Overemphasis On Athletics?

The emphasis (which a great many people consider a gross overemphasis) on athletics in the colleges has been the subject of innumerable discussions. The prime example, of course, is football, which draws the huge crowds and the equally huge sums of money.

When Seconds Count

When an accident has happened, how many times we wished that we could live those few seconds over again. In most of the cases the accident would not be repeated. The reason is obvious: our mental processes would size up the situation and show us how to proceed safely.

LETTERS... To The Editor

Dear Editor: I for one, was truly sorry to see that the members of the local riding club had changed the name of their organization. The old time saddle tramp, like the boomer railroad man and the journeyman printer, was tops in his profession, and like the journeyman printer he brought news from the outside to the isolated communities in the early days.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS

By A. PATE

We've often wondered where general Stanley Furrh got the nickname "Fuzz" among his friends who've known him for years. Now, since an incident the other evening, we think we know. He can really get "fuzzed up" when the occasion demands.

We were having coffee with a friend in Stanley's place when a big, rough looking fellow barges in, grabs the telephone near where Stanley is working, and makes a call. The old boy, evidently pretty well tanked up, gets a little obnoxious over the phone.

That's too much for Stanley, who gets Big Boy told quickly: "Get out or be thrown out—and rough! And I mean now!"

Considering Big Boy's size and his general tough appearance, we figured a contest was in the making. But no, the Big Lug merely heads for the door, he starts to mutter something, when "Fuzz" starting to rise from his chair interrupts with "I said now!" and the Old Boy slams the door as he makes tracks from there.

Sequel to the incident came about 20 minutes later. Big Boy, probably after refueling cais Stanley on the phone. Just meet him at a certain place Big Boy invited, and he would personally mail him into insensibility. And he'd take pleasure in doing it, he assured Stanley. Getting madder and madder (over the phone) Big Boy let it be known he intended to take Stanley all to pieces.

"Okay, sounds like a good deal," was Fuzz's response. "But if I don't get there soon enough to suit you," he added, "just go ahead with the fight, if you think you're big enough."

"I blankety-blank shore will," came the hot retort, then "Huh, wh-whad'ju say... huh..." as Fuzz hung up the phone.

After reading last week that a purported drowning of a man in Lake Stamford almost a year ago was a hoax, Jim Byrd and E. J. Stewart were discussing the incident.

Both are members of the fire department, and worked on both day and night shifts in the search for the supposed victim. Both Jim and E. J. got soaking wet once during the search when their boat came near overturning.

Both were rejoicing that the incident turned out as it did, and that the man was not drowned.

"But I'll tell you, Jim," E. J. commented, "if that old boy had shown up down there alive that night when we were almost freezing, I'd been tempted to throw him in the lake and let him go under a few times."

One of the best known traits of a West Texan is a sense of humor, and an ever-ready willingness to pull a prank on unsuspecting newcomers.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hauser, who now live in Chicago, will probably never forget their inroduction to fun-loving West Texans.

George, a pharmacist, came here from New Orleans to work in Oates Drug Store, and was joined by his wife shortly afterwards. The personable young couple soon had a lot of friends here.

Among them was Tom Davis, dean among West Texas lawyers and one of the last persons you'd suspect of pulling a prank on anyone.

One day, about the middle of spring, Tom told George he'd bring him and Mrs. Hauser a "mess" of fresh green beans if they wanted them. George allowed as how he and the missus would be delighted. "Bring 'em any time it's convenient, it will be a real treat for us," he told Tom.

The very next day Tom, with the willing help of a few friends, gathered a large basket of young mesquite beans and brought them to the unsuspecting George.

A few days later Tom was in the drug store. "How were the beans, George?" he asked. Hesitantly, George answered, "All right, but I'm afraid we didn't know how to cook them. They were tough and uh-er, they tasted a little bitter. What kind of beans were they anyway?"

"Mesquite beans," answered Tom. "And don't feel badly about your cooking. Nobody has even been able to cook mesquite beans where a human would eat them," he confided to George.

A young Haskell driver whose license number we are tempted to give can consider himself one of the luckiest persons alive.

