

Started On Plans School Homecoming

Elementary building, starting at 9 a. m.

A special feature on the first day of the Homecoming will be a Pancake Supper before the Haskell-Seagraves football game, and with the post-game gathering should get the fifth Homecoming off to a good start.

Plans being made for the Homecoming program Saturday will call for more audience participation this year, and Mrs. Ann Taylor Fisher has agreed to help with this phase of the program. Ideas or suggestions for the program will be appreciated by Mrs. Fisher or may be made to Mrs. Herren.

Because the Homecoming arrangements will involve quite a bit of expense, everyone is urged to pre-register (50c) and buy their chuck wagon meal ticket as early as possible. This is important because it is necessary to have an estimate of the number the catering service will serve.

Chairmen and co-chairmen of the various Homecoming committees are listed: Food—Roy Wiseman, chairman; Mary McGorum, co-chairman; Ticket Sales—Hill Oates, Jim Alvis; Registration—Ruby Smith; Tables and Chairs—Abe Turner; Decorations and Microphones—R. A. Lane; Music—Theron Cahill; Pre-Registration—Mary Lena Wiseman; Reception—Alfred Pierson; Information—Mrs. Herman Henry; After-Game Reception—Mrs. Ed Hester; Clean-Up—(Boy Scouts); Howard Perry, Ed Smart; Publicity—Anita Herren, Lon Pate.

Bill Pennington Gins First Bale Of 1961 Cotton

Haskell's first bale of cotton from the 1961 crop was ginned early Monday at the Duncan Gin for Bill Pennington, Haskell farmer. The cotton was grown on the John Kimbrough farm northwest of town, which Pennington is operating this year.

The 510-pound bale was turned out from 2,150 pounds of pulled cotton. Mr. Pennington began gathering the cotton Saturday morning.

The first bale was of usually good grade and staple, ginners said.

Producing the first bale of the season is getting to be a routine matter for Pennington. He brought in the first bale last year on August 18, and received the annual premium awarded by the Chamber of Commerce.

Haskell Man's Mother Buried At Van Alstyne

Mrs. Resa McDonald, 91, longtime resident of Grayson County and mother of Hayden McDonald of this city, died on Aug. 19 in McKinney Hospital after suffering a heart attack.

Funeral for Mrs. McDonald was held Tuesday, Aug. 22, at 2 p. m. in Elmwood Baptist Church near Van Alstyne. Burial was in the family cemetery nearby.

Deceased was born March 8, 1870 at Van Alstyne and had lived her entire life in that section. She married J. A. McDonald of Grayson County. He preceded her in death in the early 1930's.

Mrs. McDonald is survived by four daughters, Mrs. L. E. Poole of Hazelton, Idaho, Mrs. W. L. Neill of Howe, Mrs. J. L. Gleaves and Mrs. C. O. Phillips of Van Alstyne; four sons, S. A. and W. B. McDonald of Dallas, Hayden McDonald of Haskell and H. A. McDonald of Fort Worth; a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Verna Moody and Mary Ann were visitors in the home of Mrs. McDonald at Dodge of Abilene Sunday.

Judge Purcell, Wichita Falls, Lions Speaker

"We should live the kind of life which reflects respect, and see to it that our young people are kept morally and physically strong," Judge Graham Purcell, Judge 89th District Court, Wichita Falls, Texas, stressed in his talk before members of the Lions Club at the Tuesday noon-day luncheon meeting.

"Most of us have a strong tendency and are looking for too many excuses not to serve our church, town and community when we are called upon to do so, and these attitudes are not only reflected in our lives, but in the lives of our young people," Judge Purcell said.

"One of the greatest problems before us today is the fact that we are failing to get over to the young people the importance of accepting responsibility, and far too many of us are looking for the easy way out," the genial Judge pointed out.

"If we are to have a stronger nation, we are going to have to do a better job of setting the examples before our young people. I am happy to report, however, that less than three-percent of Texas Youth are involved in law violations," Judge Purcell continued.

Accompanying Judge Purcell to Haskell and introducing him at the luncheon was Sam Furr, of Olney. Other visitors noted Tuesday's session were Attorney Joe Williams and Judge Ben Charlie Chapman.

John Crawford was in charge of the program.

Prexy J. F. Cadenhead announced there would be an officers and directors meeting next Tuesday morning, Sept. 5, at 7 o'clock at the Highway Drive-In.

Wallace Cox Jr., who is in charge of next week's program, announced that Ruben Bates of Goree, a very forceful and interesting speaker, would bring the program at that time.

Lions were reminded that the District Governor will visit the club on Tuesday, Sept. 26.

Labor Day To Be Observed As Business Holiday Here

First Pep Rally of Season to Be Held Tonight In High School Gym

Everyone is invited to attend the first pep rally of the 1961 football season honoring the new Indian football squad. It will be held tonight (Thursday, Aug. 31) at 8 o'clock in the High School Gymnasium.

The rally program will include introduction of the new football team by Coach Ray Overton, a selection of band numbers directed by Frank Porter, and a number of yells given by the HHS cheer leaders. A skit will also be presented during the rally.

Come out and support the Indian football team before their first game against the Seymour Panthers.

Haskell merchants and their employees will observe a business holiday on Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 4, when practically all retail stores in the city will be closed for that day.

Labor Day is one of six holidays designated for observance in a poll of all business establishments and merchants conducted by the Chamber of Commerce.

Opening of the 1961-62 term of school, ordinarily scheduled on Monday, has been delayed until Tuesday, Sept. 5, because of the Labor Day holiday.

Monday will also be a holiday for all county officials and employees in the courthouse with the exception of the sheriff's department and the highway patrol. Also, offices in the City Hall will be closed for the day.

