AF names Chauvin 'best' TMO officer

"Initiative, ingenuity and management; that's what separates us from the rest of them."

That's how SMSgt. Guy Chauvin, recently selected Traffic Management Officer of the Year for Air Force, sums up his shop. Chauvin, along with the Traffic Management Office he runs, were selected as best in Air Training Command in May. The office is still under consideration for the Air Force level award.

The 23-year Air Force veteran has spent the last 14 years in Traffic Management, and has been filling the position of both Traffic Management Officer and NCOIC of the shop since the retirement of his predecessor in April.

Chauvin says that this double workload is not his alone. "In the last year we have experienced a 47 percent increase in our workload without receiving any extra personnel. This is a people oriented shop and the people who work here are real tigers."

When Chauvin mentions initiative, it is well substantiated. When Webb AFB was closed he organized a truck shuttle to salvage material from the closed TMO, including the lumber from the razed building, and realized a total savings of over $5,000. This booty allowed Chauvin and his fellow workers to completely refurbish the TMO here, including purchasing all new furniture.

Reese's TMO has also saved the Air Force several thousand dollars with a hard-driving program to cut back on Permanent Change of Station transportation costs. A recent case in point is that of an NCO who received orders to Hickam AFB, Hawaii. Standard Military Airlift Command procedure was to fly the wife and infant child commercial air to San Francisco, bus to Travis AFB, Calif. and a MAC flight from Travis to Hickam. The total cost was $351.

After exploring several possibilities, the crew at TMO found one airline that would fly to Honolulu for only $197!

Another innovative savings plan involved inbound PCS families. When families do their

Reese joins Brave Shield

Four Reese people have been dispatched to Fort Lewis Washington along with 58 other Air Training Command personnel to take part in the U.S. Readiness Command joint readiness exercise Brave Shield 20 which began Aug. 10 and will continue through the 29.

Other command members selected to take part in the exercise are from 9 bases: Chanute AFB, Ill., two; Mather AFB, Calif., 15; Keesler AFB, Miss., nine; Randolph AFB, Tex., seven; Lowry AFB, Colo., four; Sheppard AFB, Tex., four; Williams AFB, Ariz., four; Columbus AFB, Miss., one; Lackland AFB, Tex., five; and Maxwell AFB, Ala., seven.

BRAVE SHIELD 20 has been specifically planned and designed to evaluate the effectiveness of tactics, techniques and procedures of multi-service units.

During the exercise, approximately 23,000 soldiers and airmen will be involved. These Readiness Command forces come from elements of the United States Army Forces Command, Fort McPherson, GA., and the Tactical Air Command, Langley AFB, Va. Reserve component forces will comprise approximately 25 percent of the personnel and will provide combat, combat support service and support units in all phases of the exercise.

The concept of the exercise envisions the commander in chief, United States Readiness Command supporting a mythical theater commander by deploying a joint task force to assist a country friendly to the United States in expelling an invading force. The field maneuver part of the exercise commences with the joint task force employing air forces, tanks, infantry and mechanized infantry forces to counter the opposition's air forces, tanks and infantry forces.

The operation will provide a simulated combat environment in which to exercise and evaluate active and Reserve component commanders, staffs and forces in joint tactics, techniques and procedures.

Making camp

Area youth attend Camp Blue Yonder

Camp Blue Yonder, a Reese sponsored summer camp for local youth, kicked off Monday with the enrollment of 38 boys. Girls camp will begin next week.

During their week at Reese the boys will camp out and enjoy a full range of activities including swimming, tours, archery and soccer demonstrations, softball and scavenger hunts.

The camp, designed for those youngsters who may not otherwise be able to attend one, also caters to the boys spiritual needs with a Chaplain's Time each morning.

Night time entertainment is provided by such diversions as campfire games and skits. Last night skits that the young campers had worked on all week were presented on the stage at Mathis Recreation Center.

