Old Settlers, Rodeo Crowds Gathering for Roundup

Cowboys and cowgirls, old settlers and rodeo contestants are literally taking over the town today, initial day of the sixth annual Rice Springs Roundup and Horse Show which will continue through Saturday night.

To set the stage for this year's Roundup, the entire week has been observed as Western Week, and the former Perkins-Timberlake building on the west side of the square has been fitted up as Old Settlers Headquarters.

Some of the old fixtures of the early-day Road to Ruin Saloon have been placed in the building, along with other pioneer relics and displays reminiscent of the pioneer West.

All old settlers are invited to register at the building and make headquarters there.

An Old Fiddler contest will be held Friday at 2:30 p. m., in the Old Settlers headquarters building, with the program free to the public as a feature of the special day. Cash prizes of $15.00, $12.50 and $10.00 will go to the top three musicians. Contestants must play old-time breakdown numbers.

Santa Rosa Palomino Club To Lead Parade

The colorful parade at 4 p. m. today to open this year's Roundup promises to be the largest staged here, with at least nine riding clubs taking part in addition to the sheriff's posse and local entries.

Leading the mounted section of the parade will be Santa Rosa Palomino Club from Vernon, recognized throughout the Southwest as one of the most colorful riding clubs in Texas. The Santa Rosa club will also execute a precision drill and stand pivot for the grand entry at Thursday night's opening show.

Another outstanding riding club of this section, the Callahan County Sheriff's Posse will execute a mounted quadrille during the early part of the first night's program.

Other riding clubs taking part in the parade will include the Coleman Rodeo Club from Coleman, Stonewall County Sheriff's Posse from Aspermont, Olney Boots and Saddle Club, Seymour Remuda, Winters Riding Club, Albany Riding Club, Buckaroo Riding Club from Breckenridge, and the local Sheriff's Posse.

Attractive trophies will be presented to the top three riding clubs in the parade, with the awards to be made following the grand entry Thursday night.

The high-stepping Haskell High School Band will provide the parade music, and will also play at the opening night performance of the Roundup.

Adell Thomas, parade captain, said Thursday morning that all individual riders desiring to take part in the parade would be welcome, and they will be admitted to the rodeo grounds to take part in the Grand Entry.

Chuck Wagon Supper at 6 P. M. Following the parade, the Sheriff's Posse will host a chuck wagon supper at the Corral Building at 6 p. m. for members of the visiting riding clubs and their guests. The meal will be prepared and served by Underwood Catering Service of Abilene.

Record Number of Rodeo Contestants

A record number of contestants is indicated in the rodeo events to be staged Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

At noon Wednesday, Wanda Stephens, Roundup secretary, reported that no more entries could be accepted in the Brahma Bull and bareback bronc riding events. At that time 45 bull riders had entered and 50 bareback bronc riders had also paid entry fees.

Also, more than 60 entries had been received in the roping events, with the list expected to reach 100 by Thursday noon.

More than $2,000 will be paid in cash awards to winners in the rodeo events, in addition to added jackpot money and a Yoakum Hereford saddle to the champion roper.

Dance at Legion Hall

A dance for rodeo visitors will be held at the American Legion Hall each night during the Roundup. Music will be furnished by F. L. Eddy and his Abilene Playboys.

The situation looked desperate for District Clerk Carrie McAnulty, at left with rope around neck, when this picture was made Tuesday morning in Western Week court. The severe penalty implied by the rope was reduced to a small fee after an eloquent plea by the clerk. Others in the picture are WW Sheriff Chas. Swinson, Mrs. W. R. Johnson, one of the instigators of the court plot; Harold Spain, special prosecutor; A. M. (Merceland) Turner, Judge; and Ben Curd court clerk. Curd was actually a stooge for the Jaycees, and is sued chances being sold by the club as receipts for fine money collected.

Western Week Court Nabs 55 Victims; Few Upsets

In sessions of Western Week Court Tuesday and Wednesday, 55 law-abiding citizens have fallen victim to charges filed by "Sheriff" Chas. Swinson and Roy Bean Turner on the south courthouse lawn.

With ice water coursing through his veins and the assumed dignity of a judge advocate general, Magistrate Turner aided by Special Prosecutor Hopalong Harold Spain, has managed to "convict" more than 50 of the hapless defendants.

