Americans Flee Iraq...

Iraqis Announce Demands To Iran

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Iraq announced its territorial objectives today in the four-day-old war in which its forces claimed the capture of 115 square miles of Iranian border territory. Iraq said invading Iraqi forces had been pushed back in one area and reported for the first time the capture of a border post inside Iraq. Iranian jets made their deepest penetration yet into Iraq, bombing a gas refinery at Ayn Zala, 280 miles northeast of Baghdad and 400 miles from the nearest Iranian air base, the Iraqis reported.

In Beirut, Iraqi Defense Minister Adnan Khairallah listed the goals of his country as: Redefinition of parts of the Iraq-Iran border; protection of the Arabic-speaking minority in southern Iran, and the return to Arab sovereignty of the islands of Abu Mousa and the Greater and Lesser Tunbs. The islands were seized by Iran in 1971.

At-U.S. government urging, 53 American civilians, 46 businessmen and their families and seven dependents of members of the U.S. Embassy staff - left Baghdad by bus for Amman, Jordan, a trip that normally takes 15-18 hours. U.S. diplomats were not being advised to leave Iraq for the time being.

A chartered plane arrived in Amsterdam, Netherlands, with other American evacuees from Iraq. They included 241 employees of a New Jersey construction company and their families.

Foreign diplomats said they were making plans to evacuate European, Japanese, Korean and Filipino civilians working in Iraq.

Military communiques issued here and in Tehran indicated ground and air activity had not let up. Both Iran and Iraq have halted shipments of oil, not a major worry to the world for the present, but the war threatens to halt shipments from other oil-producing countries in the Persian Gulf.

But oil tankers were reported moving normally today through the Strait of Hormuz, the gulf's outlet to the sea and the world's main oil artery.

Ask Us

Q—I have been told that Texas Tech is the only member of the Southwest Conference that has not represented the conference in the Cotton Bowl game, but someone else swears that Tech has played in the Cotton Bowl. How can this be?

A—Texas Tech did indeed play in the Cotton Bowl, but it was in 1939 before the Cotton Bowl arranged for the conference champion to be the host team and before Tech became a member of the conference. Tech played St. Mary's of California on Jan. 2, 1939, in the Cotton Bowl game. St. Mary's, at that time one of the nation's powers in the major independent ranks, won, 20-13.

Unanswered Questions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has several questions about last week's Titan II missile explosion, but Air Force Secretary Hans Mark says he can't answer them.

Marks, summoned before the House Armed Services Committee, was asked several questions Wednesday, including: Why wasn't there enough water to flood the silo when fuel fumes began escaping from the rocket and why was there no safety net in the silo to catch objects such as the dropped wrench socket that caused the problem.

Marks said he won't be able to answer those questions until the service finishes its investigation of the explosion near Damascus, Ark.

Uranium Sold To India

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House says the sale of 38 tons of reactor-grade uranium to India, which won Senate approval by a two-vote margin, will be the last unless India agrees to new nuclear safeguards. The Carter administration welcomed Wednesday's 48-46 victory and said the vote will strengthen its efforts to convince India to accept international non-proliferation safeguards.

Strength Seen In Gross Sales Here

Gross sales in Scurry County for the first quarter of 1980 totalled $58,082,047, according to figures announced this week by Bob Bullock, state comptroller.

This put Scurry County far ahead of other area counties in its population range.

Bullock's tabulation showed 422 business establishments contributing to the Scurry County sales total.

Figures for other counties included:

Nolan (Sweetwater-Roscoe), 377 firms with sales totalling $46,952,332; Hockley (Levelland-Sundown, Whittarrat), 395 firms with sales of $42,520,291; Ward (Monahans), 289 firms with sales of $40,699,537; Terry, (Brownfield), 253 firms with sales of $38,934,199; Dawson (Lamesa), 331 firms with sales of $37,996,144; Reeves (Pecos), 331 firms with sales of $24,562,250; Mitchell (Colorado City-Lorraine), 170 firms with sales of $12,966,215; Garza (Post), 119 firms with sales of $8,112,929; Fisher (Rotan-Roby), 79 firms with sales of $6,252,436.

Although no comparisons by counties were listed, Bullock said that statewide figures show an increase of $12.4 billion over the first quarter in 1979. The state total this year reached $60.9 for the quarter.

'Industrial Allies' Event Proposed

The possibility of holding an "Industrial Allies" event here was discussed Wednesday at a meeting of the Scurry County Board of Development.

Bill Warner, BCD consultant and manager of the Snyder chamber of commerce, said allies are the various utility, transportation and other firms that are interested in development of Snyder but have their headquarters elsewhere. The proposal would involve inviting

Brilab Nears Critical Tapes Of November 8

HOUSTON (AP) - The prosecution in the Texas Brilab trial of a powerful state political leader and two Austin attorneys has moved toward an end as more and more secret tape recordings are played to a federal court jury in Houston.

The U.S. attorney's office, in a slow but steady pace, has presented a step-by-step, word-by-word case in the trial of Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton and lawyers Donald Ray and Randall Wood.

The heart of the case is a Nov. 8 meeting among Clayton, labor leader L.G. Moore and FBI informant Joseph Hauser.

It is around that meeting that the prosecution will fire its loudest guns against Clayton - a veteran of 20 years in the Legislature and the speaker for the past six years - who for some time has laid plans to run for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1982.

It was last Nov. 8, the prosecution contends, that Clayton accepted a $5,000 bribe to use his influence to reopen bidding on a $76-million-a-year state employees health insurance contract.

The speaker said he accepted the stack of $100 bills from Moore, regional director of the International Operating Engineers Union, but considered it a campaign contribution.

Clayton said he considered (See Brilab, Page 9A)

Tax Rate On City Agenda

The Snyder City Council will consider a tax rate tonight at a special meeting set for 7 p.m. at city hall.

The council is due to adopt a resolution declaring its intent to set a rate for this year's city taxes.

Also on the agenda is a request for an appropriation from motel-hotel tax funds to promote Snyder in a state brochure, and the council is expected to discuss filling the vacancy on Place 2 of the council.

That post was vacated when Bryce Booker resigned earlier this month to move to Denver, Colo.

United Way Luncheon To Kick Off Campaign

Drama students of Jerry Worsham at Snyder High School will be featured in entertainment at the Scurry County United Way kickoff luncheon Friday at the Snyder Country Club.

The luncheon will officially launch the United Way's 1980-81 year, and its campaign goal this year is $56,969. The goal has not been increased from last year, United Way officials said, because they feel that due to the economic squeeze the country has experienced, people do not have much extra cash, even for worthwhile organizations such as those participating in the United Way.

Also, United Way officials said it was their way of indicating to the organizations that they want them to keep their operating costs at an absolute minimum.

The Scurry County United Way is divided into nine branches. Each division chairman is responsible for seeing that his/her part of the budget is reached. When the goal is reached, funds are distributed to the participating agencies.

The United Way has received wholehearted support here in the past and officials of the organization attribute this in a large measure to the fact that 72.5 percent of the funds go to local children's groups such as Girl

The SDN Column

A few years ago, we could not imagine turning in such a column as this one. Having been reared in a family of four sons and no daughters, followed by rearing our own family of three sons and no daughters, we could scarcely be expected to know what it was all about. But now, three granddaughters later, this dissertation on little girls caught our attention and tempted us to pass it along:

"Little girls are the nicest things that happen to people. They are born with a little bit of angel-shine about them, and though it wears thin sometimes, there is always enough left to lasso your heart—even when they are sitting in the mud, or crying temperamental tears, or parading up the street in mother's best clothes.

"A little girl can be sweeter (and badder) oftener than anyone else in the world. She can jitter around, stomp, make funny noises that frazzle your nerves, yet just when you open your mouth, she stands there demure with that special look in her eyes. A little girl is Innocence playing in the mud, Beauty standing on its head, and Motherhood dragging a doll by the foot.

"Girls are available in five colors—black, white, red, yellow or brown, yet Mother Nature always manages to select your favorite color when you place your order. They disprove the law of supply and demand—there are millions of little girls, but each is as precious as rubies.

"God borrows from many creatures to make a little girl. He uses the song of a bird, the squeal of a pig, the stubbornness of a mule, the antics of a monkey, the spryness of a grasshopper, the curiosity of a cat, the speed of a gazelle, the slyness of a fox, the softness of a kitten, and to top it all off, He adds the mysterious mind of a woman.

"A little girl likes new shoes, party dresses, small animals, first-grade, noise makers, the girl next door, dolls, make-believe, dancing lessons, gymnastics, ice cream, kitchens, coloring books, make-up, cans of water, going visiting, tea parties and one boy. She doesn't care so much for visitors, boys in general, large dogs, hand-me-downs, straight chairs, vegetables, snow suits, or staying in the front yard. She is loudest when you are thinking, the prettiest when she has provoked you, the busiest at bedtime, the quietest when you want to show her off, and the most flirtatious when she absolutely must not get the best of you again.

