Serving the Reese Community Since 1948

Annual Christmas tree lighting set for tonight

The Annual Christmas Tree lighting ceremony will take place tonight at 5 p.m. The festivities will begin at 4:15 p.m. with Santa riding a fire truck through Reese Village leading a group singing Christmas carols. Santa and the group will depart from the Mathis Recreation Center parking lot for the trip through Reese Village and will arrive at the Base Christmas Tree at 5 p.m.

The entire Reese community is cordially invited to come out and enjoy the festivities. Hot chocolate and coffee will be provided at the Mathis Recreation Center during the Lighting Ceremony. After the ceremony, everyone is invited to the Mathis Recreation Center to enjoy Christmas Carols and more refreshments.

Transportation will be provided for the people who will accompany Santa through the housing area. Anyone who would like to join Santa in singing carols should contact Mrs. Yvonne Spahr at Ext. 3171 or MSgt. Jim Montgomery at Ext. 3220.

November reenlistments

The following individuals reenlisted during the month of November.

64th Field Maintenance Squadron: TSgt. Jose A. Garza, Jr., Senior Airmen Anthony L. Hardwick, Lisa C. Lantrip, Roy E.G. Tomlinson and Nancy E. Yehl.

64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron: SSgt. David M. Abrams and Senior Airmen Rodrick B. Bolick and Richard

B. Brown.

64th Civil Engineering Squadron: TSgts. Kenneth R. Jones and Michael J. Roof and Senior Airmen Randall A. Clark, David M. Elmore and Kimberly S. Smith.

64th Supply Squadron: TSgt. Jeffrey C. Musgrove.

3500 Mission Support Squadron: Sgt. Gary A. Backlund.

429th Field Training Detachment: SSgt. Cynthia F. Lewis.

Reese deserter gets six year sentence

On Nov. 24-25, an airman assigned to the 64th Student Squadron was tried by a General Court Martial for desertion, dishonorable failure to pay a just debt and six specifications of uttering drafts without sufficient funds. The airman left Reese AFB on August 25, 1986 for a 26 day excursion which included a short trip to his hometown of Montego Bay, Jamaica. Leaving Jamaica after a two day visit, he returned to Arlington, Texas, where he was apprehended by TSgt. Jeffrey J. Locke and Sgt. Jewell J. Richardson of the 7th Security Police Squadron, Carswell AFB, Texas. Sergeants Locke and Richardson were working in conjunction with Reese Security Police and OSI officials.

For his offenses, he received an adjudged sentence of six years confinement at hard labor, to forfeit all pay and allowances, to be reduced to the grade of E-1, and to be discharged from the service with a dishonorable discharge. He was granted 69 days credit towards his sentence for pretrial confinement.

Santa is coming to breakfast

Santa Clause will join Reese children for breakfast tomorrow at the Enlisted Open Mess from 9 a.m. to noon.

The event is sponsored by the Enlisted Wives Club.

The cost is children 5-years-old and under, free; 6-10-year-olds, $1 and 11-year-olds and elder, $2.

Tickets may be purchased at the officer's club, the Enlisted Open Mess and from any Enlisted Wives Club member.

Hazard Hot line

by Lt. Col. Phillip Marzolino
Chief, Safety Division

The Wing Safety Division has developed a new program to assist every member of the Reese community in getting unsafe situations corrected—the Reese Hazard Hotline.

Effective immediately, any person at Reese may dial Ext. 3737 any time, day or night, to report a hazard, unsafe condition, or make recommendations as to how we can do our job in a safer manner. After duty hours and on weekends, your message will be recorded and will be promptly investigated the next duty day. The caller may remain anonymous; however, if they leave their name and phone number, a member of the Wing Safety staff will contact them to let them know the results of the investigation.

A member of the Wing Safety staff will still be available 24 hours a day for those situations that require immediate attention, such as a mishap or critical situation, and they can be contacted through the Wing Command Post.

Year's final Roundup published next week

The Roundup will publish one more newspaper this year next week, and the staff is advising persons with stories to get them in now.

"We shut the newspaper operations down for two weeks over the holidays according to the agreement between the public affairs office and the publisher," said A1C Greg Spraggins, Roundup editor. "Any information that needs to get to Reese people over the holidays should be in next week's issue."

Next year's first issue of the Roundup will be published Jan. 9.

News items must be submitted to the newspaper staff in the public affairs office, Room 307, Bldg. 800, by noon Monday to be included in next week's issue of the paper.

Deadline for the Jan. 9 issue of the paper will be noon Jan. 5.

For more information, call Ext. 3843.

As I see it

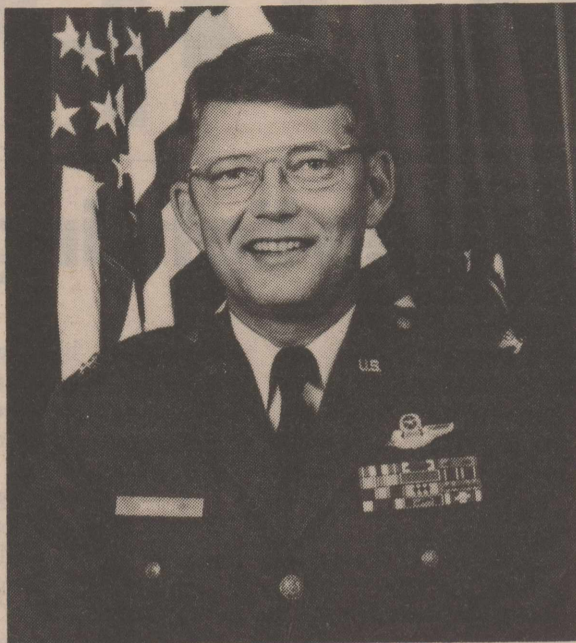

By Col. James McIntyre
Wing Commander
64th Flying Training Wing
Reese AFB, Texas

It's Wednesday evening, Dec. 10, and on this day the season's first real SNOW STORM has brought the flying operation to a grinding halt. In fact, we haven't put many jets in the air since last Friday. And as most of you probably know, I've been out of action myself for the past few days, taken down for the count last Friday also...by the common cold. Ask Karen. The Wing Commander has not been a very happy camper, and she has done well to put up with it. Thank you Karen. Fortunately, I'm feeling much better now, and hopefully, the weather will improve soon as well.

