Volcano Blows Its Top Again

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP)—Mount St. Helens thundered into its third big blow during the night, shooting a plume of steam, volcanic ash and pebbles 10 miles high and dusting this city and neighboring Portland, Ore., with the heaviest fallout yet.

No deaths or injuries were reported, but, as Friday the 13th dawned, a million people were warned to stay indoors or wear masks if they ventured out. One tiny logging town, pelted with pumice the size of marbles, was evacuated.

Dustings of ash were reported as far north as Seattle and as far south as Salem, Ore., a 200-mile swath. It spread from the Oregon coast east to Pullman, Wash.

At dawn, observers said the ash plume over the crater—shattered by previous eruptions—had all but disappeared. The harmonic tremor that first was recorded when the mountain erupted was diminishing.

"It is diminishing but it has by no means died down," said Bob Norris of the University of Washington's Geophysics Department.

Mayor Connie McReady declared a limited state of emergency in Portland, which lies just across the Columbia River and 40 miles southwest of the volcano, and imposed a speed limit of 15 mph. Winds from the opposite direction at high altitudes carried a light sprinkling of dust 100 miles north to Seattle.

Commuters in Portland struggled to work through a grey, muddy sludge following an all-night fallout of ash mixed with rain. Portland International Airport reopened at 6:15 a.m. after being closed most of the night.

"It looks like an atom bomb," an observer in a U.S. Forest Service plane radioed as the volcano exploded Thursday night for the third time in a month. "It's very, very black. It's still booming, it's really booming." Scientists said the eruption could become the worst since May 18, when the volcano blanketed six states with ash and claimed the lives of dozens of people.

In Vancouver, the Clark

County sheriff's office halted patrols and was making only emergency runs.

There were numerous reports of minor traffic accidents and vehicles stalling after ash clogged their air filters.

Pebbles of pumice up to an inch in diameter were reported falling in Cougar, a tiny logging town 10 miles south of the mountain. Cowlitz County sheriff's deputies said people were being evacuated from the restricted "red zone," an area with in a 20 mile radius of the peak. Twenty people at Cougar were evacuated, but another 20 at a sporting goods store just down the Lewis River from the logging town were forced to stay put until the ash fallout subsided.

Europe To Defy Carter

VENICE, Italy (AP)—Western Europe's leaders are expected to defy President Carter and infuriate the Israelis today by urging a Mideast negotiating role for the Palestine Liberation Organization and condoning official Common Market contact with guerrilla chief Yasser Arafat.

Gas Plan Before Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Carter's latest gasoline rationing plan, which would dilute the effects of an emergency oil shortage with a flood of coupons, is forcing Congress to take yet another journey across familiar but slippery ground.

Cloudy Future For Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four weeks behind schedule, Congress has adopted a $613.6 billion 1981 balanced budget. But many policymakers believe the deepening recession is already pushing the tentative spending plan back into the red.

Besides projecting the first balanced federal budget in 12 years, the approved spending plan allocates $153.7 billion for defense, $3.2 billion more than President Carter requested. That figure contains the biggest peacetime military increase ever, a jump of $18 billion over the current year.

Partly to pay for that hike, the budget recommends cuts in an array of domestic programs, including public service jobs, food stamps, Saturday mail, mass transit, grants to local police departments, state revenue sharing and urban aid.

12 Killed In Air Crash

VALLEY, Neb. (AP)—Battered by a violent thunderstorm, an Air Wisconsin plane slammed into a muddy soybean field, killing 12 of the 15 people aboard, authorities said.

One survivor of the late Thursday crash was in "very, very critical" condition early today at St. Joseph Hospital in Omaha, said spokesman Bob Culver.

Clayton Not Surprised By Brilab Indictment

HOUSTON (AP)—Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton, one of the most powerful political figures in the state, stood quietly as a U.S. Magistrate set his June 20 arraignment date on racketeering, conspiracy, extortion and fraud charges. The veteran lawmaker had said he been expecting Thursday's grand jury indictments since he was caught up in the FBI's undercover Brilab investigation last February.

Houston labor official L.G. Moore, a Houston labor union official, and Austin attorneys Randall D. Wood and Donald W. Ray also were named in the six-count indictment.

Rusty Kelly, administrative aide to Clayton, was named as co-conspirator, but not as a defendant.

The indictments came almost five months after the grand jury began hearing witnesses and listening to tape recordings of conversations involving Clayton, Moore, Wood, Ray and FBI informant Joseph Hauser.

The indictment charges that Moore, aided by Wood and Ray, delivered $5,000 to Clayton during a meeting of the $70-million-a-year state employees' insurance plan. Hauser, while working for the FBI, said he posed as a representative of a national insurance company.

The indictment also charged Clayton with accepting a promise of an additional $600,000 if the state employees' insurance contract was awarded to the insurance company Hauser said he represented.

Clayton, 51, has commented frequently on the pending indictments, but immediately was ordered not to discuss the charges by U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor Jr.

"You are standing next to a man who wanted to be heard by the media," Roy Minton, Clayton's chief attorney, told reporters following his client's appearance before the judge.

Clayton, who said he had planned to give a prepared statement until being told of the gag order, left the federal courthouse without answering any questions.

Q—What is the worst day for tornadoes ever recorded in the United States?

A—So far as we have been able to determine, it was a period that included parts of April 3 and 4, 1974. During a 16-hour period, 148 tornadoes were reported in 13 states. They covered 2,000 miles, killed some 300 persons and inflicted half a billion dollars in damage.

Iran Sinks Deeper Into Chaos Today

By The Associated Press
Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's revolution plunged deeper into chaos today after his guardsmen opened fire on tens of thousands of leftists in one of the bloodiest clashes since the shah was ousted 17 months ago.

Meanwhile, Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh became irritated when asked by an interviewer in Oslo, Norway, about the Americans held captive since Nov. 4 and said, "To hell with the American hostages!"

