That's an average of 800 home fires a day—one every two minutes. Fire Chief Jim Byrd pointed out that 75 per cent of all home fires were preventable. They happened because of carelessness.

No Early Solution In Prospect For City's Water Problem

The municipal water supply, which has become precariously low at times in recent months, will continue to be dependent on underground sources for another two years. It will be that long, at least, before water consumers can expect to be supplied from the proposed Miller Creek Reservoir. In the meantime, the City is exploring the possibility of developing sizeable sources of water in the area adjacent to the southeast city limits, as a temporary solution to the city's water problems. Compiling tax rolls which list all taxable real estate in the four towns composing the North Central Texas Water Authority is expected to be completed during the early part of October, W. R. Similar schedules, which have already been approved in Abilene and San Angelo and other area towns, are being filed throughout the 49 county area served by the West Texas Utilities Co. "The revised schedule of rates is designed," K. K. Francis, WTU district manager, said "to provide: 1. A new low rate for electric heating during winter months. 2. Liberalization of the water heater rate. 3. Reduction in the base of the present fuel clause and incorporation of the new lower fuel clause in all schedules with the exception of municipal water pumping, street lights and signal light rates."

Indians Edged By Jacksboro, 22-20, Friday

Reserve power when needed tipped the balance against the Haskell Indians and gave the visiting Jacksboro Tigers a thin 22-20 victory Friday night in the Tribe's Homecoming game, a non-conference affair. The Indians hit the trail this week, going to Coleman Friday for a non-conference game with the strong Coleman Bluecats. The Indians led throughout the first half, hitting for a TD in the first frame and two in the second to mark up a half-time score of 20-8. Sparking the Tribe's offense were Fullback Tom Anderson and Back Robert Bartley, consistent ground gainers for the Indians. A 34-yard scamper by Anderson, followed with a 20-yard pick-up by Bartley set up Haskell's first TD with Bartley going the final 4 yards to hit pavidt. The Indians hit again in the second quarter for two quick TD's, the first a 62-yard drive from the Haskell 38, with Anderson turning in runs of 14, 29, and 12 yards then going the final 7. Minutes later, a 29-yard pass from QB Bobby Gibson to End Lonnie Sturdy set up another TD, with Bartley scoring from the one, and adding two conversion points when he drove through the Tiger line. David Wheelis, Tiger quarterback, was the powerhouse for the visitors scoring two TD's, one from the four and passing to HB Robert Leach for two points, and the second TD from the Haskell three and converting two points on a pass to Tiger End Gary Robinson for a total of 16 points. Final TD for the Tigers came with 1:09 left in the game, with HB Butch Ellis going the final six yards. Game statistics indicated how evenly the teams were matched, Haskell gaining 261 yards rushing to 248 for the visitors, while the Tigers completed 5 of 19 passes for 53 yards and the Indians 4 of 10 for 47 yards. Jacksboro led in first downs, 19 to 14.

Firearms Safety Stressed by DPS Pistol Expert

"It takes years of practice to become an accurate marksman with firearms, but it takes only a little time to learn to handle them carefully and with respect," one of Texas' best pistol shots told a group of 105 youths and adults Saturday morning in EHS auditorium. The speaker was D. L. Cooper of Wichita Falls, safety expert with the Department of Public Safety, who conducted a Firearms Safety Institute sponsored by the Rotary Club. Highlight of the program was a 30 minute exhibition of pistol marksmanship, in which Cooper demonstrated his uncanny skill. Included in the feats was cutting a playing card in two by hitting it edgewise with a single pistol shot; hitting a swinging and stationary target simultaneously; hitting two targets at once by firing at the blade of a hatchet; and many other seemingly impossible shots. The expert also demonstrated the 357 Magnum and 44 Magnum pistols, the most powerful hand guns made, along with an automatic rifle or tommy gun. Cooper closed his exhibition with a demonstration of the "fast draw" in which he used an old-time Western belt and holster and was assisted by Elementary School Principal Hooper Wilkinson. Assisting in arrangements for the program was Sgt. Frank Jirek of the Highway Patrol, cooperating with a Rotary Club committee composed of Ferrell Coston, E. J. Stewart and Jim Byrd.

