

Council Asked for Increase in Local Telephone Rates

The next regular meeting, when some plan will be worked out.

Presenting a request for increase in rates for local telephone service were District Manager F. A. Robinette of Seymour, and Don Mortimer of the San Angelo office of General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

Mr. Mortimer, as spokesman, explained that an increase in rates was justified, based on higher operating costs of the company. Present earnings of 4.1 per cent on the local investment are insufficient, he explained. An increase in local one-party business rate from $10.50 to $13.50, and one-party residence from $5.50 to $7.00 monthly was requested, with proportionate increase on two-party lines or more.

Aldermen took the request under advisement, and invited a company representative to meet with the Council at its first October meeting.

Methodists Plan New Educational Building

Congregation of the First Methodist Church, and its church board has approved plans for a new $15,000 Educational Building and has authorized a finance campaign to underwrite the project.

An education and promotion drive was launched this week to acquaint members with the project and its need, preliminarily to carrying out an active campaign for contributions and pledges.

Dr. Wm. J. Kemp has been named general chairman of the finance drive, and a steering committee includes W. H. Pitman, chairman of the building committee, Allen Reeves, chairman of the finance committee, Tom Barfield is chairman of the board and Henry Withers is Sunday School superintendent.

The new Educational Building will be located just north of the present church building. Of brick and tile construction, it will be built in an "L" shape to utilize available grounds.

Building plans which have already been approved, call for 10 classrooms, two assembly rooms, and a Boy Scout Hall. Also, office quarters for the children's division of the church, rest rooms and utility closets.

Church leaders said this week that they hoped to start construction on the new building by mid-October.

Council Organized to Fight Liquor Traffic; Mass Meeting Set Sunday

Civic-minded citizens from many denominations in the county met Friday to organize the Haskell County Civic Righteousness Council. This organization joins with the Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education, Inc. in the struggle against "the satanic liquor traffic and the terrible, tragic toll this traffic has on all humanity."

There are two purposes which motivate the Civic Righteousness Council, organizers said.

First, to win the election against alcohol in any form anywhere in Haskell County in a Christian way. This means that the Council will use every possible means to educate people in order that they might become truly acquainted with the detrimental effects of legal alcohol in the community and county and in turn help influence others to vote dry. The second thing is to educate the whole community in order that the efforts of the Council will have lasting effect and to become a strong-hold in the community regarding homes and children against the evils of legalized beer and liquor.

A spokesman explained that "The Council would like the people of Haskell County to know that we attack no individual or group of individuals, but that we attack the evil itself and seek to educate people concerning this evil. It is the feeling of the Council that they have one power which the liquor industry does not have and that is the power of God. The Council is confident that those interested in the true betterment of the community will be victorious."

The officers of the official organization have been nominated and will be elected Sunday, Sept. 18th, at the mass rally which will be held at the Methodist Church in Sagerton at 3:00 p. m. Many outstanding citizens and civic leaders have accepted official positions with the Council and these will be announced when officially elected.

All churches, civic organizations, and interested individuals are invited to join with the Council in its efforts, organizers said.

Local option and county finances were the major items on the agenda of the Commissioners' Court at its regular meeting Monday, when an election was ordered in Sagerton Justice Precinct in response to a petition, and a short term bank loan was authorized for the general fund.

Other business transacted included a temporary $60 per month car expense allowance for Deputy Sheriff Buddy LeFevre at Rochester, appointment of a Justice of the Peace for the Sagerton Precinct, authorized purchase of clothing for members of a Haskell County family in a TB hospital, and approving payment of August bills against the county.

Order calling a local option election in Justice Precinct 4 was adopted after petitions presented the Court had been checked. It was determined that more than the required number of qualified voters in the precinct had signed the petitions, making mandatory that the election be called. Date of Tuesday, Oct. 11 was set for the election, with balloting to be at Sagerton, Plainview and McConnell voting boxes.

County Auditor R. A. Corburn told the Court the general fund was overdrawn approximately $16,331, in advising a short term bank loan be negotiated for $20,000 for this fund.

Deputy Sheriff Buddy LeFevre, who serves Rochester-O'Brien area, was granted a $60 per month increase in salary for a four-month period, Sept. 1 to Dec. 31. The increase is to reimburse the officer for additional car expense he will have during the fall season when several thousand migrant laborers flock to that section for the cotton harvest.

The extra allowance for the officer was recommended by Justice of Peace Pete Huntsman of Rochester, who praised the work being done by Officer LeFevre. Commissioners voted unanimously in granting the additional pay for four months.

