

Mrs. Flores Celebrates Birthday

Mrs. Tim Flores celebrated her birthday Wednesday, July 26. She had as guests, her daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. George Cannon Jr. and Ann Rochelle, of Amarillo, who had brought her home Tuesday night from Amarillo, where she had been visiting relatives.

Relatives and friends called during the day and throughout the remainder of the week to present her with remembrances and wish her many more happy birthdays. Mrs. Canon presented her with a very unique birthday cake. On Friday, Mrs. Flores took several of the friends to lunch, and returned to her house for an afternoon of playing "42" and visiting. Those enjoying the occasion were Mrs. Ione Taylor of Chillicothe, Mrs. W. T. Martin, Mrs. J. W. Elliott, Mrs. E. E. Pronger, and the hostess, Mrs. Flores.

You oughta hear our boy sing "Shortenin' Bread". He renders it a slice at a time.

Grain Sorghum Men Told Of Decrease In Surplus Of Grain

"This will be the first year in more than a decade in which U. S. farmers will produce less grain sorghum than will be used," said Frank Moore of Plainview, who was one of the key speakers here Tuesday at the Grain Sorghum Producers Association Executive Institute.

Moore, who is also the president of the GSPA, endorsed the new feed grains bill as a means to reduce the grain stockpiles in the U. S.

"About 83 per cent of the farmers in this area are participating in the program and a definite reduction is seen in this year's grain crop," Moore added.

He gave much praise to the county committeemen who do the grass-root work of the program in getting basic acreage of the 1961 grain crop.

The one-day event opened at 9:00 a. m. in the GSPA offices in the Petroleum Building in Amarillo and closed with an evening banquet at the Amarillo Country Club, with Moore and his wife as hosts.

More than 30 county GSPA directors were in attendance during the speaking sessions which were directed to better acquaint the area men with opportunities and problems now facing the grain producers.

Morning speakers included Jim Murphrey of Amarillo, area extension farm management specialist; Dr. Wayland Bennett, a member of the Agricultural Economics Division at Texas Tech; John Selbert, area farm management specialist from Texas A&M; and Dr. D. W. Brown, economist in management at Texas A&M.

The afternoon speaking sessions opened with a panel discussion by Donald Wooten of Crosbyton, Kenneth Kendrick of Stratford, and Moore. The group discussed the "Present Administration's Approach to Agricultural Adjustments."

Moore pointed out that use of grain sorghums has increased 250 million bushels of grain per year for the past 5 years. He said the world now consumes slightly more than 500,000,000 bushels of grain sorghum each month.

Other afternoon speakers included George Pfeifferberger of Lubbock, associated with the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.; Charles Baker, economist in farmer organization, Texas A&M, and D. G. (Bill) Nelson, of Amarillo, executive vice president of GSPA.

Pfeifferberger gave a brief history on the growth of his organization and gave some pointers to the group on how to present farm problems to leaders in Washington.

Dr. Baker, who has spent several years working in foreign countries, gave a talk on "Association Leaders' Responsibility in Directing Agricultural Adjustments."

Nelson, who was in charge of the one-day session, gave a brief summary of the current affairs of the GSPA.

Water District Emphasizes Conservation

Many irrigators in the southern High Plains are at present watering grain sorghum and vegetables. Some are even irrigating cotton. If the dry weather continues for the next few days, most others will be starting their wells.

When the irrigation of crops gets into full swing, it is almost certain that some waste of water will result.

It has been pointed out, that to allow irrigation "tailwater" to escape the land from which it is produced is not only a violation of the rules of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, but it is also a violation of all our basic concepts.

Aside from the economic and human relations aspects involved in wasting irrigation water, the High Plains District emphasizes the fact that in failing to keep water on our own land we jeopardize the doctrine of private ownership of underground water in Texas.

A district spokesman recently stated that, "Texas is the only state we know anything about that has private ownership of underground water — where the person who owns the land also owns the water beneath it. We should all be thankful for this fact; however, most people don't give it much thought, one way or the other — they just take private ownership for granted."

The spokesman continued, "In this day when we have occasion to observe first hand more and more of our individual rights slipping from our grasp we don't seem too disturbed about it — not until its too late do we really get concerned."

