Spring Pops set for three-day run at Western Texas

"A Spunky, Shimmery, Sassy Show of Dynamic Delight" will take the Western Texas College Fine Arts Theatre stage this weekend as students in the college music and drama departments present the annual Spring Pops concert.

The show opens Thursday evening and continues Friday and Saturday. Show time is 7:30 nightly. Tickets can be reserved by calling the box office at 573-8511, extension 234, and are $4 for adults and $3 for students.

Last year's performance was a sellout so a third performance was added to the schedule this year.

Music for the concert is under the direction of Brent Hardegree and Jane Womack. Jim Rambo is directing his drama students in skits and dialogue. The WTC Choir, the Collegiate Singers and the WTC Ladies' Ensemble will be performing. Members of the choir and Collegiate Singers will be featured in specialty numbers.

Snyder students in the choir are Shanna Byrd, Dawn Waller, Stacy Hardegree, Royce Hataway, Todd Perry, Blaine Irons, Barbara Chapman, Ann Marie Guerrero, Gina Vaughn, Francois Pointeau, John Howard, Robert Lane, David Stewart, Roddy Oaks and Jimmie Sturdivant. Others are Alicia Powell, Joe Gloria and Shelly Lofton from Sweetwater, Gena Grammer from Grapevine, Robin Jones from Aspermont, Charemon Peery and Rozlyn Peery from Abilene, Sandra Elias from Stamford, Lesa Miller from Abernathy, Konnie Adams from Dallas and Lance Rasch from Brownwood.

Members of the Collegiate Singers are Grammer, Byrd, Mrs. Hardegree, Perry, Irons, Chapman, Elias, Howard and Stewart.

Making up the Ladies' Ensemble are Helen Allen, Sherry Jenkins, Chiva Pitner, (see POPS, page 12)

Civic club luncheon scheduled for May 2

A joint civic club luncheon, featuring the chairman of the Texas State Chamber of Commerce, will be held May 2 at the Snyder Country Club.

Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis and Jaycees will be involved in the noon Wednesday meeting. Jerry Farrington, chief executive officer of Texas Utilities and chairman of the state chamber, will speak on topics of interest to include industrial development and community attrition.

A native of Kermit, Farrington was previously president of Texas Utilities and chairman and CEO of its principal subsidiary, TU Electric. He also served as president of TU's Dallas Power and Light Division.

In addition to his duties with the Texas State chamber, he serves on the boards of the Children's Health Services of Texas, Circle Ten Council of Boy Scouts, Presbyterian Healthcare Systems, Southwestern Medical Foundation, State Fair of Texas, Texas Association of Taxpayers and Texas Research League.

Professional involvement includes chairman of the U.S. Council for Energy Awareness, member of the Edison Electric Institute board and chairman of the EEI policy committee on governmental affairs.

A graduate of the University of North Texas, he is chairman of the university's board of regents, and is also a member of the Southwestern University board of trustees. He serves on the Engineering Foundation Advisory Council for the University of Texas.

Absentee voting at a trickle for city, school, WTC boards

Absentee voting in the May 5 local board elections so far reflects the fact that there is only one contested race.

As of early this morning, 56 people had voted in the Western Texas College board of trustees election, in which Carl Williams and William R. "Bill" Hibbs are opponents for Place 2.

Only 10 had voted in the Snyder public schools board of trustees election and just 7 had voted in the city council election — both of which do not have a contested race.

Absentee voting began April 16 and runs through May 2 at the individual business offices of the entities holding elections.

Absentee voting hours are 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. weekdays at City Hall and 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the college and school administration offices.

Williams and Hibbs are seeking to replace incumbent Roy Baze, who is not pursuing another term.

The only other position up for election on the college board is Place 1 and incumbent Bill Wilson Jr. is running unopposed.

Incumbents are also the only ones to run for four places on the Snyder City Council. Seeking reelection are Vernest Tippens, District 1; Ralph Williamson, District 2; Joe Coronado, District 3; and Jack K. "Jackie" Greene Jr., District 4.

Two incumbents are running for another term on the Snyder ISD board — president Billy Bob McMullan in District 4 and Ann Walton in District 5.

Running unopposed for District 1 on the school board is Glenn Clarady. Incumbent Ygnacio Benitez is not seeking another term.

Over 300 volunteers ready for SNS Day here Saturday

Snyder Neighbors Sharing's annual work day is Saturday and the organization is urging anyone who is interested in helping but has not been assigned to a group to show up at the gazebo on the courthouse lawn.

Tommy Aishman, president for Snyder Neighbors Sharing (SNS), said that between 300 and 350 local and area citizens have pledged to pitch in for the organization's third annual project day. Volunteers have been assigned to the 17 various locations throughout the community to begin home repair. Work will begin at 7 a.m.

The gazebo will serve as a coordinating center, through which late arriving manpower and additional requests for construction materials will be dispatched.

Anyone who is interested in helping with the project but who has not attended previous organizational meetings and not been assigned to a "team," should come to the gazebo at 7 a.m. — or as soon as they are able. They will be sent to where they can be of most benefit.

Lunch will be provided for workers at the various sites.

SNS is aimed at helping senior citizens and handicapped individuals who own their own home but are unable to afford home repairs. Last year's work day saw some 150 volunteers complete repairs to nine homes. This year's effort has been more than doubled, and the volunteer response has been encouraging. However, Aishman stressed, anyone still wishing to help will be welcome.

Any interested individual or group seeking additional information about Snyder Neighbors Sharing should contact Aishman at 573-2668 or any SNS board member.

Grand jury to review fatal accident report

District Attorney Ernie Armstrong said today that a preliminary Department of Public Safety report concerning the April 17 fatal accident which occurred north of Snyder on Farm Road 1611 will be considered by the grand jury when it convenes next month.

Armstrong said he had reviewed the preliminary report of DPS officer Rick Campos who investigated the truck-pickup mishap nine miles north of Snyder, in which a 26-year-old Snyder woman, Kelly Bloom, was injured along with her three-year-old son, Tanner.

Mrs. Bloom died of massive head injuries the following day in St. Mary of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock. Tanner, a passenger in the pickup driven by his mother, is listed in stable condition in the Lubbock hospital where a spokesman said this morning that the boy may be moved to a private room later in the day.

The Bloom's pickup was struck broadside by a gravel truck driven by Terry L. Burns, 31, who was working for Anheco Construction Co. of Odessa, a contractor working on the Clairemont Highway resurfacing.

Burns remains in Scurry County jail on a warrant from Dallas County.

preliminary DPS report indicates that the facts of the mishap should be reviewed by the grand jury which will convene on May 7.

The district attorney said that when a final DPS report is received, it could result in action being taken prior to the grand jury session. The final report is awaiting results of a blood test taken by Burns shortly after the mishap.

164 pints donated at drive

Cogdell Hospital Auxiliary announced today that 164 pints of blood were donated during Tuesday's drive here, sponsored by the auxiliary and United Blood Services of Lubbock.

Some 175 people registered. Eleven were deferrals and 32 were first-time donors.

Stanfield Elementary was the participation leader among employees and friends from the city's eight public schools, with 95 percent.

Five-gallon pins were awarded (see BLOOD, page 12)

The feller on Deep Creek says, "One way to control temper is to be like a kettle — sing when you boil."

The State Bar of Texas, like most legal organizations in the country, is concerned about the slipping image of its member lawyers.

The association looked for a folksy spokesman to do some public service announcements about lawyers and the law in hopes of improving the image of the profession.

The bar association settled on U.S. District Judge Jerry Buchmeyer of Dallas who is respected for a good legal mind combined with a keen sense of humor.

Some members of the Lone Star legal profession, however, have wondered privately if the spots may be a little extreme. For instance, in one spot on the subject of too many lawyers, the judge suggested the use of lawyers in laboratory experiments instead of white mice since lawyers are not as messy as white mice, there are more lawyers than white mice, and you don't get personally attached to lawyers. The judge also said, "And there are some things that white mice just won't do."

In another announcement, the federal judge tells a lawyer joke. "Why does New Jersey have more toxic waste dumps while California has more lawyers? New Jersey got first choice."

The judge writes his own material and also handles serious subjects but quickly adds, "If people laugh, they're more likely to listen."

President of the state bar said the spots first caused some raised eyebrows, but, as you might expect, the federal judge has gotten few complaints from lawyers.

The federal jurist, however, does admit to receiving one critical response. The letter came from another federal judge.

Q—Are there any places in town accepting items for recycling?

A—Snyder Scrap Iron will take such items as iron, batteries, aluminum and metal products. Scurry County Work Center will take newspaper and unshredded computer paper. These are the only local places that currently accept these type items in Snyder, according to our information. An area center is Butts Recycling Center in San Angelo. Currently, the City of Snyder does not have a recycling program.

Wards gone

WASHINGTON (AP) — City mental health officials have pulled three District of Columbia wards from a Seguin, Texas, residential treatment facility and brought them home after another ward died at the facility earlier this month.

Diane Harris, 17, a ward of the district, died April 11 at the Community Living Center, allegedly due to "asphyxiation due to compression of the neck," according to Guadalupe County Justice of the Peace Walter Bargfrede.

Miss Harris, who had been at the center for 12 days, died after the center's staff tried to calm her down using a restraining technique that involved five staff members, according to Texas officials.

