Gen. Ryan bound for MAC

RANDOLPH AFB, Texas (AFNS)—Gen. Thomas M. Ryan Jr., who has commanded Air Training Command since July 30, 1981, will become Commander in Chief of Military Airlift Command, headquartered at Scott AFB, Ill., the Air Force announced in Washington, Thursday. General Ryan is replacing Gen. James R. Allen, who retires July 1.

Before he assumed command of ATC, General Ryan served as Vice Commander in Chief of MAC.

General Ryan's successor as ATC commander will be Lt. Gen. Andrew P. Iosue, currently Air Force Deputy Chief of Staff for Manpower and Personnel. The president has nominated General Iosue for appointment to the grade of general.

The ATC change of command will be held here sometime in late June, the Air Force said.

In a related announcement, the Air Force also disclosed plans for a reorganization of Air Training Command.

The realignment calls for the Air University, which is headquartered at Maxwell AFB, Ala., to be separated from ATC effective July 1. At this time, AU will be designated a major command.

Air Force officials said the change in status for AU is part of an Air Force effort to increase the emphasis on professional military education and research and doctrine development, which are conducted at AU.

Major functions under AU are: Air War College; Air Command and Staff College, Squadron Officer School; Senior Non-commissioned Officer Academy; Center for Aerospace Doctrine, Research and Education; Air Force Institute of Technology; Leadership, Management and Development Center; Civil Air Patrol and the Extension Course Institute.

The Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps, headquartered at Maxwell, will remain under ATC's jurisdiction.

None of ATC's other major responsibilities—flying, technical and basic military training as well as officer/enlisted recruiting—will be affected by this reorganization.

Even though there may be some reassignments of key personnel, the number of people at Randolph and Maxwell AFBs will remain approximately the same.

For General Iosue, this will be his third key assignment with ATC. In 1975-76, as a brigadier general, he commanded the U.S. Air Force Recruiting Service here. After he was promoted to major general, he took command of the Air Force Military Training Center at Lackland AFB.

General Iosue was promoted to lieutenant general on April 1, 1979, at which time he left Lackland for his present assignment in Washington.

T-birds tap Hamilton for team

Sergeant Hamilton

Sgt. Randy L. Hamilton, a San Antonio native and Reese job controller for aircraft maintenance, arrived here just short of four years ago, and is now within a week of joining the Air Force's aerial demonstration team, the Thunderbirds.

Sergeant Hamilton and his parents are excited about the opportunity. Expected gains from the assignment: "lots of travel and professionalism," said Sergeant Hamilton.

A crew chief by AFSC, Sergeant Hamilton pointed out that when he arrives at Nellis AFB, Nev., home of the Thunderbirds, he will not be accepted immediately. Instead he will be "on probation" working with the 119-member enlisted and 11 officer force as a crew chief on the nine F-16s and two T-38s.

After a month of "going through the ringer" both the officers and enlisted members of the T-birds will vote whether or not to keep him. He added that while he will be issued the Thunderbirds uniform, it will not have the Thunderbirds patch until the decision is made to keep him with the team.

He found out about the team opening through a December article in the Roundup and decided to call a friend at Nellis, Thunderbirds Job Control NCOIC TSgt. Terry Winter. Acting on his friend's advice he applied for the job.

The one thing about leaving Reese that really impressed him was that the "attitudes have changed. People used to avoid work, but now they pull together as a team."

AFA chapter hosts Cannon commander

The Lubbock Chapter of the Air Force Association will host a quarterly meeting starting at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the officers' club.

Col. Joseph K. Stapleton, commander of the 27th Tactical Fighter Wing at Cannon AFB, Clovis, will be the featured speaker. He will talk on the mission of Cannon and the 27th Tactical Fighter Wing's recent deployment to the Republic of Korea.

Colonel Stapleton received his pilot wings at Reese in March 1965 and since then the majority of his duty assignments have been with units of the Tactical Air Command. He has more than 2,700 hours flying time in the T-33, RF-4, and F-111 aircraft.

