Maintenance chief helps keep 'em flying

by TSgt. Judy Bivens
public affairs division

"Keep 'em flying—safely" is the motto that sums up the mission for aircraft maintenance people, the new deputy commander for maintenance says.

Colonel Dale talks about assignment to Reese

"Those four words tell why we're in the business," says Col. Robert R. Dale Jr. He lives and works by the motto that has seen him through an aircraft maintenance career that began in 1963.

"Exciting" is the single word Colonel Dale uses to describe his assignment as head of the Reese maintenance complex—the best in Air Training Command for 1983. "I'm impressed by the professionalism and the sense of pride and achievement throughout the base," he says.

That sense of pride and achievement is evident in the maintenance complex, which is now competing with two other bases for the Daedalian Award, signifying the best in the Air Force. "There's always room for improvement," says the maintenance chief. "I've told my staff not to change things just because they have a new DCM, but to always be alert as to how to improve and do things better. It's those new ideas that keep an outfit alive and vital."

But Colonel Dale says new ideas won't be his major concern. "My biggest problem will be getting out of the way," he said with a smile, referring to the people in his organization who make things happen instead of waiting for them to happen.

That enthusiasm, he says, is reflected in the various self-help projects he's seen during his short time on base. "People here work hard, but they have a lot of fun at it, too," the colonel says.

Colonel Dale's career also has been filled with a lot of hard work and fun, he says.

He brings with him to the job experience gained through the ranks of the aircraft maintenance officer. "I've held every job you can hold in aircraft maintenance—from shift worker to maintenance control to squadron commander to DCM, and all the jobs in between."

In addition to maintenance experience in Strategic Air Command, Pacific Air Force and ATC, Colonel Dale served a career broadening tour at the Air Force Academy from 1968-72. His assignment to the Academy came after a year-long stint with General Dynamics in Fort Worth, Texas. The assignment, in the Education With Industry program, gave him the opportunity to work in production of the F-111.

In 1982 Colonel Dale finished a short tour as the chief of maintenance at Taegu Air Station, Korea, and was assigned to the 12th Flying Training Wing at Randolph AFB, Texas, where he served as assistant DCM until his arrival here last month.

"Reese has a real sense of 'family' and 'community,'" says the colonel. He and his wife, Diane, have two daughters who are college students. Rebecca is a graduate student at the University of Texas at Austin and Catherine is a freshman at Southwestern University at Georgetown, Texas.

Colonel Dale says that even during his short time on base he has identified the keys to Reese's sense of 'family' and 'community.' "It's loyalty, integrity, pride and teamwork," he says. "People are loyal to their fellow workers and their bosses. They are honest about mistakes and immediately set about correcting them and they are proud of themselves and their work."

"All this adds up to teamwork, he says, and I'm proud to be a member of the Reese team." The part of the team that "keeps 'em flying—safely."

DOD extends service commitment

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—A major step will be taken this summer to try to fill manpower shortages in America's individual ready reserve, announced Department of Defense officials.

The present six-year military service obligation for all service members will be extended to eight years beginning June 1. The decision was made by Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger Feb. 15 in response to projected shortages of 250,000 to 400,000 people in the individual ready reserve, said Reserve affairs officials in Washington.

This change also will increase the manpower of the inactive National Guard Ready Reserve, officials clarified.

People joining the military after May will have the option of four- and six-year enlistment plans followed by individual ready reserve obligations to complete their eight-year commitment. All initial active-duty, guard or reserve enlistments and officer commissionings will be affected.

Presently, about 422,000 members are in the ready reserve. This manpower could not meet mobilization requirements in the event of a full-scale war or national emergency, service officials reported.

"The extended service obligation is expected to increase manpower by 150,000 each year starting in 1990," explained Maj. Robert Norton, Assistant Director for Manpower and Personnel with the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Reserve Affairs.

"In 1978, the manpower in the individual ready reserve and inactive National Guard reached an all-time low of 342,000," said Major Norton. "The Department of Defense has been able to raise the numbers only slightly over the last few years."