Moslem militants blasted the brawling crowd with tear gas and automatic weapons when it neared the iron gates of the occupied U.S. Embassy in Tehran, where at least some of the American hostages are believed still held.

The official Pars news agency said "shots fired in the air" during Thursday's fighting left two dead and 10 injured. Unofficial accounts said five persons were killed and 300 injured during the three-hour battle between Khomeini loyalists and members of the People's Mujahedeen, or Warriors, Iran's largest leftist opposition group.

Mid-July Registration For Men 19-20 Likely

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Carter's draft registration program, winning all-but-final approval from Congress, probably will begin in mid-July. When it ends two weeks later, an estimated 4 million young men will have signed up.

By a vote of 58 to 34, the Senate on Thursday approved spending $13.3 million to renew mandatory registration for the first time since 1975.

The House has passed practically identical legislation, but must act again because of a minor amendment the Senate added. That approval is likely next week.

Then, only a court suit threatened by the American Civil Liberties Union would stand in the way of the stand-by registration program.

The ACLU has said it would argue in court that the program's exclusion of women illegally discriminates against men. Carter had proposed including women, but that was rejected by both the Senate and the House.

As now planned, registration will be carried out over a two-week period at 34,000 post offices across the country. Men born in 1960 will be told to register during the first week; men born in 1961, the next week.

Failure to register is a felony carrying a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Registration opponents predicted that massive numbers of young men would fail to register, either out of ignorance or in defiance.

"I am convinced the president will find it was much easier to convince the Senate to fund draft registration than it will be to get 19- and 20-year-olds to submit to draft registration," said Barry Lynn, head of the Committee Against Registration and the Draft.

Selective Service will send no notices telling young men they must register. Instead, information on when and where to register will go out to more than 7,000 radio stations, 700 television stations and 2,500 daily and weekly newspapers.

School Officials Work On Budget

Snyder School Trustees held a work session on the 1980-81 school budget and took action on one business agenda item last night.

The budget study was held to keep the board up to date on the preparation of the document and for administrators to receive input from the board.

Only two salary items are up for consideration and the board gave its approval to plans for basing pay for coaches on the actual number of days worked in coaching, rather than on a monthly basis. This puts coaching duty pay on the same basis as teacher pay. Also approved was a proposal to establish job responsibility for administration building secretaries and setting their salaries 15 percent above state minimum.

Other items studied last night were the athletic department budget and elementary staffing. The board indicated that the procedure being followed met with its approval, although no vote was recorded.

Information was presented concerning the possibility of purchasing an activity bus. However, the board indicated that it favored continued use of charter buses for long trips instead of a larger outlay which would be required for the school to own its own bus for that purpose.

The board voted unanimously to grant Bill Boles, tennis coach, permission to use school tennis courts to give private lessons on a lease agreement with a fee of 10 percent of the price charged. The board also was informed that summer recreation program participants are covered by liability insurance provided by the county. This had been discussed at Tuesday night's regular meeting and confirmation had been requested.

WORKING ON UNITEDWAY BUDGET—Dr. Edward Barkowsky, standing, chairman of the United Way budget committee, goes over lists of requests submitted by agencies for the organization's campaign this year. The budget committee gave its approval to a goal matching that of the $56,969 for last year during its session Thursday. The proposal now will be submitted to the United Way board for approval. (SDN Staff Photo)

Craig Nieman of the Lamb County Leader-News, who took a bride earlier this month, says he got a lot of comment and advice from well-wishers and others just before "the plunge."

"We wonder if we really are dropping off the deep end never to see a par four or a water hazard again," Nieman said. "Surely a man can retain a small amount of freedom, but you'd never know it from some of the guys around here."

The Big Spring Herald reports that stars of country and western music have priced themselves out of the Big Spring Rodeo Association's annual rodeo.

For years, they have imported a headliner to entertain, but they are passing it up this year.

"Two things contributed to the decision," reported the Herald. "For one thing, the entertainers haven't been adding all that much to the gate in recent years. For another, the entertainers have been pricing themselves out of the market. Most of them prefer to be booked into the big coliseums for one show only. Their agents have become increasingly hard to deal with."

tehran's pollution

Ronald Reagan may have a better plan for freeing U.S. hostages in Iran than Jimmy Carter. The issue will loom very large in the upcoming general election. That is for sure. If the Iranians have done nothing to liberate the hostages, Reagan will be an odds-on favorite to sweep to victory, although other factors are involved. If the hostages are freed, then Carter has a chance to win. That much is conceded.

Be that as it may, and no matter how Iran adjusts to the economic sanctions that America and other nations are imposing upon the middle east nation, Iran's capital city, Tehran, is its own worst enemy. In short, Tehran can't live with its successes. It is a political jungle where the political rhetoric of Khomeini is nothing but religious fervor and Khomeini's religion is based on fanaticism, hate and suspicion.

Tehran has other nagging worries, though. It is the world's most polluted city. Its problem is a peculiar one. It is a city surrounded by mountains on three sides, preventing proper air circulation. The terrain on which the city is built is high above sea level and receives little benefit from air currents that sweep down from Russian Steppes to the Caspian Sea; the Quzvin Plain and Central Iran. These currents miss Tehran and the foul air is not carried away.

Motorists say that even vehicle engines do not run properly in Tehran's city area because the lack of oxygen in the air means their carburetors function less efficiently. Air pollution from the internal-combustion engines account for 85 percent of Tehran's air pollution.

The city currently is supposed to have more than a million cars, more than 30,000 small trucks and 60,000 lorries using the Tehran streets day in and day out. The average number of engines running in the streets at any given time, including night, is over 750,000.

