Indians Defeat Anson, 14-12, to Close Season

The Haskell Indians rang down the curtain on the 1959 football season Friday night by toppling arch district foe Anson Tigers, 14-12, in a closely fought conference game at Anson.

A late fourth-quarter touchdown by fullback Tom Anderson followed by his successful conversion, spelled out the victory for the Tribe.

The Indians went through the air during much of the game, with Quarterback Bobby Gibson averaging a nine-yard gain on eight successful tosses.

Gibson also racked up Haskell's first TD when he went over from the one on a quarterback sneak.

Anson tied the game in the second, then went out front in the fourth.

Man Jailed for Store Break-In at O'Brien

A 30-year-old resident of the O'Brien area was in jail here Tuesday in connection with a break-in at Banner Grocery in O'Brien about 5:30 a. m. Monday.

Persons who happened to be up at the early hour saw the suspect in the vicinity of the store, reported the burglary and gave officers a description of the man.

Sheriff Bill Pennington, Deputy Moreland Glass and Rochester Deputy Buddy LeFevre investigated and after checking all circumstances, took the 30-year-old man in custody.

Detective work on the part of officers linked the man with the burglary, the sheriff's department reported. In gaining entry to the store through a window, a button was torn from the suspect's jacket and was found by officers. When the suspect was arrested, a button was missing identical to the one found by officers.

The store owner told officers that cigars and cigarettes were missing in the burglary.

Evangelist, 18, Will Preach in Haskell Tonight

An 18-year-old preacher who has won wide recognition as an evangelist in the short space of three months, will speak at the Church of God in this city tonight.

His topic will be "The Day Christ Committed Suicide," and the service is scheduled at 7:30 p. m.

The Rev. Donald Ned Hicks, who started his evangelist work over a radio station in Albuquerque, N. M., little more than three months ago, will speak at the local church this one night only.

He launched his radio messages on one of the smaller stations in New Mexico, but has since moved to one of the stronger broadcasting stations. His messages, Hour of Faith, are now heard in seven states in the U. S. and Canada, covering seven-eighths of British Columbia alone. It is said to be the only program of its kind originating at a New Mexico station.

The popularity of his program is borne out by the fact that within less than six weeks after the program was launched, 12 stations were added to the broadcast.

He is much in demand, a point that has been exemplified by the large number of requests for his services.

Further information concerning his appearance here will be found in a page advertisement in this issue of The Free Press.

Haskell-Throck Firemen To Star In Gridiron Contest

Billed as one of the top attractions in post-season football, Haskell and Throckmorton fire department teams will meet in Indian Stadium Thursday night, Nov. 19, at 7:30 o'clock.

At stake in the contest, according to Chief Jim Byrd of Haskell and Chief Bobby Joe Self of Throckmorton, is the mythical title of champion firemen's football team of Texas.

Workouts in preparation for the game have been underway this week under the direction of Coach Geo. Neely and Strategist Ray Overton Jr., both members of the local department.

From the 33-man ranks of Haskell firemen, Neely has set up three platoons, his "Go" team, Chinese Bandits, and the "Whites." The third string squad will be sent in as a clean-up detail following the Chinese Bandits, Neely explained.

First string "Go" team will include: Jim Alvia, center;

Property owners in Haskell and Rule have been notified by the North Central Texas Water Authority of dates for the meeting of the district's Board of Equalization in the two towns, for the purpose of determining the amount at which property is to be assessed on the district's tax rolls.

Equalization Board meetings in Haskell will be held at the Courthouse on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 20 and 21. In Rule the Board will meet on Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 18 and 19 at the Rule Legion Hall.

Property owners were also notified of the figure at which their real estate and personal property would be listed on the NCTMWA tax rolls. Owners may submit evidence as to the value of their property at the meeting of the Board of Equalization, if they consider the tentative estimate in error. R. C. Couch Jr., of this city is chairman of the Board of Equalization.

