

Public School Week Program March 7

Public School Week will be observed in the Stratford Schools during the week of March 6 to 10. Observance of the week will be highlighted with a program to be held at the school Tuesday, March 7.

The public schools weeks program will be opened with a smorgasbord supper which will be served in the school cafeteria from 5:30 to 7:30 p. m. Other plans include a band concert and hours for visiting the classrooms where work of the students will be placed on display.

The smorgasbord supper is sponsored as the only fund raising project of the high school band. The proceeds are used to secure band jackets, awards, and pay the expense of over night trips which are taken by the band.

Last year the Stratford High School Elk band was recognized as an outstanding class C concert band. The class C division is composed of bands with a membership of 86 to 100. They won second place honors in sightreading and parade marching.

Public School Week has been established to allow patrons to become better acquainted with the public school system by visiting the school and observing the work of the students.

The need of public schools never changes. Times and conditions may often make it necessary for a change in the methods and practices used in public education. This is a natural condition for growth is the result of gradual changes.

Texas public schools were created 107 years ago. In 1854 the first law was passed which established the public schools.

It is a healthy thing in the democratic way of life to have an intelligent understanding of the important functions of all basic institutions. This is especially true of the schools. Initiative, resourcefulness, wisdom and leadership that the schools are instilling in the youth of today are the answers to the problems of citizenship in the years ahead.

"Bring me men to match my mountains," is the need of today and must come from the public schools.

The public school is a training ground for responsible citizens of the future. Learn the technique of training by visiting a school during Public Schools Week, March 6 through 10.

Ullom Family In Car Wreck Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ullom and daughters of Canadian narrowly escaped serious injury in a car-truck wreck about 4 miles from Pampa Saturday morning. The Ullom car was sideswiped by a truck as they were driving to Canyon to attend a teachers meeting.

According to Mrs. I. D. Divine, Jimmie Kay's grandmother, the girls eye was not seriously injured and she was able to see well enough to continue her studies Sunday.

Construction Has Started On City Paving

Cooper and Woodruff moved their grading equipment to the 1.25 mile of street along the northern edge of Stratford Wednesday. They have completed most of the grade on the 11 mile Beaver road to the Oklahoma line.

Approximately 63 blocks of city streets in addition to Fifth Street, and the streets along the north and south edges of Stratford, are to be paved with a 14-foot width of paving in the center of the streets with a road district bond issue.

Citizens along the paving route have been given an opportunity to secure the six feet of additional paving which would extend the pavement to the curbs along their property lines at their own expense.

On blocks where the concrete curbing has already been installed, the six foot paving extension to the property line may be secured for 75¢ a running foot. Where both curb and gutter must be installed, the cost is $2.40 a linear foot.

City Secretary Dan Foreman said Wednesday that the construction company had not promised to take orders for additional paving orders after February 28. He said however, that the city council would continue to accept the paving orders as long as Cooper and Woodruff would accept them.

What About Being 'Chubby'?

By C. D. Smith

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I haven't always read your articles in the paper, but one of your recent columns set me to thinking. I am what people call "chubby." I'm not really fat, but I do have troubles in trying to learn just how to handle my difficulty. Believe it or not, I like boys, and yet they seem as though I don't exist. I've tried a diet, but it never worked. Someone is always laughing at me. It gets very tiresome, of course, but just what can I do to get boys to like me?"

OUR ANSWER: A "chubby" girl has two choices; neither is easy, but things worth having seldom come without effort. She can (1) lose the extra poundage or (2) learn to live with it. In the matter of going on a diet, it is wise to consult the family doctor. He can set up an eating and exercise regimen that will bring about weight reduction in a safe and healthy manner. Some "dieters" cut out sweets and eliminate starches and consider themselves on a diet. They are not, at all; they are just passing up foods which they consider fattening. A good self-prescribed diet is the one which follows the rule about "leaving the table hungry." The theory here is that, if you eat until you don't want another bite, you have actually eaten more than enough to meet your body's requirements. But, in the opinion of this corner, a person should never undertake any kind of a diet without first consulting a physician.