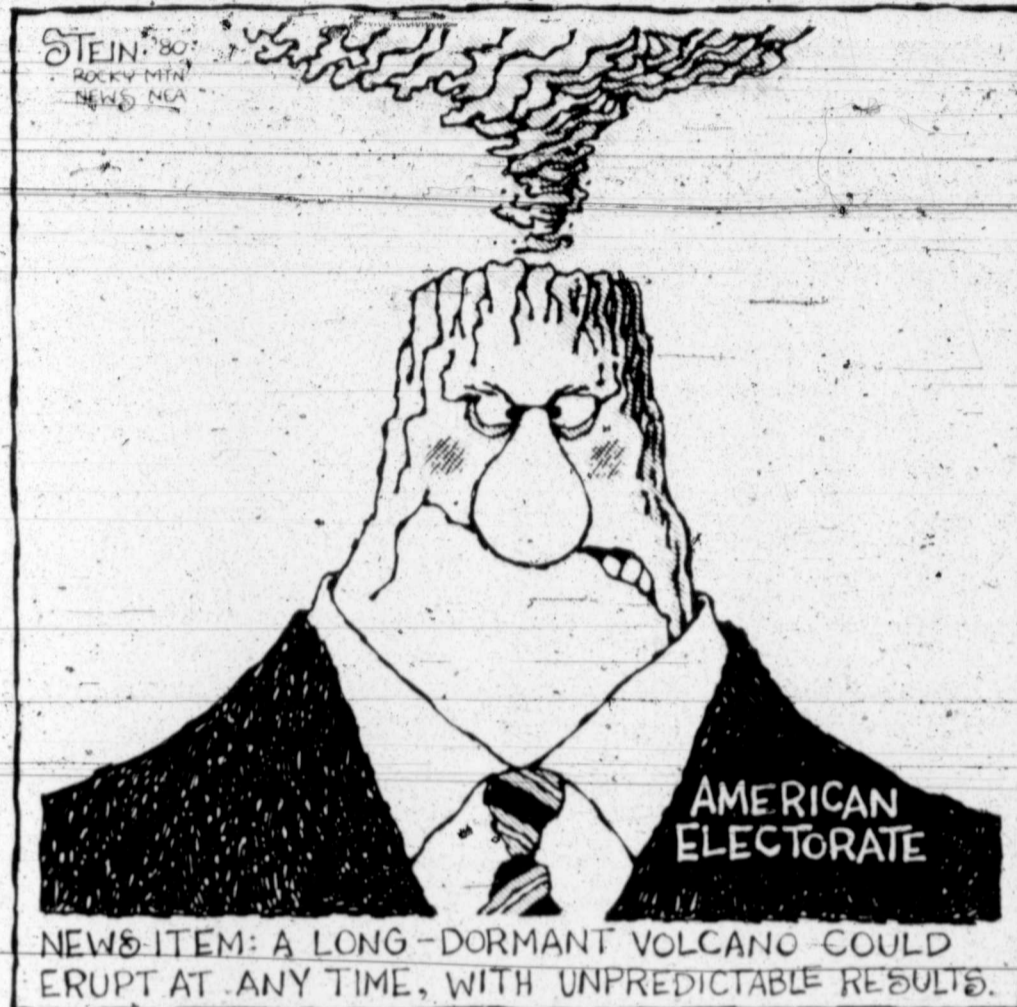

The fumes these mechanical monsters emit is so intense that on most days it is not possible to see Alborz Mountain from the city.

The degree of pollution in traffic-congested central areas, experts say, is now about 300 parts per million. By contrast, in the northern areas and in other parts where large numbers of trees are found, it averages between 30 and 40 parts per million.

Planting more and more trees in the central city might reduce the problem to some extent, but trees might not be able to survive under such conditions.

City authorities have been trying to get the police to crack down on owners of cars giving off excessive smoke, as a preliminary step against air traffic would be most unpopular.

Through pollution caused by automobiles or political crusade, the Tehran people seem determined to kill themselves. Perhaps we should let them alone.

Being a housewife has never been able to attract well-adjusted people.

If a woman is stable when she enters the marriage state, she doesn't stay that way long. Socks disappear in the washer, fingerprints appear near the ceiling, a pair of sunglasses are found in the meat keeper and for no apparent reason an old Girl Scout pin appears on the dog's tail.

Whenever I get a letter regarding one of the mysteries of keeping house, I just smile a crooked little smile, put the letter in a drawer and go back to humming and hocking.

The drawer is quite full and maybe I should share them with you to let you know you're not alone.

A poor, unfortunate woman from Connecticut noted a slow-draining bathroom sink a few weeks ago. When her husband removed the pipe, she discovered: one dime, six pennies, three Bingo chips, two dice, six toothpaste caps, a few lollipop sticks and one toy fire engine ladder.

"I'm no fool," she said. "I am convinced whatever was down my drain was gambling and the ladder had to be used as a means to get in and out of the drain. I posted a sign that said, 'NO GAMBLING.' You understand that, don't you?"

Sure. Another woman from New York wrote, "I have a monster chair that claims and stores pins, needles, curlers, pencils, pretzels, apple cores, but it never gives back the good stuff. I actually saw it devour a mosaic ring my husband bought me in Israel and a pair of expensive cuticle scissors, but when we turned the chair upside down they weren't there. Tell me you've had that experience!"

Sure. One woman said she was emptying her son's jeans before she put them in the washer and took out a total of 26 items including rope, rubber band handle bars, flashlight, button hooks, ashtray, thimble, badge, watch chain, knife, paper punch and about 100 used stamps.

I found my Social Security card in the silverware drawer, and a rectal thermometer in the pocket of my ski jacket. I don't know anything anymore.

FLUVANNA—Although it is staged only once every five years, Fluvanna takes its homecoming seriously. How seriously? For every person living here, one or more is expected to return for the two day event beginning today. That means more than 700 faces to grope with. There will be kinfolk one hasn't seen in years; ex-neighbors almost forgotten; old school teachers never forgotten but somehow not as mean as remembered; and friends, friends, friends.

I'm a native of this fine little farming and ranching community located in the northwest corner of the county and on the eve of Homecoming Day find myself approaching the occasion with bittersweet emotions.

I suppose it is as natural to yearn for the old friends who will be conspicuously absent as it is to anticipate the arrival of certain long unseen classmates.