The date is also a legal holiday for the post office, as well as all federal and state agencies, including the State Highway maintenance department.

Cotton Trailers Affected by New Licensing Law

By F. W. Martin, County Agent

The licensing of cotton trailers has been affected by recent legislative action.

In effect, here are the main provisions under the New Trailer License Law:

Exempts cotton trailers up to 10,000 pounds from the regular, expensive full license fee.

Requires, however, that a $5.00 fee be paid to have each trailer registered and licensed. This is required for the ensuing or current calendar year or unexpired portion thereof and applies to trailers and farm semi-trailers with a gross weight exceeding 4,000 pounds but not exceeding 10,000 pounds. This applies to gins and farm-trailers.

Trailers not exceeding 4,000 pounds gross vehicle weight are exempt from license and registration.

The following safety features will be enforced:

Trailers weighing from 4,000 to 10,000 pounds are restricted to 30 miles per hour speed limit.

Adequate safety hitches are required (pinned or locked).

Reflectors and lights must be present and operative.

The Department of Public Safety warns that gins can lose their trailers if they put them out for hire or charge farmers for their use. They can also lose their exemptions by:

Allowing them to exceed the speed limit.

Not having an adequate hitch.

Not having operating lights and good reflectors.

Forms for registration and license plates will be made available through the county tax office.

Accompanying the Indians to Seymour will be the HHS Band and Pep Squad, along with a large delegation of supporters. Game time is 8 p. m.

A list of tentative starters for the Indians was not available Wednesday, pending last-minute shifts. Quite in contrast to recent years, Coaches Overton, Harrington and Browning have a strong line-up of potential starters and reserves.

Home Safety Program Kickoff Due Sept. 1

A year-round home safety program will be launched September 1 by Lone Star Gas Company and The Haskell Free Press.

"National Safety Council findings," Lone Star Gas Company Manager F. C. Hipp said here today, "show that home accidents are fundamentally the result of inadequate knowledge, insufficient skill and faulty attitudes. It is with these findings we have produced, as a public service, a home safety program having as its objective the saving of lives and the prevention of home accidents by teaching the individual how to detect and eliminate home hazards.

"A home accident kills an American man, woman or child every 19 minutes," Mr. Hipp continued, "and injures 480 every hour. These National Safety Council figures are stark reminders that our lives and the lives of our loved ones are in jeopardy every second of the day and night. We must learn to detect and eliminate home hazards now if we are to make our homes safe places in which to live."

Rev. LeMond Is Guest Speaker At Rotary Club

Methodists comprise the largest Protestant church group in the United States, with Southern Baptists a close second, Rev. C. R. LeMond told Rotarians at the noon luncheon and meeting during an informative talk on the organization of The Methodist Church.

Thos. B. Roberson was program chairman and introduced Rev. LeMond as guest speaker. His talk dealt with the various conferences which direct the work of the church, from the national conference every four years down to the local quarterly conferences. Each has a special function, the speaker explained. Although the system sounds complex, through teamwork and cooperation every member has an active part in formulating and carrying out the work of the church, the speaker stated.

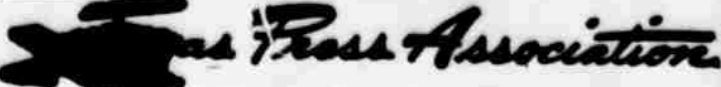

President R. A. Lane presided, and R. V. Woodard led the club sing song, with Mrs. A. C. Williams as pianist, substituting for Mrs. Ruthie Withers who could not be present.

Robt. R. King told members of the annual Rotary Golf Tournament in Wichita Falls Aug. 31, and urged that Haskell be represented.

Guests and visitors present were Rev. C. A. Holcomb and K. K. Francis of Stamford, and David Frierson, a guest of E. A. Russell.

Some Thoughts on Learning

It's back to school for the youngsters, and we remind ourselves that imitation is the most immediate form of learning. Children, especially, learn by doing; and they do what they see their parents do! "As the twig is bent so is the tree inclined."

If you want your children to have a spiritual understanding, as the Religion in American Life program suggests, don't merely point the way—lead it. Take your children to worship every week and after worship, practice what you have learned. Remember the old saying, "What you do speaks so loudly I cannot hear what you say."

Have you heard the story of the twins who lived in the same town—one was a medical doctor and one a preacher. On a Monday morning one of the twins was walking down Main Street when he was stopped by a passer-by who congratulated him on the sermon of the day before. Said he, "I am not the twin who preaches, I am the one who practices."

Find strength for your life through worship and then practice what you preach.

A Riddle: What's Good is Bad and What's Bad is Good

What's good is bad and what's bad is good. That is a basic point of an educational program being carried on in or near our community today. Although this program is aimed at the physician, it indirectly affects all of us.

The subject matter of the educational program is radiation in medicine, particularly x-rays. Used judiciously and skillfully by trained physicians, the great good achieved by x-ray examinations means longer life, good health and the best medical care. Radiation in excess, however, can also harm. When great quantities are involved, it can even kill and maim.

What is needed in medicine is proper weighing of the good against the possible hazard, so that the good can be constantly increased while the hazard can be just constantly reduced. Thus, the continuing educational program among doctors.

Spearheaded by radiologists, the physicians who specialize in the use of x-rays and other radiation in diagnosis and treatment, the program is under the supervision of the American College of Radiology, the radiologists' professional association. By special reports, lectures and films, this group sees to it that the physicians who use diagnostic x-ray or who send their patients to radiologists for x-ray examination in our community are informed of ways in which x-ray studies and examinations can improve their methods of diagnosis and treatment. Our doctors are also informed of the best ways possible to minimize the amount of radiation exposure necessary for an accurate diagnosis.