Ballard, Judge Griffin Ballerba has filed strict Court challenge boat inspection charge. Named defendant in the suit was the City of Stamford, Mayor W. B. Harrison, and Lake Officer J. E. McDaniel. The court order applies only to inspection fees which the City of Stamford sought to collect from the camp operators under provisions of the "boat inspection" ordinance passed recently by the Stamford City Council. Counsel representing plaintiffs included County Attorney Curtis Fogue, Dennis P. Raliff and Bill Raliff.

Meeting a Community Need

Congratulations are in order to the people of the Mattson community, for the forthright manner in which they met and solved a community need without asking outside help.

Mattson has been without telephone service since the days of cooperative rural telephone lines, back in the 20s.

Feeling that their school and farm homes in the community needed telephones, a small group of men got together to see what could be done.

Contacting the telephone company, they secured an estimate on the cost of the project.

Accepting the realistic attitude that since they were the ones to benefit from the project they should pay for it, without asking for outside help, cost of the entire project was underwritten by residents of the community.

You're Working for the Government

If you ever wonder why taxes and government debt are at outer-space levels, some facts issued by a New York bank may help to clarify matters.

One out of every six employed Americans is now on a government payroll. Since 1900 private employment has increased 100 per cent—and government employment 650 per cent.

The federal government runs about 20,000 commercial-industrial enterprises, with capital assets of some $12 billion, in direct competition with private business.

Federal aid to states, local communities and individuals totals about $7.2 billion a year. By comparison, the figure was $147 million in 1930.

We have swollen government, socialistic government, and paternal government. It devours taxes, even as it discourages and sometimes destroys taxpaying private enterprise. That's one of the big reasons why taxes, direct and indirect, take about 30 per cent of our income.

Living With A Problem

Because it deals with a topic which has been the subject of considerable discussion in Haskell, the following editorial is reprinted from The Italy News-Herald:

The difference in the manner Waxahachie and Ennis business concerns are approaching the era of expressway by-passes around their cities is a studied contrast and carries a message for Italy and Milford interests that will be affected in the future.

Ennis highway businesses appear to have accepted the fact and are doing what they can to make the best of it, while Waxahachians left stranded by the new route continue to struggle against reality.

Ennis is erecting four huge signs, two on each side of town, pointing out the business route as being the one with modern day and night tourist facilities. It is quite likely that they will salvage much of the highway business they have enjoyed in the past. At least they will hold as much, if not more, than they would had the expressway gone through town.

There are some things that must be faced. One of these is the fact that new highways are being built. Another is that these major highways are being constructed as limited access roads. Still another is that such a highway through a town does little more than take up 300 feet of right-of-way, making it difficult for local residents to go about their business when it requires that they cross the highway.

Highways are built to move traffic. The chief benefit—and it can be tremendous—to any community located such as ours is to be found in the easy movement of traffic to and from it. It can attract residents who commute to jobs in larger centers, and it can attract industries desiring to get out of larger cities, yet remain within minutes of them.

Expressways do curtail the amount of business available from through traffic. They will virtually eliminate it entirely unless a community does something like Ennis has done to offset it.

We here in South Ellis County still have several years to prepare for the coming of the expressway. During that time those business concerns that look ahead will do everything in their power to render the very best of service and supply the best of merchandise. If they will build a reputation along that line during the coming few years they will hold much of the patronage from the frequent traveler up and down the highway.

Let everyone keep in mind that the major highways are coming and that crying about it will do no more good than did the grining of buggy manufacturers stop the automobile; that it is going to create problems, and that we still have time to learn to live with those problems and make the most of them.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS

By A. PATE

From the point of statistics, the 1939 Homecoming is over and a matter of record, with officers elected, class rolls brought up to date, and the year 1961 set as the next get-together of ex-students, former teachers and patrons of Haskell schools.

From another angle, however, the 1939 event will never be over in the minds and hearts of the scores of ex-students who came for hundreds, and in a few instances, thousands of miles to join former classmates and friends in re-living happy days of the past and recalling long-forgotten memories. To them, the 1939 Homecoming will continue to be very real and heart-warming for a long time to come.

