Tuesday marks Veterans Day

by
Gen. Bennie L. Davis
Commander,
Air Training Command

(ATCNS) — Tuesday is Veterans Day, the holiday on which we pay deserved tribute to the veterans of all the wars our nation has endured.

It is particularly appropriate for members of the Air Force that the observance of Veterans Day coincides with that of Armistice Day, which memorializes the date that fighting ended in World War I; it was in the skies of France during that conflict that vague outlines of the awesome potential of American airpower could first be discerned.

This Tuesday, as we salute our veterans, past and present, it is well to remember that although our wars have produced a pantheon of heroes, most of those who answered their country's call were just ordinary citizens who then did the best they could under difficult circumstances.

Some among them decided to remain in the military when the conflict had ended, retiring after completing lifetime careers. Standing beside them are the many more who returned to civilian life at war's end. But all, dating back to our Revolution, shared one common bond — a fierce determination to fight to the death against the enemies of freedom.

No one wants war. Certainly, none pray for peace more ardently than we who serve in our country's armed forces. But we are realistic. Aware that we live in a world in which there will probably always be tensions among nations, we stand ready to defend America whenever and wherever necessary, just as the veterans we salute did in the past.

They have fully earned the recognition we accord them on Veterans Day. I urge every member of Air Training Command to join with me this November 11th in paying them the full measure of honor that is their due.

Harris leads 80-01 grads

Second Lt. Gary N. Harris dominated last week's class graduation when he netted three awards, including the prestigious Air Training Command Commander's Trophy and the Flying Training Award. In addition, he was one of six Distinguished Graduates.

Another leader in the Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 80-01 was Capt. Robert A. Coe, Section II leader. He also garnered three awards: Academic Training, Section II Leadership Award and Distinguished Graduate.

Joining the pair as Distinguished Graduates were Capt. Steven R. Conner, Capt. Waymond C. Nutt Jr., 2nd Lt. Richard M. Taylor and 2nd Lt. William R. Travnick. Capt. Nutt also received the Leadership Award for Section I. Also concerning Capt. Nutt, last week's Roundup incorrectly reported Capt. Don M. Novak as Section I Leader. Capt. Nutt actually held that position. Our apologies.

Rounding out the list of winners were 2nd Lts. Mark J. Svestka and Marguerite A. Martin, Outstanding Second Lieutenants for Section I and II, respectively. Lieutenant Martin also received the Citizenship Award.

Review board sets deadline

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Some veterans' less-than-honorable discharges may be upgraded when reviewed next year by the Service Discharge Review Board, Department of Defense officials said here.

Application deadline is April 1, 1981.

Veterans who served in World Wars I and II and the Korean and Vietnam wars and were discharged before April 1, 1966, are eligible.

To file for a DOD review, or for more information about Public Law 96-126, write to: Discharge Review, P.O. Box 21, St. Louis, Mo. 63166.

Military offers problem help

Most of us have seen the classic movie cliché when the character is so terrified of some danger that they cannot speak and call for help.

What normally happens is that "the creature from the black lagoon" or other terror usually wins — and the demise of the individual is a foredrawn conclusion.

I wonder if this is what happens to some of our military personnel? There is little doubt that many of the situations we face in life can be just as physically or emotionally threatening as the creature in the horror film. Perhaps not as tangible, but real nonetheless. Whether it be financial difficulties, alcoholism, marital problems, or a vast array of other problems that come as a consequence of living, there often seems to be a reluctance to seek assistance until it's too late and the person is "beyond help". I've seen this time and again, both as a physician and commander, and it bothers me greatly.

It bothers me because the sources of help are readily available; perhaps more so in the military environment than elsewhere. On any base, regardless of size, there are a wide variety of programs, people and agencies who are available to render assistance. Social Actions, the Chaplain, and the Base Legal Office are just a few of these — and don't forget your First Sergeant and Squadron Commander.

None of us can be expected to solve every problem on our own, but to gain assistance we need to ask, and ask early enough before we get "eaten alive". Knowing we have a problem and seeking assistance in dealing with it is not a sign of weakness; it's the reaction of a mature, intelligent adult and responsible Air Force member.

Rape danger exists on bases

By Sgt. Frank Singleton

(ATCNS)—Knock, knock.

"Who's there?"

"Annual meter check, ma'am, just take a second."