The Guadalupe County sheriff's office said the matter is expected to go to a Texas grand jury.

The D.C. government uses the Seguin treatment center and more than 50 similar institutions outside the city to treat people with emotional illnesses, mental retardation and physical handicaps because the city lacks adequate facilities.

Syndicate owner ordered features transfers

HOUSTON (AP) — The co-owner of the Universal Press Syndicate says he required The Dallas Morning News to take all his company's features that had been appearing in the rival Dallas Times Herald as a provision of a television project the syndicate was negotiating with The Morning News' parent company, A.H. Belo Corp.

The joint television venture known as Universal Belo mandated the transfer last fall of 26 UPS features and comics to The Morning News, triggering a $33 million antitrust suit filed by the Times Herald.

"I had to make it very plain," John McMeel, co-owner of the Kansas City-based syndicate testified Tuesday in his second day on the witness stand. "I was not going to just take two features out of the Dallas Times Herald. I just wasn't going to do it. This (television opportunity) was a project we had been waiting for. I said everything had to get out so we can evaluate the whole package.

"Old Harry S. Truman said, 'The buck stops here,'" McMeel added. "I'll take the heat. The buck stops here."

Under terms of the joint venture, the Times Herald lost to its larger competitor features that included Doonesbury, Dear Abby and Erma Bombeck.

In its lawsuit, The Times Herald is seeking $33 million in actual damages, plus unspecified punitive damages. The trial, before Harris County District Judge David West, is in its fourth week.

The newspaper contends the action was a deliberate move by The Dallas Morning News and Belo to strengthen its dominance in the Dallas market to drive the Times Herald out of business.

Asked if the features loss could help close the newspaper, McMeel replied: "Absolutely not."

The joint venture, Universal Belo, is producing television programs based on characters appearing in syndicate comic strips.

McMeel said competing syndicates already were involved in television programming and the Universal Belo project was "a matter of survival."

The Morning News has said all along the TV venture was the impetus for the $1 million deal and it was the syndicate that required all features be moved when UPS invoked a 30-day cancellation provision of its contract with the Times Herald.

The Times Herald contends

The News was violating antitrust laws by taking its most popular features.

Morning News and Belo officials have testified there was nothing illegal or improper about the deal.

Testimony has shown Morning News Editor Burl Osborne for years inquired about the availability of two UPS comics — Doonesbury and The Far Side, which were appearing in the Times Herald. McMeel, however, insisted he wanted all 26 involved in the transfer and wouldn't even consider a joint venture unless The Morning News agreed.

Autopsy results show eight-year-old girl was strangled

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — The body of an 8-year-old deaf girl was found in a field after she was strangled with a rope, authorities said.

Autopsy results were released Tuesday on Gloria Castillo, a first-grader who disappeared April 14. Her mother, Ninefa Castillo, identified the body Monday, said Ector County Sheriff's deputies.

Dr. Roberto Bayardo, Travis County Medical Examiner, determined the girl's cause of death after performing an autopsy in Austin. The body was found Saturday night in a field on the west side of the West Texas city.

Clothes found on the body matched those Gloria was last seen wearing, said sheriff's Capt. Gene Kloss.

The body appeared to have been lying in the field since the day Gloria disappeared, said Peace Justice J.E. Pressly.

Mrs. Castillo has said her son, Jose Castillo, was the last to see her daughter. The boy saw Gloria playing outside about 6 p.m., but the mother could not find her daughter 10 minutes later.

Neighbors reported seeing a Hispanic man with a mustache driving a faded orange pickup in the neighborhood the day that Gloria disappeared, according to Mrs. Castillo.

Investigators have received many tips about a possible abductor. Sheriff's Lt. Jan Pate said deputies are continuing an investigation into Gloria's death.

"We've had thousands of calls on orange pickups ... so many that you wouldn't believe," said Pate.

Nixons want smaller home to live in SADDLE RIVER, N.J. (AP) — Richard Nixon is moving on down to a three-bedroom townhouse. The former president put a for-sale sign on his seven-bedroom house in this northern New Jersey community and plans to move into a three-bedroom, four-story townhouse in nearby Park Ridge, spokesman John Taylor said Tuesday.

 "The Nixons have decided that they would prefer to spend their energy on activities other than maintaining a large house on four acres," Taylor said.
 Taylor said he did not know the purchase price of the new home or the asking price for the 15-room contemporary house in Saddle River. The Nixons bought it in 1981 for $1.25 million and made $300,000 in improvements, he said.

Senator warns...

Foreign partners could delay collider

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Energy Committee is warning lawmakers against deals with Japan and other foreign partners that could kill the superconducting super collider.

"The way to get this thing in political trouble is to give away the cream of the technology," Sen. J. Bennett Johnston, D-La., said of the deals aimed at absorbing the cost overruns of the $6 billion collider to be built south of Dallas.

Johnston made the remarks Tuesday as House leaders postponed until next week action on a bill that would cap federal spending on the super collider at $5 billion and require foreign partners, Texas or private money to cover any cost above that level.

The bill by Rep. Robert Roe, D-N.J., chairman of the House Science Committee, is a response to opponents in Congress who claim the $1 billion a year the government anticipates spending on the collider when construction gets into full swing will squeeze out other worthy science endeavors.

The project involves building two circular underground tunnels 54 miles around to accelerate beams of protons in opposite directions at nearly the speed of light and then make them collide.

Through the collisions, scientists hope to find previously

Masur's contract starts in 1992

NEW YORK (AP) — Kurt Masur, in his first visit to the New York Philharmonic since being named music director, said he wants to start a children's choir and have more rehearsal time for difficult works.

His five-year contract was announced two weeks ago. It starts in the fall of 1992.

unobservable subatomic particles that could provide clues on how the cosmos was created.

Rep. Joe Barton, R-Ennis, in whose district the project would be located, said Roe's bill — over opposition from the Bush administration — would limit foreign participation in any aspect of the project to 50 percent.

Johnston quoted senior officials in the Energy Department as telling him, that because of the limit, the administration is looking at contracting with Japan to supply the 10,000 supermagnets for the project.

"I would hate for us to give away the most valuable thing in the project, the supermagnets ... and let somebody else develop the manufacturing technology," he said. "That's what we did with the auto industry."

Meanwhile, northern lawmakers opposed to the project said they will offer amendments when Roe's bill comes before the House floor to increase the foreign funding share from 20 percent to 25 percent and require annual reviews by congressional auditors of spending and changes in cost estimates.

Rep. Dennis Eckart, D-Ohio, said the audits would provide an "objective, independent assessment to back up our claims" that the project will be plagued by continuing cost overruns and should be scuttled.

The administration said Tuesday it would support changes in the bill to require the successful testing of 10 prototype magnets before allowing construction of the tunnels to begin.

In a statement of policy, the White House Budget Office also said it wants deleted from the bill a provision that would refund to Texas — if the project is canceled in the future — the $1 billion it has pledged toward its costs.

Personal questions bother Richards

AUSTIN (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Ann Richards says she wants to talk issues, not private lives, in her race against Republican Clayton Williams.

In her first public appearance since Williams admitted patronizing prostitutes in his youth, Ms. Richards on Tuesday declared questions about such private matters irrelevant to the campaign.

"I am to the very best of my ability going to have absolutely no comment," she said.

Meanwhile, Williams' press secretary, Bill Kenyon, accused the Richards campaign of helping spread rumors linking Williams to the use of prostitutes. Her aides denied the charge.

Ms. Richards won the Democratic nomination after a mudslinging runoff against Attorney General Jim Mattox, who alleged that she had used illegal drugs as recently as 10 years ago.

Ms. Richards refused to answer yes or no when asked about illegal drug use, saying that as a recovering alcoholic she feared such a discussion might keep others from seeking treatment. She in turn accused Mattox and former Gov. Mark White of profiting from public service.

Interviewed Tuesday, Ms. Richards chastised news reporting on the private lives of politicians.

"The whole tenor of this campaign, both in the primary and the runoff, and what now is the trend in the reporting, is irrelevant," she said.

"I hope very much that we start talking about education, about ... the problems of criminal justice, the victims of crime and what we're going to do about law enforcement, what we're going to do about old people and health care. That's what being governor of Texas is about," she said.

Williams' spokesman, Kenyon, said the Democrat's credibility should be questioned.

"They have been fanning the latest flames. Her campaign has been spreading rumors about Clayton, and her staff felt compelled to try to make political hay out of these recent stories," Kenyon said.

"We agree that the public is more interested in issues than the kind of reporting that's been going on here lately. But Richards stance reminds us of someone who kicks sand in your face and then yells King's X," he said.

"We just believe both candidates should be provided a level playing field and placed under the same standards of scrutiny," Kenyon said.

Mark McKinnon, Ms. Richards' communications director, said her campaign staff had nothing to do with spreading rumors about Williams. "We weren't fanning that. It didn't resurface because we were out there pushing it," he said.

Williams told a Houston Post reporter that he frequented prostitutes in Mexico as a youth and later as a student at Texas A&M University. On Monday, he told reporters that was all in the past and he wanted to concentrate on issues in the campaign.

Trevino counsels families about donating organs

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Leo Trevino calls himself a family "requester," who uses the compassion he learned in Texas to ask for the gift of life.

Trevino is a family counselor with the New York Regional Transplant Program. A minister with the Apostolic Assembly of Faith in Christ Jesus, his mission is to ask relatives to donate organs of loved ones who have died.

