Hospital "top" named base's best

MSgt. Robert N. Hotaling, first sergeant of the Hospital Squadron, was recently picked as Reese's First Sergeant of the Year.

Sergeant Hotaling was nominated for the award along with 1958th Communications Squadron first shirt MSgt. Alphonse Barboza and MSgt. Michael E. Custy, first sergeant of the 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron. The selection board, chaired by Col. Donald R. McCullough, deputy commander for Resource Management, and composed of Major Clarence Uptegraph, wing executive officer, Major Edward Gorczyca, field maintenance squadron commander, and SMSgt. Frank Jones, personnel sergeant major, met in early August to consider the nominations.

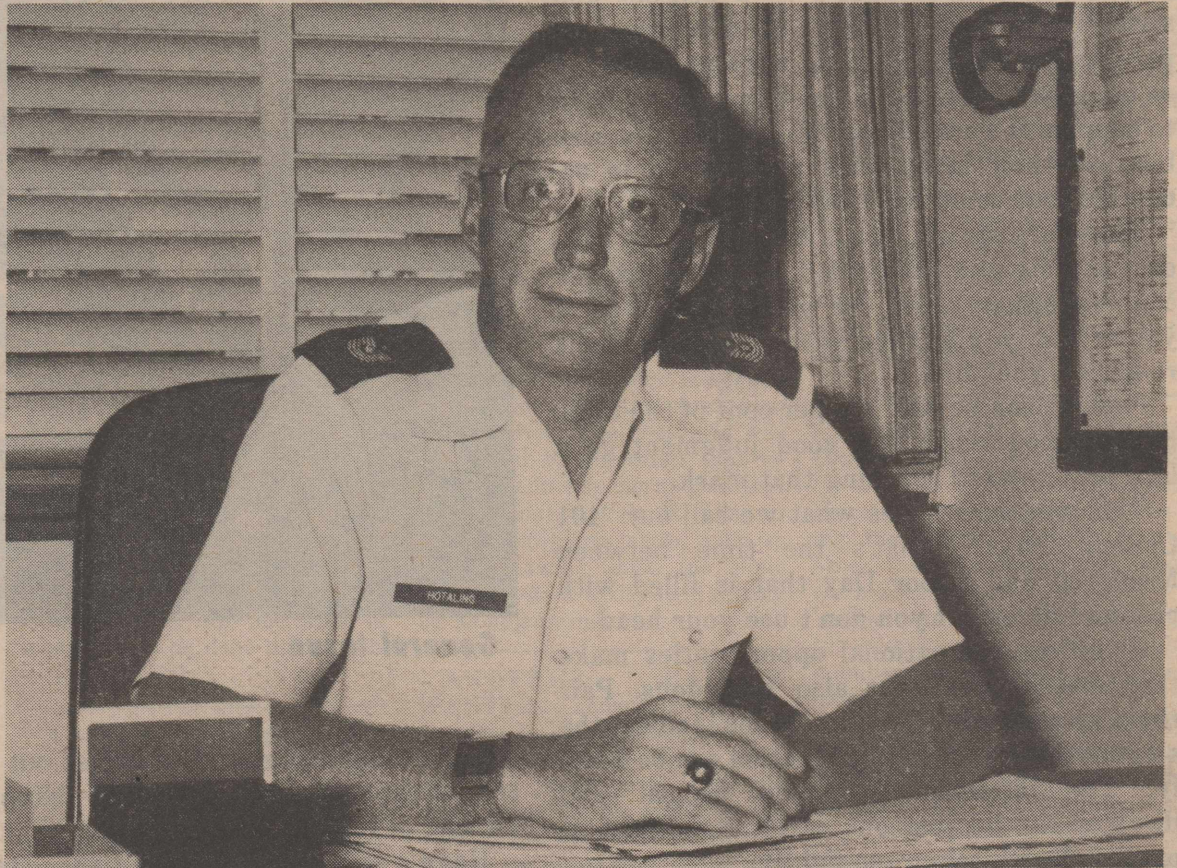

Sergeant Hotaling, 40, is a 22-year Air Force veteran who has been hospital first sergeant since March 1981. He was a distinguished graduate of the Air Force First Sergeant Academy at Keesler AFB, Miss., in 1982.

His "superior job knowledge and unquestionable professional qualities" are described by Col. Clint E. Chambers, hospital commander, as "some of the most valuable resources ever contributed to our unit." He is cited for making material improvements in the squadron INTRO program, commanders call, unit self-inspection program, recognition programs, advisory council and recreation programs.

