Ask Us

Q—Is it true that people who take care of renting the barn and community centers in Scurry County keep the money? How are these people hired?

A—Those individuals are paid $50 a month by the county and also keep the rental fees. They are hired by the parks and coliseum superintendent. County commissioners are currently reviewing the policy of charging for use of the centers.

The president, usually very active, has been putting time into his schedule to rest between meetings, although he does not take naps, Fitzwater told reporters. Bush rests in an easy chair in the study off the Oval Office, he said.

Walls plant here to close July 12

Over 100 garment industry workers to lose jobs

Walls Industries, Inc. will close its plant here effective July 12, Pete Devaney, director of employee relations, has announced.

He said the outlet store will remain open. "This will be a total plant closing, and is intended to be a permanent situation, with the exception of several people retained to operate our retail outlet," Devaney said.

The Snyder plant currently employs 106 people, including outlet personnel, with an annual payroll of approximately $1.6 million. According to Walls Industries' office in Cleburne, a plant manager and one sewing machine mechanic will be offered to relocate. Other employees will be offered positions in nearby plants "as openings occur."

Walls has seven other plants in Texas, including ones in Big Spring, Sweetwater and Merkel. They will remain open.

"We have today taken difficult but necessary steps to achieve significant manufacturing reductions required by worsening economic conditions, unseasonably warm winters the past several years, and unfavorable operating conditions in the state of Texas," the garment manufacturer stated in a written announcement to the Snyder Chamber of Commerce. "We have found it necessary to reduce the number of manufacturing plants in Texas. The Snyder plant is the location we have chosen to be closed."

Size of the store and the garments produced are said to be key reasons for the shut-down in Snyder. The local plant is one of the smallest, and produces insulated coveralls. The rising cost of worker's compensation insurance in Texas is another major reason. Walls officials noted that the cost for worker's comp in Texas is 10 times that in Alabama, where Walls Industries has a garment manufacturing interests under another name.

Walls closing prompts EDC to set meeting

Scurry County Economic Development Committee will meet at 10 a.m. Thursday to outline strategy in response to the news that Walls Industries, Inc. is closing its Snyder plant.

Jack Smartt, chairman of the committee, said local officials will first attempt to meet with representatives from the Walls headquarters in Cleburne in an attempt to convince the garment manufacturer to keep the plant open.

Should that effort fail, the committee will research the industry in an attempt to locate a company which might be interested in locating to Snyder.

"Our asset is that we have a trained work pool," said Smartt, who noted that 80 of the over 100 employees affected by the July 12 closing are sewing machine operators.

The meeting will be held in the chamber of commerce boardroom.

The announcement stated that the decision was made "with great reluctance," and only after measures such as shorter work weeks in all factories and reductions in outside contractors failed to yield a balance of manufacturing capability to sales.

"Please be assured the community of Snyder has been a great place to maintain a manufacturing presence," the statement added.

The lack of utilization of the Walls Industries plant here will calculate to an estimated loss in property value of some $319,000, said L.R. Peveler, Scurry County Appraisal District chief appraiser.

Peveler, who cautioned that the figures are preliminary estimates, said the loss of the property value would translate to about $6,290 in taxes, including $3,316 to Snyder ISD, $1,240 to the city, $1,007 to the county and $625 to the college.

The plant has been located in Snyder for over 14 years and employs 80 sewing machine operators, 10 service persons, four supervisors, two janitors and two office clerks, a plant manager, office clerk and a quality control inspector.

Tami Wishert, local outlet manager, said store hours will remain 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and 1-5 p.m. Sunday. The store is located at 1600 Scott St.

CEO optimistic following joint commission visit

It will take six weeks for the final word to come down from Chicago, but hospital CEO Tim Lancaster said Wednesday he is optimistic Cogdell Memorial Hospital will receive another three-year accreditation from the Joint Commission.

"The visit went extremely well. It was a much, much better survey than the one three years ago," Lancaster said. "I don't have any reason to think we won't receive another three-year accreditation."

