has been snagged a few times but he's always broken the stoutest gear used. Tom Clark and several other dyed-in-thewool fishermen claim to have had personal encounters with "Old Blue" but were no match for the big fellow.

Incidentally, we'll add that Paint Creek is off limits to fishermen. No hunting or fishing is permitted, and "Old Blue is destined for a peace ful life during the remainder of his existence-in case he is more than a legend.

There is an eerie story told by oldtimers of a 90-pound fish which drowned a Negro ranchwagon cook back in the early

The ranchwagon had stopped for an overnight camp at a bend in the Clear Fork a short distance above where the present Wolf Creek ranchhouse now

When the Negro man had per, he took a trotline and bait to the river, telling the cowboys he was going to set the line in a deep hole in the bend of the river and wouldn't be back for several hours. When the Negro was still ab sent at daybreak, a search was the bank of the river and average daily newspaper. As

as they were sitting on their horses looking for signs of the missing man they were start-led to see the Negro's head and shoulders bob up out of the water in midstream, then in a few seconds plunge out of sight under water again.

After this harrowing sight had been repeated several times, the cowboys figured that the Negro had become entangled in his trotline and drowned. But why was it bobbing up and down?

One of the men went to the opposite side of the river and cut the end of the trotline. Returning to his companion they tugged and heaved in pulling out the line and retrieved no only the Negro's body but a 90pound catfish a few hooks away.

They theorized that the Negro, swimming out to check his line, had caught his jumper on a hook at about the time the big fish plunged toward the bottom, pulling under and drowning the man. Then, as the big fish continued his efforts to go to the bottom of the pool. the Negro's body would bob under and then up again.

No matter where you go in these United States, more than likely you'll run across a friend or acquaintance from Haskell Had a letter recently from Iola and Chick Henshaw, who now live in Glendale, Ariz. where they own and operate a Day and Nite coin operated laundry and are doing fine. They told of attending a revival conducted in Avondale Ariz., 20 miles from Glendale. by Roy Don Rhodes of Haskell, a local boy who is making a fine preacher. Needless to say. it was a very pleasant reunion for the former Haskellites.

Roy Don, back for a visit since then, said he was never as glad in his life to see someone from "home" as he was Chick and Iola in Arizona.

A similar incident happened in Tacna, Peru, recently, Eddie Lusk and family went to the South American country a few weeks ago, where he is to work for a mining company. In a letter last week. Eddie told that among the first persons to greet him and his family were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Spinks, formerly of Haskell, Bill is working for the same company and has been in Peru for several years. He is the son of City Nightwatchman and Mrs. Richard Spinks.

Then, there's the friend of ours we hadn't heard from in years who now lives in Nan tucket, Mass., according to a brief note which read: "Am sending you a copy of my hometown weekly.

Grass Protects Waterways From Erosion Damage By having the two cotton breeding and cotton research

With the weather warming establishments at Bryan and up, it is time to be doing some-thing to help manage spring rains when they come, accord-ing to Claude Thompson Jr. of Weslaco, the association is able to carry on a complete cotton breeding program for south Texas and the Rio Grande Valthe Soil Conservation Service work unit at Haskell. In 1954 the association had a

Waterways are the solution to the problem of how to manage excessive rainfall on a lot of farms, according to Thomped to Haskell County and West Texas. A. R. Eaton of Rule

"Several hundred waterways are needed around the Haskell area," said Thompson, "but many people consider them just a waste of land." Some of these places that receive extra water would make good graz-ing areas but often have crops damaged or lost by flooding before they are harvested. The biggest problem in putting in a waterway is selecting the proper vegetation to be grown in it. The first step in correcting the damage begins when the waterway is first built.

The best type, he said, is a wide flat channel that'll spread the water and cut out erosion before it begins. Some water-ways will have to be shaped because of the erosion that has already taken place; some will need to be shaped to hold the water in the protected area on flat land; but many only need permanent vegetation established in them.

The season to do shaping on waterways is in the spring just before time to do planting. An annual forage crop such as sudan, sorghums, or millet should then be drilled in to help reduce erosion until a permanent cover can be established.

Shred it or mow it to keep it from seeding and leave as much stubble as possible, said Thompson. After frost the stubble is left to provide a dead litter cover in which to plant the permanent grass the next spring. The time of year to plant permanent grass, suggests Thompson, is January through the middle of June, with the early part of this season usual-A complete cotton breeding clude K. The Rev. Dean Newberry, pastor of Highland Heights Baptist church, officiated for the funeral rites. Burial was Community News

Paint Creek is a poorer community, and a weaker community this week. When we lose people like Mrs. W. A. Montgomery, everyone from the oldest to the newest baby has lost a beloved friend.