Taxes being assessed now are for the year 1959. Values as shown in notices to property owners represent approximately 65 per cent of the actual value of the property.

Personal Property To Be Readjusted

Since the notices were mailed, it has developed that the personal property valuations, as far as automobiles are concerned, reflect in excess of 65 per cent, NCTMWA officials stated Wednesday.

These values will be automatically adjusted to represent 65 per cent of the Blue Book values, a national standard for automobile values.

These reduced valuations will be made without necessity of the taxpayer appearing before the Equalization Board, Water District officials assured.

The tax rate is tentatively set at 85c on the $100 valuation. Directors of the Water Authority recently announced plans to sell $1,250,000 bonds to finance land purchases and build a dam for a municipal reservoir on Miller Creek east of Munday.

Taxable values in the district, which includes Haskell, Rule, Munday and Goree, amount to approximately $24,000,000.

Lane-Felker Plans Formal Opening For New Store

Plans are being completed for a formal opening of Lane-Felker's newly remodeled and enlarged store, to be held Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 23-24.

The store, one of the leading fashion centers for women's wear in this section, has been enlarged and modernized during the summer, with many new fixtures added.

Invitation to visit the store on the occasion of the two-day Formal Opening will be extended in a special edition of The Free Press.

Co-captains of the Chinese Bandits are Sonny Reynolds and Dude Mercer; with Capt. Lusk and Alvis Bird co-captains of the third squad.

Neely's charges were being plagued this week by arthritis and rheumatism, slowing down the practice session, but he is optimistic in the belief that he can whip into shape a full squad for the contest.

Throckmorton's squad, in charge of "Boss" Gober, coach and Harteel Ash, trainer, is reported to be in top shape for the contest.

All proceeds from the game go to the two departments. Advance tickets are available from any fireman, with all seats going at $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children.

A Job Well Done

The response of Haskell people in generously oversubscribing the $11,070 goal of the United Fund for 1960, is concrete testimony to the fact that our citizenship is always willing to support all worthy causes.

Although the major credit is naturally due those who contributed in a material way, credit is also due the leaders and the almost 200 volunteer workers who gave of both their means and their time in canvassing the community in behalf of the United Fund.

Since this was the first time in Haskell's history that an effort was made to coordinate all fund-raising campaigns for a year into one effort, there were many opportunities for error in planning and handling the drive.

Some mistakes were made, but fortunately these were due to lack of experience in such an undertaking, and did not result in harm to any cause. Rather, these few oversights will be beneficial in the future, and will make easier the planning and carrying out of future United Fund drives.

We feel that officers and directors of the United Fund have done their job well, and they, along with every volunteer worker and every contributor can take pride in the success of this commendable community project.

Juvenile Discipline Needed

Concerning the alarming increase in juvenile crime in all parts of the nation, J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, says:

"A valuable ally in the fight against crime, the news media of the Nation, can afford further public service in focusing the spotlight of public opinion on those members of the judiciary who, in the face of the present crisis, persist in endangering the public by unleashing young terrorists apprehended at great risk by law enforcement officers.

"Parents who, through bad example, indifference, or lust for worldly gain, inflict upon their fellow men the scourge of vicious offspring deserve to feel the sting of public indignation and to face legal and financial responsibility for the criminal acts of their children.

"At this time, when the increase in youthful crimes constitutes the bulk of the shameful rise in our national crime, serious consideration should be given to lowering the age distinction between a juvenile and an adult violator. We are dealing with vicious young criminals, and they should be treated as such.

"The prevention of juvenile destruction lies in the establishment of juvenile discipline. Assuredly, this is the responsibility of every individual interested in his own safety and the welfare of his country."

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS

By A. PATE

We got our first 1960 Calendar the other day, through the kindness of friend Bud Herren, representative of the Farm Bureau.

The calendar, distributed by the Farm Bureau, is handily arranged and contains much valuable information on weather, phases of the moon, time of the sun's rising and setting, etc.