For many, it was their first visit "back home" in more than a score of years but for these Exes the memories of their school days in Haskell had gained added brightness with the years.

Guest speaker Bates Thornton expressed the Homecoming spirit when he commented on changes wrought by the years: "We don't want you to change, we want to keep you, our schools and our hometown, just as you are in our memories."

To our mind, Bates typified the scores of Exes who took time out from their everyday schedules to once again renew the ties of loyalty and friendship formed during their school days.

You wouldn't expect a busy executive, head of a multi-million-dollar corporation with interests international in scope, taking time out from a schedule geared to utilize every minute of his time, to spend several days at a smalltown School Homecoming.

Yet here he was, Bates Thornton, Class of '31, termed by Fortune Magazine as one of the nation's rising young executives in the electronic field, having in his own words "The time of his life; wouldn't have missed it for the world."

Although not a part of the Homecoming program, an interesting and instructive event for youth of the community was the Firearms Safety Institute and exhibition of pistol marksmanship held Saturday morning in the HHS auditorium.

Sponsored by the Rotary Club, the program was presented by D. L. Cooper, safety officer with the State Department of Public Safety.

In connection with his talk on firearms safety, Cooper demonstrated his amazing marksmanship with various types of pistols, climaxed with a demonstration of a Browning automatic rifle, or "Tommy gun."

An interested spectator was Lieut. Jack Larned of the San Antonio Police Department, HHS Class of '34 and a native of Haskell. Lieut. Larned is nationally known as an expert pistol marksman.

Speaking of pistol shooting, we have it on good authority that a movement is under way to form a Matt Dillon Fast Draw Club in Haskell. We haven't been able to learn just how far the organization has proceeded, but our informant lists Brooks Middleton, Stanley Furrh and Buster Shelton among the promoters.

Right at this stage, according to our source, there is a three-way hassle as to who is to be president of the new club. At last accounts, a compromise was in the making which introduces a new wrinkle in filling the top spot on the totem pole. All three men would be named Perpetual Presidents, with Furrh, Middleton and Shelton sharing this honor from now on.

Also on the subject of pistol shooting, the topic came very near getting us into hot water last week. Luckily, we were out of telephone reach when the storm broke and thereby missed the wrath which had developed as the result of one of our boob boos.

Our scalp was saved by our friend W. P. McCollum, High School Principal, who convinced irate Homecoming officials that the whole thing was a newspaper error.

Being a past master in the art of putting our foot in our mouth, we had scheduled a pistol shooting demonstration Saturday morning in the HHS gym, instead of the HHS auditorium.

We, along with everybody else, had known for weeks that the HHS gym would be headquarters all day Saturday for the 1939 Homecoming.

Completely ignoring the Homecoming, our typewriter went right ahead and had the pistol shooting taking place in the gym.

A few hours after the paper was out the storm erupted, with telephone calls in rapid succession to school officials and trustees, none of whom knew anything about the deal. When Principal McCollum was contacted, he quite logically explained the situation as a newspaper error in which the auditorium had been confused with the gymnasium.

Because so many rattlesnakes have been killed along highways recently, local residents have become rattler-conscious and are alert to the fact that the reptiles may show up in town.

However, few have been killed in town so far. Police Chief Barnett and Nightwatchman Joe Larned killed a rattler a few nights ago just southeast of the square, and another was killed at one of the cotton warehouses in the southeast part of town.

Then, last Thursday morning Mrs. Giles Kemp discovered a large rattler in a flower bed on the lawn of her home on the northeast outskirts of town. She called her husband, and Giles dispatched the snake, which had six rattles and a button.

We like to urge our readers to patronize Free Press advertisers with the assurance that they will receive full value and fair treatment from our advertisers.

However, there is one type of advertising which occasionally appears in our columns which we advise readers to investigate carefully before investing any money or otherwise committing themselves.

We refer to advertisements where readers are told they can "Make Big Money In Spare Time." Then they are required to deposit various amounts for "merchandise" with the bland assurance that it is "fully secured."

Some of the deals are legitimate, while others are outright gyp rackets.