"Well, okay, I guess. Come on in."

And come on in he will. Unfortunately, not for a meter check, but for a sexual assault.

"Can't happen," you scoff.

Well, a similar incident did happen recently at an eastern seaboard Air Force base. An unidentified man, falsely representing himself as a fire inspector, forced his way into a base residence and attempted to assault the female resident. Fortunately, the attempt was thwarted, but what about the next time?

According to security police crime prevention officials, people on base don't often consider themselves as possible targets for assault. Although base residents may in fact enjoy community security that is infinitely more efficient than off base areas, military and dependent women are still susceptible to rape.

Awareness of surroundings and a little preparation can make the difference between attempted assault and rape. On or off base, women should be aware of a few tips which could save them in an assault situation.

*When you have kids at home, teach them not to open the doors for strangers. The same goes for adults—if you don't know who the person is, don't let him in.

*If a work order is not called in, but you find a "helpful" troop or worker at your door, be skeptical and call the work order desk to get some verification. Even if you did request some work, verify the person's identity before letting him in.

*People wanting to use the phone should be suspected also. If they need to make an emergency call, get them to tell you the number through the door or window, and dial it for them.

*Be wary of notes left on doors or phone calls requesting personal information, such as address or questions about your family.

*When answering the phone, never admit to being alone even if your husband is not at home. Say he's in the yard or in the shower.

*If possible, drive with car windows rolled up and doors locked. Women are particularly susceptible to attack when driving, since they are already preoccupied with controlling the vehicle.

*On the way to a store, or back to the car after shopping, look around and decide on a course of action if something should happen. Have your keys ready and avoid appearing as if you are fumbling for them. Look in the car before getting in.

*Avoid picking up hitchhikers, giving directions to strangers or leaving the car on the road. After car trouble, it is better to stay with the vehicle.

Alcoholic tells how he started

Editor's note: November has been designated Alcohol Awareness Month in Air Training Command by Gen. B.L. Davis, ATC commander.

The annual observance is designed to make people more conscious of the problems caused by excessive alcohol consumption and alcohol dependence.

In conjunction with the awareness program, Reese Substance Abuse Control officials provided this article written by a local man who is currently in the Alcohol Rehabilitation Program. It is presented here unedited so that readers can get a first-hand look at what causes alcoholism.

Alcoholism is a problem that burdens millions of Americans today. Husbands and housewives alike. Teenage alcoholism is also a big problem.

Alcoholism is a disease. A disease that most alcoholics either don't know they have or don't want to acknowledge. Don't get me wrong with this next statement or paragraph. It does not mean alcoholism starts at childbirth. But a person's first drink or sip of an alcoholic beverage will more than likely be from his father. Depending upon whether it is liquor or beer he or she will either gag or grab the can. As the years progress he probably won't drink at all. Then as he grows older his curiosity builds so he sets out to find what people get out of drinking. Of course by drinking himself. He comes to the conclusion, it's great, you get a buzz. So he finds reasons to drink more, such as, dances, parties, reunions, football games, conventions, weddings, wakes, just to name a few of the more common social happenings when drinking is an accepted part of the event.

Pretty soon afterwards in his life he stops trying to make or find reasons he just drinks because he has to and finds reasons for it later. From here on in it is all down hill, usually in the order of lost friends, lost job and lost family.

Because of an antisocial attitude an alcoholic will develop (caused when the alcohol starts to take hold and the problems surface all at once) he'll start losing his friends. Have you ever heard "He's a nice guy when he's sober." Its a fact. He probably is, but, that is such a rare time.

Next comes his job. Since he can't keep his friends and most of them are his fellow workers he's causing dissension on the job. His boss has overlooked this because he is a family man and has tried talking to even yelling at him to get him to change. But he hasn't and still is causing poor morale and low work quality and output. Now he is not just hurting himself he is hurting his boss, the shareholders in the company and the people that the work is being done for. So the boss has to let him go.

Last to go is his family, mainly his wife but the kids will go with her also. How many times has she told him or threatened to leave. Definitely a few. Ever since he started putting drinking as his number one priority. But she held on hoping she could get him to quite chance after chance. Now he lost his job that's it, she can't take it anymore and has to leave.

