County commissioners...

Health units decision tabled; board appointments okayed

Scurry County Commissioners Court today tabled a decision on the combination of two health-related units and made annual appointments to eight county boards.

In their regular session this morning, commissioners voted to table the issue of consolidating the Texas Department of Health office, located at 503 East Highway, with the Scurry County Health Unit, located at 911 26th.

Dr. C.R. Allen, regional director of the Texas Department of Health, was present to request that the two facilities be combined at the 911 26th location. He said that 75 counties in Texas have a state-affiliated local health unit which is supported by the state department of health. He said Scurry County is the only one which has two separate facilities providing services.

Currently, the state office oversees the Women, Infant and Children nutritional program and pre-natal care. Dr. Allen requested that the two employees of the state office be moved to the local unit and continue to serve in similar capacities. The employees, one registered nurse and one clerk, would remain state employees, but when they either retire or decide to change employment, their successors would become county employees.

Appointments were made to the eight county boards, and names were drawn from the 1989 grand jury list for nominees to a county grievance committee. Those selected have two weeks to decide whether they wish to serve. Roger Sullenger, Bill Jordan and Ross Preston were chosen in a random drawing as the nominees.

The Scurry County Airport Board added two members, Dub Buchanan and Weldon Key. Dan Cotton asked not to be reappointed to the hospital board, and Bill Wilson III, was chosen for place 2 on the board. Joyce Landon replaces Phyllis McGinnis on the library board.

Members re-appointed for a 2-year term to their respective

Athletics key topic for college trustees

Athletics, the pro shop and the golf course are expected to be key areas of discussion when the Western Texas College board of trustees meets today at 4:45 p.m. in the college board room.

Trustees learned in their November meeting that auxiliary enterprises lost $331,646. The largest of those enterprises was athletics, which received $27,329 but had expenditures of some $277,524. The golf shop also reported a loss for the year.

Board members will also review information from the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board which shows that average budgeted faculty salaries at Western Texas ranked 46th among 48 public community colleges in the state for the 1989-90 year. Only Ranger JC and Hill County JC had lower average faculty salaries than Western, according to the coordinating board's report.

The board will also approve the minutes of prior meetings and review a December financial report.

There is no new business to be conducted on the agenda.

Chevron USA rewards two of its workers for cost-saving inventions

Two Chevron USA employees have been recognized by the company and given cash awards for inventions to test repaired meter heads and to improve switching equipment on instrument air driers at the SACROC Unit's CO2 compressor plants and water injection systems.

Instrument specialist E.D. "Don" Wittie and electrician Rudy Riojas were given the awards by Unit Supt. Bill Moore, who said the men are examples of the type of work force that the oil industry has come to expect in Scurry County.

"They don't depend on anybody but themselves, and when you send them out to do a job, you don't have to stand over them to see that it gets done,"

Moore said.

Wittie, a Chevron employee since 1952, designed and built a variable-speed shop tester for repaired meter heads.

"Previously, when a meter head from an LACT or gas meter was repaired, a technician had no way to test the device in the shop before it was installed," the award from the company's central division recognition and awards committee stated.

"Don found an old variable-speed hand mixer with two shafts, one clockwise and the other counter-clockwise, to drive the repaired meter heads. This tests the gears, bearings and counters."

Riojas has been with Chevron since 1981, and he replaced mechanical clock timers, linkages and four-way switching valves on the air drier equipment.

"These mechanical devices did not work well and failed often, allowing moisture to accumulate in the instrument air tubing equipment throughout that plant," the awards committee said. "This moisture would freeze during the winter and cause an unwanted shut-down of the plant."

"Rudy recognized this problem and replaced the timers, linkages and four-way valves with single solenoid valves and an electronic programmable logic controller. With little supervisory direction, he designed the control panel and wrote the program for the PLC. The results have shown that overtime work on the air driers has been eliminated and station downtime has been reduced."

Shuttle mission scrubbed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Low-hanging clouds forced NASA to cancel today's launch of space shuttle Columbia on a satellite rescue mission.

"It looks like we'll have to call it a day," launch director Bob Sieck told the five astronauts aboard the shuttle.

The launch was tentatively rescheduled for 7:35 a.m. Tuesday, but shuttle managers were to meet later today to assess the weather and the amount of work needed to be done before setting a firm date, said launch commentator Lisa Malone. If the launch is set for Tuesday, the launch window would extend 58 minutes, to 8:33 a.m.