Penalties imposed have called for the purchase of chances on a Yoakum Hereford Saddle to be given away during the Roundup and this is expected to keep defendants mollified at least until the drawing. In the meantime, the Magistrate and other court officers will have an opportunity for a head start on any vigilante group that may form.

In one of the several trial upsets, Magistrate Turner soothed one irate woman defendant by convincing her that his initials "A. M." stood for "Ain't Mad."

In another, "Sheriff" Chas. Swinson almost lost his red and green boots to an attractive defendant who convinced the Court that she had been unjustly charged. In a reverse decision, the Court imposed a fine against the pistol-toting lawman.

Also going scot free was a popular Haskell preacher, whose immense size completely baffled the small-fry court officials.

Planned at pre-time Thursday morning was a full-scale assault by Sheriff Swinson and a reinforced crew of deputies who announced that were determined to nab a record number of tenderfeet for Thursday morning's court session.

Dog Owners Are Reminded To Vaccinate Pets

A reminder was issued by the City Council this week that all dogs permitted to run at large in the city, must have a city registration tag for the current year, and must be vaccinated against rabies.

For the convenience of the public the city has made arrangements with a veterinarian, Dr. David Ballard of Stamford, to be in Haskell Wednesday, May 27, to vaccinate dogs kept by city residents.

Dr. Ballard will be at the city fire station from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. on May 27.

Weinert Water District Elects Three Directors

The water district embraces the Weinert area, and furnishes water to that city. The election was held in the Weinert Community Center, with 25 votes being cast. E. C. Lowe served as election judge, and Mrs. G. C. Newsom and Mrs. C. G. Hammer as clerks.

Jimmy Vaughter Granted Harvard Scholarship

A national scholarship in Harvard University, one of the world's top-ranking educational institutions, has been awarded to Haskell High School senior, Jimmy Vaughter, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Vaughter of Haskell.

Young Vaughter, valedictorian of the 1959 Senior Class and who last week won the Interscholastic League's state extemporaneous speaking contest, was advised of the scholarship award Wednesday in a letter from Harvard officials.

The Harvard scholarship carries a stipend of $400, and is awarded to only 50 outstanding high school students in a class of approximately 1,200, the HHS senior was advised.

The scholarship award is a "recognition of exceptional intellectual promise, strength of character, and personality, and is the highest honor conferred by Harvard on an incoming freshman," the high school senior was told.

Also this week, young Vaughter was advised that he had been selected as recipient of a Yale scholarship by the admission committee of the New Haven, Conn., college, one of the leading institutions in the nation.

Jury Imposes Two Year Sentence For Horse Theft

A jury hearing testimony in a horse theft trial in 39th District Court last Thursday returned a verdict of guilty and assessed a two year prison sentence.

Charged in the Grand Jury indictment was H. C. (Hut) Corley of Rockester. The indictment alleged theft of a horse from Horace Lee Grider of Rockester on or about Jan. 8 this year.

Prosecution of the case was conducted by District Attorney Royce Adkins, Counsel for the defendant was Tom M. Miller, Graham attorney. The case went to the jury about 6:30 p. m. and the verdict was reported at 9:30 p. m. Thursday.

Jury hearing the case was composed of: J. B. Gipson, foreman; Ollie Gilleland, Oris Gibson, Alvin Dorner, E. H. Burnett, Maurice Gannaway, Calvin Frierson, C. B. Forehand, R. L. Edwards, Jodie Earles, Robert L. Dumas, Lewis Thomas.

Backfiring Motor Results In Fire Damaging Home

Fire starting when the backfiring of his car motor ignited a can of gasoline in a built-in garage, heavily damaged the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harvey, 1004 North Ave. K, about 1:20 p. m. Tuesday.

Mr. Harvey, service manager at Bill Wilson Motor Co., was attempting to start a '46 or '47 model Ford coupe in the garage adjoining the four-room Harvey residence.

Flames from the ignited gasoline quickly filled the small garage, and Mr. Harvey had to make his way through the house to get outside the building. He managed to get the burning car out onto the driveway, but not before flames had spread through the ceiling of the garage and into several rooms of the house.

After arrival of firemen, the blaze was brought under control, but virtually everything in the house had been destroyed or ruined by flames, heat and smoke.