Less than 20 seconds time prevented him from crippling or killing two small children Saturday afternoon. The little girl was about 4, and the little boy not over 6 years old.

The tots, tired of staying in a car parked in the center of the street on the south side, got out and crossed the street to the sidewalk. Unaware of any danger, they crossed slowly, engrossed in a toy the little girl was carrying.

The tots had just walked between cars parked at the curb when this young driver whizzed around the corner.

You could tell he was in a hurry, because he didn't take time to slow down, much less stop for the red traffic light before making a right turn.

You can make a sharp turn, fast, if you'll touch your brakes at the right time, half skidding around. This young driver knew all the tricks.

What he didn't know was that had he been 20 seconds earlier he would more than likely have become a cold-blooded killer.

Those two happy little tots wouldn't have had a chance. A sickening thud, then screeching brakes bringing the car to a stop half block away.

But the young driver was in a hurry. He doesn't know how near was his brush with tragedy. He won't know until he receives the clipping that is being mailed to him.

In and Out The Tee-Pees

BY SUZANNE LANE

It was very terrible for the Haskell High School Indians to have to put their feet on the cold floors of their wigwams Monday morning after such a wonderful Thanksgiving holiday. Everybody seemed to have had a real four day vacation.

The main thought in the minds of the Indian band members was of going to marching contest this Saturday, the 6th of December.

The HHS band will go to Winters for the contest and they are scheduled to march at 6 p. m. The bands are required to do certain movements. These are: (1) Forward march or step off; (2) Halt (while playing and continue to play) (3) Counter march, or to the rear (while playing); (4) Either: Right or left oblique and its correction movement, forward (while playing); or, left column (while playing); or, right or left flank while playing.

Some of the bands that will be at this contest are Jacksboro, Winters, Seymour, Abilene, Brady, Wichita Falls and dozens of others. All of the A bands will be competing against each other, all of the AA bands competing against each other, etc.

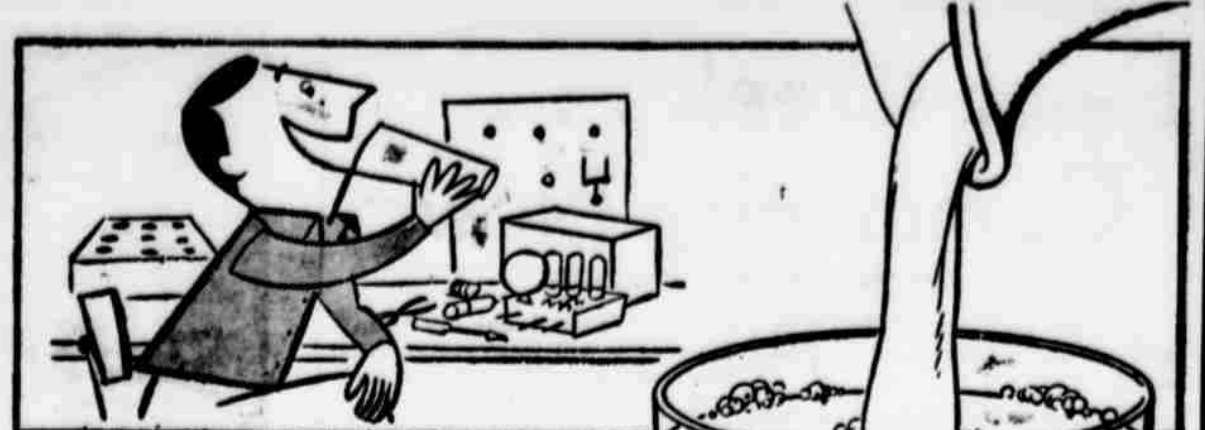

Each band has to be inspected before going onto the field. The band members are graded on cleanliness of instruments and alertness to oral commands given by the drum major. The required stationary commands are: left and right face; about face; at ease; attention; and parade rest.

The judges at this contest will be Mr. Dreibradt from SMU, Mr. Dean Carey from Arlington High School near Ft. Worth, Carol McMath from NTSC, H. V. Hooker from Trinity University, and Chas. Vick from Jefferson High School in Dallas.

