Commissioners

A proposal to increase user fees at Scurry County Coliseum will be considered at the 10 a.m. meeting Monday of the Scurry County commissioners court.

The court will also discuss with Sheriff Keith Collier a grant for probation work detail. Also on the agenda is a request from County Auditor Linda Franklin to make transfers from the contingency fund to the departmental fund.

Other agenda items are the county treasurer's quarterly report and payment of routine bills.

Cancer packets

American Cancer Society packets should be turned in by Monday to neighborhood captains, a society spokesperson said.

Anyone needing more information may call Karon Keller at 573-7525.

Night court

Municipal court night session will be held May 1 beginning at 6:30 p.m. in City Hall.

Anyone wishing to appear at the session should contact the municipal court clerk at 573-4958.

Exit TEAMS

Retakes for the exit-level TEAMS tests are scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, May 1-2.

Students should contact high school counselors Janet Wesson or John Short for more information. Satisfactory performance on the exit TEAMS is required before a student may receive a diploma.

New number

The new telephone number at the Scurry County Mental Health Center is 573-4947. Stuart Rayner, new director, said the change was made in order to provide better service to clients. With the change in number, which went into effect Friday, Rayner said they have added a second line which will allow calls to the facility to "roll over" to another line when the first line is busy.

Weather

Snyder Temperatures: High Friday, 77 degrees; low, 49 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Saturday, 50 degrees; no precipitation; total precipitation for 1990 to date, 10.35 inches.

Snyder Area Forecast: Tonight, fair. Low near 60. Southwest wind 10 to 20 mph and gusty. Sunday, mostly sunny and very warm. High in the mid 90s. Southwest wind 15 to 25 mph requiring a lake wind advisory.

Charges filed following death of local woman

Charges of involuntary manslaughter were filed Friday afternoon against 31-year-old Terry L. Burns, the driver of a truck involved in an April 17 fatal crash nine miles north of Snyder.

Burns, who has been held in Scurry County jail since the mishap on warrants from Dallas County, appeared before Peace Justice Dan Callaway about 5 p.m. Friday, and Callaway set bond at $25,000.

Charges were filed by District

Attorney Ernie B. Armstrong following the DA's review of the accident investigation by Department of Public Safety patrolman Rick Campos.

Last week, Armstrong said the preliminary accident report indicated that the mishap should be considered by a Scurry County grand jury when it convenes on May 7.

The complaint alleges that Burns, while operating a truck tractor and semi-trailer "recklessly caused the death of Kelly Ann Bloom...by the defendant's disregard for a traffic control stop sign."

Mrs. Bloom—the driver of a pickup in which her three-year-old son, Tanner, was a passenger—suffered massive head injuries and died the following day in Lubbock's St. Mary of the Plains Hospital.

Mrs. Bloom was first taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital and later transferred to the Lubbock

Snyder man files suit against judge

A Snyder man has filed a writ of mandamus suit against 132nd District Court Judge Gene L. Dulaney, seeking to require the judge to "properly instruct the grand jury."

The suit was filed April 24 by Don Light of 3005 Austin Ave. The petition says Light represented himself before the court on Aug. 7, 1989 and asked that the judge instruct the grand jury and its foreman concerning its duties.

The petition claims that the judge refused, and the petition seeks to require the judge to properly instruct all future grand juries.

Light also filed a petition to waive all court costs because of his inability to pay. Also contained in the court file was a letter from the district clerk's office to Light informing him that writ of mandamus suits should be filed with the Court of Appeals in Eastland.

Light responded, however, with a demand that the case be filed in 132nd District Court.

Winds rip area farm

Everyone knows Scurry County experienced some strong winds early last week but evidence from the Weldon Perry residence east of town indicate that they may have been stronger than what was officially reported.

Possible tornado-like winds destroyed a barn on the family property, overturned a cotton module builder and uprooted a satellite dish early Wednesday morning.

"We don't know what happened," said Trellice Perry. "Something woke us up... We went to the back door and looked out. Weldon told me that our satellite was blown out of the ground. We didn't notice anything else, and we went back to bed."

But come sunrise, it was apparent the damage was much worse.

"I thought it was odd when I stepped out to feed the dog and I couldn't see the top of the hay barn," Mrs. Perry said.

Winds had torn the barn apart. Though no tornadoes were reported in the area, it seems doubtful that the strong winds alone could have caused the mele.

"I don't think it was just a strong wind that caused this much damage," Weldon Perry said.

The damage has been unofficially estimated at between $15,000 and $25,000 although the family said an insurance appraiser had not yet been out to farm, located five miles east of Snyder on the Roby Highway.

AJRA...

Sponsorships available for youth rodeo finals

Snyder Chamber of Commerce is soliciting sponsorships for the 1990 AJRA National Finals Rodeo, scheduled here Aug. 14-18.

Sponsors are needed for the bucking chutes, roping chute, pick-up men, barrels, saddles, wall banners and program.

The AJRA National Finals will be celebrating its 15th anniversary in Snyder and its 38th anniversary overall. It is held annually at Scurry County Coliseum.

The rodeo, which draws fans from across West Central Texas and contestants from several states, is sponsored by the chamber and the Board of County Development.

Sponsorships available and a brief explanation follow:

—6 Chute Sponsors: Your business banner placed above a bucking chute during the rodeo from Monday through Friday. Sponsorships are $500.

—2 Chaps Sponsors: Your business name on the chaps worn by the pick-up men in the area (see RODEO, page 15A)

MAJOR DAMAGE — A barn and a cotton module builder were damaged, possibly by tornado-like winds, at the Weldon Perry residence east of town recently. The damage is expected to be in the thousands of dollars. Pictured are Weldon Perry and his son Eicke, surveying the damage. (Howard Bigham Photo)

Annual May Day fundraiser features one-of-a-kind items

One-of-a-kind handmade items will be among the crafts offered in the Scurry County Senior Citizen Center's May Day Auction, set to begin at 6:30 p.m. on May 5 at Scurry County Coliseum.

Headlining the auction will be about 25 quilts made in the senior center during the past year. Also included will be a game table with an inlaid top made of woods grown in Scurry County, quilted tablecloths, a 16x20 doll house, a table radio from the 1930s, a pen and ink drawing of the Cornelius-Dodson House, an oil painting of the Towle Park windmill, a glass etching of a western scene, a crocheted bedspread, afghans, baby quilts and afghans, crocheted baby sweaters and a crocheted bath mat.

The coliseum will open at 2 p.m. so bidders can look over the items to be sold by Grady Morris, auctioneer. Booths offering baked foods and arts and crafts items will also be open at that time. Musical entertainment will also begin.

Tickets for the barbecue, scheduled from 4:30 p.m. until 6 p.m., are $5 each and are to be purchased in advance so food preparation can be planned. Tickets are available in the senior center at 2603 Ave. M. They can also be purchased from senior citizens.

The meal includes barbecue and traditional trimmings. Desserts can be purchased from the Sweet Tooth booth.

May Day is the center's major fund-raising event of the year and senior citizens give their time the year around to prepare for it. Items in the auction are donated. Last year's May Day netted the center about $21,600.

"We invite everybody to come out and enjoy May Day with us," Jerry Baird, center director said. "This is a very important day for the center. We appreciate the support we have always had from the community and look forward to visiting with a lot of our friends on Saturday."

The senior center first opened in 1974 on the Western Texas College campus and moved to its present location in January, 1979. (see MAY DAY, page 15A)

Local woman, son killed in mishap

A former Snyder man and his mother died Friday evening in a one-car mishap near Ore City in Upshure County.

Pronounced dead at the scene were 31-year-old Richard Don Powell and his 67-year-old mother, Lillie Jewel Powell of 1610 8th St. in Snyder.

The mishap occurred about 6 p.m. near Ore City which is about halfway between Longview and Daingerfield. Mrs. Powell, a passenger, was taken to a Gilmer funeral home and Powell was taken to a Longview hospital for an autopsy.

Powell was driver of a Dresser-Rand Corp. car. Preliminary reports indicate that Powell may have suffered a heart attack. He had worked for the company 11 years. (see DEATHS, page 15A)

Jury called to hear workers' comp cases

A 90-member jury panel has been summoned for 132nd District Court at 9 a.m. Monday for a civil court docket.

Two workers' compensation suits were on the docket in Judge Gene Dulaney's court.

The first, Julian Lozan vs. Texas Employers' Insurance Association, announced settlement on Friday. Mark Smith of Lubbock was attorney for the plaintiff.

To be tried starting Monday is a suit filed by George Fuentez against Texas Employers'. Attorney for the plaintiff is Mark Hall of Lubbock. Attorney for the defendant is David Cobb of Abilene.

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Great occasions for helping others seldom come, but small ones surround us all the time."

A friend recently suggested that he's grown tired of all the negative attitudes in Snyder—and he further suggested the time was right to accentuate the positive.

Well, here goes. Between now and May 25, the Snyder Daily News will be accepting nominations for "Snyder Supermen and Snyder Superwomen."

The super person doesn't have to hold a high position in the community or even be in the limelight. Your special person can be a parent, a friend, a neighbor, a teacher, a preacher, etc. We're looking for the hero who may come from any walk of life, and who makes his or her impact on folks in a quiet, but impressive way.

Tell us about your special person. Write a story, or letter, of about 250 to 300 words, so all can know about your hero. Address it to SDN Heroes, Box 949, Snyder, Texas 79549.

An impartial panel of judges will select the top stories. First place winner will receive a $100 savings bond and second and third place will each get a $50 savings bond.

After the entry deadline of May 15, we'll run some of the best entries so that all of Scurry County can know about your special person.

Perhaps a few positive stories about someone special will help all of us get through a long, hot summer.

Flood survivors picking up, waiting

Bonner Green was close to tears.

The floodwaters had receded just enough in Brownwood to allow him to go into his photography shop. What he found was "total devastation."

"All my portraits, all my cameras, all gone," Green choked as he came out. "Total devastation."

The scene was repeated throughout North Central Texas Friday, at least for victims of floods who were able to find out what had been lost.

"My house is down there, my husband is down there. Friends of mine are down there. I want to go down there now," said Maci Jones, who evacuated her home on the Horseshoe Bend of the Brazos River when the river swelled Thursday morning.

National Guardsmen were not allowing hundreds of people who left Horseshoe Bend to return earlier Friday, and took license numbers of boats that entered the area to prevent looting.

About 200 homes in the community were still under water from 11 inches of rain that fell over the area, officials said.

Many of the residents were caught off guard when the heaviest thunderstorms slamm-

Perez judged top 'sacker' at local IGA

C.R. Perez, assistant manager at Lawrence IGA here, recently won a regional sacking contest in Sweetwater and will advance to state competition in San Antonio on June 12.

Perez, who has been in the retail grocery business for 20 years, was one of three local Lawrence IGA employees to compete in the April 23 event in Sweetwater. Also competing from the local store were Mac Castillo, who placed first here, and James Garvin, who placed second. Perez was third in the local contest, held April 19.

Perez has worked at IGA since October of 1983. He and his wife, Rachel, have two daughters, Jenifer and Melissa.

ed into the area around 4 a.m. Thursday.