Volunteer counselors will turn the boys back over to their parents today. The counselors were Reese personnel under the direction of Capt. Mike Mahan from Air Base Group. Those volunteers from the captain's squadron were Sgt. Willie Rogers, SSgt. Joventino Villa and A1C George Spade. Two volunteers, TSgt. Thomas P. Tritz and A1C Robert Delisi, came from Supply.

Organizational Maintenance counselors were A1C Robert Vanderbough and Amn Deborah Waters and volunteers from Field Maintenance were Amn Duran Gripper and A1C Geraldine Havel.

A1C Gregory Peters was a volunteer from Civil Engineers.

Commissary shopping — a bargain!

by Col. Monte Montgomery
64th ABGp commander

Commissary shopping can often be time consuming and a chore. Many patrons ask why are the stores so crowded? ... Are the long lines worth it?

Let's stop and consider why our stores — yours and mine — tend to be crowded. Commercial supermarkets have relatively few customers in comparison. Their average patron count may reach 64 per hour. Our stores often handle well over 230 an hour!

Could it be that the reason our stores tend to be so crowded is that our customers — active and retired alike — recognize that commissaries offer a substantial savings? Market basket or price comparison surveys show that, on the average, commissary customers save more than 20 percent after the 4 percent surcharge is added at the register.

Customers share the cost of commissary operations through the surcharge. The surcharge that we pay covers: new construction, improving old existing facilities, utilities in the States, shopping bags, cash register tapes, the replacement of old equipment, and much more!

Commercial supermarkets, especially in large cities, may feature certain items at lower prices. These items are called "loss leaders." They are products which are priced below cost in order to attract customers to the store. If the customer only purchases the "loss leaders" the store will lose money; however, shoppers tend to buy other products on impulse. The normal mark-up on those products will pay for the "loss leaders" and overhead.

Commissaries have expanded hours of operation considerably during the past two and a half years despite Department of Defense directed manpower reductions. Now, as a result of payroll budgetary constraints, the stores have had to reduce manhours which has — in some cases — resulted in longer lines. This is an inconvenience to customers, but it is only a temporary measure. By the end of this fiscal year your — our — commissaries should be back in normal operation.

Our stores are a valuable entitlement. They are a non-pay compensation which we can use from first enlistment through our retirement years. This invaluable entitlement does make the waiting worth it — especially during a period of tight money, pay caps and high inflation!

CARE Line

(Editors note: All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty number so that a personal reply may be made, however, neither are mandatory. Callers are urged to use their chain of command or the office of primary responsibility to air complaints or comments if possible. If not, call the CARE Line at Ext. 3273.)

Telephone service

I am concerned with the telephone service here on base, trying to get an outside line. It takes six or seven times to get a phone line to hang on so we can get a number.

I feel like we are paying too much money for the normal phone service if we are getting disconnected.

Dear Disconnected:

A problem does exist when dialing off-base to Lubbock, but we must live with what we have for the time being.

There are some points to consider however concerning the actual way the phone system works. When you dial "9", you are gaining access to a central office trunk line at Reese of which there are only 26.

Reese has 277 Class A and AUTOVON restricted phones competing for the 26 off base trunks. Once you have gained access to Hurlwood switch, you are competing with the entire Hurlwood area (a population of about 500 lines) for 31 Extended Area Service lines into Lubbock.

As you can see, you will not always get connections instantly. To correct this problem, GTE is presently installing a new cable between Lubbock and Hurlwood Switch which will make some additional pairs available and increase your chances of gaining access to Lubbock.

GTE is also working with Bell to make the Bell computer system more compatible with their older manual system at Hurlwood.

Fueling Around

I work in Petroleum Fuels and this Friday night Maintenance Control left at about 10 after 11 and didn't notify us they were leaving. Initially they had requested that we stay around to refuel post dock airplanes that were coming from Maintenance. We stayed like they said and the last run we caught was about 10 minutes before 8. What it was - they left without even telling us they were going home so we are just sitting here waiting for them to call us to refuel aircraft. Normally they do call but this is the second time it has happened.