The scrub was expected. Meteorologists had said Sunday there was only a one-in-five chance that weather would be good enough for a liftoff. They said there was a 70 percent chance that the weather would be good Tuesday.

The astronauts left Columbia and returned to crew quarters about an hour after the mission was scrubbed.

The 10-day mission, during which the astronauts are to deploy the fifth of a series of Navy communications satellites and retrieve a science satellite, is to be the second-longest shuttle flight.

The delay was the fourth for the mission, which originally was scheduled for liftoff Dec. 18. Earlier postponements were caused by problems with the recently renovated launch pad.

Today's launch was called off because the low clouds.

Officer applications are available at WTC

The Adult Education Office of Western Texas College will begin taking applications for its fifth correctional officer training class today.

The deadline to apply for the class is Jan. 26.

The 120-hour course begins March 3 and is certified by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice for security officers for all prison units throughout Texas. The course concludes May 3 with graduation scheduled for May 8.

The class is scheduled to begin March 3 at the college and conclude May 3 with graduation planned for May 8.

Cost of the course is $225. Documents required from applicants include a driver's license, social security card, a copy of a diploma or transcript documenting the highest level of education completed and a birth certificate. The birth certificate must be one issued by a state, county or municipal authority.

Applicants must be at least 18 years old, meet weight standards and pass a pre-employment test. A background check is also taken.

Following a review of the applications, testing will be held Feb. 13. Successful applicants will be notified on Feb. 28.

Stab victim condition listed 'good'

A 21-year-old city man had been moved out of the Cogdell Memorial Hospital critical care unit and was listed in good condition today following surgery for an abdominal stab wound suffered last Friday.

Meanwhile, police identified a 17-year-old suspect in the aggravated assault case and said it was being referred to the district (see VICTIM, page 9)

Ordinance among topics for city council to review

A possible first reading of an ordinance that would prohibit parking on the east side of Austin Ave. between 38th and 40th Sts., in the Snyder High School area, is among business to be transacted in tonight's 6:30 p.m. city council meeting.

Two dozen citizens appeared at last month's meeting to discuss pros and cons of such an action, with a number of Austin Ave. residents having presented a petition calling for such a prohibition.

Several also spoke against such an ordinance, saying they had too many vehicles to be kept from parking on the street.

Petition signers contended that high school students' use of the area for parking makes traffic there too congested.

Other business will include a report on the municipal water distribution system by engineer Terry Bilderback of Parkhill, Smith & Cooper of Lubbock, who was directed several weeks ago to perform a computer analysis of the system, in part to determine what work should be done before a more powerful pumping system is installed.

Bilderback had reported that adding a turbine pump without repairing lines would probably cause too many new leaks.

Annual reports will be given by city department heads including Police Chief William Stone, Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell, City Engineer Don Osborn, utilities department head Carolyn House and finance department head Jeanne Johnson.

Information will be imparted about the municipal election to be held on May 5, and a contract with Scurry County Appraisal District will be considered for the identification and mapping of hazardous material areas.

Bids will be considered for the purchase of a bulldozer to be used at the city landfill east of town, and the adoption of an ordinance on second reading will be voted on for a streets and highways maintenance agreement with the state highway department.

Military committed massacre of priests

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — President Alfredo Cristiani has announced that military men committed the November massacre of six Jesuit priests — one of the most heinous political-motivated crimes of the 10-year-old civil war.

"It has been determined there was involvement of some elements of the armed forces" in the slayings, Cristiani said Sunday night in a brief broadcast address.

In addition to the priests, educators at a Jesuit-run university whom the far right had accused of sympathizing with leftist rebels, the assailants killed the clergymen's housekeeper and her 15-year-old daughter.

Cristiani did not specify who was implicated or indicate the units, rank or number of those responsible.

However, the head of the joint chiefs of staff said earlier Sunday night that 47 members of an elite battalion, including two officers, had been confined to base and were being questioned in connection with the slayings.

No military officer has been convicted of a politically motivated slaying since civil war broke out in late 1979, though the army has been linked to right-wing death squads blamed for the murders of thousands of suspected leftists in the early 1980s.

Q—What is the procedure for booking one of the various community centers?

A—You should contact H.V. Walker at Scurry County Coliseum, 573-2443, and he will direct you to the supervisor of the community center you are interested in booking.

In Brief

Five hostages

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A man who police say has several medical problems including a bullet lodged in his skull was holding five children hostage at gunpoint today in an apartment, authorities said.

The man is the father of three of the children, and the other two children are related, police said. Their precise relation was not immediately known.