"This number of people will never be enough to meet mobilization needs in a full-scale conflict like World War II," he said.

A manpower requirement report presented to Congress in February estimated peak shortages for a major mobilization at 165,000, Army; 112,000, Air Force; 42,000, Navy; and 18,000, Marines.

"Last year, service representatives asked Congress for the authority to increase the cadre in the individual ready reserve and inactive National Guard," explained Navy Capt. Louise Wilmot of the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Military Personnel and Force Management.

"The fiscal 1984 defense authorization bill gave the Secretary of Defense the option to change the service obligation from six to eight years," Captain Wilmot added.

Officials seek historical information

Reese officials are trying to contact base employees—military or civilian—and local citizens aware of past base operations which may have involved disposal of hazardous waste.

The inquiries are part of an intensive records search to be conducted at the base next week by Radian Corporation. The private engineering firm from Austin, Texas is under contract with the Air Force to identify any former disposal sites located on the installation that may contain hazardous materials. The visit is part of an Air Force-wide program to identify the location and status of any inactive waste disposal sites. Studies have already been made at many Air Force bases, with all installations programmed for visits by 1985.

The search conducted by the team will be as intense as historical records will permit, and will also include interviews with people who may have knowledge of past base operations. Local citizens aware of any operations which may have involved disposal of hazardous waste should contact Capt. Gene Smith, base environmental coordinator, at 885-3150. Base officials emphasize that persons who provide information or were involved in past disposal practices will not incur personal liability.

The team will also contact various federal, state and local offices to gather any pertinent data that they may have available.

Should the team identify any disposal sites of potential environmental risk, base officials will request follow-on assistance to determine the exact nature and magnitude of any potential problem. Should an actual problem be identified, the Air Force will initiate actions to decontaminate, contain, or correct the problem.

THE ROUNDUP is an unofficial newspaper published under exclusive written agreement with the 64th Flying Training Wing Commander in the interest of personnel of Reese AFB, Texas, of Air Training Command. It is published by Barron Publications, Inc., a private firm, in no way connected with the Department of the Air Force. Opinions expressed by the publisher and writers in this publication are their own and are not to be considered an official expression of the Department of the Air Force. The appearance of advertisements, including inserts, in this publication does not constitute an endorsement by the Department of the Air Force of products or services advertised.

CARE Line

The CARE Line is prepared by Col. John R. Hullender, 64th Flying Training Wing commander, on a weekly basis. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty telephone number so that a personal reply may be made; however, neither are mandatory. Callers should use the CARE Line only after all possible means to air their views or complaints through the chain of command have been exhausted. The CARE Line number is 885- (Ext.) 3273.

A caller asked why only officers are invited to attend the Dining Out to be held at the Officers' Club March 29.

The event is being sponsored by the Air Force ROTC detachment at Texas Tech University. A dining out is generally considered to be held by either officers or enlisted personnel. Since the Tech ROTC unit has invited the guest speaker to attend the dining out in conjunction with events at the university, they have established that it will be an officers function. This will give future Air Force officers a chance to socialize and become familiar with the active duty force.

The caller was concerned that he would not have an opportunity to hear the guest speaker, NASA astronaut, Lt. Col. Guion Bluford. Since the call was received, Colonel Bluford has had to cancel his visit, but fellow astronaut Col. Frederick D. Gregory will be featured at the dining out. Everyone is invited to hear Colonel Gregory speak at 7 p.m. March 28 in the Texas Tech University Center. Admission is free.

Two callers complained that a local pizza place that advertises delivery on base will not deliver to the hospital.

The Roundup publisher has contacted the restaurant and was told by the manager that several people who had ordered pizza had not been available to take delivery. Possibly workers order the pizzas and then get called away from their stations. This has caused the restaurant to repeatedly lose money on deliveries to the hospital.

The manager has agreed, however, to put the hospital back on its delivery route. He agrees that the situation probably involves only a few people, and the entire staff should not have to suffer because of a few.