"I looked out the window at three o'clock and I didn't see any water. By 4:15, everything was under water. It came without warning," said Kenneth Spikes, whose mobile home was submerged.

His friend, Bobby Jones, used his boat to rescue Spikes. Spikes, who had flood insurance, had to leave behind a cat, a dog and three horses. He said he wouldn't be living in Horseshoe Bend much longer.

On Friday, residents were held back by the floodwaters about a mile from the center of the community. Some pointed out places where their homes and property used to be. Others whose property was on higher ground in the center of the community took boat rides back to their homes to salvage their possessions.

"All we got was what we have on and a couple of pictures that couldn't be replaced," said Mrs. Jones, who was allowed into the complex later.

The National Guard maintained watch at the entrance of the community and recorded license plate numbers on all boats entering the area in an effort to prevent looting.

"We want people to know that looting's out here, so don't even come out and try it," said a National Guard specialist, Michael Magliocco.

Sgt. Rodney Apodaca said the National Guard would remain at Horseshoe Bend through Sunday and possibly through Tuesday to assist with clean-up.

Horseshoe Bend is a community of homes and mobile homes. The Brazos River forms a horseshoe around the community.

Amber Adams joins AMDA

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Amber Adams, Snyder High School graduate and the daughter of Robert and Anne Adams of Snyder, has been selected for admission into the professional training program for 1990 for the American Musical and Dramatic Academy.

AMDA, founded in 1964 by Philip Burton, offers two conservatory programs: The Integrated Program, which includes training in acting, singing and dance; and The Studio Program, which focuses on acting for stage, film, and television.

Among recently recognized alumni are Tyne Daly of the television series "Cagney and Lacey" and currently starring in the Broadway musical, "Gypsy;" Gil Gerard of "Buck Rogers," Gary Burghoff of "Mash," and Georg Stanford Brown, director.

AMDA's campus is located in the heart of Manhattan, on Broadway, in the historic Ansonia Building.

Problems surface

WASHINGTON (AP) — Managers of the Savannah River nuclear weapons plant in South Carolina put some of its workers at an unnecessarily high risk of "gross contamination" by plutonium, according to an Energy Department audit report.

Plutonium, a key ingredient in nuclear warheads, is one of the most toxic elements known. Lethal lung doses of plutonium are measured in the billionths of a gram.

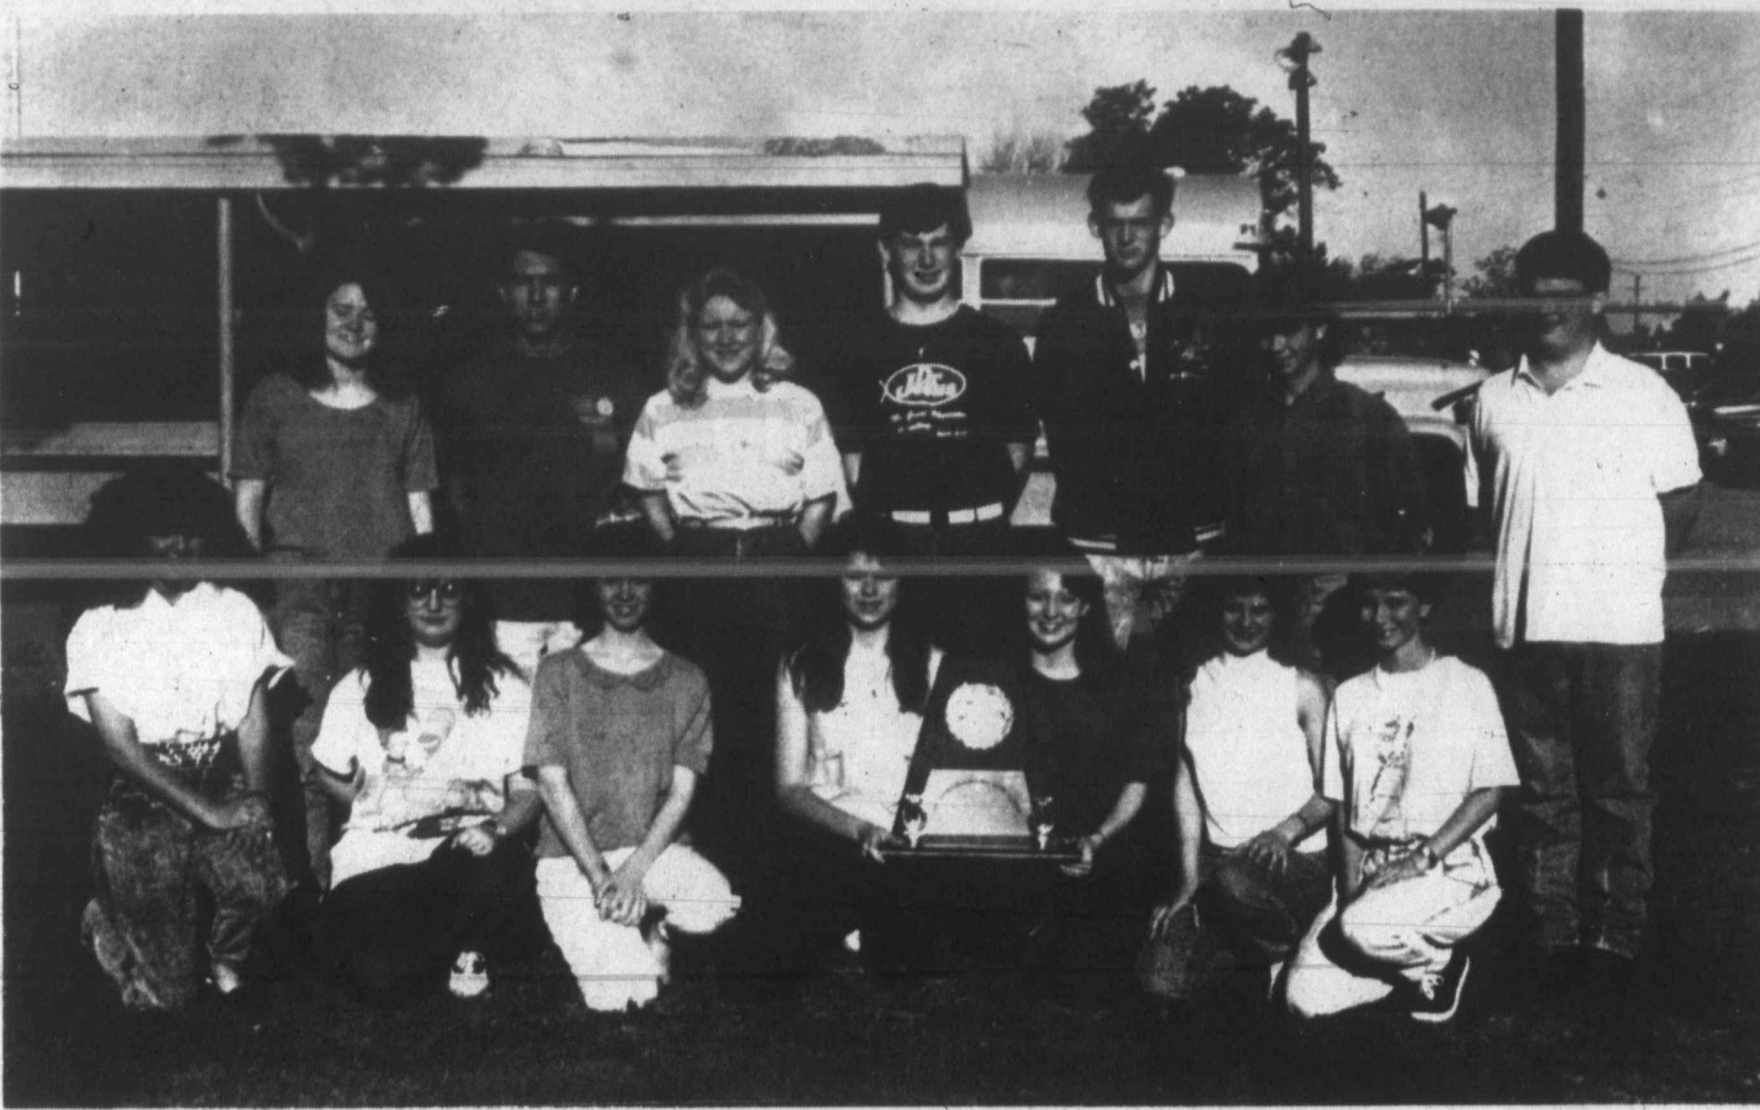

The defense contractor that runs the plant, Westinghouse Electric Corp., said Friday it was taking action to correct the problem. It was discovered during a two-month probe of health, safety and environmental conditions at Savannah River, which makes plutonium and other special materials for nuclear weapons.

The audit ended March 23 and results were made available Friday at the Energy Department, which owns Savannah River and 16 other major nuclear arms plants and laboratories.

The audit team of federal officials and private contractors said they found a potentially dangerous combination of problems at a building called the SED Facility, which is on the grounds of Savannah River's research laboratory near Aiken, S.C.

Dean Hoffman, a Westinghouse spokesman, said the SED Facility performs classified work and that he could not comment on it beyond saying the problems were being fixed.

Proposed state sales tax faces likely veto

AUSTIN (AP) — A proposed state sales tax increase for public education will probably be axed Monday by Gov. Bill Clements, who blamed legislators for sending the funding issue back to court later next week.

"Raising taxes is the easy way out, but it's not the only way and, certainly, it's not the right way," said the Republican governor.

Clements told a statewide television audience Friday he will veto the tax hike because other state money is available to meet a court order for school finance reform.

Lawmakers' two-month impasse will send the state back in to court Tuesday to explain why no school plan has been enacted. But a leading Democratic legislator said Clements was also to blame for the delay.

"Governor, you cannot escape the fact that for two long months you have torpedoed every idea for solving this problem without offering any positive solutions," said Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, in a televised response.

"Your only input has been to threaten a veto. At this late hour, you still offer no solutions to the crisis," Montford told the governor.

Clements said he wants to boost school spending by $250 million next year and by $4 billion over five years.

"I have identified surplus funds in nonessential areas of our current $49 billion state budget" to pay for the first hike, Clements said. Aides said he would spell out more cuts when he vetoes the bill.

In endorsing a sweeping, $555 million reform plan this week, the House and Senate proposed combining about $114 million in budget cuts and raising the state sales tax from 6 cents to 6½ cents on the dollar.

"Liberal legislators in Austin have fought our (budget-trimming) recommendations," the governor complained in the speech broadcast from his Capitol office.

"Their answer is to raise our sales tax to an all-time high. In fact, they want to make it the second highest in America. I won't accept that and neither should you."

The Legislature's plan "treats all schools in every part of the state fairly," said Montford, adding it is supported by rich and poor schools, urban and rural districts.

"Governor, let's not kid ourselves. Good schools with good teachers cost money. Being a responsible leader doesn't mean sticking your head in the sand," he said.