By getting more good out of x-ray examinations, our doctor is thereby able to diagnose our illnesses more accurately and treat them more effectively.

Money has a constant value and can always be replaced. Still, there is some money that a person can't bear the thought of losing.

Sammie Williams, 1961 graduate of Rochester High School who has enrolled as a student in McMurry College, felt that way about the money she had earned at Lane-Felker's recently.

She had placed the money, in currency, beneath a vase of flowers on a table in the living room when she went home.

That evening she accompanied her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delma Williams, to church at Pinkerton.

When they returned home and Sammie noticed her money was missing, she was to put it mildly—excited. When her father tried to calm her by saying he would give her money to replace the loss, she would have none of that. "I worked for that money and I want to find it," she declared, her eyes snapping.

Later, it turned out the pert college student had been the victim of a prank.

Another member of the family had transferred Sammie's money to another hiding place—beneath a bowl of fruit on the dining table.

Mr. Williams, laughing about the incident, said at first they thought someone conceivably could have entered the house and taken the money. "It's a good thing it turned out as it did," he laughed. "Otherwise that girl would have had me to call in every officer available, including Rangers and the FBI."

Mention of the Haskell-Albany road recently caused Millard Melton, farmer living between Haskell and Rule, to recall that he traveled the old road in 1913 as a youngster. He does not recall just where the road crossed the Clear Fork, but believes he would recognize the hills and surroundings at the fording place.

"The way I remember it, the road was plenty rough as it neared the crossing, but it was still used, principally by fishermen and hunters going to the river," he said.

Mrs. Ching Middleton recalls traveling the old road when she was a girl, her parents having settled near the Clear Fork in the southeast part of the county.

Her father, the late "Gat" Cobb, would move his family to Haskell each fall in order that the children could attend school. Then in the spring and summer, the family would be back on the ranch.

Mrs. Middleton says that to the best of her recollection the road crossed the Clear Fork near the old Wolf Creek ranch house near the southeast corner of Haskell County.

The road linked the county seats of Shackelford and Haskell Counties and was heavily traveled for more than two decades by stagecoach and mail hacks. With the coming of railroads, the road gradually fell into disuse until today it would probably be a difficult task to re-trace its exact route.

It now appears that the beer and liquor establishments in The Strip and along Bourbon Drive on the south edge of Haskell County may soon lose some of their most valued customers—the Abilene clientele.

Abilene's satellite on the north, the little city of Impact, has petitioned for a local option election with Sept. 23 as the possible date.

Also, a move is on foot to seek a local option election in Abilene. However, no one takes the movement seriously, most Abilenians were saying last weekend.

But Impact is a different story. Many will wager that the newly-created city will go "wet," and predict it will become the Oasis of West Central Texas.

If that happens, it is freely predicted that at least 50 percent of the traffic from the Taylor County metropolis to The Strip and Haskell County's "wet edge" will immediately be shut off.

Bob Craig in his News and Views column of The Hamlin Herald points out that Friday, Sept. 1, will be a "red letter" day this year.

He cited the fact that the Pied Pipers (as do the Haskell Indians) open the 1961 football season on that date, the new Texas sales tax becomes effective, and the dove hunting season opens, all on Sept. 1.

To which it might be added here will be no such thing as a game warden in Texas after Sept. 1. But before you remove the plug from your shotgun well add that instead of wardens they'll be known as conservation officers and they'll rove just as quickly on game law violations as those wardens were become accustomed to over the years.

Another Sept. 1 happening will be a hike in the cost of driving an automobile. Your operator's license will cost you $3 instead of $2 as formerly.

We often wonder if people who make anonymous telephone calls and write unsigned letters get any real satisfaction from their activities.

Newspapers, because of their role in community affairs, are a favorite target of critics who hide behind the cloak of anonymity. Most of the criticism by anonymous writers or callers is of such trivial nature that it is not worth considering. Some, however, is downright annoying and sometimes threatening in nature.

In recent weeks a persistent caller has taken us to task via the telephone for "not printing the news."

To which we plead guilty both times—we just can't assemble the facts and write the stories about all the news-worthy events that take place in Haskell and vicinity—but we do the best we can.

But the particular "news" which our caller referred to wasn't news in our opinion. Further, we probably knew more of the facts than our caller did. Publishing the so-called "news" would only have hurt some good people who didn't deserve to be hurt.

Surprisingly, very little if any criticism from anonymous sources involves community issues or local politics, and we are glad it is that way. In other words, when Haskell people disagree on politics or community affairs they have the courage to stand up and be counted. They don't go behind, underhanded, anonymous route.

Newspapers are not the only profession or business pestered by anonymous callers.

A Haskell beauty shop operator relates that in recent weeks she has been called by a Negro woman asking if the caller would be accorded service.

When told the shop had no facilities and could not take the woman, the shop owner was told bluntly: "Well, you just wait a few years and you will take colored women, Miss Prissy So-and-So."

The same call has been made at least twice, the beauty operator reported. In her own words she is "getting darned tired of it."

Chas. Conner says that people don't live as "close to the Bible" as they did not too many years back, and neither do they have the proper appreciation for the good things that come their way.

Many old-timers will agree, as they recall how early settlers of Haskell would gather during periods of drought to hold mass prayer meetings for

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A DAY IN A LIFE TIME
Four-thirty A. M., August 21, 1961.

The day had arrived to deliver our little friend, Bobby, to Cal Farley's Boys Ranch.

Mr. R. L. Stephenson had been allotted— or permitted— this chore and he welcomed the hour for starting. It was one of those made-to-order mornings when the stars were twinkling and blinking just like they were when the Psalmist declared, "The heavens declare the Glory of God."