Tonight, the graduating classes spanning from 1967 to 1971 will gather for one of the standard homecoming parties. That's an entire high school generation reuniting for an evening of getting re-acquainted, having fun and of course, reshaping old times.

But not everyone will be there and one in particular whose presence will be sorely missed is that of Bobby Hall's. Bobby, who was killed in an oil-field accident last month in the Persian Gulf, was undoubtedly the most illustrious character of our high school era. Everyone has a Bobby Hall story.

Here are a few of my favorites but first the vital statistics: Bobby was smart, salutatorian of his graduating class. He was athletic, all state in basketball. He was elected Most Popular and Most Handsome by his peers. And Bobby was a ladies man, keeping the girls in a dither with his boyish charm.

However, my most poignant memories revolve more around the rough spots. Growing up can be a bumpy ride for such a high spirited youth even in a lazy little god-fearing community such as Fluvanna.

I think he was still in junior high when he accidentally cut another kid's throat. There was no malice involved, just horseplay and it was just a nick but still got him ousted from school for three days.

To heck with school. Bobby was terrified of what his father, the Baptist preacher, was going to do when he returned from a revival in Utah.

"How do you tell your father you cut somebody's throat?" Bobby asked me.

His father's wrath was not nearly so bad as he had dreaded and years later Bobby was honored when his victim, Mike Landrum, chose him as best man for his wedding.

Later on, in high school, I remember another of Bobby's pranks that backfired. He locked the ag teacher, Bill Jennings, in the tool room of the FFA shop. Bobby told Joe Stansell, now the Rev. Stansell, to let him out once he made his getaway. Joe forgot. It was three hours before the janitor uncaged the poor man who by then was fit to be tied. It seems funny now but in 1965...

Bobby was forever lining me up with the finest looking girls in the county. We actually felt obligated to keeping unattached so we could spread ourselves around more. That bubble lasted until the summer after Bobby graduated and we took a fateful trip to Paris, Texas. We had met a couple of girls from there a few years earlier at a church camp and their letters indicated they couldn't live without us much longer. Don't believe everything you read folks.

My girl would not even go out with me. Parents, she said, but later I found out she was engaged. And Bobby's girl was so popular with the local boys that he practically needed an appointment just to see her. A new experience for him.

We spent most of our long cherished trip in the motel's swimming pool. Even that was a bummer because the management kept dumping these little round balls of chlorine into the water making it cloudy and hard on the eyes.

Finally, in diving matches, we gathered up all the marble sized balls and dropped them into the air conditioning system. I believe we "cleaned out" the entire motel. We too thought it prudent to leave.

On our way back home, since we still had a few dollars left, we stopped in Grand Prairie to look up another old girlfriend. We found her but also managed to rile the local thugs who beat the everliving daylights out of us.

By the time we finally limped back into Fluvanna we were broke and bruised but most of all utterly astonished that the world outside hadn't even known who we were and worse, could not have cared less. What a blow to discover you're not invincible. It took us almost a week to recover.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The world's largest corporation, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., may be unable to cope with the competition spawned by the federal government's decision to deregulate the telecommunications industry.

With assets of more than $100 billion and annual profits approaching $6 billion, AT&T isn't about to declare bankruptcy or hold a going-out-of-business sale.

But there are disturbing indications that AT&T became so lethargic during the decades in which it enjoyed a virtual monopoly protected by a web of federal regulations that it now is incapable of bestirring itself from its torpor.

The most recent evidence of AT&T's complacency while threatened with unprecedented competition is the company's seemingly irrational determination to press for major increases in the price of long distance telephone calls.

In early March, the company asked the Federal Communications Commission to approve a 10.5 percent increase in its long distance rates. When the FCC voted in late May to approve only a 5 percent hike (worth almost $600 million in additional revenues) AT&T promptly announced that it would reapply for the other half of the proposed increase.

That course is being pursued at precisely the time when a trio of companies is capturing thousands of former AT&T customers every month — including hundreds of major corporations in the financial, auto, airline and other industries — by providing long distance service priced 35 to 75 percent lower than AT&T's rates.

Two of those competitors are subsidiaries of long-established corporations — the Southern Pacific Communications Co., which is promoting "Sprint" service, and the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., which is marketing "City-Call" service.

But the most aggressive new entrant in the field is "Execunet" service being offered by the MCI Communications Corp., whose gregarious, feisty founder and board chairman, William G. McGowan, has been playing David to AT&T's Goliath for almost two decades.

AT&T's first response to those challenges has been to marshal its vast resources to finance endless litigation and regulatory challenges that discourage many potential competitors.

But McGowan refused to be intimidated. His company, he notes, already has confronted AT&T five times in the U.S. Supreme Court — and won every time.

Moreover, now coming to a climax in U.S. District Court in Chicago is the trial of a civil suit in which MCI seeks $900 million in damages from AT&T on the grounds that the giant firm illegally thwarted competition.

Five years ago, AT&T tried another strategy, attempting to convince Congress to suspend all applicable antitrust laws and grant it a legal monopoly of the long distance market.

The bill promoting that scheme was introduced in the House and Senate as the "Consumer Communications Reform Act" — but it offered neither reform nor benefits to consumers.

MCI, ITT, Southern Pacific and others banded together as the Ad Hoc Committee for Competitive Telecommunications and, in a fierce lobbying struggle, defeated the AT&T initiative.

AT&T still controls between 95 and 98 percent of the long distance market, which produces an estimated $25 billion to $28 billion in annual industrywide revenues, but its competitors are growing at a rapid pace.

MCI's profits, for instance, soared from less than $7.1 million to more than $13.3 million during the last year. It now provides long distance service linking 2,000 communities in 70 major metropolitan areas throughout the country.

Southern Pacific wants to make a major technological leap to low-cost satellite transmission of telephone calls, an alternative already being pursued by Satellite Business Systems, a joint effort of International Business Machines, Aetna Insurance and Comsat.

