HHS Junior Is Guest Speaker At Rotary Club

Tommy Hester, a top-ranking junior High School student was guest speaker at the noon meeting and luncheon of the Rotary Club Thursday, when he talked on "Changing Times in Western Europe."

Rotarians were also treated to a program of seasonal music by Linda Speer, pianist, who played two numbers, White Christmas and Winter Wonderland. The talented high school student is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Speer.

Club President, Tom Robertson announced that Haskell had a perfect attendance record in November, and announced that March 3, 1961, had been set as date for the club's inter-city meeting and Ladies Night. Plans for the Kiddies Pet Parade were announced by Robt. R. King.

Young Hester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hester, held the full interest of Rotarians as he told of the threat of a dangerous political trend in Western Europe.

Because they are enjoying an economic boom now, people are not interested in politics or good government," he declared. The people do not seem to sense the trend toward communist thinking in some political uprisings in England, France and Allied Germany, the young speaker said.

Guests at the meeting included Mrs. Ira Hester of Haskell, and from out of town, Rotarians Frank Campbell of Lubbock.

Cold Front Hits Area, Bringing Freezing Rain

Winter hit this section with full force early Tuesday, when a cold front sent the mercury to the freezing mark, followed by cold, drizzling rain which fell throughout Tuesday night and continued at intervals Wednesday.

Near-freezing temperatures dropped to 31 degrees Tuesday night, to leave a heavy coating of ice on trees and shrubbery. Highways and paved streets remained relatively free of ice in this immediate area, but highway workers reported ice forming during the night on some bridges, and at a few points on the highway for brief periods.

A light coating of ice on city streets early Wednesday slowed traffic, but ice had disappeared by mid-morning.

Highway crews were out Tuesday night, sanding bridges where ice formed. They were out again Wednesday night, when below-freezing temperatures threatened to make highways extremely hazardous.

Wintery rains had accounted for a total precipitation of more than three-fourths of an inch at 8 a. m. Wednesday.

This is more moisture than was received during the entire month of November, and will be a boon to winter grain farmers report.

been made to break in Lane, Felker Dress Shop and Bynum's Hardware and Furniture. A door at the rear of the Lane, Felker Store had been badly battered, with the attempt abandoned before entry was gained. On the north side of the Bynum store, a door had been almost pried open before the culprits gave up their effort without getting into the store.

Officers believe the attempts were by the same persons or gang which looted the other establishments.

At Jones, Cox & Co., entry was gained by forcing open a long un-latched door in the rear of the furniture department. In forcing the door, the culprits overturned a new dresser, breaking its large mirror and heavily damaging the article of furniture.

The thieves used a 10-pound sledge hammer from the store's hardware stock to batter the knob from the large office safe. Then they apparently attempted

Fight at Dance Brings Charges, Closing Ban

Two 17-year-old Mexican youths were charged with assault with intent to murder in complaints filed with Justice of the Peace Merle Weaver Sunday as a result of an affray here Saturday night in which two other Mexican men suffered severe stab wounds.

Also in connection with the altercation, which occurred at a dance was breaking up at a building on the Rodeo Grounds, Sheriff Bill Pennington banned any further dances being held here during the remainder of this year.

Prior to Saturday night's stabbing affray, officers said they had been called to break up an incipient "gang fight" at the dance the previous Saturday night. At that time, charges of affray and drunkenness were filed against several Mexicans by Sheriff Pennington.

Hospitalized Saturday night with stab wounds were A. M. De La Cruz and Manuel De La Cruz, brothers, and both of Stamford.

Charged in complaints with assault with intent to murder are Salvador Lopez and Steve Ortega, both 17. Bond was set at $1,000 in each complaint to await investigation by the Grand Jury.

Haskell And Weinert Names Called for Christmas Awards

Halla Mae Parish, insurance saleswoman, was winner of the top award in the initial Christmas Program drawing Saturday. She received a $35 check, second prize in the three scheduled awards.

The name of Mrs. Luther Burkett was drawn for first prize, $50.00. However, she was not in one of the participating stores when her name was called and received only one-fourth the award, or $12.50, the remaining $37.50 going into a Christmas "jackpot."