Meanwhile, Attorney General Jim Mattox accused Clements of playing a dangerous "brinkmanship" game with the courts.

"There's absolutely no doubt that the governor has brought us into this crisis. And it would appear that the governor is going to keep us in this crisis," said Mattox.

But the governor said Mattox was "showboating," and predicted the Supreme Court's Tuesday deadline would pass without incident or school closings.

Candidate For WTC Board of Trustees Believes:

- All tax supported entities have to function more efficiently. Higher and higher taxes to remain status-quo is not being progressive.
- Scurry County has a need for only one kind of junior college...A Good One. Graduates of WTC must compete with graduates from everywhere, regardless of whether they enter the workforce or go to a four-year college.
- Quality education is second only to moral standards in determining the future of our country.
- If you are a taxpayer, you have an investment in WTC. You should support it and vote in the election on May 5.

National Jaycees veeep visits with local chapter members

Thomas J. Clear III of Albuquerque, N.M., a national vice president of the United States Jaycees, visited briefly last week with members of the local Jaycees organization.

Clear, who is engaged in a "whirlwind" tour of Texas Jaycees chapters that are "doing well," joined local Jaycees for an early morning breakfast at the Spanish Inn on Thursday.

He distributed specially made jackets and caps to four Jaycees. Rudy Garza, president of the local chapter, received the jacket, while his wife, Elida, Danny Engle and Joe Hernandez each received a cap.

Since the Jaycee year ends April 30, Clear explained that that was why he was trying to visit as many Jaycees chapters in Texas that he could before the new year begins on May 1.

Clear is a 1982 graduate of the University of Texas at Austin School of Law. Upon graduation with his Juris Doctor degree, he formed the law firm of Clear and Clear P.A. with his father. His practice emphasizes litigation in the area of plaintiff's personal injury, criminal defense, and complex domestic relations.

He joined the Downtown Jaycees of Albuquerque, N.M. in August, 1984. He went on to serve two terms as local president from 1985-87. He was also elected the 48th State President of the New Mexico Jaycees in October of 1987. He finished out that unexpired term and was later re-elected to a full term in May, 1988 in Santa Fe, N.M.

At the U.S. Jaycees National Convention in Memphis, Tenn. last June, Clear was elected as a national vice-president and was assigned to serve the states of Connecticut, Iowa, Maine, Texas and his home state of New Mexico.

Toni Jackson gets five awards in olympic contests

Toni Jackson, daughter of Barry and Sandra Jackson, won five awards in the Hearing Impaired Olympics in Lubbock on April 21. She earned second place in the following events, bean bag toss, duck race and tricycle race. She received third place honors in both hop scotch and the obstacle course.

The competition is sponsored annually by Future Educators of the Hearing Impaired and is always held at Texas Tech University.

Schools participating in the event included Lubbock, Abilene, Midland, Odessa, Denver City and Fort Stockton.

Jackson was in the Snyder Deaf Education Program from age two until January of this Defense to begin next week

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Defense attorneys for three former lawmen are expected to try to contradict a pathologist's testimony that an inmate was not drunk when he sustained head injuries and died.

Prosecutors rested their case Friday in the murder trial of Thomas Ladner, the former Hemphill police chief, and former Sabine County sheriff's deputies James "Bo" Hyden and Billy Ray Horton.

State District Judge Joe Tunnell denied defense attorneys' claims of insufficient evidence as prosecutors wrapped up their case. But he said he would rule on a motion for an instructed verdict by Horton's attorney at 8:30 a.m.

Monday, when the trial begins its ninth day.

Defense attorneys said they have subpoenaed 10 people to testify next week, including expert witnesses to try to contradict pathologist V.V. Gonzalez' testimony.

Gonzalez testified Friday that his autopsy on Loyal Garner Jr. showed no evidence that he died because he was drunk when he sustained head injuries in the Sabine County jail.

"No, sir, the alcohol had nothing to do with the injuries of Loyal Garner," Gonzalez said.

The 34-year-old Garner died two days after being arrested on Christmas Day 1987 for suspicion of drunken driving. The three former lawmen, who are white, were acquitted by a Hemphill jury in July 1988 of violating civil rights of Garner, who was black.

A defense attorney has alleged Garner was so drunk on the night he died that it would have affected the way his body responded to being hit.

But Gonzalez said physical evidence knocks down that assertion.

"There's no fatty metamorphosis, no toxic material ingested ...," said Gonzalez, explaining that the victim's liver did not show signs it was processing an extreme amount of alcohol.

Two brothers, Johnnie and Alton Maxie of Fisher, La., who were arrested with Garner testified earlier in the trial that he had one beer and a sip of whiskey that day.

Punishment phase to begin Monday

DALLAS (AP) — A former Houston police officer faces up to 20 years in prison for shooting a woman to death on a freeway, and the victim's sister said she was satisfied with his conviction.

An eight-woman, four-man jury will hear the punishment phase of Alex Gonzales' trial on Monday. The all-white jury deliberated 13 hours over three days before convicting Gonzales of voluntary manslaughter Friday in the death of Mrs. Delaney. "I can live with (this verdict)," Ora Shaw, Mrs. Delaney's sister, said.

The voluntary manslaughter conviction carries a 2-to-20 year prison term.

Don Smyth, Harris County assistant district attorney, said he was also satisfied by the verdict Friday.

"Everybody in Houston was saying 'You'll never get a conviction.' We did get a conviction," said Smyth, adding the verdict proves that a fair trial could be obtained in Dallas County.

"It's a lesser included charge ... We thought we had a murder case. But we can't be disappointed with results."

Prosecutors said Gonzales and two other off-duty Houston police officers chased Mrs. Delaney's pickup truck on a Houston freeway at about 5 a.m. Oct. 31 after she cut them off in traffic. Mrs. Delaney, 50, was on her way to work as a newspaper janitor.

Gonzales was accused of killing Mrs. Delaney following a Halloween night of drinking among off-duty officers. The officer, who was legally drunk at the time, was critically wounded after Ms. Delaney, 50, shot him in the chest.

The Dallas County jury began deliberations late Wednesday afternoon and recessed about 6 p.m., before resuming deliberations all day Thursday. The verdict was delivered shortly before 2:30 p.m. Friday.

Jurors had been told by State District Judge Ted Poe they could find Gonzales, 25, guilty of murder, voluntary manslaughter or innocent of either charge.

The case was moved to Dallas on a change of venue due to heavy pre-trial publicity in Houston, where the death of Ms. Delaney became another cause for groups that maintain that Houston police are hostile toward blacks.

Trial testimony showed Gonzales was riding in a private car with two other off-duty officers, none wearing uniforms.

Senior Center activities noted

A party honoring senior citizens who celebrate birthdays in May is scheduled at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Senior Citizens Center. Refreshments are provided by McDonald's and games are also part of the celebration.

A domino tournament starting at 9 a.m. Monday will get Senior Center activities for the week underway. On Tuesday morning, the Kitchen Band will go to Midland for a performance and Hoss Clayton's band will play in the center at 11 a.m. Senior citizens will go to Snyder Nursing Center to sing on Tuesday and the Kitchen Band will play there on Wednesday.

Martha Knowles, Medicaid eligibility specialist, will discuss spousal impoverishment in a special presentation Thursday. This discussion deals with financial situations arising when a spouse must have extended health care.

The center's Sunshine Choir will meet for a rehearsal at 1:45 p.m. Thursday. All center visitors are invited to join the Sing Along starting at 11:30 a.m. Friday.

Senior citizens will be decorating the Scurry County

Coliseum Thursday afternoon and Friday in preparation for May Day on May 5. Tickets for the May Day barbecue are $5 each and are to be purchased in advance at the Senior Center or from senior citizens. Barbecue will be served from 4:30-6 p.m. The coliseum will open at 2 p.m. so persons interested in bidding on items to be auctioned at 6:30 p.m. can inspect these items and shop the food and arts and crafts booths.

Soil Stewardship Week set April 29 through May 6

Emphasizing everyone's role in protecting soil and water resources for future generations, the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District is encouraging local churches, organizations and individuals to join the nationwide observance of Soil Stewardship Week, Sunday, April 29, through next Sunday, May 6.

The local district, which works throughout the year on soil and water conservation measures, is emphasizing man's responsibility to be active stewards of our nation's soil and water resources.

Charlie Henderson, chairman of the Upper Colorado SWCD, said everyone needs to learn about the impact of their actions and the actions of other persons. "Recognizing that, we must commit ourselves to individual and community action. By using good erosion prevention practices, conserving water, or simply planting a tree, we'll each help make the world a better place for our children's children," Henderson said.

Since 1955, the National Association of Conservation Districts has sponsored Soil and Water Stewardship Week, in cooperation with nearly 3,000 local districts, as one way to emphasize the importance of good stewardship of basic soil and water resources.

Actor takes real flight in Navy jet

EL TORO, Calif. (AP) — Gerald McRaney, television's "Major Dad," got a heady taste of real military adventure as a flyboy for a day.

McRaney took to the skies Friday with the Navy's Blue Angels at the Marine Corps Air Station as the flying squadron prepared for a weekend air show. "He loved it," publicist Beth Llewellyn said. "In fact, he went up twice."

McRaney isn't a pilot, but he held the controls of the FA-18 Hornet jet for a bit on the second flight, Ms. Llewellyn said.

Newspaper wins counterclaim

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A county commissioner and a former candidate for sheriff have been ordered to pay more than $25,000 in sanctions, court costs and attorneys fees to The Brownsville Herald, after a judge found no merit to libel suits they filed against the newspaper.

Cameron County Commissioner Lucino Rosenbaum Jr. has been ordered to pay $13,500, and Art Ramirez, a losing candidate for sheriff, $12,357, in connection with libel suits they filed separately on April 11, 1988.

The costs included $5,000 each man must pay in penalties to the Herald. The rest were attorneys' fees and court costs.

Their cases were dismissed for lack of prosecution last year. The Herald countersued, claiming the lawsuits were frivolous.

Rosenbaum and Ramirez filed suit in connection with political advertisements the newspaper ran when Rosenbaum was running for the Cameron County Commission in 1988.

The men, who also sued Rosenbaum's opponent, Ray Ramon, claimed that the Herald and Ramon conspired to run a political ad on April 8, 1988 in which Ramirez endorsed Ramon for county commissioner.

According to the lawsuits, the Herald published the ad while knowing the information to be false.

After the suits were dismissed, the newspaper filed and won the counterclaim against Rosenbaum and Ramirez.

State District Judge Robert F. Barnes of Hidalgo County said in his April 5 ruling that the Ramirez and Rosenbaum complaints were "totally without merit." The judge said that the newspaper was entitled to additional damages as sanctions.

"We regarded this as a frivolous lawsuit, totally without merit, filed for political purposes," said Doug Hardie, Herald publisher.

"There was never a deposition taken. There was never any real attempt to pursue the lawsuit," he added. "It's our intent to countersue for damages and attorney's fees any time we're faced with this kind of legal action," Hardie said.

"A large portion of those are frivolous lawsuits. A large portion of those are politically motivated in an attempt to control what newspapers and television stations report," Hardie said.