Now he's at the bottom, no friends no money, no family, nothing. If he hasn't realized it by now he does have a problem, a very definite problem that is going to take more than just his effort to help solve. This is why they have different organizations to help alcoholics because it is a disease and a very hard one to overcome. Here are a few, the first almost everybody has heard of AA or Alcoholics Anonymous is a group therapy type session all they ask is that you are sincere about quitting and will drop the bottle.

The National Council on Alcoholism. They follow along the same guidelines as AA but you have to drop the bottle.

The church and the family physician are two other alternatives also.

Look! He does have a problem and he will need help but the help will do him no good if he doesn't want to help himself first by stopping drinking totally.

Consumers warned of some '81 automobiles

Persons who intend to buy any 1981 General Motors vehicle, certain 1981 Ford, Mercury or Lincoln models, or the Chrysler Imperial, are advised that vehicles purchased in the Continental United States and used overseas with leaded gas, and "export" vehicles delivered overseas cannot be returned to the U.S. or its possessions.

Vehicles affected are all 1981 GM cars and trucks; early 1981 Ford and Mercury models with the 2.3 and some 4.2 or 5.0 liter engines; the Lincoln with the 5.8 engine and the Chrysler Imperial.

Domestic models of these cars and trucks will be delivered with special equipment designed to meet 1981 U.S. Federal Emissions Standards. These vehicles are designed to run on unleaded gasoline only. The manufacturers report that if used with leaded gas (unleaded is unavailable overseas through Exchange service stations) these vehicles will probably not run properly.

Export models sold for overseas delivery will be without the new emission controls and since they do not meet the new emission standards they cannot be returned to the United States.

Persons who live in CONUS who are thinking about buying a 1981 GM or Ford Motor Company vehicle should keep in mind that if they buy one of the domestic models, or the Chrysler Imperial, they will not be able to use it overseas without experiencing a deterioration of the fuel system which will probably cause operating and drivability problems.

Those living overseas who are thinking about buying a car or truck for use overseas and then shipping it to CONUS should remember the GM or Ford Motor Company vehicles listed above cannot be returned to the U.S., as they will not meet the 1981 Federal Emissions Standards. Chrysler will not sell the Imperial overseas.

All cars not meeting the 1981 Federal Emissions Standards will be impounded by customs at port of entry.

Vehicle buyers overseas will be advised by salesmen both orally and in writing about whether or not the particular model they buy can be returned to CONUS. Buyers of the models cited above must sign a statement indicating that they understand they cannot ship their car or truck to the U.S.

Those models not listed above will be equipped to meet the new Federal Emissions Standards; however, they will be convertible to leaded gas and back to unleaded at a reasonable cost. American Motors and Chrysler vehicles (except the Imperial) can be converted for use overseas and can be reconverted for return shipment to the U.S. or its possessions.

GM states this situation will affect their entire line throughout 1981. Ford advises that they expect their problems to be temporary, and they may be able to have an engine later in the year that can be converted from unleaded to leaded gas and back to unleaded. The customer will be advised by the salesman when this option becomes available.

DIC rates increase

(ATCNS) — Eligible survivors of deceased active duty and retired Air Force personnel recently got a 14.3 percent increase in Dependency and Indemnity Compensation.

A fully subsidized government program, DIC provides a monthly income to surviving spouses and minor children of all military members who die on active duty or after retirement when death is ruled service-connected by the Veterans Administration.

DIC may also be awarded to the families of individuals who die while on active duty for training (such as weekly drills); or while traveling to and from active or inactive duty for training; or as a result of a service-connected disability.

President Carter, on Oct. 7, signed Public Law 96-385 which provides the new DIC rates listed in the following chart.

Pay Grade	DIC Rate	Pay Grade	DIC Rate
E-1	$373	O-1	$472
E-2	385	O-2	487
E-3	394	O-3	522
E-4	419	O-4	551
E-5	431	O-5	608
E-6	441	O-6	684
E-7	462	O-7	741
E-8	487	O-8	812
E-9	510	O-9	872
W-1	472	O-10	954
W-2	491
W-3	505
W-4	536

Benefits for surviving spouses with dependent children are increased by $43 for each child under 18 years of age. DIC benefits are also provided for dependent children when there is no surviving spouse.

Sturon leads AFRAP

by
SMSgt. Octaviano Guerrero
The 64th Student Squadron amassed a total of 102 points in leading the competition for the fourth quarter of Fiscal Year 80 for the Air Force Recruiter Assistance Program Commander's Trophy.