Some delay was encountered in turning in the alarm, neighbors told firemen, several stating they attempted to dial the fire department but were unsuccessful. Firemen theorized that two or more calls had been attempted simultaneously, killing the connection.

The house, heavily damaged throughout, had only been built a few years. It was in the new residential area developed in the northwest part of town a few years ago.

Make Our Guests Feel Welcome

Our town will put its best foot forward this week, as we welcome our neighbors and friends here to attend the community's major annual event, the Rice Springs Roundup. Every citizen who has pride in his community can share in making the event a success by taking part in the many activities going on, and by helping if called upon, for some of the civic tasks that may be required.

Fed Up

"The U. S. public is fed up on bureaucrats." That is the finding of a recent news poll, made in mid-April. Those polled were asked whether, based on their experience, they preferred dealing with the employees of government or of private business. The result: private employees, 65.5 per cent; government employees, 12.5 per cent; about the same, 18.4 per cent; no opinion, 3.6 per cent.

Those Good Old Days

Just about all of us periodically yearn for the alleged "good old days" when, for example, you could buy a pound of meat for a mere 40c. We look at present prices and shake our heads somberly. But the truth is that these "good old days" weren't as rose-colored, financially speaking, as fallible memory would have it. It's true that the dollar-and-cents price of meat is much higher than in past times. But when you apply the most accurate measuring stick—the amount of time we have to work to earn enough money to buy something—it's actually far lower.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS

By A. PATE

PP&T tries to observe a rule against editorializing in the generally accepted definition. But we can't help mentioning that we get a big kick out of the mental gymnastics of some of our fellow citizens.

Staunch State's righters and champions of free enterprise, they can yell to high Heaven about the encroachment of Federal controls out of one side of their mouth, while from the other side plead for a Federal "handout" for some pet project they favor!

Reminds of the yarn we read about the two Beatniks walking down the street. One, seized with something like an epileptic fit, fell to the sidewalk where he lay twisting and squirming.

His pal, watching in bewilderment for a moment started swaying and snapping his fingers as he said: "Man, I don't hear the music, but you're gone, real gone, Daddy-O!"

Same way with some of these so-called advocates of free enterprise. Dangle a little of this magic "Federal Aid" in front of them and—man, they're gone, real gone! They'll get after it faster than a scissor-tail latches on to a June bug!

If we didn't consider them such darned good friends of ours, we'd feel like scolding Judge Chapman and DA Royce Adkins for the oversight in not scheduling that horse theft trial during Western Week.

It would have been a natural, with unlimited promotional angles. The script as developed, although unwritten and unheard, couldn't have been improved.

Take for instance, the testimony in the actual trial concerning a coon dog named Jungle Jim which in some manner was involved. Testimony went something like this:

Defense attorney, questioning witness on stand: What was this coon dog, Jungle Jim worth?

Answer (heatedly): I don't know what he was worth. Q: But you considered him a good coon dog?

A: I don't know whether he was or not. I never did see him catch a coon. Q: Did you ever hunt with him?

A: I walked blisters on my feet hunting with him. Q: And never did tree a coon? A: No, sir. Oh, we did catch an old sick coon on the ground. But there were seven dogs along.

Q: But whether or not you thought he was a good coon dog, you sold him, didn't you? A: No, sir. I didn't sell him. I traded him to a colored preacher down at...

a red dog and a black dog and a little to boot. Yes, sir, as a Western Week feature, it would have been a sell-out!

Abilene's $1 million-plus fire recently when Thornton's huge department store was virtually destroyed, was the most damaging fire in that city's history.

Incidentally a Haskell man, Capt. Houston C. Cross, was in charge of firefighting crews from Dyess Air Force Base that helped control the blaze. Capt. Cross is commander of the 819th Installation Squadron at the base.

A humorous sidelight of the fire was the moving of some 100 new automobiles from the danger zone. Keys were given to anyone who would drive the cars to safety.

Later, the agency wondered if all the cars would be located, and probably had some anxious hours before the entire lot was back in their possession.

Which proves that in an emergency when the chips are down, you're generally safe in trusting total strangers.

We've seen larger conflagrations, but the most vivid recollection of a really "big" fire to a tow-headed urchin was around 1910 when fire consumed most of the second floor of the McNeil & Smith building on the northeast corner of the square.