Although we were happy for the privilege of taking Bobby to the Boys Ranch, and we could repeat to him his opportunities to make good there, we were constantly mindful that his associates there would be 275 errant boys, challenging and daring him to be—A He Boy.

In our group were Mr. Stephenson, Johnny Adkins, Mr. W. H. Robertson, Judge Alvis, Bobby and myself. At 7 A. M. we arrived at Childress where we enjoyed a good breakfast and found that Mr. Stephenson, true to his way of life, had picked up the check.

We were due in the office at Amarillo at 10 A. M. At 9:58 A. M. we were there. That is a beautiful modern brick building in a residential section of the city. There we met several assistants and secretaries and then our delight was to meet Mr. Cal Farley. After a short visit there, which was filled with information about the founding and operation of the Ranch, we were assigned a boy to direct us to the home which is some 35 miles northwest of Amarillo.

Arriving at the ranch, Bobby was cordially greeted and welcomed to his new home. This was another office building housing a manager, assistants and secretary. Our entire group met and visited with the personnel there. We heard a good sermon by the manager in charge there as he instructed Bobby as to requirements of that institution. He was told that he must always be trustworthy in comradeship, and in all matters of trust and honor.

We ate the noon meal with the boys. It was prepared and served by the boys under supervision of the Chefs.

Tables were set for 275 boys, eight to each table. The room and every thing in it was just as clean and polished as though we were eating in our own homes. Judge Alvis and I ate at one table, and the other men of our group at another table. At our table was a boy from Jones County who will be leaving the ranch soon. He had many commendations and words of appreciation for Cal Farley and the management of Boys Ranch. There was also a boy there from Arizona. His face showed mixed parentage and his story of neglect was pathetic.

Each little "Farley Knight" as he finished his meal, excused himself from the table, expressed his appreciation of our visit, invited us back and went his way.

We were appointed a guide to show and acquaint us with the ranch. This man had been chaplain there for six years.

We started at the horse lot. They have a very highly prized Palomino stallion and several of his colts and other nice riding horses.

The dairy herd would be a prize winner in any state fair. The milking is done by hand. The cows are stanchioned to the feeders at the proper distance to allow two boys between them so that each cow is milked by two boys.

The swimming pool is a crystal clear lake built in the hillside. A wall separates the swimming pool from the fishing. They have under construction an inside pool for swimming.

The workshops are very lightly equipped for teaching the boys mechanics and crafts. For boys who want livestock projects they are furnished the stock, the feed, the stall and supervision.

Living quarters have been wonderfully improved in recent years. They began the ranch some 22 years ago in army barracks. Today they have several modern brick homes, perhaps about the $35,000.00 type. Each home will take care of 12 boys. They have all the conveniences of the best homes of our country.

The terrain there is a hilly, broken country. The La Tourna heavy dirt moving equipment was in operation moving hills sometimes 20 feet in depth and some places a distance of 800 feet, to make a fill for a building site.

They told us that several of those $35,000.00 residences were contributions from boy-loving individuals and there is yet an opening and an opportunity for such expressions of faith in unloved boys.

The Chapel building is very attractive and has seating capacity for the present needs of the ranch. They have choir practice and bible study there every day.

Only an inspired Prophet could forecast the life of a boy growing up in such surroundings.

When we reached our homes in Haskell we were of one accord, that we had had a very profitable day and that we loved Cal Farley because he loves little Bobby.

J. M. Crawford

WILL YOUR VOTES BE WORTH THE PRICE THAT WILL BE PAID BY SO MANY?

We are now beginning to see some of the results of the election in Precinct 4, Haskell County, since the sale of whiskey and beer was legalized.

Recently, a nicely dressed man, with a good car, ran into the posts along the highway, wrecking his car. When the officers arrived, he was crying, and said: "I have a wife and seven children, now what will they think?" The officers told him that he should have thought of them before buying the whiskey and beer, that caused the wreck.

This is just one of the many results that we will see from that election. There will be many more, some more serious, that will cause injuries and some deaths, besides the damages.

The wives and children of these misguided victims, are the innocent ones that will have to suffer for food and clothes, and bear the burdens of disgrace and embarrassment, resulting from drunken drivers.

Only a few of those voters who voted to legalize whiskey and beer will share in the money spent by these thoughtless victims, who spend money they need for their families, to debauch themselves, and deprive those for whom they are responsible of the necessities of life.

The writer saw three pictures that size up the true results of whiskey and beer elections. The first showed a man at a bar, saying to the bartender, with a bottle and glass, "fill it up."

The second one showed this drinker at a filling station, saying, "fill 'er up." The third picture showed an open grave, with a casket, the fatal results of drunk driving. This time, the Undertaker will give the orders, "fill up the grave." But the pain and anguish to those who will suffer for time to come, to wives and orphan children, it will take time, courage and God's Grace to heal the aching hearts of needy ones.

We have just seen one of the fatal results of this election. The death of a man employed to care for one of these whiskey stores near Rule that was killed by robbers, who took his money, and that of the store owner. This man would not have died there, had it not been for that election.

As the voters who voted for whiskey realize more of the results of their votes, that may come to some of their own loved ones, who will have to suffer, for food, clothes and education, as results of injuries and deaths, and other law violations, will they feel their responsibility for a vote that never made a better man, nor made a Christian.

As we have to answer for our acts, and we realize that injuries and deaths have resulted from this and other elections, that legalize the sale of whiskey, that has never made any man, a better man, nor helped to make better citizen, don't you feel a greater responsibility to change your vote to try to better your community and save some one of your family and some friend from their certain downfall, and try to make your community a better place to rear your children?

