Commissioners Not Interested In Park-Plant Road

The need for all-weather roads in all sections of Haskell County has long been recognized as among the most important matters facing taxpayers and the county officials responsible for building and maintaining an adequate system of roads.

This fact has been generally accepted and commendable progress has been made in recent years on improving and building some of the most-needed roads.

This is true with one exception, and this single exception presents a puzzling situation, a situation difficult to understand, much less justify.

We have in mind the proposed all-weather road which would serve Scott Memorial Park, a school bus and rural mail route, and also extend to within a short distance of WTU'S Paint Creek Power Plant, where 31 men, all residents of Haskell, except two who reside at the plant, are employed.

With completion of the power plant some six years ago, and improvements made at Scott Memorial Park at that time, the road serving the plant and adjacent park has become one of the heaviest traveled and most important stretches of road in the county.

When need for the road became increasingly apparent five years ago, Haskell business men and local civic groups, including the Chamber of Commerce urged the Commissioners Court to make provision for building an all-weather road to serve that area.

It was pointed out at that time that the proposed stretch of road should not be considered merely as a precinct project, since it would serve and benefit people from all sections of the county, as well as hundreds of out-of-county visitors representing a considerable source of revenue to local business concerns.

It was further pointed out that the improved road would also be an asset to Scott Memorial Park, in which the county had invested more than $30,000 in improvements—money coming from all four precincts of the county.

In the five years which have passed since the project was first presented, civic groups have met with the Commissioners Court on a number of occasions to urge consideration and action on the road.

Despite these repeated presentations, the Commissioners Court has never seen fit to make any definite commitment on the project, to our knowledge.

At the most recent meeting of this nature, the Court took the position that it was a matter for the State Highway Department, that the proposed stretch should be built as a Farm-to-Market project. Still, the Court declined to go on record as recommending the project to the Highway Department.

On the other hand, earlier this year, meeting with representatives from Stamford, the Court readily agreed to cooperate to the fullest extent in building a stretch of road in Haskell County leading to Stamford State Park.

This latter road is a needed and deserving project, but in our opinion is of lesser importance and will not serve anything like the traffic which has already developed on the unimproved road now serving Scott Memorial Park, a school bus and rural mail route, and the power plant employees.

In view of these facts, it appears reasonable to assume that the Commissioners Court is not interested in any further improvement of an all-weather road to the park and plant area which would serve Haskell and at the same time enhance the county's $30,000 investment in Scott Memorial Park.

Such an attitude on the part of the Court is difficult to understand, more especially since the road project has the endorsement of taxpayers and residents in all precincts of the county.

SHERM ADAMS KNOWS EVERYTHING EXCEPT RULES AND REGULATIONS

(The Houston Chronicle)

Sherman Adams protests "I am ignorant of the rules and regulations of the commission."

An odd admission for the presidential assistant to make. After all the notoriety concerning use of official influence and official corruption in the Truman regime, one would think that the man nearest the President would know what is proper and what is improper regarding his relations with the Federal Trade Commission.

Adams never did anything to dispel the legend that has been built up regarding him, that he "knows everything." He has been too busy to talk with newspapermen, but not too busy to put in a word for a friend.

He protests, in effect, that he was not "putting in a word" when he spoke to the FTC.

He did not intend to use influence.

His friend Bernard Goldfine was having his troubles with federal agencies. Adams made several contacts at Goldfine's request.

Adams says, "There is no call of mine, no appointment that I have ever requested to be made, or any inquiry that has ever been made by me . . . that has ever been intended to be made to effect the decision of any official in the government of the United States."

A call from a White House telephone, or a note on White House stationery, is not likely to hurt anybody having trouble with the government.

Adams says he doesn't know that it helps any, either. He did admit that he might have lacked "prudence."

How naive can one be?

Goldfine paid Adams' hotel bills—something more than $2,000.

Put then, he's an old friend.

Adams doesn't know much about influence. He doesn't know "the rules and regulations." It appears however, that he knows enough to be an assistant president. His boss, President Eisenhower, says he was imprudent but "I need him."