The fire started in the Elks Club on the second floor about 4 a. m. on a spring morning, and flames and billowing black smoke were an awesome sight to a country boy.

By superhuman effort, volunteer firemen and the town's entire citizenship controlled the fire.

Later, in the early 30's another fire destroyed the building which was rebuilt into the present one-story brick.

Another spectacular blaze was the oil mill fire in the spring of 1916, when buildings containing several hundred tons of cottonseed burned.

It was during the tornado season, and low hanging storm clouds covered the sky when the fire broke out about 9 p. m. and for about an hour the flames reflected from the low clouds lighted up the entire town.

Many people, noting the threatening clouds, had gone to cellars and were unaware of the fire.

There is yarn we've heard told concerning one old-timer who with his wife and family had retired to the storm cellar for the night and knew nothing of the fire.

They got to wondering if they had closed the back door of their house, fearing damage from the blowing rain.

When a lull came in the wind and rain, the man opened the cellar door for a look around. The whole sky was lighted up with a weird red glow. One startled look and he knew the end had come as he called to his wife: "No need to worry about the door now, Gabriel has done blown his horn and the whole world's afire!"

Blue Panic Grass Meets Need For 'Tame' Pasture

Looking for a good tame pasture crop? Blue Panic grass may be what the soil's doctor would prescribe to relieve strain on native grazing land, according to Hinds A. McGowen, Soil Conservation Service of Haskell.

Blue Panic has received recognition both far and near as one of the best conservation and tame pasture crops grown. It has proven to be highly drought resistant and shows no signs of harmful after effects or results of lengthy periods of severe cold weather.

Numerous advantages are to be had by planting an acreage to blue panic. Cost of reseeding annuals will be virtually a thing of the past. Early grazing of high quality as well as quantity will be attained. This grass begins putting on green growth during the warm days of February or March and will furnish an abundance of good grazing before other grasses come up. Blue Panic has one of the highest protein contents of the best grasses. It has been known to run as high as 25 per cent protein.

The local SCS made clippings of Blue Panic grass in 1958 growing season on the Melvin Miller farm near Rule, to determine amounts of green weight growth per acre. In May it was determined that 5,500 pounds of green weight was available for grazing. During the month of July another clipping was made in which the tonnage increased to 19,600 pounds per acre. Mr. Miller has had such success with Blue Panic that he plans on some additional acres in the spring of 1960, said McGowen.

There are grasses which will produce as many or more tons per acre, but none excel Blue Panic in quality, McGowen stated.

More grass planting failures can be attributed strictly to poor seedbed preparation and the actual seeding operation than to dry weather. To obtain the best results from Blue Panic, plant on top as a well prepared firm seedbed, preferably in a good dead litter crop which is considered as being necessary on the sandy soils and highly desirable on tight land.

A Planter Jr. box with special grass seeding plates will give the most satisfactory results in seeding the number of pounds needed per acre, said McGowen. Your local soil conservation district has grass seeding equipment available. However regular farm equipment can be rigged up to do a pretty fair job of planting. No matter what type of equipment is used to seed grass, opening and covering plows should be removed and packer wheels or some form of weights pulled behind tractor to pack the seed down. Under no circumstances should it be planted deeper than 1/2 of one inch if you expect to get a good stand, according to McGowen.

Some of the local farmers who plan on putting in a few acres of Blue Panic this year are Oren L. Howard, east of Rule; James Lisle, south of Rule; Burrell Gilleland, south-east of Haskell; all in California Creek SCS District.

Trotlining is an old-time way of catching fish. And it's still one of the best, and most productive means of taking fish.

But trotlining now, as always, requires skill and patience. The fisherman can't expect to be successful if he merely stretches a line in the water, then goes away forgets about it for a long, long time. So let's explore some of the secrets about trotlining.

A trotline is simply about a hundred feet of strong cord with drop hooks suspended at intervals of several feet. Usually, one end of the line is tied to a tree or rock on the shore, and the other to an anchor in the water. Different conditions, however, often dictate other ways of setting out the line.

One way is to attach an end of the line to a dock piling, under water, then stretch the other end out to its extremity, using an anchor at each end to keep the line taut and the hooks just above the bottom. With this method, the line is kept concealed, entanglement with boats is avoided, and two-legged predators are frustrated.