Dear Leaving Without Calling:

Being held overtime with nothing to do is a wasteful use of resources and poor management. However, the records in Job Control indicate that the function was not closed down for the weekend until 12:15 a.m. on Saturday. Also I understand you had called Job Control several times, starting at 7 p.m. that night asking to be released. Since the airfield stays open until 9 p.m., I cannot imagine not having POL support available until at least that time for unprogrammed transient alert aircraft in addition to our own aircraft undergoing maintenance. At least two hours remain on your shift after the field closes. I have been assured by the DCM that their weekend closedown actions include notification of POL. Be assured that I am concerned about any wasteful use of manpower, but I also expect people to work a full shift when the work is there. I hope this answers your question.

Is square filling really all that bad?

By Col. David L. Thomson
Deputy Chief of Staff/Personnel
Air Training Command

Square filling has the reputation of being a shoddy motive. But if you take a hard look, you may find some real value in filling certain squares.

One program, NCO Professional Military Education, is designed to provide the educational experience to help develop the needed skills to get the optimum from each individual.

So, if completing a PME course fills the square that allows you to reenlist and become a sergeant — fill it.

If by reenlisting and becoming a supervisor you are allowed to receive the needed education to deal with initial added responsibility — fill that square too.

If by attending Phase III you fill the square of the working leader in the Air Force — fill it.

If by attending Phase IV you get a better perspective of your position as supervisor/manager and get additional points for promotion past master sergeant — fill the square.

If by attending Phase V you are exposed to the responsibilities of a manager of resources and get points for promotion — then fill that one too.

Is PME nothing more than filling a square? As you can see if you attend the courses you do fill squares needed for career progression. However, there are little squares and big squares.

The little squares are filled when you attend because it's mandatory, because your commander said you had to go, or to accumulate points for promotion. The big squares include learning your responsibilities as an NCO, learning the techniques of being a supervisor, fine tuning your concepts and techniques of being an effective leader and manager, and finally accepting the Air Force mission as yours.

Maybe NCO PME is a matter of filling squares, but in the final analysis, that may not be all bad.

Take extra caution with electrical devices

The more we use electricity in modern living, the more we risk fire from overloaded circuits or careless use of appliances.

Fuses are safety valves for electrical circuits, and a blown fuse is a warning that the circuit is overloaded and extreme fire danger exists. Use only the proper size fuses . . . 15 amps in most homes. Keep plenty of spare fuses on hand, and never use a penny for a fuse.

The wiring in many homes is inadequate for modern electrical loads. If you live in an older home, have a competent electrician inspect your wiring. Never practice "do-it-yourself" wiring . . . let an expert do it.

Replace frayed electrical cords or broken plugs, and never string cords under rugs. Avoid doubling or tripling up on

Improper use of electricity and appliances

the outlets. Always detach electrical cords from the outlet rather than the appliance. Otherwise small children might play with the "hot" end of a cord, perhaps even putting it in their mouths.

Always be sure that all appliances are turned off when you leave the house.

Financial tips

1. To discover your financial mistakes, you need to know how your money is being spent. To do this, for at least two weeks keep careful records of every dollar your family spends (one month of detailed record-keeping is even better). This should give you a concrete idea of your family's spending habits.
2. Determine how much you have to spend by for credit payments and cash purchases.

5. Keep strict records making them simple but accurate and complete. The key to a good budget is faithful record-keeping since it enables you to know whom you have paid and how much you owe. It also helps predict future expenses.

6. Set aside a specific amount each month for unexpected expenses.

7. Start a savings account as soon as possible if you haven't one already, and treat the account like a bill. Make regular deposits (weekly or monthly).

8. Stop to think before spending your hard-earned money. Consider your needs first, spend only the amount you can afford for "luxuries."