Second name drawn was Miss Parish, who was in Gholson Grocery when her name was called, making her eligible for the full amount, $35.00 given as second prize.

The name of Mrs. Grady Newsom, of Weinert, was drawn for third prize, $15.00 cash. Since she was not present in any store cooperating in the program at the time her name was announced, she received only one-fourth the award, or $3.75, while the remainder, $11.25, went into the "jackpot."

A similar drawing will be held again next Saturday, Dec. 10, and the following Saturday, Dec. 17. Three awards will be given each time, if persons whose names are called are in any of the participating stores. If not present, check for one-fourth the amount of the award will be mailed to each winner.

Registration for the awards is free at any cooperating store. A final drawing will be held Saturday, Dec. 24, for the "jackpot" award built up from the first three drawings.

No Special Session

Haggling and suspense over who will be Speaker of the House for the 57th Legislature will continue until January 10. That is the first day of the regular session when House members, by secret ballot, will elect the speaker from their membership.

Rep. James Cotten of Weatherford asked Governor Daniel to call lawmakers together this month. New members could be sworn in and a speaker elected in a one-day session, he said. This would give the speaker time to organize committees and be ready to go to work in January.

But Governor Daniel said that any legislature meeting this year would be the 56th Legislature, which could not elect a speaker for the 57th Legislature.

Reps. Wade Spilman of McAllen and James Turman of Gomer are candidates for speaker. Both, reportedly, are "ahead."

Spilman, in a recent letter to House members, announced addition of two more pledges to him. He said, "A majority of the members have committed their vote to me for Speaker." Jim Turman says the same thing. So, the big question still is: How will the members vote?

Program for Aged

Enactment of medical care for the aged and an increase in state pensions are among recommendations of a joint legislative committee to study problems of the aging.

Committee announced it would work for a constitutional amendment to raise by $10,000,000 a year the ceiling on old age assistance. It also urged that the next Legislature pass laws to put into effect a program to provide state help for the medical expenses of needy oldsters.

Transfer of senile, but not mentally ill, patients from the mental hospitals to nursing home care was recommended.

Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro, is chairman of the committee, and Rep. Howard Green of Fort Worth, is vice-chairman.

Dollar Went Further

(Houston Chronicle)

Fifty years ago the Ladies Home Journal carried a suggestion that a yard of dollar bills would make a good Christmas gift. It noted that "it takes five bills to carry out the idea."

The magazine's recollections illustrate that in 1910 a dollar bill went much further.

By contrast, it takes six of today's dollar bills to reach 36 inches.

In addition to shrinking in size, the buying power of the dollar has also declined.

Ladies' Home Journal comes up with these facts to show how the dollar's buying power has decreased in the last half century.

In 1910, a dollar could pay for 11.6 quarts of milk. Today's dollar bill buys only 3.9 quarts.

A dollar could buy almost 20 pounds of bread 50 years ago. Today's dollar will buy less than five pounds.

The same ratio can be applied to many other staples. Can you buy steak today at 1910 price of 17.4 cents a pound? Or a 10-pound sack of potatoes for 17 cents?

The Goodfellows are making their annual plea for help in providing Christmas happiness for unfortunate and needy families in the community.

A donation from you will be multiplied many times in the happiness it will bring to children and parents in homes where, because of circumstances, the Christmas holidays have no meaning without help from the Goodfellows.

Controversy of the past few weeks over school integration in New Orleans merely points up again a problem that will be many years in solving.

A related problem over voting rights in other parts of the South brings to mind the story of the Negro man who was taking a test to qualify as a voter in Alabama.

After answering questions as to his age, length of residence, in precinct, county, state, etc., he was asked if he could read. Answering in the affirmative, the examiner intending to have some fun, handed the Negro man a newspaper printed in Chinese, pointed to a brief item and told the man to read it aloud.

Squinting at the strange characters, Negro allowed he needed his "specs" to read the fine print.

Then the examiner pointed to a headline in larger print, saying: "Tell me what that headline says."

Studying the strange characters for a moment, the puzzled Negro answered: "It says mighty few Negroes going to vote in Alabama this year!"

Judges in the Children's Pet Parade section of the Santa Claus Parade last Friday had the toughest job of their lives in scoring the novel entries for the four awards given.

