

AF leaders fight for pay hike

The President's decision to allow military people and federal civilians a seven percent pay raise this October was a major success for Air Force and other service leaders.

They had been recommending for several months that military people and federal workers should receive raises of at least seven percent instead of the five and one-half percent that was originally budgeted.

If approved by Congress, the seven percent raise will apply equally to the military basic pay, the basic allowance for quarters and the basic allowance for subsistence.

Top Air Force officials have been looking closely at the pay situation for some time. They supported the higher pay raise for two main reasons.

First, they believed that the federal pay raise should at least match the seven percent raises allowed for private industry workers under the President's wage guidelines.

Second, inflation has been rising faster than had been expected when the five and one-half percent raise was first proposed.

In a message to all Air Force commanders, Lt. Gen. Andrew P. Iosue, Deputy Chief of Staff for Manpower and Personnel, stated, "The Secretary of the Air Force and the Chief of Staff have been very concerned over the adverse effects of pay caps and rising inflation on our people's financial situation.

"This concern prompted them to press for the necessity of providing military people and civilian employees at least a seven percent pay raise this year.

"Our senior Air Force leadership — in a joint effort with the other service leaders and the many vigorous military

CFC officials kick off '79 drive

Eyeing an $80,000 goal, Reese officials plan to launch the 1979 Combined Federal Campaign here Tuesday morning.

Shortly after 8 a.m., more than 100 CFC key workers will be knocking on office doors asking Reese workers to match their generosity of a year ago. The 1978 Reese drive netted more than $81,000.

Capt. Ron Bailey, CFC coordinator, hopes the campaign will be completed in less than two weeks.

"Everything is set up so that most people will be contacted very early in the campaign," explained Captain Bailey. "We hope to have all the pledges in by Sept. 29."

CFC officials are recommending that donations be made through the payroll deduction plan.

"A lot of people aren't sure how much they should give," noted the CFC leader. "Each key worker will have a chart showing what the suggested 'fair share' pledge is for each pay grade."

Captain Bailey simplified things by saying that, in most cases, the "fair share" would be one hour's wage per month.

CFC contributions can be designated to go to specific organizations or can go into the general CFC fund. Donations that aren't designated will be divided among the various CFC agencies with the United Way getting 75 percent, National Health Agencies receiving nearly 20 percent and International Service Agencies sharing five percent.

There are approximately 50 service organizations in the Lubbock area that benefit from the CFC. At Reese, the Youth Center will receive more than $10,000 again this year from the United Way.

"People who aren't contacted by a key worker by Sept. 27 should contact the CFC Loaned Executive handling their units' pledges.

Soviet awareness briefings set

With Congress debating SALT II, it's become vitally important that both military personnel and their families learn all they can about the military might of the Soviet Union.

That's why the Air Force has put together a special Soviet Awareness briefing team. A team that will bring two special briefings to the base theater this month.

All military personnel with a secret or higher security clearance will have the chance to attend a classified eight hour briefing on Sept. 27 and 28.

The classified program will be run in two four-hour segments. Part I will be presented twice on Sept. 27 as will Part II on Sept. 28.

Briefings on both dates are scheduled for 7 to 11 a.m. and will then be repeated from 2 to 6 p.m.

Also scheduled is a special unclassified two-hour briefing. Reese dependents are encouraged to attend the shorter briefing at 7:30 p.m., Sept. 27. The unclassified version is open to anyone with a valid military identification card.

Those wanting to attend the classified briefings must contact their Unit Security Managers for advance tickets. To get into the "secret" briefing, members must have a ticket and a valid identification card.

*I'm proud of the stand that the four senior leadership took on the pay raise issue. You should be too! This success is a strong position demonstrated that our leadership is concerned and willing to fight for our people. It shows an unyielding

Cinder squad

I would like to talk to someone concerning forming a track team here on base.

Dear Track Team:

A sign-up sheet has been posted in the Gym to determine if there is adequate interest in developing a track team.