"Who else can cause you more grief, joy, irritation, satisfaction, embarrassment and genuine delight than this combination of Eve, Salome and Florence Nightingale? She can muss up your home, your hair, your dignity—spend your money, your time and your temper—and just when your patience is ready to crack, her sunshine peeks through and you've lost again.

"Yes, she is a nerve-racking nuisance, just a noisy bundle of mischief. But when your dreams tumble down and the world is a mess—when it seems you are pretty much of a fool after all, she can make you a king when she climbs on your knee and whispers, "I love you best of all!"

The cactus patch philosopher says childhood is that wonderful time when all you have to do to lose weight is take a bath. —WACIL McNAIR

it's time to hang up

Some of the grubbiest members of society are those who get their kicks by originating obscene telephone calls.

Dr. Stephen Golder, clinical psychologist who did his research at the University of Texas Health Science Center in Dallas, has studied abusive phone calls from the standpoint of a professional and, ironically, that of a victim - himself.

According to Dr. Golder, while many abusive callers fit the category of the lonely, socially maladjusted persons seeking outlets for pent-up feelings who plan no subsequent violence, other callers are dangerous.

In studying police records in one large southern city, Dr. Golder discovered that a sixth of the callers apprehended had previously been convicted of sex crimes or other offenses. Often the victim felt that she - and sometimes he, since members of both sexes make abusive calls - knew the caller.

"I used to be his girl friend. Now he's out of prison, he's going to get me," said one victim. Another told police, "I know who it is. He raped my friend."

Former spouses make a majority of the calls, those involved in some kind of triangle with the victim or simply casual acquaintances. Not unusual are calls which follow an act of violence, according to a phone company employee who works with abuse complaints and often testifies in court cases. It may be that the victim of the abusive call has been robbed or raped by the caller a short time before.

Abusive phone calls vary widely.

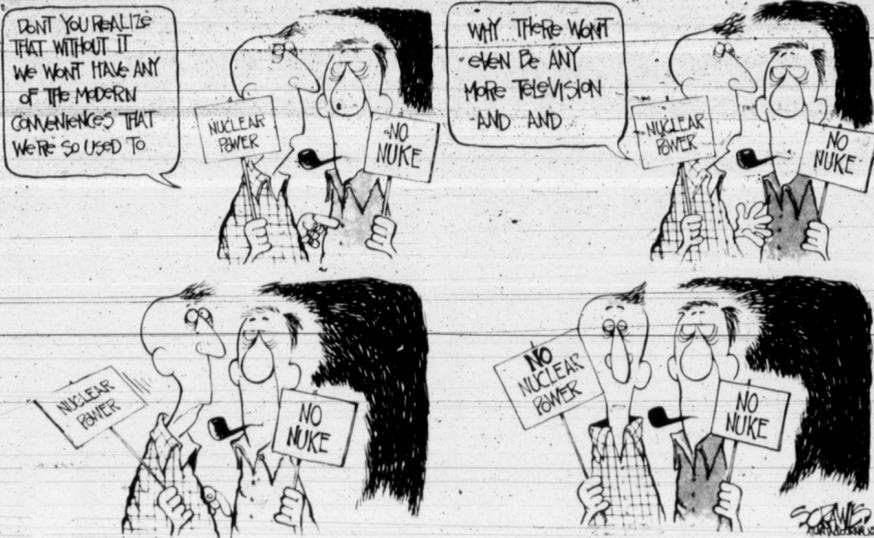

Some remain silent, after making sure the person at the other end is still on the line. Others breathe heavily. Some joke about their depravity. Some are prank calls. By far the most serious are those who threaten or harrass. All are considered Class B misdemeanors under Texas law, punishable by a fine up to $1,000 and from one to six months in jail.

According to the Texas penal code, a person commits such an offense if "he intentionally communicates by telephone in vulgar, profane, obscene, indecent or threatening language and by his action intentionally, knowingly or recklessly alarms the recipient; or if the caller places one or more telephone calls anonymously - and by this action recklessly annoys or alarms the recipient or intends to do so."

Dr. Golder says the best way to handle abusive calls is to hang up. By hanging up, he points out, the recipient gives the caller no satisfaction.

People who listen to abusive calls should be made aware, the psychologist explains, that they may be unconsciously participating. Comments like "Oh, how awful! You must be sick!" actually encourage rather than discourage the caller.

Dr. Golder strongly urges that victims call the police hurriedly if a threat is involved. If the caller describes things like the color of the victim's car or her nightgown, then the recipient has reason for great concern and definitely should summon help.

what elmer started

Big-city dwellers tend to build shells around themselves, that being the only privacy they can know.

The word "neighbor" is an impersonal noun; often we don't even know his name.

Elmer Henry lives on South Overton in Kansas City, had known the man next door only as "Mr. Hughes" - until one Saturday evening last October when the neighbor's small son came running, shouting, "Daddy is sick, come quick!"

Elmer Henry dashed next door to find Mr. Hughes on the floor his face ashen gray.

What does a forklift truck driver know about first aid in a situation like this? Not - nothing.

You see, down at Marion Laboratories where Elmer Henry works, one person from each department in CPR - cardio pulmonary resuscitation.

That training includes recognizing symptoms and initiating emergency procedure.

With the victim's respiration fading and pulse nil, Elmer Henry knew what to do.

For long minutes Elmer was breathing for two. By the time the ambulance crew got there, Mr.

Hughes was breathing on his own, the pallor had left his face - he was back from the valley of the shadow. He would live. Still does.

Most of all deaths in the United States each year are from cardiovascular disease, because half of those who have an attack don't make it to the hospital.

If skilled help were immediately available, hundreds of thousands could be saved each year.

When an employee named Elmer Henry in his shipping department was able to save the life of a neighbor by performing cardio pulmonary resuscitation, the chairman of Marion Laboratories in Kansas City, Ewing Kaufman, was much moved.

If his company's limited efforts to teach CPR had already saved a life, how many more might be saved if the life-saving technique could be taught to everybody!

Mr. Kaufman and his wife decided to initiate and finance a citywide project called CPR-NOW. I know of no civic effort anywhere which ever received such prompt and unanimous cooperation.

All hospitals and medical societies and medical schools on both sides of the river, fire departments, Red Cross, Heart Association, research medical center, news media - everybody pitched in to promote a citywide rescue effort.

Presently, CPR-NOW is training instructors.

On September 27, thousands will converge on Royal Stadium - there to receive in one day a crash course in CPR.

They will see training films, watch demonstrations, and, finally, personally demonstrate their own ability to apply chest compression and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to manikins.

And after this citywide participation, CPR will be taught in Kansas City schools.

Ken Sigman, coordinator of the effort, calls CPR "the ultimately unselfish commitment; you can't use it on yourself."

Look what Elmer Henry started!

Let us hope that what is now citywide will become nationwide and that hundreds of thousands doomed to die will live because a forklift truck driver in Kansas City was where he was and knew what to do. (c) 1980, Los Angeles Times Syndicate

letter to editor

To The Daily News:

Recently it was brought to my attention that the ambulance service here has been having bad time responses. As operator of this service, I find it very difficult not to back this service and also my employees. Things are not always what they seem to be. Example: Last week we received a call for a possible heart attack. The person that called in this heart attack was so excited and upset they gave us an incorrect address; therefore, causing us to lose time in getting there.

We carry a city map in the units, and when we are in doubt we either refer to the map, or ask the dispatcher at the police department for directions.

Another instance a young man called in a major 10-50 (car accident). When he told me where it was, I knew immediately Interstate 20 did not run through Snyder. Then, he changed his mind, saying it was 84, running towards Sweetwater - about 6 miles out. It turned out to be F.M. Road 1611 about 6 blocks from where the attendants were stationed. Another time of needless time loss. Why? because people do not give us the right directions.

We can only go to where we are told to go. If you people want better time response, take a little extra time to give the dispatchers the correct directions.

We will always be there when you need us, and we always give our best to you in doing our job.

People who run around finalizing things seldom actually complete what they're doing.

Another nice thing about the horse: You don't have to change the air filter periodically.

Remember when a clutch of smoking chimneys was sign of prosperity rather than one of pollution?

The bad news: You're broke. The good news: The office mooch can't get into you for a few bucks.

Doing one's own canning hasn't gone out of style - they've just moved the operation from the kitchen to the boss' office.

Do you ever feel that your trip through life's laundry has been marked by someone leaving your fortunes on the spin-dry cycle?

my turn

by john long

It was a humiliating experience, one of the most humiliating in my life. I played tic-tac-toe with a chicken and the chicken won. He beat me in two out of three games, and I didn't even win the third game; the cat got that one.

It was last week during the county fair. I was walking from the coliseum to the livestock pavilion when I saw several chickens caged in mechanical booths. The object was to put a quarter in the slot and play a game of tic-tac-toe with a birdbrain.

The chicken always got the first move and he always went for a corner hole. That gave me a bad feeling right away, but I didn't say anything. After all, it would look pretty stupid to see a grown man telling a chicken he wasn't playing fairly. So I just kept my mouth shut, determined not to let the chicken get the better of me.