We were startled for a moment, however, by a bit of information recorded on the calendar. For an instant we had misgivings that things might be getting out of hand, that the calendar makers were out to show the world that Kruschek's tinkering with the moon was kid stuff.

Under each date on the calendar is listed the hour of sunrise and sunset. Starting Jan. 1, when the sun rises at 7:22 and sets at 4:45. Old Sol moves on schedule down through the month, rising on Jan. 15 at 7:21 and setting at 4:58.

Then on Jan. 16, according to the calendar, Old Sol is gonna bob up at 4:59 and hold off until sunset at 7:20—a full 14 hours and 21 minutes of sunlight in January!

Things will be normal next day the calendar records, with the sun coming up at 7:20 and setting at 5:30 sharp.

All of which goes to show that calendar makers, the same as newspapers, are subject to unintentional mistakes at times and on the most unexpected subjects. We call them typographical errors. To the public they are ignorant blunders.

Now that cold weather has (we hope) sent rattlesnakes into hibernation for the winter, the foxes, skunks and o'possums will probably take over, since there seems to be an abundance of wild life of all kinds this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Baker, who deliver the Abilene Morning News, say they have seen several wild fox on recent mornings in various parts of town while delivering papers before dawn.

Years ago, the Bakers farmed northwest of town and raised large flocks of turkeys and chickens. "I shudder to think what these foxes would have done to our poultry back in those days," Tom remarked.

In the 20's and before, farmers kept coyotes and other predators pretty well under control, Baker said. A fox was a rarity in this section then, he added.

Glancing through the pages of The Free Press last week (yes, we do, too, read our own newspaper) an advertisement of a Roller Rink in a neighboring town brought back boyhood memories of the period when a "skating rink" was next to a traveling carnival or circus from the viewpoint of teenagers 40 years ago.

We noticed, too, that the fellow who made-up the page form (placed the type and ads together) must have been of about the same generation of youngsters. Very appropriately, to our way of thinking, he placed the roller rink ad below and alongside the weekly Hospital Notes!

Chances are that old boy had gone through the same experience we did in learning to roller skate!

We recall a skating rink that was set up here in the summer of '16 or '17 and did a land office business. It was located about where Hammer Laundry is now and was operated by Frank Dodson.

It drew large crowds every night, and the antics of amateurs provided plenty of amusement for spectators who crowded the place, eager to watch the spills of their more daring friends who attempted to negotiate the snarp turns on the narrow rink floor.

Some of the skaters became real expert—"Spot" Lemmer, Raymond Stuart, T. J. Lemmon, Ray Stanten, Ed Steen, etc. Dee Holcomb and others who could out fancy figures on the rink floor.

Holcomb, who now farms and ranches in the Matton section, was an expert skater except for one weakness. He was extremely ticklish, touch a finger to his ribs and he couldn't control himself! He'd slip, whirl, lose control of his feet and more often than not land kerplunk on the floor.

Younger friends delighted in tormenting Dee after they learned he was "goosy." When he was on the rink, they'd skate up close and pretend they were going to punch him with a finger, and the fun would start.

Being a good-natured cuss, Dee stood the tormenting as long as he could. Then one night, he rounded up a few of the young rascals and laid the law down. From then on, he was allowed to skate without interference.

We do recall one instance after that when we believe someone "goosed" Dee. Single then, he was skating with a rather plump number. There was quite a crowd on the floor, and we were rolling along just behind Dee and his partner.

Suddenly, near a turn at the end of the rink there was a pile-up, and before we knew what was happening we were flat on the floor and Dee's hefty partner had plumped down very solidly in the middle of our back.

Our skinny frame, not structurally designed to withstand such weight, was completely deflated until Dee was able to get his partner back on her feet.

Some people, like Dee, are naturally more ticklish than others.

Gene Tenn, for instance, is about as ticklish as Dee, although the years have served to make them somewhat immune probably a result of having been tormented by friends over a long period of time.

