Memorial Day 1984

Memorial Day, a day for reverence and remembering. But where did this 116 year-old holiday get its start?

Historical resources indicate that Decoration Day, as it was originally called, began May 30, 1868. Its creator; Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic Gen. John A. Logan. It is now a legal holiday in most of the United States, the only exceptions are a handful of states in the south.

Memorial Day now marks the tribute paid by Americans to the dead of all wars involving the United States. For most, the day is observed through military and civilian parades and memorial exercises.

During the memorial exercises flowers are used to decorate the graves of American servicemen, here and overseas. Water services are held for those who died at sea.

Most familiar to Americans; however, is the ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery, Va. Flags everywhere are flown at half mast until noon in honor of those who gave their lives protecting the freedoms Americans continue to enjoy.

Until 1971, Memorial Day was observed every May 30. The traditional holiday is still May 30, but today federal employees, and certain private enterprise employees, too, now take off the last Monday in May in observance of the holiday honoring American's fallen patriots.

THE ROUNDUP is an unofficial newspaper published under exclusive written agreement with the 64th Flying Training Wing Commander in the interest of personnel of Reese AFB, Texas, of Air Training Command. It is published by Barron Publications, Inc., a private firm, in no way connected with the Department of the Air Force. Opinions expressed by the publisher and writers in this publication are their own and are not to be considered an official expression of the Department of the Air Force. The appearance of advertisements, including inserts, in this publication does not constitute an endorsement by the Department of the Air Force of products or services advertised.

CARE Line

The CARE line is prepared by Col. Bob Hullender, 64th Flying Training Wing commander, on a weekly basis. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty telephone number so that a personal reply may be made; however, neither are mandatory. Callers should use the CARE Line only after all possible means to air their views or complaints through the chain of command have been exhausted. The CARE Line number is 885- (Ext.) 3273.

A resident of the new dormitory, Building 230, asked why no pay phones are installed there.

Since all pay telephones belong to, and are installed by, the General Telephone Company of the Southwest (GTE) at no cost to the government, they are the only ones who approve or disapprove all requests for such service.

Even though they have always been very cooperative in honoring our requests, there have been instances when this service has been denied. This could happen when service has been removed previously due to malicious damage, when insufficient revenue makes it less than cost effective to provide the service, or when other pay telephones are available nearby that can handle the traffic.

The request for a pay telephone for Dorm 230 was submitted to GTE April 26 and is currently awaiting their approval.

A caller was frustrated when she was put on hold for 12 minutes by the hospital appointments desk answering system, and was then told that the clerk could not wait a minute for her. The customer needed the time to get her husband's identification card so she could give the clerk his social security number. Seems a little unfair? Well, here's the background and solution.

The appointment phones have five incoming lines, and the system puts calls on hold in the order they are received. So, if the caller is number four or five, the delay could be a little lengthy.

To help reduce any additional waiting time, the hospital has added to their telephone recording a reminder for patients to have the necessary information ready when calling for an appointment. Also, appointment clerks have been instructed to wait for additional information from the patient if necessary.

Thanks for the call. The folks at the hospital are always looking for ways to better serve the Reese community.

Speaking of people, more than 400 from Reese volunteered their time and energy May 5 to support the Lubbock Area Special Olympics. Linda L. Boerner, South Plains Special Olympics projects coordinator, called the event "a giant success," in a letter of appreciation to the base. She said the help from Reese made it possible for the handicapped children to enjoy and participate in their own special day and asked me to pass along a heartfelt thanks from the entire Special Olympics organization.

Ms. Boerner said she was "impressed with the quality and character of our military personnel, if the service people at Reese are typical." I couldn't have said it better myself. I salute you.

A gym patron said he and his friends were playing basketball and were asked to clear the court by a member of the Morale, Welfare and Recreation Division staff, but another group of 10 basketball players were allowed to play. He wanted to know why.

Jack Hood, chief of the MWR Division, tells me that the 10 players were playing full-court open play basketball and had taken a short water break. Four other players then took to the court, but were told that another game was in progress.

Hood offers these reminders about open play: The first game will consist of players chosen by team captains. For each subsequent game played, the new team will consist of players from the sign-up list. These rules are posted in the gym and are enforced by the gym staff.

A hospital patient said the noisy, distracting behavior of a hospital worker is the last thing a sick person needs when waiting in the lobby and she wanted to bring it to our attention. She also pointed out that this is not the normal conduct of the rest of the hospital personnel.

Thank you for your concern. The hospital staff is also concerned about providing a quiet atmosphere, particularly around the patient lobby. Patients can help the staff by contacting the person in charge of the clinic in question. Corrective action can then be made on the spot.