But he did get the better of me: he won. Still, I was determined not to become upset. Another game, I thought, would settle the score between us.

The other game, however, settled nothing because it was a draw. All I proved in it was that I could keep the chicken from winning, but I couldn't win myself.

One more game, I decided, would make us even. I switched chickens and went to another mechanical booth with a different fowl in it. I dropped in another quarter and the game was on.

The second chicken was no dumber than the first. He readily beat me, leaving me feeling degraded. I had been soundly beaten and I knew it. My only consolation is that I believe the games were computerized. The chicken was seeing a different tic-tac-toe board than I was. His board lit up with a red light marking the next appropriate play for him. If he pecked it, he would be rewarded with some food pellets.

Even that, however, was small consolation for me. I was playing out of curiosity at first, then with blood and revenge in mind. The chicken was doing it all for chicken feed.

thoughts

We do not use the word "dayspring" very much, but it is a more expressive word than "dawn." God uses the word when He challenges Job to answer his questions.

"Hast thou commanded the morning since they days; and caused the dayspring to know his place?" - Job 38:12 strong in Tennessee, where Republican Gov. Lamar Alexander acknowledges "it should be Carter's state." But a recent poll shows Carter and Reagan locked in a 45-45 tie in the Volunteer State and the Reagan campaign reportedly has given it a high priority, believing it can successfully build upon traditional Republican strength in East Tennessee.

The president apparently enjoys a current edge in South Carolina and his prospects are considerably better in Arkansas and (North Carolina. "It'll be a tough battle but Carter is ahead and I think he'll carry the state," says North Carolina Gov. James B. Hunt Jr., a Democrat.

Most experts believe the race in Alabama is currently too close to call. The contest also is very tight in Louisiana, but Reagan apparently enjoys a slight edge there.

Florida, the second most populous state in the region with 17 electoral votes, is shaping up as a major battleground between Carter and Reagan. One recent poll produced a 39-39 tie between the two men, but Democratic Gov. Robert Graham is working vigorously on Carter's behalf.

Graham notes, however, a phenomenon that disturbs other Democrat loyalists throughout the region: "Southerners are still emotionally tied to a Carter candidacy, but there's less of a sense of empathy than four years ago. Voter identification with him as the region's native son is significantly lower than in 1976."

Carter, meanwhile, has not been able to significantly cut into Reagan's support in the West, an area of the country that overwhelmingly rejected Carter in 1976 and provides Reagan's most solid base of regional support this year.

Those developments don't bode well for Carter because a loss of only 29 of the electoral votes he won in 1976 - assuming that he scores no gains elsewhere and that Reagan wins all the remaining electoral votes - would deprive him of a second term as president.

NEW YORK (AP) - An important home mortgage group has intensified its attack on the Federal Reserve Board, saying the board's policies threaten the country with "a housing and economic disaster."

The U.S. League of Savings Association, whose members hold a major portion of home mortgages, claims the Fed has favored commercial banks over savings institutions and thwarted long-term financial planning.

"I think it is a legitimate question to ask if the Federal Reserve does not have too much power," said William O'Connell, executive vice president, in an address to league members in California Tuesday.

He said it represented "an extraordinary, unwarranted and dangerous grant of power to a few non-elected public officials who are not accountable to the electorate of a representative democracy." O'Connell's comments were the latest development in a campaign against Federal Reserve and regulatory actions which the League says endanger the general economy, and housing and home financing especially.

The campaign, designed to relieve "chronic near-chaos in financial markets," includes speeches, lobbying, court action to reverse a regulatory decision, and an advertising campaign soon to get underway.

Erratic Fed policies, he said, "have plunged this country into a financial malaise, with double digit inflation threatening to become hyper-inflation, with runaway interest rates and rising unemployment."

O'Connell's blast at Fed officials and the Depository Institutions Deregulation Committee, which he said is Fed dominated, has been building for a year. But the roots of the difficulties run deeper.

He said many of the financial problems of mortgage lenders originated with the triggering of inflation by the Vietnam war, and the subsequent worsening of it by oil price increases and federal budget deficits.

Because of inflation, O'Connell said, Congress authorized removal of interest limitations on savings, hoping that higher returns on deposits might offset the decline in the dollar's purchasing power.

Congress, he said, was "wise and prudent enough" to write into law that deregulation should develop in an orderly manner over a six-year period. But it erred, he said, in relinquishing power over the process. Authority over deregulation was granted to the DIDC, in which various financial regulatory agencies have a voice, but in which, O'Connell said, the Federal Reserve is "the flagship and dominant agency."

Pontiac, the Ottawa Indian chief, was murdered by a Peoria Indian in 1769 near the present site of St. Louis, Mo. Pontiac supported the French throughout the Seven Years War. Later, he organized an Indian uprising known as Pontiac's Conspiracy. The uprising collapsed and the chief made peace with the British in 1766.

Colorful, Sparkling Crocheted Tote Makes A Special Christmas Present

Needlework projects don't have to be confined to the typical scarves, hats, mittens and sweaters. How about an easy project that also turns into something useful, colorful and good-looking. A terrific tote answers those "tutable" needs - for yourself or for the person on your gift list who is hard to buy for.

The shoulder bag tote is an ideal item to work before the holidays. The threads running through the yarn give it a special Christmas sparkle. It's ideal for shopping, because it's the perfect size for those smaller packages you'll be purchasing. And, since it slings over your shoulder, your hands are free.

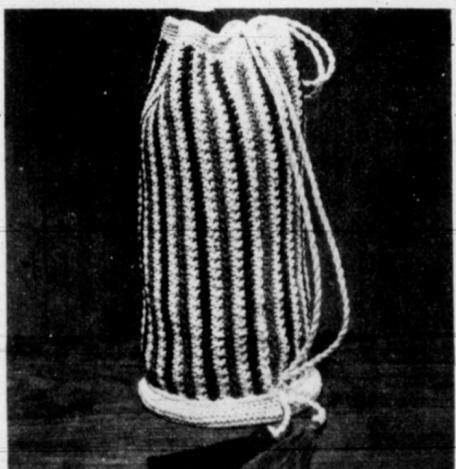

As a gift, what could be better than the tote... with a surprise package tucked inside. Whether it's for a special friend or dear aunt, either will appreciate her favorite fragrance, or a warm wool scarf you've made just for her.

Naturally you can use the tote all year long. It's perfect for the extras that won't fit in a handbag, or for your latest needlework project.

The colorful bag has an ecru base and ecru pullcords to accent the vertical stripe in ecru, blue sparkle and hunter green. The instructions call for a steel crochet hook and Coats & Clark's "speed-crochet." You will also need an embroidery hoop, six inches in diameter.

To order instructions send 50 cents to Stitches 'n Time, P.O. Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Ask for 'leaflet S562 and don't forget to include your name, address and zip code.

Here is a defensive gem from the Mobile regionals. South arrived at a good four-spade contract after East had made a rather doubtful two-club overcall.

He won the club lead, entered dummy with a high heart and led a spade. East took his ace and led a second club.

South won and cashed the king of trumps. East showed out. South played a second heart to dummy. Then he ruffed a third heart to set up two winners in dummy. Now he led his last club.

Boice Holleman, sitting West, had been doing some counting while all this was going on and came to the conclusion that South held 6-2-2-3 distribution. Boice who has been playing bridge for a long time had a cinch way to hold South to his contract. He could ruff with the queen of spades and cash his ace of diamonds.

An overtrick saved can be worth a lot in match points, but Boice felt that everyone would not be in that spade game and if South made four spades he would get a good score, and perhaps Boice would get a bad score.

Therefore, Boice risked an overtrick by underleading his ace of diamonds. The play worked. East had made that club overcall. South decided that he held the diamond ace and played the jack from dummy. East took his queen spade contract after East had made a rather doubtful two-club overcall.

Yards Damaged By Vandals Here

Pranksters have taken to wheels to play tricks on people, police reports show.

Wednesday, police were deluged with reports from people whose soggy yards had been sliced up by someone who had driven a car across them.

Mostly the damage was cosmetic, but Mrs. Joe Graham, 2700 34th St., reported $100 damage to her hybrid flowers, and Mrs. Dixie Brooks, 4519 Garwood, reported $150 damage to a bush in her yard. It was a sprinkler system that was damaged at 2712 46th St., said Mrs. Bjll Eiland.

Other reports of yard vandalism came from the school administration building on 37th St., the David McIntosh residence at 3750 Ave. V, the Robbie Lovelady residence at 3813 Highland, and the Frank Wilson home at 2609 35th St. Police also received reports that other yards had been damaged, but no formal complaints were made in those instances.

Otherwise, it was the usual run of traffic accidents.

The first mishap took place about 8:10 a.m. in the 3500 block of Ave. B. In that collision, a 1979 Pontiac driven by Barry J. Farquhar was in collision with a 1980 Ford driven by Betty Brown. Working that accident was Buddy Kinney.

