

Trappers Decline By Thin Vote Margin

Trappers last Saturday by the narrow margin of 369 to 408 votes to control the hiring of the trapper in Haskell County.

Results at 16 boxes were received in record time last Saturday. With a difference of six votes, prevailing at that stage, and an 18-vote potential in the remaining remote box, Jud, a wait of more than an hour ensued before the unofficial results became final. Only five persons voted at Jud, three for and two against, leaving the unofficial margin against trapper employment at five.

During the long wait, County Clerk W. W. (Bill) Reeves was besieged with calls on how the election had gone.

Boxes in the vicinity of recent sightings of Haskell's vanishing varmint all voted to hire the trapper, one by 12 to 0.

The absentee vote, usually a barometer, really reflected the close vote later. It was tied.

Plowing and replanting of cotton by farmers just now able to return to their fields after nine inches of rain deluged this area two weeks ago was believed responsible for the light vote, which was less than half the total voting strength of the county.

Haskell itself polled 193 votes for the trapper hiring, 144 against to go for the trapper by 49 votes at three of the four polling places.

Official tabulations by precincts in the trapper election follow:

Landes Keynotes Installation Of Boss Lion Cox

America, through its schools, churches and service organizations, should unite in faith to stay strong against "insidious indifference and subversive inactivity," Dr. James H. Landes, president of Hardin-Simmons University, told a large crowd at the annual Ladies' Night Banquet of the Lions Club of Haskell here Tuesday night.

"Serve your country," Dr. Landes challenged, "through dedication to its fundamental institutions and do not lose the faith of our fathers."

The H-SU president said that we should make of our country "an altar upon which to sacrifice our lives, not a trough from which to feed our stomachs."

The speaker said that unlike physical and scientific problems which are predictable, the answer to all our problems is within the human spirit. He declared that sluggishness, indifference, guile and lethargy from within, not attack from without, are what we must guard against.

Wallace Cox Jr., Haskell merchant, was handed the gavel symbolic of his installation as new president of the club by outgoing president Alfred Hinds. Hinds received a standing ovation for his tireless and effective leadership of the club during the past year.

Other officers installed by Deputy District Lion Governor Douglas Myers of Weinert included Frank Martin, Rogers Durham, and Dr. B. L. Langston, all vice presidents; Harold Spain, secretary-treasurer; the Rev. Douglas Finch, Lion Tamer, and George Neely, lion twister. Myers charged them all to "go about your duties upholding the Lions' aims expressed through Liberty, Intelligence, Our Nation's Safety," which spell out the meaning of L-I-O-N-S.

New directors are: Bud Pogue, the Rev. Ray Nobles, Hugh Ratliff, E. W. Pruett and Hinds, who returns as an ex officio member.

HARDWARE HOARD - Gene Hunter, president of the Haskell Sheriff's Posse, a scarlet-shirted, palomino-mounted riding club which has continued to gain fame with its winning ways at rodeo performances throughout a wide area over the past 5 years, is shown here surveying this year's trophy glory to date.

SHERIFF'S POSSE PARADERS HASKELL GLORY GRABBERS

Members of the scarlet-shirted, palomino-mounted Sheriff's Posse here, better known as Haskell's "horsy" set, have every right to walk around with their collective "proboscises" pointed upward, judging by the glory they've grabbed for the town.

But they found the pavement individually in productive enterprises benefiting the community with a vigor equaling the manner in which they pound the leather to take trophies left and right at rodeo grand entries most everywhere they go.

Haskell's Sheriff's Posse, with Gene Hunter, well-known merchant here as president and head wrangler, has made seven "money rides" in eight appearances at rodeo events this season. Those seven trophy-taking appearances were consecutive, and they finally bowed to superior quality in horsemanship and pulchritude when a few, not many, clubs finished ahead of them at the Santa Rosa Roundup in Vernon this past week. Twenty-four mounted clubs entered the scintillating show there.

But "you can't win 'em all," Hunter said Saturday, using an oft-used sports utterance as he prepped his charges for a real run for the roses at the forthcoming Texas Cowboy Reunion in neighboring Stamford.

As any Haskellite will report, Haskell would rather win something in Stamford than eat

Tom Watson Is Re-elected Chief By Fire 'Boys'

Tom Watson was re-elected chief of the 31-man Haskell Volunteer Fire Department at the annual election held in the Fire Hall here Monday night.

Named assistant chief was Chester Hodgins, and George Neely, who has faithfully handled the position for 16 years, was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Team captains who supervise fire companies training and manning the three pieces of fire-fighting equipment here were elected as follows: No. 1, John Watson; No. 2, Alton Middleton; and No. 3, Sonny Reynolds.

Olen Bartley was elected lion twister for the volunteer firemen, and Fire Marshall Earl Correll was renamed reporter for the group.

The Haskell Volunteer Fire Department, supervisor for which is Floyd (Satch) Lusk, is a dedicated outfit which has compiled an enviable record for efficiency and service.

Fun Festival Date To Be Set Friday At Project Confab

Plans for a county-wide day of fun for everyone, an event to be staged in support of moving the old depot here and restoring it as a museum will be firming up, a date set, and program features crystallized at a meeting of the New Projects Committee of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 p. m. Friday. The progress report session will be held in the chamber's offices here.

Dr. Frank C. Cadenhead, chairman of the steering committee for new projects in Haskell, said his depot-museum group, which has been hard at work with the project since the Ft. Worth and Denver Railway Company "sold" Haskell an ancient landmark depot for one dollar, will brief the full committee on what is needed to be done to set the stage for the huge event.

Under consideration is a day during the third week in July for holding the day-long get-together of all "settlers," young and old, in Haskell County. There will be a barbecue dinner on the grounds, fiddlers' contests, and funnybone tickling competitions for the young and not-so-young of all ages.