So today I was out and about again, and I was particularly encouraged to see that even with prohibitive weather, the Reese community continued to stay active and productive. The mission gets done, regardless. In fact, as this winter's first white shroud blanketed our base, I'd say that today, Dec. 10, 1986, was not only productive, it was special. Here's why.

Col. Chuck Edwards to take over Columbus

Lt. Gen. John Shaud, our ATC Commander, announced this morning that Col. Chuck Edwards, our Base Commander, and Deputy Commander for Operations before that, has been selected to become the Wing Commander at Columbus AFB, Texas.

Col. James McIntyre

The move will be made soon, most likely before mid-January. Col. Mark Lillard, from Strategic Air Command Headquarters at Offutt AFB, Neb., is slated to replace Col. Edwards.

Chuck and Diana, what a success this selection represents, and what a tremendous opportunity awaits you both. There will be much more to say before you go. Count on it. But for now, on this special day of notification, let me just say, Congratulations from the entire Reese family! We share in your excitement and joy, knowing that it is a much deserved selection, and confident that as Columbus' helmsmen you "WON'T SCREW IT UP," as you might say.

Consider the significance of so many Reese "winners" from across this Wing, in all ranks, being chosen one after the other, to carry the flag and "SHOW THE WAY" throughout the command. Col. Edwards is but one more very good example, for he soon will be the third consecutive Reese base commander to have assumed command of one of our sister Wings—namely Randolph, Laughlin, and now Columbus, in that order. It's significant because it's not by coincidence. I thought Col. Edwards put it very well this morning in the Wing Staff meeting when he pointed out that all the folks at Reese deserve the credit for his selection. "Reese is truly a special place" he said, "because of you people. It is you that have made this happen."

So, AS I SEE IT, this was a very special day, in spite of the freezing weather. Certainly for Chuck and Diana Edwards, but also the whole team that can share in their success. For at Reese, the beat goes on.

Care line

The CARE Line is prepared by Col. James McIntyre, 64th Flying Training Wing commander, on a weekly basis. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty telephone number so that a personal reply may be made; however, neither are mandatory. Callers should use the CARE Line only after all possible means to air their views or complaints through the chain of command have been exhausted. The CARE Line number is 885-(Ext.) 3273.

Need CDCs now!

I asked for CDC study material through my unit in September. It's now late November and I understand no one on Reese has received any of these needed promotion study materials. Personnel at other bases received this material over two months ago so they will have a big advantage over us here at Reese who are preparing for promotion tests. Can we do anything to correct this problem?

I understand your frustration and we have already taken steps to expedite the CDC's arrival at Reese. In fact you should have received your study material by now. When our personnel queried the Extension Course Institute, they blamed the delay on a broken postage meter at Gunter AFS. Sorry for the delay, it was an unforeseen occurrence and should not happen again!

No gym heat

Since the weather has turned cold, there seems to be a problem getting heat in the base gym. Will there be a problem putting it on soon?

The heating problem in the gym is something that our CE staff has been working on since October. The solution is not a simple adjustment but requires some modifications to the existing system which we hope to correct by the first of the year.

Social Actions Services

I would like to know if retired military personnel working on Reese have access to the social actions services for on-base problems?

You bet! In fact, the social actions folks are here to address any issue, anytime from anybody. Any retiree whether they work on base or not can go to Social Actions for assistance! Let there be no doubt about that.

Emergency Room staff eases trauma

I would like to comment on the hospital emergency room technicians. I received a severe laceration on my hand and I had to rush to the emergency room. As with many people, it's not one of my favorite places to visit on base, but I knew at this point I had no choice. When I arrived at the emergency room I was walking briskly and I never had to stop once I entered the emergency room. As soon as I walked through the door a technician came out from behind the desk and walked me right into the room where they do emergency first aid. I know I wasn't very receptive at the time to their attempts to put me more at ease, but they never gave up and there was always somebody in the room with me. I'm sure I got through it a lot better than I could have, had somebody not taken the time to see how I was taking this incident. They explained to me exactly what I had done to my hand, because I really honestly couldn't look at it. They then explained to me exactly what they were going to do. They stitched me up real fine and I was out and on my way inside half an hour. I would like to give special thanks to SSgt. Ernesto Maligaya and 2nd Lt. William McCoy who was the one doing the suturing. Thank you.

That's super! Col. Bobbit and I thank you for making the effort to pat these folks on the back. We have a lot of top notch, caring professionals at our hospital and it really means a lot to them, and it says a lot about the Reese spirit, when patients like yourself show their appreciation for the service these folks provide. My special thanks to 2nd Lt. McCoy and SSgt. Maligaya for your outstanding performance—keep up the good work!

THE SPIRIT OF THE SEASON

It's the Spirit of the Season,
You can feel it in the air;
And though you cannot see it,
You know that it's still there.

People walking helter-skelter,
Through department stores and malls;
Finding countless playful treasures,
Like electric trains and dolls.

So many treats are gathered,
To prepare the Christmas feast;
A meal fit for a king,
To say the very least.

All the children are excited,
And there really is good cause;
For they'll soon receive a visit,
And new toys from Santa Claus.

But there's a more important reason,
For all the joy and mirth;
At Christ time we celebrate,
Our blessed Savior's birth.

So let the Spirit of the Season,
In your life and you will see;
That life truly is worth living,
For He came for you and me.