9. You must be willing to make changes in your daily living habits if you wish to change your financial condition.

10. Use credit wisely. Never use it for everyday expenditures.

adding up your total (take-home) monthly income. Figure on a four-week basis. (Extra paychecks, income-tax refunds, overtime pay and the like shouldn't be included in this figure).

3. Determine your current fixed expenses for rent, mortgage, utilities, insurance payments, transportation, groceries and so on.

4. Subtract these expenses from income to find out what you have left over

Supervisor's must guide airmen toward careers

A major responsibility of Air Force supervisors is to motivate capable and dedicated airmen to apply for reenlistment, states SSgt. Ken Zielinski.

The Selective Reenlistment Program is designed to single out qualified career-minded first-term airmen.

According to Sergeant Zielinski, supervisors should counsel first-term airmen on the procedures and guidelines of the Career Airmen Reenlistment Reservation System. First-term airmen should apply for a Career Job Reservation. CJRs are issued on a first-come, first-serve basis and selectees should be encouraged to apply as soon as they become eligible, especially if a waiting list exists.

If a CJR is unavailable, airmen may apply for retraining into another career field. Retraining provides the advantage of selective reenlistment bonus in some skills.

CAREERS insures reenlistment of members who have skills which are needed by the Air Force. It is not intended to discourage or prevent reenlistment.

Questions concerning the CAREERS program should be directed to Sergeant Zielinski at the Career Assistance office, CBPO, Ext. 3168.

own unpacking they are expected to dispose of the boxes themselves, a problem that often involves borrowing or renting a truck to haul the large boxes to a dump.

Chauvin formulated a program whereby TMO would dispatch a truck to pick up the boxes for reuse, saving the newly arrived family the extra problem and saving the Air Force the cost of new cartons.

He summed his feelings on being selected for the Air Force award like this: "The competition for this award is tough, it's one of a kind and receiving it is definitely a high point in my career. However, its not just my award, it belongs to the kids in my office."

Many jobs at Reese which would not be fulfilled because of lack of funds for employing Air Force personnel, are being accomplished with the assistance of the Comprehensive Education and Training Act.

Administered by the South Plains Association of Governments CETA employs workers in virtually every occupation on base from draftsmen to greens and garden workers.

Civilian Personnel Officer Fred Flewellen says, "With the assistance of this program workloads have become more evenly distributed to our regular employees."

Currently at Reese, CETA employs 35 special project people, who work full-time, and 27 young people, who work under a summer youth employment program. The summer youth will earn a combined salary of $25,984 while the year-round employees will earn $261,556. This combined is $287,540 of assistance received at no cost to Reese or the Air Force.

Base Advisory Council holds monthly meeting

July's meeting of the Base Advisory Council was largely dominated by planning for the Open House. Other items of interest were new members, cable TV and unit advisory councils.

Lt. Col. Vince Micucci also brought up the state of the BAC itself.

BAC

Colonel Micucci observed that no referral items had been submitted to the BAC in four months. He remarked that this lack of complaints did not indicate that things were going well and proposed that the future of the BAC be discussed at the August meeting.

New members

Two new members were appointed to the council from the dormitories. Col. Richard Ingram tagged A1C Rob Hockaday and Amn. Daniel Gonzales for the duty.

Cable TV

Another major item of discussion was the installation of Cable TV and Home Box Office for dormitories, clubs and base housing. This project has been referred to Contracts but officials estimate the first of the calendar year as the earliest date for installation.

AF ends mandatory urinalysis program

The mandatory quota of urinalysis for drug abuse has been terminated by the Department of Defense.

The revised policy is intended to connect urine testing to incidents most often shown to be associated with drug or alcohol abuse.

Command-directed urinalysis is still permitted. This includes unit sweeps in areas with a high availability of hard drugs or where a serious problem with drug and alcohol abuse exists. Sweep testing of units is normally limited to units where drug abuse levels appear to be significant.

Under the new policy, urine tests will be conducted promptly when incidents indicating probable involvement of drugs or alcohol occur.