"It's a fascinating field. Do you know what it is for someone to say to me, 'Leo do you know why that man is alive? You had something to do with it.' Man I feel great!," he said. "I actually have saved someone's life, without being a doctor. And all it took was some compassion and some goodness and love towards that family."

He spoke at a seminar in El Paso Tuesday in conjunction with National Organ and Tissue Donor Awareness Week.

"We clearly need family requesters," said Dr. David Anaise, kidney transplant surgeon at Sierra Medical Center, which sponsored Trevino's visit. "We can make the death mean something."

Trevino has increased the number of organ donations from some of New York's worst neighborhoods — Spanish Harlem, the Bronx, Brooklyn and Queens.

The deaths in most of those neighborhoods are violent. Most victims are under the age of 25. Ninety percent die of gunshot wounds to the head.

"So we are dealing with a very stressful situation. This experience of grief is most traumatic, most intense and the longest lasting of all," Trevino said.

He said he spends an average seven hours with grieving families before asking about organ or tissue donation.

The son of migrant workers who followed his family to pick crops in Minnesota, Trevino said he often deals with people of many races with varying cultural beliefs about organ donation.

Sometimes he encounters families willing to donate only if the organs go to someone of the same race. Trevino said when he turns the tables on people, telling them their last chance to live could depend on the charity of a donor of another race, they often change their mind.

He also encounters religious questions, reminding families that most major religions have endorsed donation.

"What is difficult to me, is because a family said no, I know there's a 13-year-old child who will die. I don't feel guilt, but I feel sad. There was a chance that life could come out of death," he said.

The Donna, Texas, native said he draws on the "cohesiveness of family and the goodness of the (Rio Grande) Valley" for the compassion necessary to deal with the families of people who have jumped from windows, of children drowned in pools, or killed by gunfire.

He keeps in touch with donor families, often sending letters telling them the status and gender of the recipient.

Paul Quinn College studies possible move

WACO, Texas (AP) — Trustees of Paul Quinn College, the state's oldest and largest historically black college, will meet today to discuss a possible move to Dallas after 113 years in Waco.

Two trustees said Tuesday that plans are in the works to relocate Paul Quinn College to the campus of now-defunct Bishop College in south Dallas. Today's meeting concerning the future of the college will be held in Dallas.

Bishop College, which closed in 1988 after going bankrupt, is owned by Comer J. Cottrell, a Paul Quinn trustee. He also owns Pro-Line Corp. in Dallas, the nation's 18th largest black-owned company.

Cottrell could not be reached for comment, the Waco Herald-Tribune reported today.

Trustee Jack Bryant of New York, vice president of the National Black Network, a network of 125 radio stations across the nation, said he thought most trustees will back the move.

"I can't tell you exactly when it's going to be moved," Bryant said. "But the spirit is to do it quickly."

Waco Mayor R.D. "Pat" Pattillo said the city would like Paul Quinn to stay right where it is.

"Economically, we would regret their move," Pattillo said. "This institution has been in Waco a long time serving the black people for years and years and we would hate to see those ties severed."

Lyndon Olson Jr., vice chairman of the Paul Quinn board and chairman of the Greater Waco Chamber of Commerce, said the college probably would benefit in finances, enrollment and quality of education from a move to Dallas, but that its departure would be a "great loss to Waco."

Paul Quinn President Warren W. Morgan would not comment Tuesday on the possible move.

"You will have to talk to the trustees if you want to know more about that," he said.

Paul Quinn has been plagued by severe financial problems in recent months.

Astrograph

Your Birthday

April 26, 1990

Anticipate good things happening for you in the year ahead in areas where you have planted your seeds and nurtured your crops. Lady Luck might reward you with a larger bounty than usual.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Situations you personally manage or direct should work out to your satisfaction today. However, if people who do not belong get into the act, they might cause you complications. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you to understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Even though someone may deliberately put obstacles in your path today, this person's efforts will be ineffective, and it will not deprive you of anything to which you're entitled.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) There's a possibility a friend might abuse your generosity today. Conversely, however, another pal may make up for it in a much larger measure and put your account back to balance.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) An important objective can be achieved today even though you may be plagued with worries about things that will probably never happen. Should a mishap occur, however, it will be manageable.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Lack of foresight could create some complications for you today, but chances are, luck will intervene on your behalf and smooth things out. Be optimistic and hopeful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This can be a very pleasant and rewarding day for you, provided you keep your priorities in proper perspective. Take care of important obligations first.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You could be luckier than usual in partnership arrangements during this cycle, even though the advantages may not be apparent. Time will prove this out.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Up to a point today, you are likely to be extremely productive, and that which you do, you'll do successfully. However, when you get tired, call it quits promptly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A deal you've recently made is not as bad as you're leading yourself to believe. Re-evaluate this arrangement from a non-emotional perspective.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) An important matter can be successfully concluded today if it's done so that everyone benefits. The moment selfishness enters the picture, it could get derailed.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Things could work remarkably well for you today if you treat all aspects of your life as a game. You should come out victoriously if you don't worry too much about who's winning or losing.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today you may do better in your material dealings than you will in your personal relationships. Where dollars and cents are concerned you'll be logical, but with friends you could be emotional.

Dear Abby

Cook's Push for More Dough Gets a Rise Out of Owners

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a cook in a small but very popular restaurant. At the end of our shifts, the waitresses count their tip money, and believe me, it's a healthy "take." Add this to their hourly wage, and they do very well.

I make an hourly wage that is slightly over the so-called poverty level, yet nobody seems to remember where all the excellent food came from. Good service is important, but if a reduction in help is necessary, the waitresses would be the first to go.

Abby, is there some way to enlighten the public to share their tip money with the cooks?

LIKES TO ROLL IN THE DOUGH

DEAR LIKES: I sent your letter to the owners of three of the most popular restaurants in the Los Angeles area. Their responses:

DEAR ABBY: Every restaurant—large, small, plain or fancy—pays its waiters, waitresses, bartenders, etc. the minimum wage required by law, simply because it is understood that this amount will be supplemented by tips.

I feel that because the dining public is aware that the price of the meal includes the cost of the labor to prepare it, there is no need to leave a gratuity for the kitchen.

Although I am sure the restaurant business was not uppermost in the mind of Harry Truman when he said it, it fits this situation best: "If you can't stand the heat—get out of the kitchen!"

BRUCE VANDERHOFF, LE RESTAURANT, LOS ANGELES

DEAR ABBY: As a general rule, cooks are paid far more than waiters and waitresses whose wages are supplemented by tips. Chefs who are talented and reliable are always in demand and are handsomely paid by the management. Sometimes, when the chef makes an extraordinary effort for a private party, the host will present him with a gratuity in appreciation. I suggest that your correspondent who signs himself "Likes to Roll in the Dough" take steps to perfect his craft so that he can "take in the chips."

JIMMY MURPHY, JIMMY'S IN BEVERLY HILLS

DEAR ABBY: With regard to the cook who felt that he was entitled to a portion of the waitresses' tip money: No way! I am reluctant to express my opinion on the subject of tipping because I am expert at putting my foot in my mouth.

If I had my druthers, tipping would be abolished altogether since it makes the recipients feel like second-class citizens.

In most European countries, the gratuity is included in the cost of the meal. This covers the preparation as well as the serving. I feel quite certain that if the choice were up to the diners, they, too, would prefer to do away with tipping.

Thank you for including me in your survey. I respectfully prefer to remain anonymous.

LONGTIME RESTAURATEUR

DEAR BRUCE, JIMMY AND LONGTIME RESTAURATEUR: If I had my druthers, I, too, would do away with tipping waiters and waitresses—unless, of course, a special service had been performed.

Each time I make this suggestion, a howl goes up from service people who say, "If we were paid a decent wage, we wouldn't have to depend on tips in order to survive!"

And the restaurateurs scream, "If we had to pay our waiters and waitresses what they were worth, we couldn't stay in business."

Don't put off writing thank-you notes, letters of sympathy, etc., because you don't know what to say. Get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) for Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. In 1965 interview...

LBJ played JFK and FDR

NEW YORK (AP) — A sharp-tongued Lyndon B. Johnson denounced presidential predecessors John F. Kennedy and Franklin D. Roosevelt in a 1965 interview and claimed his administration was the most productive in U.S. history.

LBJ, speaking with historian William E. Leuchtenburg, derided Kennedy as "a Joe College man" who knew nothing about the way Congress worked, the interviewer reports in the May-June issue of American Heritage magazine.

"No man knew less about Congress than John Kennedy. He never even knew enough to know how to get recognized," Johnson said. "I never saw him in the cloakroom once. I never saw him eating with another congressman once."

"(Speaker of the House Sam) Rayburn never knew him," Johnson said. "The only way Rayburn thought of him at all was as a very young man who might be going to die of malaria. He was a Joe College man... and Congress felt that he didn't know where the ball was." Kennedy contracted malaria during World War II.

Johnson, speaking of FDR's

New Deal, compared the four-term president to "the fellow who cut cordwood and sold it all at Christmas and then spent it all on fireworks. It all went up in a bang."

"He did get things done. There was regulation of business, but that was unimportant," said Johnson. "Social Security and the Wagner Act were all that really amounted to much, and none of it compares to my education act."