Local

Grand jury

A county grand jury this morning was considering eight felony cases for possible indictments.

District Attorney Ernie B. Armstrong was presenting the cases.

Tax info

Scurry County Library has available booklets and information on filling out, reporting and filing tax statements with the Internal Revenue Service.

Some materials are free. Others may be obtained for a nominal copy fee.

School board

Snyder public schools board of trustees will consider a contract with Wittie Communications for educational television during a 12:30 p.m. special meeting Tuesday.

The contract is the only business item scheduled in the meeting, which will be followed by a workshop.

Topics on the workshop agenda are the Advanced Placement Program which involves training workshops for instructors, consideration of high school marching band uniforms and water test reports from North and Northeast elementarys.

Band director Walter Reneau will present the request for uniforms.

WTC test

Prospective college students who have no ACT, SAT or Western Texas College Placement Test scores can take the WTC test at 6:30 p.m. today or 8:30 a.m. Thursday, Jan. 11, the first day of registration for the spring semester.

New state regulations require that all students have test scores on file prior to registering. There is a $10 charge for the WTC placement test. For additional information, contact WTC at 573-8511.

Astrograph by Bernice Bede Osol

Jan. 9, 1990

In the year ahead you might have more opportunities dropped in your lap than you have had for quite some time. Treat each one as if it's the only one you'll ever get.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Usually when you make decisions you weigh your alternatives reasonably well, but today you might see things only from one sided perspective. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Do-it-yourself projects could turn out to be rather costly today in both time and money if you lack expertise in that which you attempt to do.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't force yourself into activities with others today if you sense you are not warmly welcomed by everyone involved. Instead spend time with pals who sincerely appreciate you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This might not be a very productive day for you owing to inclinations to start things off in the wrong direction. Take time to plan ahead.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A friend might come to you for advice today, but you may not help this person as you could, because you'll tell him/her what this person wants to hear instead of being forthright.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Until your present financial obligations are alleviated, it's best not to assume any new ones at this time, especially those that are long range.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today you could have trouble making decisions, even those of a minor nature. Your indecisiveness will be due to a lack of faith in your own judgment.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Think carefully before requesting favors from friends today, because it could put them in an embarrassing position if they are unable to comply with your expectations. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be extra mindful of your behavior in social settings today. If you handle yourself poorly, it could leave an impression that will be difficult to erase.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) All eyes will be on you today where your career is concerned and your audience might not be solidly packed with admirers. Don't supply them with anything they could later use against you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In discussions with friends today try not to corner the matter on conversations. Your pals may have topics equally as interesting as yours they'll want to talk about.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your financial picture continues to look encouraging, but there are also warning signals that indicate you might not develop your opportunities too wisely.

Toddlers trapped

MAUD, Texas (AP) — Two toddlers spent 12 hours trapped in a wrecked pickup truck with their dead father after the truck slid off a rural road and slammed into a tree.

A Bowie County sheriff's deputy discovered the boys, 4-year-old Joshua Mills and his 3-year-old brother, Nathan, early Saturday trying to awaken their father, James Mills, 25.

"They were tapping him on the shoulder, telling him, 'Daddy, wake up,'" Wally Jones said. "I just told them, 'Your father's asleep. Let him sleep.'"

The truck apparently crashed Friday night during rain and heavy fog in Maud, about 140 miles northeast of Dallas, and was found at the bottom of an embankment near a sharp curve in a road, Jones said.

The boys were treated and released from Wadley Regional Medical Center.

Nathan was treated for cuts and bruises. Joshua, who was pinned in the jump seat of Mills' small pickup, suffered minor frostbite, officials said.

Police in Washington have made 40,000 drug arrests in two years, with no appreciable impact.

Texans brace for two-party shootout

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texans won't elect a new governor until November. But they're already being treated to a two-party shootout in the primary contests.

State GOP leaders boast they will put the 20th century's second Republican in the Governor's Mansion. Democrats say Republican Gov. Bill Clements' lease on the residence is a temporary one for the party.

The 72-year-old Clements' decision not to seek re-election cleared the way for well-funded, wide-open races in both parties. Pundits predict the election could cost $50 million.

The candidates in the March 13 primaries include a millionaire cowboy nicknamed "Claytie"; the 1988 Democratic National Convention keynote speaker; the man who helped organize a rescue raid into Iran; and a former governor hoping for a comeback.