Mrs. Bailey Toliver, general chairman, and her two co-workers, Mrs. Tom Barfield and E. J. Stewart, the trio in charge of staging the big crowd participation spectacle in Rice Springs Park and its adjacent facilities here, reported enthusiasm running high Monday. Volunteers wanting to help in many details of staging the event should contact any of the three members of this committee, Mrs. Toliver said.

A townwide movement among individuals and service clubs here has resulted in the gift to Haskell of the decrepit depot, holder of many nostalgic memories for oldtimers here. The railroad plans to build a new structural steel efficiency office to take care of its current needs.

Ellis L. Simmons of Fort Worth, vice president of the railroad, and Harold Moyer, of Wichita Falls, district superintendent, have indicated Haskell may have possession of the arched structure around August 1st if it will be moved from railroad property. The plan is to move the dilapidated building to the City Park, restore it, and use it as a museum, meeting place, and tourist attraction.

It is hoped that sufficient funds for moving and restoring the depot will be secured from the fun festival proceeds here in July.

Park Developing Plan Snowballs

Haskell Rotarians this week unanimously endorsed a plan initiated by the Women's Auxiliary of Haskell County Hospital to develop and beautify some vacant property located across from the hospital on the east and facing the new Rice Springs Nursing Care Home on the north at the hub of this city's rapidly expanding medical center.

After hearing a report from Carl Anderson, prominent Haskell business and civic leader, and chairman of Pottery's community service committee, the membership voted to underwrite its proportionate share of the cost of preparing the plot for development as a recreation and picnic area. Visitors to the hospital, nursing home, Haskell Clinic, Dental Clinic, and Optometric Clinic, all clustered nearby, will materially benefit from prosecution of this project, Anderson pointed out.

Earlier in the week, the Haskell Chamber of Commerce enthusiastically endorsed the move and placed its support behind the beautification and development program.

Courthouse Job To Be Finished By July 15

A major renovation and repair job on the Haskell County Courthouse, which includes installation of an elevator in the three-story structure and addition to six rooms on the floor above, is ahead of schedule, and near completion, County Judge Jim Alvis announced Friday.

The elevator itself and all accessories have been delivered, and all that remains, installation, the Judge reported, as he announced the project will be completed by the July 15 deadline of 90 days for finished job.

McCowan Construction Company, which was employed by Bridges-Campbell and Associates, architectural engineering firm of Abilene, to accomplish a titanic repair and renovating job as set out in the plans and specifications, "has moved fast, and everything looks like it's in good shape," Judge Alvis commented.

Cost of the completed job which was not to exceed $45,000 as prescribed in the contract awarded by the Haskell County Commissioners' Court will be several thousand dollars under that figure, it was understood.

One county official who will be ready for the elevator facilities is Sheriff Garth Garrett, the nature of whose work compels practically meet himself coming and going the steep courthouse stairs.

His third floor offices, Sheriff is slated for one of the new office allocations on the third floor in what was previously open space over the district courtroom, the ceiling which has been lowered to second floor level. The new elevator will have a good view from the Sheriff's Department.

Loose Talk Can Cause Character Carnage, Too

Take Time To Be Judicious

Remember the signs during World War II and Korea showing the holocausts of exploded factories, the carnage of crippled troop movements, the oil-slicked debris of sunken ships?

And under these graphic portrayals of destruction was the caption: Loose Talk Caused This!

Loose talk, unwarranted, without foundation in fact, about people, institutions, entire communities, even nations, can cause carnage, too — carnage of character, and reputation, and the slaying of both can be as wholesale as physical destruction.

It always has impressed us in working on legislative matters in Austin and Washington that it was much simpler to kill legislation than endeavor to pass it. We always thanked our lucky stars we were in both capitol on missions of productive, affirmative enterprise, than ones of gossip-mongering negation. We enjoy running someone or something UP, not down.

"Running down" people and things becomes an insidious habit, that seems to breed more in small communities such as ours.

We've not been here long, but long enough to discover that if you're situated down-wind, you can hear just about anything. In the news gathering realm, it becomes necessary in our daily business, and we get plenty of this kind in Haskell, to spend considerable time checking to separate the wheat from the chaff.

This we don't mind, but the rate of growth of unsubstantiated stories about any and all subjects, aimless talk, incessant chatter, most of it relentless and defaming in substance, is a matter to be given pause for alarm.

Psychologists and others dealing with mental ills these days have been applying a yardstick to their patients on the premise that "it's not what you are now, but how you got that way" which is important in taking corrective measures toward cure.

We think the same yardstick might apply concerning loose talk which undermines people and projects without basis in fact.

May we suggest that it would be meet to look to the sources before one airs a story. Take time to be judicious. And, in equine parlance, or horse language, a good, strong throat latchet wouldn't hurt either.

On The Care of Willow Cemetery

Good citizenship involves many things. We think individuals assuming the responsibility for the care and beautification of Willow Cemetery are to be commended for good citizenship. By the same token, there appears to be something to be desired in the realm of good citizenship among the people who have allowed cemetery property to deteriorate or go undeveloped.

Many of those citizens live right here in Haskell. Many people live here in Haskell whose relatives own property in Willow Cemetery.

Haskell has the opportunity to develop one of the most beautiful cemetery projects anywhere, and a tremendous amount of development there already has taken place. Those who oversee and supervise this development deserve a community's gratitude.

It has been called to our attention, that although there are 700 cemetery lots under the perpetual care program in Willow Cemetery, there still remain 2100, or 75 per cent of the cemetery lots, which are unsightly and untended.

If you, or a member of your family elsewhere, own property in Willow Cemetery, won't you do your part, thus exemplifying good citizenship, to assume responsibility for the overall care and appearance of our community cemetery?

This, it would seem to us, is the least that could be done, both as a matter of community pride, and out of respect for those of your very own who have preceded you.

A Pencil Pusher's Potpourri

By PORTER

We've been trying to contact "Big Stuff," our non-communicative varmint, to obtain its views on the election outcome, to no avail. However, it's understood the last person who glimpsed the elusive eliminator thought a rather strutting, sashaying style of walk was denoted in the cagey creature.