Tests normally will be conducted when a member's behavior seems odd or eccentric. They will also be given to those arrested or under the investigation for drug abuse, violent crimes, serious accidents or drunkenness.

Repeated or serious breaches of discipline will be considered along with other circumstances to determine possible involvement of drug or alcohol abuse.

Youth Center offers quality entertainment

by Ted Houghton
 "Do you know where your children are and what they are doing?" asks Don Hutchins, director of the Reese Youth Center.

"If they are members of the Youth Center, you do," he continued. "The Youth Center provides activities that develop total fitness through leadership, team work and a sense of belonging."

"My job as youth director is to provide sound, logical and appealing programs. I work with a limited budget and limited personnel, so it is important in the light of the increasing costs of all programs and services that I provide only the very best."

Providing the dependents of active and retired military, DoD and NAF people of the Lubbock area a place to enjoy morale, recreation and leadership activities is the primary purpose of the Youth Center. The youth program is formulated to be entertaining, educational and with sufficient scope to appeal to all regardless of age, skill or sex.

Ages for membership range from 6 through 18. The Reese Youth Center has remained one of the few in the Air Force that have not raised membership dues, despite the increase of the cost of operation. Dues are the same for all ages: 50 cents per month per individual or $5 per year per individual. Family membership fees for two or more cost $10 per year.

The Youth Center offers a wide range of programs. Sports include youth league play in baseball, basketball, soccer, football, softball, and tee-ball. There is a junior bowling league and a youth swimming team. In addition, judo and karate are offered.

Professionally taught classes are offered in gymnastics, tap dancing, ballet, Disco dance, piano and guitar. There are also classes in ceramics, leathercraft and other skills.

Girl Scout, Brownies and Cub Scout activities also take place at the Youth Center.

The Youth Center building contains facilities for all kinds of recreation. These are pool, foosball, table tennis, carome and pocket golf. There is even a room specially designed for pre-teens.

There are facilities for parties, disco dancing, color television, stereo and amusement machines. Also, there is a library and reading area, a gymnastics and ballet room, and arts and crafts room, and a complete kitchen and snackbar.

Free movies and free refreshments are a common feature. There are supervised outings to local areas of interest.

Modern and professionally supervised, the Youth Center is operated by the Morale, Welfare and Recreation Division of Reese.

"Membership in the Youth Center is expanding," Hutchins said, "and must expand continuously in order to justify expenses. With summer almost over and new people moving on base, I wish to offer every eligible child here the opportunity to join the Youth Center."

For information on membership or any program, call the youth director at Ext. 3820 or drop by the Youth Center anytime.

Donald Trimble lines up a shot on one of the Youth Center pool tables. The Center has a wide variety of parlor games for youngsters to play.

AFMPC opens assignment line

Enlisted people through the grade of technical sergeant who have questions about the status of duty assignments their local personnel offices cannot answer can get answers by calling the assignment inquiry section at the Air Force Manpower and Personnel Center.

They should not call the individual assignment offices at the center.

The assignment inquiry section is open from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Central time. The telephone number is Autovon 487-2111/2112. Individuals based overseas can use the AFMPC code-a-phone at Autovon 487-5681 if they cannot reach the assignment inquiry section during its duty hours.

The assignment inquiry section can provide information regarding the status of overseas vulnerability.

SAVINGS OPPORTUNITIES

You know you can depend on your Credit Union for money when you need it and — you know it's a great place to have your savings account. However, you may not know about some of the new programs we've added most recently. One of the newer alternatives to the regular 6 1/4%* open-balance share account is the share certificate programs.

SHARE CERTIFICATES

- 2 yr 7%*
- 3 yr 7 1/4%*
- 4 yr 7 1/2%*

$1000 Minimum, dividends compounded quarterly, penalty required for early withdrawal

MONEY MARKET CERTIFICATES

- 26 weeks
- $10,000 Minimum
- Rates Change Weekly

CREDIT UNION SHARE CERTIFICATE

(CU) (CU)

Date Issued _____ Certificate Number _____

This is to certify that _____ (is) (are) the owner(s) of a share certificate account in the above-named credit union in the amount of _____ Dollars ($ _____). This certificate may be redeemed on _____ (maturity date) only upon presentation of the certificate to the credit union.