But instead of hustling for that business, AT&T appears determined to price itself right out of the market.

and led a trump. Hard Luck Joe lost the finesse with a resigned air. He never could find the king of trumps where he wanted it to be. West returned a trump which South won. Then he played the king and ace of diamonds. East showed out and there was no way to get two heart discards on diamonds. Now Joe went after the hearts. A low heart to his queen lost to West's king. Back came another heart and the 10 lost to East's Jack. "Three fineses out of three wrong and a 5-1 suit break. I would take up backgammon except that my luck with dice is just as bad," complained Joe.

Union HE Plans Club Activities

Upcoming activities were the main topic of business of the Union Extension Homemakers Club at their regular meeting in the home of June Greenway Monday evening. Plans were discussed for the Christmas in November, a county-wide event. President, Mrs. Brenda Lee announced that the July meeting will be held in her home at 7:30 p.m. and she asked that those planning to attend call and left her know in advance. Mrs. Janet Spence will host a craft day on Saturday, June 14 at 1 p.m. Following the business session, club members shared examples of quilt patterns and some showed finished quilts.

"Maybe you should learn to play bridge," grunted North. "The hand was cold if you just took the correct finesse." North was right as Joe's partners frequently are. When South led his six of diamonds toward dummy he should have finessed dummy's 10 instead of playing the ace. The finesse would have won and Joe would have been able to discard two hearts on good diamonds in spite of the 5-1 break. Suppose it had lost. Then there would be only two diamonds left in East-West hands. South would have been able to discard all three heart losers on good diamonds. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Secrets Of Perfect Eggs Benedict

By Aileen Claire
 NEA Food Editor

Nothing is more pleasing than perfect eggs Benedict. Usually we order this dish when eating out, especially at restaurants where hollandaise sauce is prepared properly. Most fine chefs will not share their secret recipes for such treats. But jovial Gerold Berger, executive chef of the Essex House on New York's Central Park South, steps in to help you overcome your difficulties in preparing eggs Benedict at home. Berger, an Austrian who studied in Switzerland, has won many international honors and has been a chef in fine restaurants, such as the Four Seasons in New York, and on a luxury ship, the Laconia. In 1975, he went to work at the Essex House, overseeing about 2,000 meals a day with a staff of 80. In addition to his eggs Benedict with hollandaise sauce, Berger shares a piquant chicken tangerine recipe. One of his secrets is the use of fresh lemon juice in both dishes. Note that the recipes are for individual portions.

- EGGS BENEDICT
- 1 quart water
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 2 teaspoons vinegar
  - 2 teaspoons lemon juice
  - 2 eggs
  - 1 English muffin, cut in half and toasted
  - 2 slices Canadian bacon
  - hollandaise sauce
- Four 1 inch or more of water into 1-quart pan. Add salt, vinegar and lemon juice. Heat to boiling. Break eggs into saucer. One at a time, slip eggs gently from saucer into boiling water. Reduce heat so water no longer boiling. Cover pan and let stand for about 3 minutes or until white film forms over yolks. Remove eggs from water with skimmer or perforated ladle to drain. Slip onto toasted English muffin halves topped with sliced, broiled

- Canadian bacon. Serve with hollandaise sauce. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 12-egg serving.
- Hollandaise Sauce
- 2 egg yolks
  - 1 teaspoon white wine or sherry
  - 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
  - 3/4 cup butter, melted
  - Salt
- Whip egg yolks with white wine or sherry and lemon juice. (Never use egg whites or you will have a runny, gooey mass.) Whip until hot over double boiler. Cool. Whip butter slowly into egg mixture. (If mixture is cool, butter should be cool. It won't separate.) Season and cover. Keep warm until serving time by setting next to stove, do not return it to stove.
- CHICKEN TANGERINE
- 1 chicken breast
  - Teriyaki sauce
  - Olive oil
  - Juice of 1/2 lemon
  - 1 teaspoon honey
  - Tangerine sections
- Slice chicken in strips. Marinate 15 minutes in teriyaki sauce. Sauté 5 minutes in hot olive oil. Add lemon juice and honey, being certain oil is very hot. Add tangerine sections. Serve over rice. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 serving.

Small Rooms, Try Light Colors

Make a small room look larger by painting it a cool color, such as a light blue, suggests Dr. Jane Berry, a housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. This works, because cool colors recede and light values contribute to this impression of distance.

Stenholm Bill Gains Support

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Congressman Charles W. Stenholm said today he is very encouraged by the increasing support of legislation to exempt small royalty owners of up to 10-barrel-per-day of royalty interest under the windfall profits tax.

Stenholm said that Congressman Keith Sebelius (R-Kans.) and he had recently sent out a joint letter to members of Congress asking for their support of the legislation. "Thus far, response to the letter has been very encouraging, increasing the number of co-sponsors to about 70," Stenholm said. Congressman J.J. Pickle (D-Tx.), a ranking member of the House Ways and Means Committee, which is responsible for the legislation, has also joined in the exemption effort. This is certainly a positive development in improving the chances for passing such legislation, Stenholm explained.

Stenholm contends that the windfall profits tax should not apply to small royalty owners for several reasons. First of all, Stenholm points to the fact that many small royalty owners are dependent upon their royalty checks to meet essential needs. "This is especially true of many retired persons," he said.

Secondly, he argues that applying the windfall tax to royalty owners challenges the basic principle of private ownership of property, that the American landowner should not be penalized simply because his land contains natural resources, whether it be oil, natural gas, or coal.

In his letter to other congressmen, Stenholm emphasized that including landowners under the windfall profits tax could prove detrimental to domestic oil production. Sten-holm said many landowners have not leased their property for oil exploration and all of them will now be making decisions whether to lease land for production or hold it until such time as they may claim the full value of their mineral rights.

Dear Abby

"Open-Minded" Husband Letting Brains Fall Out

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I suppose you've had dozens of letters like this, but here goes. My wife of 18 years came to me about a month ago and said, "I've been in love with another man for a year and I want to be with him as much as I can, so I'm leaving you."

