Robt. Fitzgerald

Robert H. (Bob) Fitzgerald, 61, native of Haskell and lifetime resident here until moving to Arlington in 1955, died at 1 p. m. Sunday in an Arlington hospital. He had been hospitalized after suffering a brain hemmorrhage about 10 days previously.

Mr. Fitzgerald had visited here in the home of his sister. Mrs. Ada Rike and with other relatives and friends a few days before he was stricken, and apparently was in the best of health at that time.

Funeral for Mr. Fitzgerald was held at 4 p. m. Tuesday in the First Methodist Church at Arlington, and burial was in Arlington Cemetery . Robert Hubert Fitzgerald was born March 12, 1898, in Haskell, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fitzgerald, who were among the first permanent families to locate in Haskell County. He had lived here his entire lifetime until moving to Arlington.

He was a veteran of World War I and was a former deputy sheriff of Haskell County. Most of his adult life was spent in ranching. In 1930 he married the former Miss Ima Dell Woods of Eastland, who survives him. She is a teacher in the Arlington Elementary Schools, Mr. Fitzgerald was a member of the Methodist

Taxes Are Your Problem

We don't want to spoil your day, but did you know that the average working man spends one-third of his time working for local, state and federal taxing agencies? This startling fact is cited in an editorial in the Houston

Chronicle, which goes on to say: The Tax Foundation, adding up federal, state and local taxes, finds that a man with a wife and two children making $4500 a year works seven days out of his average 22 working-day month to pay his tax bills. It's a little hard to realize, but true, Tax Foundation maintains, that the average worker puts in almost one third of his time at shop or office to pay his taxes. The income tax, while the biggest, is only one of many. Besides the other direct taxes, state and local, there are an almost infinite number of big and little indirect levies.

Seven days out of 22 to pay taxes, 41/2 days to pay food iblis. Isn't there something more than a little cockeyed here? These are things every citizen might well ponder over. And just in case you're interested in drawing the line against any further increase of this burden, you might write your Congressman in Washington, and closer home, your Senator and Representative in Austin. Then we have local taxes too, you know, so you might include a talk with the County Commissioners, City Aldermen and School Trustees if you're really interested.

Tax Dilemma

It's probably a good thing that air conditioning was installed in the House and Senate chambers of the State capitol

It may be pretty hot before a majority of both houses come to agreement on new taxes.

House members systematically cut to pieces the big omnibus tax bill (HB 727). As originally proposed, it would have raised $300 million, mostly from scores of new selective sales taxes on items ranging from face paint to house paint. After members got through cutting out the things that brought the loudest howls, it was down to less than one-fourth its starting

It was then given preliminary approval by the narrowest of votes, 74 to 72, counting Speaker Waggoner Carr's "yes" vote. Carr stepped down from the speaker's rostrum to plead with members to pass the bill, even though it had been stripped to practically nothing, so as to "get something to the Senate

The Senate cannot consider a tax bill until it has been passed by the House. But for the Senate, getting the shattered fragments of HB 727 is like getting four wheels and some broken glass with the invitation to make an automobile.

The Gift Of Age

(Abilene Reporter-News)

One of the joys of growing older is that you meet yourself coming back.

Things that happened in your childhood come back with a vividness that is astonishing. This, we take it, is what is called "second childhood." You can recall names, faces, incidents, scenes and everything under the sun, some of which you hadn't thought of in years.

It is much more fun if you have a clear conscience, and thanks to a merciful Providence we tend to put unpleasant things out of mind and recall only the pleasant ones.

Some people claim they can recall incidents reaching all the way back to two years of age, or even less, but not many people can make that claim honestly. But we can recall when we wore dresses, which boys in our own age group often did as children growing up. Nobody thought anything about it at the time; little boys and girls wore dresses, so what? Little boys also were curls down to their shoulders, but along about age four or five they rebelled. Many a motherly tear was shed when Dad took junior to the back porch, wrapped a disheloth around his neck and shoulders, got out the sheep shears and gave his head a good going over.