Not only did they have a monumental task in judging, but they were busier than a one-armed paperhanger with the youngsters and their pets long enough to form an opinion, as the kiddies traveled the 12-block route.

"In our opinion, each entry was outstanding and deserved a first place," one of the judges explained. "But we had a fixed set of rules that had to be observed in making the awards."

Everyone who saw the parade and the novel entries will go along with the judges opinion that each should have won there were just not enough awards go around!

Quail hunters report that the birds are not as plentiful as last year, but are being found in sufficient numbers to keep sportsmen from coming home empty-handed.

One group which has observed a "first day" hunt in the Cobb community for years, managed to bag enough birds for their traditional outdoor feast this year but said quail were noticeably fewer than in previous years.

Many believe that the short crop resulted from the big rains in early summer, which came during and right after the normal hatching season.

The average sportsman knows there'll be good years and lean years when it comes to the quail crop, and that over the long haul this section is blessed with as abundant a supply of wild game as any place in Texas.

In recent years, deer and turkey have made phenomenal comeback due to a well-enforced conservation program and sportsmen are now reaping dividends in the areas where hunting is permitted.

One type of game which once was plentiful here, has resisted all attempts at restocking. Antelope, once found by the hundreds in Haskell County, cannot be successfully restocked here, game experts say.

Many old-timers here recall when antelope were so plentiful that they could be killed almost any time antelope meat was wanted.

One old-timer says that he remembers hunting antelope when a youth on the old Bledsoe Ranch east of town, in the area now known as the Irby community.

The elusive panther or mountain lion reported seen in this area at various times during the past two months bobbed up again one night last week. A young woman driving about a mile out on the Haskell-Rochester Farm to Market road reported seeing an animal much larger than a dog run across the road a short distance ahead of her car. She described it as being tan or tawny-colored, bigger than any dog she had ever seen.

A friend of ours who once lived near Brownsville, says the phantom animal which has been seen here might be a cross-breed of mountain lion native to that country which might have strayed into this section of West Texas. They are called jaguarundi, and are described as one of the toughest of the cat family. They hunt at night most of the time, prowling brushy areas.

Technicalities which to the average layman seem like trivial oversights, when given legal interpretation can have important bearing in many instances.

One of the best illustrations along this line is given in the story told of a noted West Texas criminal lawyer who gained prominence here in the early days.

The country was settling fast, and among the farmers coming here were some who had emigrated to the United States only a few years before and who had not become citizens of the U. S.

In due course, some of these became taxpayers and voters, with no one challenging their right to vote since they were lawabiding, well thought-of citizens.

As taxpayers they also became subject to jury service, and made good jurors.

This particular lawyer, who had a reputation of seldom losing a case, seemed to favor having one or two immigrant farmers as jurors, and never questioned a prospective juror as to his citizenship other than the customary length of residence and being a property owner.

Then, a murder case was transferred here for trial, in which the defendant was a wealthy and prominent cattleman. As a matter of course, the well-known criminal lawyer was retained as counsel.

When the jury was selected, an immigrant farmer who had served frequently on juries, was among the twelve men accepted. After a long, hard-fought trial, the jury brought in guilty verdict.

The case was appealed, the principal allegation being that one of the jurors—the immigrant farmer was not a citizen of the United States. Naturally, the conviction was set aside and the case sent back for re-trial and the defendant finally came clear.

The hapless juror, although he was doing his best to discharge his duties as a citizen, was the key figure in the reversal. Whether the famed lawyer had known the juror's status as a citizen was a matter of course by bringing he was able to get out of the juror's case.

Associate Pastor Named for St. Ann Catholic Church

On Dec. 1, Father Raphael A. Goddard will assume the duties of associate pastor at St. Ann Catholic Church in Stamford. Father Goddard will be no stranger to the St. Ann parish. When St. Ann's pastor, Father James A. Meuree was away between 1953 and 1958, Father Goddard served the parish in his absence.

Father Goddard was born in Brussels, Belgium in 1922. Attending high school in that city which was destroyed in the French language, he pursued a course of study at the seminaries. In 1941 he decided to dedicate his life to the Catholic Priesthood. He entered the seminary in Jambes, Belgium which was established to prepare priests for the China mission field. There followed six years of study in philosophy and theology. He was also studying those specific things to prepare himself for service in the Far East.