It's been reasoned the varmint is pretty satisfied with its own influence, since with people who know the varmint best, it was a vote for the trapper, two to one, southeast, east, and northeast, in the county.

It could be that the day is not too far off when we can strike up a speaking acquaintanceship with our varmint. A story out of Johannesburg, South Africa, Sunday, said scientists in that country are heading up a project on "lion language" to get some ideas about controlling the king of beasts in its preserves. The scientists are making tape recordings of lion talk, not that profane-profound kind that goes on at the Highway Drive-in Tuesday noons. Then, they play back the roars, grunts, purrs, and rumbles to the lions to see if they can communicate.

We've got a lion-type, too, and "gettin' through" to it to talk about controlling its preserves—in a glass case in our depot-museum—would be just dandy. We're all for that lion talk.

The four-year-old who said to his father, "Isn't it funny that just enough news happens every week to fill up a newspaper?" couldn't have been the son of a newspaperman. Anyone within shouting distance of an editor at deadline knows there's either (1) not enough news to fill the paper or (2) not enough paper for all the news.

One solution for the former is what's called "interpretive reporting" which one of the principal speakers at last week-end's Texas Press Association meeting said we need more of these days, on account of people are more intelligent than formerly. One phase of interpretive reporting, the ad lib type, seems to be especially effective for reporting committee meetings. "The committee met and evaluated the situation" (Half the members showed up and talked for a while). "The results were inconclusive." (Nothing was accomplished.) "As yet, it has not been possible to provide definite answers" (Nobody understood the questions.) Or, a final quote from the chairman: "It is hoped that this report will stimulate increased interest in the problem." (Let somebody else do it next time.)

Some folks like what happens spelled out. Some folks think that a word to the wise is redundant. But the classic of the thing we are talking about happened on the DuPont Show of the Week Sunday when Suave, Swarthy "Mr. Pitt" says to Willow, Winsome (she leaves you breathless) Bacall. "Every misstep I've ever made in my life has come as a result of my association with a member of your sex."

All he needed say was "Women!" Especially, with Bacall around.

The Poor Men's Yul Brynners around here can take heart. Juggernaut Joel Wilson, of Abilene, addressing his remarks to bald-pated Rev. Ellis Todd, our new Methodist minister, told Rotary last Thursday: "They never put ivory knobs on sorry furniture."

Another dilly delivered by Wilson in making a point in his speech on free enterprise was, "There was this Catholic priest drinking Mogen David wine out of a Mason jar."

The Free Press lost a scintillating sharpie last week when Mrs. Moreland Glass (Adelene) left us to return to responsibilities closer to the bedside. Her parting shot at the Pencil Pusher, who was nursing the grandfather of all stysts not in a pig's eye, mine, probably from eye strain brought on by trying to catch all my own writin' errors, was: "That's the mean-ness coming out of your winkin' eye."

In the Bluebonnet Cafe the other day, the subject of Mobeetie, once a thriving Top o' Texas metropolis, came up in a conversation with Claude Norman. That town always did intrigue us, especially one unique sight that's still there today. Short on law enforcement officers then and now. Mobeetie bankers have big signs on their building inside and out declaring in war type, as they call it in the newspaper shop, "$5,000 reward for DEAD BANK ROBBERS." It's been effective. So far as we know, no one has collected.

There are some aspects of Rotary that resemble the Methodist Church, especially if you are near the air conditioner of the Texas Cafe. It creates sort of a mass baptism effect. Danny Boone looked most uncomfortable. Thought he was in the wrong crowd.

It reminds us of our Campbellite cousin in Tennessee who married a Methodist. When their first-born arrived, she wanted to have the baby christened, and, like a good wife, consulted her husband about it.

Cousin George thought about it a minute, then said, "That'll be all right. We'll sprinkle him now . . . and dip him later."

If you think you've got troubles, ask Satch Lusk to tell you about the three trips he made to the store trying to get the right size lid for some jars. Annie Pearl needed to use in canning. Now, the way Satch tells it, and we invoke diplomatic immunity, Annie Pearl, 'bout the time of the lid problems, could have taught that wild animal caller a few lessons.

Since the trapper election, we've added to the Turnbrows, Josselots, etc., on our list of folks we want on our side, the City of Rule "in toto." Any stick-together bunch that votes 12-to-1 on an issue, we'd like to line up on OUR side of the fence.

Oakescript: We hold this truth to be self-evident: Some of the things you have learned by experience are the things you should never have learned at all.

Mr. Lee Pierson brought a cotton bloom into our office on the 19th instant. Judge D. H. Hamilton brought in one on the 21st. Mr. Pierson's came from his farm near the Gilliam School, a few miles northwest of Haskell. Judge Hamilton's came from a patch of a quarter acre he has at his home in the city.

Cotton prospects are the best in years. The Rochester country has an immense corn crop. Both J. W. Collins and J. S. Boone have fine crops on their ranches. Gus Grusendorf of the east side was in town and said crops were fine in his neighborhood. Looks like Haskell is going to be in the swim this year.

The efforts of Clyde F. Elkings to collect the back taxes vance on the market about 20 vance on the market about 20 vance on the market about 20 per cent in the last month or two.

G. W. Von Bischoffhausen of the southeast side was in the city and gave the Free Press a description of a grasshopper catcher he saw on J. M. Riley's farm southwest of Haskell. Made with boxing plank and filled with oil and water, the trough is dragged down the rows and a drag scares the hoppers which fall into the oil and water. Bischoffhausen said on a small plat near his home he got two bushels of grasshoppers in this manner.

Rev. J. A. Arbuckle, pastor of the First Baptist Church, died at his home on Tuesday, June 24, after an illness of three weeks. The remains were laid to rest in Willow Cemetery, followed by one of the largest concourses of people that has ever attended a funeral in Haskell.

Chevy II Wagons—The best of a suitcase. The rustle of a road map. There's something about one of these spruce, surprisingly spacious wagons that can turn even the routine preparations into a happy part of your trip.