It turns out the guy is well-heeled, married and has a family. He isn't sure he wants to leave his family, but he can manage to get away from home about three nights a week, so my wife moved into their "love nest," which he provided.

Now, having it with my teen-age son. My wife comes home every Friday and goes back on Sunday. She says she's not sure what she wants — it's still too soon to know. She claims she still cares for me and isn't sure she wants a divorce, but that she is happiest when she is with this other guy. I have tried to be open-minded about it, but it's tearing me up inside and my ego is down to zero. Any advice? OPEN-MINDED

DEAR OPEN: Don't be so "open-minded" that your brains fall out. Give "Seesaw, Marjorie Daw" a deadline to decide which man she wants. Tell her you don't want a part-time wife. And whether or not there will be a divorce shall not be decided by her alone, because you may want to be free to fall in love with someone else. And be tough!

DEAR ABBY: I can't understand why my husband, who never thanks me for anything, always says "thank you" after a love session.

Somehow, I can't feel good about it. Am I wrong? We've been happily married almost 50 years. PITTSBURGH

DEAR PITTSBURGH: Never question his thank-you, just accept and appreciate it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MY READERS: I found this lovely Irish prayer (author unknown) displayed prominently on the desk of Al Zitnick, the faithful Jewish "schleppercaun" who sorts the Dear Abby mail:

Take time to work.
It is the price of success.
Take time to think.
It is the source of power.
Take time to play.
It is the secret of perpetual youth.
Take time to read.
It is the foundation of wisdom.
Take time to be friendly.
It is the road to happiness.
Take time to love and be loved.
It is the privilege of the gods.
Take time to share.
Life is too short to be selfish.
Take time to laugh.
Laughter is the music of the soul.

Abortion Condemned By Southern Baptists

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Emphasizing its sharp swing to deep conservatism, the nation's largest Protestant body has issued a firm condemnation of abortion and demanded that its teachers believe in the infallibility of the Bible.

The positions displaying a reaffirmation of tradition and the influence of conservative leadership elected for two consecutive years, were taken Thursday as the 13,800 messengers of the Southern Baptist Convention closed their annual meeting.

The delegates also urged voluntary prayers in public schools, denounced homosexual practice, disapproved the proposed Equal Rights Amendment, urged the election of public officials with Bible-based moral principles and re-affirmed their belief in "a literal biblical creation and a literal heaven and hell."

The anti-abortion stance, one of the strongest ever taken by a major American Protestant body, put the convention firmly behind the drive to overturn the 1973 Supreme Court decision permitting abortion.

Abortions should be prohibited by constitutional amendment or legislation except to save the life of the mother, the delegates agreed.

All medical evidence indicates that abortion ends the life of a developing human being," the convention said, opposing the use of public funds for "selfish, non-therapeutic abortion."

The call for an anti-abortion constitutional amendment or law represented a stiffening of an earlier, more qualified position of the 13.4 million-member denomination.

"It is intolerable that the lives of 1.5 million babies are being taken every year through abortion," said the Rev. Larry Lewis of St. Louis, member of a committee that pushed through the new Southern Baptist stand.

It was opposed in floor debate by a Baltimore physician, William D. Hillis, and Linda Maguire, wife of a Columbus, Ga., minister, who protested it did not allow abortion in cases of incest or rape.

The Rev. Joseph O'Donnell of Newnan, Ga., an official Roman Catholic representative to Southern Baptists, said the convention's action means a "significant strengthening of the anti-abortion movement. It will also help dispel an erroneous view that only Catholics oppose abortion."

Before adjourning, the convention also told trustees of seminaries and other denominational institutions to employ only those who consider the Bible to be without error. The Rev. Herschel H. Hobbs of Oklahoma City, a former convention president, opposed the measure, saying it smacked of a "creed which Southern Baptists never had." The Rev. Willard Brown of Wake Forest, N.C., said it indicated a "spirit of creeping creedalism."

But assistance in avowing Biblical infallibility has been a watchword of the election, victories of the convention's outgoing president, the Rev. Adrian Rogers of Memphis, Tenn., and the new president, the Rev. Bailey E. Smith of Del City, Okla.

Convention presidents pick a committee that draws resolutions and name committees that select some members of boards of denominational agencies, thus also applying leverage in Southern Baptist institutions.

Although the convention does not purport to speak for all Southern Baptists, it is their most broadly representative organ.

Boy Scout Troop 27, sponsored by First United Methodist Church, is camping this week at the Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains. Parents and friends are invited to the ranch tonight for a barbecue and camp fire program. The 6,000-acre ranch offers opportunities for the scouts to live in the open and participate in numerous outdoor activities.

Led by Joel Hamlett, scoutmaster, and assistants, Jack McDonald and Jerry Martin, members of Troop 27 making the trip are Billy Cox, Tim Sullivan, Jon Traylor, Terry Rumpff, Rickey Romero, Jay Baze, Tommy Crane, Don Crane, Phil Carter, John Zalman, John Hamlett, David Molina, Brad Campbell and Joe Robinson.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret, of the home; a daughter Suzanne Aldredge of Irving; a son, Bobby Birdwell of Alexandria, La.; two stepsons, Billy Max West and Richard West, both of Snyder; two sisters, Mrs. A.L. Patterson and Rosalie Birdwell, both of El Paso; and three grandchildren.

Land Bank Announces Loan Rates

Michael W. Smith, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Colorado City, announced that effective June 1, 1980 new loans will be closed at the variable interest rate of 9-3/4 percent on farm loans and 10-1/2 percent on rural residence loans, the same rate now being charged existing borrowers on the variable rate. This is a reduction from a 12 percent fixed rate on farm loans and 14 percent on rural residence loans which was put into effect earlier this year.

The Federal Land Bank of Texas introduced the variable rate loan in 1969, which allows the billing rate to increase and decrease with variables in the money market. Earlier this year, faced with unprecedented high money cost, a fixed rate loan was offered on a temporary basis. Improvement in the money market in recent weeks makes it possible to return to the variable rate on new loans.