Father Goddard's hope of serving in China was not to be fulfilled. After the Communists gained control of the country missionary priests were barred. Instead his assignment was to the southern part of the U. S. In 1959, Father Goddard was assigned to the missions in Central America to take care of the Haitians. Due to the extreme hardships and difficulties under which he worked there his health was impaired and he was forced to return to the United States.

Having two priests in the parish is most important because they can be of more service to the over 2,500 Catholics in Jones and Haskell Counties. Father Meuree said that after Jan. 1, 1961, they hope to start regular Sunday morning Masses in Hamlin and Haskell in addition to the regular services now being held in Stamford and Anson. Plans are also being made to increase activities in all four centers, especially the religious training of the Catholic youth of the parish.

Mail Early! It's Later Than You Realize!

Postmaster Harold Spain said today, "It's later than you think! Let's not wait until mid-December to get our Christmas cards and gifts in the mails. By taking action now, you'll avoid disappointing friends and loved ones at Christmas time." The postmaster asks your special cooperation in being sure that your return address and the recipient's address is plainly typed or written on all labels and Christmas cards. Use zone numbers, and send your Christmas cards by First Class mail so that you can include handwritten messages, making your Christmas greetings more personal. Also you will be certain that they'll be delivered promptly and forwarded or returned, if necessary. Mail your Christmas cards in two bundles, using free labels that you can get at the Post Office, which reads, "All For Local Delivery" and "All For Out of Town Delivery." The postmaster asks the cooperation of all business firms to delay mailing circulars and catalogs until after Dec. 25th, to keep the mails clear for the Christmas rush. Mail your Christmas cards and gifts for out-of-town destinations by Dec. 10. Those for nearby points should be mailed by Dec. 15, or at least a week before Christmas.

Haskell Student At NTSC Does Part Time Teaching

Some 250 students of North Texas State College in Denton are studying the art of teaching in public schools in the North Texas area this semester.

Among those enrolled in this program is Mrs. Glenda Sue Heaberlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard L. Scarborough, 206 North Ave. M, Haskell, who is teaching English in an Irving school.

They are student teachers, enrolled in the NTSC program for the preparation of teachers. Most of them are assigned to schools in Denton, Dallas and Tarrant Counties, although a few teach at more distant points.

One of two plans is followed. Students working in schools close to the campus have been teaching for half a day all semester. Those further away spend full-time in the classrooms for either the first or the second nine weeks of the semester.

Under the guidance of the classroom teachers and college supervisor, the student teachers assist in planning and carrying out the regular instruction program. This is part of their work toward earning teaching certificates.

Africa Is Subject for "Wide World" Program of Progressive Study Club

"A Land of Extremes—Africa" was the discussion on board a plane as members of the Progressive Study Club continued their tour, "Here and There in Our Wide, Wide World," Thursday evening, December 1. The community room of the Haskell National Bank was cleverly improvised into an airplane with Captain Gladys O'Neal leading in the discussion and Stewardesses Mary Nell McCoy, Thula Perry, and Flo Henderson taking up tickets, passing out literature and seeing that the passengers were comfortably seated. Before departure a prayer of hope and a better understanding among mankind was led by Mrs. Allen Rieves. After seat belts had been fastened and the plane had reached an imaginary flight level of 30,000 feet, Captain O'Neal acquainted the passengers with some of the background of the Belgian Congo, highlight of the trip. It is located in South Central Africa and takes its name from the Congo River. Leopoldville is the capital. The average annual temperature is 80 degrees. The hot, humid climate supports vegetation of the jungle. The Congo is about four times the size of Texas and is in the heart of Africa. It is rich in plant and mineral wealth. It produces much of the world's supply of diamonds and cobalt. It also produces tin, copper, radium, and gold. For the release of atomic energy, it also yields uranium. In the Congo you will see many rubber trees, palms, coffee in production with cocoa, sugar and ivory in mass production. There are 11,000,000 people in the Congo, 49,000 of whom are whites, with the remainder being tribes of Negroes. As the imaginary flight soared over the Belgian Congo, a very timely and informative report of the "Advance of Civilization" and "Strife and Unrest" of this country was presented by Mrs. David Middleton. When most Americans were in school they learned that in the whole continent of Africa there were only three independent nations—Liberia, Ethiopia, and South Africa. Today all of this has changed. Month after month, somewhere on the continent, new national flags are sliding up the flagpoles and departing colonial officials are saluting their black successors. The whole world is concerned with Africa's fate. We see that where Africans have been trained to govern, they can govern well. We have learned that where Africans lack political education, as in the Congo—early withdrawal of white authority can result in chaos. How long will the Africans continue to trust the West? The Communists, seeping in from China as well as Russia, are doing their very best to turn African eyes to the East. But in the end it is Africa that will determine its own destiny. As Africa's year of freedom moves toward its final quarter, the African continent, still primitive and underdeveloped, is becoming a new force in the world. Soon the world may find itself divided not just between East and West, but among the East, West, and South.