A CARE Line caller was concerned that operations and maintenance funds were being used to pay for secretaries to attend a secretarial enhancement course. He asked if this was fraud, waste and abuse. No, it's not.

The course referred to is a one-day seminar to be conducted in Lubbock by a private-sector company. Regulations permit O and M funds to be used for this type of civilian training if the training is job related. It's up to each functional area supervisor to determine if training is needed. The supervisor is also responsible for disbursement of O and M funds.

Memorial Day messages . . .

Today America honors those who have died in the service of their country. The voices of fallen friends and loved ones still echo in our ears, and the wounds left by their passing have yet to heal.

Each day we enjoy the freedom these brave Americans fought and died to preserve. We are comforted by the spirit of courage and patriotism they left behind. We see and feel these qualities all around us when we pledge allegiance to our flag or join together to sing our national anthem. We are particularly aware of them when we celebrate this special day, Memorial Day, and honor the memory of those we have lost.

You, the men and women of the armed forces, exemplify that spirit. You uphold the proud tradition of all of those in uniform who went before you. Your daily efforts around the world demonstrate your commitment to ensure that those brave men and women who made the ultimate sacrifice "shall not have died in vain."

On this Memorial Day, 1984, I ask the American people to join with me in renewing our pledge to keep this great nation strong, free, and at peace. There can be no better way of honoring our military heroes, both living and dead.

May God bless you and all you do for all of us.

the President

As you pause this Memorial Day to remember the more than one million Americans who have given their lives for this country since the revolution, remember that the ultimate sacrifice is one Americans have always willingly made.

This year marks the 40th anniversary of the Normandy invasion, during that largest-ever wartime concentration of people and material, the final sacrifice made by so many typified the heroism and dedication to freedom that have always characterized Americans.

This Memorial Day, we will also confer the Medal of Honor upon and bury the unknown soldier of the Vietnam Conflict. That difficult experience and the current world environment testify that the threat to freedom today is no less dangerous than it was in Europe or Vietnam.

As we remember and honor all those Americans who gave everything for our land, I ask that you join me in renewing our determination to preserve the liberty and justice for which they died.

Secretary Vern Orr
Secretary of the Air Force

Memorial Day is a very special day, one when we should take a moment to reflect on the past and the dedicated military people who gave their lives for our country.

Their lives have given us the freedom we enjoy each day and which many countries seek.

Memorial Day 1984 finds us being challenged and tested in many parts of the world. As long as the threat remains and grows, we must ensure we never weaken and let down those who have already paid the supreme price to insure we retain our freedoms.

Please take a few minutes to reflect on the past and participate in some form of recognition of Memorial Day 1984.

Laughter

The natural way to feeling good

by Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Bill McGraw installation staff chaplain

Recently I read a magazine article entitled "Laughing Fit." The article pointed out that laughter has a therapeutic affect on people and can be better than medicine.

The ancient biblical writer wrote: "A merry heart doeth good like medicine." (Proverbs 17:22)

The trouble begins when laughter goes out of life. Comedians do us a service by making us laugh.

When a person laughs, the chest, thorax and abdominal muscles as well as the diaphragm, heart and lungs contract.

A good belly laugh can make systolic blood pressure soar from an average 120 to a hypertensive 200 and double the pulse rate from 60 to 120 beats per minute.

Laughing also pumps extra adrenalin into the bloodstream, and stimulates a rush of endorphins—the body's natural pain killers—to the brain. After a good laugh, all systems return to normal or a little below normal. This results in less stress and fewer hypertension and muscle-tension headaches. Laughter causes an all-around good physical feeling.

So, go ahead and laugh out loud. It will probably make you feel better. It is certain to bring joy to those around you.

Good clean humor which provokes laughter is a lot cheaper than medicine and psychiatrists' fees. Someone once said, "We are the only creatures on earth who laugh and the only ones with enough problems to need it."

New civilian boss arrives

Charles "Charlie" A. Brown is the new civilian personnel officer here. Brown replaces now retired Tom Ireland in the top Reese civilian employees position.

A career man of almost 20 years, Brown came to Reese from an assignment at Bergstrom AFB, Texas, where he was the chief of civilian classification and training.

As Reese's civilian personnel officer Brown is responsible for 700-800 civilian employees here; not to mention the military managers and supervisors he works with.

A man in his position gets his authority from the base commander. Brown's job is primarily to manage the local civilian personnel program in a way that recognizes employee rights, meets the needs of base management and is consistent with the law.

The new personnel chief began his civil service career as a food service worker—wage grade 1 (the lowest blue-collar grade possible)—and is proud to have worked his way up to his present position.