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS

By A. PATE

Officers and members of the Weiner Study Club can be complimented for promoting a successful community event that would have been a credit to any town in this section.

The event was a political rally held in Weiner Saturday night, when hundreds of people present along with candidates for office ranging from precinct to district judge and state representative, enjoyed themselves immensely in the near-est thing to an old-time community picnic we've seen in a long time.

In fact, in the words of some of our veteran retired "politicians"—Chas. Conner, Courtney Hunt, Ed Fouts, and others—the sponsors of the rally simply turned back the calendar a couple of decades and duplicated some of the pre-war political rallies for which Haskell County was noted.

For most candidates, the role of public speaker was a new experience, one which they faced with understandable nervousness. But once they got the swing of the program, every candidate facing the "mike" made an excellent talk. Probably expressing the feeling of most of the candidates, was one office-seeker who frankly told the audience "I'm scared to death" then went on to present his claims in a manner that would have done credit to a professional speaker.

A large share of the credit for the success of the rally goes to Mrs. Myrtle Phemister, president of the Weiner Study Club, Mrs. Dorcas Walker, rally chairman, and Mrs. Wanda Vojtkurk, capable and efficient master of ceremonies for the evening's program.

As a climax to the enjoyable program, Thos. B. Roberson officiated in the role of auctioneer for several cakes and pies baked by club members. The delicacies found ready takers at profitable bids—set by the auctioneer. Closing the evening's sale, Auctioneer Roberson and County Judge Alf Turnbow consumed a $10 pie purchased by two members of the audience with the stipulation that it be eaten within three minutes with time. It was a pushover, with only 65 seconds elapsing until the last morsel had disappeared.

Missed out on what could have developed into a sensational story last week, and on second thought we're glad it didn't turn out as it looked like it might for a time.

Seemed as if this fellow had had quite a session with a bottle and came home out of sorts. A family squabble ensued and a ruckus developed between man and wife. The spouse picked up a knife and in a brief struggle the man ended up with a wound near his heart.

The man got in his car and drove to a filling station where his plight was discovered and he was rushed to the hospital. Officers learned of the occurrence and investigated, bringing the facts to light substantially as above.

A complaint was filed against the wife, for referral to the Grand Jury. Since the man is recovering with no serious injury resulting, the matter is probably ended with the exception of a routine investigation by the Grand Jury.

The question as to whether fishermen or the public have paramount rights in using a bridge on a public road has apparently been dumped into the lap of our neighboring town of Stamford.

The bridge across the upper end of the lake is a favorite fishing spot—so popular at times that the bridge is blocked to traffic.

Numerous complaints to the sheriff's department and combated by club members. The being made to stop the practice of fishing from the bridge. All were unsuccessful.

Last week, commissioners court asked Stamford to do something about the problem, pointing out that the bridge was inside the area annexed by Stamford.

That being the case, maintenance of the bridge and upkeep of the approaches and a causeway will also devolve upon Stamford, it appears.

At any rate, farmers and ranchers using the road are hoping that Stamford can do something about the problem.

The bridge is on a rural mail route, but that makes little difference to fishermen. In fact, only last week an irate fisherman threatened to file a complaint for speeding against "Skeet" Miller, substitute carrier on the mail route. Claimed the carrier drove the bridge at an excessive speed. Probably the fisherman to blame because the threatened action has not yet been filed.

News From the Congress

By Congressman Frank Hard

Mrs. M. L. McCain, Melvin Michael, Linda are here visiting with their parents, Mr. L. McCain.

Elimination of the 3% excise tax on transportation of freight was finally approved last week by both Houses in Congress after a Conference Committee filed a report calling for the outright repeal of the wartime levy. The public generally should feel the indirect benefit of this action in that this tax was levied on all shipments, and as a result, all consumers paid this hidden tariff. Also, the transportation industry should benefit in that it has been estimated that the tax was equivalent to the profits made by the common carriers in this country. The repeal of this tax becomes effective Aug. 1. Efforts were made to remove the tax on passenger fares as well as some of the other excises.