He has been a guest speaker at professional military education classes and at NCO status ceremonies, along with a long list of other on-and-off-duty activities that make him "a model first sergeant whom others seek to emulate," read his nomination.

Sergeant Hotaling has been assigned to Reese since 1974.

GS employees could face slight pay cut

WASHINGTON, (AFNS) --Federal white-collar workers could see a slight dip in their pay Oct. 1, because of a new formula for computing the hourly pay of general-schedule employees which is expected to go into effect then.

The change -- part of 1982's budget reconciliation bill -- call for using more work hours for computing GS pay. A total of 2,087 work hours per year will be used instead of the present 2,080 hours.

The 2,080 hours worked out to a 364-day year -- one day short of the typical calendar year. The additional hours were added to bring the number of work hours more in line with the actual days in a year. Civilian workers will not be required to work the additional time, however.

The revised formula was a way to cut Federal spending programs, said Air Force civilian personnel managers in Washington. The formula will be used in fiscal 1984 and 1985, unless repealed or postponed by congress.

Civilian personnel officials report that the senate is seriously considering the repeal or postponement of the 2,087-hour formula. In the meantime, agencies have been ordered by congress to make the change in October when the new federal fiscal year begins.

Employees can figure what kind of cut they will receive by dividing the amount of annual salary by 2,087 and multiplying the answer by 80 hours. The result will show the new biweekly gross pay. Subtracting current pay deductions gives the new biweekly net pay. The difference between the new net pay and the current net pay is the approximate cut.

The program begins at a time when most federal white-collar workers would ordinarily get a pay raise. This year however, congressional action on a pay increase is uncertain. A 4-percent raise in January or April 1984 has been recommended.

Unilateral freeze won't work: LG Flynn

by 1st Lt. Michael J. Henderson
Barksdale AFB, LA.

The premise that a unilateral nuclear freeze will lead to eventual disarmament is "ridiculous," according to retired Lt. Gen. John Flynn.

A combat veteran of three wars, General Flynn commented on his view of the nuclear freeze issue during a recent meeting of the Order of Daedalians at Barksdale. General Flynn is the current national commander of the Order of Daedalians, a fraternity of military pilots.

The general said history shows that unilateral weapons limitation simply does not work. He told the group the United States must deal from a position of strength, not weakness, in order to obtain an effective treaty for disarmament.

General Flynn gained an understanding into the thinking of the "enemy" when he was a prisoner of war for five years in Vietnam. He noted that when U.S. bombing was eased to provide opportunities for negotiations, the effect on POWs was an increase in mistreatment and harassment.

He also overheard one of his Vietnamese captors say that he couldn't understand why a country with such military power (the United States) didn't use it. He said that if his country had such power, that they would simply annihilate the enemy. The general said that our charitable acts were often perceived as signs of weakness.

Concerning the Soviet numerical superiority, General Flynn cited the current advantages held by the Russians -- tanks, 3 to 1; surface vessels, 2 to 1; aircraft, 2 to 1; and personnel, 4 to 1.

Along with this advantage the Soviets enjoy the luxury of continuing research and development programs which produce new weapons at a rapid pace. In the last 20 years, the Soviets have deployed four generations of inter-continental ballistic missiles while the United States has produced only one.

According to General Flynn, the ineffectiveness of a nuclear freeze is supported by the fact that the United States has maintained a nuclear freeze for the last 20 years.

When President Kennedy fixed the number of U.S. nuclear warheads in the early 1960s he had essentially established a unilateral nuclear freeze. This act of subtle suggestion had no effect on the Soviets, however. They continued to build weapons and to develop what was to become the largest military fighting force in the world. Commanders stress Labor Day safety

By Gen. Andrew P. Iosue
Commander, Air Training Command

In the brief span of 14 weeks, the lives of seven Air Training Command families have been shattered. Wives are without husbands . . . children, without dads . . . a brother and sister are suddenly alone . . . and middle-aged parents are facing a future without their son or daughter. Theirs is a grief that didn't have to happen! It's a senseless waste of human life, because their loved ones were killed in accidents that could have been avoided.

Those are strong words but there's no soft, easy middle ground when it comes to safety. You're either safe — or you're not. And if you're not, you gamble with a most precious resource, your life.

Nobody can be safe 100 per cent of the time, but common sense and good judgment go a long way toward reaching that mark.

This weekend closes what we call our "101 Critical Days." That's the time between Memorial and Labor Day that is filled with risk and danger if you don't use your head.