The AFA meeting is being held during the Lubbock Chapter's April 18-May 28 annual membership drive. Following the social hour, dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m.

Following dinner, Marleea Cox will be honored as the Lubbock Chapter's 1983 scholarship essay contest winner. Cox is a senior at Muleshoe High School who resides in Earth, Texas. Her entry on the topic "Portrait of a Responsible American Citizen" was selected as the best in the Lubbock-South Plains area and competed for state-wide honors.

Reservations for the dinner meeting may be made by calling Capt. Andy Kenagy at 885-3393 or 885-3727, or at 793-8197 evenings. Captain Kenagy can also supply information on the Air Force Association and AFA membership applications.

Editorials

Dear John,

Well, it's Friday night again. Dinner, the children and I are ready, but evidently you're not. So, while the kids are eating and watching TV and I'm wondering how drunk you'll be when you make it home from "Happy Hour." or whether or not you'll make it home in one piece, I thought I'd write you a letter.

You always say that I shouldn't complain about your drinking—that you've always "taken care" of your family. So I'm just listing a few more little things I want you to do for us while you can.

First, please increase your life insurance. The cost of living has gone up and may keep increasing. I'll need plenty of money for a place for us to live, food to eat, clothes to wear, money for the kid's education and so on.

Second, please update your will. I don't want to spend months without money while your estate is being settled after you're killed in a car accident. The last time you were in an accident, you were lucky.

Also, please put all bank accounts in my name. It will be much easier. And, oh yes, please buy me a new car and pay it off in cash. I'll need it for transportation to the morgue when you demolish our car and kill yourself driving home from "Happy Hour."

Thinking of your being killed makes me wonder: do you know anyone who might be a good husband for me and a good father for the children?

And finally, please list now all funeral arrangements you want. What kind of coffin do you prefer? Any special music or flowers? Where do you want your body buried?

List all details because, as you know, I detest funerals. Love, Jane

P.S. I wrote this letter because I love you.

TO THE MEN AND WOMEN OF REESE

Congratulations! The MEI results were as I and everyone at ATC expected -- great! As with the MCI and Stan/Eval, you have proven to the Command what an outstanding job you are doing. I extend my thanks to you for the superb effort.

IG urges you to take the initiative

by Lt. Col. Peter Cerrow
64FTW/Inspector General

The reduction of fraud and inefficiency in all federal programs is a major commitment and priority of President Ronald Reagan. The Department of Defense has instituted committees, hot lines and awareness programs to help deal with these problems—but what does all this mean to you and me?

First and foremost, lack of effort on our part regarding this effort may eventually result in our finding ourselves in a society less free than the one we now enjoy because we may waste so many resources that the pie is not big enough to purchase the high-cost technology needed to defend our way of life. We can get so complacent about our work routine that even if we recognize fraud or waste we just don't want to "waste" our time getting involved to correct these abuses. Let me give you an example of concern and you will see that these savings really affect us all.

"A bench stock NCOIC ordered pitot tube covers at $9.60 apiece. They were placed on back-order for 60 days. By the time the covers arrived, the price had risen to $28 apiece. Local management was not responsive to the NCOIC's query concerning the price increase, so he called the hotline. An inquiry was conducted and it was determined that the stock number used on the requisition was for a Navy item rather than an Air Force item. The base in question was given the correct stock number and, as a result, covers are now ordered at a cost of 83 cents apiece. The base operation and maintenance fund realized a savings of approximately $13,500 annually."

As you can see, the hotline works, but what about your local shop procedures—why can we not discover and correct these issues locally? I ask 'U' all to take the initiative now; get involved, get concerned. The savings truly benefit us all.

"I'D LIKE TO KNOW why there isn't a phone on the second and third floors of Dorm 420, when there are phones on all three floors of Dorm 320," stated a caller recently.