Leuchtenburg says he spent 90 minutes with LBJ, asking just two questions during the lengthy harangue, and emerged from the White House meeting stunned by the president's egomania.

But under an agreement before the interview, he could not quote LBJ directly until the president's term was finished. The historian quotes deputy press secretary E. Hayes Redmon as telling him 95 percent of the interview could not be used, "especially about Kennedy."

While Johnson was down on the New Deal, he sang the praises of his own Great Society. When Leuchtenburg suggested the current Congress was arguably the most significant in history, LBJ quickly cut him off.

"No, it isn't. It's not arguable. Not if you can read," the president said. "You can perform a great service if you say that never before have the three independent branches been so productive. Never has the American system worked so effectively in producing quality legislation." Johnson goes on to attack the media, singling out The New York Times and the Washington Post for particularly venomous blasts.

"When I came on as president, the Times said one thing sure to happen is that we would have a closer election in 1964. If the livelihood of The New York Times depended on its accuracy, they would be shot at sunrise," said Johnson.

Negotiations resume

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — City officials have cleared the way for a promoter to resume negotiations with Paul McCartney for a July concert at the Yale Bowl.

Deciding that the potential profits for the city were too great to pass up, the Board of Aldermen voted 19-6 Tuesday to grant a permit for the ex-Beatle's show despite strong opposition from people living near the arena.

One condition was that the city receive at least $325,000 from the concert.

Third 'suspicious' fire strikes apartment in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — An apartment house here where AIDS patients and their families live has caught fire for the third time in two years, and firefighters investigating the latest blaze say all are suspicious.

Firefighters said Tuesday the latest fire at the Oak Cliff area apartment complex in South Dallas began Monday afternoon, forcing 13 people to search for new housing. Arson is suspected in the blaze. No one was injured.

Ten units were burned and damage was estimated at $150,000, said Don Maison, executive director of AIDS Services of Dallas.

The complex has been undergoing renovation for two years. It is the third suspicious fire there since 1988, when the group, earlier known as the People With AIDS Coalition, expanded housing services to victims' families.

The first blaze, in November 1988, caused major structural and interior damage to eight units facing the street, forcing AIDS Services to tear down the wing and scale back renovation plans.

A small fire on New Year's Day this year caused minor problems in the complex.

"This is a major problem," Maison said. "We don't know if we have enough funds approved for all of the renovations."

He and other AIDS Services workers believe the blaze may have been started by vagrants, often seen around the 28-unit complex. No one was living in the 10 units that were severely damaged.

Gas and electricity was shut off to the building, prompting the American Red Cross to find temporary shelter for eight adults and five children living there.

"We have no idea when we will be able to accept the residents back," said Victor Solarte, AIDS Services facilities manager.

The apartment complex is part of the city's renovation program, funded through city loans and grants. About $238,000 was approved in January for the project.

Acquired immune deficiency syndrome is caused by a virus that attacks the body's immune system. The disease is most often transmitted through sexual contact, particularly between homosexual males.

Ingleside to fight plan to close naval station

INGLESIDE, Texas (AP) — Mayor Mark Crawford says Ingleside will fight to keep the U.S. Navy from closing Naval Station Ingleside before it ever goes into operation.

It was revealed Tuesday that Naval Station, under construction, is on a Navy list of bases being considered for closure or realignment.

"We've come so far now that I feel it is in the best interest of the military and government to finish it," said Ingleside Mayor Mark Crawford. "It's up to us to show them that. We will fight for it."

Another local official said closure of the base would be a "hard blow" to the local economy but would have less impact now than in a few years, after the facility was in operation.

The list of 34 facilities came to light during a congressional subcommittee hearing called by Rep. Charles E. Bennett, D-Fla., who last month labeled new homeports "an expensive folly."

Rep. Pat Schroeder, D-Colo., showed the three-page document to Navy officials defending the service's strategic homeporting program.

Citing the list, Schroeder asked the officials how the Pentagon "politically wants us to vote to open and close bases at the same time."

The list is an informal compilation, part of a review of all the Navy's shore stations due for completion this summer, Navy officials said.

Naval Station Ingleside is scheduled to open later this year, becoming fully operational in 1991 as home to 10 ships, including the battleship USS Wisconsin and the training aircraft carrier USS Lexington.

The list was no surprise to Tony Bonilla, chairman of the Corpus Christi Chamber of Commerce and the South Texas Joint Military Facilities Task Force.

Course rated No. 7 among Texas links

Western Texas College's par 35, 2754 yard, nine-hole golf course has been ranked by the Dallas Morning News as one of the state's best.

In Sunday's special section devoted entirely to Texas golf, the Dallas newspaper rates the WTC links as seventh.

Last year, in the same poll, WTC came out in 12th position. The Snyder course is the only course in West Texas in the top ten.

"It's a real honor for us to be seen that way," said WTC golf coach and athletic director Dave Foster.

"It's a compliment to our maintenance staff and greens superintendent, Bill Mitchell."

Western Texas is gearing up to host the final Western Junior College Athletic Conference tournament of the season in conjunction with the NJCAA Region V tourney Friday and Saturday.

Dallas inks Alcorn passer 'Air' McNair

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys Tuesday signed three rookie free agents, including Alcorn State quarterback Fred "Air" McNair, bringing the Cowboys roster to 88 players.

McNair, a 6-1, 220-pound quarterback from Alcorn State, finished fifth in NCAA Division I-AA in passing efficiency after completing 118 of 214 attempts for 1,898 yards. He led the Southwest Athletic Conference in total offense last year with 259.6 yards per game.

Also signed were Tom Huebner, a 6-6, 250-pound tight end from the University of Pittsburgh, and Jeb Willis, a 5-11, 190-pound placekicker from Kentucky.

Officials said McNair signed three one-year pacts, but terms of the contract weren't revealed. According to a news release issued by Alcorn State, McNair didn't know until two weeks before the NFL draft that he wouldn't be eligible to play one more season at Alcorn State.

"Had it been known, he may have been drafted instead of having to sign on as a free agent," the news release said.

Because he was academically ineligible to play in 1986 under the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Proposition 48, he only had three years in which to play — 1987, 1988 and 1989.

He had been listed as a freshman in 1987, when he should have been listed as a sophomore. The error was caught recently.

McNair was a receiver in 1987, leading the Alcorn State team in receptions with 32 catches.

He averaged 237.2 yards per game passing and also scored three touchdowns himself. He also caught two passes during the season.

NBA playoffs to commence Thursday

by The Associated Press
Charles Oakley will have to rebound from a broken left hand and get some rebounds against the Boston Celtics if the New York Knicks are going to have a chance to rebound from a 10-20 season-ending slump.

Oakley, the Knicks' leading rebounder with an 11.9 average, has been sidelined since March 20. The cast was removed on April 16 and he was cleared to practice for Thursday night's playoff opener at Boston.

The Knicks were 6-11 after Oakley's injury, which is clinically healed but susceptible to another fracture for a period of three months. Oakley was put on New York's postseason roster, but a decision about his playing status may not be made until game day.

"The fact is," Knicks coach Stu Jackson said, "he is playing under some risk and could injure the hand."

"I'm running well, and it was a good practice," said Oakley, who wore a soft cast for his first practice on Tuesday. "The hand is in really good shape."

"He went the full practice,"

Lady Tigers advance to state

Snyder girls finish 2nd to earn state berth

SAN ANGELO — Snyder's girls golf team is heading to the May 11 and 12 in Austin.

The Lady Tigers notched a second place finish after two rounds at Bentwood Country Club here in the Region I 4A golf tourney to earn the state berth.

"The girls played so well," said SHS coach Penny Perry.

"They really kept their composure and played their game."

"There was a question on the drops some of the girls had taken during the tournament," she said, "and it caused about an hour-and-a-half delay right at the end, but the girls were cool the whole time, and luckily the ruling was in our favor."

Snyder posted a two-day 745 on rounds of 370 and 375 to trail only District 4-4A nemesis Andrews in the final standings.

Andrews carded a 341 on the tournament's opening day, Monday, and improved to a 339 yesterday for a combined 680.

Besides advancing to the state gathering, Snyder placed a pair of golfers on the all-region team.

All-region honors went to the top ten individual scores in the event.

Snyder girls making the elite squad include Amy Armstrong who fired a 180 on scores of 92 and 88 and Jacy LaRoux, who shot twin 91s for a total of 182.

Andrews dominated the all-region selections with four picks including tournament medalist Lisa McQuatters, who shot a 160 on two rounds of 80, Jen Galloway with a 168 total tally, Nikki Martin's 175 and a 177 from April King.

Jean Hamrick of Belton, Brownwood's Gina Glen, Kristen Largin of Pampa and Joshua's Sherri Worlow round out the all-region team.

Hamrick ended with a 166 while her Belton team finished third with a 766 total. Pampa took fourth at the tournament including Largin's 180; and Worlow fired a 182.

Kim Duncan shot a 187 for the Lady Tigers on trips around the course of 88 and 99 followed by Wendy Miller's 108-97-205 and Stacie Cline's 99-111-210.

Team alternate is Amy Steakley.

The UIL Class 4A State Golf Tournament is scheduled for May 11 and 12 in Austin.