The House last week defeated an attempt on the part of the Agriculture Committee to call up for consideration the new Omnibus Farm Bill. The refusal of the House to even debate the farm program in all probability means that there will be no general agricultural legislation during this session of Congress. No one can question the acute need for a complete overhauling of the farm program. Unfortunately, however, this question has become charged with politics. Also, different commodity groups continue to fight each other. Until the time comes that this whole question can be viewed objectively, there is little chance that there will much accomplished. It now appears that there is about an even chance that the Forty-Ninth State will be added to the Union as the Senate continues this week with its consideration of the Alaska Statehood Bill. This measure has previously passed the House.

The present situation in Lebanon in many ways parallels the Korean crisis of 1950. It is apparent that Nasser intends by use of whatever means necessary to dominate the entire Middle East and to reduce every other Arab State to a satellite of Egypt. It is also evident that Russia intends to help accomplish this. If the U. N.'s efforts to achieve the settlement of the Lebanon crisis fails then anything could happen in this area.

Visitors from home this week were Fred Nuckles, R. R. Coker, Jim Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Wagner, Russell J. Henry, and Alfred J. Egerton, all of Wichita Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, Stanley Smith, and Kenneth Smith of Gainesville.

REX FELKER IS VISITOR WEDNESDAY

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Everyone loves a picnic. And this is the picnic season! Some outdoor lovers are content to make it a twosome. Hundreds of families make it strictly a family affair. Also there are some mighty big Texas-size picnics—when as many as a dozen families get together to make a full day of it.

Whether you prefer a private party or a huge crowd, the time for fullest enjoyment of the great outdoors in Texas has arrived. Tie it in with boating, skiing or fishing and it will be even more enjoyable.

For outdoor fun at its best take along a tent and camping gear and make it a real week end of honest-to-goodness relaxation. Thousands of Texans discovered long ago that camping is an exciting economical way to spend an enjoyable vacation. So, don't overlook the possibilities of several days or even weeks of camping out under the Texas skies.

Texas has 49 State Parks of which 32 have camping facilities. There are hundreds of lakes and rivers plus the magnificent Golden Gulf Coast. Add to these attractions the beautiful forests of East Texas and the beautiful mountains of West Texas... and the Longhorn State seems to possess most everything. All tempt the tourist, the camper, and the picnic lover.

No wonder the interest in our great outdoors is on the increase. It is there to be enjoyed—and our people are enjoying it.

Try it yourself at your next opportunity.

Picnics Made Easy—Dehydrated foods are making it easier on the outdoors people. These packaged products have proven very helpful to the picnickers and overnight campers who have their own camp stoves.

Quick-fix drinks, soups, and milk are mighty handy for the camper. Nowadays you can get "instant" tea, coffee, cocoa, milk and malted milk. Almost any kind of soup is available. Texas' own Lipton Tea Co. of Galveston produces a wide variety of soups in envelopes of 2 and 4 oz. weights that will serve up to four people per envelope. All you have to do is add water and heat to a boiling point.

Today nearly any grocer can supply you with instant mashed potatoes, instant rice, etc. Ketchup, jellies and jams also are available in space saving plastic envelopes. In fact new foods or old foods in new packages—ideal for campers—are coming on the market almost every week.

To add further pleasure and convenience to your picnic the Coleman Co. now has a Pak-Table—a folding picnic table that's truly remarkable. When the table is collapsed it measures only about three feet square by a few inches thick. Yet it contains four folding seats and enough space to stow cooking utensils, tableware and groceries. Furthermore it makes a very attractive package.

Coleman also has a new cooler, the Snow-Lite. It comes in flashy pink or green. The cooler is light weight and rugged. Although it is designed primarily to keep drinks and food cool Coleman has a good suggestion for fishermen. Their recommendation is that fish be cleaned and iced just as fast as they are caught.

All that is necessary is for fishermen to place a layer of ice in the bottom of the cooler, then take the cooler along with him in the boat. As he catches fish, he simply cuts around the gill collars and down the belly, twists off the head, rinses the stomach cavity and pops the cleaned fish into the cooler. No trouble no spoiled fish, and half the cleaning all, off the fish, much like you skin a catfish. Much quicker, much easier than scraping off the scales, he says, and better eating too. Ever try it?