Commander's Column

Soared like an Eagle

by Col. Charles Edwards
64th Air Base Group Commander

Each December, while we celebrate the holiday season, it is easy to overlook the anniversary of eighty three years ago which signaled the birth of aviation with the now famous flight at Kitty Hawk. It was reported, without much fanfare, that the Wright flying machine had "soared like an eagle" for 57 seconds covering 852 feet at an average speed of thirty-one miles per hour. From that seemingly insignificant beginning we have made astonishing progress in aeronautics. No airplane has flown nor pilot taken to the air that does not owe a fundamental debt to the Wright brothers flight of December 17, 1903. Shortly after that flight, the War Department expressed interest in the military potential of this new invention. Then came men like "Hap" Arnold, Carl Spaatz, Ira Eaker, Frank Andrews, Billy Mitchell and Benny Foulois who pioneered military aviation. It is startling to think that just a little over eighty years ago man only dreamed the flight of Icarus. Even more awesome is the thought that by the turn of the century, aviation—as we know it today—may take on another form—perhaps lasers, or something yet to be discovered. Think about it—scary—huh!

In a humorous article on "what kids have to say about aviation," our history was summed up in a neat one-sentence package. "In aviation history there was first the Wright brothers, then Lindburgh, then on to now." Kids have a knack for succinctly saying what they consider to be the most essential information!

Seriously, we have come a long way to the "then on to now" phase of aviation. A proud history that we certainly are part of at Reese Air Force Base.

No other flying arm of service epitomizes the proud tradition of aviation more than Reese. Just think of the honors Reese has earned. Finest Fuels Branch in the Air Force, top services squadron and innkeeper awards, just recently selected as the Command's Hennessey nominee and on and on, and to top it all off, this year our flyers brought home all the awards from the annual "Turkey Shoot" (soon to be known as Torch Light)—the finest T-37, T-38, operations and top wing in the Command.

Not bad for a little in size but "awesome" in heart, base "Deep in the Heart of Texas." So, stop for a minute and reflect next Wednesday as we celebrate the anniversary of our aviation heritage when we first "soared like an eagle."

Tax tips

Moving expense deduction available

by Capt. Don B. Meyer
Deputy Staff Judge Advocate

A common deduction available—some say too often—to military members is the moving expense deduction. Deductible moving expenses include the cost of travel to a new location, transporting household goods and effects, pre-move house-hunting trips, temporary living expenses for up to 30 days at a new location and the sale of an old residence and acquisition of a new one—including attorney's fees, real estate commissions, title fees, and points.

Moving expense deductions are basically divided, producing a total amount which can be claimed. The deduction for the expenses of house-hunting trips, temporary living quarters, and qualified residence sale, purchase and lease costs is limited to a total of $3,000.00, of which not more than $1,500.00 may be for house-hunting trips and temporary quarters. In households where both spouses are employed at a new principal place of employment within the same general area, the move will be considered as only one commencement of work and the $3,000.00 and $1,500.00 limitation applies on the joint return.

For those taxpayers who used an automobile in making the move, two choices are available for determining the amount to be deducted. The taxpayer may deduct either the actual out-of-pocket expenses incurred—gasoline, motor oil, repairs, etc.—or a standard mileage allowance of 9 cents per mile.

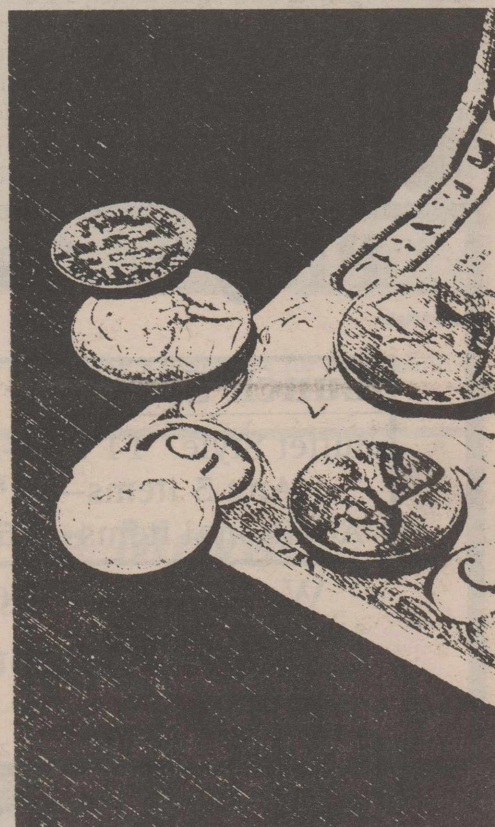

A key area subject to an audit is the improper double deduction for expenses of selling a house at the old job location and subsequent purchase of a home at the new location. If you take the deductions for selling your old home as a moving expense you cannot also use the costs to reduce the amount realized on the sale of your old residence or add the cost to your basis in your new residence. A simple example is: John Smith PCS'd to Reese AFB, from Homestead AFB, in 1986. He sold his old residence incurring selling expenses of broker's commissions and attorney fees totalling $1,500.00 and bought a new home in Lubbock. If John takes a $1,500.00 moving expense, he cannot reduce the amount realized on the sale of his old residence by $1,500.00, nor can he add $1,500.00 to the cost basis of the new residence for tax purposes. In almost all cases, you will have a larger tax saving by claiming the expenses as moving expenses as they are an above the line deduction.

A special benefit available for military members only is that any moving and storage expenses that are furnished in kind by the military and/or cash reimbursements or allowances to the extent of expenses incurred as a result of a PCS do not have to be included as income. So, military members unlike civilians do not have to include moving reimbursements first to be able to take follow-up moving deductions.

Remember, keep records. Examples of moving expenses often missed are: costs in excess of those reimbursed for car shipment, deposits lost because of a move, phone calls to realtors, insurance agents, and mileage incurred while house/apartment hunting, postage for change of address cards, postage for shipping household items, and the cost of insurance on property in transit.