"I think if more people in the news media countersued and were able to collect attorney's fees, we wouldn't have as large amount of frivolous lawsuits," the publisher said.

Financial Focus

Good investment ideas are everywhere—even in Big Spring, Texas. That's where Dan Wilkins has been helping people invest their money for nearly 25 years.

Ask Dan about the economy, and you'll get down-home Texas logic you can take to the bank. "The economy changes," Dan said, "but there's always the same seven risks of owning money."

The first risk is lack of liquidity. You always need some ready cash for emergencies. Money-market funds or interest-paying savings accounts can solve this risk. Your money is always available and it earns a little while it sits.

Declining prices is another risk. No one likes to see their investments lose value. Certificates of deposit are an excellent way to get a reasonable return without risk of principal. Staggering CD maturities may even make them safer.

The biggest risk to money is inflation. Your only defense is to own something that outpaces inflation. Traditionally, common stocks, equity mutual funds, and real estate have met this challenge.

The other side of inflation is deflation. Although deflation is improbable, it's not impossible. One way to minimize this risk is to own long-term bonds or government securities that protect today's high interest and promise to keep it coming.

Another money risk is taxes. Because no one seriously believes taxes will disappear, tax-free bonds offer a reasonable hedge. With these investments you can enjoy your income without sharing it with the government. Retirement plans, IRAs and deferred annuities offer limited protection from taxes now, but eventually you'll have to pay.

A real concern, particularly to those on a fixed income, is the lack of rising income. Imagine a 1990 lifestyle on a 1980 income. The only way to answer this risk is to own things that offer opportunities for more income. Dan likes high-grade utilities and mutual funds. He loves to tell about his favorite utility stock, which provided about a 9 percent return in 1980 when he bought it. Thanks to increasing dividends and the increasing value of the stock, the $10,000 invested in 1980 brings in about 14 percent today, based on the original investment.

The threat of any major change in society is always a financial risk. An economic depression or devaluation of the dollar can destroy years of financial planning. Investors who might have to put all their faith in the peso at 12 to the dollar would find they had virtually no buying power today. Precious metals or securities, as well as currencies of other countries, offer a possible hedge for such money risk.

Finally, the psychological fear of having too much invested in any one place can lead to sleepless nights. The remedy is to diversify your investments.

These seven risks of owning money make a lot of sense, whether they come from New York, N.Y., or Big Spring, Texas.

Jr. Olympics slated May 6

The first annual Junior Olympics Festival, sponsored by the West Elementary Parent Council Association, is slated from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, May 5, at Snyder Soccer Field.

Even though olympic contests will be limited to West students, the general public is invited to participate in "crazy races." All booths and concessions stands will also be open to the public.

Qualifying Relay Races may also feature competing teams from the first through sixth grade physical education classes at Snyder's five other elementary schools.

While all of the track and field events, except relay races, will be limited to West students the general public is invited to participate in "crazy races" such as gunny sack races, three-legged races and balloon relays etc. Admission is free.

Activities are also planned for a wide variety of booths and concession stands will be available. These are also open to the public and will feature a variety of fun activities as well as refreshments, such as snow cones etc. Helium balloons will also be sold.

All money transactions will be handled through ticket sales (25 cents per ticket) including, refreshments, booths and track and field events.

All West Elementary students may participate in any three of the following track and field events (which will be divided according to sex and grade level): 50 yard sprint, 100 yard sprint, very low hurdles, running broad jump, 220 yard run, mile run, and soft ball throw.

Ribbons will be awarded to all first, second and third place winners and all participants.

Junior olympic sponsors said they have two important reasons for organizing this end-of-school-year event.

-To provide an outdoor activity which encourages West students to participate in track and field events.

-To raise funds to be used specifically to improve the school's playground through the addition of new equipment and the planting of trees.

Co-chairmen include Candy Payne and Helen Lovett.

Committee chairmen include: tickets, Helen Lovett and Vicki Best; refreshments, Joan Bunch, Lori Chandler and Melissa Alexander; track and field events, Ruby Smith, Theresa Trammel and Judy Hobbs; non-food booths, Missie Rogers and Chris Bond; crazy races, Arlene Marshall and Terri Kubena; publicity, Candy Payne.

Cosmetology interviews to start Tuesday

Interviews for students joining the new Western Texas College cosmetology class are scheduled on Tuesday, Judy Border, instructor, said.

Prospective students need to complete the forms in the cosmetology packet on Monday and are to pick up that packet in the Admissions Office in the Resource Center. They will then contact Mrs. Border for interviews.

Cosmetology students receive 1,500 hours of training in a one-year period and are then eligible to take Texas Board of Cosmetology exams for licensing.

Spur's David Robinson nabs Rookie of the Year honors

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Earning the NBA Rookie of the Year award was just one of many accolades for David Robinson this season.

"This is one more thing in a great line of things that have happened to me this year," said Robinson, who won every Rookie of the Month award this season. "All this stuff is just coming so fast it's almost hard to appreciate it all right now."

Robinson, who waited two years to play for the San Antonio Spurs while finishing a Navy commitment, was unanimously named NBA Rookie of the Year on Friday.

The two-year layoff from organized basketball helped more than it hurt.

"I learned to be patient, not to fight things and keep my stress level down," he said. "It's helped me greatly this season. I'm mellow and I refuse to let things bother me."

Robinson, who averaged 24.3 points, 12 rebounds and 3.9 blocks per game this season, was the first unanimous rookie selection since Ralph Sampson in 1984.

The 7-foot-1 center received all 92 votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

There were no second- or third-place votes.

Robinson led the Spurs to the Midwest Division title with a 56-26 record — a 35-game improvement over the previous season and the most victories ever by a San Antonio team.

He finished 10th in the league in scoring, second in rebounding behind Akeem Olajuwon and third in blocked shots. Robinson also led all rookies with a .531 field-goal percentage.

The Spurs made Robinson the No. 1 pick in the 1987 draft, but he spent the next two years stationed at a submarine base in Georgia.

Robinson had 26 points and 13 rebounds Thursday night as the Spurs beat the Denver Nuggets 119-103 in the opening game of their first-round playoff series.

Mauldin sets b-ball camp

The Tony Mauldin Boys' Basketball Camp set for June 18-22 at Western Texas College is now accepting enrollment applications.

Campers who stay in the college dorm and have meals in the WTC cafeteria will pay fees of $180 while non-resident campers who eat only the noon meal will pay $100.

Group rates are available and discounts are given for two campers from the same family.

Boys in grades 5-12 are eligible for the camp and each participant will receive a basketball, camp T-shirt, certificate and report card. Special awards and trophies will be given for contests and competition.

Teaching sessions will be divided into fundamentals of basketball, with rebounding and defensive techniques stressed. There will also be game situations and team games.

Applications should be accompanied by a $50 non-refundable deposit and sent to WTC Basketball Camp, 3009 Beaumont, Snyder, Tx., 79549. Checks should be made payable to WTC Boys' Camp.

Additional information about the camp may be obtained by contacting Mauldin at 573-8511.

Snyder squads eliminated in Friday rounds

Snyder's entrants in the Little Dribblers National Tournament being hosted by Snyder were all eliminated in Friday play.

Three teams, one each in the Junior, Major and Senior division represented Sparkle City.

The Juniors and Seniors were each knocked off by Levelland teams while the Major squad lost to a Dallas-Ft. Worth area team billed as Mid-Cities Bell.

Jimmy Taylor paced the Snyder attack with 12 points followed by Kyle Sisson with 10 in the Juniors 56-51 loss Friday.

It was the second loss in the tourney for the David Sisson, Jackie Murray-coached unit.

Snyder's Major crew lasted until Friday's 4:45 p.m. contest when they were beaten by Bell.

Wayne Braziel scored 22 and Clinton Williams added 6 to furnish all the offense for Snyder in the battle.

Don Peace tossed in 16 for the Mid-Cities team followed by Joey Ogburn's 10.

Earlier Friday the Snyder bunch defeated Lamesa, 44-32 in a game that saw Williams pick up 11 and Marlowe Riggins gather nine.

The hometowners were coached by Shawn Ragland, Kelly Ragland and Larry Braziel.

Snyder ended up 2-2 in the double-elimination tournament.

The Senior squad from Snyder bowed out in Friday's 9:15 contest in the junior high gym.

They lost to Levelland, 44-34, in spite of Jon Patrick's 13-point effort.

Fabian Murillo scored 12 for Levelland followed by Jeremy Weese and Will Green with 10 apiece.

Levelland built a 16-7 lead at the end of the first quarter and held on to a 25-18 advantage by the half.

At the end of three the locals were still down by five and a 13-8 spurt by Levelland in the fourth iced the win.

Snyder, coached by Russell

Gafford and Tracy Braziel, wound up 1-2 in the tournament.

NATIONAL JUNIORS

Southwest Amarillo, paced by a 22-point performance from William Bullard, nipped Lamesa in Friday action, 44-43.

All the games within the division were close ones as Mid-Cities Trinity lost a four-point affair to Mid-Cities Bell, 59-55, Silsbee was edged by Bryan, 55-53, and Snyder was beaten by Levelland 56-51.

The championship game was slated for Saturday at 3:30 p.m. in Scurry County Coliseum.

AMERICAN JUNIORS

Zachary Guillory of Hampshire's HFWS team was the leading scorer in the Dalhart-HFWS battle, pouring in 20 points.

Dalhart cager Tate Fuller notched a 13-point game followed by Teammates Chad Hodo and Mike Montoya with a dozen each.

Kermit slammed Ironton, Mo. in another division contest 56-45 behind Robert Henderson's 22 and Jared Mills' 17 points.

Travis Mayberry hit for 20 for the Missouri squad and Chad Forinash had 11.

The American Junior championship tilt was to be played Saturday at 2:15 in the coliseum.

NATIONAL MAJORS

Mercer Island, Wa. and Bryan were on a Saturday collision course to determine finalists in this division of the tournament.

Mercer Island slapped Mid-Cities Trinity 37-24 in a third round game while Bryan was trouncing Silsbee, 62-34, to set up the showdown.

Jamal Hall scored 16 for the Washington team followed by Ryan Passe with 15.

Landry Kosmalski poured in 11 for the Trinity unit in the loss.

Bryan's Brandon Person was good for 16 and Eddie Silsbee and Al Henry of Silsbee popped for 15 and 10 points, respectively.

In other games in the division it was Southwest Amarillo 42, Borger 27, Southwest Amarillo 36, Levelland 35, Borger 33, Levelland No. 2 25 and Mid-Cities Bell 60, El Paso 51.

Weylen Clary poured in 26 for Bell followed by Tim Baker of Borger for the most prolific scores in the National Majors.

Nome's entry in the tournament, Twin County, assured itself a spot in Saturday's 4:45 p.m. final at the coliseum with a 41-39 win over Malakoff Friday afternoon.

Kenyon Spears led the Nome team with 19 points trailed by teammate Lance Schroeder with 11.

Malakoff's John Bivins hit 12 while Darryl West added 10.

Twin County had advanced to the Malakoff matchup by beating Groesbeck earlier in the day, 55-53.