Water Sports Fun But Sometimes Dangerous

Texans own a lot of pleasure boats—286,000 in 1935—and their interest in water sports continues to increase, reports Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist. Each year about 10,000 new fishing licenses are bought by fishermen in the State and crowds continue to grow at popular lake, river and seashore spots.

But, warns Cooper, fun and enjoyment can end in disaster as it did last year for 293 Texans who were drowning victims. This needless loss of life can be prevented, points the specialist, if water sport participants would only observe the rules of water safety.

Learn to swim. It is a good sport and may save your life. But Cooper advises swimming with another person and in a safe place. Know the area where you intend to swim and before diving make sure the water is deep enough and that no hidden objects such as submerged rocks are present.

Respect the water and don't try to perform beyond your own limitations. Water can be a deadly enemy or a friend. Try to remain calm should you experience trouble while in the water. Don't swim immediately after eating or when overheated or tired and always keep safety equipment available, Cooper cautions.

It is wise to wear a life vest when riding in a small boat. Most small crafts will float even when filled with water or overturned.

Finally Cooper advises against overpowering a boat. Motors too powerful make a boat hard to control and may cause upsets or other accidents.

Stamford Sets Regulations on Lake Activities

An ordinance setting up regulations governing various activities at Lake Stamford on Paint Creek, and providing for an officer to patrol the lake, has been passed by the Stamford City Council. The ordinance became effective June 27, according to an emergency clause contained in the statute.

Complete text of the ordinance will be published in book form for distribution to lake users, a news story in the Stamford American last week stated.

Under terms of the ordinance, a license will be required to operate boats on the lake and operation of fishing docks and similar structures will be controlled.

Among other provisions is one that says all persons who use the lake do so at their own risk. The ordinance also regulates fishing, provides sanitary regulations, provides for certain restricted areas, makes it unlawful to destroy property, prohibits hunting and the discharge of firearms, regulates camping, and provides that children of 12 and under must be accompanied by parents.

The ordinance requires obedience to the lake officer and provides that a fine of as much as $200 may be assessed.

Heretofore, the lake, which is in Haskell County, has been governed by state laws and has been supervised by game wardens and by members of the Haskell County Sheriff's department.

By means of "stem" annexation—the city limits going down the water line to the lake—the lake is part of the City of Stamford, the ordinance sets out.

Presumably, violations of the ordinance will be prosecuted in Stamford City Court, despite the fact that any offense alleged would be committed in Haskell County.

Texas DPS Predicts 28 Traffic Deaths During July 4th Weekend

The Texas Department of Public Safety issued a reminder to Texas motorists today that the gaily celebrated 4th of July normally carries with it a tragic thing called highway death. In doing so the DPS predicted 28 motorcides will occur in this forthcoming 3-day holiday.

The department's Operation Deathwatch covering all forms of violent death will be held from 12:01 a. m. July 4 through 11:59 p. m. July 6. This includes the full July 4th weekend.

In making this announcement, Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said that an intense effort will be made throughout the state by enforcement officers under his command to make our highways safe for the Fourth of July drivers.

"We will make every available effort to remove the dangerous driver from our highways. Patrolmen in three of this department's law enforcement services—Highway Patrol, License and Weight and Motor Vehicle Inspection—will use every available enforcement aid to apprehend the accident-prone driver.

"These patrolmen would appreciate your help during this high accident period. We ask that you drive safely; don't drive too fast or too long, and follow our traffic laws to the letter. Your help in driving correctly and safely will be the best deterrent to traffic accidents."

The prediction of 28 motorcides for the three-day period came from N. K. Woerner, DPS statistician, who originated the idea of estimating the state's holiday death toll in 1940. The veteran statistician, who very closely predicts holiday motorcides, said the all-high toll for a 3-day July 4th was in 1954 when 33 persons were killed in 26 fatal accidents. Twenty-eight were killed in a similar three-day period in 1953, and 29 died during

Cattle Steady To Stronger at Fort Worth

By Ted Gouldy

Cattle trade was active and prices were generally fully steady at Fort Worth Monday. Fat steers and yearlings were highly uneven, as some buyers showed little interest in the offering at current prices. However, the few lots that were on hand cleared without mishap.

