

Reserves tab Chayes 'patriot'

"I feel proud that you have honored me tonight. But allow me to accept this award on behalf of the three million men and women — active and reserve — serving in uniform — and their fallen comrades."

Those were the comments of Under Secretary of the Air Force Antonia H. Chayes upon accepting the Patriot of the Year Award from the Reserve Officer Association in Syracuse, N.Y.

"These military people accept the fact that they must part with their families to give their labor — and sometimes their lives.

"Volunteers all, they accepted the risks and they endured the hardships, the injuries, the fear and the disappointment. And with understated eloquence they said they would try it again if asked to do so.

"Patriotism in American has a long and proud history. By the time blood was shed at Concord and Lexington, the profiles of America's patriots were cast.

"Patriots are not found in war alone. The men and women who crossed the plains and mountains of our country in the 1800s and settled the remote areas beyond the Rockies were equally patriots.

"So were the immigrants, escaping tyranny and oppression, who by their labors in helping to build this country have offered it a rich heritage of diversity.

"Our history is full of patriots.

"We, the ordinary citizens, bear the responsibility for keeping patriotism alive. Patriotism is more than a snapshot of a dramatic event." (AFNS)

Davis backs bill

Congress debates military pay

The Nunn-Warner Amendment, which Air Force leaders believe to be the most important military entitlements package since the pay comparability legislation was enacted in 1971, is now awaiting House action after its recent Senate passage.

Gen. B.L. Davis, Air Training Command commander, considers the amendment a step in the right direction toward helping to solve retention problems.

Erosion of pay

The result of this erosion of pay and entitlements, according to General Davis, is that many qualified, motivated patriotic men and women are discovering they, literally can't afford to serve their country.

"All pay inadequacies — estimated to require as much as $5.5 billion in increased military pay — can't be corrected in a single initiative," General Davis stated. "But the Nunn-Warner Amendment is a good start. I'm optimistic that the House will pass it."

Following is a summary of the amendment as passed by the Senate:

- Variable Housing Allowance. This provision would establish a VHA system that would pay the full difference between average local housing costs and 115 percent of the basic allowance for quarters.

- Permanent Change of Station Enhancement. Basically, this provision would increase the 10 cents per mile reimbursement

Grunt, groan

Two wrist wrestling contestants grunt and groan as they battle for supremacy. The action was part of special Memorial Weekend activities here. In addition to the wrist wrestling, Morale Welfare and Recreation sponsored free entertainment that included performances by two country and western music groups (U.S. A. F. photo)

Volcanic ash affects flying

Volcanic ash, spewed into the atmosphere nearly two weeks ago when Mount St. Helens rocked the west coast with the first of two major eruptions, has had its effect on Reese's flying mission.

According to base officials, flying was restricted May 21 because of the high concentration of ash between 25-40,000 feet. All Reese aircraft were kept south of Amarillo, Texas on that day.

Officials also noted that the ash curtailed flying at Reese's three Accelerated Copilot Enrichment training bases. Aircraft at Ellsworth AFB and Minot AFB, S.D. were grounded for one day because of the ash and at Grand Forks AFB, N.D. flying was shut down for two days.

In addition, the blanket of ash restricted flying at least two other command bases. Both Sheppard AFB, Texas and Vance AFB, Oklahoma reported reduced flying following Mount St. Helens' first major eruption.

The Washington volcano erupted again Sunday; however, most of the ash was blown westward.

Nation recalls sacrifices

by Chaplain Lt. Col.
A.G. Johnson

Many people throughout this great land of ours will be pausing today, the traditional Memorial Day, to give honor and respect due to those who have fallen in the pursuit of freedom for our nation.

Bands will play, the bugles will sound out Taps, the rifle squads will present the volleys of their salute . . . and the flags will unfurl in a proud display of the red and white stripes with the white stars seemingly dancing on a field of blue.

Men in uniforms of wars past . . . and men and women in uniforms of today's defenders of democracy will walk tall and salute proudly when our flag is presented.

We carry fond memories of husbands, fathers, sons, brothers and friends who have paid the supreme sacrifice for our freedom. We memorialize them with words that we wish we had said to them while they were still alive. But, today we honor them as a grateful people . . . grateful for the freedom we share . . . grateful for the opportunities that lie ahead of us.

To us passes the torch to hold aloft in the pursuit of freedom for all the peoples of the world. To us passes the responsibility to carry on the task borne by brave men and women before us. We honor them best not by speaking mere words, but by offering our very best in our service of God and country.

Today is a day when we might best pay our respects and honor our fallen warriors by vowing to dedicate ourselves anew in our duty. Think about it!