G. B. Griffin, who lives near the south county line, in the vicinity of the "Y," appeared before the Court to apply for appointment as Justice of the Peace for Precinct No. 4. He told the Court he wanted to make it clear that the movement to call a "beer" election in the precinct had nothing to do with his application.

"The precinct hasn't had a Justice of the Peace in a number of years, and I'd like to have the job," he told Commissioners.

County Attorney Curtis Pogue, consulted about the matter, advised the Court that where a vacancy in office existed, a request that the vacancy be filled made it mandatory that an appointment be made.

Appointment of Mr. Griffin followed by unanimous vote of Commissioners. The appointment is effective as soon as he qualifies and his bond is approved by the Court.

County Judge Jim Alvis was authorized to arrange for purchase of clothing needed by a destitute family in the State TB hospital at Sanatorium, Texas. Seven members of the family are under treatment there.

Meeting Set Here Today for Water District Suit

The defendants' answer is a plea of abatement filed by Hudson Smart of Abilene and E. J. Brookerson Jr. of Seymour, legal counsel for the Water Authority.

Defendants say the Court should abate and dismiss the petition of the plaintiffs for the reason that the petition is "in substance and in fact an attack upon the validity and existence of the North Central

Prec. 4 Beer Vote Set For Oct. 11

Residents of the Sagerton Justice of the Peace Precinct 4 who are qualified voters, will ballot Tuesday, Oct. 11, in the county's first local option election held since the early 30s.

An election will be held on that date in the Sagerton precinct on a proposal to legalize the sale of beer for off-premises consumption only.

The election was made necessary after 62 resident voters had petitioned the Commissioners Court to submit the proposal to a vote of the people in the precinct. This action was taken at the regular Court session Monday morning, with the second Tuesday in October set as date for the election.

Justice Prec. No. 4 has three voting boxes. Total potential vote is estimated in the neighborhood of 275, based on the number of poll tax paid in the precinct this year and allowing for overs and unders.

Voting boxes in the precinct, and election judge and assistants are:

McConnell, No. 14—Herbert Bosse, presiding judge; Sam Hanson, assistant.

Sagerton, No. 15—Loil Young, presiding judge; Johnnie Spitzer and Herbert Strommel, assistants.

Plainview, No. 16—George Hanson, presiding judge; J. C. Coleman, assistant.

Charlotte Redwine Recovering From Polio Attack

Charlotte Redwine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Redwine, is recovering satisfactorily after being stricken with an attack of poliomyelitis about two weeks ago.

After treatment at the Haskell County Hospital for several days, she was removed to the family home.

Charlotte, 16-year-old junior in Haskell High School, had taken the three Salk vaccine shots, an dthis resulted in greatly lessening the severity of the polio attack, her physicians said.

'60 Homecoming At Weinert

Announcement that a display of early day pictures would be featured at the 1960 Weinert Homecoming Oct. 1 has attracted wide interest and comment. Homecoming officials said this week, as plans for the affair were being pushed.

Other special features, including a baby show and coronation of a Homecoming Queen, are likewise creating considerable interest.

Persons who have old pictures of Weinert school buildings, classes, or other groups, as well as early day landmarks in that section, are urged to lend them to the Homecoming display.

The Homecoming is planned for all ex-students, teachers and patrons of the Weinert school since it was established more than 60 years ago, as well as Exes of all schools consolidated with the Weinert district.

Ginnings Pass 400-Bale-Mark Here Wednesday

Weather of the past few days has resulted in speeding up gathering of the 1960 cotton crop, and at noon Wednesday Haskell gins had processed 406 bales from the new crop.

Arrival of additional bracer labor during the weekend partly eased the demand for farm workers, ginnings and farmers reported.

However, rapid opening of the cotton crop during the coming week or 10 days will create a demand for several thousand more workers, farmers believed.

If weather conditions remain favorable, harvest of the crop will likely reach a peak level by the end of September, ginnings and cotton buyers believe.

Groups Take Positive Stand Against Legalized Beer in County

South Side Baptist Chapel is also joining hands with the Haskell County Civic Righteousness Council and will cooperate with the Council fully.

Pastor Kimbell stated that he felt that it was time "for Christian people to take a stand against this evil which is corrupting our community and our nation, and is very happy that the people of the South Side Baptist had the Christian fortitude to do exactly that."

Brotherhood Goes on Record Against Beer

The Haskell-Knox Baptist Brotherhood met in regular association meeting Monday, September 12, at First Baptist Church in Weinert. The group of Baptist men were presented an invitation and a challenge by a member of the Haskell County Civic Righteousness Council to take a definite stand against legalized beer in Haskell County.

The men gladly responded and the recommendation was passed by a unanimous vote.