A Post Office inspector was here last week, checking locally on persons who might have been victimized in such a manner in December of last year.

Crop Residues Help Prevent Wind Erosion

Use crop residues. Stop wind erosion. Crop residue management is a necessary part of conservation farming operations, says Robert Willis, local Soil Conservation technician. The critical wind erosion period will soon be here and every one should be taking steps to be prepared for it.

To be protected the soil must have a cover. It may be necessary to plant a cover crop but in many cases the cover is already provided through residues of plants like grain sorghum. Crop residues should be left on or near the surface through the critical blowing period.

Crop residues left in the field are valuable for soil improvement as well as for soil protection. When the material is left on or near the surface it does several important jobs. The moisture holding capacity of the soil is increased, the infiltration rate is higher. Residues also reduce the extreme soil temperatures by keeping soil cooler in summer and warmer in winter. The decayed residues help maintain the supply of organic matter. Porosity in the soil is increased for movement of air and water. Addition of residues to the surface soil residues crusts, making it easier to get a stand.

Remember, if you have crop residues, use them properly. It is to your advantage.

Haskell Couple Attends Square Dance Institute

Juanell and Jack Ray have just returned from an extended trip through the Ozarks where they attended the 5th week of the Les Gotcher Square Dance Institute in Eureka Springs, Ark. Gotcher is a nationally known square dance caller from California and will conduct this Institute in Arkansas for the next five years.

There were eight square dance callers from all over the nation who had a part in the calling program. Jack Ray, local square dance caller and instructor was on the program.

Early New England women bleached their sheets by spreading them with sour milk and putting them in the sun.

Danger of Fire Is Ever Present Hazard In Home

What would you do if fire struck your home or apartment tonight? What escape route would you take? Suppose it was blocked—what then?

These are questions most people never think to ask themselves, according to the National Safety Council.

In case of a fire in your home, the Council said, you should know:

1. What escape route you will use.
2. Who will help small children, oldsters or invalids.
3. How to notify the fire department.

SEED, GARDEN PLANTS

FOR SALE: Triumph wheat seed, clean of weeds and Johnson grass. John Grand, Paint Creek. 38-40p

And when, (Get everyone out of the burning building first—then phone firemen.)

4. What you should do if someone catches on fire. (Use water if handy, or smother the flames by rolling up in a coat, rag or blanket. Don't run—that only fans the flames.)

"But best of all," the Council emphasized, "prevent fires before they get a chance to start."

Check your home for such hazards as:

1. Oily cleaning rags and paint rags.
2. Rubbish in the attic, basement, garage.
3. Fireplaces, chimneys, flues, furnaces that are dirty and in need of repair.

Other hazards to beware of:

1. Smoking in bed.
2. Leaving matches within the reach of children.
3. Burning trash and refuse in the open.

Snake Box Score 203 Killed, 86 Captured

Box score on rattlesnakes killed in the immediate vicinity of Haskell in the past 10 days stands at 203 killed, and 86 captured alive.

The total does not by any means represent an accurate count of all snakes killed, but only those reported. Many persons have killed from one to 20 reptiles without bothering to keep count.

Champion snake catchers, apparently, are E. J. Stewart and Jim Byrd, who had 78 of the writhing vipers "penned" in a metal stock tank at noon Wednesday.

Byrd and Stewart have been trying to contact someone wanting the snakes, with no luck. Now, they plan to execute the reptiles, possibly this weekend.

Kills reported to date include: Hayden McDonald, 16; Mr. and Mrs. Morrell Dick, 12; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Medford, 63; Ferrell Coston 32; Homer West, J. C. Turnbow and Happy Hendrix, 3 killed and 8 captured; Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Burnett and Weldon Turnbow, 14; Roy Wiseman, Belton Duncan and Rev. Bill Barnett, 13; Highway Patrol group, 40; Verna Moody, 5; Mr. and Mrs. Giles Kemp, 1.

Sheriff's Posse Officers Are Re-Elected

Officers of the Haskell County Sheriff's Posse were re-elected for the ensuing year at the last regular meeting of the organization. Officers will begin their new tenure today, October 1.