Everyone should make sure that if they order pizza, they are available to take delivery or designate a fellow worker to do so.

A caller expressed concern about what he considered to be a lack of professionalism by fellow military members when returning salutes.

As you know, the exchange of salutes is a greeting and symbol of mutual respect and courtesies between military members. Military courtesies reflect not only long-standing traditions, but pride in ourselves and our professionalism.

At times in our daily endeavors we might become preoccupied with the job at hand and neglect to render the proper courtesy or do so haphazardly. But we must remember that salutes should be rendered and returned with pride and those that fail to do so should be politely reminded.

Let's all do our part to insure that our salutes reflect pride, professionalism and respect for each other.

Goal: FOD no more in '84

by Capt. James J. Rooney Jr.
wing FOD prevention manager

Some New Year's resolutions are better than others. Usually, within the first couple of weeks of January, we come to realize which goals are realistic and attainable and those goals which were just "wishful thinking."

A careful study of foreign object damage (FOD) to jet aircraft engines over the last three years has stimulated a very realistic and attainable goal for 1984.

Compared to 1981, both 1982 and 1983 were relatively good years in this area of FOD prevention. In 1981, Reese spent $83,105 to repair or replace damaged jet engines due to foreign object ingestion. A greatly improved wing FOD Program in 1982 created a FOD awareness environment that cut the dollars spent on FOD by 49 percent, down to $42,453.

The program was even better in 1983. Although we spent $42,607 in 1983, we cut the total number of incidents from eight in 1982 to three in 1983. In September 1983, we learned that a moment of inattention on the flight line could cost us $22,963 when a brake fluid reservoir door was ingested into a J-85 intake, destroying the engine. We were very lucky that time, and no one was injured. Next time the cost could be much higher than mere dollars.

Traditionally, February and March are Reese's worst months of the year for FOD. Many factors contribute to this, not the least of which is the weather. Rain, wind, snow, and numbing cold can create all the conditions necessary for a major incident. Let's not let the cold numb our brains as well as our hands.

All supervisors need to pay particular attention to the work being performed by their units on or near jet aircraft. Every agency on base that comes into contact with aircraft, whether operations, maintenance, or support, needs to be aware of the dangers inherent during this time of the year. Each and every person on the base needs to concern themselves with the problem. If we utilize the FOD prevention equipment such as sweepers, magnets, crew chief pouches, and FOD containers on and off the flight line, and if we take the added time to dispose of foreign objects properly, then Reese stands a good chance of meeting its goals for 1984.

In 1984, our resolution is to spend zero dollars on major FOD incidents, i.e., greater than $5,000. In addition, we want to spend less than $20,000 on all other minor (greater than $1,000) incidents. Well, that's it. Now it's up to you to make this year's motto really mean something. FOD, No More In '84.

CHAMPUS—Your benefit, responsibility

by Bob Gregorio
health benefits advisor

During your assignment at Reese, there will be occasions when routine or emergency care required by your dependents will not be available at the base hospital. Depending on the seriousness of the medical problem when this happens, you will have to make a choice of using another military medical facility or the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services, commonly known as CHAMPUS.

If you decide to use another military facility, let your provider know and we will assist your dependent in making an appointment at that facility, and in some cases we may be able to assist with aeromedical transportation. Keep in mind that the nearest military medical facility is about 200 miles from Reese and in an emergency situation your only choice will be to obtain care from a civilian provider or hospital under the CHAMPUS Program.

Generally, CHAMPUS will cost-share most health care that is medically necessary. When your dependent uses the out-patient portion of the program, they must pay a yearly deductible of $50 for one person or $100 per family. The fiscal year runs from Oct. 1 through Sept. 30. Once you meet your deductible, active duty dependents pay 20 percent of the allowable charge and CHAMPUS will pay 80 percent. If you are a retiree or a dependent of a retiree, you pay 25 percent of the allowable charge and CHAMPUS will pay 75 percent.