The second mishap occurred about 9:10 a.m. in the 1300 block of 25th St. Involved in it were a 1973 Ford driven by Myrtle Lynch and a 1972 Ford driven by Cheryl Castillo. Working that accident was Kerry Fritz.

Fritz also worked a two-vehicle collision in the 400 block of College Ave. at 11:45 a.m. Involved in it were a 1977 Oldsmobile driven by Marie Durst and a 1978 Ford driven by Jesse Martin. The vehicle Martin was driving was owned by Southwestern Bell Telephone.

A major accident was worked by Clay Scogin at 2 p.m. in the 5100 block of College. There, a 1972 Oldsmobile driven by Leah Burrow struck a utility pole and a reflector pole. She was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released.

The final accident took place about 4:50 p.m. in the 2500 block of Ave. M. In it were a 1968 Chevrolet driven by James Robert-Everett and a 1974 Buick driven by Juanita Garcia Molina. The accident was investigated by Scogin.

Mobil Seminar On Negotiating

Attempting to improve company and personal business transactions, Mobil Oil Corporation in Snyder had a three-day "effective negotiating" seminar program at the Snyder Country Club this week.

Using a program developed by Dr. Chester L. Karrass of the Center for Effective Negotiating Inc. in Los Angeles, 19 men from Snyder, Breckenridge, Dallas, Canadian, Kilgore, Talco and Midland saw 12 hours of video tapes and participated in discussion and workshop activities on ways to improve their contract negotiating skills.

Les Tofte, training advisor for Mobil Producing Texas and New Mexico, from Houston led the seminar.

"Mobil Oil sees the Snyder area as important," Tofte said in giving a reason for the seminar. "It is an important part of the company, so we are willing to help it improve."

"We want our people to be better negotiators and to learn to protect themselves," he continued. "The people were selected by the company because they are important. It is an honor to be selected," the leader noted. "We know that they are good at their jobs and we want to make them better."

The seminar discussed various techniques of negotiating and planning and agreement.

Mobil Oil has been conducting this type of seminar for its employees in all areas of its production.

TOP MANAGEMENT-Attending the Mobil-Oil employee negotiating seminar this week were two of the top managers for this area. Shown, left, is Jesse W. Hargis of Houston, production manager for the northern area, and Eddie Epley, new manager for the Snyder area. Epley is coming to Snyder from Denver, Colo., and will begin his new job Oct. 1.

Jim Thorpe's Daughter Seeking To Clear Name

By VERN BOATNER

The Arizona Republic. PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—At about 6:30 a.m. on May 18, 1888, in a one-room cabin south of the town of Bellemont on the banks of the North Fork River in Oklahoma Territory, an Indian child was born.

The boy was of the Sac and Fox tribe and could trace his lineage back to the fierce warrior chief, Black Hawk, who had so bloodily defended his lands against the onrushing pioneers.

The mother named the boy Wa-tho-huck, which meant 'Bright Path.' The world would come to know him as Jim Thorpe, the greatest all-round athlete of modern times.

But it also would come to know him as a center of dark controversy that has disturbed his daughter Charlotte, a child of her father's first marriage, more than a little. Disabled and with plenty of free time on her hands, she is devoted to clearing his name.

Thorpe won both the pentathlon and decathlon at the 1912 Olympics in Stockholm, Sweden. But he was stripped of his medals and his name was removed from the record books after it was discovered he had played minor league baseball during the summers of 1909-10.

He was branded a professional for accepting $15 a week to play ball at Rocky Mount and Fayetteville, N.C.

It took those striving for Thorpe's reinstatement as an amateur 60 years before the Amateur Athletic Union restored his amateur status.

By then, Thorpe was dead. He died of a heart attack March 28, 1953.

Efforts to get Thorpe's medals and trophies returned and his name reinstated in the Olympic record books were dealt a blow last March when Lord Killanin, then president of the International Olympic Committee, said, "Nobody can do anything about it after all these years."

"Somebody can, and somebody will," said Ms. Thorpe, who was instrumental in the creation of the Olympic Justice for Jim Thorpe Foundation.

The foundation, she explained, is not interested in the return or duplication of the two gold medals, which were presented to the runners-up in the decathlon and pentathlon.

But she does want the two trophies presented to Thorpe, one by King Gustav V of Sweden and the other on behalf of Czar Nicholas II of Russia. The trophies now reside in the Olympic museum in Lausanne, Switzerland.

Her aim is to display the trophies at the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles, then put them on a national tour and, finally, to present them to the Smithsonian Institution.

The controversy had its roots in 1907, when Glen S. "Pop" Warner already was recruiting from coast-to-coast for his athletic teams at Carlisle, Pa., Indian School.

Thorpe didn't play much that first year but was almost unstoppable in 1908 as the Indians met the best teams in the East.

By then, he stood 5-foot-11 and weighed about 190 pounds. He was a one-man track team for Warner. It was nothing for him to win five events.

Thorpe did not return to school in 1909-10, and it was during this period that he ran afoul of the amateur rule. He always maintained he didn't know he was violating any rules, and he talked openly about his baseball experiences after returning to school.

Thorpe made everybody's All-America team in 1911-12 as tiny Carlisle became a national power. The Indians lost just one game each season.

Thorpe, whose exploits were well known by then, easily made the Olympic team. Just as easily, he dominated the pentathlon and decathlon.

In January 1913, the storm broke over Thorpe's head. He was asked only to return the medals, but he angrily shipped back the trophies also.

On Feb. 1, 1913, he signed with the New York Giants baseball team. Thorpe lasted six years in the majors, winding up his career at Akron, Ohio, in 1928 when he was 40.

Throughout this period, he had been playing professional football in the winter, starting with the Canton Bulldogs in 1915 for the then-erformous sum of $250 a game.

Thorpe was in a class by himself in pro football. He finally retired in 1929.

He found fame disappeared quickly. He bounced from one job to another, serving as a dance marathon referee, emceed a cross-country marathon, was a painter and played bit parts in movies. During the Depression, he served as a laborer for 50 cents an hour.

He was to have been buried in Shawnee, Okla. But when the governor vetoed a bill appropriating money for a memorial, Thorpe's third wife angrily switched the burial to what is now known as Jim Thorpe, Pa.

An important message for customers of Texas Electric:

Electricity will cost more next year, partly because our biggest contract for low-cost natural gas expires this December.

Next year, the gas we'll need to use to make your electricity will cost more. The chart below shows how this will affect your electric bill.

Check your bill; if you use this many kilowatt hours	Expiration of low-cost gas contract will add about
500	$ 4.00
750	6.00
1000	8.00
1500	12.00
2000	16.00
3000	24.00

We're helping hold down costs by making as much electricity as possible in plants built to use lignite coal—a cheaper fuel.

You can help hold down your bill by conserving. Learn how at one of our Operation Tighten-Up workshops. Call us for information on a workshop in your neighborhood.

2-A Stages Final Non-District Tilts

Last week's Dawson 55, Grady 22 score leaves three District 2-A six-man teams with unbeaten records three weeks deep into the 1980 football season. Still, the loop states a 12-7 record over outside foes.

Highland, Ira and Trent remain as the only unbeaten 2-A teams going into the fourth week - the final week before district competition begins. Grady's loss to Dawson was its first of the season, while Borden County rapped Wellman to win its second straight game. Both McCaulley and Hermleigh are still searching for their initial victories of the year.

For the second straight week powerful Trent's

Gorillas have shut out their opponent. The Gorillas, who take on Paint Rock this week, nailed Paint Creek 48-0 in their opener, then blasted Divide 46-0 last Friday. They can expect another easy time of it against Paint Rock this time around, a 51-22 loser to Highland.

Meanwhile, the Hornets continue to win. Highland has scored 158 points this year, an average of 52.7, while giving up only 40, or a 13.3 average. Highland is open this week, as are Grady and Hermleigh.

Ira, the only other 3-0 team along with Highland and Trent is 2-0 recovered from its squeaker over Lueders-Avoca a week ago (60-56), to slam Loop 52-7. The Bulldogs have scored to the fashion of 60.3 points per outing in three games. This Friday, Ira hosts rival Christoval, a 48-0 loser to Highland in its opener, but who ripped Lueders-Avoca 67-36 last week.

Borden County, on fire after losing its opener to state-runnerup Cotton Center, has seared its last two opponents, including Wellman, 34-6. The Coyotes have had perhaps the toughest three opponents of any 2-A team thus far. They'll be hoping Blackwell, a 36-28 winner over Hermleigh, will be easier pickings when they bus that direction Friday.

Hermleigh, off this week, had its homecoming spoiled by the Hornets of Blackwell, but Coach Clarence Spieker can look to some good things out of that matchup. His Cardinals lost four first-half fumbles and trailed 29-0 at the half before outscoring the visitors 28-7 in the last two quarters.

It was a question of too little, too late, but it shows the Cards are improving steadily.

Sideline Glances...