The Student Squadron, which came on strong at the end of the last quarter, jumped into the lead at the beginning of this quarter and never relinquished the lead. MSgt. Robert Davis, AFRAP representative for the squadron, canvassed the students and had a total of 34 lead referral cards submitted during the quarter.

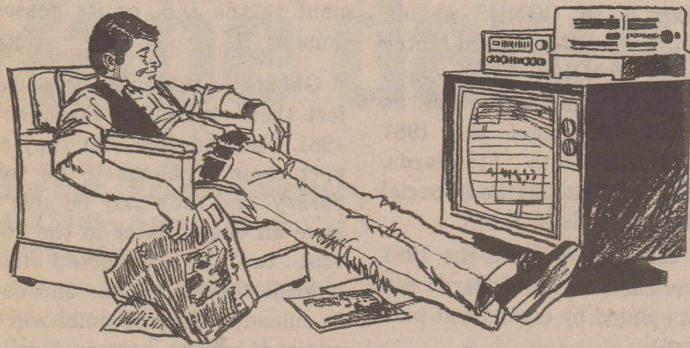

With the renewed interest being placed on AFRAP by all squadron commanders and unit AFRAP representatives, activities on base have already increased with over 37 lead referrals cards turned in during the first three weeks of October. If this rate continues Reese should have one of the most successful quarters ever.

The new school year is well on its way and recruiters throughout the Continental United States are looking for sharp motivated young airmen to assist in their recruiting efforts. Departing recently for their hometown were Amn. Janice Hommena to Harvey, Ill.; Amn. Emilio Estrada to New York City and Amn. David Stange to Peoria, Ill.

For those interested in going to their hometown to assist their recruiter, now is the time to contact him to let him know you are interested. However, prior release should be obtained from supervisor and squadron commander before contacting recruiter.

With the Air Force failing to meet its recruiting goals in 1979, increased involvement by all Air Force personnel is essential to assure good quality leads are provided our recruiters. If you know of a young man or woman that is interested or would like to know more about the Air Force, stop by your orderly room or CBPO and pick up a lead referral card!

Savings Bond rates increase

Secretary of the Treasury G. William Miller recently announced that President Carter approved a one percent increase in the interest rate paid on United States Savings Bonds and Savings Notes.

The President acted after signing legislation permitting the Secretary of the Treasury, with the President's approval, to raise Savings Bonds interest rates by up to one percent during any six-month period. Previously the interest rate ceiling was fixed by statute.

The interest rate on Series EE Bonds purchased on and after Nov. 1, is being increased from seven percent to eight percent, compounded semiannually, when the bonds are held to original maturity. The term to maturity is being shortened from 11 to nine years.

The interest rate on Series HH Savings Bonds purchased on and after Nov. 1, is being increased from six and one-half percent to seven and one-half percent to their original maturity, which remains at 10 years. Interest on these Bonds is paid semiannually by check.

All outstanding Series E, EE, H and HH Savings Bonds, as well as outstanding Savings Notes (Freedom Shares) will also benefit from a one percent increase to their next maturities. The redemption value of E and EE Bonds and Savings Notes and the interest on H and HH Bonds during periods before their maturity will be improved. In general, the increase will be effective with the first semiannual interest period that begins on or after Nov. 1. Maturity periods for these bonds and notes will not be changed.

Secretary Miller said, "This action and the phase-out of ceilings on deposit interest rates that we began earlier are major steps toward the administration's goals of assuring a fair rate of return to small savers and encouraging greater total savings."

"Giving small savers a fair return and encouraging increased savings in this country are integral parts of our efforts to reduce inflation and provide the enormous investment needed to revitalize our economy in the 1980's."

Depending on market conditions, a further rate increase of up to one percent may be made as early as May 1, 1981.

The new eight percent rate for EE Bonds and seven and one-half percent rate for HH Bonds will be guaranteed minimum yields to their original maturities.

Continuing benefits of Series EE Bonds include their exemption from State and local income taxes, the option to defer Federal income taxes on accrued interest, the low minimum purchase price of $25, and the right to redeem the Bonds anytime after six months at issue price plus accrued interest.