This group is joining with Haskell County Civic Righteousness Council to help educate the people of Haskell County as to the detrimental effects of legalized alcohol. They will support the mass rally sponsored by the Council at Sagerton in the Methodist Church, Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p. m.

Mattson Homecoming Is Saturday Event

Sponsors announced today that everything was in readiness for the fourth Mattson Homecoming Saturday, Sept. 17, with all plans completed for entertaining several hundred ex-students, teachers and patrons of Mattson Rural High School.

The all-day program, starting with registration at 10 a. m., is planned for ex-students, teachers and patrons not only of the present Mattson Rural High School, but for Exes of the eight early-day rural schools which later consolidated to form the present Mattson district.

Invitations have been sent to more than 400 different families, former residents in the old Vontress, Roberts, Cottonwood, Irby and other rural schools that no longer exist. Acceptances that have been received indicate many former students in these schools will be on hand for the Homecoming.

Registration is scheduled to begin at 10 a. m., with visiting and possibly brief class reunions during the remainder of the morning.

Indians Meet Burk Here Friday After Losing to Olney, 42-6

Giving away advantages in both weight and experience, a game tribe of Haskell Indians was unable to stave off defeat by the Olney Cubs Friday night in that city, and lost a non-conference game to the predated State 2A champions, 42-6.

Olney scored in each of the first three quarters in piling up a one-sided score. Game battle of the Indians was indicated in the fact that the Tribe's lone marker came in the final frame, when an Olney fumble was recovered by an alert Redskins. The bobbie set up an 18 yard drive, with Haskell fullback Lonnie Decker carrying the final four.

This week, the Indians host a non-conference game with the Burk Burnett Bulldogs in Indian Stadium, with the game getting under way at 8 p. m. Friday.

Main proposal considered was that made by M. H. Gossett, president of the Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston that local production loan associations be formed.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Lain of Fort Worth spent a few days here this week with relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Simmons have gone to California where they will spend several months for the benefit of Mrs. Simmons' health.

The Duncan Service Station, located in the building across the street from Spencer Lumber Co., opened for business this week under the management of Belton Duncan. John W. Pace Jr., who has been doing interne work in a hospital in Boston, Mass., this summer, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Pace in this city. He will resume his work in Baylor Medical School in Dallas next week.

Miss Nevada Baker of this city left Sunday for Lubbock to take up her duties there as a bookkeeper with the Sates Telephone Company. She has been with the telephone company here for a number of years, and her many friends regret to see her leave Haskell. Miss Eileen Partlow, county home Demonstration Agent, spent Saturday in Seymour.

50 Years Ago—Sept. 16, 1910

The Haskell Public Schools will open Monday, Sept. 12, at three buildings—North, South and East Ward. East Ward will have three teachers with six grades being taught. Seven grades will be taught at the South Ward, and the North Ward will have eight teachers and all grades will be taught.

H. S. Post and family left Monday night for Austin to spend the winter. J. W. Gambill and family of Mart, Texas, have moved to Haskell. Mr. Gambill will be in charge of the furniture business of Gambill Bros., who have put in a stock of furniture in one of the Oates Buildings.

M. L. Lynch has taken charge of the Lindell Hotel. Richard Nolan left this week for San Antonio, where he will enroll in Peacock Military Academy.

The residence of Mr. Trowell in the west part of town caught fire Wednesday night while the family was at church. The house and nearly all contents were burned to the ground. There was a large crowd in town on First Monday and there was a considerable trade in mules. One span of fine mules sold for $475. The price for good mules ranged around $150.

E. W. Sanders of Bosque County bought 640 acres of Haskell County land this week and will move out to it during the winter.

C. C. Riddell returned Wednesday from a trip to Kansas City.

B. T. Lanier, who lives in the north part of the county, sends us word that he needs more cotton pickers.

Local Cattle Inspector T. J. Lemmon has been pretty busy of late inspecting bunches of cattle in this, Stonewall and Fisher Counties whose owners were desirous of moving further west, or to the Panhandle.

We met J. S. Fox, who is running a steam threshing machine, the other day and he informed us that up to that time he had threshed 84,000 bushels of grain. He said the wheat yield had ranged from 10 to 40 bushels per acre.

Prof. Lfsey informed us that the enrollment in the public schools this week was 181 pupils. According to the last census, there should be considerably more than 200 enrolled, and it is probable that the demand for cotton pickers is keeping some of the young people out of school.

People, Places & Things

By A. PATE

A favorite topic of street talk for the past week or ten days has been the pending local election in the Sagerton precinct.