As the plane turned for its homeward flight, "The Ugly American" by William J. Lederer and Eugene Burdick was reviewed by Mrs. Arlos Weaver. She related that the book is not facts but was written in highly exaggerated form to stimulate thought. "The Ugly American" is here, there, everywhere. He is in our books, movies, our representatives of our country. It is believed the authors intended to help correct the errors in America's foreign aid programs, but the readers used it as a weapon to destroy foreign aid entirely. As the plane landed on home soil, refreshments of coffee and cake were served by the Stewardesses.

News from Rule

MRS. FAYE DUNNAM

Rule High School Recognized
The Rule High School has been identified as one of the outstanding small high schools in the United States, by the Educational Planning Service of the Colorado State College at Greeley, Colo. The college has received a grant from the Educational Facilities Laboratories of the Ford Foundation to find and study ten or twelve outstanding small high schools in the United States.

The first step the Educational Planning Service took was to contact all state departments of education and various educators throughout the U. S. asking them to identify outstanding small high schools, based upon the following criteria:

1. The high school must enroll fewer than 150 pupils.
 2. The high school has taken advantage of its small size and low-teacher-pupil ratio in the utilization of the teaching staff.
 3. The school has taken advantage of its small size in flexibility of schedule and programming.
 4. The school has developed physical facilities that are adequate and suitable for its size and program.
 5. Duplication of the school's accomplishments is possible by another school district with limited or moderate financial resources.
- Supt. Connor Horton received the questionnaire from the Educational Planning Service getting more information about the school. From these questionnaires and related information they will select schools to be visited, final selection being made after visitation. The schools that are selected will be featured in a forthcoming publication by the Educational Facilities Laboratories of the Ford Foundation.
- Information regarding Rule High School influencing its selection is:
1. There is an enrollment of 99 students in high school.
 2. There are 8 full time staff members in high school.

3. Of the 1,125 schools in Texas, Rule is one of 150 that require 20 credits for graduation, besides physical education 52.9 per cent of Texas High Schools require 17-19 credits for graduation; and 33.3 per cent require 16 credits.

4. Seven period class day.
5. Multiple classes in Spanish I and Spanish II, Algebra I and General Math., in which one teacher works with two groups in the same class room.
6. A teachers aid in three grades in an over-crowded elementary school. Recognize possibilities of teachers aid in high school.

- a. Two buildings being used by high school. One 6 years old; the other 36 years old but completely remodeled and refinished.
- b. Dark room for projection room, equipped with projection machine and screen.
- c. Two rooms separated by glass wall and door.
- d. Outstanding laboratory room equipped to handle all the sciences the high school offers.
- e. Tape recorder used and for use in Spanish I and II, a Language Learning Unit and several film strips have been purchased recently.

8. Success of our High School graduates in College.
9. Teacher willingness to go beyond the minimum requirements.

10. Proper respect and attitude of our students.
11. Using teachers to supervise correspondence courses that cover subjects that the school could not offer otherwise.

Rule is offering the following subjects in high school:

1. General Math., Algebra I, Algebra II, Plane Geometry, Trigonometry, and Solid Geometry.
2. Spanish I and Spanish II.
3. Chemistry, General Science and Biology.
4. English I, II, III, IV.
5. World History, American History, Texas History and Civics with the Texas Constitution.
6. Bookkeeping, Speech.
7. Homemaking I, II and III.
8. An organized P. E. and Health program which is functioning.