Gene's friends used to give him "the works" by punching or tickling him at every opportunity.

He worked as an automobile mechanic for years, back in the days when a mechanic had to crawl under a car and do a lot of work while laying flat on his back.

Gene's friends liked nothing better than to catch him under a car, especially if he was having to use both hands in holding or attaching some part of a motor. They'd start tickling him unmercifully as he twisted and squirmed to get out from under the car. On one or two occasions he would suffer painful injuries when he'd strike his head against the car frame when startled.

It was all in fun, of course, but Gene got to the point where he wouldn't tackle a job where he was "hemmed in" if he thought any pranksters were around.

FOR SHERIFF: W. H. (Bill) Pennington. For re-election.

STATEMENT OF AGENCY POLICY . . .

Texas Mission Home and Training School, San Antonio

This is the same time keep her condition secret; how to obtain medical care within the limit of her resources; and what to do about the baby. Involved in all of these is the girl's need for expert counseling on the emotional problems which unwed motherhood always presents.

The Texas Mission Home and Training School provides a Christian and a professional answer to these questions and offers agency service to any Anglo or Latin American girl in need of such help. Set out below are the conditions under which such help is available. This service is offered subject to the limitations of the Home 155 patients and staff.

Any girl who is pregnant out of wedlock and is in need of a protected situation may be admitted to the Home. This protection allows the girls to keep from others the fact that she is pregnant out of wedlock. The Home is not prepared to give inexpensive maternity care for girls who do not need a protected situation and who can usually find such care in their home community.

The Home is not able to care for girls who are known delinquents or mentally handicapped since they do not have the facilities to provide this special care. If there is some special medical problem other than that connected with the pregnancy this requires careful evaluation of the problem to determine if the Home has adequate facilities for providing the special care needed.

They do not accept girls who are divorced and pregnant by someone other than her husband.

If a girl wishes to apply for admission to the Home, she should fill out the available form, obtainable through any Methodist minister, and return it to Mr. Spencer Stockwell, the very able administrator. This will furnish the Home with some necessary information about her and her situation.

They will arrange a day convenient with her and any who may come with her to interview her and temporarily admit her into the Home. In most cases this will become permanent in a matter of a few days.

If they discover that they are not able to help her and that she needs some other service agency than theirs, they work with her in making these arrangements. All information is kept confidential.

Upon entering the Home each girl selects a "house-name" (either first, second, or an assumed name) which hides her real identity from the other girls. The staff of the Home is pledged to guard the identity of all residents and no one need know that a girl is or has ever been in the Texas Mission Home and Training School. Too, it is very important that the one referring a girl to the Home protect the girl's identity in every way possible. The residents are urged to keep their identity unknown to the other girls.

No girl is turned away because of the lack of financial resources; the Methodists of Texas makes this possible. The maximum cost to the resident is $170 ($70 clinic fee and $100 Sharing Fund) and it is hoped that most residents, their family or sponsor, may assist in the payment of these maximum costs. The actual cost of a girl's care for four months averages about $625.

Every girl who comes to the Home is expected to share in the work. This means that in addition to keeping her own room neat and clean she will be assigned other work by the staff, such work assignments always being made according to the physical condition and ability of the girl. This plan applies to all girls in the Home regardless of the amount of fee paid. All girls must observe the rules of the Home, and failure to do so may cause her dismissal.

Whatever special abilities the residents may have are encouraged and an effort is made to channel these into the program of the Home. Daily chapel devotions (each girl is expected to lead this service in rotation while in the Home) and Sunday worship services (including a robed choir) provide ample expression of spiritual ability. Girls with stenographic or typing ability help on the rather extensive mailing program and on office work.

After receiving authorization by letter or phone from the administrator or his assistant, she is ready to come to the Home. If she should come by important decision is provided by the administrator and other caseworkers during the girl's stay in the Home. The girl is never put under any pressure to surrender her child but every effort is made to help her make an intelligent, mature and Christian decision.