When it is desired to set the line in deep water, some distance from shore, a float is used for each 25 feet of line. In a slow-flowing stream, some fishermen use a float at one end only. Thus the level of the various hooks extends from near the surface, at the float end, to near the bottom at the other end. In this way, you make an offering of bait to the fish no matter at what level he may be swimming.

Another method is to fix a float at each end of the line, inside of the two anchors. Then let the hooks dangle down along the line, not stretched tight, between the floats. This method presents the baited hooks at various levels.

In a river or lake bed, many fishermen drive stakes at opposite ends of a fairly taut line, then tie on an anchor in the middle of the line. This drops the center of the line to the bottom. The hooks then vary upward in depth from the anchor to the stakes, in two directions. If no anchor is attached to the center of the line, and it is stretched tight, the baited hooks will ride just under the surface.

There are other variations of the trotline set. Many variations will occur to the fisherman as he surveys the water where he plans to operate.

Best time to set out a trotline is at dusk. This because a catfish is notoriously a night feeder. As most other fish feed in the daytime, the night fisherman avoids stealing of bait by the other finny ones.

Of course catfish do sometimes feed during the daylight hours especially the channel cat.

As indicated above, one of the main questions about setting a trotline is whether you want it deep or shallow. Your decision on this part will depend on what kind of catfish you're going after. And what kind are most numerous in the body of water where you are fishing.

Yellow and blue cats feed on the bottom. In fact, so do most varieties, except channel cat. The latter usually will be found close to the top.

Trotline fishing varies a great deal with each locality and each body of water. The fisherman will do well to learn the feeding habits of the fish he seeks. Channel cat will come out of the deep water to feed along the banks on insects that fall off the trees and bushes. Therefore a line parallel with the bank in two or three feet of water is in a good position to catch some fish.

Another good place to set your line is at the mouth of the creek as it empties into the lake or creek into a river. The thing: shrimp, small bream, live minnows, commercial baits, chicken entrails, liver, etc., ad nauseam.

New Game Area Once Historic Cattle Spread

When the Game and Fish Commission takes over some 28,000 acres of the old Matador ranch in North Texas for a wildlife management area, it will be part owner of one of the most historical ranching spots in the State.

The Matador ranch was put together in the late 1870's after a cowboy by the name of Henry Campbell sold a group of Chicago financiers on providing a huge spread of rich grass land for a ranch that would run thousands of head of cattle.

The Game Commission recently contracted for the purchase of 28,000 acres plus, for slightly more than $700,000. It will be used as a game management area, primarily for turkeys and upland game. Since this area once supported a heavy buffalo population, there will be some deer stocked on the property.

"Negotiations have been in progress for some time," according to the executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission. "When we get final possession of the property extensive plans will be made to set up the management area."

This area is out of what is known as the East ranch, about six miles north and west of Paducah. It is well watered and good range land, with ideal habitat conditions for upland game, according to the executive secretary.

New Travel Map Available From Highway Dept.

The 1950 Official Highway Travel Map will be available for distribution Monday by the Texas Highway Department. Copies of "travel encyclopedia" of Texas, as it has been called, may be obtained by writing the Texas Highway Department, Austin 14, or at the highway district offices and travel information bureaus. County tax offices have map cards available for requesting copies of the map.

The new map is the answer to today's demand for more travel information. The steady growth of Texas from a state with a population of slightly over seven million just ten years ago to its present estimated population of more than nine million is reflected by the information appearing in the 1950 map.

Nine more cities and towns are shown on last year's map, making a total of 1,821. The increased mileage in U. S. State, and farm-to-market roads is much more in evidence. The map reflects some 1,600 miles of multilane divided highways now completed in Texas, including the completed sections of the National System of Interstate and Defense highways located in the state.

The map now shows approximately 61 major lakes and reservoirs, and includes countless rivers, creeks and streams. Roadside parks, long cherished by Texans and tourists alike, now number 1,046 as compared to the 1,026 shown on last year's map.

City route maps are provided of the state's 12 largest cities—Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, Lubbock, San Antonio, Waco and Wichita Falls.

The reverse side of the map, with a theme of "Texas, Land of Contrasts," reflects, in 20 full-color pictures, some of the outstanding scenic historical, and recreational attractions in Texas. A section titled "Facts About Texas" gives facts and figures on Texas' natural resources, recreational opportunities, state and national parks, historic points of interest, flora, farming and ranching, terrain features and climate.