Team totals: 1. Andrews 341-339-680; 2. Snyder 370-375-745; 3. Belton 384-352-736; 4. Hereford 398-373-771; 5. Pampa 381-375-756; 6. Granbury 421-400-821; 7. Northwest 397-425-822; 8. Burkburnett 436-397-833; 9. Joshua 444-435-879; 10. Leander 476-449-925; 11. Cedar Hill 538-527-1065.

Medallists: 1. Lisa McQuatters, Andrews, 80-80-160; 2. Jean Hamrick, Belton, 82-84-166; 3. Jen Galloway, Andrews, 82-86-168; 4. Nikki Martin, Andrews, 80-85-175; 5. April King, Andrews, 89-88-177; 6. Gina Glen, Brownwood, 91-89-179; 7. Amy Armstrong, Snyder 92-85-180; 8. Kristen Largin, Pampa, 92-89-181; 9. Jacy LaRoux, Snyder, 91-91-182; 10. Sherri Worlow, Joshua, 93-89-182.

Snyder scores: Amy Armstrong, 92-85-180; Jacy LaRoux, 91-91-182; Kim Duncan, 88-99-187; Wendy Miller, 108-97-205; Stacie Cline, 99-111-210.

Andrews scores: Lisa McQuatters, 80-80-160; Jen Galloway, 82-86-168; April King, 89-88-177; Nikki Martin, 90-85-175; Robin Martin, 99-90-189.

HRs ignite Texas ninth

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — On most nights, the Texas Rangers wouldn't count on sure-handed shortstop Ozzie Guillen allowing a ball to scoot through his legs, or on relief ace Bobby Thigpen grooving a fastball.

The Rangers happily accepted both gifts Tuesday night, putting together a five-run ninth for a 5-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

"That happened quick," said Rangers manager Bobby Valentine. "Bang, bang, and it was over."

After being handcuffed on just two hits the first eight innings, the Rangers struck for a double and a pair of 2-run homers in the ninth.

Most of the fans had exited Arlington Stadium two innings earlier. The few who remained witnessed a remarkable comeback. Tuesday marked the third time since last May that the Rangers rallied to win after trailing by four runs going into the ninth.

"Hitting's contagious," Incaviglia said. "I can go up there and win the game in one at-bat. I like situations like that."

Mired in a 2-for-13 slump with six strikeouts, Incaviglia said he tried to clear his mind of doubts as he came to the plate with the game on the line.

Incaviglia lined Thigpen's first pitch off the top of the left-center field wall for a two-run homer.

Jackson said. "His timing is a little off and sometimes he forgets there's a splint on his hand, but by and large we're going to get more rebounds with him than without him."

"I can't think about pain," Oakley said. "They said I might (re-break the bone). Well, that's life."

Other playoff openers Thursday night have Indiana at Detroit and Cleveland at Philadelphia in the East, and Denver at San Antonio and Dallas at Portland in the West. Friday's openers have Houston at the Los Angeles Lakers and Phoenix at Utah in the West and Milwaukee at Chicago in the East.

The Celtics won four of five games against New York during the regular season, and got outstanding play from third-year guard Reggie Lewis.

Lewis plays in the shadow of Larry Bird, Kevin McHale and Robert Parish, but he averaged 23.8 points against the Knicks, including a season-high 34 on April 15.

"The Knicks left me open a lot the last time we played them," Lewis said Tuesday. "I was making sure I took the shots that were there, and the shots were falling. I don't know if their defense will change, but if they do force me to beat them again, then I'm going to try and make sure I continue to do the same things."

Utah lost eight of its final 13 games to fall out of first place in the Midwest Division behind San Antonio. Phoenix, which finished 54-28 after a 7-10 start, righted itself in the middle of the season, winning 19 consecutive home games at one stretch, then fell out of Pacific Division contention behind the Lakers, who won 63 games.

said the Suns were better this year than last, despite winning one less game.

"We won 19 in a row at home to set an all-time club record and 22 road wins for another record," Fitzsimmons said. "This is a better team. We couldn't have won the 54 if they weren't a better team."

A hamstring injury to All-Star guard Kevin Johnson hurt the Suns early, and injuries to Jeff Hornacek and Dan Majerle hampered Phoenix at the end of the season.

"Last year, we finished the regular season and there were people all over the place when we got off the plane. There wasn't anybody there this year," center Mark West said. "It's almost like we've spoiled the community. Maybe people think, 'They only won 54 games instead of 55.

Maybe they're not as good.' I think we're better than last year, considering all the things that happened."

"It's just a matter of getting back in sync," Johnson said. "We didn't have any injuries last year. This year, we have. But it seems like everybody's panicking slightly."

Johnson averaged 33.3 points in three games against Utah and was out with injuries during Phoenix's only loss to the Jazz.

Utah and Phoenix have met in the playoffs only once before, in the 1984 conference semifinals. The Suns won that seven-game series 4-2 despite the Jazz having the homecourt advantage.

Utah lost three of four games to the Suns this season, and the Jazz haven't won at Phoenix since 1986.

Thinclads set for meet

SHS regional qualifiers preparing for meet

Snyder High School track programs will send six qualifiers, two boys and four girls, to Friday's and Saturday's Class 4A Region I track meet slated for Angelo State University's football stadium in San Angelo.

Senior pole vaulter Charlie Guynes and junior high jump specialist Ed Rios are the SHS boys who qualified at the District 4-4A meet two weeks ago to represent Snyder at regionals.

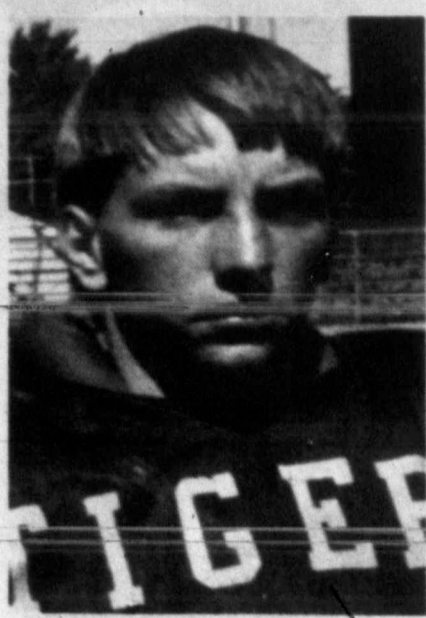

The quartet of girls include triple-jumper Liz Greathouse, a senior, 100 meter low hurdler sophomore Schanekka Thompson, Katina Brandon a qualifier in both the discus throw and shot put and first place discus thrower Vinnie Clay.

According to Guynes the regional pole vault event should be a contest between himself and Joshua's Mike McCarroll.

"He's cleared 15-0 this season," Guynes reported, "but it'll probably take at least 15-6 to get to state."

Guynes set a new meet record and personal best in the loop meet with a 15-6 effort.

This will be Guynes' third consecutive qualifying for the regional gathering.

CHARLIE GUYNES

As a sophomore he broke his left ankle just a few days prior to the meet and then he sprained the same ankle in 1989, practicing for his appearance.

Does the pole vaulter have a particular goal for his event?

"I want 16-0 real bad," he said.

Clay has been leading the district among the girls' discus throw participants all season and stretched to a personal best 129-2 at the San Angelo meet.

"I think I've got a pretty good shot at state," said Clay.

"I'm shooting for a 135-0 at regionals."

Brandon will be chasing teammate Clay in the event.

Brandon's 122-4 season-best distance ranks in the area's top five and was good enough to send her to the San Angelo gathering.

As a shot putter, Brandon claims her fiercest challenge will come from a District 4-4A foe.

"Vanessa Mitchell from Monahans is definitely who I'll be chasing," she said.

"She's been my competition all year long."

Brandon boasts a 37-7/4 best, ranking just 1/2 inch behind Mitchell's loop meet distance of 37-7/4.

"It could take a 40-0 shot put to win the event," Brandon predicted.

Ed Rios is very focused on his prime challenger.

"No doubt, it's Kevin Dumas from Lake View," the SHS junior said.

Dumas was the winner of the event in San Angelo two weeks ago with his 6-6 mark, a mark that Rios hit earlier in the season at Snyder's Canyon Reef Relays.

"I've seen a lot of 6-2's and 6-4's on paper from the guys that are going (to regionals)," said Rios, "and I'm sure they have seen my 6-4, but I know that since I can do better than that there is a pretty good chance that all of them could possibly do better, too."

"I want a 6-8," he said of his personal goal at the meet, "and it'll probably take that to win it."

Thompson, a first time qualifier with her 16.9 personal best in the hurdles in San Angelo, sees her biggest threat from Levelland speedster Amie Frescaz.

"She's beat me twice this year," said Thompson.

"I'm gonna get her this time."

Asked what it would take to win and Thompson, prompted by teammates replied, "I'll have to lean."

Seriously, she feels she will need a solid 15.0 to do well in the event.

Greathouse also faces some tough competition from Levelland.

"Twyllana Harrison has been good all season," the SHS senior reported.

Greathouse scooted into the regional meet with a 33-1/2 effort in San Angelo that placed her second behind Andrews' Christia Rodgers' 37-9/4.

The Snyder triple-jumper sports a personal-best of 33-11 in her chosen event but feels she'll need much better to show well at ASU.

"Probably a 40 will win it. I'd like to improve to a 35 jump and do well."

Greathouse is making her second appearance at the Region 1 meet. She was listed as District 4-4A alternate last year and saw action when Sweetwater's Nicki Heath was injured.

How did she do last year?