The one thing he seemed to think had helped him most throughout his federal service career is his concern for the customer. A strong believer in communication, Brown says his boss' always noted his ability to work with customers finding workable solutions to their problems.

"I'm glad to be here," he said citing the Model Installation Program as Reese's lure to him. In the past when he and his peers ran into problem situations they were restricted as to what they could do; MIP, he believes, will alleviate some of those restrictions.

Brown's assignments in the civilian personnel field have taken him from Fort Sheridan, Ill., to DeLuth IAP, Minn., and Izmir, Turkey. From Izmir he went to RAF Mildenhall, England, Hellenikon AS, Greece, and finally Bergstrom.

"Personnel involves everyone, not just the civilian personnel offices, or myself," said he, it is the responsibility of every manager and supervisor.

Problems?

A1C Mike Lutts, a field maintenance sheet metal specialist, explains the cracks in the engine bay of the T-38 to Dock Chief SSgt. Jim Bourns and Sgt. Dwayne Hathaway, Bourns' assistant. Organizational maintenance members routinely tear down wing aircraft for scheduled maintenance. If a problem like stress caused cracks, is found field maintenance specialists come in to fix them.

Memorial Day 1984—It's a holiday for most, but a tragic day for others. During this first of the summer three-day weekends hundreds of Americans will die in motor vehicle accidents thanks in part to "the other guy."

How can you avoid that other guy? There are two means of dealing with the notorious "other guy." Every driver that puts rubber to the road this weekend can survive the fatal mistakes of other drivers by being alert and taking defensive driving measures.

In at least 50 percent of the fatal accidents, alcohol is a contributing factor, according to the National Safety Council. Alcohol is a tough opponent.

The really loaded driver weaves from lane to lane, drives too fast or too slow and stops at the wrong places in an intersection, but that's not all they'll do, there are other erratic behavioral signs.

Then there's the driver with one or two drinks under the belt. They are harder to spot. Their reaction time is slowed, they make slower decisions (less accurate too) and are usually ready to take chances they wouldn't normally consider. There's one maior problem though—these drinking drivers are not usually found until it's too late.

Other holiday hazard drivers include those that think traffic devices apply to everyone except them. They're the drivers that can stop on a dime. You know 70 to zero in seconds. You can beat him by preparing to let them pass through the intersection. After all, should death really be the penalty for failure to yield the right of way?

Then there's the infallible speeder; "the I can handle speed" drivers. They're easy to spot, defensive drivers should just be ready to brake or swerve to avoid hitting another vehicle or being run off the road. Pay close attention to the environment ahead and behind you when you drive.

There's still those bumper lovers. You know the people who think they have to see inside your car trunk. If one of these drivers gets behind you make sure there is plenty of stopping space between your car and the vehicle ahead, and if possible slow down or stop to force the bumper lover around you.

Remember, to the other guy on the highway . . . you're the "other guy." Drive defensively and survive this Memorial Day holiday and the remainder of the 101 critical days.

Child care losses must halt; center fees increase July 1

Child care centers throughout Air Training Command are losing money forcing the command to raise fees and take other actions to get the centers back to a break-even operation.

Increased fees and new policies will become effective at the Reese Child Care Center on July 1. To explain the changes and seek feedback from child care center users, Col. Ralph R. Rohatsch, air base group commander, has scheduled a town meeting for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the rec center. All members of the Reese community, especially those who use the child care center, are invited to attend.

Colonel Rohatsch will start the meeting by explaining the Reese Child Care Center's financial problems. He then will open the meeting to questions from the audience pertaining to any aspects of Reese life that attendees wish to discuss. Light refreshments will be provided.

"Command-wide, the centers have lost nearly a half million dollars since 1981. We require child care centers to be self-sufficient. That is, operating costs are supposed to be covered by fees charged the users," said Colonel Rohatsch.

Child care center losses are being subsidized by using money from the Central Base Fund. The Reese Child Care Center has been given $104,142 from the CBF since 1980. This has affected other Morale, Welfare and Recreation programs which also use those funds. During 1983, the child care center accounted for 20 percent of the CBF losses base-wide.

ATC officials found at least three common factors driving the losses. First, Air Force ratios for caregiver (staff)-to-child were lowered, meaning that more caregivers had to be on duty per number of children. The lower ratios helped double the payroll costs at most center.

Second, centers now have to pay for meals and snacks which were formerly subsidized by the U.S. Department of Agriculture food program. While the USDA cut back, both on the number of children eligible and on the amount subsidized for each meal, the child care centers did not pass the added cost on to the users.

Third, the Air Force told local child care centers to hold the line on increasing fees during 1979 and 1980. These were years of hardship for many military members as inflation ran high while pay raises had been capped.