For inpatient care at a civilian hospital the cost for active duty dependents is $6.80 per day or $25 total, whichever is greater. For retiree's and their dependents the cost is 25 percent of the bill. Also, remember to check with the Health Benefits Advisor at the base hospital in regard to a nonavailability statement before your dependent is admitted to a civilian hospital.

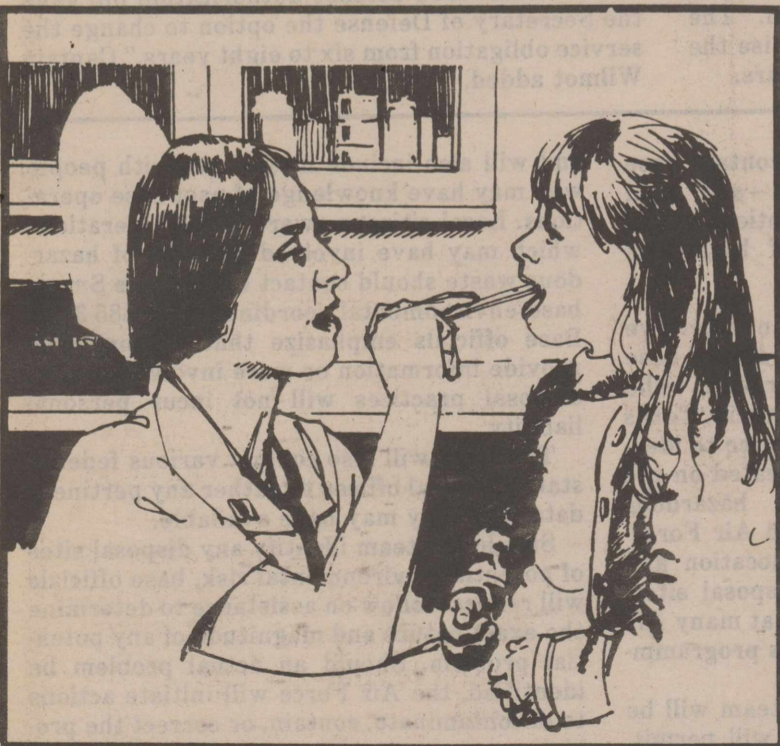

Because you are referred for care by the base hospital, don't assume that the provider/hospital will accept assignment under the program. It is your responsibility to ask if they will accept you as a patient under the CHAMPUS Program and accept your cost-share plus the fees, the program allows as full payment.

If your provider/hospital does not participate in CHAMPUS and you choose to have them provide your care, you will be responsible for paying the difference between the allowable charges and the actual charges in addition to your CHAMPUS cost-share.

As you can see, CHAMPUS is not free. You must pay part of your medical costs when you use the program. Because of this you may want to purchase other health insurance to supplement CHAMPUS. Stop by the Patient Affairs Office at the hospital and pick up a list of organizations you can write for information about supplemental insurance.

CHAMPUS has many special benefits and certain limits. Also there are claim filing and appeal procedures. Information about CHAMPUS or the base hospital is available by calling Ext. 3581 or stopping by the Patient Affairs Office.

ATC wins safety award

Speed, safety, fatigue, safety, helmets, safety, seat belts, alcohol, MOST Plus, safety, safety, safety. It's a broken record.

But that same broken record saved lives in Air Training Command last year and won ATC recognition for having the best ground safety program in the Air Force.

The Chief of Staff Special Achievement Award was presented to the command last month for its 1983 safety program. ATC was the only command in the Air Force to improve on its 1982 safety record.

Safety officials noted this is the first time this award has been used to recognize a ground safety program.

ATC equaled the fewest number of ground mishap fatalities in its history during 1983. Last year's 17 fatalities was half of the command's 1982 death toll. Traffic and sports and recreation deaths were also cut in half, from 21 to 10, and 12 to 6 respectively. Reese had no traffic deaths in 1983, a drop from one death in the previous year. During both years

Reese had no sports and recreation deaths.