Take that old bugaboo of packing, for instance. No bother. With the kind of room you get in that easy-loading cargo compartment, you can just about toss things in any old whichway and come out with space to spare. The load won't dampen the spirits of the spunky 6-cylinder engine either. It just goes along passing up gasp (there's also a choice even thrifter 4 in models) like it didn't care in the world. is, it has far fewer than most engines—built with the special Chevrolet engineers for dependability and of maintenance.

Sagerton News

BY MRS. DELBERT LEFEVRE

Farmers around this community have been very busy this week and last week getting over their fields since the rains. If the weather holds out the rest of the week, everyone should have their fields in pretty good shape, and the cotton is growing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. August Angerman went to Austin last weekend to visit with Mr. Angerman's brother and family.

Mrs. Emil Kainer went back to Midland with her daughter, Mrs. Bill Bradshaw, who was here last week to get her son who had been visiting with Mrs. Kainer.

Mrs. Leslie Cobb and sons, Johnny and Randy, of Midland, visited here with Mrs. John Clark several days last week. Mrs. Cobb and Randy returned home, but Johnny stayed here for a longer visit with his grandmother and Mr. and Mrs. Reece Clark.

Linda LeFevre of Abilene spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Delbert LeFevre.

Mrs. G. W. LeFevre is home from the Stamford Hospital, but she is still suffering with her neck and having to wear a brace when she is out of bed.

Mrs. Ben Hess is still on the sick list. Mrs. Mary Hess and Joe Bennett and Mrs. Ellen Reising of Midland were here last weekend to visit with Mrs. Hess.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Stegemoeller hosted the Golden Age Club meeting in their home on Sunday afternoon. Members of the club present were: Mr. and Mrs. Wienie and Mrs. Emma Gerloff of Old Glory, and Mr. Henry Hagemeister, Mrs. Lena Knippling and Frank Lowack. Other guests were, Mrs. August Balzer, Mrs. Katie Gerloff, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lehmann, Mrs. Tony Letz and Pastor and Mrs. Scheffel.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nierdieck and family went to San Antonio last weekend where their daughter, Joy, was a bridesmaid in the wedding of her sister-in-law at Texas Lutheran College, Peggy Intelman, Saturday night. On Sunday the Nierdiecks attended the wedding of their nephew, Clifford Riewe, in Abilene. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Riewe, former residents of Sagerton. Mr. and Mrs. Leon Stegemoeller of Sagerton and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bredthauer of Stamford also attended the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Morse are visiting relatives near Corpus Christi this week.

Several from this community attended the wedding of Judy Jones and Jimmy, New in Rule Sunday night, and many also attended the wedding of Ronny Weeks and Judy Hughes Saturday night in Stamford.

Pastor and Mrs. Scheffel and Tim left Monday on vacation. During his absence, the Luther League members will have the church service at the regular time, 10:00 a. m., June 30. On July 7th, Pastor Schaefer, of Trinity Lutheran at Haskell, will hold services here at St. Paul Lutheran at 7:30 p. m., with Sunday School at 6:30 p. m.

Harold Smith of Crowell visited his sister, Mrs. John Clark, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Glyn Quade and boys went to Austin last weekend and Larry stayed there at the University where he will attend school for several weeks.

Wallace Cox Jr.'s Back Home From Lions Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Cox, Jr., returned to Haskell Saturday night from Miami, Florida, where they had been attending the 46th annual convention of Lions International.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox boarded Eastern Air Lines plane in Dallas on Tuesday of last week for Miami and following the convention flew back to Dallas where they had stored their car.

The Haskell representatives to the convention reported a wonderful trip, and said Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, of last week packed "brim full" of meetings and entertainment.

"Some 43,000 Lions from all the world were in Miami for the big, annual convention," Mr. Cox said.

M System Expands Services With New Store In Anson

Construction was begun this week on a new "M" System Market in Anson. Completion is scheduled within 45 days.

The new super-market will feature the newest and most modern construction features, as well as the latest in new fixtures and equipment.

It will be located on the Stamford highway just one and one-half blocks north of the Square in Anson.

"M" System Super Markets also have stores in Haskell, Seymour, Munday, Knox City, and Stamford.

Plans are in the making for constructing a new store in Bridgeport, Texas, this summer.

Tips On Defense Against Fallout Provided Here

By F. W. MARTIN, Haskell County Agent (2nd Installment)

Why is fallout dangerous? If an area is highly contaminated by fallout, the radiation may be a threat to human beings, animals and crops. Fallout can also contaminate food, water, buildings, yards, and fields, and make them unsafe to use for varying periods of time.

Some of the rays can penetrate the body and cause serious internal damage. The particles, alpha and beta, while not capable of deep penetration, can burn if fallout material is deposited on the skin. Some of the radioactive chemical elements in fallout, such as radioactive strontium and radioactive iodine, can cause serious internal radiation damage if taken into the body in sufficiently large quantities.

What determines the size of the fallout area?

Fallout can be a serious hazard to communities that are miles beyond the areas affected by the explosion. During a 1964 test at the Eniwetok Proving Grounds in the Pacific, the area where fallout would have seriously threatened the lives of nearly all persons who took no protective measures extended about 140 miles downwind from the point of explosion, and was up to 20 miles wide.

How long is fallout dangerous?

The greatest hazard from radiation exists during the first few days — especially during the first 10 hours — following heavy deposit of fallout. The hazard decreases with the passage of time as radioactive materials decay and the intensity of radiation decreases.

How can I protect my family and myself from radiation?

The only way to protect yourself from radiation is to stay away from it.

You can limit exposure by staying in an adequate shelter; three or more feet of packed earth or concrete provide excellent shielding from radiation. The walls of an ordinary frame house give some radiation they will stop about half of the radiation.

If time and conditions permit, local Civil Defense authorities may call for evacuation to safer areas.

How will I know if fallout is coming?