During this period the Air Force partially offset the losses. However, now these funds have run out and local central base funds cannot afford to absorb child care center losses and still maintain other MWR programs.

"We've got to get back to a break-even operation in the child care center," said Colonel Rohatsch. "We're going to adopt the ATC policy changes, effective July 1, and do everything possible to keep the fees down and the service high quality."

The command-wide policy changes include:

- The child care center will set fees and manage resources to produce a break-even operation. Local fees will increase from $30 to $35 per five-day week for children over six months of age. Children six weeks to six months will be charged $50 per week. The preschool rate will become $17 per week per child for a five day week. And the hourly rate will be increased to $1.40 daytime and to $1.60 night time.

- Family discounts will be discontinued. The second and subsequent children will be charged the same as the first child. That's because each child creates a payroll and services expense. Before, fees charged smaller families were actually subsidizing the discount fees charged larger families.

- All meals will be charged the user at a rate to cover the cost of food and preparation. However, children still eligible for the USDA subsidy will receive the authorized reduced rate.

"Quality child care is important to the members of our base community," said Colonel Rohatsch. "That's why we sponsor child care centers. When one considers the training we have for caregivers, the quality programs, the hygiene, safety and convenience of our center, I believe it will compare favorably with any child care operation in the area."

A local MWR survey of child care centers revealed that even with the proposed fee increases, the base child care center is lower in price than similar off-base centers. The survey may be reviewed at the MWR offices, or the child care center, where the complete, detailed list of proposed fee may also be reviewed.

Gate guards

Making first impressions count

The 64th Security Police Division has taken an otherwise tedious job and made it one of the best to have within the division—they created a special Gate Guard Section.

To get into this click of highly motivated, well groomed security policemen, airmen in the division had to know the ins and outs of Air Force Regulation 35-10, demonstrate a good attitude, be proficient in all areas of law enforcement, and pass the interview.

If they can make it through the entry procedures they have earned the right to blouse their blues pants, lace their boots with white laces, wear the white belt, and wear the ascot (neck scarf), said Sgt. Michael Anderson, NCOIC of the section.

"Our gate guards represent the first impression a visitor gets of Reese," said Sergeant Anderson, therefore, they must be the best we have—both from knowing the base and their job, to working with people.

The chance to work with people is one reason A1C Bobbie Johnson opted for a position with the Gate Guard Section. "I think that if a person sees a gate guard with a frown they're inclined to get a frown themselves. We set the mood for many base visitors," said Airman Johnson.

It's also an excellent opportunity for showing the division and visitors that I can look super sharp, because when the gate guards look sharp the division looks sharp, she added.

Mother's little helpers.

After a hard day with the family, let us help with the cooking. We've got Whataburgers for everyone in the family. From Justaburgers for kids, to Whataburger Jrs. for moms and big quarter-pound Whataburgers or cheeseburgers for dad and the boys. They're all made with 100% pure beef and the finest garden fresh ingredients. Add some fries, some ice-cold Coca Colas and you've got a happy family. And that's a big help.

Whataburger is what a burger should be.

Wing duty hours change June 1

Reese employees, military and civilian alike, will have to get up half an hour earlier starting June 1 when the 64th Flying Training Wing's summer duty schedule goes into effect.

The switch to the 7:30 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. duty day is an annual occurrence, which conforms to 64th FTW Regulation 11-4.

No appointments please

The Reese Veterinary Services Clinic will not make appointments, nor will they take them, June 25 and 26.

Base commander chairs meeting

Col. Ralph R. Rohatsch Jr., the 64th Air Base Group commander, will chair Tuesday evening's Reese Village town meeting at the Mathis Recreation Center. The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. and is open to all Reese personnel and dependent spouses.

The primary meeting topic will be the financial difficulties facing the Reese Child Care Center and child care facilities throughout the Air Force. After the child care issue is discussed, Colonel Rohatsch will open the meeting to questions from the audience pertaining to any aspect of Reese life.

The Morale, Welfare and Recreation Division will provide light refreshments free to those attending.

Commissary Advisory Council meets

The Commissary Advisory Council will meet June 5 in the Wing Conference Room in building 800 at 1:30 p.m. The meeting is open to all concerned patrons.

Preschool registers for '84-85

The Reese Child Development Center Preschool will register children Tuesday through Thursday for the 1984-85 period from 9-11 a.m. daily.

Parents must bring their child's birth certificate and immunization record to register their children. Students must also be three years old on or before Sept. 1, 1984.