A three-member team from the Joint Commission for Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations (JCAHO) finalized its official visit here Tuesday, after touring the Price Daniel Unit clinic.

JCAHO had given the hospital (see HOSPITAL, page 8)

OMAR BURLESON

Burleson dead at 85

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Former U.S. Rep. Omar Burleson, who served in Congress for 32 years, died Tuesday night at an Abilene hospital. He was 85.

Burleson was first elected in 1946 as a Democrat from the 17th Congressional District, which includes the cattle and oil country of West Texas.

He was born on his family's farm near Anson in 1906, but had lived in Abilene since retiring from Congress in 1979. He was chairman of the House Administration Committee when he left office.

Burleson was secretary to U.S. Rep. Sam Russell of Texas in 1941 and 1942, and also served as general counsel for the Housing Authority of the District of Columbia in 1942.

He attended school in Abilene, about 25 miles north of Anson, (see BURLESON, page 8)

Our friend has watched the Austin scene so long that his cynicism is beginning to show. When asked if he'd reached any conclusions, we got a gloomy reply.

$5 energy fine could replace speeding ticket on highways

From wire, local reports AUSTIN (AP) — Texans could drive up to 70 miles an hour on most major interstate highways for a $5 fine under a bill tentatively approved Tuesday by the House.

Drivers could even buy coupons so that if stopped by a law enforcement officer for speeding, they could pay the fine on the spot.

If one-third of licensed drivers in Texas bought the coupon books, the state could raise about $100 million a year, Rep. Tom Craddick, bill sponsor, said.

The bill would bite into county budgets, however. "It would amount to a major decrease in revenue taken into the office," said Wanda Rushing, Scurry County justice of the peace. Although she had no breakdown on how many traffic violations are actually for excessive speed, she noted that the county receives $29.75 on each ticket for speeding violations up to 70 miles per hour. She added that two-thirds of her office's revenue of $413,079.01 is generated by fines from all traffic violations.

The bill would apply to highways that were authorized for 70 mph traffic before the federal government in 1974 lowered the speed limit nationwide, and to those driving between 55 mph and 70 mph.

"If you get caught speeding, you pay a $5 fine for excessive use of energy," said Craddick, R-Midland.

People could buy the $5 coupons, in books of five, from the state. The coupons would be good for one year. The fine would not turn up on a (see SPEEDING, page 8)

Don't think that kids don't have attentive ears. A Snyder mother heard her six-year-old son use an unacceptable word the other day. The mother immediately read him his rights. "You know better than that," scolded the mother. "You don't even know what the word means."

"I sure do," said the kid in his own defense. "It means you can't find the car keys."

The little ears story reminded us of the father who had some buddies over to his house for a friendly card game. During the game, a few beers were consumed.

The next morning at breakfast, the father's five-year-old finished his orange juice, handed his glass to his mother and demanded, "Here, put a head on this."

House tentatively okays crime bills

AUSTIN (AP) — It would become a crime in Texas for someone to sexually assault his or her spouse under a bill tentatively approved by the House.

Under current law, spouses can be prosecuted only if the sexual assault is aggravated. That means it involves serious bodily injury; threats of death, kidnapping or serious injury; a deadly weapon; or a victim under age 14.

"We need to be protecting all the people of our society, including people who are married to their assailant," said Rep. Debra Danburg, D-Houston, bill sponsor.

Sexual assault is a felony punishable by up to 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Aggravated sexual assault is punishable by up to life in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Ms. Danburg's bill easily won tentative approval Tuesday, without debate.

Another crime-related bill faced a harder time in the House.

The bill by Rep. Al Granoff, D-Dallas, would punish people convicted of certain nonviolent felonies by assigning them to work programs rather than prison or probation.

The House first rejected a broad version of the bill.

But lawmakers later reconsidered that vote. Granoff added an amendment to give judges discretion in sentencing people convicted of burglaries and drug offenses to a work program.

As approved 85-56, Granoff said his bill would require mainly people convicted of thefts to be assigned to work programs.