Since the proposal is whether or not sale of beer for off-premises consumption shall be legalized, a good many people believe the "wets" will win. They point out the precinct is still "wet" insofar as voting is concerned, from a local option election held in the early 30's.

If the sale of beer is legalized in the precinct, it is to be expected that outlets would be established at points on the highway nearest to Haskell, Rule and Stamford.

In the case of Stamford, a real headache would result, since it would put beer stores at the city's doorsteps. The Sagerton Justice of Peace precinct takes in the north edge of Stamford, with the north outskirts of the town being in Haskell County.

The Old Glory precinct in neighboring Stonewall County legalized the sale of beer for off-premises consumption last December, and two outstanding developments have resulted, according to officers:

1. There has been a noticeable decline in activities of local bootleggers, particularly those handling beer.

2. There has been a noticeable increase in the litter of beer cans and bottles along highways, sometimes extending to city streets.

Although a heavy fine can be assessed for throwing litter on the highways, it is next to impossible for officers to catch the offenders.

One County Commissioner, discussing the problem, said that throwing a beer can out beside the highway seemed like a trivial matter to the average person but multiply the act by several hundred and it will require the full time of a county employee in picking up the cans, he pointed out.

That does not take into account the fact that beer bottles on the highway frequently damage or ruin tires, and are sometimes the cause of accidents, he added.

Friday's "norther" brought a touch of real autumn. And the influx of migrant farm laborers and braceros has heightened the fall atmosphere.

A good many Mexican nationals were seen on our streets Saturday, while in Munday and Knox City they arrived earlier and in large numbers. Gingers say that in about two weeks they should be here in peak numbers.

The braceros, recruited from the interior of Mexico, present a striking sight as they meander around town in groups, intrigued by the show window displays and merchandise in the stores.

Accompanied by Mrs. Kimbrough and their daughter, Barbara, John was in New York City last week at studios of ABC television network. He appeared in films that will be used in ABC's Collegiate football coverage this fall.

We do not recall having seen a list of the awards and honors accorded Jarrin John during his active football career, and although we are sure the list is far from complete, the following will give an idea of the national recognition he earned:

National Football Hall of Fame, 1954; Helms Hall of Fame Award; Texas Sports Hall of Fame, 1958; Texas Aggies National Football Champions Most Valuable Player, 1939; Outstanding All-American Football Player, awarded by Touchdown Club of Washington, D. Witt Springer, retired druggist of Amarillo and Cisco and a native of Haskell, frequently "fills in" for some of his druggist friends as a relief pharmacist.

Witt tells of the time a few years ago, he went to a small city in New Mexico as relief pharmacist for a couple of weeks while the owner, a friend of his, was on vacation.

One day, a friendly little 12-year-old boy took a liking to Witt and they got to talking, and the little fellow asked Witt where he was born.

"Oh, it was a little place, sonny, that you've never heard of—a West Texas town called Haskell," Witt replied.

"Yes, I have," the lad answered quickly. "That's where Jarrin John Kimbrough lives!"

Arabian Boy Brought 7,500 Miles For Surgery By Dr. Frank Spencer

The following article by Michael Naver in a recent issue of the Baltimore (Md.) Morning Sun, tells of an operation performed by Dr. Frank C. Spencer of Mrs. Frank Spencer of this city.

"A relieved father who brought his 2-year-old son 7,500 miles to the Johns Hopkins Hospital for a delicate heart operation left Baltimore today, convinced it was worth the trip.

"When doctors back home in Saudi Arabia recommended a Hopkins operation on little Jamal Sawood to correct a blocked aorta, his father, Maj. Sami Abdul Sawood, leader of a jet fighter squadron in the Saudi Arabian Air Force, wasted little time deciding.

"The child was operated on July 21 by Dr. Frank C. Spencer, associate professor of surgery and a specialist in heart operations, and today he's doing fine," Major Sawood said happily.

"Jamal, a dark, sleepy-looking child, could not walk or talk at the age of 2 years, 8 months, because blood was not circulating from the blocked aorta, the great master trunk from the heart, Major Sawood explained.

"A week after the operation he was active and beginning to walk, the pilot reported.

"The Hopkins trip was made possible because of the cooperation of the Saudi Arabian Air Force, which assigned Major Sawood to a six-month advanced air course at Maxwell Air Force Base in Alabama.

"In addition the air force picked up the bills for Jamal's trip and the cost of the operation, his father said.

"The Hopkins doctors told Major Sawood he would have to bring Jamal back in two years for another operation, this one to close a hole in his heart."