"The decade of the 1980s was characterized by some as the decade of the emergence of the Republican Party in Texas," said GOP Chairman Fred Meyer. "We're looking forward to the decade of the '90s being the emergence of the Republican Party as the majority party of Texas."

Democratic chief Bob Slagle said that won't happen, not even if popular U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm tops the GOP ticket.

"I think we're going to beat the daylight out of them, to put it politely," he said.

The Democratic field is headed by a well-known trio:

— Former Gov. Mark White, 49, a Houston lawyer, who was ousted in a 1986 grudge match by Clements, the man White had beaten in 1982.

— State Treasurer Ann Richards, 56, who denounced then-presidential candidate George Bush at the Democratic National Convention for being "born with a silver foot in his mouth" and is author of an autobiography that took her on a national talk show tour last fall.

— Two-term Attorney General and former Congressman Jim Mattox, 46, who kicked off his campaign by calling for creation of a state lottery.

Leading Republicans are:

— Midland rancher and oilman Clayton "Claytie" Williams, 58, who said he's willing to spend $3 million of his own money.

— Dallas lawyer Tom Luce, 49, an associate of billionaire H. Ross Perot who organized a mission into Iran that rescued Perot employees and was recounted in the book "On Wings of Eagles."

— Kent Hance, 47, chairman of the oil-regulating state Railroad Commission, who won headlines worldwide by attending meetings of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

— Jack Rains, 52, a Houston lawyer and businessman, former secretary of state and campaign strategist for Clements in 1986.

Former San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros and state Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower were once considered likely candidates, but Hightower is seeking re-election and Cisneros is out of politics after questions were raised about his private life.

As governor, White pushed through sweeping school reforms that included a rule in which students with failing grades were banned from extracurricular activities such as sports. He also signed a $4.8 billion tax increase and raised more than $1 billion in temporary sales taxes.

Hance was one of the leaders of a conservative Democratic coalition known as the "Boll Weevils" from 1978 to 1984. He quit Congress to seek the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination and after failing, switched parties in 1985.

Ms. Richards, who has had celebrities such as Lily Tomlin and Phyllis George helping her at fund-raisers, said her financial skills are needed in a state severely battered by depressed real estate and oil industries.

Merchants profit from diet resolutions

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — With New Year's resolutions fresh on their minds, many who vowed to lose weight this year are beating a path to the door of weight-loss clinics and health clubs.

For those in the business of fighting fat, January is the peak season. Surveys show that weight loss is America's No. 1 New Year's resolution.

One million people are expected to join Weight Watchers this month, a tenfold increase over December, the company said. Health clubs and other diet programs report that membership swells after the holidays.

"It's like this every year. People are focused on different things in December," said Wayne Perra, Weight Watchers national advertising manager. "It sounds corny, but the New Year's resolution is a prime motivator."

Consumers spent $2.6 billion losing weight and getting in shape in 1987, the last year for which Census Bureau figures are available. And, the companies know push comes to shove in January.

"The phones started ringing the day after Christmas," said Mildred Oppenheimer, Fort Worth area director for Weight Watchers. "The first of the year, people want to wipe the slate clean."

December robbery...

Suspect apparently had financial troubles

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — A man accused of murder in the December robbery of a topless nightclub where he once managed was beset by financial troubles, acquaintances said.

David Lee Herman, 32, is charged with capital murder in the Dec. 20 robbery of the Lace club. Herman managed the club for six months in 1987.

According to an arrest warrant affidavit, a man entered the club around 9:30 a.m., brandishing a revolver. He forced day manager Clay Griffin and identification checker Sally Fogle to the floor, the affidavit says, and ordered bookkeeper Jennifer Burns to put $11,200 in a bag.

Then he ordered Ms. Burns to undress, told her, "We're going to have some fun now," then attempted to have sex with her, Griffin and Ms. Fogle told police. The gunman then forced Ms. Burns to the floor and shot all three employees execution-style, police were told.

Griffin, 24, and Ms. Fogle, 19, survived the attack. Ms. Burns, 21, did not.

Herman remains in the Tarrant County Jail, held without bond on the capital murder charge and bonds totaling $200,000 on other charges. He has no criminal record, police said.

Herman declined to be interviewed.

Herman's money problems apparently began more than a year ago. He lost his $47,644 house when he failed to make payments on it. When Herman moved to Kennedale with his wife and 3-year-old daughter, the family couldn't pay their townhouse rent, said landlady Jeanne Brubaker.

Herman never paid the $350-a-month rent at the executive suites complex where he rented an office in November, said owner Jim Moore.