They could be cleaning Texas' streets, parks and beaches, Granoff said.

Felons sentenced to a work program would have to wear vests that read, "Don't Mess With Texas."

Granoff said his bill would provide punishment for offenders who now may receive probation on a first conviction, and little prison time on a second conviction.

He said light sentences "destroy the deterrent effect of prison." Under his bill, someone who repeatedly committed a felony requiring assignment to a work program could not avoid prison indefinitely.

"The first and second time, they'd be out cleaning the streets. If they did it a third time ... they could get life," Granoff said.

Some opponents of the bill objected to allowing criminals to avoid prison.

"It's a wrong message," said Rep. Dalton Smith, R-Houston.

Others said it was wrong to take away judicial discretion in some felony cases.

Officials hope to save Carswell, others

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Military retirees say the federal government is abandoning them in its plans to close 43 military installations nationwide, including six facilities in Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana.

"We've got a $20 million hospital at Carswell (Air Force Base). I think it's ridiculous and absurd to close that," said Clyde Riddle, an Air Force retiree.

Riddle was one of an estimated 1,000 people attending Tuesday's Defense Base Closure and Realignment Commission hearing. The eight-member panel is examining the base closure and realignment list submitted by Defense Secretary Dick Cheney and will either add or subtract to the list.

Reservists, congressmen and Gov. Ann Richards emphasized the economic impact and strategic importance of Carswell in Fort Worth and two other Texas bases slated for closure. Three installations targeted for closure in Arkansas and Louisiana were represented at the hearing.

In addition to Carswell, Cheney last month also included Bergstrom Air Force Base in Austin and Naval Air Station Chase Field in Beeville in his final closure list.

"Beeville, Texas, in these proposed cutbacks, would lose one-third of its total economy as a result of closing Chase. Austin, Texas, would lose its third largest employer. Fort Worth would lose its third largest employer, and with the closing of Carswell, it would be absorbing over 60 percent of all jobs lost in Texas due to defense department cuts," Richards said.

Closing Bergstrom would violate the military's own guidelines in excellence, training and preparedness, the governor said.

"We respectfully suggest that the commission closely inspect the quality and accuracy of this evaluation process," said Richards.

She got a standing ovation after testifying before the panel, which is scheduled to make its recommendations to President Bush on July 1. Three members of the panel were present for Tuesday's hearing.

Retirees said they relied on Carswell's services, including its health care and commissary.

Woman's Ire Focuses on Men Who Can't See Past Glasses

DEAR ABBY by Abigail Van Buren
© 1991 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a 28-year-old, reasonably attractive woman. I dress stylishly and wear subtle makeup. I am very nearsighted and wear glasses because I can't tolerate hard or soft contact lenses. (Believe me, I have tried.)

Abby, it infuriates me when men (whether they are dates or not), casual acquaintances or co-workers think I should feel complimented when they say, "You'd be much prettier without your glasses."

I am sometimes tempted to say, "And you'd be even more handsome with a little more hair on your head — or less padding around your middle." Or, "You'd be a much nicer person if you had better manners!"

Abby, please tell these oafs to look in a mirror before they start giving women fashion advice. Thanks.

people to vote, I decided to re-register after changing my address to the local jail where I am being held pending trial, since address changes need to be recorded per Oregon law.

The response I received was a note attached to a photocopy that stated, "I am unable to process your registration until you have completed your sentence." It was attached to a copy of a citation of Oregon law that, in effect, stated that a person with a felony conviction loses the right to vote during the term of imprisonment.

As "Illinois Voter" stated (in your column), "If each community made it easier to vote, more people would vote."

It took letters to the Elections Division, assistant county attorney and Clackamas County Clerk, as well as secretary of state and then-Gov.-Elect Barbara Roberts — but I continue to be a registered voter as of Dec. 17, 1991, as the laws of the state and the nation provide.