Treasury hopes that the higher interest rates will increase purchases of Savings Bonds, particularly through payroll savings plans, as well as reduce redemptions. The unprecedented market interest rates during the past year have resulted in a heavy volume of redemptions and declining sales.

Smokers susceptible to numerous diseases

Editor's note: Following are some good reasons to join in the Great American Smokeout Nov. 20. The figures were provided by the Health Evaluation and Risk Tabulation Clinic, which is sponsoring a three-day extension of the Smokeout.

Pancreatic Cancer	270
Aortic Aneurism	260
Bladder Cancer	200
Kidney Cancer	140
Leukemia	140
Stroke (male)	138
Stroke (female)	174

Most people associate cigarette smoking with lung cancer, emphysema, and heart disease, but these illnesses only tell part of the story.

Smoking is also associated with worsening of allergic conditions, longer reaction time, and poorer performance on tests of intellectual and physical dexterity. Smokers have 2½ times more auto accidents and twice as many work absences as non-smokers. Children of smokers have nearly twice as many school absences as children of non-smokers — showing that the ill effects of smoking are not limited to those actually doing the puffing.

The chart below compares the illness rate for a one-pack-a-day smoker to that of the non-smoker, showing the number of smokers who can be expected to develop a specific disease for every 100 non-smokers who develop it.

Illness	Number of Smokers Developing Illness per 100 Non-Smokers
Emphysema	2,000
Chronic Bronchitis	2,000
Lung Cancer	1,000
Laryngeal Cancer	600
Oral Cancer	500
Peptic Ulcer	500
Esophageal Cancer	400
Liver Cancer	280
Heart Disease	280

For every non-smoker developing one of the above listed conditions, 4.3 smokers will develop one. The only encouraging aspect of these statistics is that when smokers become non-smokers, their disease rates gradually decrease until they approach those of non-smokers after about ten years of cessation.

Comings and goings

SSgt. Jim Rhoads, chief dispatcher at base operations, jots down information pertinent to arrivals and departures from Reese's busy field. (U.S. Air Force Photo)

Base Ops : a focal point

MSgt. Barbara A. Boone Airfield Management Superintendent

Base Operations is a part of Airfield Management.

If you were asked, "What is the function of Base Operations," the reply most probably would be something like, "That's where you catch a military hop"; or "That's where the base locator is assigned." Right on number one and wrong on number two. True, the office to contact for space available transportation is Base Operations, but that is a very limited portion of the mission assigned to Base Operations.

Focal point

Base Operations is the focal point for all military aircraft operations at any Air Force base, and is responsible for processing and coordinating flight plans and other flight data information with appropriate Air Traffic Control agencies and concerned base agencies.

At Reese, all aircraft file their flight plans through the dispatchers assigned to Base Operations. A flight plan consists of a multitude of information but the basic ingredients are: call sign, type of aircraft, altitude and speed, proposed takeoff time, route of flight, estimated time of arrival at next destination and all subsequent destinations, and names of crew on board.

Computer processed

Once the flight plan is filed with the Base Operations dispatcher, it is passed by teletype into the Fort Worth Center computer. The computer will either accept the flight plan as being accurate or reject it if inaccurate. If rejected, the dispatcher must correct and resubmit until such time as it's accepted.

After the computer accepts a flight plan, it will then disseminate the information to the appropriate controlling sectors in Fort Worth Center one hour prior to proposed takeoff time, and back to Reese Tower 30 minutes prior to proposed takeoff time. The airspace in which the aircraft will fly is controlled by Fort Worth Center, and all aircraft taxi and takeoff movements are controlled by Reese Tower; therefore, a clearance must be received from Fort Worth Center (appropriate sector) before aircraft is allowed to takeoff.

When the aircraft is airborne, the Base Operations dispatcher passes the flight plan to the Flight Service Station who, in turn, notifies the next destination and all subsequent enroute stops/destinations of pertinent inbound information; i.e., type aircraft, ETA, remarks, etc.

Inbound

On inbound aircraft to Reese, after information is received from FSS, Base Operations is responsible for notifying all concerned base agencies. If 30 minutes has elapsed after last known ETA at any enroute stop, overdue action is initiated by FSS/Base Operations and ends with Base Operations as the flight plan is closed out at the destination base.