"Well," according to the High Plains Water District spokesman, "its not yet too late to do something to help insure continued ownership of underground water in Texas. Each one of us can accept the responsibility that goes along with private ownership — that of using water wisely and for beneficial purposes. Running water down a bar-ditch could hardly be considered beneficial by anyone." The District official had this to say in conclusion. "The right to individually own underground water in Texas can be retained only if individuals use that water prudently and without waste." He was told to take two aspirins and a hot bath. The aspirins went down easy, but before he could swallow all that water his stomach was moving in and out with the tide. Luck's biggest letter is U!

State Comptroller Robert Calvert, whose word is final on revenue forecasts, estimates the House bill will raise only $254,000,000. This is over $100,000,000 short of anticipated need. Bill Cuts Production Of Wheat And Grain Sorghums omnibus farm bill calling for cuts in production of wheat and livestock feed grain hammered out Tuesday by a Senate-House conference committee.

Allen J. Ellender, D-La., the catch-all program will prompt Senate and approval and the signature of President Kennedy.

aims at the huge surplus of wheat, corn and other crops and should reduce this output," Ellender said. "It should save the tax-some money."

series of compromises between differing Senate and House versions were worked out in an unusual night meeting.

key provisions for cutting wheat and feed grains have been adjusted at earlier sessions.

measure, differing widely from original proposals by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, includes: a three-year extension of the program for overseas sales of farm surpluses for foreign countries. This followed the proposal and included a billion authorization with more than $2.5 billion for one year. The House had passed permanent extension with agricultural committees of the Senate and House approving any such sales in excess of $5 million.

Expansion of authority to set up federal marketing orders which improve prices for producers by limiting supplies and fixing quality. This authority was sharply reduced from the broad powers originally proposed by Secretary Freeman.

An extension of the national War Act for four years, instead of the three years voted by the Senate and five years by the House. This provides special subsidies to domestic wool producers to expand production.

Liberalization of agricultural credit extended by the Farmers Home Administration to low-income and tenant farmers or those hit by drought, flood or other disasters.

A five-year extension of the special school milk program under which $105 million has been authorized for the current fiscal year. Actual amounts for the future will be determined by congressional appropriations.

Included in the bill is authority for sale of foreign currencies, acquired under the farm surplus disposal, to U. S. tourists. Ellender said any such

Some fear the Light

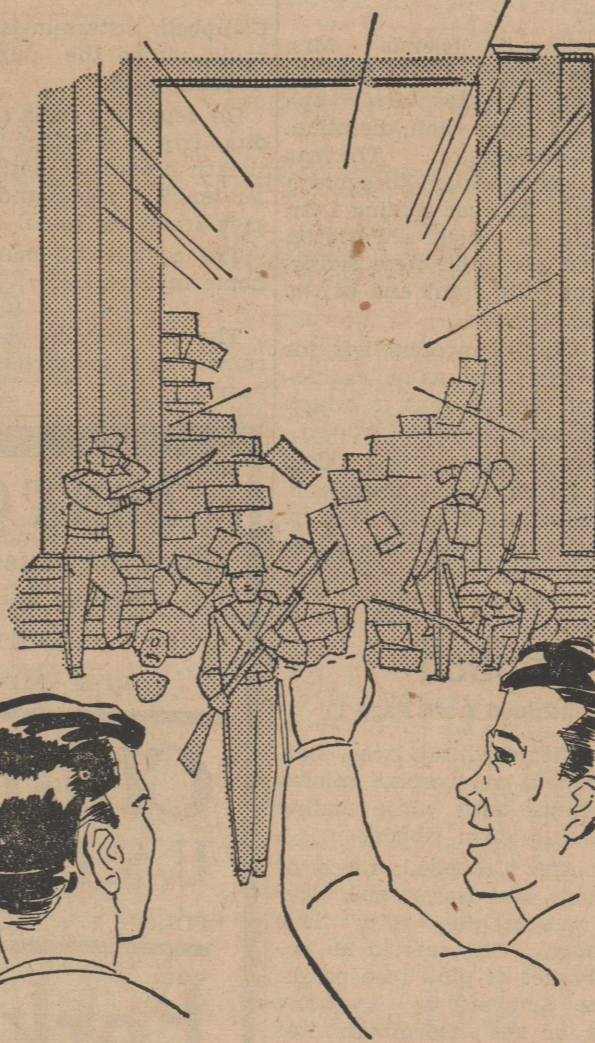

"And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." John 8: 32

It has been said that one can forgive a child who is afraid of the dark, but the real tragedy of life is when man fears the light.

