

Penley wins annual award

Capt. James M. Penley, 64th Organizational Maintenance Supervisor, has been named as the Reese Junior Officer of the Year.

Captain Penley is responsible for the management of 500 maintenance personnel and the organizational maintenance of the 205 T-37 and T-38 aircraft assigned to the wing. His duties include assuring the safe and successful launch and recovery of over 400 flights each day. Thus, his job directly involves the accomplishment of the primary mission of the wing.

Also included in Captain Penley's responsibilities is supervision of the Transient Alert function. Reese has over 200 aircraft from other bases and other services coming through each month. Transient Alert is responsible for parking, servicing, inspecting and launching these aircraft in a timely manner.

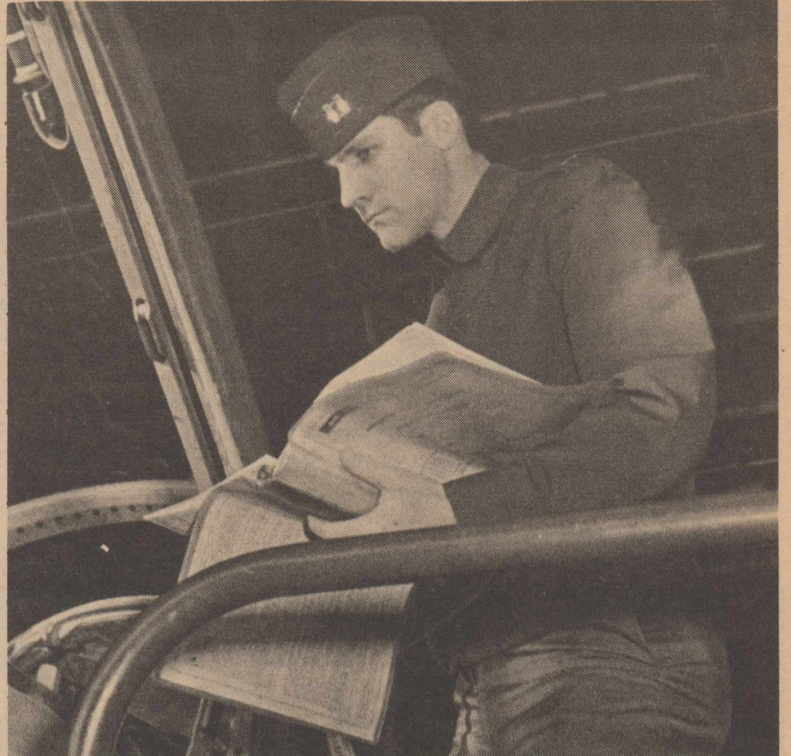

In the nomination letter submitted for the award, it was said of the then lieutenant, "Lieutenant Penley is one of those rare officers who meets textbook definitions of a military leader: absolute honesty and integrity; total reliability; superior ability; unwavering loyalty; an unsurpassed ability to inspire those who work for and with him . . . a proud and open dedication to his country and the Air Force; and confidence in his ability and judgement tempered with honest humility."

Before receiving his present assignment, the award winner was the night supervisor of Field Maintenance and the Job Control Officer. The three key jobs he has held since being assigned to the wing have exposed him to virtually every area in the maintenance complex, according to his raters.

Although Captain Penley, like many maintenance people, puts in long days and weekends, he still makes time to speak to each class of the NCO Leadership School.

Captain Penley is a 1976 graduate of the United States Air Force Academy. He has attended the Texas Tech Law School in his off-duty time. He completed Squadron Officer School by correspondence and the Aircraft Maintenance Officer Course in residence.

Light 'em up

This practice fire was only one phase of the inspection which the Reese Fire Department will finish today. The Fire Department Evaluation Team was one of four that have been on base recently. The Air Traffic Control and Civil Engineering and Services Management Evaluation Teams outbriefed Jan. 16, but officials have not yet released results. The Standardization / Evaluation Team finished up Wednesday, past deadline for this week's paper. Watch the Roundup for results of these four inspections in coming weeks. For more shots of the Fire Department in action, see page six. (U.S. Air Force Photo)

NCOs should provide leadership

by CMSgt. Coy Martin
Senior Enlisted Advisor

In the past few years many of our Noncommissioned Officers developed a negative attitude due to inadequate pay and allowances. Some gave up and went elsewhere to try to ease the financial burdens while others struggled and stayed with us. Recent actions by the Congress and their apparent change in mood seem to be headed in a direction that will remove these inequities.