That was the first memorable, joyous occasion in a small boy's life. The next was when he was allowed to put off short pants and put on long trousers, if you except his first pair of brass-toed shoes.

Oscar Oates recalls that he along with Brevard Long, Spot Lemmon, and Gene Williams were working at the fountain in the old Corner Drug Store at the time.

'We opened up at 6 a. m. and closed at 2 a. m. the next morning," he recalled. They were rushed every minute of that time, he remembers.

Other crowd-getters in those days were the political "speakings" every two years, and the old fashioned union revival meetings held generally each summer.

The major political rallies were one-day affairs, but when a candidate for governor or U. S. Senator was billed to speak, thousands turned out. Men like Joe Bailey, Jim Ferguson, O. B. Colquitt and others, rivaled Barnum & Bailey in attracting Old-time revivals led by men like the late Lockett Adair, drew record attendance night after night during periods as long as two weeks, and in contrast to the political gatherings. left a lasting influence in the community.

Although juvenile delinquency was a term unheard of in those days, teenage boys were not above seeking a little clean, harmless fun. We recall with misgivings the dim view taken by parents the time during a revival when two small babies left sleeping on pallets in separate wagons were exchanged. Although the "switch" was discovered when the parents start ed home, they never did appreciate the humor of the sit uation.

Nor could Clarence "Cheesy" Courtney appreciate the good clean fun involved the night he went out to the well for a fresh bucket of water for a group of boys and girls enjoying an ice cream party.

Passing into oblivion of ru ral communities which once dotted Haskell County is commented on from time to time. And although these communities no longer exist their memories are kept alive.

Several years ago a reunion or "homecoming" of former residents of the Pinkerton, Foster, and Whitman communities was inaugurated here.

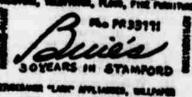

The occasion was so popular that it was made an annual affair, and the 1959 version will be held here next Saturday. So don't be surprised this week end if you meet former acquaintances you haven't seen in 30 years or longer, because there'll be some oldtimer you know among the several hundred attending the affair.

Although not to be classed as rural communities, several small "settlements" are springing up around Lake Stamford. east of Haskell.

Probably the largest is a Veda's Camp, where many at tractive cabins and summer homes have been built. Several years ago Veda Griffin, owner of a large acreage fronting along the lake, made sites available on long-term lease basis.

As a result, many nice little cabins were built, and today there are dozens of neat homes in the vicinity. Many of them would be a credit to the residential area of any town. A! though owners are non-residents, they have gone to con siderable trouble to beautify the sourroundings with tree and shrubbery plantings that will make the area a veritable garden spot within a few years.

The same thing, on a smaller scale is happening at other spots around the lake.

Soil Stewardship Stems From The Heart Of Man

By Donald A. Wiiliams Administrator

U. S. Soil Conservation Service Twenty years ago a conservationist said that soil and water conservation will truly become a reality when it be-comes an ideal in the hearts of

He was thinking of the spiritual values that contribute to the satisfaction of working with the soil. He realized that the practice of modern soil and water conservation-true stewardship of the soil-must be based on something more than just financial gain and the se-curity of one's investment in Profits and security do come from conservation farming and they are important. But money values change. Ideals and spiritual values usually persist to guide the man who carries them in his heart.

The continuing and growing success of Soil Conservation Week, sponsored by the Na-tional Association of Soil Conservation Districts and various national church organizations, indicates that we have reached the time when soil and water conservation has become an ideal in the hearts of millions

Soil Stewardship Week for 1959 is May 3 to 10 inclusive. During those eight days, soil conservation districts and churches throughout the U.S. will observe the fact that "the earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof' but responsibility for its stewardship is a sacred trust vested in man. Many other local farmers' organizations, civic and professional organizations, schools, business men's organizations and other community-minded groups will join in the observance. In many states, the Governor traditionally names Soil Stewardship Week in a proclamation. The Soil Conservation Service is proud of any help our office are able to give. I am sure the same is true of other Federal

The growth of Soil Stewardship Week in the last two decades has amazed many people. It has pleased even more. It should not surprise anyone who likes to farm, garden, putter around his flower beds and lawn, camp or hunt or fish in beautiful surroundings. All these bring forcibly to mind our dependence on the soil Even if we only eat food, wear clothes and like nice furniture and houses, we live from the soil. Our well-being rests with the "stewards of the soil."