We have a limited amount of track equipment but more can be acquired if there is enough interest. By the way, the track surrounding the soccer field is currently being renovated and will be completed in September. This may make it a little more enjoyable for you to pursue your interest.

If you want more information call Ext. 3207.

Air conditioners out

The air conditioner in the tower has been out three days.

Twice this summer the air conditioning unit has gone out in the RSU and they were shut down because the RSU controllers were hot and uncomfortable.

I am sure it is hotter in the RSU, but it is also hot in the control tower.

Yesterday our thermometer was over 100 degrees, an uncomfortable condition for air traffic controllers. My question is why would they shut down RSU and flying and the tower stays operational when the air conditioner is out?

Morning traffic

I would like to know what could be done about the traffic pulling through the Reese Credit Union parking lot in the morning, instead of waiting in line. Can anything be done about this?

Dear Waiting in Line:

The Credit Union has plans to erect traffic barricades at the entrances of the parking lot. Once these barricades are in place, all those people who are so anxious to get to work will have to leave home a little earlier or wait in line with you on Fourth Street.

Open the gate

I know that it is your policy to have the back gate at the golf course open at 4:15 p.m.

Well, that is fine and dandy, but the fact is that the last three weeks since you implemented that policy the gate is always open late.

If I have to get to work on time, which you want me to, I feel that it is your responsibility to do the same for me when I get ready to go home at night.

Dear Fine and Dandy:

The Security Police make every conceivable effort to be punctual in opening and closing the Golf Course Gate. In the afternoon it is opened at 4:15 (now 4:45) p.m. If you get to the Golf Course Gate at 4:15 p.m., I am curious to know what time you are leaving work.

Reese is going great

by Col. Monte Montgomery
64th ABGp Commander

Often we are too close or too involved to maintain an objective view or our perspective of our job or our base.

Recently, I attended the ATC Base Commander's Conference and had the opportunity to discuss mutual problems and to compare notes on the bases. In listening to the discussion, it didn't take me long to realize how fortunate I am to be the Base Commander at Reese.

Sure we have problems, but our success in handling them far outweighs our failures. In short, I think we are doing our job and doing it well. And, if I have interpreted the other base commanders correctly, we are doing the job far better than most.

Many of you will disagree with my evaluation. However, I want the men and women of Air Base Group to know that Col. Richard A. Ingram and I think you are doing an outstanding job and deserve to know it. We have one of the best run and managed bases in ATC and you are the reason why, and we thank you for it.

I also want to add one more thanks to the often unrecognized and seldom appreciated men and women who run our morale and recreation programs. Your efforts this year have been magnificent and your achievements are recognized at command too. You have gone a long way in making Reese a better place to live and work.

To all of the 64th ABGp, and the many people who support us throughout the wing, take a look around, see what you're doing and I think you'll realize you are really good at what you do!

GROWING WITH THE GREAT SOUTHWEST

Hispanics are proud

by MSgt. Kenneth Tyler
Social Actions

On May 22 President Carter signed a proclamation designating Sept. 10-16 as "National Hispanic Heritage Week."

All of us here at Reese, as well as all other people in our great nation, can take pride in the rich heritage, the legacy given us by Spanish Speaking Americans. Particularly in the Southwest are the cultural bequests evident, in language, in arts, in music. But these riches cover the entire spectrum and are distributed across the United States.

The Missions of California, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, the lovely herbal cooking smells, and the infectious laughter of children in cities like Los Angeles, Miami and New York, bright parts of a colorful America.

That part of our legal system involving circuit courts and judges evolved from the judges of Spain who rode from small town to small town to dispense justice. Words like mesa, stampede, sombrero, Colorado,

San Jose, San Francisco, American message symbols of Hispanic origin in use daily.

Twelve million persons in the U.S. reported they were of Spanish origin in 1978 according to the Bureau of the census. Over eighteen thousand Hispanic active duty members are in today's Air Force. In the past, thirty-seven Hispanic members of the United States Armed Forces have been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Yes, across the length and breadth of America, throughout the Armed Services of the U.S. in every type of job, in so many positions Hispanic-Americans continue to produce, and to excell, today, as they have in the past. We at Reese have reason to be proud of the fullness added to our lives by the Hispanic culture that is so much a part of all of us and our everyday activities.