Acquaintances say Herman's professional problems stemmed from his need for power.

Acquaintances told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram that Herman did not fit well in either of the professional worlds he chose. For Results Use Snyder Daily News Classified Ads Call 573-5486

Texas roads are becoming less deadly, DPS reports

AUSTIN (AP) — Traffic fatalities have fallen during the past 10 years thanks to new safety laws, stricter enforcement and heightened public awareness, the Texas Department of Public Safety reports.

The 1988 traffic toll of 3,395 fatalities represented a 28 percent decrease from the decade's most dangerous year — 1981 — when 4,701 people died on Texas roadways, said DPS spokesman David Wells.

Wells said the gradual decline in deaths came even as the state's roadways handled an ever-rising number of motorists.

And in 1989, for the first time in more than 12 years, a day went by without a single recorded traffic fatality in the state.

The date — June 13 — marked the first "deathless day" on the state's roads since Jan. 5, 1977.

The passage of safety and alcohol laws in the 1980s, combined with strong support from many independent groups, "has placed us well on track in combating automobile-related deaths for the near future," DPS spokesman Mike Cox told The Dallas Morning News. Wells said the final count for 1989 won't be available until early March, but preliminary figures for the first 10 months of the year were similar to the same period in 1988.

"We are hoping for a slight decrease in 1989," Wells said.

A law passed by the state Legislature in 1985 that requires automobile drivers and front-seat passengers to wear seatbelts played a large role in decreasing the number of deaths in the late '80s, Wells said.

The law went into effect Sept. 1, 1985. That year, the number of deaths dropped by 6 percent from the 1984 total, Wells said.

"The compliance with the seat belt law has been good, but not because the public is afraid of getting tickets," said former Texas Rep. Bill Messer, D-Belton, the chief House sponsor of the seat belt bill.

Noriega says...

'Little bit of cheating' won '84 election

DALLAS (AP) — Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega, during conversations in the Vatican Embassy in Panama, admitted that "a little bit of cheating" swung Panama's 1984 presidential elections, according to published reports.

The deposed dictator's statements were made in conversations in the Vatican embassy in Panama City with two young Panamanian lawyers, Enrique Jelenszky, 24, and Rolando Domingo, 25, The Dallas Morning News reported in a copyright story.

Noriega, now in the custody of U.S. Marshals in Miami, sought refuge at the Vatican Embassy on Dec. 24 and remained there for 10 days before giving himself up to U.S. soldiers.

During his stay, Noriega predicted that the United States and Panama would find reasons to abrogate the Panama Canal Treaties, the Morning News reported.

In the conversations at the embassy, according to the two lawyers, Noriega:

— Said pressure on Panama by President Reagan's administration to support the Contra rebels in Nicaragua was responsible for "ruining" his relationship with the United States.

— Said he knew in advance about the planned U.S. invasion Dec. 20 because of information he received about excessive military activity at Fort Bragg, N.C.

— Said, without explanation, that French President Francois Mitterrand "would best understand" his position.

Noriega spent his days at the embassy in a T-shirt and Bermuda shorts, with books and cable television as company in his small bedroom.

Noriega joked to Jelenszky and Domingo of his "austere" surroundings and wondered why the embassy was "never even offered a Betamax."

Asked whether he had stolen the 1984 presidential elections, Noriega replied, "Yes, with a 'trampita' — a little bit of cheating."

Noriega would offer no elaboration on his assertion that he had learned several hours in advance of the U.S. invasion, the newspaper reported.

Noriega predicted that the Panamanians would continue to offer the United States military facilities in Panama into the next century, even though the Panama Canal Treaties call for the United States to leave by 1999.

Noriega said that instead of coming to the embassy for refuge, he could have stayed on the run forever. "No one could have found me."

But in the end, he surrendered quietly, pausing beforehand for photographs with his former top security aides and with one of the young Panamanians who had engaged him in several conversations.

NBC okays miniseries' modifications

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A three-night NBC miniseries about the 1985 torture-slaying of Drug Enforcement Administration agent Enrique Camarena contains modifications requested by lawyers representing a man charged in the case.

Los Angeles lawyer James Blancarte, successfully argued that "Drug Wars: The Camarena Story," failed to stress that charges against Ruben Zuno Arce were only allegations. The miniseries began Sunday night.

"They agreed to change the postscript to indicate that a man is presumed innocent until found guilty in a court of law, and that Mr. Zuno has denied vigorously any involvement in the assassination of Camarena," Blancarte told the San Antonio Light.