Rule has required the 20 credits, not counting P. E. or Music, since the beginning of the 1957-58 term.

The ultimate aim of the Educational Planning Service is to study these schools in detail—including their educational program, scheduling, use of staff, and use of building and facilities. It is hoped that through such a study other small high schools can be aided to realize the potential for excellence that is available to them through better programming, teaching methods, and utilization of the staff.

ed, scouted the area a bit, and reported that the bass were in water about 15 to 20 feet deep and the layer extended all the way across the big lake.

That was the answer Billy wanted. So he and his buddy fished that strata of water, if you can call it that, some 15 to 20 feet down. And they caught fish!

"If you don't have a frog-man available to give you this information, go after the lunkers with a red, artificial worm, that floats," says Billy.

"And here's how to do it." First, buy some 3-0 gold-colored hooks. They are light in weight and have a long shank. Then, get some of those floating, plastic worms, the big red ones.

Stick the point of the hook into the very end of the artificial bait and worm it on the hook just like you would a big angle worm. Work it clear to the eye of the hook. Then force the point through the body of the worm until the hook protrudes about a half inch. Just be sure the curved part of the hook is only partially exposed.

Your finished job won't look exactly right to you, because the tail of the worm will ride high and just seem to dangle off the barbed end of the big hook.

Actually what you have is a stiff forward part of the worm, because the hook shank is inside; and a very flexible tail end of the worm, because there is nothing inside to make it rigid.

It is easy to see what happens in the water. Just move the fore-end of the worm, ever so slightly, and the tail wiggles vigorously.

Remember, this is a floating worm. It won't stay on or near the bottom, like most artificial worms do, unless you weigh it down. In fact that is the secret of this trick.

But let's go on with the story. Once you have the worm threaded on the 3-0 hook, your next move is to tie on your line.

You do this by, first of all, running the line through the eye of the smallest size, double swivel that you can find. That leaves this swivel free to move up and down the line.

Next move is to attach the end of the line to a snap-swivel, the smaller the better, then clamp the snap-swivel into the eye of the hook.

Better yet, pry open slightly the eye of the hook and slip on a real small and light weight double swivel. Then force the eye closed and tie the end of the fishing line to the other end of the swivel.

Reason for this performance is the fact that the double swivel is lighter in weight than the other end of the swivel.

Now, you're all ready to go—except how are you going to get this floating worm to the bottom of the lake?

Billy's answer is to tie a two-foot leader onto the other end of the double swivel that you passed the line through but did not tie down.

To the other end of the leader add a bell weight, a real light one, just heavy enough to help you do a good casting job. The bell weight is the one that is shaped like a bell and has an eye in its top, to tie to. So, tie on and you are in business.

As you cast out, the lead

SGT. AND MRS. RICHARD GOUBOUT, GEN. W. C. BLANDFORD AT FORT LEWIS, WASHINGTON

Soldier Receives Citation For Saving Baby's Life

Sgt. Richard L. Godbout, Co. D., 1st Battle Group, 12th Infantry, Fort Lewis, Wash., was recently presented a citation for his quick thinking and sedices rendered in saving the life of a 13-month-old Tacoma, Wash., child.

The citation was presented by Brig. General William O. Blandford, who is 4th Infantry Division Commander, at a ceremony attended by Sgt. Godbout and Mrs. Godbout. Gen. Blandford also expressed his personal congratulations to Sgt. Godbout for his actions in saving the baby's life.

The child, Robert Melton, Jr., had gone into a convulsion and stopped breathing as a result of an extremely high temperature. The child's mother was running across the street to have a neighbor call a doctor and the fire department, when she encountered Sgt. Godbout, who went to the child and immediately applied mouth-to-mouth respiration. The child resumed breathing approximately three minutes later, and was breathing normally when the fire department arrived with a resuscitator about 15 minutes later. The child was later treated at Madigan General Hospital.

Sgt. Godbout will also receive the Soldier's Medal for his actions.

Sgt. Godbout and his wife, the former Karen Pitman of this city, and their two-year-old daughter, Katherine, reside at 1214 South 119th St., Tacoma, Washington.