It looks like you will finally receive the recognition you've been striving for in your chosen field. Along with the accolades in the year ahead, there could be material benefits as well.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In your rush to fulfill ambitious objectives today, your tactics could be interpreted as offensive by associates. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Avoid involvements today with individuals who always try to impose their views on others. You won't have much patience with people who tell you what to think.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This might not be one of your better days for managing yours or another's personal resources. Be extremely careful in both areas.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You may have to negotiate a delicate matter with someone who has an unyielding disposition today. You stand firm, too, because the more you give, the more this individual will demand.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You may have a tendency at this time to take on more than you can comfortably manage. Even though you feel confident, try not to overestimate your capabilities.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It could prove unwise today to bank heavily on an individual whose friendship has never really been put to the test. When the chips are down, this individual may not live up to your expectations.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Subdue temptations to exaggerate a recent accomplishment today. Instead of arousing admiration in your peers, it might do just the opposite.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is not a good time to buy things for which you can't pay cash. Don't let your desire for instant gratification mess up your financial position.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Usually, you're someone who appreciates the value of making compromises and concessions. But, you may be unreasonably unyielding today on issues you generally take in stride.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Lend a helping hand where you can today, but don't let those who are capable of taking care of themselves dump their burdens on your broad shoulders.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Enjoy yourself today, but don't put all your emphasis on fun. Duties you neglect at this time could create complications in the not-too-distant future.

State agency probes methadone deaths

HOUSTON (AP) — Ten methadone-related deaths in a one-year period in Houston have prompted an investigation by the Texas Department of Health.

The city's drug-related deaths are more than the state had experienced in the 20-year history of the controversial drug treatment program.

"This is the first grouping of deaths we're aware of," Ken Davis, chief investigator for the Texas Department of Health's food and drug division, said Tuesday.

"Historically, we've had only two or three cases of deaths (total) in Texas."

Officials say at least three people who died were patients of Dr. Tommy E. Swate, a physician who operates two Houston methadone clinics and whose federal permits for methadone treatment have been recommended for suspension or revocation.

The Houston Chronicle reported today that the deaths and rare federal censures were detailed in U.S. Food & Drug Administration documents released to the newspaper this week through a Freedom of Information Act request.

The documents also revealed that the FDA also has recommended suspension or revocation of another Houston methadone program's license. That clinic, the Maintenance Clinic at 102 Portland, is not linked to any of the deaths. Program sponsor Slater Martin could not be reached for comment, the Chronicle reported.

Dr. Swate told the newspaper he is not responsible for the deaths and claimed the recommendations against him are politically motivated by competitors in the methadone business.

The newspaper has published a series of stories this week detailing growing competition as private industry has taken over the controversial drug addiction treatment once dominated by the government.

The deaths were confirmed by state health officials, who declined to give specifics about the cases except to say they are under investigation along with several other deaths outside the Houston area.

The newspaper also reported that the FDA documents detail violations at other local clinics, but none involved deaths or resulted in recommendations that clinics' licenses be pulled.

Most of the Houston deaths occurred in late 1989 and early 1990, said Davis. No methadone-related deaths have been reported this year.

Not all the people who died were patients of methadone clinics. Some apparently had obtained methadone illegally, he said.

Methadone is a synthetic drug used to suppress withdrawal symptoms of heroin and other opiates. When taken in sufficient quantities, however, it can cause euphoria and even death.

FDA documents obtained by the Chronicle indicated that one Houston death involved a new patient to Swate's methadone clinic.

The report says the patient was admitted to Swate's program on June 14, 1990, while still enrolled in another clinic. He was given an initial dose of methadone and allowed to take home four more daily doses. He was found dead of an apparent overdose the next morning.

Use those 'useless' cards

By Phillip Alder

Occasionally a defender will be dealt a selection of apparently useless low cards in one suit. But after he has signaled his length, he may make a suit-preference signal by the sequence in which he plays the remaining cards.

On today's deal, both Norths in a team game took a shot at a vulnerable three no-trump, hoping their diamond suit would be worth six tricks.

Both Wests led the heart queen. The declarers won with the king and led a diamond, the Wests ducking. However, after winning the second diamond trick, the Wests made different plays.