Countless recreational opportunities make this season great but also hazardous. Pair them up with a few "cool cocktails" to beat the summer heat and the combination can be deadly. The difference between delight and disaster can be just one careless moment or one small risk taken too lightly.

General Iosue

Don't take that risk. Let's close out the 101 critical days on some good notes — happy songs instead of funeral music.

Have a safe and enjoyable Labor Day!

By Col. Richard E. Hearne
Commander, 64th Flying Training Wing

I would like to take this opportunity to make a couple of points before every takes off for the Labor Day weekend. I know safety is an often used topic for this occasion, but it is everyone's business and it is important.

One area of great concern to me is recreation safety. It's been a long, hot summer and it's almost over, but this is no time to slack off on safety. You should still swim with a buddy and make sure you aren't swimming where boats are a hazard. Speaking of boats, you may have been boating this summer but you need to dig in and review your boating safety rules before the long weekend arrives.

If you plan to take advantage of the end of the season by camping, remember that this has been a particularly dry summer and fires are a particular hazard this year. Don't leave fires unattended while exploring; put them out with water and then cover them with dirt.

Sports have been hazardous to Reese people in the past. A large percentage of injuries for June and July were suffered while participating in sporting activities. Before exerting yourself and possibly pulling a muscle or breaking a bone, make sure you're in shape for what you're doing.

The biggest hazard over the weekend however, is the most senseless and yet predictable: drinking and driving. Please don't be foolhardy. If you're going to drink, have someone who is not drinking take you home. By now everyone at Reese should be familiar with the Air Force policy on DWI. This point simply cannot be overemphasized.

Use your head over the Labor Day holiday. It's up to you to keep yourself safe. Take the responsibility for yourself, your family and friends, and have an enjoyable and safe weekend. Reese needs all of you to come back safe.

Thanks for a great summer.

The end of a fine tour

By Col. Clint E. Chambers,
Hospital Commander

As the Reese hospital commander for the past two years I have had the good fortune to work for the 64th Flying Training Wing. Most of my active duty service, because of by surgical training, has been spent in the operating rooms of larger Air Force hospitals and medical centers, where my job has been to provide direct medical or surgical care to our troops and their dependents. Of course, this was a very rewarding experience.

Here at Reese my liaison between the wing and the hospital gave me a wonderful opportunity to learn our wing's mission. The understanding I gained gave me an even greater appreciation and deep respect for all people of this wing. Being a part of the wing staff presented to me a broader view and truer perspective of the Air Force. While our machines are wonderful, the quality of our people is the most important factor in mission accomplishment.

I would like to publicly thank Colonel Hearne and all of the people of Reese for their cooperation and support and make special thanks to our hospital personnel, military and civilian, who have faithfully served the hospital and the Air Force community in such a fine manner. I am proud to have been a member of the 64th Flying Training Wing and our very fine hospital staff.

My best wishes to everyone.

CARE Line

The CARE Line is prepared by Col. Richard E. Hearse, 64th Flying Training Wing commander. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty number so that a personal reply may be made; however, neither are mandatory. Callers are urged to use the CARE Line only after all possible means to air complaints through the chain of command have been exhausted. The CARE Line Ext. 3273.

I RECEIVED A CALL from a Reese member still concerned about people cutting through the Credit Union parking lot from 4th Street to War Highway and he wanted to know when the Credit Union was going to put up barriers.

The Security Police, the Civil Engineers and Credit Union Officials are still coordinating the placement of the barriers in the Credit Union parking lot. Until those barriers are in place, I want to remind everyone that crossing 4th and using the Credit Union parking lot as a "short cut" to War Highway creates not only a hazardous driving situation but is also against state traffic laws. If you are experiencing some delays in getting onto base the easiest way to avoid this is to plan to leave for work a little earlier in order to arrive on time.

SOMEONE WHO WORKS in the Wing Headquarters building called and gave us a compliment on how great the base was looking, but he also wondered if the flagpole in front of the building didn't need painting. I agree with him that the flagpole does need a little sprucing up and this is scheduled to be done during the next fiscal year.

A MEMBER OF THE SUPPLY Squadron wanted to know why a recent personal appearance inspection was conducted for members who wore utility uniforms and was not done for members of that squadron who wore blue uniforms.