Entering the service in his hometown of Seneca, Kansas, Sgt. Godbout has been at Fort Lewis, Wash., since May of '54. Recently he has received orders to report to the 2nd Armored Division, Fort Hood, Texas, for duty.

Fall Chore Eased With Planting Of Honeylocusts

You can have your shade and raking can turn into a life of milk and honey-locust.

You can have your shade and like it, to, by planting one of the many thornless varieties of common honey-locust (Gleditsia triacanthos). The thornless honey-locusts are on the up-beat as popular grounds adornments. Some are even being recommended as a substitute for the vanishing American elm, long ravished by Dutch elm disease and phloem mecosis.

In the fall, the home owner is delighted with the honey-locust because its fine texture leaflets, only an inch or two in length, make relatively light litter. In the summer, it is pure beauty. The dark green foliage offers a light, lacy shade that doesn't hinder growth of lush lawns.

The honey-locust is a graceful, fast-growing species that is at home in a wide variety of soils throughout the United States. And it requires but a minimum of judicious pruning. The home owner shouldn't confuse the seedless, thornless variety, however, with the native honey-locust which has vicious thorns and sparse branches. Both of these objectionable features have been overcome in the nursery-grown variety.

WILL ATTEND BOWL GAME IN CALIFORNIA

Carl Anderson left Tuesday by plane from Abilene for Pasadena, Calif., where he will attend the Junior Rose Bowl football classic in which the Tyler Junior College Apaches will play. Tommy Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, is a halfback on the Apache squad. While in California, Mr. Anderson will visit a sister, Mrs. Grace Trush, in Lancaster, near Pasadena, and with his brother, Jim Anderson, who lives near San Francisco.

Free Press Want Ads go into homes of readers throughout the Haskell trade territory.

weight goes straight to the bottom. Inasmuch as the worm floats it will not drop as fast as the lead weight. So if you release plenty of line the floating worm will pull the line through the eye of the little free-swinging swivel that has the leader and weight attached.

Looking at it underwater, you will find the worm floating some three or four feet above the weight that carried it out into the lake when you made your cast.

Now you are ready for action.

Let the worm float where it is for a minute or two. Then give the line a tight tug. Let it rest, then twitch it again.

As you tug on the line the worm is of course going deeper into the lake, thanks to the lead and swivel arrangement that is pulling it down. Continue this action until you get a fish, at one level or another. Whatever level you find them, the fish will be there throughout the day. So try to mark the depth in your mind.

If you have no luck and you pull till the lure jams against the weighted leader (two feet off the bottom), let the worm rest there for sometime. Give it a little twitch now and then to keep it "alive."

Finally, if no luck, try another spot. Billy says, "If there are fish in the lake, this worm will find them."

Kills Deer First Day of First Hunting Trip

The business of deer hunting is a snap, in the opinion of one Haskell housewife who brought down a fine 8-point deer on the first day of her first deer hunting trip.

Mrs. C. A. Thomas Jr., and Mrs. Clois Thomas, both of this city, joined their husbands on a hunting lease near Menard last Saturday where the men and two other Haskell men had been hunting for several days.

Mrs. C. A. Thomas had been hunting only a few hours when she spotted the 8-pointer. One shot brought the animal down and established her reputation as a marksman.

Later in the day, C. A. killed a five-pointer to give the husband-wife team a perfect score.

Jimmy Bledsoe also killed an 8-pointer, but none of the others in the party were as fortunate, and although they spotted several nice specimens, the hunters were unable to get in good shots. Jimmy C. A. Jr., and Clois had gone to the lease earlier in the week.

Final Rites for Reed Farquhar, 72, Wednesday

Funeral service for Reed Farquhar, 72, well-known retired farmer, was held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Church of Christ in Weinert. Officiating were Jim Pennington, Minister of the Haskell Church of Christ and Rev. Hubert Segro, Baptist minister of Haskell.

Burial was in the Weinert Cemetery under direction of Holden Funeral Home.

Mr. Farquhar died at 10 p. m. Monday at the family home, 12 miles northeast of Haskell. He had been in failing health for several years.