That, in a sense, is what Jesus was saying in this quotation when he taught the Jews in the Temple. Know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.

Many men fear the light, or truth. Hitler feared it and hid it. The Russians today dread it and conceal it. Dictators and tyrants of all history have feared the light because it exposes them and their doctrines and, as a result, people cast them out.

This is true in the individual's life, too. The man who is afraid of the light is a slave to himself and a burden to mankind.

sales probably would be handled by embassies in the foreign countries under agreements to be worked out later.

Dropped from the bill was a House provision which would have permitted donation of farm surpluses for feeding of inmates in state and local prisons. Accepted was a provision requiring imports of oranges, onions, walnuts and dates to meet any quality standards established under domestic marketing orders.

The Senate had rejected a proposal to restrict imports of dates, sought by California congressmen, after protests by candy and cookie manufacturers in Illinois and Georgia.

The compromise applies the quality of standards only to imported dates which are not used later in candy, cookies or other processed products.

Cappleman Is New State FHA Director

Lester J. Cappleman of Ladonia, has been appointed State Director for the Farmers Home Administration in Texas. His headquarters are in Dallas. He assumed his duties July 18.

Cappleman has returned to the position he held with the agency for approximately eight years prior to April in 1954. Since that time he has been managing his farm near Ladonia producing livestock, cotton, and alfalfa.

Born in Oklahoma in 1902 when it was known as Indian Territory, Cappleman attended public schools at Honey Grove, Texas and the Texas A.&M. College where he majored in agronomy and animal husbandry.

From 1924 to 1934 he farmed in Fannin County.

From 1934, including his eight years as Farmers Home Administration's State Director, Cappleman worked in the field of supervised credit and related services for family-type farmers. He joined the Resettlement Administration at Amarillo after a year with the Federal Emergency Relief Administration at Sherman, Texas. From Amarillo, his work took him to Dallas in 1936 where he served first as loan officer in Resettlement Administration and later as Assistant Regional Director for that agency's successor, the Farm Security Administration.

In 1941 he transferred to Surplus Marketing Administration as Regional Director, then was in similar positions with Agricultural Marketing, Food Distribution, and War Food Administration, all at Dallas. He became State Director for Farmers Home Administration in 1946.

As State Director, he will have charge of the agency's agricultural credit and farm management program serving farmers in all areas of the State through 126 county offices.

Lucky Fishermen Recovering Tags To Get Free Lures

Saltwater anglers who catch tagged fish and return the tag and catch data to the Game and Fish Commission, will be rewarded with a jackpot of fishing lures. This has been announced by Terrance Leary, assistant director of the marine fisheries division of the Game and Fish Commission. Four lure manufacturers, will send sample fish-mail, one lure from each of the four companies sponsoring the reward program. The information needed by the biologists from the fishermen who catch the tagged fish is: length and weight of fish and where it is caught.

Mrs. Donna Gillenwaters, her 2½ year old son, and her mother, who lives in Buffalo, Oklahoma were involved in a car accident about two miles west of Seiling, Oklahoma at 10:00 a. m. Sunday.

According to friends, Mrs. Gillenwaters drove into the intersection and saw cars approaching from each direction. She set her brakes. The car on the left managed to avoid a collision. The car coming from the right in which a Perryton lady and her child were riding, sideswiped the front end of the Gillenwaters' car.

Billy D. Gillenwaters left for Oklahoma as soon as he was notified of the accident in which his wife and son were involved.

Mrs. Gillenwaters was taken to the hospital at Mooreland. She was released at 10:00 a. m. Monday and returned home Tuesday.