'Tis the season

by Chaplain (Capt.) Robert Stroud

"Tis the season to be jolly...fa, la, la, la, la, la, la, la, la, la..." Yes, for most folks, Christmas is a time to celebrate and be joyous. This festive spirit is fostered by our increasingly frequent visits to the local stores, constantly playing Christmas season tunes. But, for the Christian, Christmas is far more than simply the season to be jolly. The depth of its meaning could only be probed by talking with every individual who has given the subject thought. What follows is a sampling of what we might hear if we should pose the question of just what sort of season Christmas is.

"Tis the season to be thankful." Yes, I know that we just celebrated Thanksgiving Day, but it seems to me that a thanksgiving lifestyle is much more meaningful than a thanksgiving season. Isn't it ironic that we simply devote a single day to thanking a God who extends to us his blessings 365 and one-fourth days a year? And what more precious gift for which to offer thanks than God's gift of his only begotten son? In the spirit of that initial, and most precious, Christmas gift, we are motivated to share gifts of our own with God, and with our neighbor. We have so much for which to be thankful. Thus,

"Tis the season to be generous." Christmas is nothing if it is not a season for sharing. This is the theme most loudly touted by our society. Naturally, some economic interests are involved, and oc-asionally we tire of the materialistic emphasis, but the kernel underneath... the desire to share and to give...is virtuous and positive. If we can get beyond the attitude of "giving to get" and share simply from the sincere desire to make another happy, then we will find our own joy multiplied. To be truly generous is to experience joy as an outgrowth of the joy of others; it is to count the desires of others to be more important than your own. Possessing this attitude fills the season with a profound meaning. Thus,

"Tis the season to be humble." Giving without the demand to receive in kind, and caring without the expectation of being cared for in return, reflect the true spirit of that first Christmas. Our Lord knew the reason for which he was coming into the world, for in truth the cross overshadowed the manger. Still, Jesus was willing to lay aside the prerogatives of his divine nature and become a human being. Why? Because he loves. How? In utter humility. Following his example, we can honestly be a blessing to those around us. Those with faith will be empowered through humility to share the faith with those who know not its comfort. Without pretense and possessing no ulterior motives or selfishness, the true message of the Christmas miracle can be boldly proclaimed. For,

"Tis the season to be reverent." This is a time to pause from our daily hustle and bustle to reflect on what is of eternal importance. O to recapture the awe of the shepherds as they were led to that wondrous manger. O to feel within our heart the joy and recognition of the wise men as they arrived at the end of their quest, having pursued the promise of the star. Christmas provides a unique opportunity to reflect upon what is truly meaningful in life...and such meditation nearly always leads to reverence.

Christmas is many other things, of course, but these are a few of the thoughts which come to my mind. A woman named Wilda English penned a precious prayer of blessing with which it is fitting to sum up these thoughts:

God grant you the light in Christmas,
which is faith;
the warmth of Christmas, which is love;
the radiance of Christmas, which is purity;
the righteousness of Christmas, which is justice;
the belief in Christmas, which is truth;
the all of Christmas, which is Christ.

News Briefs

Former service members needed

The Air Force is in critical need for trained people in selected skills. Someone who has been out of the Air Force for less than five years may be eligible to reenlist at their old rank and get a base of preference and a bonus. For more information, call the Air Force Recruiting Office in Lubbock, 806/791-4714. Collect calls are accepted, but there is a deadline.

Billeting service rates change

The rates for all Distinguished Visitor Suites will be increased to $10 per day, per person, and not to exceed $30 per day regardless of number of occupants. Present VAQ/VOQ charges will remain unchanged. This is effective Jan. 1, 1987, for Randolph, Columbus, Reese, Vance, Laughlin, Mather and Williams AFBs.

Flea market-bake sale ahead

The Mexican American Club will hold a flea market and bake sale Saturday at the Mathis Recreation Center from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. All proceeds from the function will be donated to the Holiday Food Program at the Base Chapel. The club is also accepting donations of unwanted items. Everything will be more than reasonably priced to sell. For more information, call MSgt. Matt Alvarez, Ext. 6065.

W-2 tax statements to arrive early

Headquarters Air Force Accounting and Finance Center recently announced a tentative schedule for mailing the 1986 Year-End W-2 Tax Statements by Jan. 5, 1987. Since all printing, folding and mailing has been contracted out, they anticipate forwarding the forms from Denver, Colo. faster than prior years.

It is important that everyone pay particular attention to the mailing address and office symbol printed on your Leave and Earnings Statement—LES—and Net Pay Advice. If your address is incorrect, stop by Military Pay and change it as soon as possible.

Story hour increases to two days

Library story hour is Tuesday, 10 a.m. for 3-year-olds, Wednesday, 10 a.m. for 4-year-olds and Wednesday, 12:30 p.m. for 5-year-olds. The hour is free and includes reading aloud, movies, activities and games, and other fun things to do. All children are invited to share in the fun.

The Christmas party for children this year will be Tuesday, 10:30-11:30 a.m. at the library. Santa will be there to talk to the children and pass out goodies.

Discount tickets available

Discount theater tickets are available at the Mathis Recreation Center for the following theaters:

United Artist tickets for the cinema at the South Plains Mall are now $3.50.

Fox-Mann tickets to the Fox and Mann Theater, $3.50.

See your favorite movies at discount prices. Tickets may be purchased at the Mathis Recreation Center during the following hours: Monday-Friday 10 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. Saturday, Sunday and Holidays, noon to 9:30 p.m.

Holiday camp scheduled

The Youth Center will hold a Christmas and New Years Day Camp, Dec. 22-26 and Dec. 29-Jan. 2, from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., for children 8-12-years-old.

The cost is $25 per week or $40 for both weeks. Children may be dropped off after 7 a.m. and should be picked up not later than 5 p.m.

There will be no camp on Dec. 25, Jan. 1 and weekends. Sign up before Dec. 19.

New Years party held

The Youth Center will hold a New Year's Eve party Dec. 31 from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. for children 9-13-years-old. The cost is $5. Sign up by Dec. 26.

Disco dance scheduled

The Mathis Recreation Center will have an all night Disco from midnight to 5 a.m. Saturday.