Help Available For Rat Control Programs

Rats are one of the most destructive and dangerous pests to have around a farm or ranch. They contaminate stored grain and exposed food and feed, they kill poultry and young livestock, and they start fires. Diseases such as leptospirosis, contagious abortion, trichinosis, distemper, atrophic rhinitis, plague, typhus, salmonella, food poisoning, and rat-bite fever are carried from place to place by these pests.

The rat population on your place can be controlled, however, if you will put forth a little effort. An extensive sanitation program, coupled with the use of anticoagulant baits, will effectively control the rat population. Once the rats have been eliminated, a small number of permanent baits and continued sanitation will help prevent reinfestation.

As long as there are rats in the area, however, your farm or ranch is in constant danger of becoming infested. The local county agent can help by contacting rodent control specialists of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. These specialists, working with the county agent and you and your neighbors, will help institute a county-wide control program. Such programs are far more effective than localized, one-farm operations.

Now Is Time to Plant Winter Cover Crops

There are hundreds of acres of land in the Haskell Soil Conservation Service work unit area, according to Hinds A. McGowen Jr., SCS technician, which should have a winter cover crop on them. Now is the time to plant this crop. Winter legumes such as vetch or Austrian Winter Peas offer great protection from erosion and they add nitrogen to the soil to aid in the improvement of the physical condition of the soil. Small grains such as oats may be grown for cover and turned under green in the spring for soil improvement.

According to McGowen, several farmers participating in the California Creek and Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation Districts plan on some acres in Winter Peas this year. E. A. and Clyde Baty of the Curry Chapel community, J. E. Jettson of Weichert, Mrs. Annie Kretschmer and Justin Puschel of the Irby community, and Milton Christian, Gene Grand and Leon Burson of Haskell all plan on some acres in winter peas. Many others are planning to use some sort of small grain for green manure crops and cover.

The Haskell County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office has cost-share assistance available for planting of winter cover crops.

Fields left bare during the winter and early spring aid in dust storms which cause undesirable living conditions as well as great damage to our soil, McGowen reminded. Plan now to control wind erosion by putting cover on it now.

Hunters Should Respect Farm, Ranch Property

Have you ever asked, and been refused, permission to hunt on someone's farm or ranch? If you have, you probably could not understand why the landowner refused your request. Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist, says that you were probably the victim of some earlier hunter's discourteous or irresponsible actions. You have a chance to prevent this same thing from happening to some other hunter, continues Cooper.

Landowner sportsman relations need improving, and the next few months—the hunting season, are the best time to accomplish this. Cooper offers a few tips of hunting courtesy that will help you and the landowner become friends:

Ask permission to hunt on any land or water.

Respect property.

Obey the laws on bag limits, shooting seasons and shooting hours.

Inform landowners when and where you will be hunting.

Do not invite friends to hunt with you unless the landowner has given permission.

Handle firearms in a safe manner at all times. Make certain that you do not fire toward people, buildings or livestock.

Offer to pay for any damages done to the property of the landowner.

Offer to pay for the privilege of hunting.

Make sure that all gates are closed behind you.

Be courteous and friendly.

Cooper concludes by saying that the hunter should remember that the farm or ranch is a place of business for the owner. He will appreciate your respect and interest in treating his property as a means of livelihood.

A man who came West from the East to go into the cattle business primarily for the money that was in it, was often referred to as a "boot-black cowpuncher" by the old cowhands.

County Residents Praised for Part in Bond Buying

Haskell County residents were congratulated today for their part in swelling U. S. Savings Bond ownership to a new all-time high.

J. M. Crawford, volunteer Haskell County chairman for the bond program in Texas, said that nationwide holding of Bonds stood at $42.8 billion as of August 21, according to official word to him from the Treasury Department in Washington. Of this total Texans own about $1,570 million.

The report to Mr. Crawford came in the form of a congratulatory letter from William H. Neal, assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury and National Director of the Savings Bonds program. In it Mr. Neal said that the new $42.8 billion tops the World War II peak of $36 billion holdings by some $12 billion, pointing out the steady growth which has characterized the bond program throughout the peacetime years since 1945.

"These statistical facts, however, are a comparatively minor part of the story," Mr. Neal told Mr. Crawford. "Of vastly greater importance are the accomplishments of millions of families in making dreams come true through systematic savings; and the patriotic contributions of Savings Bond volunteers like you in making our program not alone successful, but even possible."

"I know I speak for Secretary Anderson and Under Secretary Baird in expressing the Treasury's congratulations and thanks for your part in this newest Savings Bonds achievement."

Mr. Crawford said that one of every four Haskell County residents is a bond-owner—the national average.

The smallest United States possession is Kingman Reef in the Pacific. At high tide it is 150 feet long and 120 feet wide.