Michigan Loses; So Does Tech

By BILL McCLELLAN

THIS WEEK'S picks promise to be harder than last week's, which apparently would have been a cake-walk for some without the upsets of Snyder and Fort Stockton. Mickey Baird, for instance, missed only three, and I understand our Football Contest winner missed only two.

Not so for this prognosticator, who not only missed Sweetwater-Snyder and Lamesa-Fort Stockton, but also Hermleigh-Blackwell, Miami-Houston and Oakland-Washington. That's 15 right, five wrong for a .750 figure, bringing the season's total to 41 right, 19 wrong for a .683. Another 15-5 week would put me at 70 percent for the year; not fantastic unless you've watched my predictions for the past several years. If so, you realize I'm not doing quite as poorly as usual. Don't worry, there is still plenty of time left.

HERE WE go into week number four:

- Lamesa's Tornadoes have jumped out to a 2-1 record with last week's upset of Fort Stockton. Unfortunately however, the yellow brick road leads too close to the wicked witch's castle. ANDREWS 32, LAMESA 7.
- Fort Stockton and Snyder have both been upset victims this year. Fortunately for the Tigers, they are open this week and can recuperate. FORT STOCKTON CAN'T... PECOS 28, FT. STOCKTON 12.
- Odessa Ector opens the district season after an extra week's rest. The Eagles still need more time. MONAHANS 20, ECTOR 6.
- Sweetwater stunned Snyder last week, 18-7. The celebrating ends Friday night however. LAKEVIEW 21, SWEETWATER 17.
- Last year Loop stopped Ira 26-22. This year the Bulldogs got revenge, 52-7. Did you remember Christoval also beat the 'Dogs 49-34? Ira does. BULLDOGS 42, CHRISTOVAL 14.
- Blackwell spoiled Hermleigh's homecoming last weekend, but Friday won't be a black day for Borden County. COYOTES 50, HORNETS 12.
- There's no question about this one... GEORGIA 48, TCU 20.
- Or this one, either... ARKANSAS 35, TULSA 16.
- The best of the SWC matchups pits Texas Tech and Baylor. Question: Is Tech for real? Answer: Nope. Pick it... BAYLOR 28, TECH 21.
- LSU isn't as strong as it has been in the past. Rice may be better, though. They're still miles apart... LSU 27, RICE 14.
- SMU's Mike Ford is getting easy warm up work after missing last season. No sweat here either... SMU 35, UT-ARLINGTON 14.
- Texas had to rally to overcome Utah State last week. They've learned a lesson. HORNS 42, OREGON STATE 10.
- Member when they called UH "Cougar High"? Well, they're starting too again. The Cougars finally bite back with an improved passing game... HOUSTON 27, NTSU 18.
- When teams like Nebraska and Penn State meet, it's usually a question of defense. Normally Penn State would get the nod in that regard. I'm going with the 'Huskies, however... NEBRASKA 21, PENN STATE 20.
- It's hard to beat Michigan in Michigan, but if anyone can this year it will be the Gamecocks... SO. CAROLINA 24, MICHIGAN 13.
- I've seen several early predictions on this one, and they all point to Auburn. The Vols have shown they're no pushover though. Call it... TENNESSEE 18, AUBURN 14.
- Hopefully the Cowboys aren't back to their old up and down ways of the 1960's. But even a yo-yo can get past Green Bay this year. On a sad note, Dallas' win will mean the end of Bart Star as coach of his former team. DALLAS 27, PACKERS 10.
- How can any team stay high after beating Pittsburgh? Cincinnati can't... OILERS 21, BENGALS 17.
- 19-20. There's an old theory that says sooner or later... Well, the time has come for the Lions and Bills. The last two picks: VIKINGS 17, LIONS 7; and OAKLAND 21, BUFFALO 17.

Ousted Aggies Say 'Bum Rap'

COLLEGE STATION (AP)-One of three Texas A&M football players kicked off the squad because drugs were found in his room says the pills were prescribed by the team physician for a minor heart disturbance he experienced during the summer.

"They took the wrong action against me. They can tell the pills had the doctor's name on it," said sophomore defensive back Darrell Adams of Houston.

Adams, junior linebacker Cal Peveto of Vidor, Texas, and senior defensive back Elroy Steen, a defensive captain, were booted from the team by head coach Tom Wilson for "disciplinary violations."

Peveto and Adams claimed in today's editions of the Beaumont Enterprise and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram that the suspensions were "a bum rap" and that the three players were being made the scapegoats for Texas A&M's poor start this season.

After beating Mississippi 23-20, the Aggies dropped successive 42-0 and 25-9 decisions to Georgia and Penn State.

Adams told Star-Telegram sports writer Jim Carley the rooms of five players, including the three who were suspended, were searched Tuesday after a team meeting Monday night in which Wilson warned that drug use "would not be tolerated."

In the meeting, Adams said, Wilson told the team he was aware that certain players were using drugs and would be caught soon.

Adams said Peveto told him a dorm manager had found a single "black molly," a potent amphetamine, in Peveto's room.

Houston Loses 2-Game Lead

ATLANTA (AP) - Houston's Astros, which held a two-game lead in the National League West division earlier this week, have lost their advantage only two days later.

The Astros, who lost to San Diego 9-4 on Tuesday, fell to Atlanta 4-2 last night. Meanwhile, Los Angeles won over Atlanta 4-2 Tuesday and stopped San Francisco 5-4 yesterday, and Cincinnati, which downed San Francisco 2-1 two days ago, defeated San Diego 7-6 in 10 innings yesterday.

Tonight, Houston stays in Atlanta, San Francisco is at Los Angeles and Cincinnati is at San Diego.

Pinch-hitter Biff Pocoreba delivered a two-out, two-run sixth-inning double to break a 2-2 tie and lift the Braves over the Astros. The Braves had taken a 2-0 lead over the Astros on solo homers by Dale Murphy in the second and Bob Horner in the third.

Houston came back to tie it 2-2 in the fourth on a two-run homer by Alan Ashby.

Two prison sentences were handed down in 132nd District Court Wednesday on probation revocations. William Earl Jackson, 1004 26th St., received a five-year prison sentence. He had initially been charged with burglary following an April 29, 1976, incident in which he is alleged to have broken into a building owned by Frank Biggers. Yesterday that probation was revoked because of a subsequent burglary arrest. In the second charge, he is alleged to have broken into a building Aug. 29 owned by Steve Mason. Terry, Lon Wilson, 4400 Ave. U, was handed a three-year prison term. He had initially been placed on probation on a burglary of a vehicle charge. That charge was revoked yesterday because of two incidents occurring during the summer in which he is alleged to have destroyed mailboxes belonging to E.L. Keller and L.E. Hildreth.

Rehab Round-Up Remains Popular

ABILENE - When the Cattleman's Round-Up for Crippled Children started 21 years ago, it was easier for stockmen to donate cattle to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center than cash.

"It still is," says Brian Richards, manager of the Fort Chabourne Ranch near Bronte and great-grandson of the late Conda H. Wylie, founder of the Cattleman's Round-Up.

Richards is optimistic about the sale and about cattle prices in general, probably because his area has not been as dry as some parts of West Texas. "We're not in as bad a shape as far as moisture goes as around Abilene and other places," he said. "Cattle prices are depressed right now, but will come back and stay up for the next several years. The Round-Up will do well."

Why do cattlemen support the Round-Up through good and bad? "Probably because the facility does the most good for the money spent of anything in our area. People around here see the results, see that the Rehab Center is doing good for people, so they are willing to donate to this when they won't donate to anything else," Richards said.

District Court Sentences Two

Two prison sentences were handed down in 132nd District Court Wednesday on probation revocations.

William Earl Jackson, 1004 26th St., received a five-year prison sentence. He had initially been charged with burglary following an April 29, 1976, incident in which he is alleged to have broken into a building owned by Frank Biggers. Yesterday that probation was revoked because of a subsequent burglary arrest. In the second charge, he is alleged to have broken into a building owned by Steve Mason.

Terry Lon Wilson, 4400 Ave. U, was handed a three-year prison term. He had initially been placed on probation on a burglary of a vehicle charge. That charge was revoked yesterday because of two incidents occurring during the summer in which he is alleged to have destroyed mailboxes belonging to E.L. Keller and L.E. Hildreth.

Hobbs School Issues Report On New Plan

It's not only a new term, but a completely new system for the Hobbs School District, which contracted with Roby Schools to take its secondary pupils this year. However, Howard Gordon, president of the Hobbs School Board, says the district is in good condition, and the board has put together a report that it hopes will answer questions and clarify any issues that have resulted from the change.

The report, as released by Gordon, follows:

1. Our tax rate for 1980 has been lowered from $.67 per $100 valuation to $.60 per $100 valuation on a 100 percent assessment ratio. This will mean a 10 percent decrease in taxes for 1980. We have the lowest tax rate in the county.

2. Oil interests pay 71 percent of the local tax bill for the school. Local landowners pay approximately 29 percent of all the taxes collected.