Spears' total was 34 in that game to lead all scorers.

Groesbeck's Kendrick Gibson made it close tossing in 33, himself.

Twin County was to face the winner of the Groesbeck-Malakoff game in the title game.

In other Friday contests, Malakoff beat Dalhart, 35-24, Shallowater dumped New Baden, Ill. 46-33, Groesbeck edged Denver City, 46-43, and Dalhart fell to Shallowater, 45-33.

NATIONAL SENIORS

Another of the Mercer Island Wa. teams attempted to move into the finals as they faced Silsbee in the semis Saturday morning.

The Washington club smacked Lamesa in the second round 57-24 as Ron Louder hit 22 points. David Morales scored 10 and Ernie Morales got eight for Lamesa.

Silsbee defeated Mid-Cities, 33-24, to move toward the showdown.

In other Senior tilts, Bryan beat Mid-Cities, 59-23, and then beat Southwest Amarillo 49-43 and Wilmer-Hutchins blasted Levelland No. 1 62-32.

Lamont Hudson had 13, Antoine Jackson had 10 and C.W. Washington scored 10 for the W-H crew.

Will Green led Levelland with eight points.

AMERICAN SENIORS

KenLa, La. claimed a place in the championship game with a pair of wins on Friday.

They defeated Twin County, 71-58, and followed with a 57-40 thrashing of Brownfield.

Chad Rasberry scored 18 against Brownfield and 14 versus Twin County to lead the Louisiana team in scoring.

Carl Hughes added 14 against Twin County and Todd Cook contributed 12 while Dan Orr tossed in 11 against the Brownfield unit.

KenLa was to face the winner of the contest pitting Brownfield and the winner of the Ralls-Twin County tilt in Saturday's 7:15 final.

Other scores from Friday include Brownfield over Ironton, Mo., 57-30, and Ralls over Ironton, 49-47 to eliminate the Missouri team.

Tigers dump 3-run lead, fall to Lobos

MONAHANS — Snyder's Tigers lost a crucial District 4-4A baseball encounter Friday night, 5-4, in an 11-inning battle with the Monahans Lobos.

Snyder grabbed an early 2-0 lead with runs in the fourth inning and padded their advantage in the seventh with another score.

Monahans rallied in the last of the seventh with three runs to take the game into extra innings.

The Lobos were in danger of being beaten in the ninth inning when Snyder first baseman John Wright smashed a home run over the 340 sign in left field to put SHS up 4-3.

The home team knotted the score on a wild pitch from Snyder's Jamey Morton in the ninth that sent MHS pitcher Jerry Carrasco scampering home from third base.

Monahans won on an RBI single from Joe Fuentes that scored catcher Garcia from third base in the last of the eleventh frame.

Snyder's fourth inning runs came on an error charged to the Monahans right fielder that allowed Morton on base followed by an error from the third baseman that put Willie Garcia on the paths.

Randy Morris came on and slapped a single that scored Morton. Toby Goodwin's ground out drove Garcia across.

In the seventh, still leading 2-0, the Tigers' Wright, who was two of four on the night, rapped a double to open the inning. He went to third on a wild pitch and made it home on a second Goodwin ground out.

Besides Wright, Morris claimed two hits on the game for Snyder.

The Tigers fell to 14-8 on the season and 6-5 in District 4-4A competition while Monahans moved to 11-8 overall evening its loop slate at 5-5.

Tiger pitcher Morton took the loss in relief of Garcia, falling to 9-4 on the year.

Carrasco accepted the win for Monahans.

In the only other loop contest Friday, Pecos blew to a 12-1 lead over San Angelo Lake View and coasted to a 13-7 win.

Pecos is now resting in second place at 8-3 within the district.

Snyder will take to the road next as they travel to Sweetwater to play the Mustangs Tuesday in a 7 p.m. meeting.

Morton is expected to be on the hill for Snyder.

COACH ALBERT LEWIS

SHS duo state bound

Brandon, Guynes advance from regionals

SAN ANGELO — A pair of Snyder's regional track qualifiers have advanced to the state Class 4A meet in Austin with their Friday finishes in the Region I meet here.

Katina Brandon, a surprise winner over SHS teammate Vinnie Clay copped first place with a 123-1 heave in the discus throw Friday at Angelo State University.

Brandon's points for the top spot boosted Snyder into a three way tie with Levelland and Pflugerville with 10 team points.

The other SHS state-bound athlete is pole-vaulter Charlie Guynes.

Guynes had said in an earlier interview that his toughest competition in regionals would most probably be Joshua's Mike McCarroll.

His prediction proved true as McCarroll took first with a 15-6 effort followed by Guynes' 15-0 leap.

The team standings after Friday have Snyder in a sixth place tie with Everman, each sporting six points.

Boswell leads in the girls' division with 12 points followed by Waco Midway's 11.

Pflugerville is setting the pace for the boys with 20 points in the meet's first day trailed by Canyon Randall's 18 and 14 from Brownwood.

Lake View's Kevin Dumas captured the long jump title with a 24-0 $\frac{3}{4}$ hop while fellow District 4-4A trackster Pete Buske of Big Spring notched a 159-2 throw of the discus for fourth place.

Christia Rogers was the only other loop girl to place in the top three Friday.

The Andrews talent finished third in the long jump with a 19-0 effort.

The remainder of the field events and the running events were scheduled for Saturday.

BOYS
Twin totals: 1. Pflugerville 20; 2. Canyon Randall 18; 3. Brownwood 14; 4. Lake View 11; 5. Joshua 10; 6. (tie) Snyder and Everman 6.
Long jump: 1. Kevin Dumas, Lake View, 24-0 $\frac{3}{4}$; 2. Larry Milligan, Pflugerville, 24-0 $\frac{3}{4}$; 3. Jeremy Johnson, Dunbar, 22-10.
Pole vault: 1. Mike McCarroll, Joshua, 15-6; 2. Charlie Guynes, Snyder, 15-0; 3. Gary Brewer, Everman, 14-6.
Discus: Brian Tighe, Pflugerville, 177-9; 2. Jes Rathke, Brownwood, 165-9; 3. Russell Smith, Brownwood, 159-2.

WTC cowboy leads bull riding with 79

Western Texas College cowboy Michael Gaffney continued to lead the bull riding heading into final-day action of the 44th annual Hardin-Simmons University NIRA Rodeo at Meyers Arena in Abilene.

Gaffney, who hails from Tularosa, N.M., posted a 79 on Thursday. Teammate Darrin Cook was sitting in a tie for second place in the event after Friday's go-round with a score of 73.

The rodeo was to continue with Saturday's 2 p.m. go-round, followed by the finals at 8 p.m.

Among other Western Texas results from Abilene, Krista Jeferies clocked a 3.9-second run to take over third place in breakaway roping. Lisa Meloy clocked a 5.2 in the event and is in seventh place. Teammate Cathy Crowder, who timed a 5.3 on Thursday, was holding down eighth overall, heading into Saturday's action.

The top 10 contestants in each event were to compete in the finals.

In steer wrestling competition, Terry Graf's effort of 7.1 seconds was sixth after Friday while Ty Roberson was holding on to ninth place with a time of 9 seconds.

LITTLE DRIBBLERS' NATIONAL TOURNAMENT

WHO? ME! — Mercer Island, Wa. player Ronnie Emmet, 35, can't believe teammate Ron Passe and Southwest Amarillo's Geoff Keating collided under the basket during first-round action in the tournament.

DEFENSE — Marlowe Riggins of Snyder, 45, spreads his arms to defend against Lamesa in the hometowners' win Friday afternoon at Scurry County Coliseum.

OFF-BALANCE — Southwest Amarillo's Mike Roberson, 40, goes up for an off-balance shot in tournament action Thursday against Mercer Island, Wa. Roberson's shot was good but the Amarillo team lost in a tight 55-49 contest at Scurry County Coliseum.

I'LL TAKE THAT — Snyder Major Division all-star Bobby Huestis, 4, stakes his claim to the rebound against Lamesa's all-stars Friday at the coliseum. Looking on is teammate Marlowe Riggins, right rear. The team was coached by Shawn Ragland, Kelly Ragland and Larry Braziel.

OUCH! — An unidentified Snyder Major Division basketball player scoots across the floor after an errant play against Lamesa Friday afternoon.

UP FOR TWO — Mercer Island, Wa. cager Jamal Hall, 52, goes up top for a bucket in Friday action against the Mid-Cities Trinity Rebels in a battle of then unbeaten teams. The Washington based team traveled the farthest to compete in the 1990 Little Dribblers National Tournament.

STRATEGY SESSION — Snyder Major Division team members huddle around their coaches to discuss plays during their contest against Lamesa Friday afternoon. Shown are Ramsey Castillo, 41, Patrick Cumbie, 40, Page Patterson, 21 and No. 5 Lindsey Gordy, among others.

GET THE BOARD — Mercer Island's Mark Cowens goes for a strong rebound in the Washington team's game against Mid-Cities Trinity Friday afternoon. Mid-Cities' Matt Williams is putting up a fight for the basketball.

Deadline to transfer April 30 for students

Scurry County public schools students who reside outside a particular school district and wish to transfer must do so by April 30 or pay a tuition fee.

The fees are $250 a semester per student in the Snyder school district and $150 a semester per student in the Ira school district. Hermleigh does not charge a tuition fee but still asks that transfers be made by the end of the month.

Parents may come by the respective school administration offices to file for student transfers at any time during the month.

Business offices conform to normal school hours at Ira and Hermleigh. The Snyder ISD office is open from 8 a.m. through 4:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 8 a.m. until 3:45 p.m. on Friday.

Maps leads to search for 2 teens' remains

HODGENVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A 15-year-old girl killed a man who she said had chained her to a tree and raped her repeatedly for three weeks, and police used the man's hand-drawn map to search for the remains of two other missing girls.

The girl told police she was abducted by Phillip E. Clopton, 39, of Louisville and that she got free and killed him Thursday with his own shotgun while he slept.

Federal and state police began a search in three central Kentucky counties after a map and a journal found Friday at Clopton's backwoods campsite in La Rue County indicated two girls had been killed and dismembered. Divers also scoured the Rolling Fork River, but nothing was found, police said.

Officials planned to resume the search today if rain forecast for the area held off, LaRue County Sheriff Merle Edlin said.

The map was "not too detailed," but all of the burial plots except one "were close to or in water," Edlin said.

Kentucky State Police Lt. Wayne Edwards said the girl killed Clopton, rather than running away, because she feared he would wake up and track her down.

"She's 15 years old and she was petrified," he said.

The girl had several bruises but did not appear to be malnourished, Edwards said. She was treated at Hardin Memorial Hospital in Elizabethtown and released to her father.

Another man, 41-year-old James R. Cable, was arrested in the case Thursday night in Louisville and charged with first-degree rape and sodomy. Cable was being held in the LaRue County jail under $250,000 bond on each count.

Edlin said Cable was not suspected in the killings but may have distributed the body parts. His relationship with Clopton, who had been previously imprisoned for sodomy and rape, was not immediately clear.