At the first table, West thought he knew an entryless dummy when he saw one. He continued with the heart jack, confident he would regain the lead with the spade king and cash his heart winners to defeat the contract.

It was a bad shock when East couldn't beat dummy's club jack and declarer claimed 11 tricks.

At the other table, East tried to help his partner. Having dropped the diamond two on the first round to show an odd number of cards, he played the eight on the second round. This was an unnecessarily high card and suggested some useful honors in the higher-ranking suit. Here that pointed to spades. It did not show hearts, the suit his partner had led, or diamonds, the suit in which the signal was made.

Luckily for East, West was enjoying one of his more lucid moments. He spotted that key eight and switched to the spade king and another spade. The defenders collected six tricks and 13 IMPs for their team.

Suspected drug smuggler said killed

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A Brownsville man shot to death in Mexico apparently by parrot smugglers had been under investigation for trafficking in the birds, an official said.

William Jaster, 56, was shot to death Friday afternoon in Matamoros, Mexico. His 18-year-old daughter, Julie, said he had gone to Matamoros to return some parrots he had not been able to sell.

Agent Joe Ramos with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service office in McAllen said federal agents thought Jaster was involved with illegally imported parrots. Jaster sold parrots at a flea market in Brownsville.

"We suspected him," Ramos told The Brownsville Herald. "We kept trying to see if we could get into him."

Julie Jaster said she suspects her father was killed by

Matamoros parrot dealers who were demanding payment for the birds.

Parrot smuggling is decimating the parrot populations of Central and South America, but Ramos said wildlife officials have little staff or money to keep up with the traffickers along the border. Many of the birds die en route to the United States after being stuffed into boxes or hidden compartments.

Girl's dream will come true soon

AUSTIN (AP) — A little girl's big wish is coming true: she will get to meet Queen Elizabeth II and won't have to pay a king's ransom for the privilege.

Melanie Goerner, 7, will present the queen with a letter from the children of Texas when the monarch comes to the state Capitol on Monday.

The freckle-faced first-grader, a British citizen, will accompany two other children at Gov. Ann Richards' side during ceremonies inside the Capitol, said Margaret Justus, Richards' press secretary.

"The kids at school think I'm lucky," Melanie said. "I am lucky."

Persistence played a part too. Melanie, who was born in Scotland, wrote to Queen Elizabeth in February after hearing of the monarch's four-day Texas visit.

Melanie invited the queen to visit her class at Valley View Elementary School in the Eanes school district.

"She said she was too busy," Melanie said, displaying a letter from Buckingham Palace. "So I wrote the governor, and she said yes."

The queen also plans to visit San Antonio, Dallas and Houston next week as part of her U.S. tour.

Portland, Lakers dominate NBA West

by The Associated Press
The Portland Trail Blazers, who want to supplant the Los Angeles Lakers as the NBA's most consistent powerhouse, will have to go through the Lakers to reach the championship series for the second consecutive year.

The two teams put the stamp of dominance over the rest of the conference Tuesday night, completing 4-1 series wins that advanced them to the Western finals, starting Saturday in Portland.

The Trail Blazers ousted Utah with a 103-96 victory, while Los Angeles got seven points in overtime from James Worthy, including the tiebreaking jumper with 38 seconds left in a 124-119 decision over Golden State that put the Lakers in the conference finals for the ninth time in 10 years. In that time, they missed only last season. In the East, the Chicago Bulls advanced to the conference finals for the third straight year, tripping Philadelphia 100-95 for a 4-1 series win. The Bulls await the winner of the Boston-Detroit series, which is tied 2-2 going into tonight's game at Boston Garden. Worthy scored 21 of his 25 points after halftime for the Lakers, including the jumper that broke a 117-117 tie and put Los Angeles ahead for good against the Warriors. He then converted a foul shot with 28 seconds remaining for a 3-point advantage.

"I think I was a little hesitant, over-passing," Worthy said of the first shot, when he made two of eight shots. "I was trying to go for the easier bucket. I got more aggressive in the second half."