Child A Poor Speller Now You Can Help Him

dictionary of "demon" words that plague him. Get him a scrapbook and have him devote one page to each alphabetical letter. As he masters the "demon," he enters it on the proper page.

Give your child the fun of adventuring with words. Encourage him to make a list of new and interesting ones he comes across. Play games with words. Oral riddles are fun. For example: "I'm thinking of a four-letter word that means sharp (keen). What is the word and how do you spell it?" Or ask him how many "happy" words he knows how to spell (gay, cheerful, merry, smile, jolly). How many "sad" words? How many "holiday" words?

Encourage him to write frequent notes—to other children, to relatives—as thank-yous for parties and gifts. Check with him to see that all words are spelled properly and that the note is legible.

Observe how avidly your child watches television commercials, and turn this interest into a spelling game. Ask him to name the products he sees advertised, and to spell them. Aspirin, automobiles, bread, bottles, soap, shampoo, shave—the list is endless.

Play word games with him, such as Ghost, Junior Scrabble, Anagrams, Hangman. Give him his own dictionary. He will use it faithfully, if you give him the good example of "looking up" the spelling of words.

Avoid "baby talk" with your pre-schooler or first-grader. It may be great fun for parents and doting uncles, but it's no help to your child in the real life of school. Make sure he hears all words clearly and correctly pronounced at home.

The 32-page booklet "How to Help Your Child Learn" is available at 50c per copy from the National Education Association, 1201 16th Street, N. W., Washington 6, D. C. It was published by two NEA departments—the Dept. of Elementary School Principals and the National School Public Relations Association.

"Tricks of the Trade" Help Students Succeed In School

There are tricks to every trade—even that of being a successful student. Success in school, according to the National Education Association, is the result of good planning, careful budgeting of time, knowing how to listen, and other tricks of the learning trade.

Teachers in junior and senior high school have the following advice for students who want to improve their learning ability:

"Budget" your after-school hours. Make a chart, leaving a space for each free hour. Then schedule your time between study, sports, hobbies, outside reading, social activities. Don't allow interruption during study periods.

Make use of "odds and ends" of time. Study on the bus. Keep flash cards in your pocket for studying French verbs, chemical formulas, or history dates, while you wait in line or grab a quick lunch.

Train yourself to be a good listener. When your mind starts to wander in class, try listening "for use." This means looking for information you can pluck out and use from what is being said. . . . facts that will help you understand a difficult part of the budget. . . . information that is not in your textbooks.

Try the trick of "overlearning." After you have committed to memory a series of dates, a list of foreign words and their English meanings, or a poem that you have been told to memorize. . . . study them some more. Tests have proven that students who study material a while longer, after having learned it, will remember it longer than students who learn it and stop studying.

Ask yourself questions about what you are studying. To impress information forcibly on your mind, close your book from time to time and ask yourself questions about the page you have been reading. Write down the answers, and check them against the text.

Study in an organized way. Don't just plunge in and wade through the heavy material in your textbook. First read the summary of the chapter's contents. Then read headings and subheadings throughout the chapter. If you know "where the chapter is going," your concentrated study will roll along more smoothly.

Do something extra, "above and beyond the call of duty." Read a short story in the foreign language you're learning. Like math? Try a paperback book of mathematics puzzles and problems. Read magazines and books about your favorite subject—whether it's biology or history.

Tough assignment? Give yourself a "reward" for doing it. When you have a series of complicated math problems to tackle, promise yourself a trip to the local hamburger heaven, or let yourself watch a good television program, after the problems are done.

Take an active part in classroom discussions. If you're not particularly interested in a certain subject, but know that you must get passing marks in it—make yourself interested by chiming in on classroom discussions. The result may surprise even you!

Pick Up Birds Is Advice From Warden Chief

"Pick up those birds," warns the director of law enforcement, Game and Fish Commission. Some hunters are careless about recovering their kills when they go into the field to hunt doves and white-wings. These people are detrimental to the honest, and responsible hunters and fall to see the damage this causes to the bird crop.

The director encourages every hunter to make an honest attempt to search out any and all birds killed or wounded. He reminds shotguns that picking a stand is important to the recovery of birds. First, don't shoot at a bird if it will fall in heavy brush.

"It's best to let the bird escape than to waste it," he said. Second, if you shoot a bird, be certain to mark it, even if it falls into an open field. "Get a line on something in the background and walk straight toward it keeping a sharp eye on the ground. A dove blends well with the soil in most areas."

One reminder suggested by the warden chief is that "even if a hunter fails to recover his birds, he had better warden will be in most areas, and will apprehend a hunter for shooting more than his limit, whether he picks them up or not."