The FBI and police had been searching for Clopton in the disappearance of all three girls, who authorities and family friends said were acquainted.

Officials had identified the missing girls as Bridgett Allen and Sherry Wilson, two 14-year-olds from Louisville who left home in January, Edlin said.

Powell had lived in Snyder most of his life, moving to Greenwood Acres near Longview about two years ago. He was a 1977 graduate of Snyder High School.

Born March 28, 1959 in Linden, he married Zanell Franklin on Sept. 25, 1982 in Munday. She died in 1987.

Mrs. Powell, a long-time Snyder resident, had been visiting her son. Born May 30, 1922 in Roscoe, she was a housewife and the widow of William Clinton Powell who died in 1972.

Services for both victims are set for 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Morningside Baptist Church where both were members. Officiating will be the Rev. Ray Smith, a Baptist minister, assisted by the Rev. Tom Lewis, church pastor. Burial will follow in Hillside Memorial Garden.

Survivors include one daughter and sister, Mrs. Don Howard of Snyder; four sons and brothers, William Powell of Snyder; Ronnie Powell and James Powell, both of Naples, Tex., and Lynn Powell of Longview.

Mrs. Powell is also survived by three sisters, Ardie Duck of Hughes Springs, Ludie Powell of Commerce and Lola Mae Shaddix of Hughes Springs; 16 grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

Man believed to be 'ski mask rapist' arrested

DALLAS (AP) — A man believed to be the "ski mask rapist" who has raped as many as 30 women in Dallas since early 1985 has been arrested, police say.

The 38-year-old Dallas car detailer was arrested Tuesday night as he allegedly tried to break into a woman's apartment in north Dallas, police said Friday.

"We believe the intent was to break in and rape her," detective S.K. Hatchel said. "We think it was an attempted sexual assault."

The man was being held Friday night at Low Sterrett Justice Center on four charges of investigation of aggravated sexual assault, a burglary charge and an attempted burglary charge.

Police said the man is a convicted burglar who has served time in Texas prisons off and on since 1972 and was a suspect in the rapes before his arrest.

New evidence has linked the man to 17 rapes and police said they expect he committed more than a dozen more.

"We had circumstantial evidence in the past, but up until this week we were unable to make a good case," said detective R.E. Rommel. "He had been to the penitentiary for burglary, and he knew what he was doing. We've been watching him for several years."

Rommel said the man, co-owner of an auto detail shop, is also a suspect in a rape case in suburban Richardson and police in a Southern California city the man recently visited want to talk to him.

The rapist, who wore a ski mask or hood, was known for his burglary skills. He began drawing public attention several years ago as police realized one man was responsible for a string of rapes in northern areas of Dallas.

Most of the victims, police said, were women in their early 20s who were awakened and raped by a man who had broken in through a door or window. Although some of the victims were married, the man never struck when a man was present, leading police to believe the rapist had been observing his victims.

The series of rapes began in 1985 soon after the man was released from the Texas Department of Corrections after serving a term for a burglary conviction, officers said. The last attack attributed to the serial rapist was March 10, police said.

Suicide victim's note blames Soviets

MOSCOW (AP) — A Lithuanian who doused his clothes with gasoline and burned himself to death was protesting the Soviet "occupiers" in his homeland, according to Lithuanian officials quoting suicide notes.

Meanwhile, there were signs of a possible compromise to end the standoff over Lithuania's March 11 declaration of independence from the Soviet Union.

Lithuanian envoys were allowed to talk with senior Kremlin leaders in Moscow, and Lithuania's parliament will consider a French-German proposal to suspend the independence drive, according to reports published today.

On Friday in Washington, State Department spokesman Richard Boucher announced that Lithuanian Prime Minister Kazimiera Prunskiene had been granted a U.S. visa for unofficial, business travel and said she was expected to visit sometime next week.

The suicide victim, Stanislovas Jamaitis, 52, died of burns suffered when he set himself ablaze Thursday in front of the Bolshoi Theater in central Moscow.

He left notes to his wife, Stasala, and to Lithuanian President Vytautas Landsbergis.

hospital by helicopter. Tanner Bloom was taken to the Lubbock hospital by Snyder EMS, and is reported in stable condition. A family member said there is a possibility that Tanner will be released from the hospital this weekend.

At the scene, Burns told officers that he was not injured. However, the truck driver was taken to Cogdell Hospital, and a blood sample was taken. Investigators are still awaiting results of the lab analysis.

The accident report indicates there was no evidence of braking or skid marks. The truck was approaching the County Road 258 intersection with FM 1611, and investigators said the driver disregarded the stop sign.

Mrs. Bloom's pickup was headed south of FM 1611 and was struck broadside. The Jaws of Life was used to free the victims from the pickup. The report indicated that the Bloom vehicle was carried 160 feet from point of impact.

Burns' vehicle was an empty gravel truck owned by Anheco Construction Co. of Odessa which is involved in the Clairemont Highway resurfacing project.

Mrs. Bloom, the wife of John Bloom, was employed by A J's Silk Screen and was a 1982 graduate of Snyder High School. Funeral services for Mrs. Bloom where held April 21.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said Jamaitis left a suicide note, but it did not mention any political motive. It said the letter "spoke of an impossible family life and a desire to commit suicide."

The version released by Lithuanian authorities apologized for "something bad" in Jamaitis' marriage but stressed political motives.

By Shirley A. Gorman

Judy Gard knows she can't save all the stray and abused cats in the world, but she tries to help as many as she can anyway.

As a child, she learned to love cats from her grandmother who is now confined to a nursing home in Louisiana. She "hated" dog catchers then also, but now realizes that they were just "doing their job."

Gard does not put on airs or pretend to be something she is not. She believes that people have the responsibility to care for their pets and should not abuse, neglect or abandon them. When it comes to the welfare of all animals, Gard is not afraid to stand up and be counted, nor does she mind being referred to as the "woman with all the cats."

"What you see is what you get," she says of herself. "I have been told to 'turn my head' when I see an animal in distress or need, and I am trying to learn to do that, but I always seem to find animals which are being abused or neglected."

And that's when she has to at least try to help the animal.

Gard's love of animals has often been put to the test and she handles each case in the way she thinks best at the time.

It may mean reporting cases of animal abuse to the police who always investigate her complaint. She usually follows up each case with a phone call to learn what the outcome was.

Or she may approach people as an interested and genuinely concerned person. Sometimes her ef-

FAMILY AFFAIR — Judy Gard and her children love animals and spend a great deal of their time taking in and caring for strays and abandoned cats and kittens. As often as possible, they always place the animal in a good home. The latest addition to their pet menagerie includes three kittens. At left, Mrs. Gard is feeding one with a syringe while Kandise, 13, Brock, 11, and Eric, 9, look on. Both Brock and Eric are holding two other kittens who are also eager for a meal. (SDN Staff Photo by Shirley A. Gorman) forts are appreciated. Once she received a bouquet of flowers as a "thank you." Other times she may get the door slammed in her face or a verbal "bashing." She said if she ever has any fear about approaching someone about their treatment of a pet, she always reports it to the police and lets them handle it.

At one time, Gard also picked up dead animals off the street and buried them, but she no longer does that.

The animal advocate is married to Ken Gard who is an engineer for B. J. Hughes. They have three children: Kandy, 13, Brock, 11, and Eric 9; and a menagerie which consists, at the moment, of numerous cats (their own plus strays and abandoned cats which they have taken in), three dogs, guinea pigs and birds. Some of the cats are permanent members of the household while others are temporary boarders waiting for a permanent and loving homes.

The Gards' most recent acquisitions are three little kittens that were reportedly going to be drowned in a creek, but were brought to her instead. They were so young that, at first, Gard said she dipped a piece of t shirt material in some formula and let them suck it. They can now get nourishment from a syringe.

Over the years Gard has taken in many a stray cat, but her original feline family consisted of Grabby who just disappeared one day; Willow, the mother cat, and her offspring, Minnie and Ollie. "Willow had two litters and since I couldn't bear to part with the kittens I just kept them," she said.

Minnie had to be put to sleep; Ollie suffered seizures which left him weak and tired afterwards and eventually took his life and Willow became "deathly ill" and died. Gard has a special t-shirt which has feline figures on the front and underneath each are written the names of her now deceased cats, Grabby, Willow, Ollie and Minnie.

Gard has names for all of her other cats as well and of course each has its own story to tell.

P.T., short for "Pitiful Thing," is a three-legged black cat who has had to learn to manage with just three limbs after a badly mangled front leg had to be amputated. Gard said a friend of one of her sons had a cat with an injured leg. The cat was slated for a trip to the pound, but her son brought the cat home to her in-

Richardson and Smith say vows

Scharyel Shrunda Richardson and Herman Smith were joined in matrimony at 3:30 p.m. March 31, 1990, at the New Hope Baptist Church. The Rev. Anthony Wofford, pastor of the Norris Chapel Church of God in Christ, officiated the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Charlie and Merle Richardson of Snyder. The groom is the son of Howard Smith of Snyder and Emmer Williams of Little Rock, Ark.

The church pews were decorated with large pink bows made by Vickie Bell. The wedding arch was generously decorated with greenery featuring pink and white flowers.

Vocalists were Kathy Wofford and Wilhelmina Grear, cousin of the groom. Wofford sang "You Are So Beautiful" and "Always and Forever." Grear sang "Endless Love." Elizabeth Ferguson was the pianist.

The bride was given away by her father. She wore a floor-length bridal gown featuring a close fitting bodice with an overlay of lace. Scalloped trim accented the neckline and bodice. The dropped waist led to the flared, full skirt. The gown was specially made for the bride by Kathy Wofford.

For her head-piece she chose a pill-box fashioned hat with a floor length veil accented with scalloped appliques. The edges of the veil were trimmed with a delicate lace. She chose a pearl necklace and matching earrings to complete her look.

The bride carried a bouquet designed with pink roses and greenery with pink satin ribbon streamers. The bouquet was created by Gloria Dunkins.

Following tradition, the bride carried a handkerchief belonging to her mother. Her gown was new and she borrowed her head piece from Cynthia White of Colorado City. Her garter was blue and she wore birth pennies given to her by Dorothy Browning in her right shoe.

Cheryl Brooks served her sister as matron of honor. She wore a tea-length dress of pink satin highlighted by a large bow in the back. Bridesmaid Lola Morganth, sister of the groom, wore a dress of the same fashion as the matron of honor. The two attendants carried bouquets of pink silk roses also made by Dunkins.

La Crystal Brooks, niece of the bride, served as flower girl and D'Angelo Davis, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Willis Joe Smith of Big Spring served his brother as best man. Trey Lewis, Sr. of Little Rock, Ark., also brother of the groom, served as groomsman.

The groom and his attendants wore charcoal gray, three piece tuxedos with shadow pin striping. They featured tail jackets and pink shirts.

Charles Ray Richardson and Shelia Davis, brother and sister of the bride, registered guests.

A reception began in the church dining area later moving to the Howard Smith Recreation Center hosted by the groom's father.