Santa Claus to visit Reese

Santa Claus will visit the Mathis Recreation Center on Sunday from 1-6 p.m. The event is open to the Reese community. Christmas goodies will be available for children. Polaroid pictures may be purchased for $1.50.

Closing announced

On Monday the Mathis Recreation Center will close at 2 p.m. for the MWR Christmas party.

Christmas spirit shared

On Wednesday, transportation will be provided for volunteers to visit the Parkway Nursing Home. Santa Claus and Santa's helpers will accompany volunteers. Sign up at the Mathis Recreation Center. For more information, call Ext. 3787.

Contributions recognized

February has been set aside to recognize contributions made by black Americans, says Phil Theiry, Black Employment Program Manager. Program implementation is now being developed to "kick off" this observance with a special recognition of Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday. Capt. Karen E. Evans, Staff Nurse in the Multi-Service Unit, has been appointed as project officer for Reese Air Force Base. The Civilian Personnel Office, Social Actions and representatives from base community organizations are encouraged to achieve the fullest possible participation during these events.

More information will be available as plans are finalized. If you would like to work on any program committee, please contact Capt. Evans at Ext. 3341, Social Action Office, Ext. 3763, or Civilian Personnel Office, Ext. 3973.

The DoD Rideshare Program

The DoD Rideshare Program is an effort to increase fuel efficiency and decrease traffic congestion. The program at Reese AFB has just been revamped making it more manageable. Participants should realize a personal monetary savings while easing the parking problems we all have experienced.

If you carry passengers to and from work, and would like to become a registered carpool participant with a reserved parking place designated for you, call Ext. 3917.

Toys for Tots — final collection

Final collection of toy boxes on base will be completed on Monday. If boxes become full prior to that, contact SSgt. Gayle Gustafson, Ext. 3323. Anyone wishing to donate toys after Monday may deliver them to the Marine Corps Reserve Unit on Fourth Street. They must receive all toys prior to Thursday for distribution. We will again this year be canvassing base housing knocking on doors for toy donations from 8 a.m.-noon tomorrow. If you cannot be home during this period, please leave donated toys on doorstep in a paper bag marked "Toys For Tots." Remember, no stuffed animals or dolls.

Fire prevention tips offered

"The holiday season, Christmas and New Year's is a period when our bases will be more vulnerable to the hazards of fire than any other time of the year," said Base Fire Chief Bob Hitch.

Here are some safety tips to minimize hazards that cause fires:

- Don't use polystyrene foam for candle holders or other decorations where candles are used because it is highly combustible.
- Dispose of gift wrappings promptly by placing them in a metal covered container.
- Avoid pyroxylin plastic toys and dolls. Toys operated by alcohol, kerosene, or gasoline are especially dangerous. They may upset and set fire to children's clothing, the tree or the house itself.

• Electrical toys should be listed by Underwriters Laboratories to show they have met shock and fire hazard standards.

In places of public assembly:

- Observe the "flameproof" decoration rules.

- Limit groups of people to the number approved for your facility.

- Make sure that exit facilities are not blocked or obscured by decorative materials, cables or other obstructions.

- Don't use lighted candles or other open flame devices for decorative purposes.

- Ensure that sufficient fire extinguishers are in place and accessible prior to the start of the program or activity.

- Make a thorough fire prevention inspection prior to closing. Ask the fire department for guidance.

Other reminders:

- Don't allow smoking near the tree or around decorations and wrappings. Have plenty of large safe ashtrays around and use them.

- Smoking in bed is extremely dangerous, don't allow it.

- Supervise small children playing near the tree. Keep matches, lighters and candles out of their reach.

- Above all, have a fire emergency plan. Select alternate escape routes out of every room. If fire strikes, clear everybody out of the house or facility, then call the Fire Department. Fight the fire only if you can do so safely, keeping an exit route open.

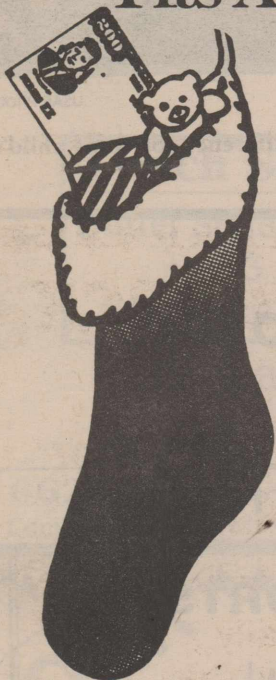

- When in doubt on fire prevention matters, call the Fire Department day or night.

and electrical wiring checked by a professional? Every year thousands of fire deaths and injuries could be prevented by proper servicing and inspection.

Heating systems should be checked at the beginning of each heating season by a furnace expert.

In older homes the wiring may be inadequate for the demands placed on the system by modern appliances. The risk of fire increases with each appliance added to the system. If the wiring hasn't been modernized, or you're not sure about the wiring, have it checked by an electrician.

There are numerous signs of electrical trouble. They include:

- Flickering lights;
- Warm wall outlets or switches;
- A burning odor near an outlet;
- Sparking, arcing or discolored fixtures;
- Outlets or switches that don't work; and
- Unexplained radio static or television "snow."

If you have any of these danger signals, call an electrician.