This topic was discussed in the CARE Line of the March 25 Roundup, where the answer was that "At one time, Dorm 420 had Class 'C' (on-base only) phones on each floor, but all of them were removed because of the cost of repairs resulting from vandalism."

In addition, and perhaps more important, is the upcoming renovation of Dorm 420, set for about mid-July, in which the entire building will be reconfigured with outside entrances. Upon completion of this renovation, a phone system compatible to the new dorms will be scheduled for installation.

WE HAD A RATHER LENGTHY CALL from someone who wanted to know, first, if the names of the Child Care Center Advisory Committee aren't published somewhere so everyone can know who the members are and have some other point of contact than the center director or the CARE Line.

Second, the caller was concerned about a recent CARE Line call we had that dealt with the smell of dirty diapers at the center.

Finally, she asked about the rules pertaining to parents visiting, picking up or dropping off their children at the center. She said she's heard that sometimes the parents aren't allowed to pick up their children in the rooms, but then that at other times parents are "wandering in and out of the rooms and everything else."

To begin: Advisory committee minutes are posted on the Parent Bulletin Board at the center; member names are included in the mintues. However, since the committee isn't an oversight or regulatory body, it can only advise the Morale, Welfare and Recreation staff on operating policies. The center director and the MWR chief are available to answer any questions. (See the "Family News" section for a list of present advisory board members.)

As far as the diaper problem is concerned, the center did have a problem with the washer and dryer recently, and the odor may have originated from some standing water in the washer. We've bought new machines to take care of that problem. Also, it's unlikely that mildew was the culprit in that instance because the center cleans its bedding, etc., too frequently for mildew to occur.

A MOTORCYCLIST SCHEDULED for the MOST II course ran into a hangup when he was also scheduled for NCO Leadership School at the same time. He knew that he would need an extension of his temporary license to continue to ride his bike on base and that the base commander is the person to grant these extensions. This was okay except for the fact that he wasn't sure if, by being in leadership school, he'd be able to get away for enough time to get his extension. He therefore thought the security police should arrange his extension.

Last year, we established the policy that the security police would grant no extensions of the temporary motorcycle passes for personnel who didn't complete Traffic Safety Course VII and MOST II when scheduled, unless the base commander approved such an extension. We felt this policy was necessary in light of the large number of people abusing the temporary motorcycle privilege by not showing up for scheduled motorcycle safety courses. All this was explained to this caller a couple of weeks ago.

The problem was that the caller believed that Pass and Registration Section should get his extension approved, but that's not the way the program works. Each person must secure his or her own extension.

Incidentally, the caller was granted his extension to expire after he completes leadership school.

AND, SPEAKING OF MOST II, another caller asked why the gate guards check riders' MOST II cards day after day, even though the guards know the riders have their cards. He feels this defeats the purpose of the MOST II stickers.

We're doing this to identify those people operating a borrowed or rented motorcycle and those who have purchased a bike with a sticker already on it. The system is working, too, because we've found and cited several individuals for operating motorcycles illegally. By the way, we're not checking the same people every day.

"I'D LIKE TO KNOW WHY they took down the clocks from the chow hall," questioned a recent caller. He also wondered about a change in the "no-smoking" areas.

The dining hall clocks were taken down because of the renovation of the air conditioning system. We've since replaced these with two new clocks.

Also, we're required to set aside 10 percent of the dining hall area for non-smokers. We've set aside 12 of our 50 tables for non-smokers, six on each side.

A MILITARY MEMBER soon to be assigned overseas wonders why those of us in uniform can't get free passports through the Air Force or, at least, discounts on those we get through normal channels.

The only free passports issued through the Air Force are those issued to people whose overseas duties require them. This excludes just about everybody since military people assigned overseas on official orders normally don't require passports. Passport fees aren't adjustable, either, which rules out any discounts to military people. However, with the recent increase in fees has also come a doubling of the period of validity of a U.S. passport, from five to ten years. This helps make the investment in a passport a little more attractive.