Respectfully and sincerely,
W. H. Littlefield

Walton-Bahnsen Wedding Vows Read Saturday in First Baptist Church

Nelta Wuyonne Walton and Kenneth A. Bahnsen were united in marriage Saturday evening in a double ring ceremony read in the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. D. S. Moore officiated at the 8 o'clock rites. Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Frank Martin, organist, and Bill Goff, soloist.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Walton of Haskell, and Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Bahnsen of Vinton, La.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her formal gown of white silk-faced satin was accented with appliques of re-embroidered French alencon lace. The fitted bodice was designed with a semi-rounded neckline, long pointed sleeves which tapered to form petal points over her hands, and a diagonal trim of applied lace.

The dome shape of the skirt was created by diagonal pleats falling from the sides with fullness of the skirt unfolding across the arched back to create a court train. The skirt front was applied symmetrically in re-embroidered lace.

Her bouffant fingertip veil of imported silk illusion fell from a queen's crown of seed pearls with single teardrop pearls at each point. She carried white feathered carnations centered with a white orchid on a white Bible. She wore pearl drop earrings and carried a white silk handkerchief belonging to her grandfather.

Glenda Walton was her sister's maid of honor and Judy Baries, Gwen Miller of McKinney, Patty Ramsey of Irving and Mrs. Bobby Richardson of Dallas were bridesmaids. Miss Walton wore a gown of shrimped colored satin with low rounded neckline and three-quarter length raglan sleeves. Bridesmaids dresses were fashioned like the maid of honor's except that the sleeves were short. All wore matching net hats. Miss Walton carried a bouquet of white carnations and bridesmaids carried single carnations.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Ushers were Robert Benit, uncle of the bridegroom, and Edward Thorp, cousin of the bridegroom, both of McCamey, Allen McCall, the bridegroom's cousin, of Vinton, La., and Bobby Richardson of Dallas.

The bride's sister, Terry Lynn Walton, was flower girl. Larry Walton, the bride's brother, and Randal Hise of Knox City, her cousin, lighted candles.

A reception in the church Fellowship Hall followed the ceremony. In the house party were Jane Giles, Corine Thompson, Barbara Grand, and Mmes. Pat Morrison, Vinton Moore and Vergil Smith.

For a wedding trip to Oklahoma City, Okla., the bride chose a tailored suit of beige and white pin-checked arnel and cotton with matching accessories.

The bride was graduated from Paint Creek High School, Cisco Junior College and North Texas State University where she was a physical education major and a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, Angel's Fight and Delta Psi Kappa. She is employed by Hockalay Girls' School in Dallas.

Bahnsen was graduated from Vinton High School and attended Tyler Junior College. He holds a master's degree in physical education from North Texas State University where he was a member of Blue Key and was named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. He was a member of the football team at NTSU and played professional football for the San Francisco Forty-Niners. He teaches and coaches football and tennis at NTSU.

After Sept. 1st, the couple will reside at 1234 Ave. A, in Denton.

The bride's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner in their home.

Lighter Guns for Older Men

As a man gets older he should shoot lighter guns. It will greatly improve his shooting.

Slowing reflexes respond better when the gun is lighter. So, if you have reached the 50-60-70 year bracket, and find that your shooting is getting progressively worse, lay down that 12 gauge, and pick up a .20.

New Law Requires License for Farm Trailers, Other Vehicles

Provisions of a new law (House Bill 1062) passed by the last Legislature concerning licensing of farm trailers, water well drilling machinery, road construction machinery, etc., become effective Sept. 15. Tax Assessor - Collector Elizabeth Stewart has been advised.

Because of the many new provisions and the short time before the law goes into effect, some of the highlights of the bill are listed below. For full information, the tax assessor-collector's office should be consulted.

Replacement Plates Not Authorized: If a farm-trailer or machinery plate is lost or destroyed, a replacement plate is not authorized. A new plate must be issued and a fee of $5 reported.

Duplicate License Receipts: It is not necessary for "farm-trailer" and "Machinery" license receipts be carried on the vehicles for which issued.

Application for "Farm Trailer" Plates: The owner of a fleet of farm trailers may use only one application for the entire fleet. Each trailer may be described on the front or back of the application.

Serial Numbers for Farm Trailers: It is not necessary for the owner of a home made or shop built farm trailer to apply for a serial number. If the trailer is factory-built and bears a factory stamped serial number, then such number should be shown on the license receipt. If a farmer or cotton gin operator has equipment numbers painted on his trailers, these numbers may be shown in the serial number space on the license receipt.

Farm Fertilizer Trailers: Farm fertilizer trailers owned by fertilizer distributors cannot be issued farm trailer plates.

Water Well Drilling Machinery: This machinery must be used solely for the purpose of drilling water wells and cannot be designed to transport property other than the drilling machine. This means that only the drilling unit may qualify for "machinery" plates.

Other Machinery: All machinery type vehicles other than machinery used solely for the purpose of drilling water wells and road construction machinery must now be registered with regular license plates and application for title applied for if title has not already been issued.