Those hunters who abide by the law and have faith in rules and regulations can help themselves by reminding irresponsible hunters to leave their birds lie, that it is wrong and can't be tolerated. If it continues, report them to a game warden.

BY VERN SANFORD

Fishermen are supposed to be a healthy lot.

However, there are some basic diseases that seem to strike fishermen and fishermen only. None of these diseases are fatal. But, a knowledge of the ailments will be helpful to the angler who wants to become his healthy, happy self again.

Let's take a look at the diseases.

First there's Dorsalis or Gillitis. Sometimes it is called "Fishy Fever." It is a well known ailment. Employers usually hear about it first immediately following the afflicted person's self-diagnosis. It is reported to the boss under a number of different names, all of them false.

Dorsalis is highly contagious. Temperatures increase immediately on contact with another carrier of the disease.

Exhaustive research reveals that the most common carrier is a newspaper that prints long strings of big bass, or stories about some individual who reports that fishing is extra good.

Universally recommended cure is to spend the day outdoors, on good fishing water, with something to occupy the mind... such as a fishing rod in the hand and plenty of bait in the bucket.

Let's look at another "Angler's Ailment."

In the language of medical science this one would be called Lepesoteus Spathula Nosis. It's more often referred to as Garmosis-Carpelitis.

This illness generally develops after an unsuccessful fishing expedition. First symptom is a sour disposition. In extreme cases there is a desire to write nasty letters to the Game and Fish Commission, complaining about the rough fish population taking over the afflicted party's favorite fishing spot.

Disease is more prevalent among Bassabetics (those with Serranidae Fever). It's an incurable disease requiring regular disease of outdoor recreation.

Next is the dangerous Hoof-In-Mouth disease. Generally you'll find those who are suffering from this disease shopping downtown on Saturday afternoon with his wife.

You can recognize these ailing anglers by their downcast with the First Fish Gloat. Germs of this disease attack the first angler in the party who makes a catch. Some fishermen are able to shake the disease immediately. Others cannot.

First indication of affliction is a swelling in the chest, followed by a flapping of the mouth. From the latter emits numerous praises of the angler's ability, plus abundant advice to the novices whom he feels surround him. Sometimes there is considerable swelling of the head.

Reaction sets in among his buddies. They avoid him.

This ailment is the reverse of No Fish Myopia. It's a form of depression brought on by an unsuccessful outing.

Another ailing angler is the Switchleptic. A person with this disease will not stick with one lure long enough to catch a fish. He changes lures almost as rapidly as he gets one damp.

He is the angler to whom the snap swivel is a most prized possession. His greatest desire is a complete assortment of all the lures made. He tries all the lures he has with him on every fishing expedition.

A Niblic-Yankalotic is one who undergoes extremely forceful jerking spells whenever he feels a nibble on the end of his fishing line. His is an unfortunate condition, as this affliction has caused him to pull his hook right out of the mouth of many a lunger.

Such cases have been conquered, but it takes a great deal of patience and fortitude.

All the above mentioned diseases are merely a few of the ailments with which fishermen are afflicted. Fishermen's diseases, like all others, need attention and understanding. Most everybody who has fished has had at least one of these ailments. Many relapse into these spells often.

Should you become afflicted, the most important step you can take is to make a quick diagnosis, then do something about it immediately. You can be your own doctor.

Naturally, to take the cure you gotta go fishing!

If you doubt your ability to treat yourself, give your favorite doctor a ring. Chances are he'd like to go too.

IN TEXAS...

You pay 90¢ tax on 10 gallons of gasoline

Everywhere in Texas, car owners pay 90¢ tax on every 10 gallons of gasoline they buy.

Does a tax this high—on a basic commodity like gasoline—really make sense? Gasoline taxes across the nation amount to a 50% sales tax—and that's five times as high as the tax rate on luxuries like diamonds and mink coats.

How did gasoline taxes get so high? Well, since World War II, there have been three increases in the federal gasoline tax alone. This brought the Federal tax to 4 cents a gallon, in addition to the State tax of 5 cents a gallon.

Looking at it another way, in the last ten years gasoline taxes have skyrocketed 51%—yet the price of gasoline itself has risen only 5.5% during the same period. $78 a year for gasoline taxes! Gallon by gallon, these taxes add up to a lot of money. Each year the average motor vehicle owner in this state pays $78 for gasoline taxes alone. That's just a few dollars less than the average week's pay for most people!

Your gasoline dealer—who must collect these taxes from you—feels that gasoline taxes are much too high. More and more, thinking people are coming to agree. What do you think?