It is time we as senior NCOs rebuild our image and take some positive and visible efforts to provide the desired leadership and motivation to our young airmen and NCOs. Leadership that places the proud traditions of military bearing, behavior, appearance and dedication at the top of our professional priorities. Leadership that strikes a proper balance between the technical demands as well as military and personal involvement. Leadership which creates an environment that fosters fairness, equal treatment, understanding and firmness.

Senior Noncommissioned Officers must present the model image of appearance, attitude and behavior for all to see. Let's evaluate our attitudes and motivations so that we can generate the pride in service and teamwork necessary to keep our Air Force the strongest in the world.

Freezin' reason

I was driving by the golf course when there was snow on the ground, and noticed they were watering it. I'd like to know why they are spending the money watering the golf course when it's covered with snow.

Snow must be removed from greens anytime the temperature rises above 32 degrees. If the snow is not removed, the temperature between the green surface and the snow causes a fungus to start growing. Fungus is very difficult to control on the green and the cost to replace a green is between $15,000 to $20,000. No drinking water is used to water greens at the Golf Course; all our water comes from the sewage plant.

Smoke signals

I would like to know why we are restricted to two cartons of cigarettes at the Commissary when the Texas state law doesn't require that, and no other regulation that I know of.

Texas State Law, Levy of Taxes Article 7047C-3, Section 3, states, "No officers, soldiers, sailors, nurses or Marines in the U.S. Army, Navy or Marine Corp of the United States shall remove from the confines of any military or Navy post or reservation in this state, cigarettes without the State Tax Stamp affixed to the package in the quantities of more than forty cigarettes." Further, AFCOMSR 145-2, G-4 establishes a two carton limit, or the state limit, whichever is greater, per customer. Using the AFCOMS Regulation as their guide, AFCOMS has established a two carton limit for Texas installation Commissaries.

Meat of the problem

I am wondering why we cannot have SOS gravy with bacon or sausage at the Dining Hall. While visiting other bases, I was able to get SOS gravy and potatoes along with my eggs. Why can't we have this at Reese?

In the past, the Dining Hall gave SOS and bacon or sausage. This was highly acceptable; however, it was also part of the reason for the Dining Hall sustaining a loss of 2% or the contractor will be held liable. This regulation further states that only one meat item may be served at a time (SOS gravy is considered a meat item).

Hospital offers services to base

by 2nd Lt. Chris Kelleher
Hospital Registrar

We at USAF Hospital Reese really care.

Every person, beginning at the top with our hospital commander, Col. Lloyd McLaughlin, to every civilian and military member on our staff, believes thoroughly that our hospital is a service organization. Service organizations operate best when there is positive, two-way cooperation. There are several ways you, as the user of our hospital, can help in bolstering our efficiency as well as increasing satisfaction with your care at our facility.

Scheduled appointments at the Reese medical facility serve a dual purpose. First, they permit the maximum use of our limited number of health providers and secondly, we are able to serve the greatest number of health care beneficiaries within the shortest possible waiting period. Failure to keep or cancel appointments denies appointments to many of our other patients.

To keep this problem at a minimum we have installed a phone recorder for cancelling appointments. When you cancel your appointment early enough, another patient is then able to be seen, increasing our provider's productivity. This recorder is on seven days a week, 24 hours a day and can be reached by calling 885-3151.

Another way you can assist us is by knowing our "sick call" procedures. Active duty members can call for a "sick call" appointment from 7 to 7:30 a.m. Monday through Friday at Ext. 3245. After 7:30 a.m., all personnel can come into our Primary Care screening office and be scheduled by the personnel in that area.

Calls for "sick call" after 7:30 a.m. cannot be taken through the Central Appointment System because they no longer have that day's "sick call" book. It is important to remember that actual "sick call" time is from 7:30 to 8 a.m. Scheduling for a "sick call" appointment guarantees you of seeing a health care provider as soon as possible.