1958th CS host advanced training

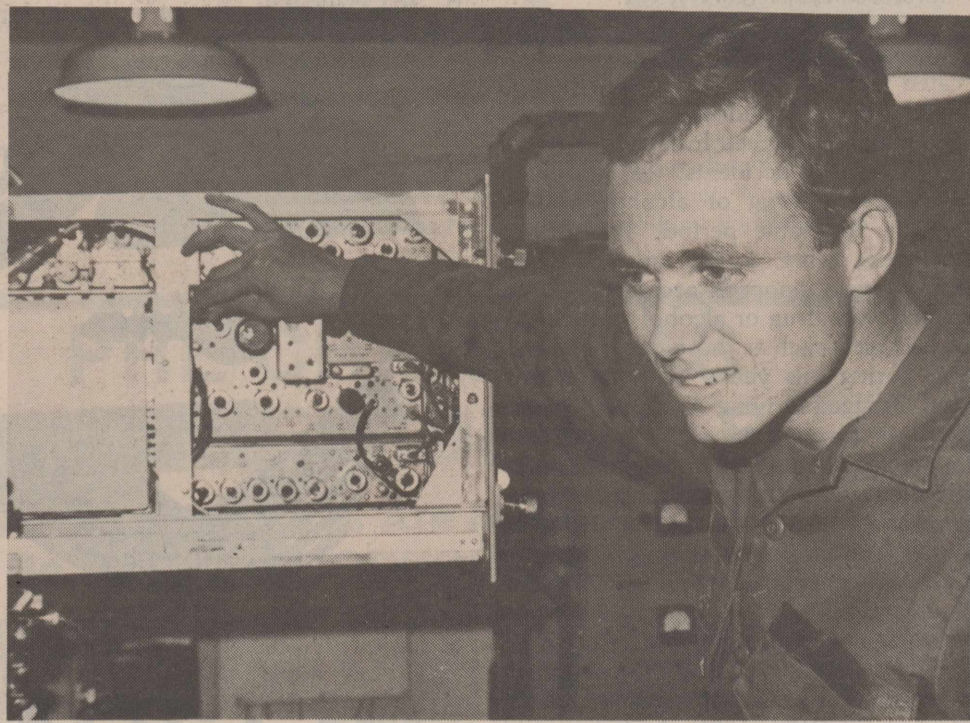

by Sgt. James D. Bush

The 1958th Communications Squadron hosted the Advanced Instrument Landing System (ILS) training for the Air Training Communications Division, headquartered at Randolph AFB, Texas, from Nov. 3-21.

Under the instruction of Mr. Gregory Luther, Civilian Contract Field Service Representative, a three-week maintenance intensive course was conducted using Reese's Instrument Landing Systems (ILS). The ILS is used by inbound aircraft coming to Reese AFB during inclement weather. The ILS accomplishes this with two separate systems, the localizer and the glideslope. The localizer emits a horizontal beam pattern used to center the aircraft on approach. The glideslope does the same thing in a vertical pattern which creates a glidepath for the aircraft. By using these two systems, an aircraft can land at Reese during the severest weather.

The class consisted of Mr. Anthony Smith and Mr. Charles Purcell from the 1827th EIS, Kelly AFB, and A1C Franz Zichy and Amn. Keith Barnes from the 1958th Communications Squadron, Air Field Systems Maintenance workcenter. During the three week course, they studied theory of operation and then hands-on for signal enhancement adjustments on the ILS.

Drunk/Drugged driving week begins

by Evelyn D. Harris
American Forces Information Service

Americans appear to be losing their tolerance for drunk drivers: 65 percent of respondents in a recent survey cited drunk driving as the most pressing problem in their community and said they want to help get drunks off the road.

And restaurants are selling more and more "mocktails," or non-alcoholic drinks, to persons who want to avoid imbibing and driving, says another poll.

Despite these encouraging trends, the National Safety Council reports that half of U.S. motor vehicle fatalities this year have involved alcohol. Last year, 45,600 people died in alcohol-related motor vehicle accidents.

Jerry Anderson, who chairs the Department of Defense Drunk and Intoxicated Driving Task Force, said that in fiscal 1986, 472 soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines lost their lives in four-wheel motor vehicle accidents. Of those, 115 deaths were drug or alcohol related. During the same period, 181 service members were killed in two-wheel (motorcycle, moped) accidents, 32 of which were drug or alcohol related.

It is facts such as those you'll be hearing during this year's National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week, Dec. 14 through 20. For the past four years, President Ronald Reagan has proclaimed a week in December to focus attention on the deaths and injuries that result from impaired driving.

December is an appropriate month for an awareness campaign, because it is a popular time for parties and social occasions that lend themselves to drinking.

For Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week 1986, Anderson said the services will continue to emphasize the designated driver program they promoted last year.

Groups of friends designate one driver who will not drink alcoholic beverages. The non-drinker is responsible for getting the rest of the group home safely. At the next outing, someone else is the designated driver.

Most officers and noncommissioned officers clubs are doing their part to encourage the designated driver program by giving free soft drinks and reduced price of free food to designated drivers. Many clubs offer "No Thanks" buttons for designated drivers.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, the government agency that first promoted an impaired driving awareness week, got the idea for its designated driver campaign from the Navy, according to spokesman Jerry Burns. The administration's slogan for this year are "A Key to Life: Designated Driver" and "Because We Care..."

• WHAT is a designated driver? A designated driver is a person in a group who agrees to remain sober and drive others safely home.

• WHY is there a need for a designated driver? To prevent crashes and save lives. Last year 23,500 Americans were killed and another 561,000 were seriously injured in alcohol related accidents.

• YOU can help by:

-Volunteering to be a designated driver

-Respect the designated driver—not force drinks on them.

• YOU will help a friend:

-Keep his stripes
-Keep his license
-Stay out of jail
-Avoid embarrassment
-Stay alive

• WHAT do you get:

-Satisfaction for helping out friends
-Free soft drinks at the clubs from Dec. 19, 1986-Jan. 2, 1987

-Free admission to the New Year's Eve party at the NCO club
-Respect of the Base

• HOW do I volunteer:

Contact SSgt. Keith Townsend at Social Actions, Ext. 3643. He will see that you get the necessary Designated Driver ID, so others will know that you are available to help.

Who's who — 1986 Santa Claus Contest

The Mathis Recreation Center is sponsoring a "Name the Face" contest.

Match the name to the face of Santa Clause, and submit your entry to the Mathis Recreation Center Monday-Friday between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

One entry per person, and only active duty military may enter.

A Kodak instamatic camera will be awarded to the person with the most correct answers.

A picture will be chosen at random prior to the event publishing to be used as a tie breaker. In the event of a tie, whoever identifies that picture will be declared the winner. If this doesn't break the tie, the entry turned in first will be declared the winner.