Our majorettes, Robbie Mullins, Gail Ratliff, Leah Ratliff, Shirley Atchison, Barbara Elliott and Danna Smith, are also going to do a twirling routine about 2 p. m. Gail and Leah Ratliff are going to do solo routines.

Oh, yes, don't forget the Christmas parade this Friday afternoon at 5 p. m. I'll be looking for you.

11,764,000 Bale Cotton Crop Is Estimated

The Agriculture Department at Washington estimated Monday that this year's cotton crop of 11,764,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.

The figure is 89,000 bales more than last month's forecast of 11,675,000 bales. It compares with last year's very small crop of 10,964,000 bales for the ten-year (1947-56) average.

The crop was grown under rigid government marketing quotas and a soil bank land retirement program designed to help prevent over-production.

The production will be supplemented by 8,700,000 bales accumulated from past crops.

"The Restless Years" Is Powerful Drama Of Teen Love, Shame

Pulsating across the screen with the tempo of today's America, Universal-International's dramatic story of adolescent unrest and small town gossip, "The Restless Years" arrives Sunday at the Texas Theatre.

The new picture, which was produced by Ross Hunter and directed by the noted German film director, Helmut Kautner, tells the right-out-of-the-pages of today's newspapers story of a teenage couple seeking recognition and acceptance as equals in the modern world. In her first screen role, completed well before her sixteenth birthday, Sandra Dee demonstrates a vivid, graphic dramatic sense, portraying with intense feeling the role of a young high school student claiming her right to happiness despite sordid smears against which she has no defense as an illegitimate child.

And John Saxon, one of the most popular and talented of Hollywood's young luminaries, gains ever greater acting stature with his compelling, sensitively etched portrayal of a boy who becomes a man as he, too, fights against malicious character assassins. Adding to the lustre of the film are the shining performances of a star-studded cast which includes the former Academy Award winning actress, Teresa Wright, James Whitmore, Luana Patten, Margaret Lindsay and Virginia Grey. Jody McCrea and Alan Baxter add to the impact of the picture with outstanding characterizations. In his first American film, "The Restless Years," Helmut Kautner evinces great understanding of typical American problems and a talent for vividness that will spellbind the audience. The screenplay by Edward Anhalt, based on the very successful off-Broadway play by Patricia Joudry, "Teach Me How to Cry," is moving and

78 Emergency Hospitals To Be Stored In Texas

Texas has been allotted 78 emergency hospitals to be stored by local civil defense officials and put to use in the event of enemy attack or widespread natural disaster.

Announcement of Texas' quota was made by the Office of Civil Defense Mobilization and sent to the state's Division of Defense and Disaster Relief, a part of Gov. Price Daniel's office.

Eventual goal, said Claude Yaun, operations officer in the state defense office, is to ring the major population centers with stored hospital units and spot them near target areas over the rest of the state. The quota is based on one hospital unit for each 70,000 people in a metropolitan target area.

At the present time hospitals are in storage or have been approved for storage in the cities of Fredericksburg, Springtown, Weatherford, Kemah, Mercedes, Brownsville, West Columbia, Alpine, El Campo, Floresville, Devine, and Stephenville, Texas. In addition hospitals have been applied for by the cities of Robstown, Nacogdoches, Keene, Longview, and Jefferson County.

Immediate goal, said Yaun, is to have at least 30 of the hospitals placed by July, 1959. Each packaged hospital contains equipment for wards with 200 beds, three operating rooms, a triangle room, a pharmacy, X-ray room, clinical laboratory, sterilizing room and central supply room. It can all be set up within a matter of hours and has been done in practice sessions in 55 minutes.

Except for perishable supplies, which are checked and rotated, the boxes cannot be opened except with OCDM permission to be requested through the state office. However, the state has two units which are used for training sessions. Total cost of a packaged hospital is $21,316.11, but there is no cost to the city receiving it except that of providing proper storage and care.