3. Hobbs has only $25,000 bonded indebtedness unpaid. This is on a 1956 bond series, voted in 1955 to build the main school plant. It will be paid by 1988. All other buildings, including the gym foyer, vocational agriculture building, and bus barn are paid for completely. We do not even owe on any short term loans for buses.

4. Grades 7 through 12 have been contracted to the Roby School for the 1980-81 school year only. This is not a permanent arrangement and can be changed at any time.

5. Roby was specified in the contract because according to UIL Rules of Eligibility, Hobbs school could not contract their students, grades 7-12, to two districts, as each student's UIL eligibility applies only to the school collecting transportation funds on that student. And the transportation funds can only be designated to one school, according to the Texas Education Agency, Transportation Division.

6. Hobbs granted Rotan School permission to run the Rotan school bus to Scott's corner to pick up the 3 students in grades 7-12 who have transferred to Rotan. This is for the 1980-81 school year only.

7. According to TEA, Transportation Division, all elementary students, grades K-6, who have legally transferred into another school district, must provide their own transportation. This law, which has been in effect and in practice for several years, affects any elementary transfer students that attend Roby also, not only those transferring into Rotan.

8. Roby school buses Hobbs students, grades 7-12, from Hobbs school to Roby and then back to Hobbs again, arriving each evening at 4 p.m.

9. Hobbs has three regular morning and evening bus routes and one bus that is run only in the evening to deliver to their homes students, grades 7-12, that come in on the 4 p.m. bus.

10. Our school plant is in excellent condition. This summer we closed in and insulated all the windows, to conserve energy and save on our cost of utilities. New refrigerated heating and cooling units have been installed also. Paneling was installed inside the classroom windows and all outside trim was repainted.

11. Our classrooms are large and attractive. We believe we have provided a pleasant teaching atmosphere for both teachers and students. Teachers have an unusually well-stocked supply of audio-visual equipment and related materials and teaching equipment and materials.

12. We have a certified librarian, Mrs. Kathleen Hale, who holds library classes for the children daily, introducing students to the best literature, the classics, art, and methods of research. A good library is essential to the complete learning process. We have on hand more than 4,000 volumes falling in every category of the Dewey Decimal System, as well as an excellent collection of audio-visual aids, including filmstrips, many records, and cassettes. Our library is up-dated with new purchases each year.

13. We have 34 children enrolled this year - 68 percent Anglo, 32 percent Spanish. There are 4 full-time teachers, one 1/2-day teacher, one librarian, and one teacher's aide on our teaching staff. All teachers are well-qualified and do a very good job. We are proud of them all.

14. Our teaching program encompasses Kindergarten through grade 6. We can provide individualized instruction in a way that teachers who have 30 or 40 in a classroom can only dream of. We have the services of a nurse for health care. A counselor, Pat Hamric, is available for guidance, counseling, testing, consultation with teachers, students and parents. Hobbs has a regular speech therapist available for students with speaking problems. Special education services, including language and learning disabilities, are handled by one of our own staff working with the Tri-County Education Co-op.

15. Any kind of testing is available for any type of problem a student may have through the Tri-County Co-op and the Education Service Center, Reg. 14, the same sources used by other school in this county. We can provide anything for educational enrichment, as well as help with problems of various kinds, that any school in the county can - and in most cases, can do it better, for we have more time to spend with each student.

16. We also have good discipline in the classroom and our teachers are as concerned with character building and good manners as they are with reading, writing, and arithmetic.

17. Every effort is made to enlarge our children's world, to provide the best of all possible teaching environments in order to expose children to what they need in order to become well-rounded, knowledgeable citizens.

18. Our high school graduates have adjusted to college and university life, professional careers, business, home and family, with ease. We number many successful businessmen and women among our graduates - also teachers, doctors, veterinarians, coaches, athletes. (See Hobbs Page 3B)

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Don't overdo exercise

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a stuffed-up, gold-like feeling whenever I don't work out. I've been running, exercising and participating in sports since I was a child. When I do work out, I spit up a great deal of mucus. Sometimes when I run my lungs hurt. I have had X-rays and a bronchoscope but they haven't detected anything wrong.

I work out nearly every day. My workout consists of stretching exercises, one-and-a-half to two-and-a-half miles of running, calisthenics for 15 minutes, basketball for 15 to 45 minutes, swimming continuously for 18 minutes and 15 minutes in the Jacuzzi. Do you think it is wise for me to continue my present program? I'm 53 years old, 6 feet tall and 175 pounds. I do not smoke and I drink only eight or 12 times per year. In addition, each summer I compete in a track and field program in which I race 440- and 100-yard dashes and participate in field events. I would appreciate your comments.

DEAR READER — I'm having trouble telling whether you're bragging or complaining. It sounds to me like you're doing just great. The important thing to avoid in exercise, though, is overdoing it. But I think that if you've been exercising at high levels from the time you were a child and continue it, you're less likely to have difficulty from overexercising.

The person who has not trained as you have and starts from scratch as an adult or at middle age and tries to become fit overnight, or extends himself beyond his capability, is the person who really gets into trouble.

I'm not sure why you are spitting up mucus. You did the correct thing in having a good medical evaluation. Probably it's not your lungs that hurt but the muscles in your chest that do from vigorous physical exercise, that might be an indication that you're overdoing it a little bit.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 15-12, Exercise Wise, because it contains a list of different fallacies people have about exercise that will be of interest to you. For example, it's not true that you have to exercise vigorously to get benefits from exercise. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

My best advice to you would be not to push yourself to peak effort. Enjoy your exercise without becoming excessively tired. That may require you to cut back a little bit. One of the things you mentioned which I'm not too fond of is your 440-yard and 100-yard dash. It's that sudden massive speed effort that usually gets people into trouble.

Calls Screened For Top Brass

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP) — If you find yourself on "hold," chances are you've just placed a call to someone high on the corporate ladder, according to a survey that showed some 98 percent of senior-level executives have their secretaries screen calls for them.

The study, conducted by AMPAD, a manufacturer of message pads, revealed this was true for all industries across the board, but below the top executive level, type of business and job function may be more of a deciding factor in telephone screening than rank.

The joggers who have gotten into trouble, for example, are usually those who are trying to improve their time rather than their distance. Oddly, some people really are allergic to exercise. There are cases of people breaking out in hives after exertion. I don't know whether that has anything to do with your mucus production after exertion. Prolonged exercise may also precipitate an attack of asthma in asthmatics. If you happen to have some degree of allergic response to exercise your doctor can give you some antihistamine to take before vigorous exercise, that might help the mucus problem.

Says Board Member...

Insurance Companies Too Arrogant

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP)—Insurance company executives need to dispel an "aura of arrogance" when deciding whom to accept or reject as policyholders, a State Insurance Board member warns.

The observations came from board member Lyndon Olson Jr. at a hearing on alleged insurance company discrimination against the elderly and handicapped.

A preliminary report indicates both the elderly and the handicapped believe they are unfairly and arbitrarily denied coverage, particularly automobile policies. The report was based on a mail survey and on hearings last winter.

Harold Haun, an Employers Casualty executive who heads the state's assigned risk pool, said companies and agents evaluate each applicant separately and base decisions on their "informed judgment."

"In the vast majority of cases, there is consideration given to the fact situation. It is not an arbitrary punch of the button," he said.

Haun also said, "The insurance business is extremely complex and does not lend itself to being analyzed by questionnaire or by what happens within an individual company."

Olson agreed with Haun that the problem cannot be solved by regulation and that persons must be evaluated individually, but "somehow we have got to get this thing out so that people know there is an interest coming from your side as well as the state."

"That's a 'Catch-22' situation," he said of the coverage selection process. "It is that very process that has an aura of arrogance to the people of this state. It is a communication problem."

The 1979 Legislature ordered the board's study in response to complaints from the elderly and the handicapped.

Some handicapped and over-65 drivers end up in the assigned risk pool because companies will not cover them voluntarily, but the pool provides only minimal liability coverage.

Olson expressed concern that the 1979 Legislature failed to pass a bill allowing the pool to offer higher limits of liability as well as collision and comprehensive coverage.

Richard Geiger of Dallas, attorney for a number of insurance trade associations, said the major auto insurers supported the bill, which died in the House Insurance Committee.

"I think you know where the opposition came from. It was the county mutuals," Geiger said.

County mutuals offer collision insurance and expanded liability coverage at unregulated prices to drivers who cannot obtain it from regulated companies.

It is not unusual to find elementary schools, grades K-6 or K-8. According to the Public School Directory there were 91 K-8 schools listed for the

NBC Shoved To Top Of Heap By 'Shogun'

NEW YORK (AP) - The five episodes of "Shogun" were the most-watched prime-time programs for the week ending Sept. 21, and the miniseries' success contributed to NBC's best week ever in the ratings, according to figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. NBC listed eight of the week's 10 highest-rated programs, including "Real People" in sixth place, "Games People Play" ninth and "Quincy, M.E." 10th.