Farmers, ranchers, and backyard gardeners deal with the mystery of life—the life of ants, animals and the soil Pho. UN 4-3197 - 901 N. 5th itself. For soil is a living thing.

That must be why so many farmers and ranchers "just wouldn't do anything else." That must be why so many backyard gardeners can compietely lose themselves in their hobby. Once it "gets you," work with the soil is entranc-ing, uplifting, inspiring. It has a strange benefit. Some call it healthful exercise, Some merely call it fun. Some say it is relaxing. Others also see a spiritual significance.

Such a person wants to care for the soil because it lives and gives life. He thus becomes a good steward. He may not realize the spiritual value any more than the person doing a good deed thinks of God or religion. All these values are inherent in the souls of kindly and intelligent men-call them what you wish. We are conscious of the "trademarks" of soil and water conservation, the signs of good stewardship. They are stripchopping on the sloping fields, the windbreaks and stubble multiple stripchopping the beautiful ble mulching, the beautiful farm woodlots, the thick green blankets of meat-producing and soil-conserving pastures, the better grasses on the range and the areas which produce food and home of wildlife. They include water harnessed to help man instead of wash him away, the efficient use of irrigation water, improved drainage of established farmland, soil-building rotations, use of fertilizer and manure and dozens of other soil and water conserving practices which are a part of modern farming.

These are important because they are trademarks, tools of trade, outward symbols. They are the physical expression of man's love of, and respect for, the God-given soil and water resources on which we all de-

B. B. Gilmore Is Speaker At First Methodist Church

Taking as his topic, "Why Are You Here?" B. B. (Brax) Gilmore, Haskell businessman and lay leader in the First Methodist Church, spoke during the Sunday morning service at the church.

Gilmore's talk was one in a series by laymen in connection with the education and finance program now underway to raise $4,500 for building repairs and maintenance of the church. This effort supplements the regular church budget.

"Are you here just to satisfy your own personal needs for worship?" the speaker asked. the speaker asked, continuing "This would seem a selfish motive, and I do not believe that any Christian could justify his going to church for this one reason alone.

"We are dicussing the needs of our church as the first phase of our very member canvass. The one thing this church needs most of all is you. If this church possesses you and others like you, then all other needs of the church will be met. You and what you have to offer as contributions to the worship of your God are what this church needs."

In concluding his talk, the speaker left this thought: "To give to God, a part of that with which He, in His goodness, has so bountifully blessed you."

DREAMS

What kind do you have? Do they come true? Some wonderones have. Yes, Westinghouse world-famous manufacresponded to woman's persistent age old dream and desire for an easy way to wash. Of our many advancements none have eliminated as many backaches or as much sweat for the housewife as the automatic washing machine. Westinghouse Laundromat washing macines take the cake. They really do! You see, they are so simple to use and so sare to use. No human hands touch the inside of these tubs to clean them because they are self-cleaning hence sanitary and safely ready for the next washer each time. They are manufactured that way, a commercial machine to give you peace of mind and joy to wash where ever there is Laundromat in a public place. The old "batting" stick or its modern semblance, a "girator" is no part of a Westinghouse Laundromat washer. The Laundromats do not agitate! they rub like a wash board. This amazing machine washes oil field greasers, ditch digging coveralls, cowboy branding khakis, grimy farm overalls, school boy levis, OR dainty tucked blouses, baby dresses, sheerest nylons with ease and safety. Zippers do not bend, buttons do not break off, fuzz and lint is not deposited on dark garments or left in the tub. Pocket change, 80c will wash 25 or 30 pounds of clothes and be through in 30 minutes and if you dry it is all over, clothes folded in an hour and 15 minutes, no more than $1.30 out of your pocket What's $1.30 out of your pocket. What's more you went shopping, to the P. O. or the bank, did an errand while they washed and dried. Sounds like a dream to great-grandma but it has all come true at the Westinghouse Laundromat and it will be a pleasure to share this factual dream with you anytime AT The Haskell Laundromat (North Highway).