Civil defense officials in West Columbia (near Houston) have stored their hospital boxes in two large vans obtained from Texas Surplus Property Agency. The vans are in the county barns where there are trucks which could take them immediately to wherever they might be needed. The local school has been designated as the probable site for setting up the hospital, and each box of hospital equipment has been color coded to show the room in the school to which it should be taken.

The hospital storage program has been in actual operation only about a year, said Yaun. There is no mandatory "assigning" system, he said. The units are sent upon request of responsible local officials who can show a need in that area and definite provision for safekeeping at least 15 miles from the nearest target area. Despite the voluntary nature of the program, Yaun said he felt it was progressing well toward the desired scattering over the state. Both the state office and large target cities have been working to encourage smaller towns to obtain hospitals.

As yet, none of the stored hospitals has been opened nor has a request to open one been made. "It would take a really mammoth disaster to justify this," said Yaun, "one that would wipe out all regular hospital facilities for miles around. I can't really imagine its happening except in war."

Both families lived near Sagerton. Mrs. Helm was Annie Stremmel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Stremmel. Mr. Helm is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Helm, who now lives in Stamford, and the late Mr. Helm.

The celebration was held at the farm home a mile and a half east of Sagerton which they acquired 18 years ago.

Members of the family joined in the celebration and open house was held during the evening, when approximately 115 guests were registered in the anniversary book by Linda Stremmel, a niece.

Guests came from Sagerton, Rule, Old Glory, Stamford, Avoca and Abilene. Anniversary cake was served by the two daughters, Mrs. Jack Monse of Sagerton, and Jeanette Helm of Stamford.

Sandwiches, pie, punch and coffee were served. The table was covered with a lace cloth over pink.

Mrs. Helm wore a navy two-piece silk shantung dress and white carnation corsage. Gifts were opened and displayed.

Rev. M. Shatto, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, and William Reber of Rule, gave congratulatory talks to the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Helm are members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Sagerton. Mr. Reber is an uncle of Mrs. Helm. Illustrated Lecture Is Highlight Of Progressive Study Club Program

From Richard Watson Gilder's quotation "A precious jewel carved most curiously; it is a little picture painted well..." came the clue for the discovery of the jewel of Appreciation on Nov. 20, as the Progressive Study Club continued its quest of life's Treasure Chest.

With Mrs. R. W. Herren as leader, the value of hidden interests was shown as a major factor in overcoming a self-centered way of life in which boredom and fatigue can make one's outlook stale. "Why be bored?" queried Mrs. Herren. "Don't sneer at hobbies until you have tasted the joy of pursuing one," she continued. Mrs. Herren, greatly interested in art herself, introduced to the club one of its former members, Mrs. O. J. Curry of Vernon, president of the Art League of Vernon, whose illustrated lecture "Art as a hobby or entertainment" was a program highlight.

Surrounded by examples of her own paintings and those of several members of her Art League, Mrs. Curry, was herself, an illustration of the merits of losing one's self in outside interests. Exhibiting several types of art, she explained the variety and techniques employed. Particularly outstanding was her display of paintings done with a palette knife—a method used to create a heavier texture with depth much akin to the three dimensional aspect. She showed further how the palette knife could be used to bring out special emphasis in a regular brush painting. Her collection displayed florals, landscapes, still life, and a seascape, all done in oils. The group's favorite was a still life depicting a table on which stood an old glass lamp reflecting its light on an open Bible.

"Many people feel they would not attempt painting because they cannot draw," she said. "What they do not realize is that the ability to draw is not a prerequisite for painting. Much hidden talent may be revealed if one can forget self and paint an object or a scene, not as it actually is, but as he sees it. In this way one can use a hobby such as painting to give a tranquilizing effect, feeling the cares and worries of the workday world to slip off. Life is richer as a result of such a relaxing interlude and oftentimes the hobby can lead to a worthwhile and rewarding occupation."

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. F. W. Martin and Mrs. Garvin Foote.