Concerned parents

The base has spent several hundred dollars on Little League uniforms. We are incorporated with the Little League downtown. We paid good money to buy our kids a complete set of uniforms. What we would like to know is: why do our kids have to be punished by not letting them wear their uniforms just because the Little League rules say that unless everyone wears a complete uniform, no one can wear a complete uniform?

This year for the first time in six years, Reese youth are playing in the Wolfforth Little League Baseball Association, affiliated with the international Little League.

We have two teams in the major league and two teams in the minor league. This provides our participating children with much more competition than they had under the old system. Members of the base teams only played games on-base against each other. Now we have more games and play them both on and off base.

When we became members of the local association, we also became subject to the Little League rules and by-laws. One of these laws states that, in the minor league, if all teams do not have complete uniforms, only the hat and jersey will be worn by all teams. Not all of the off-base teams have complete uniforms, so our minor league teams do not wear the complete uniform. The major league teams do wear the complete uniforms at all their games.

We feel that the benefits of increased competition for the children far outweigh the drawbacks.

Down time

We turned our pickup truck into the motor pool at 1 p.m. on a Thursday for inspection with the understanding that it would be ready by quitting time.

On Friday I called in the morning and afternoon to get an update on the truck's status. Each time I was told that the truck would be ready in an hour. We need our pickup truck since we support the flying mission.

The pickup truck which you delivered to the motor pool for a scheduled inspection was found to have several maintenance and repair requirements which needed fixing prior to being returned to operation.

Normally, a vehicle can be returned to service within a two-hour period. However, discrepancies discovered during the scheduled inspections may take considerable time in the shop.

Priority attention is given to mission-essential equipment. We apologize for the misunderstanding which occurred during your telephone inquiries and assure you that every effort is made to keep Reese vehicles in top-notch shape while minimizing downtime.

Military depends on NCOs to carry out daily mission

The USS Canisteo is back at sea.

The fact, after three weeks of beating the bushes, the Navy came up with enough qualified seamen to put the 36,000-ton supply ship back in commission didn't get the same amount of attention in the press as when her skipper declared the vessel "unsafe to operate" due to a lack of experienced boiler technicians, machinist mates and chief petty officers.

The Navy, no different than the Air Force, depends upon seasoned NCOs to carry out its day-to-day missions. All of the services are experiencing a shortfall of mid-level technicians to carry out normal operations.

The Air Force has not grounded any squadrons because there were not enough mechanics and avionics personnel to maintain the aircraft. But you would be kidding yourself if you think it couldn't happen.

Reasons vary

The reasons for mid-career exodus vary by individual. Pay is no small factor. But whatever the reasons, the results threaten the readiness posture and mission capability of this nation's military forces.

"No one is indispensable" is a management tenet in the military. It is a useful concept to instill the idea that orders are orders and everyone has a right to their leave time. For a while, we can close ranks and get the job done.

It is a useful concept as long as it does the service . . . the country . . . no disservice. Individually, you may not feel like you are indispensable. But in the aggregate, the people who now serve as our nation's defense are all indispensable.

AF can't function

At this time, there is no one who can take your place. A sudden surge in recruiting cannot replace your expertise. The Air Force cannot function with only raw recruits.

Since the good of the Air Force and the defense of America is a responsibility you have carried since you joined, it is also a responsibility to carry if you decide to leave. No one is standing in line to take your place. You are a key ingredient of your unit, your squadron, your wing, your numbered Air Force, your major command, your Air Force.

Cloth chevrons remain optional on blue jacket

Changes to uniform wear have been announced, effective upon receipt of interim design 80-3 to Air Force Regulation 35-10.

Metal chevrons, previously scheduled to become mandatory July 1 on the lightweight blue jacket, will continue to be optional. Either cloth or metal insignia must be worn. If cloth devices are worn, women must wear 3-inch and men 4-inch chevrons.

Design problems with the pocket size on the women's durable-press utility shirt have resulted in further study by the Uniform Board. Until the study is completed, U.S. Air Force and name tags will be centered above the breast pockets with equal amount of tape extending beyond the width of each pocket. Organizational emblems and subdued cloth badges worn on the pockets will be centered on the shirt pocket in width and be positioned no lower than the seam joining the bottom of the pocket in length.

Along with the requirement to wear the subdued utility uniform on July 1, the field jacket must also contain the subdued name tags, U.S. Air Force tapes, and unit and major command emblems.

According to Marsha Trevino, assistant manager of military clothing sales, Reese is fully stocked with the subdued utility uniform items. However, she did note that the subdued name tags must be ordered from Ft. Hood, Texas and that there is a delay of two to three weeks after ordering. With the July 1 deadline just a month away, personnel who have not ordered the mandatory tags should as soon as possible.

for members making PCS moves to 18.5 cents per mile.