"I didn't make the finals," she laughed.

The top two finishers in each event will advance to the Class 4-A state meet in Austin May 11-12.

Through 1989, 11 players from the Big Spring (Texas) High School had played pro football

Tigers victimize Lake View in 11-3 district baseball tilt

SAN ANGELO — Tiger pitcher Willie Garcia went the distance as Snyder pounded out an 11-3 win over the Lake View Chiefs in District 4-4A baseball action yesterday here.

"Willie was very consistent," said coach Albert Lewis.

"He threw strikes and was around the plate all night long."

Garcia walked just three Chiefs on the night while striking out four.

The Snyder senior is 2-1 on the campaign.

The Tigers exploded for 10 base hits in the game including two hit performances by Randy Morris, John Wright and Jason West.

Lake View broke out on top when lead-off batter Art Elkins was walked by Garcia and moved around on a ground out by catcher Richard Torres, a single by third baseman Cory Stephens and an infield grounder from second baseman Josh Watson.

The Tigers tied the score in the top of the second inning when West touched home after reaching on an error and scooted around the bases on a Jamey Morton base hit and a fielder's choice from catcher Blair Williams.

Snyder came up with two more in the top of the third stanza.

Garcia led off the inning with a

Houston falls to Expos, 5-3

HOUSTON (AP) — Montreal's Tim Wallach was an instant analyst after the Expos' victory over the Houston Astros.

The analysis came after the Expos stole five bases Tuesday night enroute to a 5-3 victory over the Astros.

"The speed had a lot to do with our success tonight," Wallach said. "It's how we put pressure on pitchers and force them to make mistakes."

Montreal manager Buck Rodgers says the stolen bases are becoming Montreal's "style."

"I didn't know what to expect," said Rodgers. "I didn't know how these kids would react but they've reacted very well. (Delino) DeShields isn't getting great jumps. He's just stealing on speed. But (Larry) Walker and (Marquis) Grissom are getting great jumps."

Walker has 6 stolen bases without being thrown out this season and Grissom trails him by one stolen base and hasn't been thrown out.

In Tuesday's game four of the five base stealers eventually scored.

Wallach drove in base stealers Grissom and Tim Raines with a three-run home run in the first inning off Houston loser Mike Scott, 0-2.

"Scott threw the ball much better from the second inning on," Wallach said.

double to left field followed by a single from Morris and a sacrifice fly from designated hitter Chad Fox, who wound up the game with three RBIs, that scored Garcia.

Morris came in on a single to left from West to put Snyder on top 3-1.

Snyder poured on four more runs in the top of the fourth as the top of the order, Toby Goodwin, Garcia and Morris, were put aboard by Lake View pitcher Israel Reyes, who took the loss, on consecutive walks.

The trio, along with Williams, each scored as Fox, Wright and West contributed singles to put the Tigers comfortably in the lead, 7-1.

Lake View's Watson brothers, Josh and Lee, both sophomores, combined for a run in the bottom of the fourth as Josh blasted a double and was driven in by Lee's single to narrow the gap, somewhat.

Snyder added two runs in the fifth and one each in the sixth and seventh to ice the win.

The Tigers move to 14-6 on the season and 6-3 in loop competition with Tuesday's win while Lake View remains in the district cellar at 3-17 and 2-7.

In other loop action last night, Monahans upset second place Pecos, 4-3, leaving Snyder just a half game back of the Eagles in the race for second place, Andrews edged Ft. Stockton, 7-6, to maintain a hold on the top spot in the standings and Big Spring blew out Sweetwater 16-6.

The Tigers' next outing is tentatively scheduled for Thursday at 7 p.m. as SHS and Andrews attempt, once more, to get in their second meeting of the season.

The two teams were originally slated to meet last Friday but the game had to be rescheduled for Monday because of wet field conditions.

Monday night's storm hit right at game time forcing another delay in the meeting.

If Moffett Field is still not playable tomorrow, Andrews will visit Snyder at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, following a day game pitting the Mustangs of Andrews against Sweetwater.

Jamey Morton will, take the mound against Andrews while the Mustangs send ace Jesse Armendariz to the hill.

'Too Tall' won't return

DALLAS (AP) — Defensive end Ed "Too Tall" Jones says he won't return to the Dallas Cowboys for a 16th season because he no longer fits the rebuilding Dallas system that has placed an emphasis on youth.

Jones, 39, said Tuesday he may consider offers from other National Football League teams, but also hinted at possible retirement.

Astronauts deploying $1.5 billion telescope

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Discovery's astronauts used a robotic arm today to slowly lift the $1.5 billion Hubble Space Telescope high above the shuttle, preparing to release it to peer into far space for clues to creation.

Cameras aboard Discovery showed the telescope being held high above the shuttle at the end of a 50-foot crane, reflecting sunlight from its silver surface and a turning Earth in the background. The hourlong process of deploying the telescope's solar panels began in midmorning, part of a six-hour checkout period.

Release of the telescope was scheduled for 1:57 p.m. EDT.

"Precisely one day after lifting off from Launch Pad 39B at Kennedy Space Center, the Hubble Space Telescope is ready to fly on its own," Mission Control's Jeffrey Carr said. "The game has begun. The race is on. The clock is ticking."

Once it was out of the cargo bay, the telescope was operating on its own batteries, which had a life of up to eight hours. Astronauts Bruce McCandless and Kathryn Sullivan were ready to leave the safety of the cabin in spacesuits to pull the telescope's two electricity-producing solar arrays out manually if there was a problem.

In the first of several maneuvers today, mission specialist Steve Hawley carefully guided the mechanical arm and latched onto the 12½-ton telescope.

He then released the latches holding Hubble in place in the payload bay. The telescope was disconnected from the shuttle's electrical system, and the instrument began operating on batteries.

Earlier this morning, Discovery commander Loren J. Shriver maneuvered the shuttle into its deployment position, with its nose pointed toward the sun. That was to put the telescope's solar arrays, once unfurled, at the proper angle to quickly start collecting energy and protect the telescope's fixed star trackers while the instrument was being held above the payload bay.

Discovery is in orbit 380 miles above Earth, 70 miles higher than any previous shuttle. The orbit was dictated by the need to put the telescope above the Earth's distorting atmosphere.

"For those technically inclined this morning, I'd like to pass on the quote of the day from the on-board astronomer (Hawley), something to the effect that the big marble sure looks far away today," Shriver said.

The five astronauts' busy day began on a musical note early this morning as Mission Control played a song called "Space is Our World," written by members of Discovery's training team and a Houston-area group, Private Numbers.

Controllers monitoring the telescope at Goddard Space Flight Center in Maryland said Tuesday that no problems had been detected so far aboard Hubble, the most expensive and complex unmanned spacecraft ever built.

"Everything has just being going like clockwork," said Ron Schlagheck, shift director of orbital verifications at Goddard. "Everybody is in excellent spirits."

The Hubble telescope, delayed by technical problems and the 1986 Challenger accident, has waited seven years to take its place in space. It finally got a ride into orbit Tuesday morning aboard Discovery.

Mousawi objects to 2nd hostage release

BAALBEK, Lebanon (AP) — A Shiite Moslem leader today accused the United States of responding to the release of an American hostage with ill will and urged pro-Iranian Shiite Moslem militants to continue holding their captives.

Hussein Mousawi, who played a key role in Robert Polhill's release Sunday, complained that a U.S. House of Representatives resolution Tuesday endorsing a united Jerusalem as Israel's capital complicated efforts to release another American hostage.

"The Moslems in Lebanon offered a rose only to get a stone thrown on them," Mousawi told group of visiting Western journalists, including The Associated Press.

He said the United States intentions were demonstrated by the congressional resolution, which is non-binding. Mousawi said the hostage-holders have been repeatedly urged to prove goodwill by freeing a captive.

"So they did and released

Polhill," he said. "But upon that release we heard the news of the House of Representatives resolution on Jerusalem. If every release will be matched by such a monumental ill-intentioned American response, why then should any hostage be freed?"

Meanwhile, the leader of an Israeli-backed militia in southern Lebanon canceled plans for a holiday prisoner release because of publicity linking such a move to Western hostages, sources said Tuesday.

In Beirut, an independent newspaper said Shiite Moslem fundamentalist groups in Lebanon will not release any more U.S. hostages until Arab prisoners in Israel have been freed.

Sunday's release of Polhill, 55, that could conceivably support life.

The 24,250-pound telescope is 43 feet long and 14 feet in diameter, about the size of a railroad tank car. When it is in orbit, it will receive electrical power for its six scientific instruments from two winglike solar arrays.

It is named for the late astronomer Edwin P. Hubble, whose discovery during the 1920s that the universe is expanding gave rise to the Big Bang theory.

of New York, after 39 months in captivity raised hopes that another Western hostage could be freed.

But the An-Nahar newspaper said Tuesday that the Shiite Moslem militants holding 17 Westerners, including seven Americans, also expect the release of 15 radicals from a Kuwaiti prison before they free more captives.

And Israel radio said Shiites in southern Lebanon were "embittered" by a refusal by the South Lebanon Army to release some of the 300 mostly Shiite Moslems it holds in the al-Khaim jail just north of the Israel border.

Antoine Lahad, a retired Lebanese army general who heads the 2,500-member South Lebanon Army, refused to act on amnesty requests from the prisoners' families. He had allowed holiday releases for the past two years.