Christmas Seals Help Research Toward Improving Care Of Children With TB

Treatment and prevention of tuberculosis in children—and the reasons why young girls break down with TB—are being studied under Christmas Seal medical research grants from tuberculosis associations. Dr. Joe Thigpen, member of the board of directors of the Haskell County Tuberculosis Association, announced this week that four centers in Texas were cooperating in a large-scale study designed to improve care of children with tuberculosis. Those centers are at the Driscoll Childrens Hospital in Corpus Christi, the Dallas Pediatric Hospital, the Houston Tuberculosis Hospital, and the El Paso Health Department. Exact purpose of the study, according to Dr. Thigpen, is to find out whether serious complications can be prevented by giving a drug, isoniazid, to children when first infected with tuberculosis. The study was organized and coordinated by the U. S. Public Health Service. A medical research grant from the National Tuberculosis Association supplements federal funds. Almost 3,000 children are now under observation. Some of the children are receiving isoniazid; some are receiving dummy pills. Preliminary reports indicate that fewer complications are arising among the children receiving isoniazid. "The study is one of two on tuberculosis in children being aided by Christmas Seal grants," Dr. Thigpen stated. "Another clinical study concerns tuberculosis in adolescence."

Cub Scouts Display Handicraft, Receive Awards At Pack Meeting

The Cub Scouts of Pack 36 held their monthly Pack meeting Monday night Nov. 24 at 7:00 p. m. in the Elementary School auditorium. Displays by Den 1 and Den 3 were on tables in back of the room. As the crowds gathered, the proud parents and Cub Scouts looked over the displays.

Den 1 had made beads out of Indian corn they had dyed. A small scene of the first Thanksgiving was centered on the table with an arrangement of pumpkins, squash and Indian corn. They had framed a picture made of dried flowers, leaves and butterflies.

Den 3 had been studying knots during the past month and had a display of the different knots and their usage. Each boy had made a "What-Not holder for Dad" out of a tuna fish can, and had them arranged on the table.

The Cub Scouts marched in and gathered in a semi-circle on the stage around a simulated campfire, and in unison gave the Pledge of Allegiance and sang their Welcome Song.

Cubmaster Edd Smart announced that any boy who is eight years old is eligible to be a Cub Scout. If a boy will be eight within a month, he may go ahead and turn in his application before his eighth birthday.

Den 3, under the direction of their Den Mother, Mrs. Roy Wiseman, presented a short skit, "A Visit to the Weather Bureau."

W. P. Ratliff assisted the Cubmaster during the presentation of awards and achievements. The Ceremony Board had six large candles and four small candles. The six candles represented the Cub Scout Promise and the Law of the Pack. The four candles represented the Cub Scouts advancement in Cub Scouting.

After the candles were lighted, the following awards and achievements were presented by Cubmaster Edd Smart:

Bobcat Pins: Derrel Davis, John Paul Dunlap, Dennis Johnson, Steven Harrison, Billy Randall Hise and Roy Trussell.

Bear Badge: Glenn Smart, David Hairston, Gary Lytle, the Lion Badge: Jack Muegge, and Gold Arrow: Johnny Love.

Thurman Howeth and Gary Lytle.

Silver Arrow: Wayne Cadenhead, Craig Correll, Riley Couch, Walter Felker, Ray Herren, Bill Ratliff, Steven Smith, James Wall, Johnny Love, Randolph Wiseman, and Thurman Howeth.

Den Chief Tommy Hester presented Den Chief Cards to the following new Den Chiefs: Eddie Smart, Jeff Robertson, Ken Stewart and Steven Pace.

Glenn Pogue, Charles Scott McDonald, Tommy Dale Patterson and Danny Patterson were welcomed as new Cub Scouters. Mrs. T. C. Patterson is a new Den Mother, and will have Den 4 for her den number.

Tom Stewart, Den Leader of the Webelos Den reported that the first meeting of the Webelos Den would be at the Presbyterian Church basement on Friday, Dec. 5 at 7 p. m. The following boys are eligible for membership in the Webelos Den: David Follstaedt, Steven Harper, Gene Hester, Harold Hodge Jr., Bill Perry, George Sherman, Michael Felker and Ronnie Hilliard.