- Selective Reenlistment Bonus (Zone C) Eligibility. This would extent SRB eligibility to enlisted members with 10-15 years of service.
- 25 Percent Flight Pay Increase. This provision would authorize a 25 percent flight pay increase for both officers and enlisted crew members.
- 10 Percent Basic Allowance for Subsistence. The provision would increase BAS by 10 percent for both officer and enlisted people. It would mean approximately $6.27 per month for officers and $9.63 per month for enlisted members.
- Save Pay. This would revise the "save pay" provisions for enlisted members and warrant officers who accept commissions.

PCS reimbursement

Concerning permanent change of station reimbursement, Assistant Secretary of the Air Force for Manpower, Reserve Affairs, and Installations Joseph C. Zengerle called it "patently unfair to require military members to pay a share of the costs of moves made to meet Air Force mission requirements."

Recreation month features variety of special events

June is recreation month and in recognition of that Morale Welfare and Recreation officials here have scheduled a variety of special activities at MWR facilities.

The Mathis Recreation Center will sponsor its first dinner theater on June 10. On June 17 the center will feature "Superman" as the free Movie of the Month. The popular all night disco is scheduled for June 21 and a ballet recital is planned for June 24.

Over at the Arts and Crafts Center, patrons will be offered a 10 percent discount at the T-shirt shop. A kite contest is scheduled for June 17 with basic ceramic classes slated for June 11, 18 and 25.

At the golf course, a Scotch foursome is scheduled for June 14 with a free youth golf clinic on June 17. There will be a summer sale on slacks at the pro shop during June.

A June 6 "breakaway" dance kicks off the June schedule at the Youth Center. Also featured throughout the month will be the youth baseball programs. Discos are scheduled each Friday night.

The NCO Club plans grand opening ceremonies June 5-7 with specials each night. On June 5 the club will have two-for-one steak night with a two-for-one "surf and turf" on the menu for June 6. June 7 will feature two-for-one prime rib.

The appearance of "Spring Fire Band" on June 4-7 opens a month of special entertainment at the Officers Club. On June 11, "Laurie Hutson" appears with D.J. Disco Tek set for June 13 and 27. Pianist "Matalie" is scheduled for June 18.

Bowlers may roll four games for the price of three during open bowling from 11 a.m. until closing on Monday through Friday.

During the same days, families may bowl for two hours for $4.50. That offers runs from 5 p.m. until closing. Moonlight bowling is scheduled for Saturdays with the $4.50 rent-a-lane offer extended to Sundays (four bowler limit per lane).

Over at the base library, a reading program for children will be offered. In addition, the library will hold a children's story hour on June 3.

The base gym will conduct the Superstar competition throughout the month.

Lunch and learn course available

A summer "Lunch and Learn" course is being sponsored at Reese by the Federal Women's Program.

Mary Figg, FWP manager, said Tuesday that the course, offered through South Plains College, will be held Monday through Friday from noon to 12:45 p.m.

Tuition for the course, Introduction to Data Processing, is $56 plus books and registration. Although registration officially ended Thursday, those still wanting to attend the course may do so by paying a $10 late registration fee at the base education office.

Leadership class plans graduation

Graduation ceremonies for NCO Leadership School Class 80-F are scheduled for 6:30 p.m. June 6 at the Officers Club.

CMSgt. Frank Guidas, 64th Flying Training Wing senior enlisted advisor, is slated as the guest speaker.

The banquet will feature chicken fried steak. Cost per person will be $5.25. All Reese personnel are invited to attend.

Uniform combinations for the graduation banquet are: officers, summer mess dress; enlisted, optional summer mess dress or combination-1 with white shirt and black bow tie; civilian men, business suit; and civilian women, formal wear.

For reservations contact the Professional Military Education Center staff at Ext. 3147 before June 5.

Bible school sign-up ends

Final registration for the Reese Chapel Vacation Bible School has been set for Sunday.

Registration will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Base Chapel. Registration for the June 9-20 classes must be completed to insure enough teachers and workers for all the children who want to attend. Helpers are still needed in some areas.

To register, or for more information, contact Mary Damico or Lynne Palmer at Ext. 3237.

School's out

The Roundup would like to congratulate all the seniors, both high school and college, who are moving on to other endeavors. The commanders of Reese AFB wish you continued success and good luck.

Time change

Reese workers will go to the summer schedule beginning Sunday. Regular hours will be from 7:30 a.m.-4:15 p.m.

Graduation kudos

Congratulations to the 75 Reese people who were honored at the recent Education Recognition Ceremony held at the base chapel. Thirteen associates degrees, 50 bachelors degrees and 12 masters degrees were awarded. In addition, 10 people were recognized for completing Air Command and Staff College and seven were selected for commissioning programs.