"There will not be a prisoner release for the Id al-Fitr," one source said, referring to the Moslem holiday marking the end of the monthlong Ramadan feast. It is expected to start Thursday.

The South Lebanon Army said on Tuesday that four Lebanese had been freed after being investigated on suspicion of belonging to a terror group. Sources close to the army said the release took place last week and was unrelated to the holiday or the release of Polhill.

South Lebanon Army sources had said earlier that they expected Lahad to free 10 or 11 prisoners for the holiday, and a report in London suggested more than 30 would be allowed to go home.

Iran had demanded goodwill gestures such as the release of Arab prisoners held by Israel and its militia ally as a way to encourage further hostage releases. Israel holds about 9,200 Palestinians in connection with the 28-month-old uprising against Israeli occupation.

One source said Lahad's decision not to release prisoners was affected by publicity suggesting the move would be a concession to the pro-Iranian Hezbollah, which is believed to be linked to groups holding hostages in Lebanon.

Plainview officer critical after shooting incident

PLAINVIEW, Texas (AP) — A police officer was hospitalized in critical condition today and five suspects were held in connection with his shooting, which occurred after their car was stopped and then chased from this Panhandle city.

Gilbert Garcia was shot in the middle of his back Tuesday after he chased the vehicle to a rural dirt road about seven miles west of Plainview, where it crashed.

The juvenile suspects were booked into the Hale County jail, where charges were pending, said Police Chief Roy L. Osborne.

The 42-year-old Garcia had stopped the suspects' vehicle at about 3 p.m. after an advisory had been issued for one of them by juvenile authorities.

"The juvenile authorities had an 'attempt to locate' advisory on one of the people in the car," Osborne said. "The officer recognized him and attempted to stop him, and that's when a pursuit ensued."

He said details of the shooting were still sketchy, but it occurred when Garcia, who was patrolling alone, emerged from his squad car at the wreck scene.

The officer did not fire his gun, the chief said. He said a weapon was recovered from the suspects.

Emergency medical technicians gave Garcia cardiopulmonary resuscitation and took him to Central Plains Regional Hospital in Plainview. He was later transferred to the intensive care unit at St. Mary's of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock, said Marnette Winner, a nursing supervisor.

Osborne said four suspects were apprehended near the scene. Officers from the Texas Department of Public Safety and sheriff's office, using planes, found the fifth suspect in a field west of the city limits, he said.

The police chief said it was the first shooting of a Plainview officer since 1962.

Plainview is located about 50 miles north of Lubbock.

Court reinstates Port's conviction

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today said David Port's confession in the 1984 slaying of Houston postal carrier Debra Sue Schatz was proper evidence, returning his case to a lower court to consider other issues on which he appealed his murder conviction.

The ruling will reinstate Port's conviction pending the review of those issues by the 3rd Court of Appeals in Austin, said Tim Taft, assistant district attorney in the case.

The 3rd Court of Appeals in Austin had thrown out Port's conviction, ruling that his oral confession shouldn't have been admitted as evidence. But the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals said in a 7-2 decision that Port's statements could be used.

Port, who has been free on $20,000 appeal bond since the 3rd Court ruling, has 15 days to ask the Court of Criminal Appeals to reconsider its decision, Taft said.

"Once it does become final, the state will be filing some sort of paperwork to get him back into the penitentiary where he belongs," Taft said.

A Comal County jury convicted Port in the slaying of Ms. Schatz, who was shot in June 1984 after she had stopped at Port's Houston home on her mail route.

Her body was found two days after the killing in a remote area of northwest Harris County. She had been shot twice in the head with a .22-caliber pistol.

Port, who was 17 at the time of the killing, was sentenced to 75 years in prison.

Defense attorney Jack Zimmerman has said he believes Port confessed to a crime he did not commit because police intimidated him. Zimmerman did not immediately return a telephone call today from The Associated Press.

Shoplifting reported at C.R. Anthony's

Two black females were stopped in Post shortly after noon Tuesday following an alleged shoplifting incident at C.R. Anthony's on College Ave. in Snyder.

Store officials reported the incident and said the subjects were last seen driving north. Officers in Post stopped the suspects' vehicle about 12:23 p.m.

Officers were also called to the 300 block of 31st Street to investigate a reported assault. The victim, however, declined to press charges.

At 5:21 p.m., police were called to the 2001 block of Ave. L where a fight involving three males was said to be in progress.

At 12:02 a.m. Wednesday, officers were called to investigate a family disturbance in the 3200 Block of Ave. H.

Two-car mishap occurs Tuesday

Snyder police investigated a two-car collision about 7:45 p.m. Tuesday in the 200 block of 37th St.

A 1974 Ford driven by Robert Medrano of 420 32nd was in collision with a 1989 Ford driven by Tammy Hudson of Rt. 1, Snyder. A passenger in the Hudson vehicle declined medical treatment. Damage to vehicles was moderate.

Firemen called to laundry room

Units of the Snyder fire department were dispatched to a laundry room fire at the Park Village Apartments on College Ave. about 9:38 p.m. Tuesday.

Units worked about five minutes, and cause of the blaze has not been officially determined. However, it appeared that lint behind one of the dryers had ignited and that fire ignited a nearby trash can. Damage was moderate.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 43-year-old male commercial pilot. I'm 25 pounds overweight but haven't smoked in five years. Two years ago, I experienced numbness and pain in my chest. A stress test, 24-hour Holter monitor and heart catheterization were normal. Yearly flight physicals are normal, yet the pains still persist. Should I take the inquiry further and risk my career? Is it safe and advisable to resume a physical-conditioning program after a hiatus of two years?

DEAR READER: A normal stress test and heart catheterization, during which the doctors investigated the circulation to your heart muscle, mean — in all likelihood — your heart is normal. However, I am uncomfortable that the cause of your chest pain and numbness remains elusive. In my opinion, you should bring the symptoms to your doctor's attention and continue the investigation.

As a medical examiner for the Federal Aviation Administration, I am well aware of pilots' concerns about health issues. Commercial pilots, whose livelihoods depend on continuing certification, are often understandably reluctant to volunteer information which, although inconsequential, may be used by the FAA to ground them. Nonetheless, you have an obligation to follow up your symptoms until a cause is found.

For example, your abilities in the cockpit may be affected by your chest discomfort; this could jeopardize the lives of innocent passengers. Also, your health is more important than your pilot's certificate.

It's likely your symptoms are caused by a relatively minor condition, such as muscle strain or chest wall syndrome, a poorly understood ailment due to inflammation of tissues between and around your ribs. If so, medication may help relieve your pain. This should not affect your commercial pilot's status, especially since the FAA is quite willing to grant waivers in special cases where health problems are not hazardous.

If, on the other hand, you have an unusual heart or lung disorder, you mustn't deprive yourself of appropriate treatment.

Since you will, I hope, be placing yourself under the care of a competent diagnostician (internist), you should also ask the doctor about the best way to begin a program of physical conditioning. Ordinarily, a normal stress test is sufficient screening for a man your age. However, until you have discovered the cause of your chest pain, I advise you to avoid pushing yourself too hard.

To give you additional information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Eating Right for a Healthy Heart." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Senate committee oks appointments

AUSTIN (AP) — All six members of the new Texas Workers' Compensation Commission have been approved by a Senate committee, with one senator telling them the future of Texas' economy could depend on their actions.

The commissioners, divided equally between employers and wage earners, were appointed by Gov. Bill Clements.

The Nominations Committee unanimously Tuesday forwarded to the Senate the nominations of Ramon Glass, Randall County; Jack Garey, Travis; Joe Hanson, Collin; Edward Hayse Jr., Tarrant; O.D. Kennemore, Brazoria; and Dewey Mark, Bexar, were cleared Tuesday by the Nominations Committee, 5-0.

"What you're doing is probably the most critical thing that's going to be done in state government in the next few years," Sen. Bob Glasgow said.

"What you do is going to affect every businessman and woman in Texas," said Glasgow, D-Stephenville. "What you do affects every worker in Texas."

"And whether you know it or not, what you do is going to affect the economic future of Texas — whether businesses are going to stay here or whether they're going to leave, whether they prosper here or whether they do not."

Eric West will attend seminar

Amarillo will host the annual Texas Panhandle Hugh O'Brian Youth Leadership Seminar Friday through Sunday at the Camelot Inn. The seminar is held for outstanding sophomore students.

Representing Snyder High School is Eric West.

The seminar will be conducted in 84 locations across the United States with the purpose of bringing a select group of students together with groups of distinguished leaders in business, government, education, and the professions so they can discuss present and future issues, using an informal question and answer session.

The specific goals are to: seek out and reward leadership potential in high school sophomores; encourage and assist students in their quest for self-development and self-identification; introduce potential leaders to recognized leaders of today through give-and-take discussions on a variety of current and critical topics; and provide through this exposure the opportunity to explore America's incentive system and our democratic process.

Seven seminar sessions will be conducted with a panel of speakers with evening management games and talent show.

workers' comp insurance package that was enacted by the Legislature in December.

"You can talk about economic development all you want. If we don't get comp under control, there's not going to be any economic development," Glasgow said.

Austin man turns up alive after nearly three months

AUSTIN (AP) — Family and friends of a Unitarian minister who was found in Washington state with apparent amnesia say they never gave up hope that he was alive, even when his disappearance stretched for almost three months.