The network's average rating for the week was 26.3, with ABC a distant second at 14.9 and CBS third at 14.4. The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 26.3 percent of the homes in the country with television were tuned to BC.

NBC's average was second only to the 31.5 for ABC during the broadcast of "Roots" in January 1977. NBC's previous high - 25.9 - came during World Series week, Oct. 9-15, 1978.

The average rating for "Shogun" was 32.6, the highest for any miniseries save "Roots."

In addition to scoring for NBC, "Shogun" effectively wiped out the competition. CBS and ABC offered first-run, made-for-TV movies opposite the miniseries, and both hit bottom. "Once Upon a Spy" on ABC was the week's lowest-rated show, 51st, just ahead of "Rodeo Girl" on CBS, which tied with a repeat of "Benji at Work" on ABC.

Also among the week's five lowest-rated programs was ABC's "20-20," in 47th place, and "The Incredible Hulk" on CBS, 48th.

NBC finished the 1979-80 season in third place, as it had the season before, but had shown signs it was ready to challenge the leaders. The network decided to broadcast "Shogun" in what would have been the first week of the 1980-81 season, even though fall programming has been delayed by the actors strike that began July 21.

Part III of "Shogun," Wednesday night, was the week's highest-rated show at 36.9. Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with television, 36.9 percent saw at least part of the episode.

Immediately after "Shogun," NBC began rebroadcast of the miniseries "Centennial," and the opening installment was No. 26 for the week. Part II was 19th in the ratings.

ABC picked up points, meanwhile, with the first TV showing of the movie "Midnight Express," in 11th place opposite the Ronald Reagan-John Anderson presidential debate carried by both CBS and NBC and, as a non-sponsored program, not rated.

Here are the week's 10 highest-rated shows:

"Shogun," Part III, with a rating of 36.9 representing 28.7 million homes, "Shogun," Part IV, 35.6 or 27.7 million, "Shogun," Part I, 29.5 or 23 million, and "Real People," 25.5 or 19.6 million, all NBC; "Guinness Book of World Records," ABC, and "60 Minutes," CBS, both 22.1 or 17.2 million, and "Games People Play,"

21.5 or 16.7 million, and "Quincy, M.E.," 21.4 or 16.6 million, both NBC.

Americans May Swap To LPG

NEW YORK (AP) - Rising gasoline prices may force American motorists to emulate many European drivers - using bottled gas as a cheap means of locomotion for the family car.

Bottled gas or propane or liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) was once considered a useless by-product of oil production and is in plentiful supply.

As a result some motorists are converting their cars to a dual gasoline-LPG carburetor so that either fuel may be used, according to James C. Hollingsworth, LPG sales manager for Borg-Warner, a division of which has been making the dual carburetors for more than 40 years.

Ranch Styled Beauty

HOME DESIGN

By Larry Farnsworth

The good lines of this attractive 1190 square foot two bedroom ranch styled home are complimented perfectly by its good floor plan. This is a house to be lived in with pleasure and looked at with pleasure as well.

Note that marvelous long, low look, attractively punctuated by the recessed front door, the contrasting projection of the living room's delightful bay window and the set back garage. And note also that good looking brick trim on the lower walls.

Model B1190 has an excellent traffic pattern established by its charming entry and central hall. A distinctive wrought iron rail separates entry and living room. And look at that imposing fireplace. Its charming raised hearth spans one full wall of the room, leaving only enough space for that convenient inside garage door.

The country kitchen is at the back of the house, with sliding glass doors in its dining area leading to the rear yard. This is a charming room for dining, just plain relaxing and for food preparation as well. Note the excellent U-shaped kitchen work area and see the bonus it provides - a wonderful built-in barbecue.

Right beside the country kitchen and also convenient to the bedrooms and baths is the utility room. Its location is designed to make laundry gathering as easy and convenient as laundry doing for the lucky homemaker who lives in this efficiently planned home.

Note, too, how the main and master bedroom baths are lined up next to the utility room laundry to achieve the most efficient and economical plumbing installation.

The two bedrooms of this home are both big and both well equipped with closet space. That master bedroom walk-in wardrobe is especially roomy.

All in all, this house is designed to please even the most hard-to-please homeowner.

Little Opportunity For Part-Timers

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) - Part-time workers now number in the tens of millions.

According to figures released by the International

Labor Organization, a great majority of such workers are married women, but young people in their early 20s and men in their mid-50s are increasingly joining their ranks. Their wages are generally low and career prospects, if any, are dim. They are the first to be fired in an economic squeeze. According to the I.L.O., there are over 11 million part-time workers in the non-agricultural sector of the United States economy.

Dear Abby

Deathbed Promise: Take With Grain of Aspirin

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister died a few years back after a lengthy illness. Her husband (I'll call him Ed) promised her on her deathbed that he would never marry again.

Our close-knit group always paired Ed off with a widow in our group, and we still feel that she was sufficient company for him. Lately we've heard that Ed has been seeing another widow. In fact, she hadn't been a widow very long when their friendship began. We are all very upset because we heard that she is the type who won't let go until she marries him. That wouldn't be fair to the memory of his dear, departed wife, nor to his relatives and close friends. What should we say to Ed about this?

MIDWEST HEADACHE

DEAR HEADACHE: Don't say anything. Most deathbed promises are made under severe emotional stress, and should be taken with a grain of aspirin. The memory of Ed's dear, departed wife will in no way be desecrated should Ed find happiness in another marriage. And those who truly love him will rejoice.

DEAR ABBY: I started to go to a new young dentist who shares an office with another dentist. I am pleased with his work, but here's the problem.

The first time I was in the dentist's chair, the other dentist came in a couple of times and started a conversation with my dentist that had nothing to do with dentistry.

The next time I was in the chair, this other dentist was not working, but he came in attired in tennis shorts and had his young son with him, and they both made small talk with my dentist while he was working on me.

But yesterday was very upsetting when the other dentist and his wife, both (in shorts) came in, and the wife carried on a long conversation in a very loud voice with the dental assistant who was helping my dentist.

Abby, when I am in the dentist's chair, I think I deserve my dentist's total attention as well as complete privacy.

Am I expecting too much? And how should this be handled? No names please, as this is a small town and we are in business.

UNHAPPY PATIENT

DEAR PATIENT: You are not expecting too much. It would be a kindness to tell this young, inexperienced dentist that you resent the intrusions and lack of privacy. If he's wise, he'll be grateful for the criticism and do something about it. If not, find a dentist who runs a more professional office.

DEAR ABBY: There was a very important message in the letter from a woman who turned up pregnant after her husband had a vasectomy but failed to go back to his doctor for a final check.

Couples should continue using birth control methods until the seminal fluid is completely free from all those little baby-making bugs. This may take several months following a vasectomy.

I personally know of one divorce because two months after the husband had a vasectomy, his wife turned up pregnant, and he just "knew" he couldn't have fathered a child. (He could.)

SPERM COUNTER

DEAR COUNTER: Thanks for warning all prospective "vasectomites" to return to their doctors until they get the "all clear" signal.

Do you wish you had more friends? Get Abby's booklet, "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to: Abby, Popularity, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Suspect Botulism Use Snyder Daily News Classified Ads 573-5486

In Duck Deaths

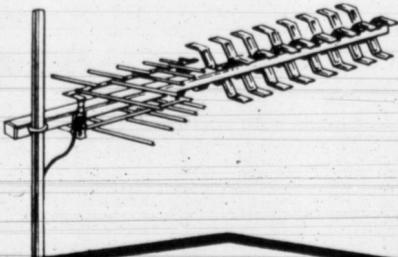

GALVESTON (AP) - Investigators said they suspect 30 ducks found last week on the West Galveston shore died of botulism.

One of the ducks discovered at Offats Bayou on Teichman Point near the end of the causeway has been sent to the Texas A&M Animal Disease Diagnostic Center at College Station for tests.

Galveston County Extension Agent Joe Doby said investigators suspected botulism - or acute food poisoning - because the ducks lacked coordination in their wings and legs.

Doby said the ducks probably contracted the disease by eating maggots or insects feeding on dead animals or from consuming decaying vegetation.

At Fund-Raising Dinner...

Carter Blooper Spoils Game Plan

By MICHAEL PUTZEL, Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) -

Part of a White House advance man's job is to give the fast-traveling president a local item or two he can insert in his speech to make it appear he's familiar with the area he's visiting and aware of his listeners' concerns.

But last week in Houston, President Carter - never known for his fascination with spectator sports - mistook a "b" for a "t" and spoiled the best-laid plans of a vigilant staff.

"I would like you to know that I'm aware of some of your pressing local problems," Carter told a $2,500-a-plate fund-raising luncheon. "As soon as they get their timing down with Statler and his receivers, they'll be winning games every week and put Houston back in the top where you belong. The Oilers are

Rule At UT Challenged

AUSTIN (AP) - A former University of Texas clerk who wants his job back has challenged in court a regents rule that requires the automatic dismissal of any UT employee who is convicted of a drug-related offense.