AFA meeting

Air Force Association members will hold their quarterly dinner meeting June 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the Officers Club. Cocktails will be served at 6:30. Col. Richard Ingram, 64 Flying Training Wing commander, will be the guest speaker. Dress will be casual.

runway will no longer be foamed for emergency aircraft landings.

The change is the result of a recent defense study that showed no measurable difference in crew safety between landing on foamed or unfoamed runways.

Locally, the change will have little impact. Reese's fire department will lose a runway foamer valued at approximately $34,000. According to fire chief Bob Hitch, the foamer has been used only once in the past year.

Girl Scout Camp

O-We-Go Girl Scout Camp will run from June 9-13 at Mackenzie State Park. A bus will be provided by Reese and will leave the Youth Center at 8 a.m. and return at 3 p.m. each day.

The camp will be open to first grade through high school girls and fees will run from $5-7.50, depending on program activity. Fees are slightly higher for non-scouts.

Registrations may be phoned to Barbara McKenna at 794-4465.

Instructors and supervisors are needed and may volunteer by calling 765-5089 or 885-2388.

VA loan interest

Veterans Administration home loans dropped 1 percent in interest rate, down to 13 percent. The change was made to stay in line with private sector interest rates.

AFSA meeting set

The Air Force Sergeants Association annual convention will be held in New Orleans July 25 through 30th.

Savings bonds

Saturday marks the end of U.S. Savings Bonds Month; but, base personnel wanting to help their country can still buy bonds by contacting the Accounting and Finance Office.

Bring the gang a meal from Whataburger® for a weekend treat.
They'll love it.
Just wait 'til they taste our bigger, better burgers.

Sizzlin' hot off the grill. And made just the way they like 'em. With plenty of fresh crisp lettuce and ripe tomatoes. And lots of zesty onions and pickles heaped on a toasted bun.

Bring 'em some golden brown fries, too. And some frosty cold drinks.
A weekend meal from Whataburger. Bring your gang one this weekend. Just for the fun of it.

Flores birdie putt nabs partnership golf crown

Raymond Flores calmly sank a 12-foot birdie putt on the finale hole Monday to catapult his team to the Reese Partnership Golf Tournament title.

Playing with Manny Williams, Flores clutch putt pushed the dou into first place with a final round 70 on the 6,332 yard par 72 Reese course. The effort gave them a 54-hold total of 203 and a one-strock victory over the teams of Bill West and Rusty Reiger and Steve Lester and Steve Hargrove.

Last year's champs, Charles Tanner and Karl Mollett, missed the championship flight cut after an opening round 73 on Saturday and finished second in the first flight.

The top finishers in each flight were:

Championship Flight — 203 — Williams-Flores (67-66-70). 204 — Lester-Hargrow (70-66-68), West-Reiger (65-68-71). 205 — Locke-Kearney (64-70-71).

First Flight 211 — Mecker-Sampson (73-67-71). 213 —

Tanner-Mollett (73-70-70). 215 — Darden-West (73-71-71), Jones-McKinney (76-69-70). 216 — Biddle-Martin (73-71-72).

Second Flight — 220 — Dixon-Collyan (77-71-74). 226 — Walsmith-Negri (78-77-71). 227 — Johnson-Slater (78-72-77), J. Eaton-E. Eaton (78-74-75), Davidson-Vincent (79-75-73).

Third Flight — 229 — Hardin-Moody (81-74-74). 230 — Hall-Ortiz (80-73-77). 232 — Salley-Bates (80-74-78). 233 — Wylie-Huffmann (81-75-77).

Rattlers seek sanctuary

After taking their lumps at the Cannon Invitational last weekend the Reese Rattlers are eager to back to the sanctuary of Lubbock's city league.

"It'll be good to get back," said Rattler coach A.G. Johnson after his team dropped three of four games at Cannon. "We took a beating on the field and on the scoreboard at Cannon."

The Rattlers, who sport a flashy 3-0 mark in city action, entered the New Mexico tourney minus four starters. The Rattlers were forced to go even deeper on the bench as injuries sidelined more players.

The high spot for Reese was a 17-4 pounding of Eastern New Mexico State on Sunday. That gave the squad a fourth place finish in the five team field.

"We are pretty sore right now," admitted Johnson. "Everyone should be ready to play Wednesday night against Lubbock Electric."

That game is scheduled for a 9:30 p.m. start on Lubbock's Stubbs Field.

Wins title

Era Estrada eyes a pitch during last weekend's Afro-American Club Invitational Women's slow-pitch tournament. Estrada and her Bad Company teammates defeated the Babes, 20-2 to win the tournament title. Reese's varsity women's team finished sixth in the 12 team field. Proceeds from the women's tourney and the men's tournament held two weeks ago raised approximately $500 for the Afro-American Club charitable activities. (U.S. Air Force photo)