Cows and bulls were active, and stocker and feeder classes of cattle and calves again enjoyed very broad demand. Choice fat calves were in small supply.

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings cashed at $24 to $27, and common to medium sorts cashed at $16 to $23. Some pasture fed steers cashed at $25 and $26.25.

Good and choice slaughter calves cleared at $24 to $27.50, a few higher. Common and medium grades sold from $17.50 to $24. Culls drew $14 to $17.

Medium and stocker steer calves cashed at $24 to $30 and a few steer calves of lighter weights sold to $32. Stocker heifer calves of medium to good grades sold from $23 to $29. Medium to good stocker and feeder steers cashed at $22 to $26, and commoner quality sold from $18 to $21. Stocker heifers ranged from $23 downward.

Hogs were steady and choice butchers cashed at $24.45 to $24.50. Medium to good hogs cashed at $22 to $24. Sows sold mostly from $19 to $21.

Missionaries To Israel Speak at Paint Creek

On Sunday, June 29, Rev. and Mrs. Herman Petty and three children, missionaries who have just returned from five years of service in Nazareth, Israel, spoke at the Paint Creek Baptist Church.

Using for his text Romans 10:1-15, Rev. Petty brought the message, telling of their work there and of the need of more missionary workers in Israel. At the evening service Mrs. Petty spoke briefly, and the children sang songs and told Bible stories in the Arabic language. They also showed films of their work in Israel, which were very interesting.

Western Winds Motel Opens. The Western Winds Motel in Rule, owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Davis, opened recently and is holding open house for the public on Sunday afternoon, July 6, from 4 until 6. Everyone is invited to attend.

The modern motel is white stucco with yellow trim. There are eleven rental units, an office, and managers apartment consisting of a living room, two bedrooms, kitchen and bath. There is Frigidaire air conditioning and vented heat. The units are furnished in modern formica furniture with wall to wall carpeting. Blackwell Hotel innerspring mattresses and box springs are used throughout.

There are seven tile bathrooms with shower or tub. Units can be rented with either single or double beds, or with two bedrooms sharing the bath for groups. Television will soon be available for the units.

The motel is located on Highway 24 going west. It is the first motel in Rule. It can serve a large territory of travelers on Highway 24, since it is the only one on this highway for a long distance.

Spot Treat Gives Cheapest Method Of Grass Control

The newest, easiest, cheapest and most effective way to control Johnson grass in row crops is to spot treat with oils or dalapon, according to Fred Elliott, extension cotton work specialist.

Many naphtha oils and oil mixtures are satisfactory for the crown treatment of established Johnson grass, while dalapon may be applied to the foliage and terminal swirl, says Elliott. Naphtha may be used for cool weather treatment but a 50-50 mixture of naphtha with kerosene or diesel is recommended in hot weather.

Oil-soluble dinitro and other proven fertilizers can be added to diesel fuel oil or kerosene according to the manufacturer's directions to increase the effectiveness of these oils. Diesel fuel oil or kerosene fortified with 1% pentachlorophenol by vilume is usually as effective in killing Johnson grass as the naphtha-type oils used alone.

Several kinds of sprayers may be used to apply these oils, points out Elliott. The Texas gravity sprayer is best suited for crown treatment of 6 inch Johnson grass sprouts in crops when a free-lowing oil is used.

The Texas slidegun is for coarse work such as the non-selective spraying of thick strands of Johnson grass in spots sparse enough for the crop in the spot to be sacrificed.

The Texas jetgun permits efficient, economical and selective treatment of sprouts in row crops with either oil or water sprays. It is a squirt gun and works like a water pistol. It can be used to hit a target in size from a dime to a dinner plate.

County agents have full information on spot oiling Johnson grass, the materials and equipment to use and where they can be obtained.