Another method that will assist you and the hospital is to only use our "Emergency Services" when an emergency exists. Our medical personnel must be ready to respond to any in-flight emergency as well as any automobile, personal injury or severe medical problems requiring immediate care.

People who come into the emergency room because they have had a cough or sore throat for five days or such similar problem reduce precious response time when a real emergency develops. With better use of our appointment cancellation system more appointments will become available for immediate appointments in our Primary Care Clinic.

One last point. Become involved with your hospital. Too many people think that the hospital is only for the sick or injured. More and more emphasis is being placed on "Preventive Medicine."

Our hospital provides free information for a variety of medical subjects. Additionally, we have personnel assigned to help you understand medicine better by providing classes, free lectures and pamphlets, through the Health Education Coordinator's office.

We can always use volunteers, yet each year volunteer numbers decline. Unfortunately, each year our monthly outpatient load increases and as of this date we are averaging 6,200 outpatient visits each month. That's amazing when you remember that the active duty population on base is only 2,700 strong.

We can't always give the answers that you'd like to hear but we'll always strive to provide professional medical care, courteous service and a positive, can-do attitude. If you have any, and I mean any, questions, suggestions, helpful hints, better ways of providing services, complaints, compliments, etc., please call me at Ext. 3521 or visit me at the Patient Affairs Management office in the USAF Hospital Reese.

Reese prepares for Black Heritage week

Many units and activities around Reese will be busier than usual through the next few weeks preparing for Black Heritage Week, slated for Feb. 15-22.

First Lt. Probyn Thompson III, project officer, recently informed the Roundup of the calendar of events for the annual observance.

On the first day of the week representatives from the base will visit churches in the local communities to invite them to a special gospel service the following Sunday in the Reese Chapel. The service is the reason the 'week' runs eight days. The final observance of Black Heritage Week will begin at 1:30 p.m. and will feature some local church choirs. The service is open to the general public.

Following the church service, a banquet to recognize key workers in the week-long observance will be held at the dining hall. The meal is slated for 3 p.m.

Following the Washington's Birthday holiday on the 16th, television stations and other media representatives will meet at the Officers' Club Feb. 17 to attend a meeting of black community leaders and high school students. CMSgt. Norman D. Hall will speak on "Role Model for Black Youth," explaining opportunities for Blacks in technical career fields in the Air Force.

On Feb. 18, the Recreation Center will sponsor two fashion shows, one from 11 a.m.-noon, the other from noon-1 p.m. A free lunch will also be served, featuring native African dishes.

The highlight of the week comes on the 19th when the Broadway show "For Colored Girls Who Considered Suicide But Found the Rainbow Was Enuf," will appear at Mathis Rec Center at 7:30 p.m.

A Greek Jamboree, featuring Black fraternities in a "Step Contest," will be held at the Windmill Enlisted Club at 8 p.m. Feb. 20 (it is still not clear to this reporter just exactly what a "Step Contest" is, but it certainly sounds interesting). The contest will be followed by a dance.

Disco dancers won't have to worry about squeezing in that last dance before closing time when Mathis sponsors an all night disco the 21st. The disco begins at 10 p.m. and a $1 cover charge will be required. A full bar will be set up for the event.

Lieutenant Thompson requests that Reese people turn out to support all these events and learn about the heritage of the Black people. In following weeks, the Roundup will be running articles of historic interest featuring prominent Black people.

Housing Referral outlines regulations

by Mark L. McMahan
 Housing Referral Officer

Most Air Force personnel are cognizant of the fact that AFR 30-15 requires that all Permanent Change of Station transferees and those personnel traveling Temporary Duty for 30 days or more, must report to the Housing Referral Office at the new duty station prior to entering into any rental, lease or purchase agreement for off-base housing.

However, many Air Force families are unaware that AFB 90-10 requires that all personnel seeking off-base housing must process through the HRO prior to making any commitments for the purchase, rental or lease of any real estate. This means that anyone living in unaccompanied personnel quarters, family housing and those personnel living in the civilian community desiring to change their place of residence, must process through the HRO.