The official highway Travel Map is used by all state and governmental agencies in the state for determining highway distances, mileage zones, and like information. The same map is equally as useful to tourists seeking roads leading to good times in Texas.

National Salvation Army Week To Be Observed May 17 To 24

The Salvation Army is known in Texas—and elsewhere—for the service it renders to needy persons. Almost everyone knows that the Salvation Army distributes hot coffee and doughnuts to relief workers at fires, drownings, tornadoes and other scenes of disaster. Most people have seen and heard small bands of uniformed Salvation Army workers conducting religious services on busy street corners, and have paused to drop a coin on the upturned drum head. The Salvation Army trucks with their red shields are familiar sights on our city streets as they gather discarded articles of furniture, broken beds, chairs, kitchen equipment, bundles of newspapers and magazines—articles that can be reclaimed and repaired for distribution among needy families.

But, did you know that all these things represent an infinitesimally small part of the thousands of acts of mercy in relieving pain and suffering, in feeding and caring for the hungry and homeless, in clothing the ragged, in providing shelter for homeless widows and orphans and destitute families, in visiting and caring for the families of prisoners confined in correctional institutions, and in supervising and guiding those paroled from prisons into their care?

This year, throughout the United States, National Salvation Army Week has been re-established and observance will be taking place from May 17 through May 24, in towns, cities and areas across the country. The purpose of Salvation Army Week is to let the people of the United States know what the Salvation Army is and just what the Salvation Army does.

The Salvation Army is, first of all, a religious organization whose original and paramount purpose is to lead men and women into proper understanding of their relationship with God and their fellowmen. Its purpose is evangelistic, but its founder, William Booth, was a realist. He recognized the impossibility of preaching religion to a hungry, dirty, ragged individual. He knew that help toward physical regeneration must go hand in hand with spiritual rebirth.

Voters Opinion Sought On Source For $1 Million In New Taxes

By Senator George Moffett

Texas is faced with one of the most serious financial problems in its history. Many other states have the same problem. In the past ten years the population of our state has increased by nearly two million people. Enrollment in our public schools and colleges is increasing by 100,000 each year.
 Since the State pays 80 per cent of the cost of operation of the public schools and state-supported colleges, it follows that about 40 million dollars of additional revenue must be raised each year just to take care of the normal growth of the school system.

This same record-breaking population increase also over-crowds our state hospitals and penitentiary system, both of which have more inmates than they have ever had. These conditions, plus the rising cost of all supplies purchased by the State, create a need for an annual increase in state revenue of at least 60 millions dollars.
 Unfortunately on account of foreign oil imports, our state tax revenue on oil has been reduced 42 millions dollars. In order to take care of the State's contribution to the schools and colleges, hospitals, penitentiary etc., and also offset the loss in oil revenue, it is necessary to increase statewide taxes in the amount of about 100 million dollars per year to keep our State government running as it is now.

In addition to this 100 million dollars, the Hale-Aikin program for expansion of school facilities and increased teacher salaries calls for another 100 million dollars in new state revenue annually. In the judgment of most members of the legislature, the people of Texas cannot stand anywhere near a 200 million dollar increase in taxes at this time.

The tax bill considered in the regular session actually would have provided only about 30 million dollars in new revenue. It failed of passage. The Special session is faced with the problem of how much additional tax money should be raised and where it should come from.

Most members of the Legislature, including myself, would appreciate statements from the people generally about this serious tax problem. To restate the matter as clearly as possible, it will take nearly a million dollars annually in new taxes to keep our State government going on the present basis of operation for its schools, colleges, hospitals, highways,
 etc.

Do you think that more than 100 million dollars in new taxes should be levied by the Special session of the Legislature; and if so, what should be taxed?
 Your sincere opinion and belief on this matter will be helpful to all members of the Legislature.