Rabies: Innocent looking pets can carry dread disease

by AFROTC cadet Kellie Burdette

Animal bites are on the increase. In the Reese area, 1979 marks the highest rate of animal bites in four years, warns base veterinary technician Amn. Lambert Sikkema.

With military personnel or dependents here alone, 44 cases of bites were reported from May to August. That's in addition to the 19 incidents recorded from January to April. Airman Sikkema says the drastic increase from May to August is because children are out of school and are exposed to animals more.

"There have been six confirmed cases of human contact with rabies in Texas this year . . . two were fatal," says Airman Sikkema.

Airman Sikkema says the most common source of bites is from domestic animals. "Dogs mostly, but cats also bite and are a possible source of rabies," he said.

The two most frequent causes of getting bitten, according to Airman Sikkema, are from children teasing animals and people trying to break up animal fights.

To decrease the chance of getting bitten, Airman Sikkema suggests:

- Train children how to properly handle pets. (No pulling tails, yanking ears, etc.)
- Do not attempt to break up an animal fight—unless using a spray of water from a garden hose at a distance. Animals are afraid of water.
- Stay away from animals that aren't your own pets.

- Don't pet strange animals.
- Don't take food away from animals.

If bitten, try to find the animal that inflicted the bite. Airman Sikkema explains, "Whether or not an animal is rabid, if it bites you and flees, you'll still need to get rabies treatment—just in case the animal has rabies."

To keep the number of rabies cases to a minimum, Texas law requires all pets to receive annual rabies shots. Shots are available, by appointment, for $2 at the base Veterinary Animal Clinic.

"In January we vaccinated over 50 animals. In July only three people brought their pet in for shots. There are a lot of animals on base that still need to be vaccinated," charges Airman Sikkema.

Quarterly statistics show accident hike

Second quarter statistics for 1979 show a 47 percent increase in the number of military and civilian injuries at Reese over the same quarter last year.

Wing personnel experienced 47 operational injuries over April, May and June. These injuries, although they were mostly minor, resulted in 36 days of lost time, 29 days of restricted work and the removal of three individuals from their jobs. The greatest number of injuries were connected with the maintenance of aircraft.

The cost of reportable ground mishaps resulting in injury to Reese personnel and damage to property totalled $88,727, up 165 percent over the same period last year. Accidents involving government motor vehicles, special purpose vehicles, sports and recreation have increased considerably.

Damage to Air Force property alone accounted for $13,019. Seventy percent of this involved vehicle operation.

"I think that most of our problems can be covered by one word," said Maj. Carlton

Russell Jr., chief Safety Division, "Attitude."

"Too many people view the safe way of doing a job as too time consuming, a pain in the neck or something to be practiced only when the wheels or the inspectors are around," he continued.

"This is not to say that the total work force has a poor attitude, "but the workers and supervisors who do are creating a problem for the rest of us."

Referring to a general breakdown in the communication of safety standards, Major Russell went on to recommend that supervisors re-evaluate their work area and their work force, ensuring that personnel are made safety conscious.

"Personal error is rapidly depleting funds that we had other plans for," Major Russell concluded. "Though continued education, many mishaps can be prevented. Ultimately, each individual, regardless of station, is responsible for his own safety. We need everyone's assistance to make Reese a safer place to live and work."

Want to stop smoking?

If you're one of the estimated millions of Americans who want to stop smoking but can't get the job done — have we got a deal for you!

Co-sponsored by the 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron and the American Cancer Society, a special briefing on how to quit smoking will be held at the Mathis Recreation Center Sept. 22 from 1 to 5 p.m.

Also, those who don't know how to pump gas will be shown by one of the attendants on duty.

Hours of operation will also change to 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

MAST officials form service exchange here

In these times of high inflation, labor costs make up a major portion of home repair, services and entertainment expenses.