Re-elected were: Dr. T. W. Williams, president; C. O. Holt, vice president; Jetty V. Clare secretary and treasurer; Adell Thomas, parade captain; Myron Biard, assistant parade captain; Shelly Royall, chuck wagon boss; Gene Hunter and Fred Gilliam, directors.

In a more serious vein, he stressed that we must live with a world that is different because of scientific progress in recent years. "We must think internationally today, because in today's world this is peacetime as we will know it in our lifetime," the speaker said. Because Russia's police state is a challenge to the free world, America must maintain the balance of power, the speaker declared, adding "Our responsibility is to pass America on to those who come after us, as strong and as free as when we received it."

Finding the balance of power is the problem of our scientists today, he declared, stating that scientific achievements of today will affect our life in the future.

A brief memorial service honoring students, teachers and patrons who had passed on, was conducted by W. E. Kirkpatrick of Dimmitt, Class of '13.

In the business session, Bob Herren was elected president of the Homecoming Association, succeeding Mrs. C. V. Payne. Other officers elected were: Clay Smith, vice president; Beryl Boone, historian; Mrs. Payne, secretary; Mrs. Roy Wiseman and Mrs. Clay Smith, assistants.

Surprise feature of the program was the presentation of a gift to Mrs. Payne from the Homecoming group, presented by Harlan K. Baker, Class of '13, of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Ethel Irby, historian, reviewed the Homecoming history, and invited all present to view the "History Book" and pictorial history of Haskell schools in the numerous photographs on display in the building.

The gathering voted almost unanimously to hold the Homecoming every two years, with the next event scheduled in 1961.

Closing the Assembly session was a talk by T. C. Williams of Cisco, first County Superintendent when the office was established in 1911.

In the recognition period, the Killingsworth family, with seven members present and all graduates of Haskell schools, was recognized as the largest family group in attendance.

The Taylor family, with five members present, was honored as the family group coming the longest distance to the Homecoming. The quintet included Mrs. Aileen Carothers of Haskell, Mrs. Lucille Sherrill of Pittsburgh, Pa., Mrs. Gladys French of Austin, Mrs. Iola Henshaw of Glendale, Ariz., and Maye Belle Taylor of Acaju, Sergipe, Brazil.

Closing the day's scheduled activities was a chuck wagon supper served to more than 600 guests by Underwood catering service of Abilene.

(Additional Homecoming stories and list of teachers attending, will appear next week.)

VISITS
Jerry Larned, student in North Texas State College, Denton, spent the weekend here in the home of his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Larned, and attended the Homecoming.

Mystery Farm No. 6 Identified As Belonging to Mrs. Parmelly

Mystery Farm No. 6, which appeared in last week's Free Press, has been identified as the Mrs. J. B. Parmelly farm located on Highway 24 between Haskell and Rule.

First prize for correctly identifying the farm, $5.00 in cash given by the Free Press, goes to Mrs. L. W. Jones of Rule; second prize, $3.00 cash given by Kennedy Lumber Co. as sponsor, goes to Mrs. J. R. Miller; third prize, a year's subscription to The Free Press, goes to Wm. R. Loving Jr., Box 2491, Odessa, Texas.

Mrs. J. B. Parmelly, who lives in the modern and attractive native stone farm home, has lived there since the house was built in 1938. She and her husband, the late Dr. Parmelly, purchased the farm in 1925.

Although Mrs. Parmelly lives on the farm, the land is being worked by Norris Anders, well-known farmer and landowner in that section.

The Parmelly farm, consisting of 103 acres, is considered one of the most fertile and productive farming tracts in this area.

With the exception of five acres occupied by the farm home and other buildings, the entire farm is in cultivation and under irrigation. Water is supplied from two 6-inch wells, in which the water level has remained consistent despite heavy summer use.

Fertility of the land is indicated in the yield of grain sorghum this year, maize averaging 4,200 pounds per acre over the entire 58 acre tract.

Cotton is planted on the remaining 40 acres, and the bumper crop is just now beginning to open.