Need A Warden? 204 Now Patrol 1,292 Miles Each

Austin—Enforcement of Texas game and fish laws now is in the hands of 204 officers, the largest number on record, according to the director of Law Enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

The number was jumped recently when 21 new men completed the Warden School at A&M College. They now have taken up their assignments, wearing new green uniforms with yellow shoulder patches.

There are 12 supervisors and 192 game wardens. This means that if every warden had an equal amount of Texas to patrol, he would be responsible for 1,292 square mile area. Actually the wardens are assigned on smaller or larger areas in relation to law enforcement needs.

The addition of the salt water fishing license, effective this year for the first time, has increased the responsibilities of patrolling the state's coastal waters. At present there are 20 men employed as boatmates to assist in this coastal law enforcement.

"While we are recognized as the enforcement division, the men of this department are more interested in educational work than in making arrests," director said. "Wildlife is of no value when it is destroyed, even though violators are arrested. If we can prevent violations we've done a better job."

WEEKEND VISITORS

Diane Clare, who is working on a Master's degree at the University of Texas, and Temple Williams, who is doing summer work in Breckenridge Hospital, Austin, spent the weekend here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jetty V. Williams and Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Williams.

Weed Control In Pastures Title New Publication

Weed control is essential for best returns from productive pastures and meadows.

Weeds often reduce pasture yields by as much as 50%. They reduce pasture and hay yields by competing with the desirable plants for plant nutrients, moisture and light. They lower hay quality, harbor insects and diseases and increase labor and equipment costs.

This problem is the theme of a bulletin just released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. It is entitled "Weed Control in Texas Pastures."

The bulletin points out that weed control, under certain conditions which are listed, is not profitable. Chemical and mechanical control is not a substitute for proper fertilization and management of adapted plants and is temporary if proper maintenance is not followed.

The best weed control is through weed prevention, says the bulletin. Weeds are a minor problem in good stands of adapted grasses that are fertilized as needed and properly grazed or utilized.

Anyone confronted with this problem will find much valuable information in this 19-page publication. It contains a section on prevention as well as thorough discussions of mechanical and chemical control. It may be obtained from local county agricultural agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for B-892.

MRS. TROY ASH CANDIDATE FOR DISTRICT CLERK HASKELL COUNTY

I have had some people tell me they had heard of me for a long time but never knew me. So I thought if I missed seeing any of you personally, perhaps it would help to see my picture.

I was born in Palo Pinto County, Texas in 1905 and moved to Throckmorton County with my family in 1916. I received my high school education at Throckmorton.

I married Troy Ash in 1922. We had a family of three children, two boys and one girl—moved to Haskell County in 1933 where we were engaged in farming. I was supervisor of a lunch room at Mattson School for five years, taught music and was a substitute teacher there part time.

In 1941 our youngest son, John E., was killed in a tractor accident. Our oldest son, Troy Jr., was called to service in 1944 and was killed in Germany in 1945. We only have our daughter, Delight Jones and grandson, Eddie Harris, now.

We moved to Haskell in 1951. I was employed at Hassen's for about one year and have been employed by Biard's Cleaners for the past five years.

I am a member of the First Baptist Church, member of the Haskell Quartette and have been pianist for the Business Men's Sunday School Class since 1951.

I hope you will see fit to vote in my behalf. If I am elected, I will serve you to the best of my ability.

Thank you,

MRS. TROY ASH

NOTICE!

The cooperation of all Haskell citizens is requested in a water conservation program during the summer months.

There is ample water for all domestic and industrial needs. However, the supply available from city wells is only slightly above the maximum amount now being used, making it imperative that any wasteful use of water be prevented.

Water customers are encouraged to use all water needed for domestic purposes, gardens, lawns, shrubbery, etc., but to prevent all waste possible.

With the cooperation of all our citizens in a water conservation program, we believe that an adequate supply will be available to meet all normal needs.

Leaflet Tells How to Control Insects

Insect activity usually increases as the weather becomes warmer. Flies, ants, mosquitoes, moths and other insects endanger health, feed on fabrics, contaminate food and are general nuisances. Up-to-date control measures are needed to fight these insects.