This certificate may not be pledged, transferred or assigned to any party other than the credit union.

The dividend rate for the certificate is _____% per annum on the actual amount in the account. Dividends are compounded _____ (specify period) and are available to the owner(s) _____ (specify period). Dividends are to be added to principal.

withdrawn and transferred to regular share account No. _____ mailed to owner(s).

Dividends will be paid at the specified rate only if there are sufficient earnings available.

If certificate funds other than dividends are withdrawn before the maturity date, a substantial penalty is imposed as follows: the dividend rate mentioned above will be reduced to the rate that applies to regular share accounts. This reduced rate will be applied to the entire amount of the certificate. In addition there will be a forfeiture of dividends on the amount withdrawn equal to the smaller of the following two amounts: dividends since the date of issuance or 90 days' dividends. But if the amount withdrawn reduces the balance below $ _____ (minimum balance for this type certificate) the certificate will be canceled and the forfeiture will equal the smaller of the following two amounts: all dividends on the entire amount of the certificate or 90 days' dividends on the entire amount of the certificate.

The credit union will give the owner(s) at least 10 days' notice prior to maturity. The notice will inform the owner(s) of the terms under which the credit union proposes to renew the certificate or otherwise make the funds available to the owner(s). The disposition of certificate funds proposed by the credit union will be effected unless the owner(s) notifies the credit union to the contrary on or before the maturity date.

Menu board meets
The Wing Dining Hall will be conducting the Menu Planning Board on Wednesday at 9 a.m. in the Wing Dining Hall.

All Squadron Commanders are requested to send a meal card representative in the grade of E-4 or below. This member need not be formally appointed. Any other concerned enlisted personnel who desire to contribute or comment are requested to attend.

Food Service uses the information obtained from this meeting to provide you the services according to your preference, appeal, religious, ethnic and specialties within regulatory guidelines.

Oops we goofed!

Last week's Roundup incorrectly reported that Commissary Services Third Anniversary sale would begin Aug. 15. The correct starting date for the month long sale is Oct. 15.

Many items in the Commissary will be discounted 15 to 20 percent below normal costs.

Ice cream social

The August meeting of the Women of the Chapel will be an ice cream social to be held at the Chapel Social Hall Aug. 24 at 7 p.m.

There will be special guests from the Golden Age Nursing Home in Lubbock. Members are asked to bring home-made ice cream, cookies, fruit, toppings, etc.

For more information, call May Carsten at the Base Chapel (885-3237).

Check rides

E-flight recently received two outstanding check rides in final contact phase for T-37s. The recipients were 2nd Lts. Christian Christiaens and Bob Mulcahy. Outstanding rides in mid-phase check were logged by 2nd Lt. Tim Heck of A-flight and 2nd Lts. Jhn Lebeau and Jeff Baird of D-flight.

the yield signs on Loop 289 exit ramps.

According to James W. King, the District Administrative Engineer, exiting traffic from the Loop will no longer have to yield to drivers on the access roads. This includes vehicles which exit into on-coming traffic. Similar changes will be made on all Texas highways by Aug. 27.

Energy conservation

Col. Gobel D. James, wing energy conservation officer, recently addressed the following comment to the personnel of Reese. "A number of outside lights, both on base and in the housing area, are being left on during daylight hours. Let's all help conserve energy by eliminating that needless waste. If you don't need it, turn it off!"

Information processing

The last registration date for UBUS 580, Information Processing, is Aug. 27. Anyone wishing to enroll for this master's level course through the University of Northern Colorado, may do so by contacting the UNC/CSAP coordinator at the Education Office, Ext. 3634 or 3768, between the hours of 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

Prep registration

Local schools will have registration and school starting dates as follows:

Lubbock Independent School District registration — Secondary students today, elementary students — Aug. 27. First day of classes is Aug. 29.