Exchange holiday schedule set

The Reese Exchange has announced that Monday, Memorial Day, the main store will be closed; the shoppette will be open from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.; the Talon Inn will be closed; the Military Clothing Sales Store will be closed; and the service station will be closed.

Short notice statics axed

Short notice static aircraft displays are a thing of the past. The maintenance complex Aircraft Maintenance Scheduling Section, the unit responsible for setting up the statics, is enforcing their static request policy.

Any group, or individual, tour hoping to see a T-37 or T-38 must now contact the 64th Public Affairs Division by 3 p.m. on the Tuesday of the week before the date requested.

Maintenance schedulers give public affairs only an hour later than the 3 p.m. deadline to contact them with the request. Complex officials said they had to get tough on statics because of the numerous, last minute requests they'd received over the past few weeks.

To set up a static, or for more information on the static request procedure contact public affairs at Ext. 3410.

Shoppette hours expand

The Exchange Shoppette has extended its operating hours daily until 10 p.m.

Air War College deadline today

This afternoon is the deadline for enrolling in the Reese Air War College seminar program. For last minute information contact the Education Office at Ext. 3768.

South Plains registers students

South Plains College and Wayland Baptist University will register students next week at the Reese Education Office.

South Plains will take in new students Tuesday from 3-4 p.m. and that evening from 6:30-7:30, too.

Wayland will register students Tuesday and Thursday from 4-7 p.m. and Wednesday and Thursday from 8:30-11 a.m.

Tuition assistance forms must be approved before registration.

Colonel nomination board moved

The Air Training Command Calendar 1984 Colonel Below-the-Zone Nomination Board has been rescheduled from June 18 to June 25.

Junior officers' luncheon set

The Reese Junior Officers' Council will sponsor a luncheon for all company grade officers Tuesday in the officers' club Davis Room at 11:30 a.m.

Base Commander Col. Ralph R. Rohatsch Jr. will be the guest speaker. The luncheon will cost $4.75 per officer.

For reservations contact 2nd Lt. Deborah DuBay at Ext. 3211 or 1st Lt. Julie Foster at Ext. 3744 before 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Commissary closes Saturday

The Reese Commissary will celebrate Memorial Day earlier than most, because they are always closed on Mondays. The store will be closed Saturday, but will reopen Tuesday.

NCOAGA meeting planned

The Reese NCO Academy Graduates Association will hold a membership appreciation meeting June 15 at the enlisted club Conference Room at 4 p.m.

Following the 4 p.m. meeting, those members and individuals eligible to join the association will move to the club patio for refreshments.

Navigator gets new wings

Air Force navigator turned pilot Capt. Kim Heishman graduated top in his class May 18 when he was awarded as a Distinguished Graduate, the Leadership Award, and the Air Training Command Commander's trophy.

A Logansport, Ind., native, the captain is now headed for more schooling—this time in the art of flying the F-16 Fighting Falcon. Once F-16 qualified, Captain Heishman and his wife will settle at Luke AFB, Ariz., for his first assignment as an F-16 pilot.

Also graduating with honors were 2nd Lt. John McClanahan and 2nd Lt. Daniel Timidaiki. Each of the junior pilots were Distinguished Graduates, and each earned Flying Training Awards.

Capt. Joseph Salata, 2nd Lt. David Brockman and 2nd Lt. Solomon Danzig garnered Academic Training Awards.

During undergraduate pilot training there are 12 tests and all of the academic award winners aced every test.

Two others, 2nd Lts. Paul Wilder and Kevin Lewis, earned recognition as Distinguished Graduates, too.

Nine of the 51 graduates will remain at Reese as T-37 and T-38 instructor pilots for future UPT classes.

For Brig. Gen. Earl S. Van Inwegen, the guest speaker, the class graduation was his first return to Reese since earning his wings here 23 years ago.

Now the deputy chief of staff for intelligence for Space Command and the North American Aerospace Defense Command, General Van Inwegen privately congratulated Captain Heishman and his family afterward saying, he too had won the ATC Commander's trophy at his graduation.

Top graduate

Wife Doris pins Air Force pilot wings on hubby Capt. Kim Heishman as the captain's parents, Deloris and Kenneth Heishman, watch. The captain was the top graduate for UPT Class 84-05 May 18.

Hard work, long hours and dedication paid off for Reese last week. "Outstanding" was the word that summed up the findings of the Air Training Command Base Appearance inspection team. Airmen, NCOs, officers, civilians, and family members proved that pride in appearance is the hallmark of professionalism and it takes a lot of pride to keep Reese . . .

Looking good!

"I can't tell you how proud I am as wing commander to receive that kind of accolade for the wing. Military courtesy and personal appearance were also outstanding. Great job!"