Nanette Sechler, administrator of the First Unitarian Church where Scheyer ministered for six months, said Tuesday the congregation is "delighted" that the Rev. J. David Scheyer is safe.

Scheyer, 61, reportedly has no recollection of being a minister and no memory of anything up to last week.

Scheyer disappeared from Austin on Feb. 2 without a trace. His pickup truck was located in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., a week later, but there was still no sign of him until Tuesday, when Ft. Lauderdale police called Austin police to say Scheyer was staying with a brother in Redmond, Wash.

"Apparently what happened was, David Scheyer sometime last week was in Phoenix, Arizona," Austin police spokeswoman Gail Phillips said. "He heard someone mention the

Umpire charged with stealing

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Baseball umpire Bob Engel has been charged with stealing 4,180 baseball cards from a store.

Engel, 56, was released on $5,000 bail Saturday for arraignment May 2 on misdemeanor counts of commercial burglary and petty theft, police said Tuesday.

A store security guard told police Engel put seven boxes of cards valued at $144 into a brown paper bag he pulled from the waistband of his pants.

Police said Engel told them he took the cards to collect and trade.

Hoyt Axton files for divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Country singer and actor Hoyt Axton has filed for divorce from his wife of 10 years.

Axton, 52, and his wife, Donna, separated Jan. 7.

Monday's filing indicated there was a premarital agreement that would give custody of their 7-year-old son, Matthew Christopher, to Mrs. Axton.

The Nominations Committee also approved the appointment of J.L. Huffines, father of Gov. Clements' appointments secretary, to the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

James Huffines attended the meeting of the committee, which sent his father's appointment to the Senate on a 6-0 vote.

Glasgow described the MHMR agency as an "endless pit which we put money in," and added, "I am convinced that this appointment is the type of appointment we need on that agency."

"Mr. Huffines is a businessman with a lot of business sense," he said.

Huffines, of Lewisville, said, "I certainly hope to bring a business approach to it."

Huffines, 66, was appointed by Clements to replace Mike Moncrief of Fort Worth, who resigned. His term extends to Jan. 31, 1995.

Delayed divorce meant $550,000 windfall

PHOENIX (AP) — A woman unlucky in love found good fortune in divorce when a paperwork error delayed her marital split long enough for her husband to win the lottery.

On Tuesday, a state appeals court upheld a judge's ruling cutting Bonita Lynch in for $550,000 of her ex-husband's winnings.

"Fortune favored husband with a jackpot, but, because his marriage had not ended, fortune dealt his wife a share," Judge Noel Fidel wrote for the three-judge appeals panel. "Though the lottery was a windfall, spouses marry for better or for worse and share no less in windfalls than in labor's wages."

Ms. Lynch had been living apart from her husband, Michael, for about two years when she testified at an uncontested divorce hearing on Feb. 10, 1987 that their marriage was irretrievably broken.

She should have gotten her divorce that day, but her lawyers had given her husband the wrong date for the hearing, forcing a delay.

The matter still wasn't final 11 days later when her husband won $2.2 million in the state lottery.

Lynch, a computer expert, had bought the ticket with Donna Williams, a girlfriend he married after the divorce became final. He died last Oct. 30, but his widow fought on behalf of his estate to keep his first wife from taking a cut.

Under Tuesday's ruling, Lynch's widow gets to keep half the $2.2 million jackpot because half the ticket was hers to begin with. The remaining $1.1 million will be split evenly between Lynch's first wife and his estate.

"In Arizona, it ain't over till it's over," said Bonita Lynch's attorney, Kenneth J. Love, borrowing from Yogi Berra. Love said Ms. Lynch had no comment on the ruling and did not want any details about her released.

J. Douglas McVay, a lawyer for Lynch's widow, said no decision has been made on an appeal.

A call to a Phoenix-area listing for Donna Lynch was not immediately returned Tuesday.

Michael and Bonita Lynch married in 1968 and separated in 1985. He began living with Donna Williams in 1986. Bonita Lynch filed for divorce the same year. After Lynch won the lottery, she filed for a share of the winnings.

Superior Court Judge Rufus Coulter awarded her a share on the grounds all assets acquired during a marriage are community property.

Lynch appealed, saying that his "will to union" with his first wife had ended by Feb. 10 and that it was her lawyers who made the mistake.

The appeals panel rejected the arguments, saying that the paperwork errors were unintentional.

National insect: it's butterflies vs. honeybees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capitol Hill is aflutter and abuzz with lobbying campaigns by friends of the monarch butterfly and the honeybee.

Advocates of each critter say the United States is long past due for a national insect. There is a national bird, the bald eagle, so let's have a national bug, they say.

So far, the House and Senate have not been pushed into deciding. But the Entomological Society of America, which observed its 100th year in 1989, is working on behalf of the monarch butterfly.

Rep. Leon Panetta, D-Calif., has introduced a butterfly bill in the House and has added 16 co-sponsors. But Rep. Stephen L. Neal, D-N.C., has a honeybee measure waiting that has 38 co-sponsors.

In the Senate, no champion of the butterfly has stepped forth, says Douglas W.S. Sutherland, chairman of the society's national insect subcommittee.

"We're looking, but so far we haven't had any luck," Sutherland said Tuesday.

Sen. Larry Pressler, R-S.D., has a honeybee bill and a number of cosponsors. Pressler and others point to the honeybee's valuable contributions to agriculture as a crop pollinator as well as a provider of honey.

That's the story in the House, too, where John Taylor, an aide to Neal, said their bill would recognize the importance of beekeepers and bees as "an integral part" of U.S. agriculture.

"I think the strength of our (bill) is that the bee is such a big part of agriculture," Taylor said. "The bee pollinates the food that you and I eat."

According to the Agriculture Department, U.S. honeybees produce about 250 million pounds of honey and unintentionally pollinate more than 90 cultivated crops with a combined annual value of billions of dollars.

Sutherland, an entomologist for the Environmental Protection Agency, said Tuesday that he recognized the honeybee's important role in agriculture but thinks the monarch deserves the national title.

The society's membership of about 2,000 voted on which insect to support, and the familiar orange-and-black monarch came out on top, followed by the tiger swallow-tail butterfly, a large yellow species.

Sutherland said the convergent lady beetle was third among the society's members, and the honeybee was fourth. Overall, he said, the two butterflies received more than 70 percent of the vote.

The monarch's appeal partly stems from its wide range over the United States, he said. The swallow-tail, on the other hand, is not found in all states.

Sutherland said the monarch is a benign, native American creature that feeds on milkweed and harms no one. Eastern varieties migrate to an area in the mountains southwest of Mexico City, while the western monarchs flock to the California coast, he said.

Should prices be cut on repossessed properties?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Savings and loan bailout officials disagree over whether to offer price discounts to speed the sale of repossessed real estate.

Comptroller of the Currency Robert Clarke, who regulates nationally chartered banks, warned of the consequences that discounts could have for struggling S&Ls and banks operating in fragile real estate markets.

However, L. William Seidman, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., pointed to the potential escalation of taxpayer costs if property sales are delayed.

The board of the Resolution Trust Corp. on Tuesday postponed action on the issue for two weeks after the two officials voiced their disagreements. It had been set to consider a plan that would have allowed the agency to sell properties as much as 20 percent to 30 percent below their appraised value.

Seidman is chairman of the RTC board, which is conducting the cleanup of failed S&Ls, and Clarke is a member.

"I think we have to be awfully careful," Clarke said. "We have a number of (solvent) institutions out in the marketplace holding an awful lot of property ... that we'd like to keep out of the RTC. I'm not sure we know as much about the broader consequences ... as we should."

The agency's current policy is to sell no property in six distressed states — Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Colorado, New Mexico and Arkansas — for less than 95 percent of its appraised value. It is intended to prevent properties from being "dumped," sending depressed properties even lower.

However, agency officials are having difficulty attracting bids close to the appraised price and want to offer a reduced price without a costly and time-consuming second appraisal.

Also, in some areas of the country, qualified appraisers are hard to find because RTC ethics rules preclude hiring anyone implicated in an S&L failure.

Seidman, while agreeing to the two-week delay, said, "We are sitting here with billions of dollars of property which is costing us huge amounts of money as long as we keep it."

"We've got to convince bidders they can get a bargain from us. ... Otherwise, we won't have any customers," he said. "... The first citizen volunteering to buy out of patriotic motives has yet to come forward."

The policy under consideration would permit the RTC to sell property for 85 percent of appraised value after it had gone unsold for six months, or four months in the case of single-family homes. It would allow an additional 5 percent cut after three more months.

The plan also would allow the agency to sell properties at well-advertised auctions for as little as 70 percent of appraised value or, in the case of properties appraised at less than $100,000, for the highest bid regardless of the appraisal.

The proposal drew praise from analysts who complain real estate sales so far have been too slow. They said that after the changes the agency would still comply with last summer's S&L bailout law, which requires properties in distressed areas be sold at 95 percent of "market value" rather than appraised value.

"Market value is not what an appraisal says it is. It's what a buyer is willing to pay," said Robert Litan of the Brookings Institution, a Washington research organization. "As long as you have a sufficient number of bidders, that is the market price."

Joseph E. Robert Jr., chairman of J.E. Robert Companies, an Alexandria, Va., real estate management firm, said he doubted prices would be further depressed by quicker sales.