A leaflet compiled by extension entomologists offer directions for choosing and applying insecticides. The bulletin, "Texas Guide for Controlling Household Insects," classifies all major pests except the termite into specific categories relating to type of damage. Insects are illustrated for easy identification, and concise control measures are given for each insect. Also listed are some important cautions to observe in using insecticides.

Copies of the "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects" are available from your county extension agent's office.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

BY VERN SANFORD

Texas Pross Association Austin, Texas—Texas has a fairly new addition to its long and much-wanted list of "firsts" and "mosts." But this one's no fun to brag about. Texas has the greatest number of designated potential enemy bomb targets of any state in the union, says State Defense Coordinator William L. McGill.

This, added to Texas' long-standing record of leading the nation in natural disasters, puts a heavy responsibility for defense preparedness on Texans. McGill told the annual State Defense Advisory Council conference in Austin.

Officially designated "aiming areas," as they are called, Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Austin, San Antonio, Galveston, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Amarillo, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Laredo, Lubbock, San Angelo, Waco and Wichita Falls.

Others considered possible targets because of nearby military installations are Abilene, Beeville, Big Spring, Brownsville, Bryan, Dalhart, Del Rio, Killeen, Marfa, Pecos, Pyote, Sherman, Victoria and Wink.

Texas has received a $20,000 federal grant, conferees were told, to draw up a state survival plan. Several larger city plans are complete, and the state plan, a massive and complex thing affecting the lives of millions, is due to be finished by Dec. 31.

Rural residents cannot feel themselves invulnerable, the Council was told. In case of a large-scale bombing, it is felt likely that radioactive fallout would cover most of our terrain, contaminating crops, cattle, pasturage and ponds.

Under the present national civil defense plan, considerable responsibility for a dv a n c e training and preparation rests with the individual family. Each would be responsible for feeding itself for the first two weeks, and after that, if necessary, the federal government would step in.

Persons or organizations who wish to obtain official civil defense information and study materials may write the State Defense and Disaster Relief Office, Capitol Station, Austin. Price Ads OK Again—It's a rare reversal of one of its own rulings, the Texas Supreme Court has held it is not unlawful for optometrists to advertise the prices of their eyeglasses.

Last spring the court upheld a temporary injunction issued by a Beaumont court prohibiting Lee Optical Co. and others from advertising prices. Suit was brought by a competitor, Texas State Optical.

At issue was how to interpret a law passed by the legislature in 1957 barring optometrists from advertising that is "fraudulent, deceitful, misleading... including statements of bait, discount, premiums, price gifts."

In its more recent ruling the court decided, 7 to 1, that the apparent legislative intent, or sense of the thing, is only to prohibit price advertising that is false or misleading.

Effect of this is to knock out the injunction against Lee Optical.

Hot Potato—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson is being asked to give an official ruling on a highly controversial question. It is whether Texas, under present law, can accept additional federal funds to extend the period of unemployment payments. Texas Employment Commission and Gov. Price Daniel are asking for the opinion.

Pros and cons already have been the subject of heated discussion. A recently passed federal law would allocate to the state, funds to provide an additional 12 weeks of $14-a-week payments to persons who had already come to the end of their 24-week benefit period. An estimated 60,000 Texans are in this category.

But, to receive the money, the state must repay the funds to the federal government. If it doesn't get the money by some other means, such as normal accumulation during high employment periods, it would be pledged to raise the tax on employers after Jan. 1, 1963. Some argue that this would violate the constitutional prohibition against pledging the state's credit. Others say there is no obstacle since the state merely serves as a collecting and disbursing agent for the federal government, with no state money involved.

Spokesmen for organized labor have strongly urged that Texas enter into an agreement to receive the extra money.

Free Rides Eyed—State Auditor C. H. Cavness, watchdog of departmental spending practices, has questioned use of railroad and bus passes by employees of the Railroad Commission.

Commission chairman, Olin Culberson declared the passes were used only for official business. Use of passes for state business is specifically authorized by law for certain commission employees.