The Federal Land Bank Association of Colorado City makes long-term real estate loans on farm and rural residence property in the counties of Scurry, Mitchell and Borden.

Doc Adams Of Gunsmoke Dies

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—Actor Milburn Stone, known to millions of television viewers as Doc Adams in the long-running Western series "Gunsmoke," has died of apparent heart failure at the age of 75.

A close friend, producer A.C. Lyles, said the actor died early Thursday at Scripps Memorial Hospital. Stone, who had a coronary bypass operation in 1971, had been ill for a few days.

"He was one of my very dear friends and associates and just the ultimate professional actor," said Dennis Weaver, who as the perpetually complaining deputy Chester joined Doc Adams in numerous checker games.

Doc, along with Chester, James Arness's Marshal Matt Dillon, Amanda Blake's saloon keeper Kitty and Ken Curtis's Festus, became one of the most beloved figures in television as "Gunsmoke" played out week after week for 20 years. In 1968, Stone won an Emmy for best supporting actor.

John Mantley, who produced "Gunsmoke" in its final years, called Stone "a marvelous man, a close friend and a splendid actor."

"What a legacy all of the people in 'Gunsmoke' will leave behind," Mantley added. "It was seen by 80 million people in this country and in 100 countries around the world. Doc Adams is a figure of love and legend."

By the time the series ended in 1975, Stone once said, the character of the gruff but fatherly medic had become almost a real identity.

Two Vehicles Are In Mishap

A traffic accident in the 1400 block of Ave. R was investigated Thursday afternoon by city police.

The mishap involved a 1979 International driven by Fortunato Guerra and a 1979 Ford driven by Richard David Nicholson, both of Snyder. Reports state Nicholson was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by private vehicle for knee X-rays.

The accident was reported about 3:15 p.m. and was investigated by Don Cheek and Edwin Neeley.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dealing with osteoporosis

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR LAMB—A couple of months ago I suddenly felt lower back pain. I'm over 75 but very active. I went to a chiropractic clinic and was told that I had two spinal discs that were "shot" and pinching the nerves. After a couple of treatments the pain transferred from the back to the leg and hip. After two more weeks, while he was on vacation, I went to see an M.D. He took X-rays and said that I didn't have disc problems but I did have osteoporosis. He prescribed calcium pills and Chonrol and asked me to come back in 10 days to see if there was any improvement.

My wife is about 75 percent bedridden with osteoporosis of the lower back. With the above background information, my question is, do any of the divisions of the medical profession have any remedies that have been found that will solve or perhaps reverse osteoporosis?

DEAR READER—Osteoporosis, as you probably know, means dissolving of the bones caused by loss of bony tissue and calcium from the bones. When a vertebra is involved, it can completely collapse. During that period of time it may cause severe pain because of pressure on nerve roots. In many other cases the gradual degeneration of the spine may not cause any significant symptoms, although it can cause considerable deformity. The disorder involves more than the spine and is the underlying cause for many dental problems and the frequent increase in easy fractures in older people.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 6-10, Osteoporosis: Bone Softening. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

This is a frequent problem, particularly in women about 10 or 15 years after completing the menopause. It does occur in men but usually at a later age than in women.

The Health Letter I'm sending you will outline some of the treatment methods doctors have used to arrest the condition and some of them have been claimed to cause some reversal of the process. The latter could reasonably be questioned in many cases. But in any case, the combination of the use of hormones and an adequate intake of calcium, sometimes combined with large doses of vitamin D and even fluoride helps to harden bones and stop the process.

Exercise is also important in prevention. Because this is such a frequent problem, I would like to emphasize again that one of the major factors that contributes to it is the widespread calcium deficiency in the American diet. Women past the menopause should expect to get at least a gram of calcium a day and if there's any sign of osteoporosis, they should be getting one-and-a-half grams of calcium a day. That's about the amount of calcium you'd find in one quart of fortified skim milk or fortified low-fat milk and more calcium than you would find in a quart of whole milk.

If for any reason women past the menopause can't use enough dairy products to provide an adequate amount of calcium, they should discuss it with their doctor and see about taking some calcium supplements.

Charge Filed In Burglary

Ricky Dale Slaughter, one of two adults arrested last week following a series of burglaries, has been charged with the break-in of the Union gasoline station owned by Murray Jackson.

Slaughter, 2011 KSNY Drive, has been released after posting a $1,500 bond.

Charges are still pending against the other adult arrested in connection with the burglaries.

In all, six other persons were also arrested, but they were juveniles and their cases were referred to juvenile court.

Sentence Levied In County Court

A Rotan man was sentenced Thursday in county court.

Sentenced was James Dorsey Price on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He received $62 in court costs, a $200 fine, and 30 days in jail that was probated two years.

He pleaded guilty to the charge.

5th, 6th Generation Families In Fluvanna

By MARGE MATHIS
Scurry County genealogy buffs can have a heyday at the Fluvanna Homecoming this weekend where at least a half-dozen or so families that now represent the fifth and sixth generation will be present. Homecoming, an every five year event, is being staged at Fluvanna today and Saturday.

Many names come to mind when exploring the northwest county farm and ranch community of course the Jones, Beaver, Belew, Browning, Ainsworth, Ball, Miller and Pylant. Here and there you'll run into a family or two by the name of Wills, Lindsey, Smith, Mathis, Turner, Drum, Herring, Stansell, Landrum, Patterson.

Then there are Jordan, Evans, Daughterty, Parks, Bley, Lemons, Landrum, Flournoy, Reeder, Belew, Fulford and Hunnicutt. The woods are full of other names of kith and kin to the ones named above.

But when all the cousins and friends gather, if history is any authority, a high old time of reunion, hugging, even crying, will be had by all, cousins or not.

A newcomer once asked a Fluvannite just who all he was related to in the town. The old timer replied that you could just throw a rock in any direction and you'd hit one of his relatives. The newcomer learned in a hurry not to talk about anybody thereabouts.