One of the prime reasons for reporting to the HRO is to ensure that all personnel are aware of the property owners/agents or firms who have been placed on restrictive sanction lists by the base commander for acts of discrimination in housing. Military personnel moving into or changing their place of residence within the commuting area of the installation are prohibited from entering into a rental, purchase or lease agreement with an agent of a facility that is under restrictive sanction.

Many other positive benefits may be derived from processing through HRO. Area maps, off-base brochures, community information and various Veterans' Administration and Housing and Urban Development pamphlets are available, in addition to counseling on Texas State Landlord and Tenant laws, financing, purchasing and sale of homes. The HRO staff keeps abreast of local problems and developments which could affect city and county residents. A listing service is also available for personnel who have houses for sale or rent.

PME Center fixes up facility

by A1C Nanette Arpin

Inflation, the rising cost of living and shrinking dollars have brought about a tremendous rise in self-help and do-it-yourself projects throughout the country.

Reese and other military bases are also feeling the slump, and a corresponding rise in civil engineering, self-help program projects.

Facilities around the base, such as the Professional Military Education Center, are or will be undergoing renovation, using materials from CE and the manpower of individual sections.

PME personnel, under the guidance of TSgt. Ronnie Craft, are busy using the materials provided to improve the offices and classrooms of the NCO Leadership school.

"I am super happy that we at PME finally have the chance to do this for the men and women that are and will be attending the NCO classes," said Craft.

"Self-help, I feel, is a better way to have things done than calling upon CE because there is a feeling of accomplishment, self pride and a savings in labor which frees the CE people to do projects for others who under various circumstances are unable to take on such a project," he added.

Sergeant Craft explained the steps to be taken when a section is ready to start improvements.

First, a representative will have a verbal proposition to present to the squadron commander of CE. After all ideas are approved, construction form is filled out and submitted to CE. Next comes planning and estimating what the project will need in materials. Then just wait for the materials.

When the Christmas break came, the office was greeted with mounds of material from CE and plenty of enthusiasm from workers ready to get started. The project started Jan. 5 and, according to Sergeant Craft, will be completed around Feb. 15.

He concluded, "This project, like any project, needs the support of the commanders. We at Reese are very fortunate that the commanders care and support the improvement program. Commanders supported us and we enjoy the excellent support of these commanders.

By creating an atmosphere we are able to create good morale which helps to support the mission."

Blacks proudly served

From the American Revolution to the Vietnam War, blacks have fought proudly.

Even before the Revolution, blacks were involved in the fight for freedom. One of the first men to give his life for American independence was Crispus Attucks, a runaway slave. He was killed when British soldiers fired on a crowd in Boston, March 5, 1770.