Control of Grubs Saves Millions For Cattlemen

By F. W. Martin County Agent

The cattle grub has caused $100,000,000,000 loss to the cattle industry each year. Now a new insecticide called "Systemic" will cut this loss out complete

In tests at Iowa State Col lege, treated cattle gained up to one-fourth pounds more per day than untreated cattle and on less feed per pound of gain. Grubfree animals earned an extra $5 per head-a bonus for using systemics.

Iowa cattlemen now have an other bonus coming their way. A major packer in the Hawkeye State agreed last fall to pay up to $1 per head on the cost of systemic insecticide treatment to any owner who delivered cattle whose carcasses contained less than five grubs per animal between Dec. 1 and May 1. Other packers were considering similar offers to stimulate the use of systemics and to permit a general im provement of beef carcasses. Given orally, or as a spray systemics are carried in the animals bloodstream, killing grubs on the inside. The dead grub larvae dissolve and diis appear without leaving any trace of injury, if the insecti

Timing is important to successful control. Cattle grubs start from heel fly eggs, laid on the hair of the lower legs and flanks. Small larvae emerge from these eggs and burning the control of the lower legs. erge from these eggs and bur-row into the animal's flesh. The larvae spends the next or 8 or 9 months migrating through the connective tissues, spending considerable time either in the gullet or spine, and finally reaching the back. There they encyst and form

Systemics attack the grub while it's still in the connective tissue. To be most effective, treatment should come as soon as possible after heel fly activity ceases, but before the grub reaches the back.

Co-Ral is given as a spray and Trolene as a bolus (large pill). Cost ranges from 50c to $1.50 per head.

Calves under 6 months should not be treated, nor should dairy cows. Do not slaughter beef cattle until 60 days after treatment. Pregnant cows show no ill effects after receiving systemics. There are other important "do's" and "dont's" so read instructions carefully.

The recommended time to spray for grubs in this section of the state is May 15 to October 1. In general, spray as soon as possible after heel fly activity stops since grub larvae are easier to kill when young. Spray should be applied no later than 4 to 6 weeks but preferably 3 months-before grubs normally are expected to appear in the backs of animals. Part of the systemic passes into the animal's body and part remains on the hair and skin. The absorbed chemical kills the grub and remainder provides control of screw worms, horn flys, lice and ticks. A single treatment will destroy grubs for an en-

"Nine Teens" Give Review Of Dead Song Program At Sea Scrolls Is Lions Club Given Rotarians Lions Club

A high school choral group, "The Nineteens" presented an enjoyable program of songs and music at the noon meeting and luncheon of the Lions Club

Tuesday in the dining room of the Highway Drive In.

The talented group was di-rected by Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bell, instructors of the young singers. Program chairman for day was Allen Rieves, who in-troduced the entertainers.

Club president Dr. J. G. Vaughter presided for the club session and business meeting, and presented a 15-year mem-bership certificate to Lion Jetty V. Clare. Certificates for other members had been presented at the annual Ladies Night held recently.

President Vaughter also announced the Zone Ladies Night program to be held at Olney, and invited all Lions who could to attend the meeting.