Col. Bob Sullender
wing commander

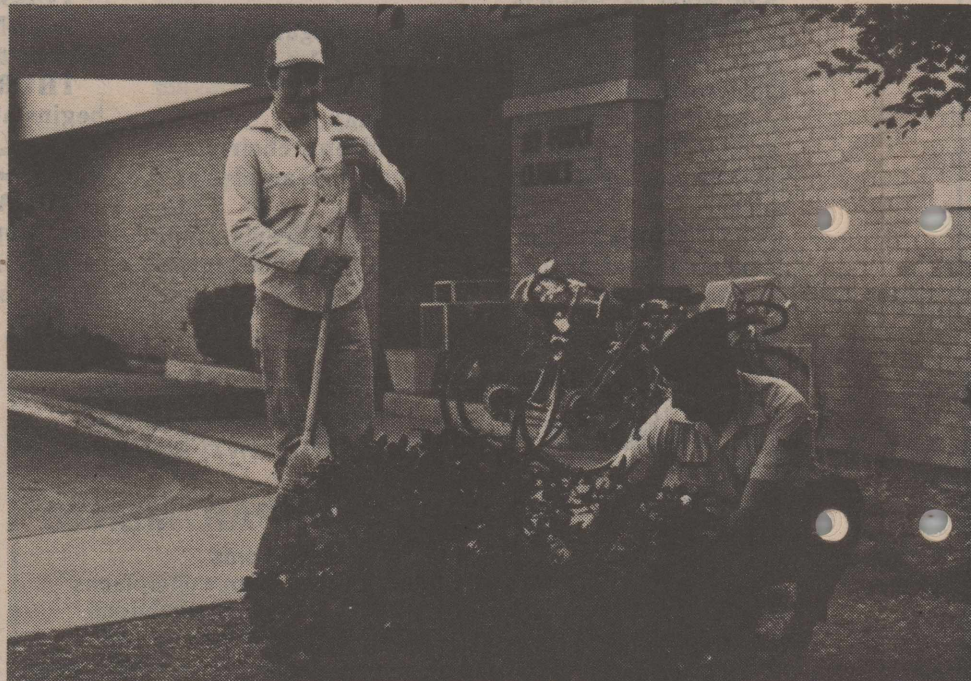

"It's obvious that the people who work and live on Reese are extremely proud of their base. I appreciate all of the hard work everyone did and special thanks goes to our Reese families who showed off the Village at its best. I salute you!"

Eight get Article 15s

Eight Reese airmen got Article 15 punishments during April. A closer look reveals why.

- A field maintenance senior airman used marijuana and lost $185 for one month and was reduced to airman first class.

- An organizational maintenance senior airman got it for wrongful appropriation. The airman was reduced to airman first class and will lose $100 for two months.

- A supply airman first class was absent without leave and will now lose $50 for two months and get 45 days extra duty.

- An OMS airman first class, also guilty of AWOL was reduced to airman.

- Another OMS airman first class was caught driving under the influence. The airman drew a suspended reduction to airman, loss of $100 for two months, and 45 days of extra duty.

- An OMS troop (airman first class) was charged with failure to go and reprimanded. The airman also lost $50 for two months.

- Two airmen basics were cited for failing to go. Each lost $139 for one month and got 45 days extra duty.

Wing dingin' it

Lt. Col. Speck Brian, right, instructs his wife, Kay, on the ancient art of hot dog fixin' at the May 16 Wing Ding. The base celebrated the "outstanding" rating given by the Air Training Command Base Appearance Team and was designed to show appreciation for all of the hard work, said Lt. Col. Barry Hilt, deputy base commander. Commanders, first sergeants and chief master sergeants cooked and served under the watchful management of Les Majors, dining hall manager. The free event was sponsored by the Morale, Welfare, and Recreation Division.

The crowd, below, consumed 467 gallons of beverages, 2,000 hamburgers, and 960 hot dogs.

Weather Det

A1C Edward Alicdan scored 90 percent on his end-of-course skill level test. He's a 25150 now.

64th Sturon

Cpts. Michael P. Baudhuin and Charles D. Ruth III have returned from Squadron Officers School, Maxwell AFB, Ala., where each graduated in the top seven percent of their class; Class 84-C.

Both captains were selected as Distinguished Graduates from their class of 797 students by a review committee; final approval came from the SOS commandant.

Squadron Officers School is the first of the Air Force's professional military education schools for officers. During the 8½ week course, instructors provide for the professional development of company grade officers so they can better perform and value their role in the conduct and support of the Air Force mission.

64th OMS

A1C William Lamb is the squadron Airman of the Month for April.

A1C Mark Wise is the Inspection Branch Member of the Month for April.