Tim Hardaway, who had 27 points and 20 assists for the Warriors, made a layup with 21 seconds to go, making it a one-point game.

Byron Scott gave the Lakers a 122-119 lead with two foul shots with 11 seconds left. After Mitch Richmond missed a 3-point attempt, Scott made two more free throws to finish the scoring.

Magic Johnson, 1-for-11 from the field in the first half, led the Lakers with 28 points, 14 rebounds and 12 assists. Sam Perkins finished with 19 points and 15 rebounds.

Chris Mullin and Richmond scored 26 points each for the Warriors, whose victory in Game 2 snapped an 11-game playoff losing streak at the Forum.

Warriors coach Don Nelson said Perkins' easy layup at the end of regulation cost his team the game.

"I wish we hadn't had one breakdown at the wrong time," he said. "It shouldn't happen that you should give them a layup at that time. It did, we have to live with it."

Clyde Drexler and Terry Porter led a 16-0 outburst to start the third quarter that gave Portland, now 6-0 at home in the playoffs, a 67-52 lead.

"It was the key to the game," Portland coach Rick Adelman said. "We turned the game around. We took control, and we maintained it."

Porter scored 22 points and Drexler, playing despite a sprained right big toe, finished with 22 points, nine rebounds and eight assists, giving him an average of 19.8 points, 10 rebounds and 9.6 assists in the series.

Giants coach might resign

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — After guiding the New York Giants to their second Super Bowl title in five years, Bill Parcells reportedly will step down today as coach of the NFL champions.

"He's gone," Newsday reported a source as saying in today's edition.

The Boston Globe and the New York Daily News, citing sources close to the club, said Parcells has informed general manager George Young that he will not honor the final year of his contract. The Globe said the Giants would make an announcement today, although the team had not scheduled a news conference by late Tuesday night.

"If I knew something, I wouldn't say because I'd be divulging a confidence, and if I didn't know anything, I still wouldn't say because it's not my place," the New York Times quoted Giants offensive coordinator Ray Handley as saying.

According to several newspapers, Handley, elevated last winter from running backs coach, is considered the front-runner to replace Parcells as head coach.

"I can't help you on this," Handley told The Associated Press Tuesday night.

When asked about reports that he would succeed Parcells, he said: "I've been reading that for a couple of months now."

Attempts by the AP Tuesday night to reach Parcells and Young were unsuccessful. A representative in the office of Parcells' agent, Robert Fraley, would not confirm the report.

There have been recurrent rumors that Parcells, 49, would step down as Giants coach. He has reportedly said in the past that he would quit if his team won a second Super Bowl.

Parcells recently fueled speculation he was leaving by making an audition tape for NBC with the possibility that he would become an analyst on the network's pro football telecasts.

Chadwick inks PD basketball standout

Amarillo Palo Duro High School basketball standout Jennifer Martin is among the latest signees for coach Kelly Chadwick's Western Texas College Lady Dusters.

The 5-10 Martin was a post player at Palo Duro, earning all district honors and the Amarillo Globe-News MVP selection as a senior.

"Jennifer will play mostly at the post as a freshman," Chadwick said.

"That's where she can contribute the most. Possibly, she can move out to a wing position as a sophomore."

He continued, "She has participated in a very tough 5A league, as well as summer league ball in Amarillo which are assets that are hard to evaluate at this time."

"She has a very nice touch on her shot around the basket and she anticipates and recognizes extremely well."

"She makes good decisions on the floor and will become a good defensive player. She has really good hands when she catches the ball."

Martin, who carries a grade point average of 86 also impressed the WTC coach with her work ethic.

"I really like her attitude," he stated. "She could be a real diamond in the rough. She has natural basketball instincts that are invaluable."

The new WTC signee carried a 12 point average in her senior season to go with eight rebounds, three assists and three steals per game.

She shot 42 percent from the floor and 70 percent from the free-throw line as a high school senior.