Time change slated for Sunday

Daylight Savings Time begins Sunday at 2 a.m. Everyone should set their clocks ahead one hour before going to bed Saturday night.

Hospital offers teenage babysitters some pointers

The base hospital will sponsor a course for teenage babysitters, 11-18, at the Youth Center May 3 at 5:30 p.m.

The course should provide some useful information regarding fire precautions, security precautions and how to handle emergency medical problems. To register call the hospital information desk at Ext. 3285.

Finance customer service change hours

Because of training requirements, the Accounting and Finance Customer Service area will temporarily change the Travel Pay sections hours to 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. effective Monday. The Military Pay section will continue on its current schedule.

EWC gears up for membership drive, style show

The Reese Enlisted Wives' Club will sponsor a style show Monday evening at the enlisted club at 7:30 p.m. The style show is part of the club's current membership drive.

Volunteer help needed for the Special Olympics

More than three-hundred volunteers will be needed to help with the South Plains Special Olympics at Estacado High School May 7.

Potential volunteers can sign up by calling their unit representative. The 1983 unit representatives are: Capt. Kevin Kennedy, Ext. 3387 for Operations; Lt. Col. J.B. Marler, Ext. 3342 for Maintenance; MSgt. Paul Brown, Ext. 3545 for the hospital; 2nd Lt. Glen Lang, Ext. 3944 for Resrouces; and, 1st Lt. Don McQuown, Ext. 3377 for Air Base Group.

Easter Seals Day Camp help needed

Reese will again sponsor the Easter Seals Summer Day Camp this summer. Camp dates are June 13-17 and June 20-24. Volunteers should be able to work with the camp for five days at a time, but that is not a requirement to volunteer. Schedules can be set up.

For more information or to sign up call 1st Lt. Don McQuown at Ext. 3377.

SRB program gets an extension

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—A law signed by the President March 30 means the military services will have a selective re-enlistment bonus program for year-and-a-half.

The new law gives military services the authority to pay selective re-enlistment bonuses and enlistment bonuses through September 1984.

The authority for the two bonuses originally expired Sept. 30, 1982.

Wait before asking how much pay

The Military Pay section has been getting a lot of requests from people wanting to know how much money is in their paychecks. Finance personnel have been releasing that information but they're becoming swamped with requests.

If yours is not an emergency please do not ask for this pay information. The section will continue to help those who do not receive pay advices or leave and earnings statements. Phone requests will not be honored because of Privacy Act requirements.

AAFES says '83 is the Year of the Burger

While in no way fighting the hamburger war, Army and Air Force Exchange Service cafeterias and snack bars around the world have been challenged to make better burgers. As an incentive cooks will compete for the AAFES Best Hamburger Chef title. A cookoff is slated later this summer.

Boy Scouts hold camporee here this weekend

Several hundred Boy Scouts from the Lubbock and South Plains area will be here this weekend for a camporee. An Explorer Post will be augmenting the security police directing people to the event.

The 64th Field Maintenance Squadron has set April 30 through May 1 aside for a flea market at the base picnic grounds.

Spaces will be available to anyone with something to sell, at $4 for Saturday and $2 for Sunday; or, $5 for both days. Tables are also available for $1.50 each.

Saturday market time is 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 4 p.m.

Call Ext. 3585 or Ext. 3664 to preregister or for additional information. Proceeds from the flea market go to teh FMS squadron fund.

Comptrollers plan business meeting

The Reese Windmill Chapter of the American Society of Military comptrollers will conduct a business meeting at noon April 29 at the Daedalian room in the officers' club. Meeting topics will include future programs, membership, financing and upcoming elections. Call Ext. 3448 for further details.

Shipping a POV overseas not required

"Are you shipping a privately owned vehicle overseas to your next duty station?"