News from Rule

BY MRS. FAYE DUNNAM

To Observe Golden Anniversary

Of interest to the community of Rule and surrounding territory will be the Golden Wedding Anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Malone of Rule, when they receive friends at an informal tea in their home Sunday, Oct. 4, beginning at 2 p. m.

Mr. Malone was born July 3, 1887 in Alabama, the son of the late Rev. and Mrs. C. G. Malone. His family moved to Iredell, Texas in 1897.

Mrs. Malone (Maud Griffin) was born Sept. 11, 1892. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Griffin.

Mr. and Mrs. Malone married in Rule.

To this union three boys and one girl have been born: C. G. Malone of Waco, Griffin Malone of Fort Worth, Bob Malone of Rule, and Mrs. Geraldine Moore of Floydada.

They have 13 grandchildren, 3 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Malone has been employed by the Abilene Reporter for over 20 years, but recently has been on part time basis.

New Barrier Is Placed on Teen Age Marriages

An amendment to the existing Texas marriage law which will go into effect Oct. 15, will slow down teenage marriages in Texas. The amendment was passed by the last legislature.

After Oct. 15, underage applicants for marriage licenses must be accompanied to the county clerk's office by parent or guardian and then wait three days before being issued a marriage license.

The only exception will be when the provisions are waived by the county judge.

Males under the age of 21 and females under 18 must have consent of their parents or guardian under current laws to secure a marriage license.

The new law requires that the consent and authority must be given before the county clerk and then it must be made a part of the record, along with the license.

After application is approved, the law states the applicant must wait three days before being issued the license.

The county judge has the power to waive either the appearance or three-day waiting period requirements.

Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Estes are vacationing.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Foil have returned from a vacation in North Carolina and Virginia visiting with their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Shelton. Mr. and Mrs. Shelton and son returned to Rule with them.

Monument to Old Mackenzie Trail Is Completed

The Mackenzie Trail Memorial which was recently completed in South Haskell County, just north of Stamford, is the largest rural hand carved monument between Vicksburg, Miss., and the Pacific.

The memorial was executed by R. R. (Bob) Saladee, 50, well known stone carver of Bedford, Ind., who completed the work in some four months. Some of the art was sculptured from actual live objects, while the buffalo head is magnified 100 times from the buffalo's nickle. The 50,000 pounds of limestone was sawed and donated by Lueders stone mills. The monument is some 14x25 feet in size.

This historical marker is the result of years of work by a group headed by Bernard Bule, Stamford businessman, and its costs are being paid by the families of deceased pioneers, and old timer's names and brands are inscribed on the base of the memorial. Both Haskell County and the City of

MACKENZIE TRAIL MEMORIAL

Haskell contributed to the erection of the historical monument.

The memorial was authorized by the Texas Legislature in 1957, and Bule states "Haskell County is among those mapped on the face of the monument showing the route of the trail. We hope and trust that this sculpture will help preserve the rich history of this Western part of Texas. Contributions on the monument will close in October."

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hallmark of Odessa spent the weekend in Haskell visiting friends and relatives.

sink down near where he is. Also it's good to know the peculiarities of the various species of catfish. So let's divide the catfish tribe into three broad families and discuss how best to take each of the species.

Channel Cat Probably the most sporting of catfish is the channel cat. The channel cat, however, is no more choosy a feeder than his cousins. He is available to fishermen using the usual catfish bait. This includes insects, crayfish, worms, frogs, various fishes such as perch, minnows, etc. Also stink bait commercially prepared or made from the most evil smelling concoction you can invent.

Here's a popular stink bait formula: Place cut-up shad or sunfish in a jar of water and forget about it until it becomes nice and ripe. Mix this with some adhesive "body" such as dough or cotton. Then mold into balls and place on the hook.

Channel cats generally are found around fast-flowing water. However, many factors enter into their choice of lurking places. As an old-timer put it, "You gotta fish in the place where fish are at."

During the day, channel cats are more often found in deep water, near logs or underbrush. Knowledge of their probable whereabouts can come only from experience. Time of year and time of day often determine their location, and this varies in different localities.

Angling for this tasty-meated fish is an art in itself. Daylight fishing especially requires shrewd figuring on the fish's hiding place, whether you are casting or pole fishing.