Who's who

Santa Clauses may be the following individuals:

1. Col. Charles Edwards, Base Commander
2. Lt. Col. Ted Ownby, Deputy Base Commander

Reese to host Cannon AFB

The Reese Varsity Basketball Team will host Cannon AFB N.M., Saturday at 7 p.m. and again Sunday at noon.

Gym closings announced

The gym will be closed on Dec. 17 in preparation of the Annual Christmas Classic. They will be closed again on Dec. 21 for clean-up.

During the Christmas Classic High School Basketball Tournament, Dec. 18-20, the gym will be open only to participants and spectators of the Christmas Classic.

Admission to the Christmas Classic is $1 for children under 12, and $2 for adults.

Spectators in military uniform are admitted free.

Volleyball Team off to a good start

The Reese Volleyball Team is on a roll after the mens team placed third in the fall Lubbock Parks and Recreation League. The Co-Rec. team placed an even more impressive second place for the Reese Spikers. The winter league starts Jan. 5, with the prospect of both teams going all the way.

Honor Guard On the move

A five member Color Guard will be present for the opening ceremonies of the Christmas Classic Basketball tournament Thursday. The program begins at 11 a.m. in the base gym.

Friday, Dec. 19, the Honor Guard will provide a ten-member Honor Cordon at the officer's club at 6 p.m. in honor of the UPT Class-87-02 graduation.

The fifteen member Reese Precision Rifle Drill Team has been asked by other ATC bases to develop a video tape of their rifle skills and routines for use in starting similiar teams at other bases.

DoD workers must still buckle up

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—Department of Defense employees still must wear seat belts despite a recent report by The National Transportation Safety Board raising questions about the effectiveness of rear seat belts.

DoD policy requires everyone riding in a DoD motor vehicle wear safety belts on or off

DoD Installations, and to wear belts even in privately owned or rented vehicles while on a DoD Installation.

According to DoD Officials, the NTSB Report, released in August, is not conclusive and may be misleading since it considered only 26 automobile crashes in which rear-seat passengers were more frequently killed or seriously injured than those not wearing a belt.

"I'm concerned that the report may be misleading the public with the implication that people would be better off not using lap belts when riding in the rear seat of a car," said Diane Steed, Administrator of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

She said that agency's studies, involving thousands of accident cases, clearly show rear-seat passengers have a better chance of avoiding serious injury or death by wearing a lap belt.

"We are aware that in rare instances, in certain types of accidents, injuries or even fatalities can occur from the safety belt itself," said Ms. Steed.

"But," she added, "our overall conclusion is that a person riding in the rear seat of a motor vehicle has a much better chance of avoiding serious injury or death by wearing a safety belt than traveling unprotected."

Holidays not always relaxing

by Ginger Fink
Chief, Child Development Center,

Christmas is a time of happiness and excitement for children. The world turns into a brightly colored fairyland of toys, music, bells, fat men with beards in red suits, picture-taking, and lots to eat. Sometimes Christmas can be tiring and troublesome. Here are some hints to help you get through Christmas with little ones in your home:

- Make sure children get the naps they need. When there's a lot of excitement, kids can get tired fast, and tired children get fussy. Try to plan your time so that kids can get the sleep they need when they need it. The same goes for you, mom and dad. We often stay up too late doing special Christmas things, or we stay out too late. Tired parents and tired children together are a ready-made catastrophe. Get the rest you need.

- Make sure children get good food. During the holidays, candy and cookies and special cakes are everywhere. And sometimes, when we're in a hurry, we let the kids eat what's there so we can get on with what we need to do.

Sometimes they can go for days and eat nothing but junk. When kids don't eat some decent vegetables and fruits, they begin to get fussy. And they'll be more prone to catch colds or whatever else is out there to catch.

For parents: If you are alone and feeling blue, don't try to force yourself to feel all the joys you did when you were a child. If you are sad this year, then you're sad—that doesn't mean your children can't have a wonderful time.

- Never force a frightened child to sit on Santa's lap. Wait another year. Sometimes little kids are just as terrified of Santa as they would be of a monster. And that terror doesn't go away easily.

- Don't put breakable ornaments on the bottom of the Christmas tree. For little ones, they're just too pretty to resist; they can't help but touch. Put unbreakable things on the bottom branches. You might also hang some bells on the lower branches to warn you when little hands are reaching the tree.

If you are alone and feeling blue, don't try to force yourself to feel all the joys you did when you were a child. If you are sad this year, then you are sad—that doesn't mean your children can't have a wonderful time.

But you may have every right to a good case of Christmas blues. After all, we've been taught to be happy and jolly, and full of love and togetherness at this time; and if you aren't happy and if your family isn't together, why should you be feeling so great?

Christmas without the ones you love is rough. Maybe you can find some friends who are in the same situation. Maybe each of you can help the other—and that's a real Christmas gift!

Five myths about Family Services dispelled

by Cathy Winney
Publicity Chairman

Chances are that at one time or another you have heard one of the following "MYTHS" about Family Services:

- A rental fee is charged for every item borrowed from the Family Services Loan Locker.
- Only TDY/PCS personnel and dependents can use the services offered by the Family Services Center.
- Family Services only aids military members who have a "family."
- The ladies who staff the Family Services Center are paid workers.
- Family Services already has too many workers.

In order, here are the actual "FACTS" about Family Services and the services that are offered:

Experience needed for future NCO's

RANDOLPH AFB, Texas (ATCNS)—Experienced non-commissioned officers have insight which can be shared with future NCOs. That's the goal of an essay contest sponsored by editors of the Promotion Fitness Examination study guide.

"We're not looking for a long dissertation, just your thoughts, experiences, brief anecdotes; anything you think might help others become better NCOs," explained Maj. William J. Schrank, project officer at the Air Force Occupational Measurement Center, publishers of Air Force Pamphlet 50-34.

The OMC at Randolph is co-sponsoring the essay contest with the Aerospace Education Foundation.