Excitement ran high during the counting of the number present for each Den. Den 1 had 23, Den 2 had 15, Den 3 had 33 and Den 5 had 22. Tommy Hester, Den Chief of Den 3, accepted "Cubby" on behalf of the Cub Scouts of Den 3 for having the most present at the Pack meeting. They will get to keep "Cubby" until the next Pack meeting.

Cubmaster Edd Smart requested all Cub Scouts to stand and close the meeting by giving the Cub Scout Promise.

EFFECT OF TEMPERATURE
Rising temperatures make ice more slippery. A car with regular tires, moving at 20 MPH on glare ice, requires 114 ft. at 0° and 235 ft. at 30° above. Reinforced tire chains provide consistently shorter stops, about 77 ft., regardless of temperatures.

STOPPING ABILITY ON DRY PAVEMENT

REGULAR TIRES 21 ft

These National Safety Council charts illustrate test results by its Committee on Winter Driving Hazards. Braking distances do not allow for "reaction time," which averages 3/4 of a second needed to get foot on brake and which adds another 22 feet to stopping ability figures shown above.

Property Taxes Dominate State Tax Structure, Commission Reports

Property taxes "which dominate the Texas tax structure" are the subject of the sixth research staff report just released by the Texas State Tax Study Commission.

The report shows that:

1. Property taxes provide more than 90 per cent of local tax revenues and more than 45 per cent of combined state and local tax revenues.
2. Although less than five per cent of the state government's tax revenue comes from property taxes, the $30 million collected by the state is third highest state property tax total in the nation. (Several states have relinquished the property tax to local governments.)

3. The 1958 state and local property tax collections will total $629 million, this represents a three year (1955-58) increase of $169 million or an average annual increase of $53 million.

The Texas State Tax Study Commission was created by the 55th Legislature and directed to make a comprehensive study of the entire state and local tax structure. This is the sixth in a series of eight reports on the subject.

The property tax report directs attention to the overlapping of local assessment districts in Texas with county, city, school and sometimes special district assessors all placing a valuation on the same piece of property—frequently at widely varying levels. Although some highly efficient assessing offices exist in Texas, the study found most assessors to be operating without adequate tools. Of 834 assessors replying to a questionnaire, less than half used tax maps (some of those in use not being up to date), property cards, building permits or deed abstracts. Over 60 per cent of these assessors do not even make on-the-ground inspections of new construction or additions.

Weinert Bulldogs Win Regional Crown In 58-20 Defeat Of Miami

Weinert's mighty Bulldogs won their first Region I football championship since 1949, at Pampa Thanksgiving Day, when they overcame a good Miami Warrior team, 58-20, in a Six-Man contest.

Coach Jay Cox' Bulldogs rolled up an insurmountable 36-0 lead before allowing the Panthers to scratch. It was Weinert's 12th straight victory this season and 23rd in a row without a defeat. Weinert was tied by Jayton in last year's bi-district playoff.

The Bulldogs opened scoring in the first quarter when W. J. Swaner passed 10 yards to Jerry Walker for a touchdown to cap a long drive. The try for point was fumbled and it was 6-0.

Minutes later Swaner passed 24 yards to David Boykin for another Weinert tally and Bob Raynes kicked the two-pointer for a 14-0 margin.

In the second quarter, Raynes capped a march with a 10-yard touchdown scamper and then kicked the two-point conversion for a 22-0 lead.

Walker scampered 37 yards for the fourth Weinert score but Raynes' kick was blocked and it was 28-0 early in the second period.

After an exchange of the ball, Swaner skirted end for a 51-yard touchdown spurt and then booted the two-point conversion for a whopping 36-0 lead.

Miami finally managed to score when Toby Cunningham passed 19 yards to Paul Thompson to cap a long drive. Jimmy Bowers drop-kicked the two-pointer and it was 36-8 at the intermission.

Early in the third quarter, Swaner faded back and passed a 50-yard scoring strike to Jerry King. The extra attempt was fumbled and the Bulldogs held a 42-8 bulge.