Responsibilities

Among other duties, Base Operations is responsible for ordering, maintaining, and making required distribution on all Flight Information Publication documents; handling of distinguished visitor arrivals and departures; manifesting passengers; posting and updating notices to airmen; briefing aircrews of local airfield hazards and restrictions; dissemination of severe weather warning information; conducting daily airfield inspections to include all runways and taxiways and ramps; activation of secondary crash net for all aircraft emergencies; responding to inflight emergencies if there is a chance of foreign object damage on the runway; and furnishing transportation for transient crews.

Authorization Act improves CHAMPUS

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—Two Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services health-care improvements were made with the signing of the 1981 Department of Defense Authorization Act.

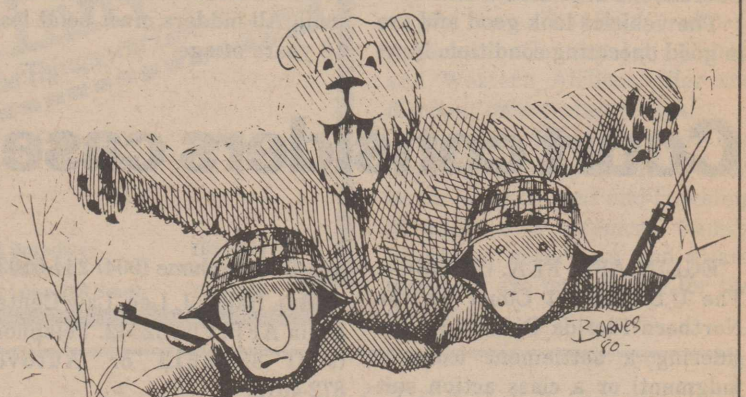

Out-patient, well-baby care is now covered, and the amount CHAMPUS will pay participants in the Program for the Handicapped has been raised from $350 to $1,000 monthly. Both improvements started Oct. 1 and are limited to families of active-duty service members.

Well-baby care covers routine physical examinations and immunizations for children up to age 2. Civilian health services may be elected for out-patient care even if a military medical facility is nearby.

The Authorization Act also increased the monthly CHAMPUS share of Program for the Handicapped expenses to $1,000. Untouched though were the monthly deductibles — $25 to $250, depending on the service member's rank.

More information may be obtained by contacting the nearest CHAMPUS adviser.

ATC suggesters earn cash

(ATCNS) — Air Training Command employees earned more than $150,000 during fiscal 1980 for ideas they submitted through the Air Force Suggestion Program.

The Air Force approved 3,226 suggestions by ATC people that netted almost $19 million in savings to the government. Of the total number of suggestions adopted, 1,981 resulted in cash awards to the suggesters.

Chanute AFB, Ill., led all ATC bases with 1,789 suggestions submitted in 1980 for a 49.35 percent participation rate. Keesler AFB, Miss., with a larger population, finished second in this category with 3,078 suggestions submitted and 39.85 percent participation rate.

Among the undergraduate pilot training bases, Williams AFB, Ariz., led the pack with 1,302 suggestions for a 39.18 percent participation rate.

Keesler suggesters fared best in the adoption rate category, with 796 suggestions for a 10.41 percent rate. Chanute was second with 342 approved suggestions and 9.44 percent adoption rate.

ATC exceeded the Air Force's goals for fiscal 1980 suggestions with a 21.84 percent participation rate and 4.67 adoption rate, compared to the goals of 13.5 percent and 3 percent, respectively.

New survey due soon

How many times have you heard someone say "Oh (expletive deleted) another survey! Why waste my time sending me these worthless surveys?"

A few months ago Reese had a base-wide survey entitled "Variable Housing Allowance Survey". It was an informational gathering device to obtain data on the local cost-of-living. As a direct result of the entire base taking the time to fill out and return survey forms, VHA is now a reality, and Reese and the Lubbock area are included. So surveys do work.

Reese has been selected by Headquarters Air Force Inspection and Safety Center at Norton AFB, Calif., to participate in an Air Force survey concerning duty environment, job satisfaction, services, MWR programs and mission effectiveness. It is entitled "Base Inspection Questionnaire" and will be administered to approximately 400 people

This survey will provide insight into how Air Force Personnel feel about various aspects of their unit and base. It will be used to assist managers at higher levels in identifying areas that require management attention and action.

As always, this survey is voluntary. Confidentiality will be ensured. Truthful, candid responses could help alleviate problem areas that do exist here.