Winning writers will receive a $25 savings bond and their entries will appear in AFP 50-34, Volume I, the PFE Study Guide, and Volume II, USAF Supervisory Examination Study Guide.

"The $25 recognition awards

• There is a NO fee policy at all Family Services; in order to borrow items, one must possess a current active duty or retired military I.D. card or a current military dependent card; in addition, civilian employees of the Department of Defense are also eligible to borrow items.

• While TDY/PCS personnel and their dependents have priority in borrowing items, the services and programs of the Family Services Center are also open to PERMANENT PARTY personnel and their dependents and DoD employees.

• Family Services is open to single, married, divorced, or separated personnel, with or without children. No one is ever turned away because they do not have a dependent spouse or child.

• The ladies who staff the Family Services Center are VO-LUNTEERS; they do not receive any monetary compensation whatsoever. The average volunteer donates about 30 hours a month to the Reese community—this is in addition to her other civic and religious affiliations.

• Family Services always needs volunteers; at present, only 15 dedicated ladies volunteer their services at Reese AFB. That's 15 volunteers for a base population of some 2,473 military personnel—and that's not including their dependents! The numbers speak for themselves.

Family Services volunteers urge you to make a commitment to join in providing the Reese AFB community a helping hand. The center is open Monday-Friday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Contact Rita St. Onge, Membership Training Chairman, Ext. 3306 for more information.

will not enable anyone to retire early," the major said, "but having their essay published in one of these volumes can have a substantial impact on future leaders.

"It's not necessary to be a writing expert or be in a field where writing is used all the time," Major Schrank said. "A brief anecdote or story from your own experience might just prove to be a winner."

Major Schrank said the contest runs all year, with a committee judging the entrants every six months, beginning in June. The first deadline for essay submission is June 30, 1987. There are two categories—a long essay of 1,000-1,500 words, or a short one between 200-500 words."

The judging committee is looking for original, concise essays on an appropriate subject, said OMC officials.

Essay topics could include, but are not limited to: professionalism; fraternization; integrity; junior/senior NCO relationships; drugs/alcohol and you; the NCO club; additional duties; making a good working environment; Project Warrior; overseas assignments; community volunteers; civilians; communications; patriotism; computer technology; weight control/physical fitness; financial responsibility; APRs and raters; off duty education; safety in the workplace; the Weighted Airman Promotion System; loyalty; why we have traditions; professional military education; managing your time; and management.

For further information, contact the Military Training Standard Development Program project NCOs at Autovon 487-4075. Essays should be mailed to Essay Contest, USAFOMC/OMP, Randolph AFB, Texas 78150-5000.

Remember update emergency data

RANDOLPH AFB, Texas (AFNS)—Air Force Military Personnel Center officials are urging airmen to immediately update their DD Forms 93, Record of Emergency Data, whenever a birth, death, divorce, change of address or other changes occur.

The form, which can be updated at the base personnel office customer service unit, lists those persons to be notified in case of the airman's death. It is a binding legal document which determines the beneficiary for death gratuity pay and unpaid pay and allowances.

Officials noted that it is the member's responsibility to keep the DD Form 93 up to date. Failure to maintain the document, they warned, could delay notification to the next of kin and affect payment of survivor benefits.

Weather

by TSgt. Mark J. Campbell
Det. 11, 24 Weather Squadron

The anticipation is finally over! The long awaited snow arrived on Wednesday, blanketing the Reese area with the fluffy stuff. The weather leading up to the snow has been very complicated. The area was affected by three separate air masses.

Last week, the air mass was a modified polar air mass that moved into the area on Friday keeping the temperatures mild and pleasant.

On Saturday, a front from the west moved into the area which produced cloudy skies throughout Saturday. This prevailed until Sunday at which time the skies began to clear up late in the afternoon.

Another synoptic situation that was occurring on Sunday was the development of an upper level low center in Northwestern New Mexico. From that low center, a new front developed and this whole system moved into the Reese area by Monday. A situation called "overrunning" occurred Monday night. (Overrunning is when warm moist air is forced above colder air at the surface). The end result is foggy conditions as experienced on Monday night. With this type of weather pattern, the area was able to attain a significant moisture source.

Another polar air mass from the north moved into the area Wednesday, while another upper level low moved in from the west. With this combination, the area received close to two inches of snow.

The temperatures during this week have been lower than normal. The normal high temperature for this time of year is 55 degrees. The daytime highs have been ranging from 50 degrees on Tuesday to a high of 31 degrees on Wednesday. The high temperature for Wednesday occurred at midnight Tuesday and just got colder from there on.

The weather will get better for the rest of the week. Today, the skies will become partly cloudy with the temperatures gradually warming up.

By the weekend, the conditions will continue to improve with the temperatures climbing into the upper 50s by

Sunday and night-time temperatures in the 30s. Now that the first snow fall is out of the way, maybe there is that remote chance of there being a white Christmas.

Movies

The Mathis Recreation Center offers FREE movies every Friday at 7 p.m., Sunday at 3 p.m. and Tuesday at 7 p.m. This weeks movies are:

Friday: Hollywood Vice Squad. When a young runaway falls under the insidious influence of a white slaver who has turned her on to the evils of both heroin and prostitution, the Hollywood Vice Squad is called upon to track her down and return her to her desperate family—R

Sunday: Poltergeist II, the other side. They're back, and the nightmare begins anew as the persistent evil spirits of Poltergeist I have managed to follow the fleeing family to Gramma's house hoping to reclaim little Carol Anne to drain her of the "life force"—PG-13

Tuesday: The Last Starfighter. A teenager's fantasies about escaping the dreary trailer park where he lives come all too true when a fast-talking stranger literally drops into his life and whisks him away to a galaxy in a small corner of the universe. (Movie synopsis by AAFES)

Next Week:
Friday, Dec. 19: Jake Speed—PG

Sunday, Dec. 21: Legal Eagles—PG

Tuesday, Dec. 23: Purple Hearts—R