Learning to live with "chubbiness" is the tough way—but it can be done. The individual has to remember it and forget it at the same time. Confusing? Sure. But, simply stated, it means the individual must adopt this attitude, "O.K., so I'm chubby. I'm not going to worry about it at all. I'm going to develop my personality and make new friends just the same."

Rep. Buchanan

has been running in an air of controversy as long debates have been taking place, particularly in the committees on Taxation and Revenue and on Constitutional Amendments.

However, there certainly has been some floor action. Of interest to the people in District 95 will be the bill introduced by Representative Buchanan, H. B. 8, which he has succeeded in getting through the House with more than the 100 votes necessary to put it into immediate effect. This bill broadens the present program governing the Texas Water Development Board. It removes the present limitation on loans for water supply projects of one-third of project cost and raises the presently authorized ceiling on such loans from $5,000,000 to $15,000,000. The bill has now gone to engrossment, and then will go on to the Senate where it is hoped that it will get the necessary two-thirds majority vote (21 votes) to be put into immediate effect.

Meanwhile, the capital building has been buzzing as the first hearing on the proposed horse racing bill, tagged by many as "colorful performance," played to a full house and gallery Tuesday night. The pros and cons were debated for several hours, with the show being led by Representative Red Berry of San Antonio who is sponsoring the bill. It is interesting to note that the bill which is before the Legislature does not in itself legalize horse racing in Texas. Actually, it is a bill which would put a Constitutional Amendment before the voters in the next general election. At that election, should the bill be passed in the Legislature, the people would have a chance to vote "for" or "against" giving the people of several specific counties the opportunity to legalize horse racing in their counties. Thus, even if the Constitutional Amendment were passed by the Legislature, and then approved by the voters of Texas, the individual specified counties would each have to submit the question of having racing in their county to their own county voters. However, before the Amendment ever gets on the state ballot, it must have the affirmative vote of 100 members in the House and 21 members in the Senate. (All Constitutional Amendments must have an affirmative vote of two-thirds majority in both houses before it can be submitted to the people.) The bill in the House has now been sent to a subcommittee, and it is thought that it will reach the floor of the House for debate before too long.

Into the debating atmosphere this week also came three of Governor Price Daniel's proposed measures to help wipe out the General Revenue Fund's staggering deficit. Legislators have received a booklet from the Governor entitled "Ten Reasons Why the Texas Escheat Law Needs Stronger Enforcement Provision." Governor Dainel first sponsored the measure two

How Do Boys 'Get A Date'?

By C. D. Smith

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I read your column every week and think it's pretty good. But you've never talked about my problem. How do I get a date? I am eighteen and have never had one. I am quiet, average looking rather handsome or ugly, would rather read than play football or other sports. I am interested in girls—in one particular girl, although she doesn't know it—yet I just don't know how to go about letting her know and I am afraid to ask her for a date. Even if I were able to ask her, I am afraid that she would say 'no' and then I would be embarrassed. How do I go about it?"