SMSGt. Thomas E. McKnight is the new maintenance superintendent.

Squadron members Bobby Culp, Robert Glogowski and Lamb are the unit's selectees for below-the-zone promotion to senior airman.

Cobra Flight is the T-37 Branch Flight of the Month for April.

Fox Flight is the T-38 Branch Flight of the Month for April.

SSgt. Donald Thompson earned his 431 seven level with a 94 percent end-of-course test result.

Sgt. Julius Bryan earned his 431 five skill level with a 93 percent end-of-course test result.

64th ABGS

A1C Gregory Veazey earned his 274 five skill level with a test score of 93 percent.

64th Supply

A1C Jose Garcia earned his 645 three level with a 93 percent score.

Amn. Timothy Bretz and A1C Robert Hutton garnered their 631 five skill levels with rival test scores; 95 percent each.

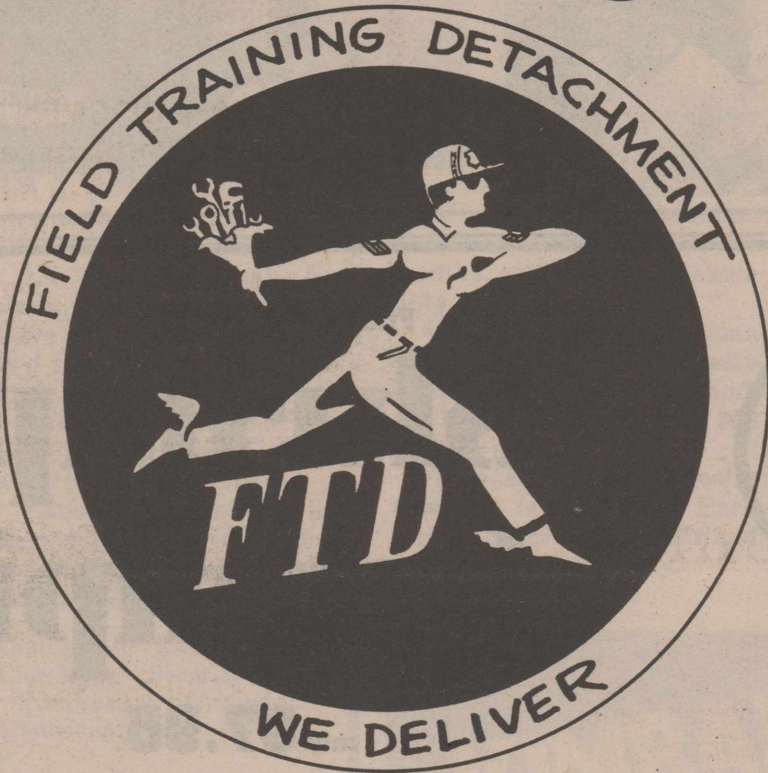

A1C Nevin Gatchalian got his 672 five skill level with a test score of 95 percent too.

New to the squadron include A1C Carlos Cotton and AB Susan Allen.

Aerobics times to shoot for: Squadron Commander Maj. Ronald Tiehen, 9:16; A1C Henry Ruthe, 7:18, 17-29; 2nd Lt. Glenn Lang, 9:15, 30-34; and TSgt. Jesus Meza, 10:32, 35-39.

The supply squadron unit advisory council passed along their thanks to Maj. William Wrench, Capt. Scott Dunns, 1st Lt. Olen Paden, SMSgt. William Masterson, TSgt. Keith Stevens and A1C Cris Bryan for helping make last week's RM picnic such a success.

OUR FOUR BEST SELLING OPTIONS.

Contrary to popular belief, Volvo doesn't make a wagon.

We make four.

To start with, there's the rugged yet refined DL, our most popular (and least expensive) wagon.

For amenities above and beyond most other wagons, the GL gives you a choice of either a gas or diesel engine.*

And for a richly appointed, truly luxurious wagon that can blow an Audi 5000S right off the road, try the Volvo Turbo.

A test drive will demonstrate the 4-wheel power-assisted disc brakes, rack and pinion steering, tight 32.2 ft. turning radius and solid, reliable feel—the same as a Volvo sedan.

That's why no matter which model you choose, you'll get a superb, well-made wagon. One that holds 76 cu. ft. of cargo.

And holds up for years.

*Diesel may not be available in California.

VOLVO
A car you can believe in.

Flightline speeders watch out

There's been a rash of speeding incidents along the Reese flightline and flightline drivers are being asked to help reverse the negative trend, say airfield management personnel.

Adherence to flightline driving speed restrictions will eliminate some of the potential hazards between moving vehicles, taxiing aircraft, and flightline personnel.