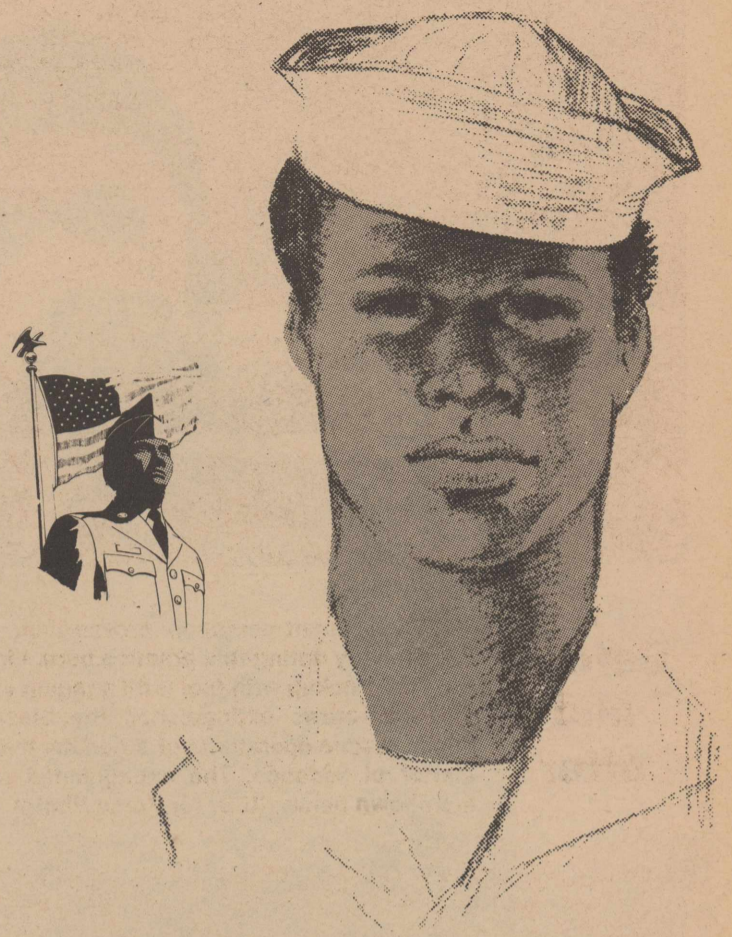

One thousand black enlisted troops fought for their new nation during the Revolutionary War.

Blacks served in integrated army and navy units during the early years of the republic. But from the Civil War to the start of the Korean conflict, they fought under a separate but equal policy.

Turning to the west after the Civil War, they fought Apaches and Sioux, defeating Chief Victorio and capturing Geronimo.

Blacks fought with Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders on San Juan Hill.

More than two million blacks registered for the draft in World War I, many seeing action with the 92nd and 93rd Divisions. After the Armistice, the black units were deactivated. Only a handful of senior black officers remained in uniform.

One was Lt. Col. Benjamin O. Davis Sr. who became the first black Army general. His son, Benjamin O. Davis Jr., was only the second black to be graduated from West Point.

In 1941 Captain Davis broke the Army Air Corps color barrier, becoming one of the first blacks to take advanced flying training. He went on to command the 93rd Pursuit Squadron, the first black air unit.

A wing commander in the Korean War, Colonel Davis rose to become Lieutenant General Davis, chief of staff of the United Nations Command in Korea and later deputy commander of the U.S. Strike Command, MacDill AFB, Fla.

Blacks were among the first on the scene in Vietnam, as members of advisory teams in the early 1960s.

Today some 79,000 black officers and enlisted people serve in the Air Force, working in every specialty. They make up 14.3 percent of the force. And in 1981, as in the past, they are a proud role model for all of America's youth.

Slogging through

Rifle fire and exploding hand grenades shatter the stillness of an icy afternoon at the Reese auxiliary field at Terry County. The base is under attack.

Fortunately, it's just a mock attack, a drill. Part of the Civil Engineering Squadron's PRIME BEEF perimeter defense training, held despite the snow and cold weather Sunday.

All of the unit's military personnel must go through the training, members must be ready to deploy to anywhere in the world on short notice and have to be able to defend themselves once they arrive.

Driving on Base

Persons who are allowed to drive on Air Force bases are deemed to have given their consent to a chemical test; blood alcohol test, breathalyzer or urinalysis, to determine the alcohol content of their blood when they are cited, or lawfully apprehended, on base for a traffic violation and intoxication is suspected.

According to Air Force law enforcement officials, this policy applies to anyone, military or civilian, who has been granted the privilege to operate a motor vehicle on an Air Force installation. "Implied consent," only one aspect of a driver's obligations, to take the test, but may face loss of base driving privileges.

Clothes collection

Troop 548 will be collecting clothes and toys in Reese Village tomorrow. Proceeds will be donated to the Neighborhood House, an emergency service agency located in East Lubbock. The drive is part of the Eagle project of David Rast. Those wishing to donate who do not live in base housing may bring items to the Scout Hut, building 37, from 2-4 p.m. Saturday.

Price hike

Exchange catalog prices are now 10 percent higher on Japan origin products. The hike is due to a manufacturer's increase brought about by the increasing strength of the Japanese yen against the U.S. dollar.

Technicians needed

Technicians for Tops in Blue and the Worldwide Talent Show are needed. Applicants should be familiar with entertainment production (audio, lighting, staging, costuming) and be experienced in at least one aspect. An immediate response is necessary to the Rec Center, Ext. 3787.

Ice advice

With winter now fully descended on the South Plains, Security Police warn Reese residents to exercise caution when cleaning their windshields in the morning. Citations will be issued to anyone driving on Reese with vision obscured.

Air fares good through March

(ATCNS)—Military members considering air travel in an unofficial duty status have until March 31 to take advantage of special 50 percent discount rates offered by 11 airlines.