Area Girl Scout troops need qualified leaders

"We need good, qualified leaders for Brownie and Girl Scout troops at Reese," says 1st Lt. Karen Hagauer.

All previous troop leaders from Reese have permanently transferred. In order for the troops to exist, leaders must be found.

"The Girl Scouts depend on good leadership," said Lt. Hagauer. "Girl Scout leadership positions are filled each year by adults who strive to fulfill the Girl Scout objectives."

"Those objectives include providing a positive environment for young people to grow up with emphasis on character, conduct, patriotism and service."

Organization of Girl Scout troops in the Reese community is scheduled to begin in the last week of August. Invitations to join Girl Scouts will be sent to girls, first through twelfth grades, in the Reese and Hurlwood area.

For further information, to volunteer as a leader or to help with the Girl Scouts in any way, call Lt. Hagauer at Ext. 3617 or 745-2661 or Terri Sharpe at 885-2119.

MAST sponsors spouse orientation

Getting acquainted with Air Force life, a new base or a new husband in the military can sometimes lead to problems and stresses not normally encountered by others.

Married Airmen Sharing Together is sponsoring a program for Air Force spouses called Spouses' Orientation and Adjustment Program — SOAP. It is designed to help wives orient themselves to military life and adjust to the stresses of this life. Providing support for "the woman behind the man" is another aim of the program.

SOAP has the support of the Chapel and the wing senior enlisted advisor and will meet on Wednesday evenings beginning August 29 for three consecutive weeks. Meetings will be held in the Chapel and child care will be provided free.

To reserve a place at the meetings call Bahney Dedolph at 744-0981 or Kim Anderson at 793-1070.

Vacancies exist on shuttle crews

The Air Force is seeking applicants for astronauts on the space shuttle team.

The space shuttle will usher in a new era of space transportation in the 1980s, opening the doors to routine space operations and expanded experimental investigation in space.

To support this space effort, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has announced a limited number of astronaut candidate positions. Candidates will be selected from individuals nominated by the Air Force, other military departments and civilian sources.

The positions are for pilots and mission specialists.

Air Force applicants for shuttle pilot must have at least a bachelor's and preferably a master's degree in engineering, physical science or mathematics or have completed all requirements for such a degree by Oct. 31 from an accredited college or university.

Air Force pilot candidates must have a minimum of 1,000 hours of first-pilot flying time, with 2,000 or more hours being desirable. High-performance jet aircraft, flight test and combat experience are also desirable.

Pilot applicants must be between 64 and 76 inches in height and be able to pass the NASA class I space flight physical.

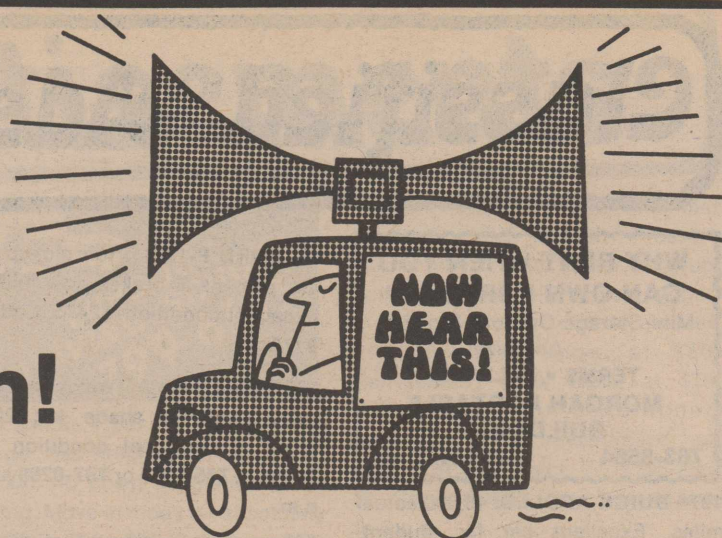

Applicants for shuttle mission specialist must have a master's degree in engineering, biological or physical science, or mathematics from an accredited college or university or have completed the requirements by Oct. 31. The requirement cannot be waived unless the candidate has extensive practical experience working in his or her academic-specialty field.