A related misconception that can and should be dispelled by CONUS TMO is that a military member must ship a private vehicle overseas in order to have an entitlement to ship a POV back to the CONUS upon completion of the overseas assignment. This misunderstanding contributes to the growing problem of "junkers" being shipped overseas and subsequently abandoned in the port. Clear, concise response to your questions is imperative and a goal for the Traffic Management Office here.

Also any POV being imported into the CONUS must meet the standards in effect for the year of manufacture, as evidenced by the manufacturer's certificate on the date plate of the vehicle being imported. POVs (including motorcycles and mopeds) not meeting standards will not be released by United States Customs without the member being required to post a bond. The bond is based on the value of the vehicle plus estimated duty charges. After posting of the bond, the member will then have only 120 days in which to submit evidence that the vehicle has been brought into conformity. If acceptable evidence is not submitted within the specified time, the member will be subject to forfeiture of the bond, and the vehicle will have to be exported or disposed of, which could double or triple the cost of the POV. Members are advised that the one-time waiver being granted by the Environmental Protection Agency for vehicles not in compliance with emission control standards is not, repeat not, to be considered as a waiver for Department of Transportation safety standards. There is no waiver for compliance with safety standards.

New TMO personnel arrive

The Traffic Management Office has recently had a change in management personnel and we are here to help and assist you, the customer, in any way we can. Any complaints, suggestions or ideas to enhance or promote our service to you should be brought to the attention of one of the following personnel:

Traffic Management Officer: 2nd Lt. Glenn A. Lang.
Traffic Management Superintendent: TSgt. Wayne M. McLellan, Sr.

Quality Assurance Supervisor: GS-9 Bobby F. Ferguson.

Household Goods and Passenger Supervisor: GS-7 Jerry J. Fisher.

Child Care Center sponsors open house

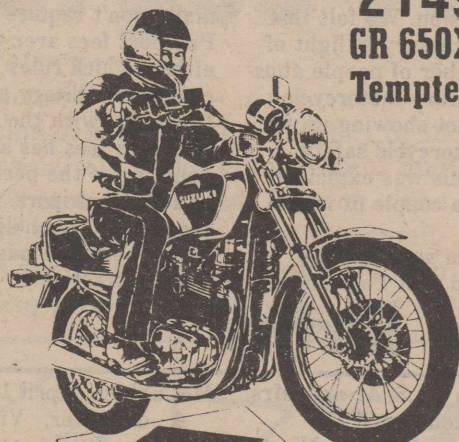

The Reese Child Care Center will sponsor a preschool open house Tuesday evening from 7-8:30 p.m. in honor of the "Month of the Military Child."

GROWING WITH THE GREAT SOUTHWEST

POW-MIA Day '83 at Reese

Several Lubbock area former prisoners-of-war and many families of the area's servicemen listed as missing-in-action were here April 13 for the special POW-MIA retreat ceremony.

As military members here marched into the area and the squadron reported in, master of ceremonies Capt. John Heise read the President's POW-MIA Day proclamation.

Col. John D. Herbert, wing commander, thanked those present and introduced the ceremony guest speaker Lt. Col. Galand Kramer, commander of the 35th Flying Training Squadron here and a former POW.

Colonel Kramer spoke to the crowd briefly regarding the plight of all POWs. His experience as a former POW gave his words an added impact throughout the audience.

Following the address, the audience bowed for a moment of silent prayer. Moments later the rifle squad fired a three-volley salute. As the smoke cleared buglers began "Taps".