Instruction in commercial subjects, homecrafts, self-improvement, and various creative arts are provided in the training program. The girl is expected to participate in this part of the program.

The mother of the baby has final authority regarding the disposition of the baby to be born. Any resident has two choices, either (1) place her baby in a good adoptive home through this agency or (2) take the baby with her when she leaves. Expert counsel on this bus, train or plane she should take a taxi to the Home, 103 Ninth St., San Antonio. The staff will be expecting her so she should give the name that was given on the admission form to identify herself. The Home will attempt to provide a real "home"—a place where each girl has thrown around her all the therapeutic influences of understanding and profession insight into her personal problems reinforced and enriched by the resources of a vital Christian faith.

Over 75 per cent of the Home's support comes from Special Day offerings conducted in each church once a year. Nov. 15 a Special Day offering will be held in the Northwest Texas Conference of which the First Methodist Church of Haskell is a member.

In and Out the Tee Peees

BY SUZANNE LANE

To the four corners of the country is where different groups of HHS are going.

The speech and journalism students are going to Abilene Saturday, Nov. 14. There is to be a speech and journalism clinic at Abilene high school. There will be classes for students in speech, how to make yearbooks, tips on how to edit a school newspaper, and how to write columns for a paper. The classes will start at 8:40 a. m. and will last all day. The clinic is an annual event.

Next Saturday, Nov. 21 the Indian Band will travel to Sweetwater to attend the annual band marching contest. Each band will be graded on their appearance and neatness as well as playing and marching. The majorettes and feature twirler will twirl at the contest also.

Mrs. Middleton's English III students had to really get on the ball last week. Each student had to write a poem. Mrs. Middleton posted six on the bulletin board. Here is an example of HHS poetry:

The world is a beautiful thing made by God. We cherish and love it, where so many have trod. Have trod over earth, over mountain, and sea. They have made a place, for you and me.

A place for us to live and grow strong. A place for us even when we are wrong. A place to sleep, to worship, and to pray. A place to live in, day by day.

By Marsha Buerger.

This week HHS has a visitor, a traveling science teacher. He is Mr. Charles Compton of Andrews, Texas. There was an assembly for both Junior High and High School students Monday morning and all Indians truly enjoyed the experiments

Mr. Compton showed them. As you can tell, things are really jumping as they always are in good ole HHS.

Motorists are getting so concerned over the number of miles they can get per tank of gas that the auto manufacturers are going to be forced to enlarge the size of the tanks. There's a man with the angles, for every girl with the curves.

Agent Gives Tip On Proper Care Of Steam Iron

My steam iron doesn't work like it did when it was new.
What can I do about it?
This has been the comment of several women while working in the semi-tailoring workshop conducted by Barbara McAnelly, county home demonstration agent.
Mineral deposits have collected within the iron cutting off the supply of steam, even when distilled water is used.
Your steam iron needs cleaning out. A good way to remove these deposits is by using distilled vinegar occasionally.

Simply fill the iron with vinegar, steam for 15 minutes, and let stand overnight. In the morning, pour the vinegar out of the iron and rinse thoroughly. This rinsing is important and should be very completely done, since vinear steam on your freshly laundered clothes is most undesirable.

NEWS OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Mrs. R. L. Burton Directs Garden Club Program

The Haskell Garden Club met Thursday Nov. 5 in the community room for the annual program on Horticulture, with Mrs. R. L. Burton, leader. Co-hostesses were Mrs. C. O. Holt, Mrs. W. E. Huss, Mrs. Dennis Ratliff, Mrs. Earl Atchison and Mrs. Morrell Dick.

Unusual arrangements of fruit, vegetables, flowers and foliage were used in profusion in various containers to emphasize the fall motif.