If an enemy attacks, official information and instructions will be issued by all available means of communication. If the radio and TV stations you normally listen to go off the air, try to get 640 or 1240, the CONELRAD frequencies, on your radio dial. If you are not within range of a CONELRAD station, follow whatever pre-attack instructions you have received from your local, county or State officials.

CARD OF THANKS

Our hearts overflow with sincere appreciation for all who expressed their love and sympathy in so many comforting ways during our recent sorrow. We are deeply grateful to all.—The Hattox Family, 26c

WCSH Hears Program On Methodist Crusade Scholarship Procession

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met Monday morning for a program on the Crusade Scholarship Procession. Mrs. Everett Medley directed the program.

Since 1946, a procession of special young Christians has been going and coming on every continent except Antarctica. Few groups are more carefully screened than are Crusade scholars. Usually the candidate must have completed the highest education obtainable in his country and must have proved himself by some Christian service. He must be in good health, have a high scholastic record and a knowledge of English adequate for graduate work.

Each August the incoming group of Crusade scholars meets at American University, Washington, D. C., for orientation under expert guidance.

"Enjoyable" and "profitable" summarized the feelings of the Haskell Chapter, Young Homemakers of Texas, at the conclusion of a gathering of that organization at which Mrs. Allen Middleton, owner-operator of the Sewing Machine Shop, discussed dress materials and women's clothing generally.

Mrs. Middleton conducted a drawing among Young Homemakers for a dress-length of material which she contributed. The fashionable fall material was won by Mrs. Jimmy D. Browning.

At the next meeting, Haskell Young Homemakers will hear a discussion of "Skin Care" by Mrs. Jack Pippin.

Second Place Scrap Shapes In Little League

Going into the next to the last week of Little League baseball play, we find the Tigers still in firm possession of first place with a battle raging for second place. For the third week the Rams and the Hawks continue to see-saw in pursuit of second place. It is possible, still, that either team could overtake the Tigers statistically—that is, though the possibility seems remote.

Last week's activity saw the Tigers defeat the Lions 6-5 in a well-played game on Monday, June 17. Then on the following night, the Hawks defeated the Rams 18-10 to take over the second place berth. On June 20, the Lions bowled to the Cubs 9-3, but the Lions picked up two more homers off the bat of John Martinez. The Tigers posted a 3-2 victory over the Hawks on Friday and Saturday's game between the Rams and Cubs gave the Rams a 7-4 win. This put the Rams in second place as the see-saw continues to follow its

MRS. JAMES NEW

Judy Kay Jones, James New Are Wed In Service at Rule First Baptist Church

A candlelight service was used for the wedding of Judy Kay Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Jones Jr., of Rule, and James Carroll New, son of Lubbock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin New of Sagerton on Sunday evening, June 23, at 7:00 p. m. in the First Baptist Church of Rule.

The Rev. Rodney C. Dowdy, pastor, read the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Jerry Estep was organist for the services and Mrs. M. E. Overton of Haskell, sister of the bride, was soloist.

Nan Jones, sister of the bride, was Maid of Honor. Bridesmaids were Saule Dowdy of Rule and Marilyn Carothers of Spur. Miss Jones' dress was of white whipped cream with a full skirt and double peplum. She wore a head dress of white petals sprinkled with pearls on taffeta bands with a short veil. Flowers were a circle of yellow carnations.

The bridesmaids dresses were of white whipped cream sheath with double peplums. Head dresses and flowers were identical to the Maiden of Honor.

The bride's formal length gown of silk organza and chantilly lace was fashioned with a basque bodice with scalloped sabbina neckline accented with seed pearls. Her sleeves were long tapered. The bouffant skirt was adorned with lace roses touched with pearls. The fingertip veil of pure silk imported illusion fell from an open crown of pearls and crystals. Two bronze cymbidium orchids surrounded by white butterfly roses were her flowers.

The reception was in the home of the bride's parents. In the houseparty were Mrs. Don Davis, Mrs. A. D. May, Mrs. Charles McBeath of Amarillo, Mrs. M. E. Overton of Haskell, Mrs. J. D. Robinson of Lueders, Mrs. Garmen Walden of Lubbock, Miss Susie Dowdy and Mrs. J. E. Geer.

Candlelighters were Penny Davis, cousin of the bride, and Bill Jones, brother of the bride. Mr. Melvin New, father of the groom, was the groom's best man. Ushers were Jerry Sprayberry of Rule and Mac McCarthy of Lubbock. Grooms-

VARMINT HAS "MEAN EYES, BIG BLACK FEET," A MAN SAYS

At long last, thanks to a letter writer from Abilene, who prefers to remain anonymous, an accurate description, a picture even, pencilled drawing, that is, of Haskell's vanishing varmint has been provided for the aid and comfort of search-

This obituary correspondent graphically writes of his "skirmish" with the looper, and says the Haskell varmint is no loafin' looper either. It "can leap 25 to 30 feet easily," according to our benefactor.

There is but one drawback to the report. It's not too current. But then, it wouldn't stand for reason that the varmint would change its characteristics too much, except to get bigger.

Here is the play-by-play received Monday by the editor of the Haskell Free Press:

"About 16 or 18 months ago, my wife and I were traveling along the road in the general vicinity of Haskell County, or it could have been the western edge of Throckmorton County—late Sunday afternoon, but the sun was still shining, a large brown cougar—sometimes men were Jerry Lowery of Rule and Randall Vaughn of Lubbock.

For a wedding trip to Taos, New Mexico, the bride chose a beige linen-blend suit with multi-colored bodice and short jacket lined in the multi-color. Her accessories were brown lizard. The two orchids from her bridal bouquet served as her corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Rule High School and plans to attend Texas Tech this fall. She was a member of the Ruleettes, active in sports, dramatics, F.H.A. and church work.

The groom is a graduate of Rule High School and is attending Texas Tech. He is employed at the "Chicken Delight" in Lubbock.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the Cliff House in Stamford.