FHA Supervisor Attends Meeting In New Orleans

supervisor, for the Farmers Home Administration in Haskell, has just returned from New Orleans where he attended the National Resources Conference presented by the In-dustrial College, Washington,

The course was conducted by a staff of well informed officers of the various armed forces and civilian firms. It was sponsored by the New Orleans Chamber of Commerce and was attended by some 600 key in-dividuals throughout the U. S. Among those in attendance were the Hon. Perkins Mc-Guire, Deputy Secretary of De-lense for Logistical Supplies; Gov. Earl Long of Louisiana. and Mayor de Lessepps of New

Topics of discussion included Civil Defense, Financial National Security, Stragetic Ma-Soviet Communism Agriculture, Fuel and Power, Human Resources, Balance of Power Between East and West and other topics of vital concern to our National Security.

The entire theme of the course is developed around the principles of inseparability of Industry and Defense. The two weeks is a condensation of a 9weeks course offered at the college in Washington.

Dr. Spencer Is Weekend Visitor With Relatives

Dr. Frank Spencer of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md., spent the weekend here with his mother, Mrs. Frank Spencer and with his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. George

Dr. Spencer was returning from San Francisco and Los Angeles, Calif., and was met at Abilene Friday morning by Mrs. Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. Tyler. They accompanied him back to Abilene Sunday evening where he boarded a plane for Baltimore.

Dr. Spencer had attended a meeting of the American Surgical Association April 15 17 in San Francisco, where he gave a paper on "Estimation of Cardiac Output in the Early Post-Operative Period." He also attended a meeting in Los An-geles April 21-23 of the American Association of Thoracic Surgery, where he gave a pa-per on "Experiences with the treatment of post-operative cardiac or respiratory failure with a mechanical respirator.

Dr. Spencer also was the author of a paper on "Hypothernia Following Heart Arrest' which was presented at the Inernational Anesthesia Reearch Society at Miami, Fla. arlier this month.

An interesting discussion of the "Dead Sea Scrolls," termed as the greatest archaeology find in modern times, highlighted the program of the Rotary Club Thursday at noon in the dining room of the Texas Cafe.

The speaker was the Rev. Dan Barfield, pastor of the Rule Presbyterian Church, who has made an extensive study of material relating to the historic find made through accident in 1947. He explained that it would take years to decipher would take years to decipher and translate the vast number of scrolls, many of which were shattered and required laborious and tedious work in piecing them together.

The scrolls have attracted widespread attention of Bible scholars throughout the world, and many historians consider them valuable in giving a bet-ter understanding of the New Testament, the speaker explained.

The scrolls were the work of a devout group who believ-ed the end of the world was near, and were believed written in the period from 170 B. C. to 68 A. D. Welcomed at the meeting as a new member of the Ro-tary Club was Gene Hunter, local businessman whose classification is men's wear, retail.

On behalf of the Club, Rotarian Stanley Furrh was presented a Western tie and Rotary emblem in recognition of his service during the time the club met in the Texas Cafe.

Out-of-town guests at the meeting were Hob Smith, Man-ford Reid and Clyde Crawford of Rochester, Willard Warren of Lubbock, Sonny Herman and Curtis Nelson of Abilene, Frank Campbell of Rule, Tom Adams Stamford.

Beginning this week, the Ro-tary Club will meet weekly at noon each Thursday in the dining room of the Highway Drive In. President Tom Barfield an-

Film Made Inside Russia Will Be Shown Here

A couple of years ago a number of Russian Agricultur-ists toured American farms, observing the American way of farming and taking pictures of their trip.

At the very same time, some American farmers traveled into Russia and other countries. One of these farmers was Dar-rell McNutt of Hobart, Okla.

McNutt took many pictures of his tour and obtained some startling films inside Russia that every full-blooded American will want to see, declares H. W. Smith, president of Haskell County Farm Bureau.

These pictures will be shown by Mr. McNutt, who will ex-plain them as they are shown, on May 8, at the Haskell High School auditorium at 7:30. sponsored by the Farm Bureau.

"Do you know what Communism really is?—well, this film will show you the advantages of being an American and make each of us appreciate our American way of life," Smith said. The public is cordially invited and there will be no invited and there will be no charge. Don't miss this opportunity, he urged.