ATC military and civilian injuries also dropped in number from the previous year. Government motor vehicle mishaps were nearly 30 percent lower than in 1982. Reese motor vehicle mishaps dropped to zero in 1983 from a 1982 total of two.

Air Force safety officials at Norton AFB, Calif., also praised the command's unique motorcycle safety training program, MOST Plus. 1983 was the first full year for the program which combines classroom and hands-on motorcycle proficiency training.

Comparing the 18 month periods before and after the start of the program, command motorcycle injuries were cut by one-third and fatalities were cut in half.

In a message congratulating ATC wings and centers, Gen. Andrew P. Iosue, ATC commander, said, "In addition to commanders, safety staffs and supervisors, we are also very proud of the individuals in ATC—undoubtedly the key links in the safety chain."

Library earns command honor

The Reese library was among five Air Training Command base libraries which earned cash prizes in the 33rd Annual Air Force Library Publicity Contest, held at Randolph AFB, Texas in January.

Judging was based on scrapbook entries which highlighted the library's effort to publicize local programs and activities during the past year. Competition categories were determined by the number of shelf-listed volumes in each library.

Taking second place in the small library category was Vance AFB, Okla.

Chanute AFB, Ill., earned third place in the category for large-size libraries. An honorable mention went to Goodfellow AFB, Texas, in the same category.

Lackland AFB, Texas, earned ATC's other award — an honorable mention in the extra-large base library category.

First place winners in each category received $500 to use in enhancing local library programs. Second place winners earned $300; third place finishers, $200; and honorable mentions, $100.

Fifty-nine Air Force bases submitted entries in this year's contest.

ATC's winning scrapbooks and a videotape entry from Keesler AFB, Miss., will be entered in a nationwide library public relations awards contest to be held in June.

Base nets 86% of AFAF goal

The first week of the Air Force assistance Fund campaign netted Reese $16,103—86 percent of its $18,747 goal.

The base's largest unit, 64th Student Squadron, was the first to reach its goal. The Student Squadron contributed $5,830—122 percent of its goal.

"Both the permanent party members and students in our squadron deserve the credit for our being the first squadron to meet its goal," said 1st Lt. Michael D. "Doc" Winton, unit project officer. "I am not surprised at the dedication and concern our members have shown for taking care of the Air Force's own."

Three other units also attained their goal during the first week of the campaign. They are 64th Air Base Group, 64th Flying Training Wing, and Detachment 11, 24th Weather Squadron.

Lieutenant Winton and Capt. Philip Gunderman, 64th Supply Squadron, contributed $360 each, the largest amount given by any individual.

Contributions to the fund drive, which began Feb. 27, are used to support the Air Force Aid Society, the Air Force Enlisted Men's, Widows and Dependent's Home and the Air Force Village. The campaign will run through March 30.

Outstanding Airman

A1C Benjamin Thompson inspects a parachute as part of his duties as a life support specialist. Airman Thompson has been named the 64th Flying Training Wing Outstanding Airman of the Month for January. Assigned to the 64th Student Squadron, Airman Thompson's primary duties involve maintaining air crew equipment. Off duty the 21-year-old Puerto Rican resident is a student at South Plains College and serves as secretary for the local Toastmasters club. He is single and has been assigned to Reese since Dec. 18, 1981.

Base honors Eagle Scouts

Brig. Gen. Charles M. Duke Jr. will be on hand for the Eagle Scout Recognition Day to be held at Reese March 16.

The Apollo astronaut will speak at the 1 p.m. luncheon which will follow opening ceremonies and a base tour in the morning. The day will begin at 9 a.m. at the base theater with registration and the opening ceremonies. The tour of the flight line and flight simulators will begin at 10 a.m.

All Eagle Scouts—whether the award was received last week or 70 years ago—are invited.

The luncheon will be held at the Officers' Club and participants should call Capt. John Paterson, base scouting project officer, at Ext. 3660 by Wednesday for reservations. Charge for the luncheon is $6.