Miss Nettie McCollum talked on bulbs and bulb culture. It was learned that the principle use of many bulbs was for specimen and foundation planting. In planting these beautiful flowers it is essential that the bulb be planted at the right depth, watered and tamped down to shut out air pockets. The speaker reminded gardeners that now is the time to plant tulips, lilies, snowdrop, grape hyacinths, daffodils and other bulbs for early spring blooms.

Mrs. J. M. Glass discussed the principles of soil preparation and advised a mixed sandy loam for bulbs. Also that it is best to move bulbs to new beds each year and to mulch from planting to blooming stage. She pointed out that many bulbs are for more disease-free than average garden material and much easier to grow than is commonly believed in this area.

Mrs. Ira Hester gave an informative discussion on the importance of pruning of various plants. She stated that one-third of a lilac plant should be removed each year to insure new growth and luxuriant blooms and to prune as soon as the plant has bloomed itself out.

So-Called Farm Subsidy Benefits Many Business and Non-Farmers

(Texas Wheat Growers Association is seeking to correct some of the misconceptions of the public concerning grain subsidies. Following a recent release of the association—The Editor.)

Ask the average man on the street what he thinks of government subsidies and chances are 19 to 1 that he will tell you he is against them. Ask him who gets most government subsidies and his answer will be—farmers. Ask if he or his business receive a subsidy and the answer is likely to be an emphatic NO!

But despite such commonly expressed opinions, the American public has been supporting an elaborate system of government subsidies since the first Congress met in 1789. It is difficult to name a business which is not receiving some type of government subsidy. This "average man on the street" who says he is opposed to all subsidies comes into contact with them every day.

When he awakens in the morning, he turns on a light and immediately starts sharing the results of a subsidy provided through a fast tax write-off plan which saves power companies billions of dollars—and which reduces his light bill accordingly.

When he goes to a breakfast of bacon and eggs, he shares the benefits of the government's 19 million dollar Federal Meat Inspection program—a program conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for the sole purpose of assuring the public a safe and wholesome supply of meat.

If he has children in school, their education is subsidized by taxes paid by the childless neighbor across the street. And, if his are among the 35 million children who eat a hot lunch provided through highly popular government school lunch program, he receives direct benefits from another $100 million government subsidy. If his children are in one of the 62,000 schools participating in the special school milk program, they come in for a share of still another $75 million subsidy.

When "Mr. Average Man on the Street" drives the family car into the filling station and tells the attendant to "fill'er up" he again shares in a major government subsidy—one brought about through a special "depletion allowance" tax regulation which cuts the petroleum industry's annual operation expense by about one billion dollars a year.

If he makes a trip by plane, he rides at a fare made possible by a direct subsidy to airlines—and by tax supported airports and air traffic control facilities.

If he lives in a house purchased with a GI loan, he pays a lower rate of interest because Uncle Sam has agreed to bail the banker out, in case there is a default in payments.

When he sits down to read a magazine, he starts sharing a subsidy provided through the U. S. Post Office Department—a subsidy which has cut the annual cost of mailing a single publication by as much as $8,604,000.

Ready for bed, the "average man on the street" goes to a closet and places his trousers on a steel hanger that came from a plant built on a cost plus basis during World War II and sold to a steel company for a song a few years later.

So, throughout the day, the man who says he is opposed to all forms of subsidy has been sharing special services provided at the taxpayer's expense.

The following figures show the Bureau of Budget's breakdown of "current expense of aids and special services" for a recent year.

COC losses on farm price support, $184 million; International wheat agreement, $77 million; Grants in aid to extension service, experiment stations, etc., $60 million; other USDA operations, $94 million. This makes a total for agriculture of $463 million.

Post Office Dept. in favor of business, $670 million; navigation aids, $137 million; air navigation aids, $93 million; ship operation subsidies, $50 million other special aids to business, $138 million.

This makes a total for business of $1041 million.

Special subsidies to labor, including grants to states for operating employment service and unemployment compensation programs amount to $200 million.