Miami rebounded and scored when Cunningham tossed a two-yard touchdown pass to Jim Seitz after a long drive. The extra point attempt was no good and it was 42-14.

Weinert came back with a relentless drive and from the 10-yard line Swaner kicked the two-pointer and it was 50-14.

Miami retaliated with a 42-yard scoring pass from Cunningham to Sam Harris but the extra point try was no good and it was 50-20.

Weinert scored its final TD on a six-yard scamper by sophomore Luther Rainey and Raynes kicked the two-pointer for the final score.

Harris, the Miami lad who had scored 32 touchdowns prior to Thursday's game, was held to one and for the first time this season the speedster failed to score on a run. He had 93 yards rushing but was way below his usual average.

Miami finished with a 9-2 record.

It was a rewarding victory for Coach Cox. During his six years as pilot of the Bulldogs this was his first regional championship.

Electronic Secretary Newest Device To Speed Up Handling of Messages

Science has done a great deal of things for modern business, such as: building computing machines which take a moment to get answers that would take a staff of accountants weeks to figure; building a machine that takes your letter, puts it in an envelope, seals the envelope, weighs it, and puts on the correct amount of postage; systematizing files so that you can press a button and out will come every card with whatever specifications you asked for; and so on. Some 60 years ago, they invented the dial telephone which permitted you to bypass the "hello girl" at the switchboard. And now, along those lines, they have something else—the Electronic Secretary, a device which will answer your phone while you are out, give a message to the caller, take a message, an order, or whatever else the caller may wish to leave. It stays on duty day and night without so much as a "coffee break."

But, of course, good as it is, the Electronic Secretary isn't good enough to remind the boss when to take his pills or to keep a dinner appointment, nor can it go out and buy a gift for his wedding anniversary, after having reminded him four days in a row that it was on the way.

What the Electronic Secretary does do, however, according to Donald C. Power, president of General Telephone System, which developed the device, is fill an important spot to help a great many professional business men, the repair man, the salesman who can't afford to miss calls that may come in while he is out, and so on.

The Electronic Secretary is connected to your telephone. When your phone rings, and you are not there to answer it, "Ella" answers with a message reporting that you are out of the office for the time being, or any other message you wish it to give. Then "Ella" asks the caller to leave a message, order, or whatever communication is desired. This message is recorded, and can be played back at any time. In fact, it is not even necessary to return to the office to get the messages. By using a small device, no larger than a cigarette pack, the salesman can call his office, hold this little device to the speaker, and "Ella" will repeat all messages received up to that point.

Invented by Joseph J. Zimmerman, this device is now produced by Electronic Secretaries Industries of Waukesha, Wis., a subsidiary of the General Telephone System, and is used by telephone companies all over the country, as well as General's own operating companies.

Its uses keep growing day by day as more and more individuals and business concerns become interested in ways of reducing operating expenses or increasing the efficiency of their organizations.

The Electronic Secretary is a perfect aid for the "one-man" business such as a radio or television repair man, a sales-

Haskell Cagers Top Merkel 47-39 Tuesday Night

Fred Middleton sizzled the nets for 25 points here Tuesday night to lead Haskell to a 47-39 non-district basketball victory over Merkel.

Pat Patterson scored 20 for Merkel.

Merkel won the B game, 34-24, with Dexter Dorton tallying 10 for the winners and Maxie Mullins scoring nine for Haskell B.

man who does not want to miss any calls while he is out making personal visits, plumbers, carpenters, or similar service individuals, and firms who get orders over the telephone and find that the Electronic Secretary takes every request accurately. Even small police departments have found it useful.

In the case of police departments where the police force is out on duty more than in police headquarters, a telephone call to headquarters turns on a light above the station house or some point visible from all over town. The policeman on patrol goes to the nearest phone, uses his small oscillator, and gets whatever message was left with "Ella."

"Ella" is also utilized a great deal in the "reverse" process; that is, it gives the messages to people who call your number, such as a movie theater which saves the time of the ticket seller by having the Electronic Secretary answer calls and give the days program with as much detailed information as desired. Such informative messages generally end with the telephone number of the manager's office