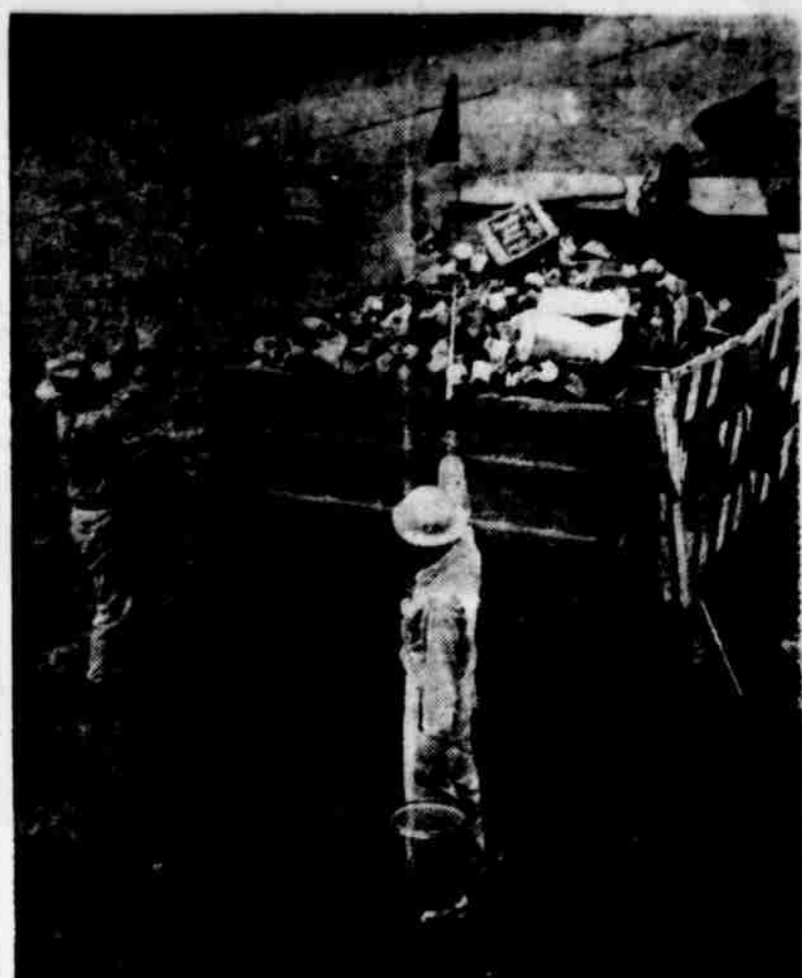

License Not Required If Not Operated on Highway: Many pieces of machinery such as discussed above are not operated or moved on the public highways but are conveyed from one project to another on a trailer, usually of the low-boy type. Such machinery when conveyed on a registered trailer is not required to be registered or licensed.

Coat Hangers for Decoys
Crow hunters—here's a novel decoy.
Stretch old black socks over wire coat hangers. Twist hangers to resemble crow's shape, stretch on socks, then hang here and there on tree limbs around your blind.

Hangers and socks are easy to carry and are very effective, especially when used in conjunction with a good crow call that is expertly used.

To Cut Glare From Sights
Smoke the front and rear sights of your rifle to overcome glare that could spoil your aim at a crucial moment. Pass sight several times through the flame of a burning match.

Condensed Milk for Glue
You have an emergency glue right in camp.
Use condensed milk!
It will glue just about everything—wood, paper, plastic, etc. Just apply and let dry as you would actual glue.

"YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU" is the thoughtless attitude of the litterbug, who leaves a trail of trash on the highways which Texas Highway Department maintenance crews clean up by the truckload as shown here. Duck Season To Be Short, Opens Nov. 18th

Hunters disappointed over the short duck season and low bag limit may find some consolation in the snow and blue geese possibilities. There is every indication that there will be a heavy migration of these two species into Texas again this year, according to Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

The duck season will begin Nov. 18 and close Dec. 17, running for 30 days only, with a bag limit of three per day, and six in possession. The season is closed on redheads, canvasbacks and blackbellied tree ducks. Under the seasonal limit is offered by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Texas could have had a 40-day season, for a 2-duck kill. However, the Commission felt that it would be better in Texas to increase the bag limit and shorten the season. This, in effect, will give hunters an opportunity for a better total kill.

These dates also were set because, in surveys of recent years by the Commission waterfowl biologists, this was found to be the big success period of the season.

The goose season will be 60 days, beginning Nov. 3 and closing Jan. 1. The limit will be five a day, and five in possession. This limit may include two Canadas or one speckled belly and one Canada. It may include, in addition, three blue or snows, or it will be possible to have five snows and/or blues with no specks and honkers.

The duck season will open at 12 noon the first day, and the will be from sunrise to sunset thereafter. The goose season will open at sunrise the first day, and will close at sunset.

The short season and bag limit was not unexpected, according to Dodgen. There has been an extreme drought in the Canadian provinces, particularly in that area which is the nesting ground of the Central Flyway. The prairie potholes of Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan were hard hit. The conditions in the Mississippi Flyway are comparable to those of the Central Flyway, but in that flyway the duck season has been set at 40 days with a bag limit of two ducks per day.

In the Pacific Flyway, conditions were a little better, and a longer season and larger bag limit was allowed.

Farmer Proves Value of Burrs as Soil Builder

Haskell County is under way. Cotton burrs are making a name for themselves as the cheapest means of protecting and improving the soil. Cloud is thoroughly convinced of the value of burrs. He says they help in several ways. One of the most important ways is by preventing wind erosion. He has never had any trouble with land blowing where burrs have been used. Secondly, the burrs add plant food and help the soil to hold more water. He also believes that the burrs have helped to lessen root rot.

He says the real value shows up at harvest time. By using skip row farming, Cloud produced a bale of cotton to the acre in 1960. He noted that some of the lighter soil yielded as well as the better soil after an application of burrs. This increase was also noticeable the second year after the burrs were applied.

Cloud prefers to use about 4 tons of burrs per acre. He distributes them in the fall and early winter and leaves them on the surface until spring. During seedbed preparation, the burrs are mixed with the top 4 to 5 inches of soil. He believes the burrs do the most good when they are kept near the surface. He plans to start using fertilizer with the burrs to maintain soil fertility.

The benefits Cloud received from the burrs made him realize the waste that was occurring each fall when tons of burrs were being burned. He has worked hard the past two years to overcome this wastefulness.

Cloud has worked with farmers and ginners throughout the area to stimulate interest in the use of burrs. He recalls one meeting last fall when an expected crowd of 25 or 30 farmers turned out to be 260.