The story of WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE and The Church Bell "I don't need to advertise," an established merchant in Kansas once told William Allen White, renowned publisher of The Emporia Gazette. "Everybody knows me and knows what I sell." "In that event," replied the thoughtful publisher, "we can dispense with the oldest advertising medium for the oldest institution in the world. See that church down the street," continued Mr. White, pointing to one of Emporia's oldest and most beautiful structures, "That church has been established here for many years. Everyone knows what it is and what it does. In the tower of the church is a bell and every Sunday it rings out to remind folks to come to church. "Shoppers go where they are invited and stay where they are well treated," concluded the publisher. "Regardless of how well established a firm may be, newspaper advertising is a repeated invitation and a reminder to come and do business with that store." Texas Press Association 1716 SAN ANTONIO ST. 'Separate Tables'
Features Quintet
Of Stars

With the appearance of Deborah Kerr, Rita Hayworth, David Niven, Wendy Hiller
and Burt Lancaster in Hecht-Hill Lancaster's "Separate Tables" at the Texas Theatre, five of Hollywood's foremost stars blend their prize-winning historic talents in a compelling picturization of one of Broadway and London's leading stage successes.

Produced by Harold Hecht
and directed by Delbert Mann,
"Separate Tables" is a poignant drama of love and loneliness as typified by a cross-section of emotion-torn residents of a small British seaside hotel.

For Rita Hayworth, "Separate Tables" provides the most exacting dramatic role the star has ever before attempted as an American divorcee whose vener of sleek sophistication, poise and beauty is brutally pierced to reveal a lonely and frightened woman seeking to reclaim the man she can neither live with or without. Lancaster portrays the object of Miss Hayworth's silken wiles, who cannot shake off the allure of the lovely creature who has brought him only disgrace.

Miss Kerr is seen as Sibyl, retarded emotionally dominated by her mother, afraid of life and romance-starved who finds unexpected strength and understanding in Niven, an Army Major who actually is living a life of lies because of dislike of self. Scandal engulfs the Major and his shame affects those around him with surprisingly dramatic results.

Rev. and Mrs. Doyle Andrews of Mount Vernon, Texas, were here last week to be at the bedside of their mother, Mrs. E. W. Andrews, who was a surgery patient in the Haskell Hospital.

And credit goes to the turbine smoothness of Buick transmissions,

The school year 1958-59 has been important to all the Indians in many ways. The triumphs and victories, the prom, parties, and banquets, and even our defeats have played an important part in our lives. Now the wonderful year is coming to a close. It is sad in a way, but everyone is looking forward to graduation day and the end of school.

Last Thursday Jimmy Vaughtner left the HHS reservation to go to Austin to compete in the State Extemporaneous speaking contest. His effort was not in vain, for he won first place! Jimmy will receive a medal for himself and a plaque for the school.

Jimmy has really done well this year. When all the senior's grades were averaged, it was discovered that his was valedictorian. Dianne Montgomery is salutatorian. HHS has some outstanding students to rave about.

Last Thursday, in private tryouts, the majorettes and drum majorette for the school year 1959-60 were chosen. The majorettes are Gail Ratliff, Danna Smith, Barbara Elliott, Shirley Atkinson and Shirley Norman. The feature twirler is Janice Hattox and flag twirlers are Jane Bell, June Bell, Sherry Burson and Christine Thomas. The drum majorette is Suzanne Lane. The judges were Mr. Mays from Stamford and Mr. Worthom from Rochester. The band will start working on their field marching this Friday.

A little over a week ago the HHS band went to San Angelo to the concert playing contest. They won a II in concert playing and a III in sight reading. Evergreen Indian was exceptionally proud of his annual this year. So many things in it were new. For the first time there was a full colored page of the school which was most beautiful! Elementary school was included in The Chieftain this year, too. The theme carried out was "Indian, this is your life." A mirror reflecting the image of the Indian was on the last page of The Chieftain. The editor of The Chieftain this year was Becky Busby and the editor for the 1960 Chieftain is Suzanne Weaver.

The librarian's dream finally came true. Monday morning when each one walked into the library they were surprised, excited, and oh, so happy about what they saw—a huge, oak magazine rack. The Lion's Club had answered their prayer. It is 9 feet long and 7 feet high and has extra space for storing back issues of magazines. It is perfectly gorgeous and we are thrilled beyond words to have it. Everyone is invited to view it.

Rebecca Griffin did an outstanding job as editor of the War Whoop this year and we are really going to miss her fine, original ideas for our paper next year, but she has a girl who is equally as hard working to succeed her, Martha Decker.