Besides being the school's homecoming queen, Martin also served as a member of the student council, the math club and the Spanish club at PDHS.

Joan Kennedy said arrested for DWI

QUINCY, Mass. (AP) — Joan Kennedy, former wife of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, was freed on bail after being arrested on drunken driving charges for the second time in three years, police said.

State Trooper Barbara Bennett said Mrs. Kennedy was spotted Tuesday evening swerving across all three northbound lanes on the Southeast Expressway. "Traffic was backed up behind this vehicle," Bennett said.

Mrs. Kennedy, 55, was arrested about 9:30 p.m. and posted $25 bail soon afterward, Bennett said.

driving record or affect insurance, Craddick said.

Craddick said he did not think the bill, if passed into law, would affect federal highway funding.

Montana and Wyoming have similar laws, and they have had no problem with funding, he said.

Craddick also said his bill would have no effect on safety, since highways were built for higher speeds. He said the lower speed limits were to promote energy conservation, not for safety.

The bill was given preliminary House approval without debate. If passed again by the House in another vote, the bill will go to the Senate for consideration.

and attended both Abilene Christian College and Hardin-Simmons University before graduating in 1929 from Cumberland University in Lebanon, Tenn.

He was admitted to the bar the same year and began law practice in Gorman, Texas. But he later returned to Anson, where he was elected county attorney of Jones County in 1931.

In 1934, he ran for county judge and held the job until 1940, when he became a special agent of the FBI.

Burleson left the FBI to enlist in the Navy during World War II. He served in the North Atlantic and South Pacific during his naval stint, which ran from December 1942 to April 1946.

He is survived by several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services are scheduled for Friday at the Anson Church of Christ.

Hospital CEO optimistic

a three-year accreditation in 1988 and is expected to do so again. "If anything, it went much better this time," said Lancaster.

The CEO explained that three years ago the examiners had a list of recommendations on which Cogdell could improve.

"This time, they only had three or four recommendations and none of them were major. They are just ways they believe we can streamline our processing of paperwork. They have nothing to do with patient care," he said.

Lancaster said the team went department-by-department through the hospital, and placed special emphasis on quality assurance.

"They are very concerned with things like, 'do you give medications on time, check equipment regularly to make sure it is not failing,' things like that," Lancaster said.

He said the team interviewed several patients at random and was pleased with the praise the hospital received.

The examiners included an administrative surveyor, a physician surveyor and a nurse surveyor. They reviewed phases of the hospital's operation and checked staff credentials.

"It's a safeguard to make sure we are doing the things we need to provide adequate healthcare," said Lancaster.

Lancaster pointed out that JCAHO accreditation is not necessary for the hospital to stay in operation.

"It's voluntary. The hospital pays for the privilege. But not every hospital our size is accredited by the Joint Commission. Once you pass their standards it means you have reached a standard of healthcare you can be proud of. Our board (of managers) feels very strongly that it is well worth the effort."

It is expected to take six weeks before Cogdell will officially be notified of the commission's findings. The report is sent to the head office in Chicago, where the final finding is made.

ANDY OVERHULSER

Student at SJHS gets TIP honor

Andy Overhulser, a student at Snyder Junior High School, will be honored for his academic achievement at a statewide ceremony on June 10 at Texas Christian University.

The recognition ceremony is sponsored by the Duke University Talent Identification Program (TIP) to salute the seventh graders from Texas who qualified in TIP's 11th annual Talent Search.

All students invited to the ceremony have earned scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or the American College Testing Assessment (ACT) comparable to the average scores of college-bound high school seniors.

The students will receive certificates of distinction at the ceremony. The highest scorers will also receive summer program scholarships and books.

TIP conducts recognition ceremonies in each of the 16 states it serves in the Southeast, Midwest and Southwest. Over 57,000 mathematically and verbally able seventh graders were identified by the program this year. TIP offers additional educational opportunities for gifted students in seventh through 10th grades.