The couple will be at home at 2504 41st St. in Lubbock after July 2.

"So the varmint took about three bounds and jumped the fence into the other scantily wooded area to our right and disappeared.

"At that time we had never heard of any unusual animals in that part of the country and we thought very little of it. I told a few people about seeing the animal, and told them that it was a 'cougar'—because I know quite a good deal about cougars in this country, in an earlier day—when I used to hunt them.

"Anyway, I just wanted to tell you that the beast evidently is a cougar—often called a mountain lion, and I do not have the least doubt about it being sighted by those who have made the report. I hope they 'get it'."

The informative correspondent disclaims any fame as an artist, but enclosed a sketch outlining the dark brown animal that he and his wife saw. And he gave the following description of it: tawny brown color, long body, 3 1/2 to 4 feet, long neck, "mean eyes," 24 to 30 inches high, long tail, curled up at the end, and "big, black feet."

So now we know—or do we? That varmint could be part chameleon, and change color, the way it blends into the countryside.

How To Control Cotton Insects Will Be Topic Here

A meeting to discuss cotton insects, a most important subject in this territory at this season of the year, will be held Friday at 8 p. m. in the community room of the Haskell National Bank here, Haskell County Agricultural agent Frank W. Martin, announced Monday.

The purpose of the discussion will be to learn about the uses of various insecticides and their use in combinations. John Thomas, extension entomologist of Texas A&M University, will direct the program, and convey information on how to count insects and make a determination on when to use an insecticide program. Martin said that all farmers in the county have special invitations to attend.

Post Office At Weinert Has ZIP Number

Weinert's five-digit ZIP Code is 76388, Postmaster R. S. Sanders announced Wednesday.

"Everyone in Weinert, Texas will use this ZIP code on all their correspondence to speed mail deliveries and reduce the chance of mis-sent mail," Postmaster Sanders said.

ZIP Code, the Post Office Department's revolutionary new system of improved mail dispatch and delivery, goes into effect nationally on July 1.

Postmaster Sanders stressed the importance of all citizens of Weinert learning this city's ZIP Code and using it in their return address on all correspondence. In answering mail, he said, ZIP Codes taken from return addresses on incoming mail should be used.

"The ZIP Code is literally the last word in mail addressing," Mr. Sanders said. "It should follow the city and state in addresses."

He cited this example of the proper use of ZIP Code: R. S. Sanders, Postmaster, Weinert, Texas, 76388.

The new ZIP Code plan, Mr. Sanders said, for the first time will permit the Post Office Department to short-cut repeated address reading.

"The address on mail must often be read as many as eight or ten times by postal employees, to get it to the proper destination," Mr. Sanders said. "Each handling slows the process of mail dispatch and adds to the opportunity for human error."

"With ZIP Code, a clerk needs only to glance at the code to know immediately to what national area, state and post office the letter is destined and to speed it on its way, cutting up to 24 hours off the time between deposit and delivery."

Work To Keep Free Enterprise, Rotarians Told

Challenging Haskell Rotarians to prosecute activities involving more self-interest and individual initiative, Joel Wilson, West Texas Utilities executive of Abilene, Thursday called upon his listeners to protect the free enterprise system in the nation at a meeting of the service club here.

Wilson, who is personnel man for WTU in Abilene, and a past president of the Rotary Club in that city, requested his audience to "conserve your resources, produce more by the hour, spread your incomes widely, and retain economic freedom," in working for free enterprise.

The Haskell Rotary speaker warned that "we take too much for granted and don't give the free enterprise way of life much thought because we've had freedom so long." He said it would be good for people to "look back and see what we've been doing to ourselves."

"A man must either work or die," Wilson repeated to his listeners, and "my plea with you is not to let government continue to enter business." He pointed out that Jamestown and Plymouth started out as communal colonies, but not until reforms were instituted and competition began did the colonies begin to thrive.

President-Elect Ira Hester presided in the absence of E. J. Stewart, outgoing president. Rotarian Desmond Dulaney introduced Rotarian J. H. of Stamford, and Robert Lowrance, new chamber of commerce manager of Haskell, as guests, the latter coming at the invitation of the club secretary, Roy Johnson.

Henry Withers, WTU district manager here, and a Rotarian, was program chairman for the day.

By AL HINDS

Friend, "Doc" Brady loaned me his "Heart Throbs" book recently and I have thoroughly enjoyed reading from the book of prose and verse which is dear to the American People. Especially I enjoyed the "Hard - Earned Wages" and "Roquefort Cheese." I would like to quote some of the very fine articles in the book, but since it is copyrighted, am unable to do so.

A handful of patience is worth more than a bushel of brains.

A commencement speaker told a graduating class recently that three qualities were necessary for human success, a wishbone, a backbone and a funnybone. First, an ideal to work for; second, the perseverance to carry it out; and the last, a saving sense of humor about human frailty.

When it's hot, sales stay up—Retail merchants are now deciding what to do during the big summer slump. Many merchants have been led to believe you can't sell merchandise during the summer months. It is not difficult to find an excuse for thinking business has a summer slump. The facts are that only six per cent of the population are now on vacation at one time. That means that 94 per cent are still eating, wearing clothes, working, drawing pay checks, carrying on normal lives, reading their newspapers and buying. The demand for some merchandise reaches its peak in the hot summer months.

Since the Russians are always claiming "first" on most everything... here is a good take-off on their version:

"Were you aware," asked the Soviet scientist of a companion, "that Adam and Eve were actually Russians?"

"Why, no, I wasn't," replied the other, interested. "Can you prove it?"

"Easily," replied the scientist. "Adam and Eve had no clothes and no home. The only thing they had to eat was apples. And they thought they were in Paradise. They MUST have been Russians."

The summer travel season is in full swing. Prattle is in receipt of several road maps, including the big, colorful Texas official highway travel map. I think the map publishers should insert a little note on how to fold a map back into place, once it is unfolded for use. I betcha' that readers have also noticed what a problem it is to fold those large size road maps back the way they originally were—with the outside cover in the right place.