Married Airmen Sharing Together, a Reese organization of first term airmen and their wives, is kicking off a program to combat the rising cost of labor. The labor exchange allows members of MAST to volunteer services in their area of expertise in return for aid from another member.

For instance; an airman and his wife are desperately in need of storage space. Their old garage has plenty of room but no shelves. They simply contact A1C David Andersen at Ext.

provide whatever service is within their scope of skills.

"We'd like to expand eventually, but we're still small and we need to see if the program will work within our own organization first," says Andersen.

In return, the couple with the new shelves could babysit for their volunteer carpenter, or

WE FOLLOW YOUR CAREER MORE CLOSELY

AT FORT SAM BANK

With the possible exception of your family, no one will follow your career any closer than will we. Many of our customers have risen all the way to the top . . . with Fort Sam Bank right in step, the entire way.

We've helped finance Cadillacs in California and Fords in the Philippines. Our customers know our car loan rates are among the lowest anywhere. And we've financed the moves of military families to just about every corner of the world.

Some banks were founded to specialize in "savings", "commerce", "trust" or other financial fields, Fort Sam Bank was founded in 1920 for the express purpose of specializing in MILITARY BANKING. Our founders reasoned that military families have unusual financial needs that ordinary banks are too busy or too big to concern themselves with.

Special Note to Student Officers:

If you don't presently have an account with us, call or come by. Let us show you how easily you can join the thousands of families who consider us their "Worldwide Hometown Bank". If you prefer, you may call any week-day between 5 and 10 p.m., San Antonio time . . . TOLL FREE. Call 800-292-7301.

Several vital military bills face Congress

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last article in a four-part series devoted to the status of legislation before the 96th Congress affecting the quality of military life.)

by 2nd Lt. Queenie Byars
ATC Office of Information

A potpourri of Department of Defense related legislative proposals introduced in the House and Senate and referred to their respective subcommittees scheduled for consideration by the full Congress this fall.

Following are highlights of issues significant to Air Force personnel.

House legislation

Legislation before the House includes:

- Utilization of Women — Proposal seeks to repeal statutory restrictions concerning the assignment/utilization of female service members in combat-related missions. Would permit service secretaries to establish their own policies.

- Advance Housing Allowance — Proposes authorization to pay housing allowances in advance to personnel being assigned to high-cost areas overseas since advance rent and utility deposits of 3-4 months are not uncommon.

- Lost/Damaged Household Goods — Proposal to increase the maximum reimbursement for lost or damaged household goods from $15,000 to $25,000.

- Dependency and Indemnity Compensation — Proposed legislation to authorize an 8.3 percent increase in monthly DIC benefits for the surviving spouses of military personnel who die on active duty.

- Military Band Members — Proposal to repeal off-duty employment restrictions that currently prohibit military band members from moonlighting as musicians (in competition with civilian musicians).

- Disability Retirement/Separation — Legislation to provide permanent statutory authority governing the disability retirement and separation of members with less than eight years of service.

- Office Grade Relief — Legislation to continue current officer grade tables in the event DOPMA is not approved by Congress.

- Medical Special and Incentive Pay — Proposal to refine the special and incentive pay system for physicians, dentists, veterinarians and optometrists. Included in the FY 80 DoD Authorization Bill is a provision for a $9,000 annual bonus for eligible physicians.

- Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship Program — Proposal to 1) permanently exclude the value of the AFHPSP scholarship and $400 monthly stipend from gross income for individual tax purposes and 2) authorize adjustment to the $400 stipend by a percentage equal to any federal pay raise.

- ROTC Financial Assistance — Proposes to extend age limitation for eligibility from 25 years of age to 29 years of age.

- Two-Year ROTC Program — Proposal would remove the limitation on the number of individuals that can be placed in the two year ROTC Scholarship program FY 80 Appropriations Bill requests funds to increase the number of scholarships from 5,760 to 6,500.

- Selective Service/Registration/Limited Draft — Proposal to authorize either the registration, classification, or limited draft of certain individuals. A provision in FY 80 Authorization Bill calls for reinstatement of selective service registration.