Five lines join TWA

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Half-off travel for active duty military members is being offered by five more airlines. Joining Trans World Airlines in the 50-percent-off program are American, Continental, United, U.S. Air and Western Airlines.

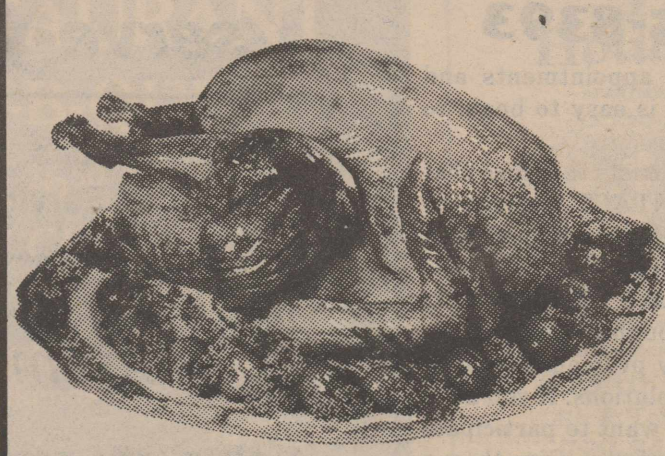

Not all the airlines' routes are included in the discount program. Also the fare is not available Dec. 19, 20 and 24 or Jan. 3, 4 and 5.

While the discount has already been applied to most affected routes, American Airlines will offer the discount beginning Oct. 28. The 50 percent fares are being offered until March 31, 1981, by all the airlines except U.S. Air. That carrier did not fix an expiration date.

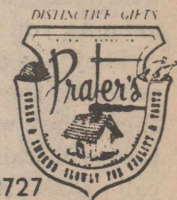

TWA and U.S. Air discounts apply to all their routes. American, Continental, United and Western Airlines offer the discount on selected routes.

To qualify for the half-fare discount, active-duty members must be on leave or pass and traveling at their own expense. Family members, reservists and guard members are not eligible for the discount.

Rattlers sweep Goodfellow

Getting some strong support from the bench, the Reese Rattlers swept a two-game series at Goodfellow AFB, Texas last weekend, raising the running Rattlers to 3-0 in the young 1980 campaign.

Reese battled through a 79-71 series opening win on Saturday and overcame the loss of three starters to win Sunday's game, 79-71.

Robert Warren dominated play in Saturday's win. The leaping 6 foot 3 forward scored 22 points and collected 20 rebounds in the key road win. Paul Caviel and Terrance Wilson added 14 and 12 points respectively for the Rattlers. Willie Hayes had a strong day on the boards, ripping down 11 rebounds.

Stars silenced

But the stars of Saturday's game were to be silenced by the officials in Sunday's contest. Caviel, Cristobal Stevenson, Julius Guerra and Hayes all fouled out of the game as the officials whistled the Rattlers 31 times, the majority of the calls on offensive fouls.

"The bad part about it was that the fouls weren't spread over the entire game," said Rattler coach Mike McKelvy after the Goodfellow series. "Hayes, Stevenson and Caviel each had four fouls in the first half. Wilson and Warren had four early fouls too but managed to stay in the game."

The foul blitz erased an early 38-18 Reese lead and left the Rattlers down by six midway through the second half.

McKelvy had held Hayes, Warren and Wilson out through most of the second half, but; when Goodfellow went up by six points the Rattler coach has to make his move.

Rattlers bounce back

The Rattlers came back to take a two-point lead, but; with Stevenson already gone, Guerrero, Caviel and Hayes went down in a three minute span.

Turning to his bench again, McKelvy got six late points from Chedrick Henderson, four each from Matthew Fowler and Brian Wilkerson and a bucket by James Sykes. The Reserve scoring kept Reese in the game.

Then, with seconds left to play, Wilson drove the lane for a layup that gave Reese a 93-92 lead. Goodfellow was turned away and Wilson was fouled as time ran out for the home team. Wilson's two charity tosses gave him a game-high 19 points and the Rattlers a three-point win.

"It was a big series for us," admitted the Rattler mentor. Because of the work being done on the base gym we now have to get through a six game road trip. Getting a pair of wins to start that trip off should help us at White Sands and Holloman.