These conditions do not justify a continuation of ineffective farm price support programs now in operation, they do show clearly that farmers have not been—and are not now—the exclusive beneficiaries of special subsidies and services supplied at the expense of the U. S. taxpayer.

Editorials labeling total USDA expenditures as "a six and one half or seven billion dollar subsidy to farmers" have become common place.

Many critics, in an effort to discredit farm programs they do not like are using inaccurate and misleading figures which tend to turn the public against any type of government service to agriculture and even against farmers themselves.

Eliminating excessive government farm program cost—and even farm programs themselves, where they are not effective—should be the goal of every American, but we cannot—and we will not—permit the public to think of the cost of all USDA activities as a "subsidy to farmers."

We must remind the public Gal Two... So-Called Farm .. that USDA activities serve the total public in many instances.

One sixteenth of the cost of the total farm program in 1957 went to the farm commodity export program of which Secretary Ezra Benson said, "It is helping keep the free world free. It is an ambassador of good will. Every American can be proud of the constructive use being made of the abundance of nourishing farm products."

About a half billion dollars went for REA loans. These are repaid with interest and repayments are over $100 million ahead of schedule.

Twenty-eight million went for market research programs.

Federal Meat Inspection, costing $19 million, is for the sole purpose of assuring all the public of a clean, wholesome supply of meat. It is, in effect, a program for policing the packing industry.

The Brucellosis Eradication program, costing $22 million, is solely for public health protection.

The universally popular school lunch program costs $284 million and benefits several million school children including those whose fathers are writing editorials referring to the program as part of the "46½ or $7 billion subsidy to farmers."

The supervision and operation of 181 million acres of national forests is also charged to the "farm program" although they are maintained for the production of timber, regulation of stream flow, flood control, water power, irrigation, navigation and municipal water supply—all in the interest of the public. Over 45 million citizens took advantage of the recreational facilities of national forests last year.

USDA appropriations editorially referred to as "a subsidy to farmers" or "the cost of the price support program" are also used to pay for the operation of Extension Service retirement program for some 83,000 USDA employees and many other USDA activities which serve the general public as well as farmers.

Women of Evans School Organize Ladies Club

Some of the ladies of Haskell met Friday at 2:30 at the Evans Elementary School and organized a Ladies Club.

Club officers elected were Mrs. Juanita Lewis, president; Mrs. Dorothy Billington, secretary; Mrs. Mae Verna Jackson, treasurer; Mrs. Ellis, representative, and Mrs. Walker, reporter. Other officers will be elected at the next meeting.

Also at the next meeting, each member will bring two aims of the club which will be centered on the welfare and interest of the school in general and to set a goal for which to work.

High nitrogen levels without adequate potash will, over a period of years, increase the hazards of winterkill of Coastal Bermuda grass and small grain says John Box, agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Box adds that soil tests show heavy applications of nitrogen will result in rapid removal of potassium from the soil and in turn increase the hazards of winterkill.

The smallest good deed is better than the greatest intention.

Social Security Benefits of $35,808 Monthly Paid In Haskell County

In February, 1959, old-age, survivors, and disability insurance monthly benefits amounting to $35,808 were paid 712 beneficiaries in Haskell County, according to R. R. Tuley Jr., manager of the Abilene social security district office. In the 18-county Abilene district, the monthly benefits were being paid at the rate of just over $12,000,000 a year, he reported.

"This is an increase in money of about 31% over Dec. 31, 1957, and an 18% increase in the number of beneficiaries," Tuley said.

Tuley stressed that while the benefits are intended primarily as a foundation for the beneficiary's economic security, the payment of social security benefits at the rate of $25,808.00 a month in Haskell County for example, helps business in the community generally because most of the money is spent immediately on food, clothing, and other necessities.

"In February social security benefits were being paid nationally at a rate of nearly 10 billion dollars annually."