Zuno, 59, brother-in-law of former Mexican President Luis Echeverria, was arrested in San Antonio in August as an alleged material witness to the 1985 Guadalajara slayings of Camarena and his pilot at the hands of Mexican drug traffickers.

He later was indicted on charges he perjured himself before a Los Angeles federal grand jury investigating the slayings.

After his release on a $200,000 bail, Zuno returned to Los Angeles and was rearrested on a superseding indictment charging him with, among other crimes, conspiring to kill Camarena.

Blancarte said the problem was not in the acted segments of the miniseries, but in post-program news updates moderated by NBC newsman Tom Brokaw and in the postscript after the final program.

Two chances to make it

By James Jacoby

South's bidding was aggressive (two queens were his only honors), but he did have 7-5 shape. West had a classic negative double — four cards in the spade suit and values that could compete for a part-score but could not promise a game facing a minimum opening. North, with half the prime cards in the deck, wondered if face cards from the previous deal had perhaps been mixed in with the other players' cards to justify all their bidding. South eventually made the right decision to bid five hearts. Even if he failed to make the contract, that would be better than letting East make a vulnerable five diamonds.

But South played his doubled game contract well. He ruffed the opening diamond lead and played a low spade. When West put in the 10, declarer decided to play the opening bidder for the ace. So he played low from dummy. West could do no better than play another diamond. Declarer ruffed, played a heart to dummy's king and ruffed out the ace of spades. Another heart to dummy's ace allowed him to ruff one more little spade. He was now able to pick up the jack of hearts and get to dummy with the club ace to shed three clubs on the K-9-8 of spades.

Declarer could still have made the contract even if he misguessed the spade position, but it would have required his playing West for the 'doubleton king of clubs. A club to dummy's ace and a club back, with declarer playing low, would be a winner. Would you have played it that way?

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharos Books. © 1990, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: We are constantly hearing about the danger of high blood pressure, but never anything about low blood pressure. Are there any dangers associated with hypotension? Should I be concerned about this condition?

DEAR READER: As a general rule, low blood pressure is healthful and safe. The exception is low blood pressure caused by disease, such as anemia, serious infections and metabolic imbalances. Also, some elderly patients who are being treated for hypertension may develop unacceptably low blood pressures from their medications. This leads to lightheadedness and fainting.

If you feel good, disregard your low blood pressure. All healthy people occasionally experience transient lightheadedness and uncertainty when they suddenly stand from a lying position. This is OK and does not reflect illness.

Obviously, hypotensive people who are chronically tired and lightheaded should seek medical advice to make sure they aren't suffering from an undiagnosed ailment. But hypotension is quite different from hypertension; as doctors often quip, "No one ever died from low blood pressure."

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've recently developed a panic and anxiety condition that seems to have taken over my life. I'm 25 and getting ready to start group therapy. Will this condition ever go away, and why did it happen all of a sudden?

DEAR READER: Panic attacks are periodic episodes of intense fear. They occur more frequently in women and can progress to chronic anxiety, which can be more psychologically crippling than panic attacks themselves. Treatment with prescription anti-depressant medicine is very successful in preventing panic attacks.

I'm glad you are starting group therapy; with this assistance, you may be able to overcome your panic attacks and reduce or give up any medicine you may be prescribed. Although the cause of panic disorder is unknown, the condition is treatable and not permanent.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My boyfriend wants to have anal intercourse with me. He's charming and gentle in every aspect of our relationship, so I don't want to refuse this request. Is there any short or long-term damage to me physically, and are there any precautions we should take?

DEAR READER: Because this is a family newspaper, I cannot address the specific questions you ask. However, I can say this: Although anal intercourse is not everyone's cup of tea, it is not harmful providing your partner exerts great care and tenderness. Above all, don't be afraid to say "no."

Since you probably also practice more traditional methods of sexual expression, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Contraception: An Update." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Movie makes actor proud

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor Denzel Washington says his starring role as a black Union soldier in the motion picture "Glory" helped him renew his pride in his country.

He said that before he read the script, he was unaware of black soldiers' important role in the Civil War.

"In every class I ever took, the fact that some 200,000 black men fought was never mentioned," he says in this week's People magazine. "You can go as far as saying that if they hadn't fought, the North may not have won. I think it's especially good for black Americans to know this, kids who don't necessarily feel that they're a part of this country."

"Making this film has made me more patriotic, as corny as that sounds," he said.