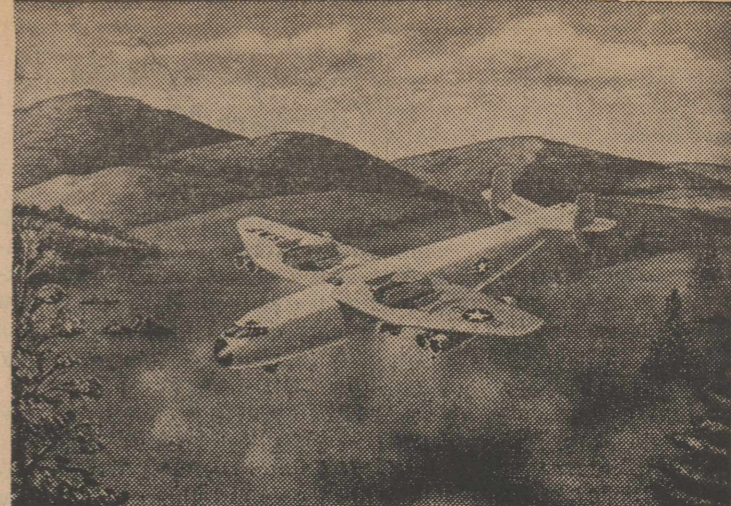

OUR ANSWER: There is but one way. Summon enough courage and ask her. The world will not come to a stop if she says 'no' and we think you will discover that it is as easy to ask a girl for a date as it is to order a hamburger at the drug store lunch counter. There is a difference, of course, in the way it should be done. Don't just walk up to the girl and say,

"Mary, will you go to the movies with me?"—make conversation first, about the weather, whatever happens to be "news" about the school, town, or the nation. Don't overdo it, just break the ice, then ask for the date.

A boy should never be "afraid" to ask a girl for a date. Whether her answer is "yes" or "no", the girl considers it a compliment to have been asked. This is true, if she knows the boy. If he is a perfect stranger to her, then she thinks him "fresh" and believes, probably rightly so, that he asks every pretty girl he sees for a date.

So, we repeat, don't be "afraid." Let the girl know you like her. She probably knows it already, but make sure she knows. Begin with pleasant conversation—then ask her. She will probably say "yes." But, if she says "no" you will at least have the satisfaction of knowing that there's nothing really difficult about asking a girl for a date.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

won approval from the Senate State Affairs committee, and a companion bill in the House, H. B. 11, was sent to a subcommittee for further study. The University of Houston now receives $730,000 annually in state funds under the junior college act, even though it offers a full four-year course. C. F. years ago after it was recommended to him by an executive study group headed by Zollie Steakley, then Secretary of State. The bill was hotly contested and did not get through the 56th Legislature. The new bill, H.B. 470, is scheduled for hearing before the House Revenue and Taxation committee. It is said to be a compromise. Daniel says that it would require those holding funds unclaimed to seven years or more to report them to state treasurer. Names of the last known owners would be posted. Funds still unclaimed would be reported to the Attorney General for escheat suits to be filed in the counties where the money is located.

Another of Daniel's bills, H. B. 331, was heard Wednesday night (and until 12:30 a. m. Thursday morning) by this same Revenue and Taxation committee. This bill, to boost the franchise tax on interstate corporations by $10,000,000 annually, and sponsored by Representative Franklin Spears Jr. of San Antonio, was sent to a subcommittee for further study. A third Daniel-backed bill, H. B. 339 by Representative George T. Hinson of Mineola, is scheduled by the committee for a Friday morning hearing. This bill would boost the natural gas production tax from 7 per cent of value at the well to 10 per cent. Daniel estimated an income of $22,500,000 from this source, with the increase to apply only one year.

A bill designed to make the University of Houston a state supported senior university was the subject before two legislative committees this week. It

New '61 Chevy with Jet-smooth ride!

Impala 4-Door Sedan—Jet-smooth traveler that rivals the luxury cars in everything but price

The '61 Chevy loves to go because it goes so well. Purrs along pavements like a happy tabby. Takes rough roads in stride and all roads in style.

Just why does a Jet-smooth Chevy treat riders as royally as the high-priced luxury cars? It all came about through a delightful blend of Full Coil suspension, precision-balanced wheels, unique chassis cushioning, and a superb Body by Fisher insulated to hush away road sounds. All this adds up to less sway, less bounce, less dip, less dive, less tilt, less noise, less... well you name it.

Now combine this Jet-smooth ride with conveniences to pamper you and roominess to relax in. Add a full measure of quiet good looks. Voila, you've got Chevy's formula.

And the proof is in the riding. When you sample a Jet-smooth Chevy at your Chevrolet dealer's we think you'll find it just to your taste.