The Chief of Supply recently implemented a policy to conduct monthly personal appearance inspections for all military personnel in the Supply Squadron on the first Friday of the month. However, nonscheduled inspections will be conducted in any area when circumstances dictate. Several violations which reflected a lack of emphasis on compliance with military standards were observed in the caller's duty section which led to the inspection he referred to. The following day a division inspection was held and the new policy was explained. I fully support Major Tiehen in his efforts to have his people looking sharp at all times, regardless of work uniform requirements.

I RECEIVED ANOTHER CALL from someone who works on swing shift and he wanted to know why he was told by the Eye Clinic that he would have to call on Friday mornings to schedule any appointment.

The appointment system has been reviewed and changed over the years to accommodate the majority of the patient population. The current system of scheduling appointments in two-week blocks has reduced the "no-show" rate by 25 percent and has helped eliminate a six-week backlog of routine appointments. The appointment book is opened each Friday for the next two-week period. The reason is was suggested to the caller that he call early in the morning is that the appointment book fills up fast. If problems arise, such as working swing shift, the clinic staff will work with you in setting up an appointment.

ANOTHER CALLER WANTED to know if it would be possible to move either the two aircraft on display or the trees near the front gate since the trees seem to be blocking the view of the TB-25 and T-33.

Both the aircraft on display and the trees surrounding the main gate area play an important role in the appearance of the base, especially in giving that good "first impression" to those entering the base. The cost of moving the monuments would be high — around $75,000 to $80,000. Moving the trees, which are a critical element in the appearance of the base, would also not be desirable. We have constructed sidewalks around and under both aircraft so people interested in looking at both planes can step up and take a close look.

THE TALON INN was the topic of another caller. The caller wanted to know why the AAFES "hot line" number was not displayed, why customer comment forms were not available and not answered and why children with bare feet were allowed into the facility.

The base exchange manager has informed me that new "hot line" stickers will be in place shortly in all exchange facilities and she also apologizes for letting customer comment forms run out. All customer comment forms will be answered if an address or telephone number is given.

People using the Talon Inn must be wearing shoes and it is the responsibility of the people working there to enforce this requirement. Talon Inn employees have been reminded of this rule and that they should enforce it.

I RECEIVED TWO MORE CALLS about club policy recently. The first pointed out that there were people who were using the officers' club at times other than the lunch hour who were not members and the second was from a woman trying to equate "compulsory club membership" with a surcharge on meals.

Once again, use of both the Officers' and Enlisted Open Mess is limited to members only. Club managers will conduct frequent club card checks to make sure that only members are using the clubs. Also, club membership is not compulsory, but those who are eligible must join and contribute if they want the benefits. I think the new policy was adequately explained in the August 12 CARE Line.

SOMEONE SAID SHE NOTICED AN OFF-DUTY security policeman see someone get into a car while holding an open can of beer. The caller asked whether the policeman shouldn't have stopped the person from driving her car, in light of drinking and driving laws.

We can't answer this question fully, since we don't know if the woman driving was intoxicated or just holding her open beer.

Base traffic laws must "assimilate" state law, and Texas doesn't prohibit its citizens from having open containers of alcohol in their cars while driving. It does, however, prohibit driving while intoxicated.

Off-duty security policemen aren't allowed to enforce minor infractions, though any off-duty policeman would take action in serious situations. They will, however, notify the on-duty shift when they observe minor infractions.

A TENNIS PLAYER WANTED to know why the water fountain at the enlisted tennis courts doesn't work.

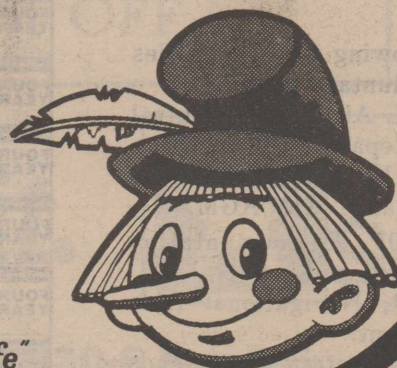

We ordered the repair parts three weeks ago and expect the fountain to be fixed by the first week of September.

India Flight grounds best-looking on base

A team of inspectors - Lt. Col. "Speck" Brian, acting base commander, and Capt. Oscar Towne, base executive officer - picked the India Flight grounds as the best on Reese last week after checking the base over in the weekly facility grounds inspection.

TSgt. Wilfred "Buzz" Barton, primary building custodian, for building 1168, indicated that he was both pleased and proud that India Flight had the best grounds for the week, Aug. 24 - 30. Sergeant Barton pointed out that it was the hard work and total dedication of every India Flight member that won the weekly honor.