Cavness noted that 30 employees had passes and that some apparently had not traveled on state business during the past year. He said he felt it violated the new code of ethics law which prohibits a state employee's using his official position to receive special privileges.

Home Accidents Take Big Toll Each Year

The pattern is pretty much the same:

The time—July or December. The place—the home. Or, more specifically, the bedroom. The victim—someone 65 years of age or older.

Yes, that's usually the story of home deaths from falls, which take about 14,000 lives annually and rank second only to traffic as an accidental killer.

National Safety Council statistics show that about 3 out of 4 persons killed in falls are 65 or older, and that more than 3 out of 4 falls occur in the home. More falls occur in July and December than any other time of the year.

Of the fatal falls occurring inside the house, more than half happen in the bedroom. Next most dangerous spots? The living-dining room, kitchen, stairs and bathroom, in that order.

Why is the bedroom such a booby trap?

For many reasons, the Council says. One of the most important, of course, is the time spent there by young children and older people, some of them infirm and ill. Also, bedrooms are most often used during dark hours, and lighting isn't always what it should be.

Another reason people fall so often in bedrooms is because of the throw-rugs—a lethal weapon if unanchored. "The ideal spot for a throw rug is right beside the bed—if you want an accident," the Council says.

How to remove the hazard? "Sew fruit jar rings on the underside of the rug, or use tape you can buy for the purpose."

A handy bed lamp will help cut down on the night-time toll from falls, too, the Council advises.

Other tips: 1. Light stairs and steps, keep them uncluttered. 2. Fasten window screens securely. Use guards on windows with low ledges. 3. Use a nonslip rubber mat on the bottom of your bathtub or shower. Tubs or showers are slippery—and hard! Also, provide a vertical grab bar on the wall. 4. Keep ladders repaired, place them and use them properly. Avoid reaching and makeshift substitutes. Sit in chairs—don't climb on them, the Council says.

A jaguar is a large American spotted cat resembling the leopard.

Poisons Create Home Hazard to Children

Mrs. Housewife—there's a killer in your home! But you don't need weapons to defend yourself, the National Safety Council says. Just common sense and a lot of caution.

The killer? Poisons. They lurk everywhere—in the medicine cabinet, under the kitchen sink, on dressing tables. You'll even find them on food shelves, in the workshop, and in your cleaning closet.

These camouflaged killers in the home, the Council points out, take more than 1,000 lives annually. They take a steady toll throughout the year—about 120 lives a month.

Most frequent victims are children 5 years of age or younger. But right up there as home poison victims are persons in the 25-44 and 45-64 age groups.

The types of accidental poisoners are as varied as the containers they come in—bleach, permanent wave solution, shampoo, nail polish remover, furniture polish, art supplies, bug killers, paint removers.

Regardless of the killer, in just about every instance there is an accomplice to the crime—carelessness or ignorance.

For example, some potential poisoners are properly labeled—but a lot are not. Doctors are not always sure if a product is poisonous. And some ingredients, harmless to most persons, can kill others—especially children.

In many instances, the killer is an otherwise harmless object—aspirin, for example. About 1 out of 5 children treated for accidental poisoning in a recent year had swallowed aspirin, the Council reports.

Kerosene is a troublesome household commonplace, especially in rural areas and in the South.

Old houses, too, can be booby traps for children. Tots can be poisoned by peeling paint on window sills and frames, or by crumbling plaster. Each can cause lead poisoning.

The way to prevent poisoning: 1. "Education," the Council says. "Parents should be made aware of the dangers lurking in their homes."

2. Stricter state and federal laws. "Ingredients should be listed on bottles or cans containing poisonous substances—even products valuable to our everyday living."

Best way, though, is to prevent the poisoning, the Council says. How?

By following these rules: (1) Store medicines out of reach of children, (2) Don't put poisons near food—it's too easy to confuse the two, (3) Don't take medicine in the dark, (4) Keep poisonous substances out of soft drink bottles, used jelly jars, or pans, for example, and (5) Have a locked poison compartment in your home.