The final event of the Quill and Scroll Society ended in a colorful banquet on Tuesday evening at 8:30 in the Banquet Room of the Haskell National Bank. Twenty-four members and pledges attended the banquet. Jimmy Vaughtner, president of the club, presided at the meeting. Face cards were the new handbooks called, "Smoke Signals," which will be issued to each student next fall—compliments of the organization. Much work has gone into this book, but it will be one of the most helpful books a student and parent can own. The sponsors, Mrs. Diggs and Mrs. Weaver paid tribute to each member for the fine work they had contributed to Quill and Scroll this year. They mentioned the floats for the Christmas parade, the selling of the pudding, the Quiz Show, the sweater awards for high scholastic rating, and the hard work and long hours put in on the hand-book.

Recalling the events, it is hard to believe the year is gone. The moments and hours have slipped through our fingers, never to return, yet never to be forgotten. May God bless and keep you all through the following months, and, until we meet again in the midst of the falling leaves and glowing sunsets of the beautiful Indian summer. Farewell.

Church Officers Installed At Weinert

Members of the Weinert Foursquare Church met in the Community Center in Weinert Friday evening, May 8, for a membership meeting and installation of officers.

Mrs. Henry Vojkufka was lay speaker. Mrs. Melvin Vojkufka gave a tribute to the pastor, Mrs. Oma Jones, and installed the following officers: Thurman Stout, Sunday School superintendent; Henry Vojkufka (re-elected) and Mrs. M. L. Raynes Jr., Council members; Feba Jo Stout, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Leonard Alexander and Mrs. Eunice Strickland, deaconesses; Fred Jones and Melvin Vojkufka, ushers; Leo Freeby and Wayne Stout, junior ushers.

Each officer was presented with a rose as their respective duties were explained to them. Supper was prepared by members.

New Law Affects Livestock Dealers

Scores of southwest livestock buyers are expected to register and furnish bond under a new amendment to the Packers and Stockyards Act, effective May 24, 1959.

This was announced today by W. C. Ball, district supervisor, Packers and Stockyards office, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Fort Worth.

Dealers, market agencies, either buying or selling on a commission basis, and packer lines—operating across state lines either by the country or at markets subject to the Packers and Stockyards Act—must register. Mr. Ball points out that, also, all except packer buyers must furnish bond. Bond coverage is based upon the volume of business transacted, but in no case less than $5,000.00.

Previously, the regulations on interstate livestock marketing applied only to persons dealing at markets subject to the Act.

Mr. Ball emphasizes that the law places the responsibility on the dealer to register and obtain bond coverage if he is operating across state lines.

Texas and eastern New Mexico livestock dealers should register immediately with the District Packers and Stockyards office, 231 Livestock Exchange Building, Fort Worth, Texas.

Big Bird Crop Now Indicated For Fall Hunt

Right now conditions are favorable for a top bird season for this fall, according to the assistant secretary of the Game and Fish Commission. Quail already have paired off and doves are nesting.

At its last meeting the Game Commission also made native quail brood stock available to game breeders. A resolution was passed authorizing the sale of native brood quail at $3 per pair to licensed breeders, on condition that they be used to raise quail for release only. Such broodstock will not be available until next fall.

Birds for stocking farms and ranches also are available to landowners at 50 cents each. Landowners desiring birds for stocking purposes should contact their local game warden for further instructions.

The Commission also has released 300 gray Francolin partridges from New Delhi, India, near Brady. The birds were brought into this country through cooperation with the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service.

"Conditions are excellent right now in the field," the assistant secretary said. "We've had enough moisture recently that weed crops are coming along fine for both cover and feed. If nests are not destroyed by flood waters birds should be very plentiful."

J. E. Walling Jr. On Clarendon Banquet Program

J. E. Walling, Jr., civic leader and former Haskell Mayor, will be one of the speakers at a program in Clarendon tonight (Thursday) where a banquet by the Texas Butane Dealers Association will honor Ray Noblitt of that city. The Clarendon man has been selected by his industry as the "Butane Dealer of the Year."

Walling, owner of Walling Butane Appliances, Haskell, was president of the Association at the time Noblitt served on its board of directors.

M. G. Highnote, current president of the Texas Butane Dealers Association, will preside at the banquet. The affair will be held in Clarendon Junior College gymnasium.