Mission specialists must be between 60 and 76 inches in height and be able to pass the NASA class II flight physical.

Air Force applicants for both positions must have between five and 13 years of active duty.

Applications must be submitted by Oct. 31. Interested individuals can contact the officer assignments section, Ext. 3436, for application instructions.

Home run explosion gives CE base title

Unleashing a devastating home run barrage, the Civil Engineers belted the Medics 13-9 last week to grab the intramural slow-pitch softball title.

CE hitters rapped six homers, including a pair by left fielder Johnny Pettie, enroute to the championship.

Joining Pettie in the "circuit-clout club" were pitcher Charles Baldwin second sacker Bill Warren, first baseman Terry Cox and shortstop Gil Gonzalez. Four of the blasts were single shots. Baldwin drove in a pair with his booming drive in the second and Gonzalez hit a three-run homer in the bottom of the sixth, salting away the victory.

CE reached the championships of the double elimination tournament without a loss. The champs defeated Field Maintenance 13-10, the 54th Flying Training Squadron, 12-7, and the Medics, 13-10 to reach the finals unblemished.

Seeded second heading into the post season tournament, CE's top competition for the title left the field early. Organizational Maintenance Squadron, the regular season champ, dropped its first two ball games and was eliminated by Resource Management, 9-7.

The Security Police squadron walked away with third place in the playoffs, somewhat of an upset in itself. The Security Police team entered the tourney one game under .500 and was the last squad to earn a playoff berth.

FMS finished fourth, Resource Management and the 54th tied for fifth and Supply and OMS tied for seventh.

Players on CE's championship team included starters Mike Medina, Warren, Pettie, Cox, Mike Cronin, Ronnie Haywood, Gonzalez, Baldwin, Kenneth Marvin and John Barth.

Reserves contributing to the title win were William Jackson, Tracy Thorpe, Jerry Smith, Jake Turner, Patrick Lancette, Richard Moore and Fidel Marquez.

Coaching the 1979 intramural softball champions was John Paduch.

Officers Club tourney set

The Officers Club Partnership Golf Tournament is scheduled for Aug. 25 and 26.

Entry fee for the tournament is $20 per player plus green fees. Teams must include at least one player associated with Reese, either active or retired military or Department of Defense civilian.

Included in the $20 entry fee will be free beverages at strategic points across the course, and a New York Strip steak dinner for each player, his or her spouse or date.

Registration for the Officers Club tourney ends at the Reese Golf Course's close of business Thursday.

Several prizes will be awarded after the tournament. The dinner-dance celebration at the Officers Club is slated to start with cocktails at 6:30 p.m. Aug. 26.

For more information about the tourney contact the Golf Course management at Ext. 3819.

Rattler Tryouts

Seven veterans top the list of players trying out this week for spots on the 1979-80 Rattler basketball team.

Tryouts are open to all active duty military and run Tuesday through Thursday nights from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the base gym.

Nate Jones and Gene Powell return as co-coaches for the Rattlers. Veterans returning for this season's campaign are Don Fuller, Bo Wilson, Paul Caviel, Cedric Henderson, Savington Nickens, Danny Paez and Alex McClanahan.

The Rattlers expect to open season play in early October.

For information about Rattler tryouts contact Coach Powell at

Ext. 3185 or Coach Jones at Ext. 3443.

Scrambler tourney

A men and women's "scrambler" golf tourney will tee off here Sunday at 1:30 p.m.

Registration for the tournament remains open until close of business at the golf course Saturday. Entry fees will be $2.50 plus green fees.

A picnic will follow the tournament. Those planning to participate should bring their own meat and salad.