It is probably a close race between the Jones and the Ainsworths as to who settled at Fluvanna first. Actually family records passed down through the years establish the Dargitz family as first settlers in the years 1838-39. The Jones claim 1892 and the Ainsworths 1898. There are present day Jones descendants which represent the sixth generation and also Ainsworth-Dargitz descendants at Fluvanna who are sixth generation residents. There are also sixth generation families descended from the Beaver and Browning families living there.

New Bill To Deal With Alcoholism Problem

In an attempt to prevent alcoholics from destroying themselves and their families, a bill for the next legislative session will be introduced titled the Texas Alcohol Services Act, said L.D. Womble, director of the Snyder Council on Alcoholism.

Under the proposed legislation, said Womble, the powers and duties of the Texas Commission on Alcoholism would be broadened so that it would be charged with developing a comprehensive statewide treatment program which includes the coordination of regional and local plans and programs with public and private agencies and organizations.

"The commission would establish policies and procedures for treatment of alcoholics and intoxicated persons on an emergency, inpatient, intermediate, outpatient, and followup basis," said Womble.

A meeting on the proposed legislation will be held June 17 in Midland at the conference room of the Midland Regional Air Terminal. Womble urged persons interested in attending the meeting to contact him at 573-3233.

Other meetings on the proposed legislation will be held June 18 in Longview, June 26 in San Antonio, and June 27 in Houston.

Side Glances: Letter To Darren Lee

By BILL McCLELLAN

THIS PARTICULAR column is generally reserved for praising Snyder's athletes - something that has become a tradition because there's always plenty to get excited about.

However, I'd like to deviate from that for a minute and point out that we have another group of pretty important individuals headed our way.

I'd like to assure these new Snyderites a place in our community. Sports is not only alive and well here, it's booming, and the "new kid in town" is helping to make it that way.

I'VE TITLED this column "A Letter To Darren Lee," but I've got to be honest, Darren, that's not quite accurate. In fact, this column goes out to all the Western Texas College recruits or would-be recruits, to the returning players, and to athletes at Snyder High.

Actually, Darren, you just happen to be in the right place as I sat down to write this thing. That doesn't change anything, of course. We'd still like you to consider playing ball with a winner.

FOR THE community of Snyder I'll introduce Darren as a possible recruit for Coach Larry Dunaway's Westerners. Darren is here this weekend, looking over the campus, the town, and so forth.

He hails from Sweetwater High School in San Diego, Ca., where he was All-Metro, first team. A 6-4 standout, Darren averaged 23 points a game and was named player of the week in San Diego several times. In fact, one newspaper picked him as Player of the Year.

Here's how Coach Dunaway feels about the eager Darren: "Darren is the type of player who can come in and be a tremendous 6-4 guard for us. He has all the tools to become a great player in our style ball. He can turn the game around for us because of his explosive ability."

He said a lot more Darren, but now let's get on to introducing Snyder to you.

SNYDER'S NOT the biggest city in Texas, but it is definitely a winner. Probably no other city per capita in the state can cite the athletic success Snyder has had in the past several years.

This last season, for instance, Western Texas Dusters finished high in the WJCAC conference and qualified for the regional tournament. In taking the team to its best win-loss record ever, the Dusters set bucketfuls of individual and team records.

Judo and rodeo teams took an equal number of honors.

Meanwhile, Coach Bob O'Day's golf team came up eighth in the NJCAA National Golf Tournament after conference championship and second place finish at regionals.

No doubt you heard of WTC's Westerners in California. The men's basketball team took conference, regional and national titles while building an astounding 37-0 record.

At the high school level Snyder had its best season ever. The Tigers won six district championships, took three bi-district crowns, two regional titles and sent two of its teams to state playoffs. In addition, five other individuals represented Snyder in state competition.

Snyder and Western Texas have turned up over a dozen All-Americans in the past nine years and sent over a hundred men and women athletes to major and junior colleges across the nation.

IF IT sounds like I'm bragging a little Darren, that's okay. We feel we've got a lot to brag about, and I think you'll agree. Frankly, we're proud of our athletic accomplishments, our coaches and our players.

We'd like to thank you and the young men and women like yourself for considering Western Texas as a place to receive an education and further your athletic and scholastic goals. We're excited about having you in our community.

And we'd also like to take this opportunity to thank and congratulate all of the athletes that competed for Western Texas and Snyder in all levels of sport for their effort during the 1979-80 year.

Rangers Still Falling; Brewers Help Them

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

The Milwaukee Brewers and Texas Rangers continue their contrasting courses in the American League, and two prominent reasons for that were very evident Thursday.

Their names are Mike Caldwell and Jim Kern. Caldwell, showing again why he is considered one of the best lefthanded pitchers in baseball, held the Rangers to seven hits. The Brewers backed Caldwell with a 14-hit attack, led by Sixto Lezcano with three runs batted in and Sal Bando with two, as they won 8-1 for their 14th victory in 19 games.

The Rangers have lost seven of their last eight games and 42 of their last 15. No one reflects that frustration more poignantly than Kern, who in recent years has been one of the most effective relief pitchers in baseball.

Last year, the fire-balling Kern was 13-5 with a 1.57 earned run average and 29 saves. This year he is 2-8 with a 6.19 ERA and two saves.

The Brewers scored three unearned runs off loser Gaylord Perry, 3-5, in the first inning, but the Rangers trailed only 3-1 until Cecil Cooper and Gorman Thomas started the Brewer seventh with singles. Kern replaced Perry, and the bottom fell out on the Rangers.

Kern struck out Ben Ogilvie, but walked Lezcano to load the bases with one out. Bando followed with a sacrifice fly to make it 4-1.

Kern got out of that inning without further damage, but gave up a single to Charlie Moore leading off the eighth. Moore stole second and scored on a double by Don Money. After a walk to Dick Davis, Thomas singled home a run and Lezcano hit a two-run double to conclude the scoring.