MEDITORIAL: Approximately 15 per cent of all children wet the bed. Since bed-wetting is one of the commonest problems of childhood, I would like to consider its cause, types and care.

This discussion on enuresis (bed-wetting) is restricted to the habitual type, not the occasional—case such as a newborn baby, where the trouble disappears spontaneously in a short time.

A true enuretic never has normal urinary control. Occasionally parents state that their child didn't begin wetting the bed until he was 5 or 6, but careful questioning will reveal that the child was picked up each night and placed on the toilet or that he awakened himself and went to the bathroom.

When the parents stop picking up the child or when he stops awakening himself and the bed becomes wet is not really the beginning of the problem. Bed-wetting is a condition with which the child is born, and is probably inherited. There is no reason to believe it is a result of an emotional conflict.

It is true, however, that after the habit is established the child will become emotionally disturbed. This emotional reaction is greatly influenced by the parents' attitude. The more they scold and punish the worse the condition becomes.

Additional Funds Available For Farm Housing

An additional $50 million has been made available to the Farmers Home Administration for farm housing loans, Freddie M. Jackson, the agency's county supervisor, said this week.

He said that the new loan funds assure an adequate supply of this type of credit for eligible farm families during the balance of the fiscal year. Loans made so far this year plus those being processed had practically exhausted the funds previously available.

Farm housing loans are made throughout the rural areas of the United States. The loans provide farm families with an opportunity to acquire an adequate house and efficient service buildings.

Applications for farm housing loans may be made at the office of the Farmers Home Administration at 118 W. 8th St., Dumas, Texas, Jackson said. The loans bear 4 percent interest and are repayable over periods up to 33 years.

In addition to new construction, improvements financed with the loans include the installation of central heating, and pressure water supply systems and the modernization of kitchens. Many farmers also use the loans to adjust their service buildings to the changing requirements of agriculture.

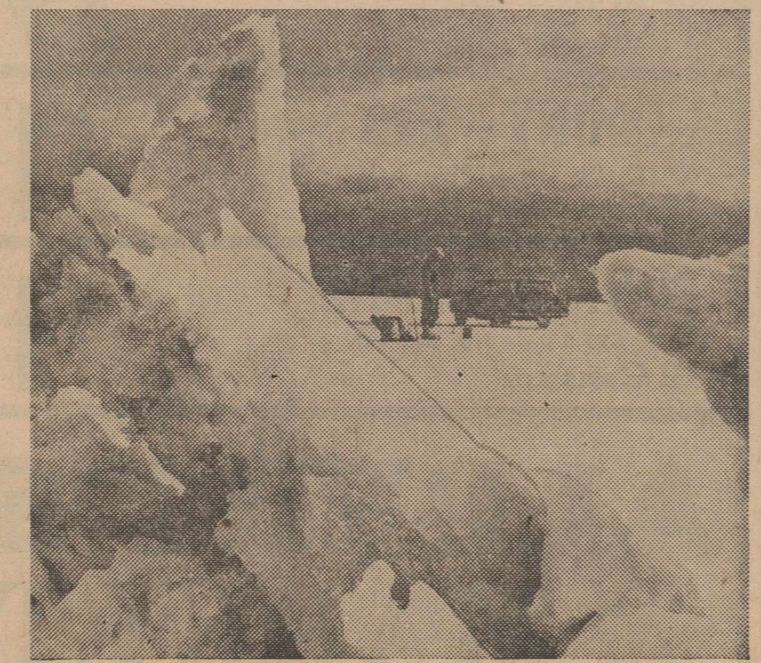

To be eligible a farmer must own a farm that will annually produce for sale or home use at least $400 worth of commodities based on 1944 prices and be of sufficient value to adequately secure the loan. In addition, he must lack the resources needed to obtain credit elsewhere and have sufficient income to pay farm operating and family living expenses and meet payments when due on his debts.