HIGHWAYS AND GASOLINE TAXES

Your gasoline retailer, naturally, favors construction of the roads that the motoring public needs. He believes in fair and reasonable taxation for this purpose but feels that taxes on gasoline have now reached unreasonably high levels. He also believes that all special taxes on the motorist should be used only for highway purposes. Yet last year, out of every automobile tax dollar collected by the Federal Government from highway users, more than 40 cents went for non-highway purposes. If these automotive tax revenues were dedicated for highway purposes, there would be no need for the latest increase in the federal gasoline tax.

Judge Chapman Speaks to Lions Tuesday Noon

"Towns are made by men who help others as well as themselves," District Judge Ben Charlie Chapman told members of the Lions Club at the Tuesday noon-day luncheon meeting held at the Highway Drive-In.

Using as his topic—"You." Judge Chapman pointed out that the world is in need of more organizations such as Lions which unite peoples of the world, and they help to bring about peace.

Lions, an International organization, are uniting their talents to make a better community, state, and nation, Judge Chapman emphasized.

John Crawford was in charge of the program and introduced the speaker.

President C. O. Holt announced there would be a Zone meeting Monday, Sept. 19, 7 p. m., at Roddy's Cafe, Knox City.

A United Fund Speaker will appear on the program at the next Lions meet, Tuesday noon, September 20.

Junior High Gridders Beat Merkel 12-6

Haskell Junior High Warriors defeated Merkel Junior High 12-6 Tuesday night, in a hard-fought game.

Merkel hit pay dirt quickly after kicking off to Haskell and recovering the ball. Two plays later Merkel scored on a long aerial, but were stopped cold in try for extra point to set up a 6-0 first quarter score.

In the second stanza, Haskell's Joe Joeselle broke loose around right end for a 50-yard run which ended three yards shy of pay dirt. On the next play, Joe rammed over on a dive play for a Warrior TD. Try for extra point failed, to leave the score 6-6 at the half.

Haskell and Merkel battled evenly during a scoreless third frame, but in the fourth the Warriors drove to the Merkel 29 and Eddie Hester fired a long pass to End Gary Conner across the goal line for the Warriors second TD. Try for extra point failed, to leave the final score 12-6.

Coach David Middleton praised the Warrior line for some fine blocking. Stand-outs on defense were Gary Conner, Ken Rogers, Eddie Hester and Johnny McCollum.

Only Warrior casualty was James Ivy, who received an ankle injury.

Both the Junior High Band and Pep squad were out to back the Warriors. The public is invited to all games.

Haskell travels to Anson next Tuesday for a game with Anson Junior High starting at 7:30 p. m.

T. W. Williams' Host Supper for Sheriff's Posse

Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Williams entertained members of the Haskell County Sheriffs Posse and invited guests with an outdoor supper Thursday night, on the spacious enclosed lawn at their home on North Avenue E.

Between 45 and 50 club members and their families and guests attended the informal affair from Haskell, Stamford, Weiner, and Rochester.

After the supper an hour of fellowship was enjoyed by those present. Of special interest to many was the viewing of ribbons, trophies, western paintings and ranch relics in the upstairs playroom and den of the Williams home.

Dr. and Mrs. Williams have been host and hostess for a similar affair annually for a number of years, as a courtesy to members and friends of the local riding club. Dr. Williams is currently serving as president of the Sheriff's Posse, sponsoring agency for the annual Rice Springs Roundup and Horse Show.

Firemen also voted to sponsor a bowling team for the fall season, and will also conduct a poster contest in Haskell grade schools during Fire Prevention Week. Prizes for the posters will be provided by the City and fire department.

Tree seedlings Available to Landowners
Tree seedlings will again be available to West Texas landowners for planting windbreaks next January. Don Young, head of the Forest Management Department, of the Texas Forest Service at College Station, urges landowners to place their orders as early as possible before the Feb. 10 deadline.

Orders must be in multiples of 50, and no order for less than 100 trees will be accepted. The delivered cost of seedlings this year is $1.50 per hundred. Tree species available for the 1960-61 planting season are Austrian pine, black locust, black walnut, stratified nuts, catalpa, cottonwoods, Chinese elm, mulberry, osage orange, ponderosa pine, red cedar, rosa multiflora, sycamore, slash and loblolly pine.

All seedlings are packaged in moss and moisture proof paper and shipped directly to the landowner. Tree seedlings, purchased from the Texas Forest Service, may not be used or be resold for ornamental purposes. The landowner further agrees to protect the trees from fire, cattle, and destructive insects.

Application forms can be obtained from county agents and Soil Conservation District offices in the West Texas area. Forms are also available upon request from the Director, Texas Forest Service, College Station Texas.