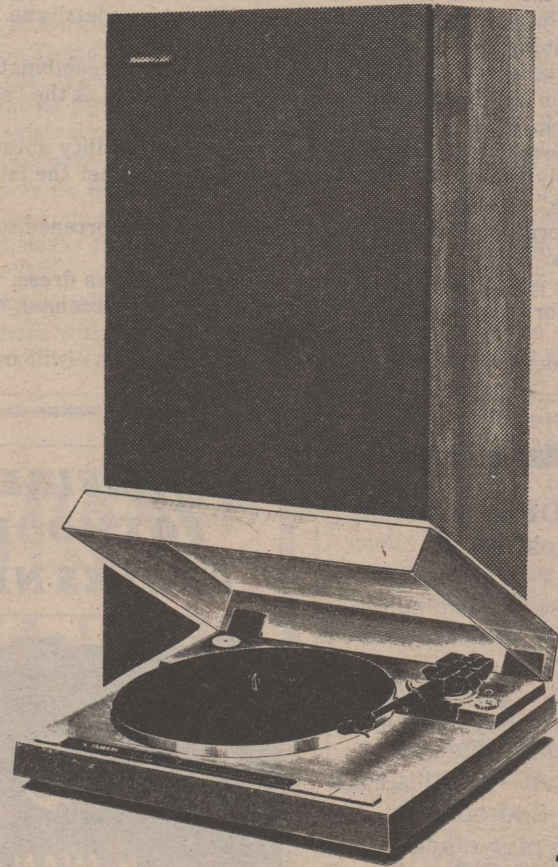

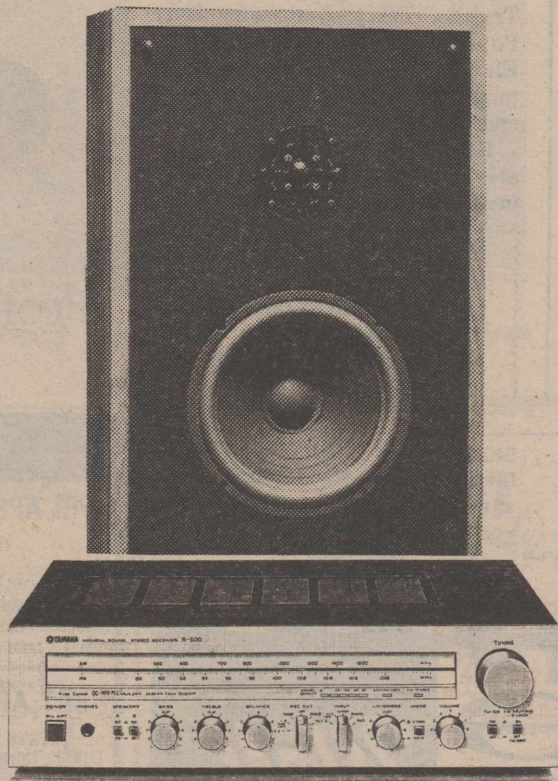

A minute passed as three T-37s flew over in the missing-man flyby. Retreat was sounded, followed by the national anthem as the flag was lowered. Members of the Reese Honor Guard presented the flag to Colonel Herbert. In turn, he ordered the squadron dismissed ending POW-MIA Day ceremonies here.

A FREE CASSETTE DECK WHEN YOU BUY OUR $799⁰⁰ MUSIC SYSTEM

Impossible?
No, It's For Real

Hi-Fidelity is Lubbock's oldest and largest home audio specialist. We have achieved this position by consistently offering the best value in complete stereo component systems—more and better sound for less money—coupled with service that counts after the sale.

The most exciting example of the real value Hi-Fidelity offers can be found in our Yamaha-Boston Acoustics system on sale right now. $799.00 buys you Yamaha's clean sounding 40 watt per channel R-500 AM/FM stereo receiver, their P-200 semi-automatic straight-arm turntable with a Signet TK1ea cartridge and the best-buy Boston Acoustics A-70 loudspeakers. It's a system that has the kind of good, clean sound that you'll be happy with the longer you own it.

But that's not the best part. Because of our buying power and strong relationship with our manufacturers, we are able to give you Yamaha's K-200 cassette deck with Dolby, FREE! It costs $220.00 if you were to buy it outright.