Sergeant Barton's assistant building custodian is SSgt. Merrill Archambault.

Captain Towne explained that the inspections take several factors into account: Does the grass look neatly cut? Is the edging neat? Do area signs need work? Are curbs clearly marked, like those for the "commander" or "first sergeant?" Is the trim of the shubbery neatly contoured? Are there any area beautification projects in the works? The inspectors have to look at all these areas and more before deciding who has the best appearance for the week.

The Transportation Management Office area, under the care of TSgt. Wayne M. McLellan and Sgt. Paul G.T. Tetley, earned the honors for the week of Aug. 17-23.

The next weekly facility grounds inspection will be held Wednesday.

Courts-martial follow AFR 30-30 violations

By Maj. Edward Kingsford
Staff Judge Advocate

The special court-martial of a master sergeant at Davis-Monthan AFB, Ariz., for soliciting military subordinates to sell Amway products and for his failure to apply for permission to engage in a private business has pointed out the need for all Air Force members to strictly adhere to the guidance of AFR 30-30.

While the court ordered a forfeiture of $2,800, the most serious aspect of this NCO's sentence is the "for-life" effect of receiving a federal conviction.

A field grade officer is currently awaiting trial by general court-martial at Whiteman AFB, Mo., for selling Amway products to subordinates. This same conduct, which was charged as a violation of lawful general regulation (AFR 30-30), is also being charged as conduct unbecoming an officer. This officer faces dismissal from the service.

Violations of regulations are serious. Think if over before you engage in any commercial solicitations with subordinates or fail to follow other requirements of the regulations.

Know your leaders!

Airmen preparing to meet senior airman below-the-zone boards and those who are competing for squadron and wing airman-of-the-month honors may find this list of key Department of Defense and Air Force leaders helpful:

Caspar W. Weinberger, Secretary of Defense.

Verne Orr, Secretary of the Air Force.

Gen. George W. Vessey Jr. (Army), Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Gen. Charles A. Gabriel, Chief of Staff, U.S. Air Force.

Gen. Jerome F. O'Malley, Vice Chief of Staff, U.S. Air Force.

Gen. Andrew P. Iosue, Commander, Air Training Command.

Maj. Gen. James P. Smothermon, Vice Commander, ATC.

CMSgt. Sam E. Parish, Chief Master Sergeant of the Air Force.

CMSgt. Robert W. Carter, ATC Senior Enlisted Advisor.

Col. Richard E. Hearne, Commander, 64th Flying Training Wing.

CMSgt. Jerry A. Price, Reese Senior Enlisted Advisor.

Space Comm. field has openings

RANDOLPH AFB, Texas (AFNS) - Senior airmen through technical sergeants are needed to retrain from five electronics maintenance specialties into specialty code 304X6, Space Communications Systems Equipment Operator.

If manning requirements are not met through voluntary retraining the Air Force will select individuals from the following five specialties for involuntary training:

303X1, Air Traffic Control Radar Repair.

316X1L, Missile Systems Maintenance, AIM/AGM.

316X0F, Instrumentation Mechanics, and 304X1, Navigational Aids Equipment.

The voluntary phase ends Sept. 15, said officials at the Air Force Manpower and Personnel Center at Randolph.

Everyone invited to base picnic

The Morale, Welfare and Recreation Division will sponsor a base-wide picnic Saturday at the base picnic grounds at 2 p.m.

Everyone is invited.

Already on the picnic docket are booths set up by the Comm Squadron (sponge toss, foot-long hot dogs), Air Base Group (color toss and ribs 'n' beans), FMS (dunking booth), supply (soft drinks), Comm Squadron wives (fishing), 35th FTS (snow cones), DO complex (ice cream), 54th FTS (basketball shooting and soft drinks), CES (chicken and cole slaw or potato salad), enlisted club (barbecued chicken and ribs, hamburgers and beer), officers' club (slushies), and the MWR division (beer).

A disc jockey has been slated from 3 to 7 p.m.

Olmsted scholars selected

Randolph AFB, Texas (AFNS) - Three Air Force officers have been selected by the George Olmsted Foundation for a two-year study program at foreign universities.

The foundation annually selects two U.S. Air Force Academy graduates and one officer training school or ROTC graduate to participate in the program. The program provides officers in-depth knowledge and understanding of social, political, economic and international relations of a foreign country.