The bride's table was covered with a white floor-length tablecloth with a pink cloth accenting the center. The bridal bouquet and wedding cake served as the focal point of the table. A special red, fruit punch was served from a crystal punch bowl. The table was decorated by Raymond Dunkins and Linda Scott. Cheryl Brooks, sister of the bride, and Sallie Mae Wadley served at the table.

The wedding cake was a traditional three-tiered white cake featuring five inch Grecian pillars separating each tier. Between each cake, roses cascaded between wedding bells and sweethearts. The cake was accented with a lace and lattice design. Roses rested beneath the base of each section with rosebuds and sweetpeas in the bride's chosen color of pink. Sugar bells were also created to enhance the cake. The top layer held a large pearl sweetheart and wedding bells as cascading rosebuds completed the crowning piece. The top was decorated with confection lace and flowers to co-ordinate with the cake. The cake was designed for the bride and groom by Reta Graham.

MR. AND MRS. HERMAN SMITH

The groom's table was decorated with a pink table covering enhanced by a gray center cloth. The cake was a German chocolate cake made by Eloise Smith, the groom's step-mother. Pink cups and forks along with pink and gray napkins adorned the table. Smith and Gloria Dunkins served at the table.

Following a honeymoon trip to Las Vegas, the couple makes their home in Snyder.

The bride is a 1985 graduate of Snyder High School and a 1989 graduate of Western Texas College with an associate's of applied science degree in general business-office careers. She is currently employed by the County Extension Office as a secretary.

The groom served in the U.S. Navy for two years as a hull technician in Long Beach, Calif., and is a 1985 graduate of Long Beach City College with an associate's of applied science degree. He has completed a four year apprenticeship program. He is currently employed by the Texas Department of Corrections, Price Daniel Unit, as a correctional officer. He is also employed as a supervisor by Howard Smith Janitorial Service.

Scurry County Library recently hosted a cataloging workshop on the Dewey Decimal System. Janice Mitchell, director of the library, presented the program to various libraries in the Big Country Library System, including those from Ozona and Puducah. Mitchell presented the same program in Comanche April 26 to another group from the Big Country Libraries. The workshop focused on classification numbers and subject headings.

Light cheeses offer one third less fat

LIGHT CHEESE'S
NEW YORK (AP) — Dorman-Roth Foods has reformulated its line of light cheese products. Dorman's Light now offers cheeses with 33 percent less fat and fewer calories than regular cheeses including cheddar, mozzarella and provolone. Two new items, Reduced Fat Muenster and Reduced Fat Swiss, have been added to the line.

Dorman's also makes Lo-Chol (low-cholesterol) and Low Sodium cheese lines. The Lo-Chol cheese alternatives are made with skim milk. They have at least 80 percent less cholesterol than regular cheese and are also lower in sodium. Lo-Chol varieties include Swiss, American, muenster, colby, mozzarella and cheddar.

The Low Sodium line includes a No Salt Added Swiss, which has 90 percent less sodium than regular Swiss, and Low Sodium Muenster, which has 50 percent less sodium than regular muenster.

108 pupils...

Piano auditions are slated locally

One hundred-eight local piano pupils from the classes of Barbara Tune, Barbara Mott, Paula Howard and Lynn Bethel have registered candidates for membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians, sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers, Teacher Division of the American College of Musicians, of which their teachers are members.

This group of young piano hobbyist will play in the National Piano Playing Auditions, at First Baptist Church Parlor and strive for Pledges, Local, District, State, National or even International honors which the mother organization will confer according to the number of standard, classic, romantic, and modern pieces chosen from the Masters of piano-forte literature each student can creditably perform in the presence of an imported examiner of note from another state.

From coast to coast, over 105,464 piano pupils of the nation will participate in this annual national piano-playing event being held in 759 music centers of the country. Every entrant worth his salt will be certificated, given a gold or bronze embossed pin, a year's membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians and Piano Hobbyist of the World.

Begun at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene in 1929, national headquarters are still maintained in Texas, where rules and regulations are available on request free of charge by addressing Piano Guild, Box 1807, Austin, TX., 78767.

Serving as adjudicator for the week-long auditions is Mrs. Gerald Harris of Lubbock. She received her degree in music from Texas Tech and her master's of music from the University of Texas. In addition, she did graduate work at the University of Southern California.

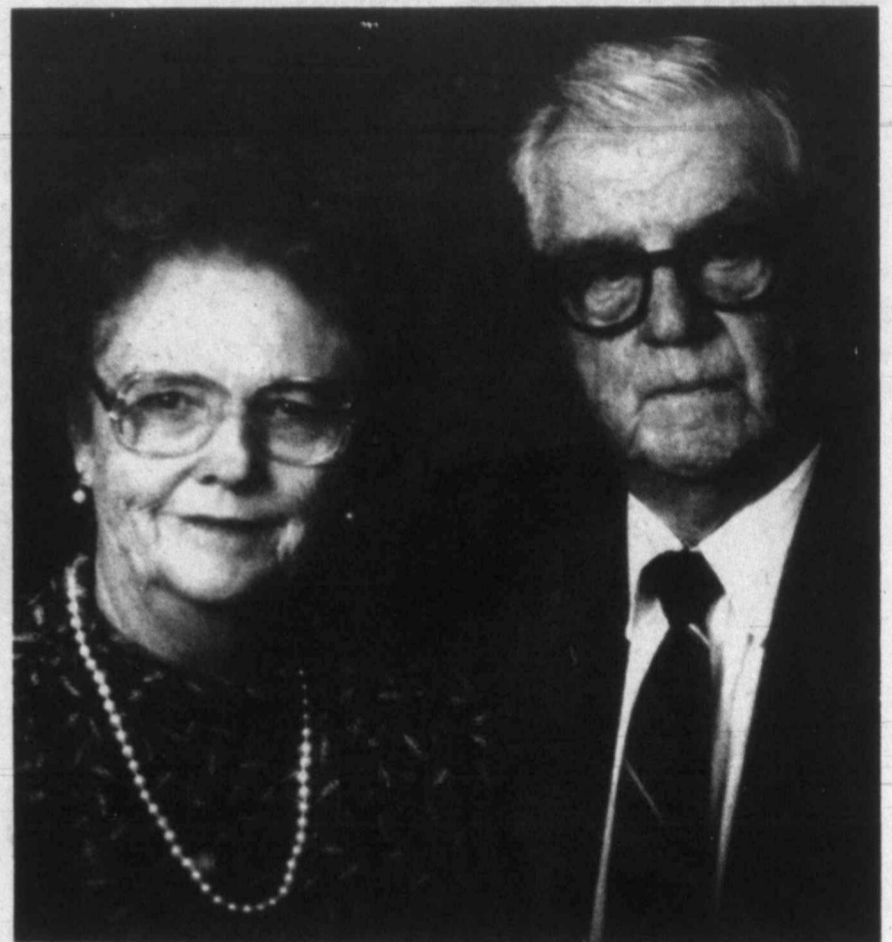

Harris is an organist at the First Baptist Church and organizer and director of the Bell-Aires, a handbell choir. She is a member of the Lubbock Music Club and a member of the Alpha Sigma Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma and a member of the Mu-Phi-Epsilon Sorority.

In room decor...

Let children have say to diminish squabbles

By BARBARA MAYER
AP Newsfeatures

If you want your kids' rooms to look more like something out of House Beautiful and less like a battle zone, turn the decorating over to them. As a result, family fights will probably diminish because your offspring will take pride in the project.

"Kids treat their room with respect when they've had a say in decorating it," says Antonio F. Torrice. The San Francisco designer advocates giving children as young as 2 or 3 a substantial say in room arrangement and colors.

His opinion is endorsed by child psychiatrist Lee Salk. "Designing with children helps them learn how to make important decisions and feel independent in a constructive way," says Salk.

When you give children a choice, you teach them that they can influence their environment, which builds self-esteem, says Torrice. He and his design partner, Ro Logripp, are authors of "In My Room: Designing for and with Children (Fawcett, $22.95).

Torrice deplors the practice of furnishing a child's room to satisfy the parent's long-cherished dreams. When he's called in — usually by parents with liberal ideas — he plays games and talks with the kids to learn how they want the space arranged and what their color preferences are.

It doesn't have to cost more to do things this way, he says. There is an inexpensive as well as expensive way to provide for the communications, storage and self-expression centers Torrice says should be part of every child's space.

A low-cost chalkboard and a high-priced intercom both permit parents and kids to communicate. Self-expression can be encouraged lavishly with track lighting, a microphone and a custom-built stage or modestly by putting a curtain with windows in it where the closet door should be. Accessible storage can be custom built or made of discount-store plastic basins with hand lettered labels on a wooden shelf.

Low-cost window shades can be installed to pull up rather than down so a child can operate them, says Torrice who is one of the few designers specializing in children's environments.

Some advice to parents to help their children feel more involved with their rooms:

— Allow your child to pick a color he or she wants and put it in the room in some way — paint or bed linens or even a desk blotter.

— Rearrange the room to make all or most of the storage accessible to the child. Lower clothes rods in closets. Install hardware children can easily grasp. Label containers so children know where things are. Ask the kids for ideas on where and how to store items.

— Create learning centers in the room to reflect a child's special interests. If he is fascinated by meteorology, hang a thermometer by the window. If she likes to collect leaves or rocks, provide a magnifying glass and a place to display finds.

— Rehang art, clock and bulletin board closer to a child's eye level.

Torrice and Logripp seem determined to make American children aware of decorating products and services. They plan to launch an exhibit this fall that will teach children the basics of decorating. The exhibition would tour children's museums around the country. There will be information on how carpet, furniture and wallpaper are made, for example. A large dollhouse with scale model furniture will give kids a chance to design a room.

Torrice has worked out some of his ideas in a furniture collection for Childcraft Co. of Salem, Ind. The modular maple furniture can be stacked to accommodate children as they grow.

Clint Black best known for single

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Country music fans know singer Clint Black best for his single, "A Better Man," and his album, "Killin' Time." That's because he has no other tunes out there in radio land.

The album, which contains the single, is Black's first. But the singer's mantel piece already is crowded with spanning new awards from the Academy of Country Music.

The 28-year-old former ironworker earned four of the 12 major trophies passed out during the academy's awards show Wednesday night.

Black was named top male vocalist, top new male vocalist and got single record of the year and album of the year.

"One thing I always felt was that I wouldn't go hungry with my singing. I knew that," Black said Wednesday night.

And Black already has some advice for young singers and musicians.