On your rod, or pole, use 30 lb. test line and be sure your rod or pole is stout. Attach a sinker just above the 1 1/2 inch hook (catfish have big mouths) for a weighted bait carried along the bottom appears more natural to a channel cat than bait hanging from a float.

Rod and pole angling can be done from bridges, piers or banks. But best results come from wading or walking the shorelines, plunking your offering toward any spot that looks likely, such as logs, brush, holes, pilings, etc.

Channel cats are caught on trotlines occasionally, but the trotline method is more often used for the blue and yellow cats.

Drop lines are more effective for channel cat. To fix a good drop line, take the necessary length of stout trotline, tie to an overhanging tree branch and attach your weighted hook and bait to the lower end. Let the line dangle several feet under water so that the movement of the branch will move the line and bait up and down.

Blue Cat The largest of the Texas fish with maximum weight of 150 pounds is the blue cat. Blue cats are found all over Texas in various sub-species. Mostly they inhabit large lakes and streams. Usually they are taken by trotline fishermen using whole shad, sunfish, suckers, carp, or bait cut from these fishes. However, smaller blues often are caught with rod and reel, cane poles and drop lines.

If you intend to use a trotline, be sure it complies with local regulations.

An average trotline has from ten to thirty hooks, set three or four feet apart, attached to the main line by stagings, or leaders, each about two or three feet long. Where possible stagings should be attached to the trotline by swivels to prevent the fish from twisting off. Use a 75 lb. to 100 lb. test for your main line, and also for the stagings. Weight your stagings and attach to each a 1 1/2 to 2" hook. Allow ten or more feet free of staging at each end of the trotline.

Tie one end of the trotline to a tree or stake on shore. Tie the other end to a snag, rock, or stake, out to whatever distance you determine best for your particular body of water. Weight the main line in the middle with rocks or iron. Fast the hooks with your predetermined lure, then attach a turkey bell to the shore end of the line.

Now all you have to do is sit back and wait for the ringing bell to tell you "bat these is a fish somewhere out yonder on your line."

Yellow Cat Also known as mud cat, flat-head, etc. Maximum size over 100 pounds, sometimes over 5 feet in length. This catfish lives and feeds on the bottom, so set your trotline low to get results. Yellows hide under cutbanks, rocks and hollow logs. Bait your hooks with three or four inch sunfish, or a good stink bait. Otherwise proceed as you do with blues, only be sure your stagings drag the bottom.

Texas Can Claim Title as Nation's Bat Capital

"In the limestone regions of Central Texas there lives a bat species known to mammalogists as Tadarida brasiliensis. Their incredible numbers give Texas undisputed claim to the title of "bat capital of the nation," writes Grant H. Burton in the September issue of Texas Game and Fish, the monthly magazine published by the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Burton, State Department of Health, describes the small mammal as one having a dark grey coat of downy fur, commonly called the "Mexican Free-tailed" bat.

"Across the border, in Mexico, live the vampire, or blood-lapping bats," he writes. From 1908-1920, the vampires caused an epidemic of rabies which began in Southern Brazil and spread through Argentina, Uruguay, and Paraguay, wiping out whole herds of cattle.

The vampire's possible relationship to the insect and fruit eating bats of Texas, according to the author, is causing considerable worry. Texas' insect eating bat population runs into the uncountable millions, most of them living close together in massive colonies. When a single one of these bats gets infected with rabies, the disease may quickly spread throughout the whole colony and subsequently into other colonies and other species.

"As for the threat this situation poses for humanity," he points out, "instances of unprovoked rabid bat attacks have been extremely rare." Other interesting articles in the issue include two on white-winged doves, one on stocking bass in the fall, bow fishing and an annual summary of the hunting seasons.

THE SUPERLATIVE '60 CHEVY

This is the one that says '60 like no other car. From its clean-thrusting grille to its dapper rear deck, there's so much that is new and different about this superlative Chevrolet it stands out from the rest like a fresh-minted coin. And you'll be just as wide-eyed over what's inside—the relaxing roominess, tasteful trim, hushed elegance, all comfortably cradled by Full Coil springs at all four wheels. Yet, sumptuous as this new Chevy is, you'll find new economy of operation, new dependability, new longer life. Here, then, we're confident both you and your budget will joyously agree, is the nearest to perfection a low-priced car ever came!