"There were several reasons for the increase in beneficiaries over last year," he said. The long-term growth of the aged population and of the proportion of the aged population eligible for benefits are important factors in the continuing increase in the number of beneficiaries. Other reasons for increase in beneficiaries are found in the provisions of the 1958 amendments to the Social Security Act which now make it possible for the wife, dependent husband, and children of a disabled-worker beneficiary to receive monthly payments. These amendments also provide for benefits to aged dependent parents of a deceased worker even though other survivors are entitled to payments.

The table below shows the number and amount of each type of benefit being paid in Haskell County as of Feb. 28, 1959, the date of the latest available tabulation:

Retired workers (391) were paid $23,664; wife or husband (168) received $5,231; widow and dependent parents (70) were paid $2,311; and children (82) received $3552.

For the entire State of Texas, social security payments at the end of February 1959 were being paid to 488,026 beneficiaries at the rate of $26,693,144 per month. Social security benefits totaling $283,466,000 were paid in Texas during 1958.

Deer and Duck Seasons Set to Begin Soon

Two major hunting seasons will get under way in Texas within the next ten days, according to the executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

The duck hunting season will open noon, Nov. 13. The bag limit will be 4 ducks daily, but not more than one can be a canvassack or redhead. The duck inventory in Texas at the present time is very good, according to waterfowl biologists who have been making surveys throughout the State. Many of the ducks are young ones, however, indicating the late hatch in the nesting grounds.

Goose season already is underway, having opened at sunrise, Oct. 26. The duck season will end Jan. 1, and the goose season will end Jan. 8.

Waterfowl hunters are required to have a $3 Federal duck stamp, which can be bought at the post office.

The white-tailed deer season will open in most counties in Texas Nov. 16. The mule deer season will open Dec. 1 west of the Pecos. There will be deer seasons in many other counties in Texas under regulatory control. It is advised that you check with your local game warden on these areas.

The basic bag limit is two bucks. However, doe shooting will be permitted in a number of Texas counties again this year, which will permit hunters to take either bucks or doe.

Two atomic powered submarines capable of firing the Polaris missile from sub or surfaced positions have been launched—the George Washington and the Patrick Henry.

Affray At Dance Bring Fines for Five Mexicans

Beer and whiskey generated hot tempers at a Mexican dance here Saturday night, and as a result two men went to the hospital for treatment of knife wounds, then with three other men were arraigned at a past-midnight session of Justice Merle Weaver's court.

Called to investigate the disturbance were members of the sheriff's department, who signed complaints against the five offenders. Justice Weaver identified the culprits and said they were fined as follows after pleading guilty:

Fined $20.50 for assault and $20.50 for affray was George Oama, who officers said used a knife during the ruckus.

Fined for affray, $20.50 were two brothers, Wally and Mack Rodriguez, and Lupe Fentes, while drawing the same fine for drunkenness was Manuel Villa.

The Rodriguez men were the objects of the knife-wielder's attention, officers said. Each received knife cuts on head and face which required several stitches.

Atomic Science Instructor Talks At Lions Club

The science demonstration and lecture program being carried out in Haskell High School this week was outlined to members of the Lions Club at their weekly meeting and luncheon Tuesday at noon.

The speaker was Charles E. Compton Jr., one of the 20 specially trained science teachers who is in Haskell to present the program.

He explained how the program was set up through a grant to Oklahoma State University from the National Science Foundation.

One of the interesting points brought out in his talk was the fact that during the next 5 years, the atomic industry will provide an estimated 900,000 new jobs for trained persons.

Program chairman T. G. Cahill introduced HHS Principal W. P. McCollum, who presented the speaker.

Those were reminded of the Zone meeting scheduled here Tuesday night, and of the pending visit of the District Governor on Nov. 24. A letter of thanks from the High School was read, expressing appreciation for the club's part in the school Halloween program.

Guests at the meeting were Lee Dennett of Haskell, Jim Tuggle of Abilene, and Evangelist Ned Hicks of Albuquerque, N. M.