Little girls are the nicest things that happen to people. They are born with a little bit of angel-shine about them and though it wears thin sometimes, there is always enough left to lasso your heart. The Prattle's little girl is grown-up, married and has a little boy of her own. When Wallace Cox Jr. brought John Wallace and Sarah to Lions club with him recently—little Sarah brought back memories of the little darling daughter of the Hinds. While Sarah's Dad was showing slides of Italy at the club luncheon, precious little Sarah, turned her face toward mine, crinkled her pretty little nose and with a mischievous twinkle in her eyes gave me a most pleasing smile.

A little girl can be sweeter (and badder) oftener than anyone else in the world. She can jitter around, and stomp, and make funny noises that frazzle your nerves, yet just when you open your mouth, she stands there demure with that special look in her eyes. A little girl is innocence playing in the mud... beauty standing on its head, and Motherhood dragging a doll by the foot.

Girls are available in five colors—black, white, red, yellow or brown—yet, Mother Nature always manages to select your favorite color when you place your order. They disprove the law of supply and demand... there are millions of little girls, but each is as precious as rubies.

God borrows from many creatures to make a little girl. He uses the song of a bird, the squeal of a pig, the stubbornness of a mule, the antics of a monkey, the spryness of a grasshopper, the curiosity of a cat, the speed of a gazelle, the slowness of a fox, the softness of a kitten.

A little girl likes new shoes, party dresses, small animals, first grade, noise makers, the girl next door, dolls, make-believe, dancing lessons, ice cream, kitchens, coloring books, make-up, cans of water, going visiting, tea parties, and one boy. She doesn't care so much for visitors, boys in general, large dogs, hand-me-downs, straight chairs, vegetables, snow suits, or staying in the front yard. She is loudest when you are thinking, the prettiest when she has provoked you, the busiest at bedtime, the quietest when you want her to show off, and the most flirtatious when she absolutely must not get the best of you again.

Who else can cause you more grief, joy, irritation, satisfaction, embarrassment, and genuine delight than this combination of Eve, Salome, and Florence Nightingale? She can muss up your hair, your hair, and your dignity, spend your money, your time, and your temper... then just when your patience is ready to crack, her sunshine peeks through, and you've lost again.

Yes, she is a nerve-racking nuisance, just a noisy bundle of mischief. But when your dreams tumble down and the world is a mess... when it seems you are pretty much of a fool after all... she can climb on your knee and whisper, "I love you best of all!"

Man Charged With Narcotics Possession

Felony charges of illegal possession of narcotics and a misdemeanor count of illegal possession of barbiturate drugs were filed last Tuesday afternoon against a man identified as Oliver Donald Boyd, 40, who was taken to Haskell County Hospital with injuries received when his car left the highway two miles east of Haskell at 6:20 a. m. Monday, June 17.

Boyd pleaded guilty in Haskell County Court Tuesday to the misdemeanor count of possession of barbiturates, and was fined $500 and sentenced to 30 days in jail by Judge Jim Alvis.

Carried before District Judge Ben Charlie Chapman by State Highway Patrolman Tommy Wood, one of the arresting officers in the case, Boyd's bond was set at $2,000 pending action of the Haskell County Grand Jury on the felony charge of possession of narcotics. He was placed in Haskell County Jail to serve the 30-day sentence.

Boyd was taken to the Court-house here Tuesday following his release from the hospital. Haskell County Sheriff Garth Garrett and State Highway Patrolman Wood, who investigated the accident early Monday morning, June 17, said the charges, filed with County Attorney Bill Ratliff on the misdemeanor and with District Attorney Royce Adkins on the felony, grew out of their discovery "of a quantity of drugs" in Boyd's demolished automobile.

Patrolman Wood said that "eight or nine bottles" of barbiturates and about 150 tablets were located in the car which was totally wrecked when it went out of control on a rain-slick highway. Boyd was traveling west approaching Haskell when he applied the brakes and lost control of the automobile, investigating officers said.

The injured man, according to Patrolman Wood had an Oklahoma address, but now lives in Anson and has been working in Stamford. He said Boyd was carrying a regular pharmacist's license from the State of Oklahoma.

Texas FU Prexy Hurls Challenge In Speech Here

Jay Naman, of Waco, Texas, Farmers Union State president, in a major speech before Haskell County Farmers Union members and their guests here last Wednesday night, hurled a challenge to the Texas Farm Bureau "to meet me in a series of debates" at six points in the state to "discuss the pressing vital issues of cotton, wheat, and feed grains legislation." He named Amarillo, Lubbock, Abilene, Waco, Corpus Christi, and the Rio Grande Valley as projected sites of the discussions.

He said the President of the Texas Farm Bureau (Mr. De-vaney) "owes the membership of the Texas Farm Bureau the duty to explain his shocking position on farm programs."

Naman said, "I believe that this position is completely foreign to the thinking of the rank and file membership of his organization. I wonder if Mr. Devaney has made clear to his members what he is proposing as a substitute for the certificate plan for wheat defeated in the referendum?"

The Farmers Union president added, "I only hope that my past disappointing experience in getting the Farm Bureau to meet me in a public forum will not be the case at this critical time."

"All of the farm income gains and reduced costs to government accomplished during 1961 and 1962 could be lost if the Congress accepts the proposals of state and national Farm Bureau leadership to repeal the feed grain program recently passed," Naman declared. "The offer to do this is cleverly hidden in the small print of other legislation, which the Farm Bureau is supporting as a substitute for the certificate wheat plan defeated in referendum."

The head of the Texas Farmers Union said, "besides seriously crippling chances for desperately needed cotton legislation by contributing to the defeat of the wheat program, the Texas Farm Bureau joins its national leadership in opposing all proposed cotton legislation except that part of one bill which reduces price supports and increase acreage." It turns its back on the Cooley Bill," he concluded.