TIP is a non-profit educational organization established in 1980 with a five-year grant from the Duke Endowment. The program receives continuing support from student fees, individuals, corporations and foundations. Overhulser is the son of Bill and Anne Overhulser of Snyder.

Cosmetology applications are due now

Western Texas College is accepting applications for students in cosmetology starting June 3 and Sept. 3.

Because the June class will start in a short time, students are urged to pick up the cosmetology packet in the Admissions Office during the coming week.

Students enrolling in either class will need to complete the forms in the packet and then schedule an interview with the instructor, Judy Border. Students in the September class will be interviewed on June 17.

Some financial aid is available for cosmetology students and Mrs. Border can give those interested information.

Cosmetology students receive 1,500 hours in training in a 12-month period and are then eligible to take state Board of Cosmetology examinations for licensing.

'Strunnel' concept proposed

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The English and French have their "chunnel." Now a group of planners has a wild idea for a tunnel under the Bering Strait that would connect Alaska with the Soviet Union.

Tunnel boosters say the project would provide a delivery route for coal, oil and other resources that can't be shipped across the Bering Strait when it freezes over.

More romantically, it would provide previously unheard of overland travel connections.

"You would be able to get on the train in New York and ride to Cape Town, South Africa," said George Koumal, an Arizona mining engineer who wrote in favor of the tunnel in the American Underground-Space Association

News in March. But the 56-mile tunnel — which would be the world's longest — would cross an area so remote that nearly 4,000 miles of train tracks would have to be laid just to get there. It would also cost a fortune to build — $9 billion by Koumal's estimate.

"It really is pretty farfetched," said geologist Dan Walsh of the University of Alaska.

"You have to be able to see a little farther than the tip of your nose," said Koumal, who is president of Engineering Technology USA Inc. in Tucson.

The Nome Chamber of Commerce and the Bering Strait Economic Council also like the idea. They sent out dozens of letters to businesses and governments around the Northern Hemisphere this week to try to drum up support.

Another tunnel supporter is Nome City Councilman Jim Stimpfle. But he acknowledged that some people might find the idea silly.

"People in Nome are used to me saying some pretty outlandish things," he said. "I think they say, 'Oh no, here goes Jim again.'"

Ad Beylund, an economic development planner with the Bering Strait Economic Council, said the 50-mile English Channel tunnel shows the Bering Strait idea has promise. High-speed trains carrying passengers on 3½-hour trips between London and Paris are expected to begin using the "chunnel" in 1993.

Dr. Gott By Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I had TURP surgery in 1987 and understand that scar tissue builds up after surgery. Could this buildup cause the prostate to enlarge, necessitating frequent urination around the clock?

DEAR READER: During transurethral resection of the prostate gland, excess tissue is removed with an instrument that is passed from the penis into the tube leading from the bladder. Once excess prostatic tissue has been cut away, urine is free to flow from the bladder, without obstruction. A TURP usually relieves symptoms (dribbling, urgency and urinary frequency) for years.

The prostate gland continues to grow, however, and may enlarge again to cause blockage. In this instance, another TURP may be necessary. As with any surgery, scar tissue can form at the operative site, leading to urinary symptoms sometime later. However, in my experience, urinary frequency months or years after surgery usually indicates regrowth of the prostate gland or the presence of urinary infection — not scar tissue.

I suggest you return to your urologist and describe your symptoms. After appropriate examination and testing, such as a urine culture and cystoscopy (during which the specialist examines your lower urinary tract with a lighted tube), the doctor can advise you what, if any, further treatment would be appropriate.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "The Prostate Gland." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is there any medication that will control hyperhidrosis?

DEAR READER: Hyperhidrosis, excessive perspiration, usually affects just the palms and the soles. It is not a health hazard but can be a devastating embarrassment. The cause is unknown, and the condition may be worsened by stress.

The local application of an antiperspirant solution can help control hyperhidrosis: 20 percent aluminum chloride hexahydrate in alcohol used on affected areas at bedtime, after which the areas are covered with thin, polyethylene film. In the morning, the solution is washed off with soap and water. Two applications usually protect for about one week.