Senate legislation

Legislation before the Senate includes:

- Survivor Benefit Plan — Proposes to reduce Social Security offset provision from 100 percent to 50 percent. This means surviving widows reaching age 60 would retain a

Air Force celebrates 32nd birthday Monday

by Bob Reed
ATC Office of Information

The only anniversaries that most institutions take note of are those that end with a zero or a five. For example, in July of last year we marked Air Training Command's 35th birthday, then in December talked about the 75th anniversary of powered flight.

So who's interested in a 32nd birthday celebration? Everybody in the Air Force, that's who. Because it was on Sept. 17, 1947 that the Air Force finally became an entity, an independent combat arm of the nation's armed forces.

By that time aviation had come "a fur piece" from the bleak December day in 1903 when Orville and Wilbur's plane barely skimmed the tops of those Carolina sand dunes. Similarly, in the 32 years that have now blurred by since the Air Force was born, those "marvelous flying machines" have taken a quantum leap.

To repeat, a 32nd birthday doesn't really warrant a whinging of a party. But there's certainly nothing wrong with a small remembrance. So... Happy birthday, United States Air Force.

Defense issues face Congress

larger share of their Survivor Benefit Plan annuities. The legislation also would eliminate the offset when there is a dependent child and eliminate the offset when the surviving spouse is receiving Social Security benefits based on the individual's own employment and not the deceased member's military service.

- Cost-of-Living Adjustments — Legislation would allow Congress to revise current semi-annual cost-of-living adjustments for retired military personnel and civil service annuitants by amending the present law which prescribes cost-of-living adjustments on March 1 and Sept. 1 of each year. The amended law would call for annual rather than semi-annual adjustments.

- Department of Education — Proposal to establish a Department of Education and transfer all DoD functions relating to operation of DoD overseas dependent schools to the proposed new executive agency.

Special interest proposals

Other special interest proposals include:

- Federal Employees Compensation Reform Act of 1979 — Reform calls for 1) Federal civilian pay raise based on salary plus benefits instead of just salary, 2) locality pay for white-collar workforce instead of present CONUS-wide salary base and 3) annual comparability adjustment for military personnel to be based on average percentage increase in salaries in the non-federal sector as determined by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Fringe benefits would not be used in determining military pay increases.

- Civil Service/Social Security Integration — Proposed Legislation to integrate civil service retirement and social security benefits.

Rattlers search for more work

Last season the Rattler cagers were so underworked they could have applied for unemployment compensation.

In a sport where 30-game schedules are standard, Reese's varsity squad was able to schedule only 18 regular season games last year.

Co-coaches Nate Jones and Gene Powell hope that the team's signing with the fledgling U.S.A.F. Southwest Basketball Conference will keep the players busy this year.

Reese will be the only Air Training Command team in the new four-team conference. The Rattlers will be joined by the Holloman AFB, N.M., Cannon AFB, N.M. and Kirtland AFB, N.M.

According to Jones, the teams will play single round-robin tournaments at each base. The first of these is scheduled for Oct. 20 and 21 at Reese.

Both the men's and women's varsity squads will compete in the tournaments.

Powell, who guided the Rattlers to a bronze medal finish in the ATC regionals last year, noted that in the eight weeks before the command tournament, Reese played only six games.

"We needed more work last year," admitted Jones. "This new conference should be good for us. It gives us a chance to play several teams each trip. With traveling expenses as high as they are, we have to get the most from each roadtrip."

Half of Reese's super one-two scoring punch will be gone this year, but; Jones and Powell think they have enough returning talent to contend in the Southwest Conference race.

Willie Hollis, considered by many as the command's top guard in 1978, will leave for reassignment before the basketball campaign gets underway. But, Don Fuller brings his 25-point scoring average back and will be surrounded by veterans Bo Wilson, Alex McClanahan, Paul Caviel, Cedric Henderson, Savington Niclens and Danny Paez.

Tryouts for the 1979 team are being held in the base gym Tuesday through Thursday nights from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Anyone wanting to earn a berth on the Rattler squad should contact Jones (Ext. 3443) or Powell (Ext. 3185).