Men like J. W. Cloud have rendered a valuable service to their communities by encouraging farmers to make use of a "so called" waste product and do a better job of conserving the soil.

Shown above are cotton burrs distributed evenly on soil, followed by chiseling operation. Burrs were applied at the rate of six tons per acre in the fall of 1960.

Haskell, Sagerton Students Receive Degrees at Tech

Two students from Haskell and one from Sagerton received degrees Saturday evening at commencement exercises held at Texas Technological College in Lubbock.

Thomas Vestus Alvis, agricultural education major, received a Bachelor of Science degree from the School of Agriculture.

James Ashley Byrd, Jr., a graduate from the School of Engineering, was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree in electrical engineering.

Kelby Winston Ulmer of Sagerton, accounting major, was awarded a Bachelor degree in business administration.

and after that date will be increased from $2 to $3 for a two-year period, the commercial driver's license will increase from $3 to $4.50 for a one-year period, and the chauffeur's license will go up from $4 to $6 per year.

The fee for a duplicate of a lost license will remain at 25 cents.

"We urge all drivers to be sure they send the right amount in with their renewal applications," said Col. Homer Harrison, Jr., DPS Director. "Those which are accompanied by the old fee after Sept. 1 will have to be returned to the sender, causing unnecessary delay and inconvenience."

C. W. Harder

In the recent survey of independent business sentiment on the President's proposed 10 point tax reform program conducted by the National Federation of Independent Business among its district chairmen, the one point they were overwhelmingly in favor of, by a whopping 83.4% was the recommendation to place cooperatives under same tax laws as private business with which they compete.

Under today's system when money is power, and money represents the power to modernize a business to continue to compete, or to expand to also survive, a private business can only retain that part of its earnings remaining after taxes to make any necessary improvements. First earnings must be diverted for taxes before anything else.

But cooperatives who are competing with private independent business are permitted to retain even 100% of the earnings in the business. Members are given I.O.U.'s on which they pay no personal tax until such time as the paper is picked up for cash.

Thus, it is no problem for cooperatives to continue to expand, while their privately operated competitors, unable to escape taxes in this fashion, are greatly handicapped.

Commenting on this measure, one district chairman, a leading businessman in northwest, claims over 40% of nation's business now moves through tax-free cooperatives.

The reduced benefits now payable to retired men and women at age 62 result in the same total payment received by age 77 as if they had waited until age 65 to begin receipt.

To many businessmen, with the widespread growth of business enterprises under the guise of cooperatives, there is a strong drive toward socialism in the country.

As one district chairman commented, "Am definitely for taxing cooperatives the same as every other business. These co-ops are a form of socialism and socialism has about ruined Sweden and every other country where it exists."

Others commented unless cooperatives are put under the same regulations as independent business, in due time, there will not be employment producing enterprise. The survey showed quite a concern among businessmen on the question of providing more jobs for Americans.

On the president's proposal to tax undistributed income U. S. corporations derive from foreign plants, 71.9% voted in favor of this reform.

As one of the businessmen—district chairman commented, "If labor costs keep driving industry into foreign locations, there eventually won't be any source of taxes here."

Another commented "American plants in foreign countries are there for two reasons, first, to exploit cheap labor; and second, to avoid taxation."

Or as another substantial businessman—district chairman commented "I have checked on the number of American owned plants abroad, and it looks like more to come. No wonder there is so much unemployment here."

In the 249 page survey report there is ample evidence everywhere, thinking citizens are asking "There may be problems in Timbuctoo, but what about us American folks at home?"

Fallout Shelter Needs Told In Leaflet

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States in Washington, D. C., has announced publication of a leaflet "Fiction and Facts About Family Fallout Shelters."

The leaflet is designed to promote America's lagging civil defense program.

"As Russia achieves an unmistakable capability of launching a successful nuclear attack on the United States, our nation must have more than a retaliatory capability," the Chamber says. "We must also have the ability to survive such an attack, to recover, and to rebuild."

Orders of 1 to 9 copies of the leaflet are available free to the public. Special prices for bulk orders. Write: Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Washington 6, D. C.

Farmers Advised To Treat Small Grain Seed Early

Treat small grain seed for higher yields and greater profits. That's the advice of R. J. Hodges, extension agronomist, who reminds farmers that the time for treating is now—even though small grain seeding time is still a few weeks away.

By treating now, the farmer can avoid the seasonal rush and be sure the crop is protected against disease, Hodges points out.

When treating wheat, oats, barley or rye, be sure to use a mercury treatment. By applying a mercury treatment early, the farmer gains the additional benefit of "vapor action." Vapor action assures that all disease organisms on the seed surface and inside cracks and crevices are killed.

As the seed is treated, small amounts of the chemical are deposited on each seed. Within a few hours, organic mercury on the seed vaporizes, and the vapors surround the kernels and penetrate into the cracks. The vapors later condense and become permanently and uniformly attached to the seed. They will not dust off or deteriorate while the seed is in storage or in the drill.

Even after the treated seeds are planted, the treatment continues to protect the seed from disease organisms in the soil, says Hodges.

For further information on seed treatment, contact your local county agent.

Farm Management Short Course At Paint Creek Sept. 4 to 8

A farm management short course for adult farmers and their wives will be held Sept. 4 through 8 under the sponsorship of the Paint Creek High School Vocational Agriculture Department, according to H. P. Morrison, Superintendent and W. L. Medford, teacher of vocational agriculture. It is recognized that wives are often the "bookkeeper and manager," and they are especially invited to attend this course.

Carl G. Anderson Jr., farm management specialist with the vocational agriculture division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology at Texas A.M. College, will do the instructing in the course. He is quartered at Texas A.M. College.