Mr. Farquhar was born July 18, 1887, in Fayette, Alabama. He moved with his parents to Denton County for a number of years before moving to Haskell County in 1942.

He was a member of the Church of Christ.

He is survived by one brother, M. S. Farquhar of Weinert; one sister, Mrs. Claude Eldson of Fort Worth; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeralbearers were Cleatus Turnbow, Vernon Bowen, Billy J. Robertson, Ted Jetton, Delbert Carroll Marvin Plemister, Mack Boykin W. H. Amonett.

Postal Workers Discuss Plans For Banquet

The Brazos Valley Postal Association met Monday night in Goree, with Mrs. Etta Chamberlain, Goree postmaster, as hostess.

Plans were discussed for the annual postal banquet to be held in February, with the exact date and place to be announced later.

The group also discussed the handling of Christmas mail and how to render fast service.

Johnny Britton, Stamford postmaster and president of the West Central Texas Postal Employees Association extended an invitation to all members of the association to attend a Christmas party Saturday, Dec. 10, at Arthur's Cafeteria in Abilene.

Attending the meeting from Haskell was Postmaster Harold Spain. Others were present from Munday, Weinert, Benjamin, Rule, Truscot, Rochester, Stamford and Goree.

Carp Fishing Time at Hand Throughout Texas

Don't ever underestimate the fighting spirit and the tasty meat of carp and buffalo. Right now, many fishermen are having some real fun fishing for these two "bugle-mouth," while many others are just sitting around waiting for the white bass and crappie runs, according to Ken Jurgens, assistant director of inland fisheries, Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Carp and buffalo are often discredited as fighting fish. Actually, they don't leap and splash like bass, but they'll tug harder and longer than most bass, explains Jurgens. And catching them isn't as easy as some fishermen might think.

Dough bait seems to be the best attraction. Most stands which handle tackle and live bait also have several brands of dough bait. If not, said the biologist, write the Commission in Austin for their carp fishing bulletin which contains a number of recipes.

Make a ball of this bait and shape it around the hook. Ask your tackle man for a good carp hook. Toss the bait out and allow it to settle on the bottom. Carp are bottom feeders and they will come along and suck it up.

It's hard to see any movement on the line when a carp takes the bait, especially if you are holding the pole. Lay the pole down and watch the line just where it enters the water. Pick up the pole and take in the line when you see the slightest movement. You are in for some real excitement.

The National Safety Council's special reports on 1959 Christmas-New Year's traffic tragedies showed that drinking was a factor in 58 per cent of the crashes which cost 374 lives.

The National Safety Council reports that "the throttle and the bottle both were part of the prelude to the fatal movement of impact" in many of the traffic collisions which took 374 lives during the 1959 year-end holiday.

About 1,500 of the 5,700 adult pedestrians killed in the U. S. traffic tragedies in 1959 had been drinking.

Two cocktails (about 4-1000ths of per cent alcohol in the blood) may reduce visual acuity as much as wearing dark glasses at night.

C. O. Scott, 78, Well-Known Area Farmer, Dies

C. O. Scott, well-known farmer of Munday and a former resident of Haskell, died Friday night, Dec. 2 at his home after suffering a heart attack. He was 78 years old.

Funeral for Mr. Scott was held at 10 a. m. Tuesday at the Munday Church of Christ with Payne Hattox, minister of the Goree Church of Christ, officiating. He was assisted by James Hallmark, minister of the Munday Church of Christ.

Burial was in Willow Cemetery in this city.

He married Edna Glandon on May 26, 1945.

Paper Carrier Is Attacked, Bitten By Vicious Dog

Muddy and icy streets are an inconvenience to newspaper carriers, but a greater menace are the sometimes vicious dogs whose owners allow them to run at large, declares Homer Patterson, Abilene Reporter-News agent.

His comment came after he had been attacked and bitten on the calf of one leg by a dog in the 1300-1400 block area on North Avenue H about 6:30 p. m. Monday.

Patterson said the dog and four others were roaming in the area while he was on his collection rounds. He said the animal which bit him was a "brown, shaggy dog."

"I'd hate to get bitten again, and don't intend to be if I can prevent it," he said, in expressing the hope that owners of vicious dogs would keep their pets from running at large.