This year's selectees for classes beginning in 1984 are:

1st Lt. David M. Rhodes, 82nd Student Squadron, Williams AFB, Ariz., who will attend Konstane University in West Germany

Capt. Donald C. Moore, 91st Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron, Bergstrom AFB, Texas, who will attend the Central University of Venezuela, and Capt. Richard C. Holloman of the 6th Military Airlift Squadron, McGuire AFB, N.J., who will attend a Peoples Republic of China university.

After completing their studies, the officers may apply for one-year continuations of their programs at American universities to earn master's degrees.

Recruiter slots now open

TINKER AFB, Okla. - Staff, tech and master sergeants looking for challenging and rewarding tours as Air Force recruiters can apply for immediate vacancies in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri.

The field is highly competitive and selection is based on current duty performance, financial stability and speaking ability along with a personal interview with a recruiting supervisor.

Selected NCOs will attend a five-week salesmanship course at Lackland AFB, Texas, a course considered one of the best courses in the sales community.

Recruiting duty is a four-year stabilized tour and recruiters receive $150 per month Special Duty Pay.

Personnel desiring information are invited to call CMSgt. Weale, squadron superintendent, 3549th USAF Recruiting Sq, Tinker AFB, Okla. Autovon 735-1110 and ask for 231-4417. The chief will advise you as to exact location vacancies and information on the area.

News Briefs

ing the 1984 election year will be easier for Texas residents living overseas because of two new state laws.

The first law will allow Texas election officials to mail ballots to absentee voters 45 days before the election instead of the previous 30 days.

The other law eliminates the requirement for completing a sworn affidavit to accompany the Federal post card application. This has been a problem in the past, since it's often difficult for absentee voters to locate a person authorized to administer oaths.

The new laws were submitted to the U.S. Department of Justice for pre-clearance before becoming effective in 1984. Response by the Justice Department is expected sometime after mid-September.

Swimming pools close for season

Monday will be the last day to enjoy the two base swimming pools. They'll close for the season Tuesday.

Salvage procedures change

Until further notice all salvage turned in to the Packing and Crating/Freight section of the Traffic Management Office will be accepted only on Monday through Thursday. No salvage will be taken on Friday.

Call 2nd Lt. Lang at Ext. 3944 for details.

OWC activities

Nita Lloyd, a consumer information specialist from Energas, will discuss inflation at the Sept. 8 evening function.

Social hour and sign up for special activities will be from 6:30 til 7:15 p.m. The buffet starts at 7 and the program will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Reservations are needed by 10 p.m. Sept. 5 and can be made by calling 794-5687, 794-5487, 799-7181, or 797-2642. Permanent reservations will also apply.

JOC Meets Tuesday

The next meeting of the Reese Junior Officers Committee will be held Tuesday, at 4 p.m. in the officers' club. All junior officer are invited and encouraged to attend. Special topic for this meeting will be the JOC-sponsored "Casino Night" scheduled for October.

F-15 makes Air Force history

Edwards AFB, Calif. (AFNS)— An F-15 Eagle has become the first fighter aircraft in Air Force history to log 10,000 hours of testing without an aircraft loss.

An all-weather air superiority fighter, the MACH-2.5 F-15 has the maneuverability and performance to out-fly any known enemy aircraft, officials said.

The number of F-15s in the Air Force inventory has grown to 700 since the first aircraft became operational in 1976. F-15s are deployed at several stateside bases and in the Netherlands, West Germany and Japan.

Reflecting on the achievement, Lt. Col. John Hoffman, commander of the F-15 combined test force at Edwards said, "This is a great credit to the Air Force and contractor personnel with the F-15 test force." The colonel said the credit belonged to everyone connected with the aircraft's 11-year test and development program.

AHUAS TARA II under way

Washington (AFNS) -- Nearly 5,000 U.S. service members have joined some 6,000 Honduran military personnel for exercise Tara II.

U.S. Air Force, Navy, Army, and Marine Corps personnel are participating in the exercise which is designed to provide interworking relations and experience for service members of both countries.

Officials explained that AHUAS Tara II is the latest in a series of exercises under the United Forces Inter-American Exercise program that began in 1965. The exercise is scheduled to end in early 1984.

The U.S. Southern Command has overall responsibility for the inter-american exercise program.

Two vets issues appear on Texas ballot

Washington (AFNS) --Eleven constitutional amendments will be voted on in the Texas election Nov. 8 -two of special interest to veterans.

One issue is to exempt from taxation the property of certain veterans' and fraternal organizations, said Department of Defense voting officials.