Anderson holds two college degrees in Agricultural Economics, a B. S. Degree from Texas A.M. and an M. S. degree from L.S.U. In addition to college work and research work in farm management, Mr. Anderson has had several years of on-the-farm experience.

"Many farm management short courses in various parts of the state have been taught by Anderson and all have met with outstanding success," according to Clemon Montgomery, area supervisor of vocational agriculture, Big Spring, Texas. Arrangements for the adult education short course in farm management and in other fields are made through Montgomery's office.

The short course at Paint Creek is scheduled to begin on Sept. 4 at 7:30 p. m. in the vocational agriculture building. Other meetings in the series of the course will be held through Sept. 8. During the dates the short course is in progress, Anderson will be available to assist farmers with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Medford.

Farmers interested in attending the short course should call the Superintendent of Schools, H. P. Morrison, or the teacher of vocational agriculture, W. L. Medford. An enrollment fee of $2.00 will be charged; no fee will be charged for wives accompanying their husbands. Farm Management Short Course Certificates will be presented to each farmer

Four Applications of Sales Tax Explained by State Comptroller

Proceeds of a parent-teacher association box supper are subject to the new sales tax, State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert ruled at Austin Monday.

Calvert handed down four new interpretations on administration of the 2 per cent levy on sales over 24 cents which becomes effective on Friday. Monday's regulations cover meals served for human consumption, service stations, food and food products, and sales for resale.

"Persons engaged in the business of preparing, serving and selling meals, or parts thereof, are obligated to collect and remit sales tax on all such meals," Calvert said. "The tax applies to the sales of meals served by restaurants, hotels, boarding houses, soda fountains, private clubs and any other operations where meals are served, either on or off the premises.

Calvert gave some examples: Where hotels or boarding houses use the so-called American plan for rooms and meals, the charges for meals must be shown separately, so they can be taxed or the entire amount for board and room will be taxed 3 per cent under the hotel occupancy tax.

Alcoholic beverages, which are under a state sales tax already, are not subject to the tax unless they are served with meals, then they are taxed as a part of the meal.

Meals served by caterers or concessionaires are subject to the tax. This includes food sold to persons seated in a bleacher section or in a stadium, Calvert said.

Food served by vending machines is subject to the tax if seating or eating facilities are furnished adjacent to the machines. If there are no such facilities, then there is no tax on the food.

Meals and food served by public or private schools, school districts, student organizations, or parent-teacher associations, to the students or teachers of an elementary or high school during the regular school day are exempt from the tax. This does not apply to food sold to students of universities, colleges or junior colleges.

Neither does the exemption apply to the luncheon guest of a teacher.

"It is specifically stipulated in the law that the exemption is to the student and the teacher only, not to members of the parents-teachers association or to members of student organizations," Calvert said.

Oh, No! Not Those Migrating Snakes Again!

Remember those migrating rattlesnakes of two years ago, killed by the hundreds as they attempted to crawl across the Throckmorton Highway in early autumn?

The rattlers have started moving around again with the first touch of autumn weather, and we might be in for another mass migration of diamond-backs.

Shortly after dusk Sunday, the unidentified driver of a car noticed a rattler crossing the pavement in front of Brazelton Lumber Co. Swerving his car, he ran a front wheel over the snake. Stopping immediately, the occupants of the car finished off the three-foot diamond-back with rocks.

Monday morning, "Skeet" Miller, substitute carrier on the rural route which runs through Scott's Ranch, ran over a 5-foot rattler as the reptile was crawling across the road.

The big rattler, coiling in the bar ditch and still full of fight, was dispatched with a rock. Brought to town, the snake measured a full five feet, two inches, minus at least two inches of rattles broken off when "Skeet" laid down a barrage of rocks.

"Skeet" said a friend had asked for the snake, with the intention of making a belt out of the skin of the big reptile.

Nation's Producers Approve Quotas on 1962 Wheat Crop

Haskell County wheat farmers, in balloting last Thursday, approved marketing quotas of the 1962 wheat crop by a vote of 187 to 40, or 82.4 per cent for the program. As a result, growers will get $2 a bushel price support on the 1962 crop.

In Thursday's national referendum held in the 39 commercial wheat states, the growers also supported a 10 per cent cut in acreage and a government plan to turn millions of acres of wheat land over to conservation uses.

Out of 265,886 votes cast in the referendum, 211,199 favored the Agriculture Department's proposed program. This represented 79.4 per cent of those voting. Two-thirds had to approve the program to put it into effect. Texas voted 13,092 to 3,507 or 78.9 per cent for the program.

This was the ninth consecutive year wheat farmers have approved marketing quotas.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman had urged farmers to approve the program, saying it would increase their income 10 to 15 per cent next year.

Approval means farmers will get $2 a bushel price support—

New Sales Tax Hits Newspaper Subscriptions

The new Texas sales tax which becomes effective on Sept. 1 will apply to mail newspaper subscriptions. The Free Press has been advised. The tax will not apply on single copy sales, but would be applicable if three or more copies were purchased in one lot.

Tax on new and renewal subscriptions after Sept. 1 will be 5 cents on the $2.50 rate in Haskell and adjoining counties; 8 cents on the $3.75 rate outside the Haskell zone. The tax does not apply on subscriptions to addresses outside Texas.

Boll Weevils Hit Cotton Fields Near Rochester

Heavy damage from boll weevils has been reported this week in the area west of Rochester and along the Double Mountain Fork of the Brazos.

It is feared that considerable damage may result from the infestation, since the weevils are difficult to control by spraying at this stage.

So far, the infestation has not been widespread, but where the weevils have hit most of the cotton crop has been wiped out.

Revenue from garbage collection netted the city $9,162 during 1960.