FREE

So come into Hi-Fidelity today, not only for the best sounding stereo system in its price class, but with a FREE cassette deck. Hurry, because quantities are limited.

AF uniforms get names

RANDOLPH AFB, Texas (AFNS)—The guesswork has been taken out of what to call the different uniform combinations.

According to manpower and personnel officials at Randolph, all numerical references to uniform combinations are being dropped. A simpler, easier to understand description will be used instead.

The changes are now in effect, personnel officials said, and will be included in a revision to Air Force Regulation 35-10.

•“Service dress” will be the new name for the men’s combination 1 and the women’s combination 1 and 1A.

•“Light blue shirt with long sleeves” and “light blue blouse with long sleeves” are the new terms for men’s combination 2 and the previously unnamed women’s combination.

•“Light blue shirt with short sleeves” and “light blue blouse with short sleeves” will be used instead of the previous men’s combinations 2A, 4 and 4A and women’s combinations 2 and 2A. The men’s uniform should specify “with or without epaulets” and “with or without tie.”

•The “dark blue shirt” is the new name for men’s combination 3.

•Women’s combinations 5 and 5A will be known as the “maternity smock.”

•The new name for the subdued work or field utility uniform is now simply “fatigues.” It should be specified whether the fatigues are “work” or “field.”

•The term for formal evening dress has been shortened to “formal dress.”

•There is no change in the use of the term “mess dress.”

•Semiformal dress, which is worn by enlisted personnel, has no change.

•The former informal uniforms—white or black—will now be known as “ceremonial dress.”

Reese honors secretaries

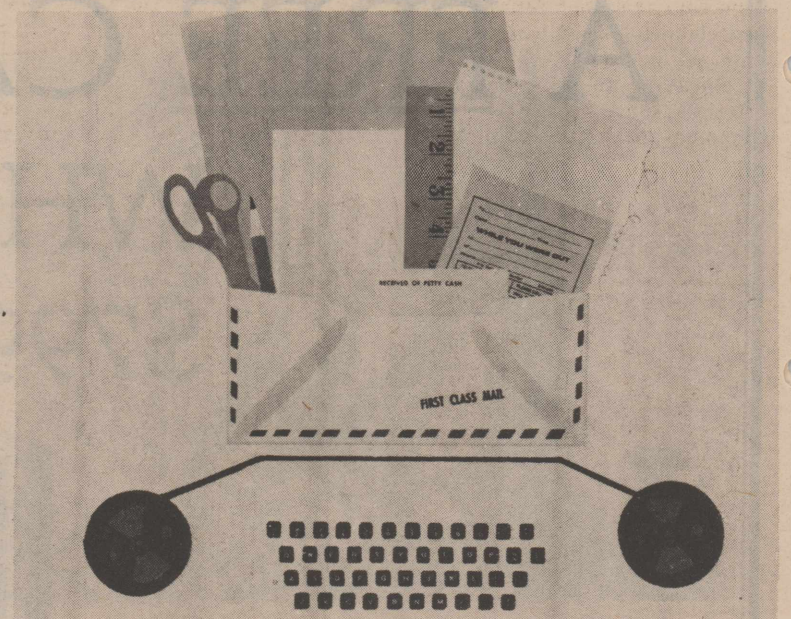

Reese, like the rest of the nation, will pay special notice to its professional secretaries Sunday through April 30.

The prime day for festivities will be Wednesday when Reese bosses honor their secretaries with a luncheon and style show at the officers’ club. The go-through-the-line luncheon begins at 11:30 a.m. At noon, bosses will rehash some of the funnier things their secretaries did during the year.

Then during a style show, Peggy Vannoy, Shirley Alano, Kathy Mauer, Lisa Quigg, Rae Trujillo, Terry Anderson, Judy Boultinghouse, Ruede Turner, Elane Salyer and Becky Parr will model clothes. The show will be sponsored by Hemphill-Wells.

Reservations for the luncheon are not required and everyone is invited to attend.