If airfield management's appeal to flightline drivers to voluntarily obey flightline driving standards is not productive, the security police will be called to periodically monitor flightline traffic speeds with radar.

Fighting fire with awareness

A1C Stephen Eck, a fire fighter for the 64th Civil Engineering Squadron, and his peers are ready to meet the challenge. But with continued fire safety awareness that challenge will not arise. Spring is a time of cookouts and camp fires so no matter whether you live on base or downtown exercise caution when storing flammable materials or cooking in the outdoors.

Doctor agrees to repay government $700,000

In what is being called the largest civil health care fraud-related settlement in U.S. history, the former part owner of a psychiatric hospital in Fayetteville, N.C., has agreed in federal court to pay back the government $700,000. He also has agreed not to submit—or medically supervise anyone who does submit—any claims to the Defense Department's CHAMPUS health benefits program for psychiatric or psychotherapy services for the next 10 years.

Jacob R. Fishman, M.D., who was part owner of Cumberland Psychiatric Hospital until recently, also agreed as part of the settlement with the U.S. government not to treat any patients for whom claims might be submitted to CHAMPUS by any other CHAMPUS-authorized provider of care. In addition, he admitted committing civil fraud in billing for psychiatric visits not rendered, and in billing both the CHAMPUS program and other insurance plans for care provided to some patients.

Fishman had earlier agreed to reimburse the government $1.25 million in hospital charges, for a total pay-back of more than $2 million.

About $194,000 of the $700,000 will be used to repay the improper claims filed with CHAMPUS by Fishman. The rest of the money will go for penalties and interest.

The overcharges and improper billings were uncovered during an examination of the hospital's medical records by the CHAMPUS Office of Program Integrity. The CHAMPUS office also provided audit support to the U.S. Attorney in Raleigh, N.C., in developing the case.

Soccer title belongs here

The 1984 Central District Soccer Championship belongs to the Reese soccer team. Reese soccer players easily dropped Laughlin AFB, Texas, 4-1 in the first game of last week's district playoffs.

At 1-0, Reese took on the team from Lackland AFB, Texas. Base players out maneuvered Lackland into a 4-2 win, and a tournament record 2-0.

Sheppard AFB, Texas, the tournament host site, sent in their best, but to no avail. Reese soccer champs kicked in a 2-1 win to clench the Air Training Command Central District Championship.

The base soccer team remained at Sheppard to participate in the Air Training Command soccer tournament due to end yesterday.

Swimming pools open

The enlisted and officers' swimming pools will celebrate their grand opening Saturday at 11 a.m. The pools will be open until 7 p.m.

Preseason membership patches are available at the recreation center, 1-5 p.m., and 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Children over 6 and under 12 may swim unaccompanied if they pass the local swimming test (swimming the pool width twice).

There will be preseason testing this afternoon at both pools between 3-7 p.m. Parents must accompany their children to the tests.

UPT field day coming

The Second Annual Reese Undergraduate Pilot Training Field Day has been set for June 16. Events will test participants' skill from 8:45 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the base track field.

Among the events included in this year's event are: basketball, softball, racquetball and running events to name only a few.

The competition will pit each of the eight pilot training classes against each other to decide which class is number one.

Prizes will be awarded to individual event winners and a trophy will go the winning class, too. Refreshments will be available throughout the day and everyone is invited out to watch the competition.

For more about the field day, contact Capt. Floyd Carpenter at Ext. 3450.

Easter Seal day camp nears

The Fifth Annual Easter Seal Day Camp will be held here during the last weeks of June. The summer encampment is actually two one-week camps.

Volunteers to help with the camp will be needed. Once selected, they must attend a three-hour training session to get them ready for the situations that could possibly arise during the day camp.

To volunteer, a person must have the permission of their commander and then contact Earl Hutchings at Ext. 3787. Each counselor also needs to fill out an application; so go ahead and get the wheels of volunteerism moving today.

Only the beginning

Reese's best were out to prove themselves in the Reese tennis tournament last weekend. The tournament in part helped decide who from Reese participates in the ATC tennis tournament at Lackland AFB, Texas, June 7-11.

After the smoke had cleared and the battles were over Eric Huntley was declared the victor. Finishing in the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th positions were Dave Meier, Kenneth Boyce and Arthur Buchanon.

There was only one woman in the competition, Roxann Ferguson, although she didn't finish in the top four in the base tournament, she will represent Reese at the ATC tournament in the women's division.

Meier attended the ATC tournament last year and he said, "The competition was tough." He will manage the Reese team this year.

"Our players are looking forward to the high caliber of competition we will be facing at Lackland," said Meier.