CONG. PURCELL REPORTS AFTER TAKING PUBLIC PULSE

Congressman Graham Purcell, the representative in Washington from this 13th Congressional District of Texas, in a message to the Free Press Monday, reported the results of a people's pulse feeling questionnaire he recently mailed to his constituency.

Sixty-eight per cent of those who replied favor a tax cut to stimulate the economy, he said.

The Congressman from this district said 91 per cent favor Congressional provision for the systematic reduction of federal government's debt as part of the annual budget.

He said 92 per cent of the replies favored Public Health Service inspection and approval of new drugs before their public sale.

And he said 61 per cent of the replies voted for a $96,000,000 program to provide for an all-purpose vaccine for mass immunization of children against polio, diphtheria and tetanus.

Congressman Purcell expressed surprise that 91 per cent support the general concept of the U. S. foreign aid program as essential to U. S. security.

Eighty-six per cent favored continued U. S. support of the United Nations.

He said 73 per cent feel the Kennedy administration performance is average or above average, 11 per cent believe it is below average, 16 per cent think it's poor, 28 per cent rate it good, 29 per cent average, and 16 per cent excellent.

Two thirds of the people sent the questionnaire were Democrats. The others were divided between the Republican and Independent party affiliations.

Congressman Purcell said he is "grateful so many took the time to send back the hundreds of replies I received. I feel it is vital for a member of Congress to do everything he can to learn the true feelings of his constituents in order to properly represent the people who elected him to office."

Foster Pledges Vigor In Work With Hospital

A. J. (Cotton) Foster, 32-year-old Haskell native, former Vernon school teacher and business manager of the school system and township at Balm-oreha, has taken over his duties as administrator of Haskell County Hospital.

Foster, a Korean veteran of frontline fighting along the 38th parallel, succeeded Hallie Chapman, who resigned the post about two months ago after serving as administrator for four years.

The new hospital administrator here is the son of Mrs. N. F. Foster and the late Mr. Foster, longtime Haskell residents. He is married to the former Delores Burnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Burnett, a well-known farm and ranch family, who live east of Haskell on the Throckmorton highway.

The Fosters, who have two children, Craig 4, and Stephen 20 months, have established a residence at 1104 North Avenue E here.

In his first meeting with the Haskell County Hospital Board since taking over his new duties last week, Foster declared, "It will be my utmost intention to work with all personnel here to inject enthusiasm and vigor into the entire program of work in order to make it a top-notch facility." To this end, Foster said he would be daily dedicated.

Wheat Averages Near 30 Bushels, Martin Reports

"Practically all" of Haskell County's 52,000 acre wheat crop this season is in, and "it averaged around 30 bushels per acre," Haskell County Agent Frank Martin reported Saturday.

Some of this county's irrigated wheat averaged better than 30 bushels, Martin said, and some of the dryland crop fell below that figure, so "that was about what it averaged out," said the Haskell County agricultural agent.

It was one of the most bountiful wheat harvests this area has seen in years, Martin declared.

The wheat harvest in the territory in which Haskell is one point of a triangle, with Wichita Falls and Quanah as the other two points, is reported to be the location of one of the best wheat belts in the nation this year. The area could well lay claim to being "the bottom of America's bread basket this year," with substantial figures in support of the "handle."

Burlington Lines and FW&DC railroad officials recently said more than 2400 carloads of wheat have been transported over their lines in moving the harvest to market since cutting began.

Haskell Jaycees To 'Manicure' City Park Tonight

Jaycees will "fall out the troops" Thursday at 6 p. m. to give Haskell's City Park a scouring from stem to stern in a cleanup drive and manouring session for the premises there.

Aim and object is to make the place more attractive to tourists going through will have a desire to stop, and to make the surroundings more presentable for our own citizens as well.

Daughter of Fort Worth Editor Visits

Jane Humphrey, daughter of Fort Worth Press Editor Walter Humphrey, nationally known newspaperman and champion of soil conservation, is a Haskell visitor.

The charming young lady from Fort Worth, a student at Mary Baldwin College last year, is a guest this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Cox Jr. She plans to enter Texas Christian University to continue work toward a college degree this fall.

SCOUT SWIM

Weinert Scouts and Cubs are enjoying a swim every Tuesday after their summer recreation. Scoutmaster Sanders and Mrs. Sanders accompany them.

The men were to honor their state presidents and present the 1954-55 U. S. Jaycee Community Development Awards winners Wednesday, Thursday's schedule will be climaxed by the inaugural banquet for the new national president, award to the top Jaycee chapter in the nation, and national honors for the five outstanding state presidents.

The Haskell delegation which will stay with the rest of the Texas contingent at the Sheraton Hotel in Louisville, will return home this weekend.

Frank Martin Hollered 'Wolf' And Meant It!

The Haskell County Agent, Frank W. Martin, hollered "wolf" and meant it late Monday afternoon during a crop inspection tour in the north-eastern section of varmint-conscious Haskell County.

It was a lobo wolf, "about two-thirds grown, dark red in color, with a long, squared head, different from a coyote's, that is short and smooth," Martin reported. The lobo leaped off northward toward timber when Martin, Haskell County Commissioner Leon Newton, and his daughter, were within 100 yards of it in an oats patch. It was 5:30 p. m.

Newton's farm is about five miles due east of Weinert. A family of wolves is believed to be dened up somewhere near there, according to reports, and is believed to range up and down Millers Creek and its branches.

The spot where the wolf was sighted is about a mile and a half from where only the skin and bones of a newborn calf were found on the Nord Boone property across from the Wallace Boone place near Weinert.

The skin of the baby calf, thought to have been born Saturday night, had been pulled up over its head. Practically all the flesh was gone. But no tracks were found here, as in the several cases of the Haskell varmint's preying on stock.

The vicinity of the lobo wolf sighting and the finding of the dead calf's carcass is several miles from the scenes of the stock harm blamed on Haskell's infamous beast, and there is not thought to be any connection between the two.