The discount off normal coach fares is offered to active duty military members traveling on leave, pass, other authorized absence, or for personal travel within seven days of discharge. This includes permissive TDY since travel is at personal expense.

Participating carriers are Trans World, American, U.S. Air, Western, United, Continental, Braniff, Northwest, Piedmont, Eastern and Pan American.

Fares apply only to air travel within the continental United States.

Three airlines — Trans World, U.S. Air and Pan Am — offer the discount fares on all domestic routes. On the others, the fare applies only on selected routes. In addition, a 25 percent military discount is still offered by virtually all U.S. carriers on all their domestic routes.

Air Force transportation officials emphasize that the discount fares are not authorized for official TDY or PCS travel at government expense. This prohibition applies to travel expenses reimbursed for leave in connection with PCS as well.

Marquee reflects training dividends

Those driving out the gate may have noticed the marquee displaying the operational timeline position and wondered what it means.

By no means is it a measure of the overall health or effort expended on Reese. It is in fact a snapshot of how operational and maintenance investments have paid dividends. What the numbers will tell is how many days ahead or behind the ATC timeline Reese is.

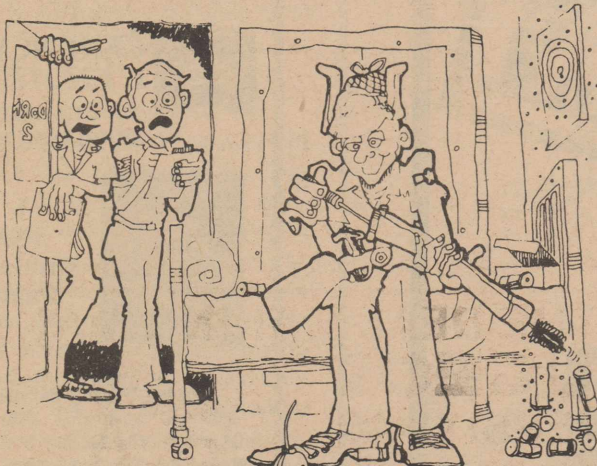

There are many variables that affect that timeline position.

Those variables which can be controlled are the maintenance capability, operational availability, and scheduling flexibility. The uncontrolled variables are unpredictable mechanical problems, weather, and parts availability.

If the weather and other unpredictable variables work against the mission, the number may drop from the plus side to the minus side. Historically, when the variables work in favor, the folks in the maintenance and operational areas will meet the task and keep the number on the positive side of the ledger.

AA open chapter

by SSgt. Robert Garza
Social Actions

Alcoholics Anonymous is going to have a chapter here at Reese.

AA is a worldwide fellowship of more than one hundred thousand recovering alcoholic men and women banded together to solve their problems with alcohol.

You do not have to be an alcoholic to go to the open meetings, just concerned and seeking knowledge about alcohol use. Closed meetings will also be held just for the recovering alcoholics.

The meetings at Reese are designed for all interested military, dependents, and civilians in the local area. The meetings will be conducted in the normal AA format with members of the Hub of the Plains chapter providing leadership.

If you are concerned about yourself, family, or friends and alcohol abuse, please feel free to come to the open meetings. Dress is civilian clothes with the first meeting on Feb. 2 at 7 p.m. at Social Actions (Bldg. 32) beside Founders Park.

Safety Corner

by John C. Morehead
Safety Manager

I recently read an article stating "Don't get too upset about the high price of cars these days. If you're careless enough, your present car could last you a lifetime."

In fatal traffic accidents, the principal driving error is speed (including speeds too fast for conditions). In injury and total accidents, the most commonly reported error is failure to yield the right of way.

The average distance we travel going to or from work, the store, or wherever is 10 miles. At 55 mph this would take less than 11 minutes, at 70 mph it would take almost nine minutes. From this we can say that many put a high price on two and a half minutes.

"How much time did you save if you don't get there!"

54th captures 'sports' trophy

Capturing four of the five major intramural team sports, the 54th Flying Training Squadron has won the Commander's Trophy for 1980, announced Morale Welfare and Recreation officials Tuesday.