The Rattlers will face the White Sands Missile Range N.M. team on Nov. 15 and 16 and complete their road trip at Holloman AFB, N.M. on Nov. 22 and 23. The Rattlers next scheduled home game is on Dec. 6 and 7 against the William Beaumont Army Medical Center.

CBPO football

Fogies top kids

by Teddy Grundmeyer

On a sun-shining 25th of October, on the War Highway football field, it was youth versus experience as the youngsters from CBPO challenged the Senior Citizens to a Flag Football game.

The challenge came about because of the way the "Old Fogies" have manhandled the younger generation in softball the past two seasons.

At first, it looked like the youngsters were going to get their revenge. Led by the brilliant passing of Phil "PJ" Jones and Paul "Sticky Fingers" Piesko, they used a time consuming march on the opening kickoff to take a six to nothing lead. The point after was no good.

Late in the half, the Over the Hill Gang finally struck back on a beautiful 40 yard bomb from Dave Rauch to Speedy Slim Evans. After Bill "Super Toe" Coston kicked the PAT, the score was 7-6 with just seconds remaining in the half.

However, the youngsters pulled a sneaky and caught the Gang off guard on the kick-off. Derrick Wong took the kick-off, and instead of running it back, threw a perfect toss to Darrell Carnahan for a TD. The PAT made it 13-7, in favor of the youngsters at the half.

The second half was a defensive struggle with neither team mounting a serious scoring threat until late in the game. The setting couldn't have been better if it was the Super Bowl. Senior Citizens have the ball, fourth and goal at the kids one yard line, one second remaining. Pass is thrown. Incomplete!

The game is over and the kids have finally beat the Over the Hill Gang in a sporting endeavor. But wait! Pass interference is called on the Kids, so with time already expired, the Over the Hill Gang got one more shot at it. And on the next play, Dave Rauch made an unbelievable diving catch from QB Dennis "Coach" Mehrenberg for the tie, then "Super Toe" Coston kicked the pressure packed extra point.

Final score, Over the Hill Gang 14, Kid Wonders 13. And once again age and experience had prevailed. However, due to the numerous controversial plays in the game, there will be a rematch, time and date to be determined.

Can the kids win the rematch to claim their first ever sport victory, or will the Over the Hill Gang once again prevail? We'll just have to wait and see.

CE upsets Sturon, 13-12

Student Squadron's title hopes received a major blow last week when the intramural grid squad was upset by the Civil Engineers in overtime, 13-12.

The two teams had battled to a 12-12 tie in regulation. Sturon had broken out to a 12-0 lead at the half, but; a pair of Chewie Martinez touchdown passes to Eric Nelson and Jerry Badura knotted the game in the second half.

Intramural flag football ties are decided in a special overtime series. Each team runs four plays. The net number of yards gained on those four plays decides the winner.

Big gainer

On the first overtime play, Martinez hit on a 40-yard touchdown pass. After an incomplete attempt on second down the Sturon defense sacked Martinez twice. That left CE with a net gain of 28 yards.

Sturon's first pass fell incomplete. A long gainer on second down was called back on a penalty. Sturon bounced back to gain 26 yards on the next two attempts. That set up fourth down and two yards to go for a tie and three yards for the win.

But Martinez and Nelson made the big defensive play, forcing a hurried throw from the Sturon signalcaller. The pass was incomplete and CE had logged the biggest upset win of the season.

Still has shot

Although the loss ruined Sturon's bid for a perfect season, they still have a shot at the title. If Sturon can defeat the unbeaten 54th in the last game of the season, the second ranked grid-ders can steal the title.

In other loop action, the 54th Flying Training Squadron raised its unbeaten streak to 36 games, 10 this season, by beating Field Maintenance, 30-18. The 54th also picked up a forfeit win from the 1958th Communications Squadron.

Hospital beat Resource Management, 13-0; Sturon nipped Organizational Maintenance Squadron in overtime, 20-19; CE beat Air Base Group, 7-6; Sturon stopped Comm., 12-7; and OMS got a free win from Group to round out last week's play.

The standings in the intramural flag football league, as of Monday, were:

Team	W	L
54th	10	0
Sturon	9	1
35th	7	2
CE	7	4
Supply	5	4
CE	5	5
Hospital	5	6
FMS	5	6
Comm.	4	7
RMS	2	7
Group	2	8
81-02	0	11