The other is an amendment to authorize issuing $800 million in state bonds to finance the Veterans Land Program and the Veterans Housing Assistance Program.

Only the 11 issues are on the ballot, since no candidates are running for office, officials said.

Texas residents who are currently living outside the state may register temporarily and request an absentee ballot by mailing a federal post card application.

The notarized application may be received any time within the calendar year or voting year before the election.

Texas residents wishing to register permanently must use the state's mail registration form. The form may be requested by writing to the Office of the Registrar of Voters, and must be received by the registrar at least 30 days before the election.

More information can be obtained from unit voting counselors or U.S. Embassies and Consulates. Questions may be addressed to: The Director, Federal Voting Assistance Program, Room 1B457, The Pentagon, Washington, D.C. 20301; Autovon 224-4928/4960.

Pres. Reagan sends greetings on Jewish High Holy Days

WASHINGTON (AFNS) delighted to send our --"In this most special time of warmest greetings to Jewish year, Nancy and I are members of the Armed Forces," said President Ronald Reagan in an Aug. 26 High Holy Days message.

The Jewish High Holy Days are Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year; and Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement. Rosh Hashanah begins prior to sundown Sept. 7 and ends after sundown Sept. 9. Yom Kippur begins prior to sundown Sept. 16 and ends after sundown Sept. 17.

In the message, President Reagan said, "The service and sacrifices of men and women who serve in our Armed Forces reflect the deep spirit of caring which is so characteristic of the High Holy Days.

"Members of the Jewish faith will gather with their families during this season in a land blessed with freedom, great bounty and a rich tradition of concern for our fellow citizens. But few have demonstrated that concern more ably than those who have borne the burdens of securing and defending our nation's liberty. To you this season is especially meaningful in light of the struggles you have seen.

"You have our best wishes for a most thoughtful Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. May the year 5744 bring health, peace and prosperity to you and your families. And may those of you who are away from home at this important time be especially blessed with safekeeping and a sense of closeness to your loved ones."

(High Holy Days services for Reese personnel will be held at Congregation Shaareth Israel, 1706 23rd Street, Lubbock, 744-6084)

Safety the highest concern over Labor Day weekend

Norton AFB, Calif. (AFNS) Let's make the coming Labor Day the safest one ever, urged Air Force Inspection and Safety Center officials at Norton.

They pointed out some ways Air Force members and their families can get to their destinations safely, enjoy a good outing and get back home safe:

Don't drive after drinking. When driving or riding in a car, make sure your safety belt is fastened.

When driving a motorcycle, make yourself visible to other drivers.

Follow safety precautions when boating or swimming.

Last year's three-day Labor Day weekend saw two Air Force fatalities: one two-wheel vehicle accident and a drowning. So far in 1983, 95 Air Force people have lost their lives in off-duty accidents: 50 in automobile accidents, 31 in motorcycle accidents, and 14 in drownings.

As this Labor Day weekend winds up the "101 Critical Days of Summer," think safety when driving, motorcycling, boating or swimming.

Chain saws

Some do it, and those who do, risk the danger of injury or death. And, even though it looks fun and provides an opportunity to "goof off," bicycle riding is serious business.

Each year there are almost 500,000 bike related injuries and nearly 1,000 cyclist deaths. This may seem trivial compared to the number of automobile casualties each year, but all it takes is a little awareness of bicycle safety and many of these accidents could be avoided.

The first and most important step to being safe on a bicycle is to start with a safe bike. Make sure it's the right type and size. Bicycles can be lightweight or middleweight; one, three, five or ten speed; and have foot or hand brakes. Ask a bike expert for proper size. Check the bike for sharp edges or an unsafe frame. The bicycle should have certain safety features such as reflectors which can be seen from all sides, a headlight that's visible at 500 feet, and a horn that sounds loud and clear at 100 feet. Proper fenders, tires, chain, pedals, spokes, wheels, brakes, and handlebars are all part of keeping a safe bike.

The second step to being safe on a bicycle is to know some rules of the road. The most essential is that bicyclists must obey the same traffic laws as cars. This means:

- Obeying traffic signs, lights and signals.
- Riding with the traffic.
- Signaling before you turn or stop.

Other common sense rules include yielding to cars; watch for pedestrians; avoid heavy traffic; turn with care; and beware of parked cars.