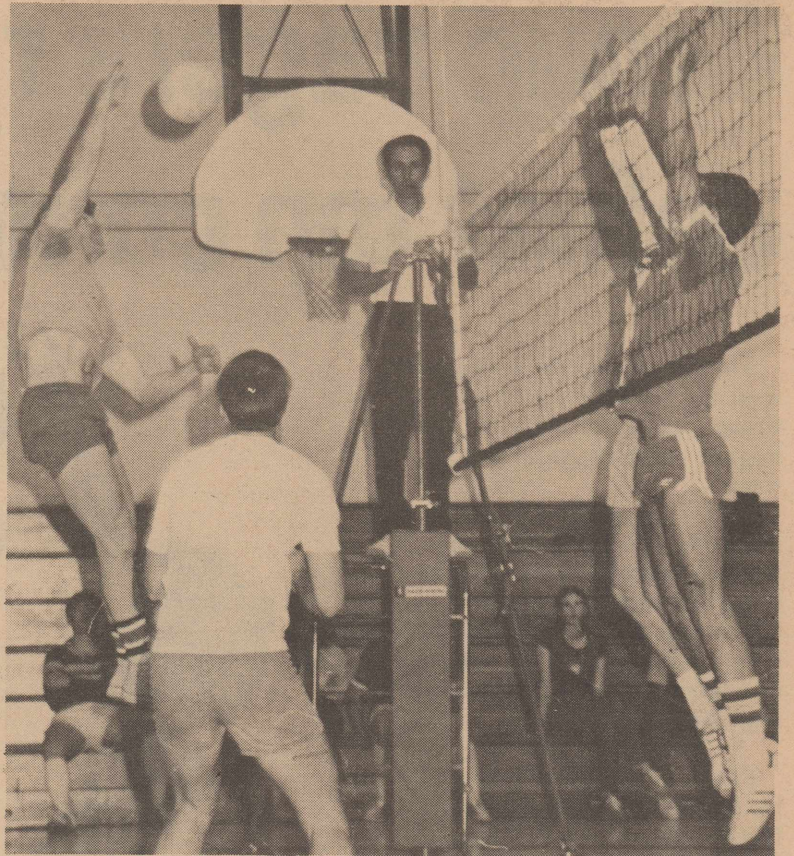

The award, which recognizes athletic achievement from Oct. 1, 1979 to 30 Sept. 1980, is presented to the Squadron that collects the most points.

Victories in flag football (1979), basketball, volleyball and softball (1980) earned the 54th the trophy. Only the bowling crown claimed by Field Maintenance kept the 54th from sweeping all of the intramural majors. The 54th added the majors, racquetball singles title and points for various second and below finishes in other sports with points for placing players on varsity teams for a total of 1,700 points.

FMS finished second with 1,654 points while Sturon was third with 1,631. Sturon has a leg up on the 1981 trophy with this year's flag football championship already neatly tucked away.

Rounding out the Commander's Trophy Standings, are: Supply, 1,515; Air Base Group, 1,336; Hospital, 1,209; Organizational Maintenance, 1,066; Resource Management, 1,031; Civil Engineers, 961; 1958th Communications Squadron, 853; 35th Flying Training Squadron, 526; and Weather, 50.

Hard spike

Championships set for ATC bases

Air Training Command bases have been selected as host sites for ten major sports and recreation events during 1981.

Events include three Air Force and three interservice championship tournaments, three Air Force training camps and the Air Force worldwide talent contest.

Keesler AFB, Miss., will host the Air Force worldwide talent contest which will be held March 23-31. Keesler is also hosting the ATC talent contest this year.

Lackland AFB, Texas, has been named the site of both the Air Force championship racquetball tournament, scheduled for Jan. 25-31, and interservice racquetball championship Feb. 8-14.