No one had as many "chil-dren" as 'Gomery. Very few babies born in Paint Creek in the last 20 years have not worn a pair of booties, a sweater, or a cap crocheted by her. Even our youngest baby, little David LeFevre wears a little pair of shoes she made. She sent them to him from her hospital room.

We don't have many people in our busy world today who take time to remember each new baby, who always remember everyone's birthday or illness with a card or note, who always tells you she enjoyed your song, and who can grow flowers when no one else can. Once, I remember when 'Gomery planted some bulbs, and to mark the place where she had planted each one, she broke off some switches from a nearby bush and made stakes. Do you know, not only the bulbs came up and grew, but some of the stakes took root and grew, too.

To Arthur and Beryl, Boyd and Elizabeth we all want to express our deepest sympathy for your great loss. But really. 'Gomerv's death is such a loss to us all, that we extend our sympathy to everyone in Paint Creek. Whether she was "Ollie" ether she was "Ollie," your sister or sister-in law or close friend, or "Miss Ollie." your former school teacher, or Montgomery". friend at the Methodist Church, or just 'Gomery, your dear neighbor and close friend of your children, may we extend to you our sympathy, because

Bergman Stars In "Inn of Sixth Happiness"

The human drama of one courageous woman played against a lush, semi-barbaric Oriental backdrop is combined with romance, violence and mysticism in Buddy Aler's CinemaScope color production of "The Inn of the Sixth Happi-ness" coming Sunday, April 26. to the Texas Theatre.

With an international starring cast, capped by Ingrid Bergman, Curt Jurgens and the late Robert Donat, it is the largest film ever produced in England.

Directed by Mark Robson of "Peyton Place" fame, the picture tells the story of Gladys Aylward, an English woman who traveled to China, alone and without friends or outside help, at its most turbulent modern period to work as missionary.

Told in the spiritual, dedicated and most exciting terms as Miss Aylward lived it, the film casts Miss Bergman in this real-life role

At one point in the picture, which is based on the novel, "The Small Woman," by Alan Burgess and was scripted by Isobel Lennart, Miss Bergman asks an aged woman missionary "What is the sixth happiness?" She answers, "Each must find it himself." This picture goes a long way toward satisfying that individual

Grass Seeding Is Helped By Litter Cover Crop

Poor seed bed preparation has been the cause of grass seeding failures much more often than has the lack of rain, according to Travis W Herring, local Soil Conservation Service technician. When a young grass plant is becoming established, it is tender and succulent and about the size of a straight pin. Sand blowing across the ground surface will destroy it the same as a lawn mower. The sun will blister small grass seedlings and even a hard rain will wash out the young root system.

In seeding cultivated land, waterways, spillways or other eroded areas, a dead litter cover crop should be established the year before. Sorghums, annual sudan grass, or millet may be used to obtain this cover, according to Herring. The seeding may either be done in early summer with the expectation of taking one or more crops of hay, or in late summer at a time when the crop will not produce mature seed before frost. In any event, Herring emphasized, mature seed should not be allowed to form and shatter, because of competition from volunteer plants the next spring. The objective of planting a crop for dead litter cover is to leave the field at the end of the growing season with a good ground cover of litter and standing cover from six eight inches high.

stubble mulch cover without pre-cultivation of any sort. This seed bed reduces rapid surface evaporation, prevents soil blowing, surface crusting, guards young plants against wind damage.

W. L. Holt, Wichita Brazos Soil Conservation District Cooperator, is carrying out this practice on his farm two miles south of Mattson. Holt intends to sow his newly constructed waterway with annual sudan grass and follow next spring with sideoats grama.

Raymond Denson of Rule, a cooperator with the California Creek Soil Conservation District, plans to sow annual sugrass this summer for dead litter cover in which to seed a pure stand of Blackwell switch grass next spring on a field he is taking out of cultivation for improvement pur-

Views Of Sweden Shown At Lions Club Meeting

Payne Hattox, Church Christ minister who recently returned to the U.S. after spending two years in Sweden doing mission work for the church, was guest speaker at the weekly meeting and lunch-eon of the Lions Club Tuesday at noon.

Hattox, former businessman here, showed a series of colored slides accumulated during his two years in Sweden along

He related that he and his family went by plane from Dallas to New York City, then by boat to Gothenberg, Sweden. Pictures of the harbor in Gothenberg were shown, and of a Lutheran Church which is the state church of Sweden and is tax-supported. Other scenes included an open air market, where flowers are sold the year around, even in 20 below temperature in winter. One interesting scene was of the King's Palace, a structure containing 600 rooms and 40 kitchens.

Hattox gave many interesting facts about Sweden, its climate and customs. A favorite sport is skiing, and he showed a ski jump approximately 40 feet high where the skier travels a distance of 170 feet or more in making a jump.

Harold Spain was program chairman for the day and introduced the guest speaker.