The American Civil Liberties Foundation of Texas, Inc., filed suit in federal court Tuesday on behalf of Kurt Gregory, alleging the rule is unconstitutional.

The suit sought to reinstate Gregory in his job or a similar job with back pay and asked for "appropriate" monetary damages.

The suit said Gregory went to work for the university in June 1977 and was promoted to clerk in the physical plant in March 1978. In April 1979, Gregory pleaded guilty to possession of LSD and was sentenced to three years' probation and fined $350.

He was dismissed under a regents' rule, which provides:

"Any employee ... who is placed on probation for or finally convicted of the illegal use, possession, or sale of a drug or narcotic, shall be dismissed as an employee, regardless of whether or not the illegal act that gave rise to the conviction was committed on the campus ..."

Germany ratified the Locarno Pact, guaranteeing the French frontier, in 1925.

a great team, Houston is a great city, and I'm grateful to all of you."

Members of the audience stared blankly at the president; no sign of recognition on their faces. All except one advance man, who cringed.

Carter was referring to the pro football Oilers' new quarterback, Ken Stabler, who had problems during Houston's opening game loss against Pittsburgh with his receivers dropping passes.

As if that weren't bad enough, one of those in the well-heeled audience was Joe Sambito, a relief pitcher for the Houston Astros baseball team, which is leading the National League West division.

"I can't believe he talked about the Oilers and didn't say anything about us," Sambito said afterward. The major league baseball player said he is a former Democrat now registered as an independent who was invited to see the president as a guest of two sports agents.

When he reached his home state of Georgia later in that campaign trip, Carter didn't need any help from his advance staff.

Before attending the dedication of the new Hartsfield Atlanta International Airport terminal, the president was given a tour of the facility's subways, moving sidewalks and other modern "people movers" designed to speed passengers to their flights.

"When I was running for governor and later serving as governor, when I was running for president, I promised myself that one of the first things I would help with was the improvement of the Atlanta airport," Carter told airport officials and employees at the dedication ceremony. "I don't know if you all know where I learned how to jog.

"It was in the old airport."

The modern air terminal, however, hasn't exactly made airport jogging obsolete. As Carter walked briskly from the ceremony to board Air Force One and become the first passenger to use the ultra-modern terminal, the White House staff and press corps traveling with him had to grab their bags and run several hundred yards to the chartered jet accompanying the president.

'Reality' Has Come To Afternoon Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Reality, heaven help us, has come to afternoon television. Not real reality, but television's reality. Reality that substitutes contrivance for human drama, weird for poignance.

"Reality" with quotes around it. "Real People" reality. As network prime-time is already thick with the stuff, it figured that someone would franchise the "Real People" product for off-network syndication. Someone has. "World of People" is the result.

"World of People" was devised by Bill Hillier, an expert at making synthetic "news-people" programs. While at Westinghouse Broadcasting, he invented those one-size-fits-all information magazine shows, "PM Magazine" and "Evening Magazine," which gave smaller independents the same empty-headed fluff the big boys were selling.

"World of People" is produced in Marin County, Calif. It is different from the long, gray line of network reality shows.

Hillier maintains, because it doesn't utilize a studio audience, film segments or a laugh track. And the show's six "presenters" are based in three regional production centers.

He quibbles. "World of People" bears the family traits of its prime-time cousins — froth and frolic, an inclination to caricature and an aversion to substance. For light, hit-and-run amusement, though, "World of People" is on par with its contemporaries.

The daily 30-minute show, syndicated in 44 markets, including Boston, Los Angeles and San Francisco, began this week. The show's publicity sheet promised to "take viewers into the dramatic moments of people's lives and show the fascinating things people do for fun, for fame, for love, or the challenge of just doing it!"

Where have we heard that spiel before? Some of the fun and challenge offered in the first week included a Bill Blass fashion show (or was it a long commercial?) and a trip to Gilley's bar in Pasadena, Texas of "Urban Cowboy" fame, a trek I fear all television talk-variety-information-people shows will feel bound to make.

There was a Frisbee contest for dogs and a feature on women who wrestle in mud. The subject of this latter segment was a former homecoming queen named Tanya who grew up to work in a bank and lead a nice, normal life — except for her mud-wrestling.

In the dark streets of the mud-wrestling world, she is known as Terrible Tanya, and she sports a tattoo on her arm. Oh, the irony of it all.

The segment's presenter, Jan D'Atri, asks Terrible Tanya the obvious question: "Jan: 'Tanya, what is it about mud that appeals to you?'"

TT: "I've been quoted as saying we're ladies, but we're animals in the mud."

At Site Near Lewisville...

Evidence Sought In Artifacts On Early Habitation By Man

LEWISVILLE (AP) — Artifacts found beneath Lake Lewisville could provide crucial evidence in a long-running controversy about whether the area is the oldest known site of human habitation in the Western Hemisphere, archaeologists say.

Twenty-three round, pit-like hearths were discovered at the lake in the 1950s while a dam was being constructed. Initial dating seemed to indicate the site was 40,000 years old, but subsequent tests showed samples used for testing actually were pieces of lignite.

"Lignite coal, an organic carbon which could be millions of years old before it was put there, gave us the date in excess of 40,000 years," said Dennis Stanford of the Smithsonian Institution.

The controversy grew when a Clovis spear point, dating back only about 12,000 years, also was found at the lake.

The site was covered by the reservoir until the 1978 drought uncovered part of it for a few months. An even larger piece of land was uncovered by the 1980 drought.

Stanford says he strongly believes man has lived on this continent longer than evidence indicates.

"If we can find the Clovis artifacts or evidence of occupation, we can settle the controversy," he said.

"We believe the hearths were man-made because we can't think of any other way to get coal in nice, round hearths," said Stanford, who has participated in digs from Alaska to Argentina.

The archaeologist said the "best evidence" indicates the area, a few miles north of Dallas, is older than 40,000 years.

"We are trying to find other Clovis artifacts. If we can't find anything, we're still in the same boat. If we find Clovis artifacts, we've settled the controversy on whether this is the earliest known site in the New World."

Stanford and his crew arrived here a week ago and began cleaning out sandbags left in 1978-79 to protect excavations made then.

Suit Claims Bottom Fell From Casket

TYLER (AP) — A Texas woman who says the underside of her husband's coffin gave way and the body dropped out head first has filed a $1.25 million lawsuit against a Georgia coffin maker.

Thelma Rawlinson and her two daughters, all of Jacksonville, contend that the body of Dallas L. Rawlinson slid out as pallbearers were carrying it to a gravesite on July 15, 1979.

Pallbearers tried, unsuccessfully, to cover the body with the top of the coffin, they contend.

The plaintiffs contend they will "always be humiliated by the incident when in the presence of friends and relatives who witnessed the funeral."

The suit, filed in federal court here, says employees of the Topson Funeral Home of Jacksonville had to get another casket.

The minister in charge of the service had to leave before another casket could be located, the suit claims, and another minister finished the service.

The suit asks for $1.25 million in damages from the Roccoa Casket Co. of Toccoa, Ga., for alleged "grievous injury" to the family's emotions.

Debate on homosexuality

By Karen Blaker, Ph.D.

DEAR DR. BLAKER — My husband and I both have degrees in psychology, and we wish to differ with you on the subject of homosexuality.

We do not believe homosexuals deserve any respect whatsoever. If you will read your Bible, you will find it was just such behavior that provoked God to bring destruction upon the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah.

Today, in 1980, God has not changed his mind about homosexuality.

DEAR DR. BLAKER — Why do you think homosexuals deserve dignity and respect? They are not normal and a lot of them don't even want to be normal.

And how can you say they are not influencing our children? Would you want one of your children or someone else in your family to be gay?

It's people like you who are encouraging the queers to come out of the closet and become a bigger and bigger group. I hope you lose plenty of readers in the South. We are working on it.

DEAR READERS — My views on homosexuality are liberal, and I'm not surprised by the vehement reaction to some of my columns on this subject.

To you who use the Bible to justify your attitudes toward homosexuals, I suggest that you take the log out of your own eye before trying to take the speck out of your neighbor's. We would all do better to devote our energies to making our own lives more exemplary rather than throwing stones at others.

DEAR DR. BLAKER — As the mother of a homosexual, I have appreciated your consistently fair and always helpful approach to the subject.

Because my son came out of the closet several years ago, my husband and I have been subjected to a long sequence of ghastly ramifications from neighbors and others we thought were our friends. We were kicked out of one club and made to feel unwelcome at many gatherings.

Our only comfort has come from meeting with other parents of gays, sharing experiences and reassuring ourselves that we did the best we could in raising our children. We try to lay the issue to rest by accepting that our sons and daughters must now lead their own lives and bear the burdens of the choice they have made.

Thank you for giving us some comfort.

DEAR READER — Compassion for human differences is one of the greatest gifts we can give each other. And it costs so little.

I'm glad if my comments have helped give you some peace of mind. Thank you for writing.

Write to Dr. Blaker in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 475, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Volume of mail prohibits personal replies, but questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns.