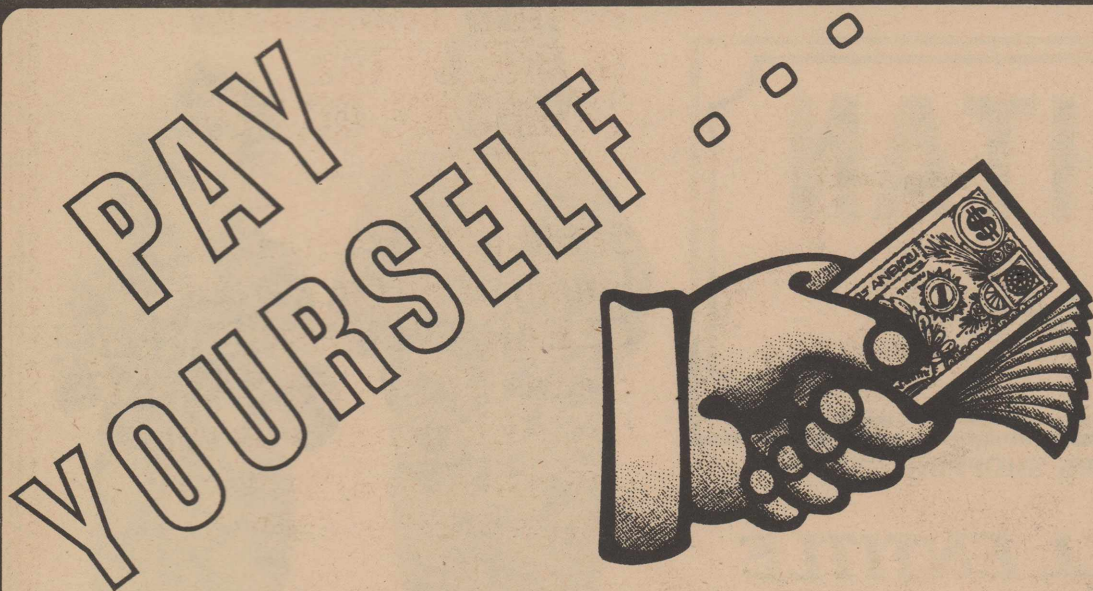

Chanute AFB, Ill., will host both the Air Force and interservice women's basketball tournaments, scheduled for Feb. 18-22 and March 16-21, respectively. The ATC Central Region tourney will be held at Reese Jan. 30-31.

Maxwell, AFB, Ala., will host the first Air Force championship men's basketball tournament since 1973 Feb. 17-21. Maxwell also hosted the last such tournament before the Air Force temporarily dropped men's basketball from its schedule.

Air Force training camps in women's volleyball, women's softball and men's softball will be hosted, respectively, by Randolph AFB, Texas, April 6-25; Williams AFB, Ariz., July 27-Aug. 16; and Sheppard AFB, Texas, July 27-Aug. 16.

Sheppard AFB will also host the interservice men's softball tournament Aug. 17-21. (ATCNS)

Group cagers roll on; defeat top contenders

Air Base Group shook Supply from the "leader's perch" as the Group cagers knocked off the league's top three contenders last week.

With Stanley Burdine leading the Group assault with 22 points, the intramural cagers stopped Supply's undefeated streak with a 66-62 win. Group controlled the tempo throughout the game, maintaining a 10 to 12 point lead until the final minutes.

Balance keys win

Four Group players hit for double figures as the balanced attack toppled playoff minded Supply. James Wilkerson knotted a game-high 23 points in a losing effort.

Third ranked Field Maintenance and fourth ranked Sturon-1 were also sidetracked by the Group title express. Group beat FMS, 42-38 and held on for a 43-39 win over Sturon-1. A 65-40 crushing of the Hospital raised Group's season mark to 9-1 and left the team deadlocked with Supply atop the league ladder.

While Group was shaking up the top teams in the league, one of the less successful squads was causing a few ripples of its own.

Resource Management, winless in its first nine starts beat struggling Sturon-2, 58-40, and then shocked Organizational Maintenance (the only team to beat Group) 42-36.

At the center of RM's resurrection is the addition of Randy Love. The former 1958th Communications Squadron player scored 18 points in the win over Sturon-2 and 16 against OMS. Both were team highs. Love joined the RM squad after Comm. dropped out of the league.

Around the league

In other loop action, Supply beat FMS, 56-45; CE stopped OMS, 44-40; Sturon-1 downed the 54th, 40-29; CE edged the 35th, 39-37; and OMS bested the Hospital, 46-31. Rounding out last week's slate, FMS dumped CE, 44-39; the 35th bombed Sturon-2, 48-21; Supply picked up a forfeit from OMS, 2-0; and the 35th defeated the Hospital, 41-31.