The third and final step to being safe on a bicycle is to be aware of hazards particular to bike riding. Poor weather such as rain, fog or snow make cycling treacherous due to slick pavement, poor visibility, wet brakes, and deep puddles. If possible, avoid night riding or use a headlight, reflective clothing, and be extra careful. Be alert for bad road surfaces such as sand, gravel, rocks, drain gates, railroad tracks, etc. They can cause serious skids and falls. Animals and insects can cause problems also. Being chased by a dog is not a pleasant experience. Stop if being chased and use the bike as a shield against the dog. If stung by an insect, get off the road and stop to deal with it.

As with driving a car, piloting a bike requires good judgment and common sense. Be a safe cyclist by choosing a safe bike, following the rules of the road, and staying alert for road and traffic hazards. Please, ride defensively, a bike is only as safe as the person riding it.

Biking

The chain saw is gaining in popularity in the United States with some estimated 20 million in use today. It is an excellent tool for cutting, but many have found it can also be used for lacerating and amputating different parts of the body.

The rise in chain saw usage has also spurred an increase in chain saw related accidents and deaths. In fact, over a span of only five years (1976-1981), chain saw injuries nearly doubled in the U.S.

In order for you to avoid becoming another addition to the chain saw's list of victims, there are several things you can do, whether you are planning on buying a chain saw, or if you already use one.

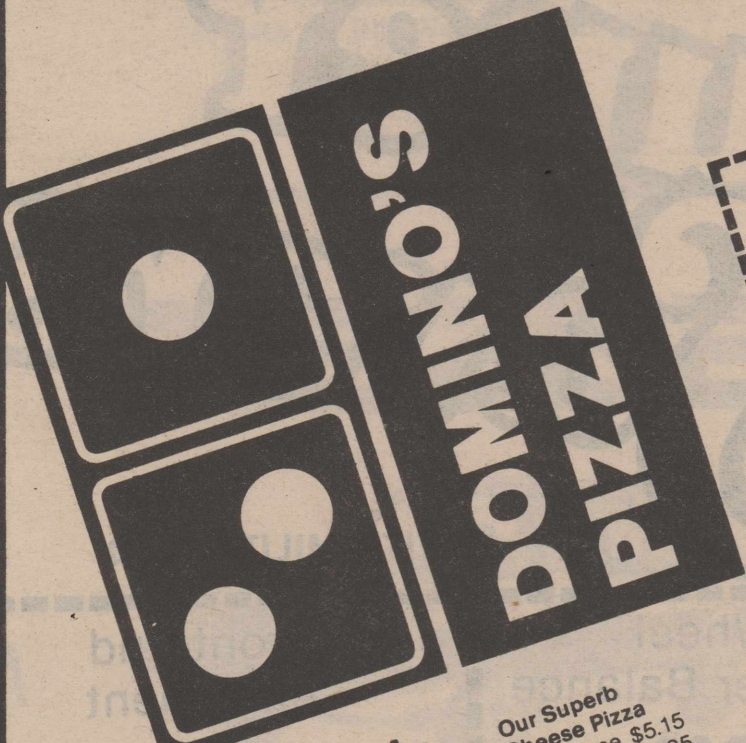

The first thing to do is read the directions in the owner's manual and become thoroughly familiar with the tool. It may even be a good idea to practice using it in a low-risk situation before tackling a bigger task like cutting firewood. If, by chance, you are not sure what chain saw you should buy, check with a reputable salesman. Some do not realize that different types and sizes go with different jobs, and using the wrong chain saw for the job is one cause of accidents.

You also want to have the proper clothing and protective equipment before operating your chain saw. As a minimum, most experts recommend safety goggles, trim-fitting clothing and hearing protection; however, depending on the type and duration of the job, you may want to consider a hard hat, work gloves, and safety-toed boots.

Maintaining good operating procedures while using the chain saw will lessen your chances of having accidents even more. Make sure the cutting area is clear of children, pets and physical obstructions. You may also want to do some stretching exercises before starting to help prevent strain and fatigue. When you refuel, turn the saw off and let it cool before adding fuel. This time can then be used to straighten up the work area, plan further cutting, and take a break. The chain saw should also be turned off between cuts in order to minimize the chances of kickback. You can further reduce this possibility by holding the chain saw firmly, not touching the tip of the saw to any object while it's running, and by inspecting the cutting material for obstructions and foreign matter that could interfere with the operation of the chain.

Finally, when you are done with your cutting, be sure to replace the scabbard. Even though the saw is not running, it can still cut if dropped against a leg or on a foot. Therefore, in order to prevent unnecessary injury, be sure some type of guard is on the chain saw whenever it is not being used.