Here's the car that introduces a whole new decade of design—with so much that's new and different the other ones can only hope to come close.

It's the superlative '60 Chevrolet—with new space inside, new spirit under the hood, new splendor in every clean-etched line.

Freshly shaped contours rake back from the unified new grille to the jaunty rear deck, fitted with craftsmanship you'd expect only on the most expensive makes. Inside, there's room to sprawl in, room to sit tall in—generously provided by Chevy's sofa-wide seats and extra margin of hat space. And there's even more leg room for the man in the middle—thanks to the way Chevrolet engineers have shaved down the transmission tunnel.

Out on the road, as Chevy's Full Coil ride will persuade you most gently, there's not a car near the price that comes close to the hushed comfort of this one. And, adding to your sense of silence and solidity are thicker, newly designed rubber body mounts that do an even more efficient job of filtering out road shock, tire hum and vibration.

Quiet, quick-responding power is provided by a choice of two standard engines—Chevy's famed Hi-Thrift 6 and a new Economy Turbo-Fire V8 that gets up to 10% more miles out of a gallon of regular while delivering greater engine torque at normal speeds.

Chevy's accent on comfort and convenience even extends back to its easier-to-load (and tremendous) luggage compartment. You'll also find a convenient new parking brake that automatically returns to normal height after application, a new clutch linkage that filters out even the smallest engine impulses more effectively than ever and a trim new two-toning motif that's available on all 16 fresh-minted models.

But, impressive as all this may look in print, there's really only one way to tell how near to perfection this superlative '60 Chevrolet actually comes . . . and that's to drop in on your dealer and drive one!

Governor Price Daniel has officially declared Sept. 27-Oct. 2 as Youth Participation Week for the White House conference on Children and Youth. D. deGrassi, State President. This involves more than a million Texans.

Each school will report the ideas of their students and these will be a part of Texas' report to the White House Conference. The Discussion Guides were formulated by the young people on the governor's committee for the White House

The 22nd observance of Letter Writing week will be celebrated in Haskell during the week of October 4 to 10, it was announced today by Postmaster Harold Spain.

Posters, depicting a mailman in a new postal vehicle called the mailster, will be displayed in post offices throughout the country. Colorful streamers, proclaiming that "Letters are fun to send and exciting to receive," will be displayed on postal vehicles.

Hints Offered On Defoliation Of Cotton

By F. W. MARTIN
County Agent

The success or failure of mechanical harvesting of cotton is dependent upon the defoliation job. Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton work specialist, says a good job of defoliation in favorable weather enables a producer to harvest just as high quality cotton as by hand pulling.

Arsenic acid and penta are the commonly used defoliant and both have their advantages and limitations. Arsenic acid is applied at the rate of 1 1/2 to 2 quarts per acre mixed in about 8 gallons of water. This material is toxic to man and animals and is very corrosive. For these reasons, precautions must be taken to protect the applicators and the equipment. Cost of this material runs about $1.75 per acre. Arsenic acid should not be used where the fields are to be grazed.

The recommended rate for penta is two quarts in seven to eight gallons of diesel or kerosene per acre. It is non-poisonous and has no corrosive action. However, Elliott adds, it is caustic and may cause burning around the nose, ears and lips of the operator. Since it is mixed with diesel or kerosene, the cost goes up to about $3 per acre.

The addition of 2, 4-D to the defoliant aids in the control of regrowth. In the event of rain between defoliation and harvest, the addition of one pint of 2, 4-D per acre costs about 75¢. It is good only to control regrowth, and should not be used where the seed will be sowed for planting purposes. Those who do use 2, 4-D should do so only if they are thoroughly familiar with the material. Once 2, 4-D is used in a machine, cautions Elliott, it cannot be washed out. Amino triazole will also check regrowth and is recommended in the defoliation leaflet L-145, "Cotton Defoliation Guide," which is available at the county agent's office.

To make highway patrolmen love you take your time going and don't hurry back.