General Duke became an Eagle Scout Sept. 26, 1946 and was awarded the Distinguished Eagle Scout Award in 1975.

Telethon needs help

Volunteers are needed for the Easter Seals Telethon to be held March 31 and April 1. The Telethon begins at 10:30 p.m. Saturday and continues until 6 p.m. Sunday.

Volunteers are needed to answer telephones, verify pledges, and act as security patrols. Shifts are two to three hours long and require 25 people per shift. Interested volunteers should call 2nd Lt. Elizabeth Spraggins at Ext. 3806.

Jaycees hold art auction

The Lubbock Women's Jaycees are holding an art auction at the Lakeridge Country Club Sunday from 6-8:30 p.m. Proceeds will benefit the Crossroads Samaritan Counseling Center, a nonprofit counseling center which is open to everyone.

The art exhibit will start at 6 p.m., with the art auction at 7 p.m. The exhibit and auction are free. Coffee will be served and a cash bar will be available.

Scholarships available

Reese Officers' Wives' Club is awarding three $500 college scholarships this spring to eligible high school seniors. In addition, a $1,000 scholarship has been made available by United Services Planning Association, Inc. and Independent Research Agency (USPA and IRA), an International Family Programming organization which has been providing financial programming serviced for military personnel for the past 25 years.

Who can apply?

—Dependent children of active duty or retired personnel associated with Reese Air Force Base.

—Dependent children of active duty personnel whose last permanent duty station was Reese Air Force Base and whose spouse elected to remain in the vicinity.

—Children of military personnel who are deceased or missing in action.

—Eligible seniors with grade point average of 3.0.

Information to be included with the application:

—Official school transcript

—Three letters of recommendation from school counselors or teachers.

—Handwritten on separate sheet of paper, list activities and organizations participated in from the ninth grade. Briefly state and explain education major and career goals.

—Complete scholarship application forms

The recipients will be selected by a board of educators whose children are not eligible and whose decision will be final.

Applications are available from and completed applications must be returned to:

Mrs. Frances Sheffer

Chapel news

FILM SERIES: A five-part film series, "Fun in Marriage," will begin Sunday at 6 p.m. at the Base Chapel. A movie from the film series, featuring Charlie and Martha Shedd, will be shown each Sunday at 6 p.m.

The Shedd's are widely known for their syndicated newspaper column "How to Stay in Love," and for many books including "Letters to Karen," "Letters to Phillip," and "Celebration in the Bedroom." Charlie is a Presbyterian minister and has pastored several churches. He and Martha have been married for over 40 years and are the parents of five children. They present an outspoken, common sense, scriptural approach to marriage and marital problems.

The films in the series will be shown on the following dates: Vocal Communication, Sunday; Body Communication, March 18; Soul Communication, March 25; How to Stay in Love, April 1, Straight Answers to Delicate Questions, April 8. Everyone is invited to attend.

Squadron News

ABG

The 64th Air Base Group headquarters squadron held their first Awards Day ceremony Feb. 29. The ceremony will become a monthly event that will honor outstanding unit members, new promotees, and medal recipients.

OMS

Sgt. John Schmitt was recognized as the crew chief of the class by Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 84-03. Sergeant Schmitt's outstanding professional performance as a maintainer with the T-38 branch earned him the honor. He and his wife were guests at the graduates' dinner dance Feb. 24.

TSgt. George L. Brown recently received a mug for his support of the hazard reporting program. His report resulted in the installation of 50-foot hoses on all aircraft de-ice carts, which will increase the operator's safety potential.

Two OMS troops were recently selected as crew chiefs for the wing commander's aircraft. Sgt. Bradley Samuelson is the new T-37 crew chief for tail number 1864, and A1C Hector Garcia is the new T-38 crew chief for tail number 1564.

Comm

Pat Pennington logged the end of her 29th year with Reese's communication squadron last month. Mrs. Pennington has seen the communications command through all three of its phases—Army Airways Communications Service, Air Force Communications Service, and the present-day Air Force Communications Command.

She began her career here on Valentine's Day in 1955 as a telephone operator, and eventually became the chief operator. During her years of service she has held almost every operator's position in the squadron. Her latest job is as the quality assurance evaluator for the telephone switchboard and the telecommunications center.

Comm squadron officials say that the last five squadron commanders have echoed a statement heard quite often throughout the unit—"if it weren't for Pat Pennington I don't know what I would have done."

Capt. James J. Rooney Jr. stands safely on the ground after landing a T-37 with a nose wheel malfunction last month. The malfunction, occurred during a functional flight check of the aircraft following extensive maintenance. Safety officials said Captain Rooney's judgment and flying skill used in landing the aircraft with the nose wheel partially extended averted a potentially hazardous situation, as well as minimizing aircraft damage. Damage to the aircraft was about $1,000. After five days in maintenance, the aircraft was flown again by Captain Rooney—this time without incident.

Racqueteers raise bucks for committee

A freak snow storm that hit the Reese area delayed competition during a racquetball tournament sponsored by the Reese Junior Officers Committee and the Lubbock Beverage Company held Feb. 24-29.

An area-wide power outage caused by the storm resulted in a loss of lights at the base gym, and the final day of competition had to be postponed. The final matches were played Monday through Wednesday the following week.

Despite the delays, Capt. Kurt Brandt finished undefeated in the men's B division. Keith Sanders of Wolfforth took second in the division and Capt. Steve McDonald finished third. Shane Horton finished first in the men's C division, followed by Gary Galanos, then Lt. Col. Dan Gomez.

The men's novice division was dominated by 16-year-old Brian Payne, followed by second place finisher Gilbert Davila and third place Omar Garza.

Judy Andrade captured first in the women's division followed by Esmo Gonzales, and third place finished Elena Torres, all from Levelland.

First place finishers received Ekleton racquets for their performance and second place competitors received "lite beer" gym bags. Third place finishers received two pairs of athletic socks. All finishers also received prints of the T-38 "Talon."

The tournament raised more than $300 for the JOC coffers. Capt. Ted Needham said, "The Lubbock Beverage Company's generous contribution."

Karate

Anyone interested in taking karate classes should call the gym at Ext. 3207 for information.

Congrats

SSgt. Victor M. Magnon received a letter of appreciation from Lt. Col. Speck Brian, base commander, for providing free karate classes to Reese personnel since October 1979.

Golfer's gaggle

Golf advisory council members report that last week's golfer's gaggle was a lot of fun. Fifteen golfers participated. The council invites everyone to join the crowd again Saturday at 8:45 a.m. Teams are selected by 9 a.m. No tee time is needed, 18 holes are played, and prizes are given out.

For more information contact any of the following members of the golf advisory council: AIC John Wolfe, Ext. 3484; AIC Barry Timberlake, Ext. 3125, 1st Lt. Tom Bower, Ext. 3691; or Jean Vincent, Ext. 3976.

A 24-game roll off for men and women will begin Tuesday at the base bowling lanes. Men must have a minimum average of 160. The top four men and two women will be selected to represent Reese in the ATC tournament at Lowry AFB, Colo., April 17-19. Interested bowlers should sign up at the bowling center.

Softball tryouts

The men's and women's varsity slow-pitch softball tryouts are now being conducted. Any military person interested should contact Ssgt. Gary Grant at Ext. 3207.

Coach needed

The women's varsity slow-pitch team needs a coach. Interested persons should contact Don Schilling, Ext. 3207.

Run

The Reese 10,000 Meter Run will be held March 18. The race will start at building 2107, MWR Supply, and will end at the base track and soccer field. Groups for the race are divided in the men's and women's categories in the following age groups: 18-29; 30-39; and age 40 and older. Prizes will be awarded to the top five runners in each category. A special prize for the first place military winner in each group will be advancing to the Air Training Command 10,000 Meter Run at Williams AFB, Ariz., April 3-4.