Summer brings bare feet problems

NEW YORK (AP) — Ah, summer. Time to trade in pumps and sneakers for sandals and bare feet.
It's also time for blisters, swollen feet, burning feet and sweaty feet.
Short of a hydromassage, there are some things you can do to keep your feet in working order — and comfortable — this summer.
— Never buy shoes in the morning. Feet swell during the day and shoes will be too tight.
— To soothe sweaty feet, gently rub with rubbing alcohol twice a day and dust with talcum powder.
— To revive tired feet, soak them in a warm footbath with a few drops of lavender oil. Dip them in cold water before rinsing.
— Cornstarch or potato-flour talcum powder dusted over foot blisters soothes and assists healing.
— Relieve aching feet by massaging the soles with cider vinegar or lemon juice.
These home remedies are compliments of The Body Shop, a London-based company specializing in natural hair and skin products.

by Bernice Bede Osol

April 30, 1990

April 29, 1990

Your self-sufficiency and leadership qualities will be substantially enhanced in the year ahead. Where you usually relied upon others, you will now depend upon yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Conditions will have a way of sorting themselves out at this time. Something that appears to be disappointing at first could end up having a bright side. Taurus, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Take matters into your own hands today. Instead of being victimized by events, start initiating changes that will work to your benefit. It can be done.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You have the ability today to work your way around obstacles that have been blocking your path. Start by making an effort to remove the one that is most difficult.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be more easily motivated today if you think in terms of personal gain. If you want something badly enough, you could be rather ingenious at figuring out a way to get it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If things have been a bit boring lately, get in touch with that unique friend of yours who has a faculty for making life more interesting. Something exciting could result.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There are some unusual financial opportunities around you at this time, so be alert for the unexpected. Something could suddenly develop that may open a second source of income.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You could be luckier than usual in your partnership arrangements that are established for either pleasurable or commercial purposes. In fact, you might score in both.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Today, if you have to make a choice between frivolous activities and those which you deem to be productive, choose the latter. Rewards for industriousness could be rather large.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Prior to a challenging event today, you might feel slightly uncertain about something until you stand up to the test. Once you do, you will realize your fears were groundless.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There are indications you could be in for a pleasant surprise today. You'll be repaid in greater measure for something nice you've recently done for another.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A valued friend who has your best interest at heart might do something unrequested for you today that you haven't been able to do on your own. You could be the last one to know about it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Restrictive influences that may have held you in check this week could be alleviated today, especially where your career or commercial interests are concerned.

Tests on marinades

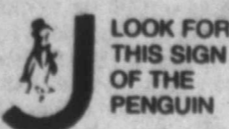

NEW YORK (AP) — A series of tests performed in COOK'S test kitchen shows that marinades have little effect on the tenderness of the meat, even after 24 hours, according to the magazine's July-August 1989 issue.

Many wood chips add no flavor to grilled foods; neither do handfuls of herbs. Natural lump charcoal is better than briquets, is ready to use in 10 minutes, and starts with a few sheets of newspaper, according to COOK'S.

Recipe Box

When you need a satisfying family meal a hurry, get into the fast lane with these timesaving ideas.

SHORTCUT INGREDIENTS
— Start with a jar of spicy salsa instead of mixing together canned tomatoes and additional seasonings.

— Open jars of baby food fruits and vegetables instead of cooking and pureeing fresh produce.

— Use bottled salad dressing for a quick marinade.

— Make potato salads from canned or frozen potatoes.

QUICK METHODS

— Shorten the cooking time of slow-baking main dishes and desserts by preparing them on the rangetop instead of in the oven.

— Shave minutes from cooking time by preparing individual portions of foods such as meatloaf and desserts.

— Get the jump on chilled salads or desserts by keeping cans of frequently used fruits, vegetables and meats on hand in your refrigerator.

— Broil or poach frozen fish steaks or portions without thawing first.

— Drop biscuits from a spoon instead of rolling.

— Quick-chill pasta for salads. Drain and place in a bowl of ice water for 5 minutes, then drain well.

FAST MAIN DISHES

— Fajitas in a Flash: Cook frozen beef sandwich steaks according to package directions. Serve in flour tortillas with shredded lettuce, sliced green onion, chopped tomato and clear

Italian salad dressing.

— Easy Chicken or Fish Parmesan: Heat frozen chicken or fish filets according to package directions. Top with spaghetti sauce and shredded Parmesan or mozzarella cheese; heat until cheese melts.

— Tortilla Roll-Ups: Fill flour tortillas with deli tuna or chicken salad, lettuce and tomatoes.

— Super-Quick Chow Mein: Prepare canned chicken or beef stew according to package directions. Serve over chow mein noodles.

— Timesaving Tuna-Macaroni Salad: Add drained tuna and chopped radishes to deli macaroni salad. Serve on a bed of lettuce. Or, add canned or leftover cooked chicken or ham to the deli salad.

Fluvanna homecoming

Bill Jones will hold a meeting April 30 of all committees and anyone interested in the Fluvanna homecoming. The meeting will be 7:30 p.m. at Fluvanna Community Center. The homecoming is scheduled for June 8-9 at Scurry County Coliseum. Class parties are being planned for June 8.

This week's column isn't a column at all, but more of an "Ask You" feature to solicit your help in a few areas.

Rain Totals

The Snyder Daily News is presently updating its list of people to call when trying to compile weather-related stories. In particular, we need volunteers whom we can call, or who will call us, concerning rainfall totals in the Scurry County area. All that's necessary are a reliable rain gauge, a telephone and about 30 seconds of your time on mornings following significant rainfall. If you'd like to help, please call us during weekdays at 573-5486.

Recycling

Earth Day has prompted a flood of phone calls both here and at the chamber of commerce concerning businesses which accept recyclable materials. If you or your businesses accepts such items, please give us a call and we'll get the word out.

Club Information

Later this year, The Snyder Daily News will begin a series previewing various hobby or recreation-type clubs in Scurry County. These clubs would include, for instance, the Canyon Gun Club, Snyder Bass Club, the model airplane club and non-profit clubs other than mens' or womens' service-type organizations. Following this series, and farther along in the future, we will preview the various support-type, non-profit groups which help with abuses such as drugs, alcohol and weight loss or gain.

In order to do this, however, we need to know about your club. What we need in particular is the following information:

- Names of the club's officers and phone number of its president or publicity chairman, along with a recommended time we can call for more information.
- When and where the club meets.
- A list of the club's functions, goals and purposes.
- Who is eligible to join (ages, other requirements).
- A list of materials, if any, which potential club members need to possess.
- Dues and current number of members.

SDN Opinion Page

Columns - Cartoons - Look Back - Letters - Quotables

—Other than regular meetings, any special activities which the club conducts or in which it participates.

—Any other information about the club which would be of interest to the general public and/or potential members.

The information may also include a photo of a club-related activity. If a photo is not available, we will be glad to take one.

We'll attempt to begin running the series between mid-May and the first of June, which should give your club enough time to gather the necessary information together and get it to us.

Please drop it by or mail it to P.O. Box 949. If you need additional information or have questions, you may call 573-5486 during normal working hours.

Tentative plans are to run the series on Sundays, featuring one club at a time.

Remember, we will be previewing non-profit, hobby-type clubs first, then support groups next. In the meantime, if your club has a special event coming up, we will be glad to inform the general public. Thanks.

The Census

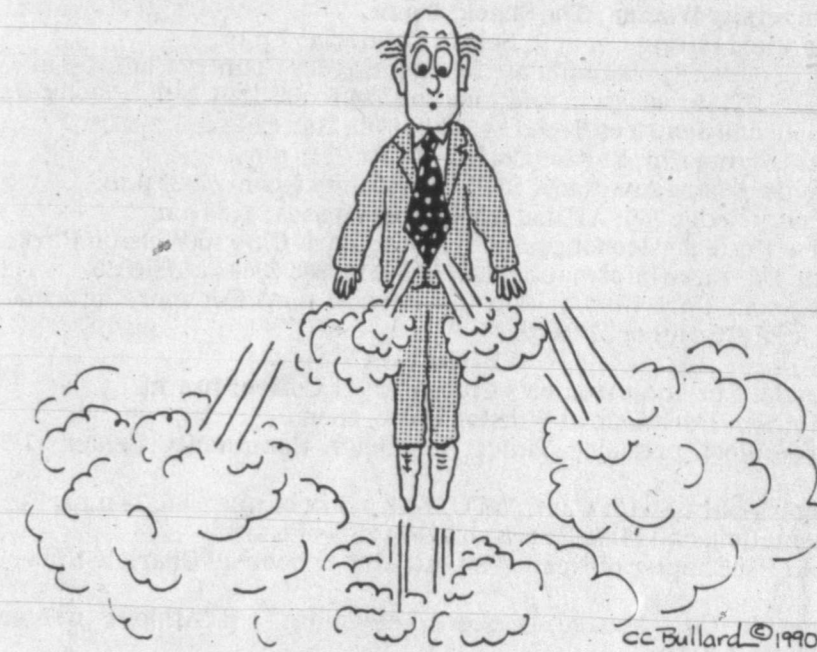

The Census Bureau continues to urge Texans to return their census forms. As of the middle of the month, the return rate in Texas was only about 57 percent compared to 61 percent nationally.

It's a very real fact that if Texans don't turn in their census forms, the state may again experience an undercount of its population. If that doesn't mean anything to you, consider the fact that the population count has a direct effect on how much federal money local communities receive for things like job training, nutrition programs and highway construction.

It also means more enumerators will have to be hired (paid for by tax dollars) to contact households individually. It's a whole lot easier to just fill the darn thing out and mail it in than have somebody knocking on your door.

If you need help or have lost your census form, or if yours is the type that is supposed to be picked up and hasn't been, you can call 1-800-999-1990 (in Spanish, 1-800-777-0978) toll free or check with the Abilene office at (915) 674-8600.

SDN Letters to the Editor

To the People of Snyder and Scurry County:

We feel that we must tell each of you "Thank you" for your love, prayers and help. As we look out of the hospital window, our hearts cry not only the loss of Kelly, but for our home in Snyder.

Tanner looks at me with the saddest eyes, but I know the joy he feels when a visitor arrives. We are soul searching for a good side of this mess, and we believe that the love all of you have shown must be it.

Keep us in your prayers and Kelly in your hearts. We can't wait to be in Hooterville again! We love you all; God bless you. See you soon, John and Tanner Bloom

Dear Editor,

I would like to compliment the park maintenance personnel for painting the park play ground equipment and the canopies over the picnic tables such bright, pretty and "happy" colors. It sure perks up the looks of the park and makes it look like a joyful place to be.

Sincerely,
Sandra Kay Browning

To The Editor:

As I sit writing this, I can still see the photo of a young family, taken on a warm, windy Easter Sunday. A young father and mother and a beautiful little boy. They had everything to look forward to, including another child due in several months. All of this was changed so suddenly and tragically on Tuesday morning, April 17, just two days after that photo was taken, when a construction truck working on a state highway project ran a stop sign and hit a pickup driven by the mother. Now a young husband has lost his wife and unborn child and a precious little boy has no mother. How is he going to understand that?

This tragedy makes me wonder why the state continues to employ a company who repeatedly violates traffic laws. It has been reported that this company's vehicles have been red tagged at least 10 times for violations. These trucks have also been observed running that same stop sign on several occasions.

Is this also the same company whose drivers have been ignoring the flashing lights of a school bus?

How long before one of our children is run over by one of these trucks? Who is going to have to die next, and how many more after that, before the state will do something about this?

I don't know if it will help, but I am going to write my state representative and express my views on this situation. Maybe if enough people did the same, something might be done about the state hiring irresponsible contractors, and hopefully prevent another family from having to go through such pain.

Sincerely,
Linda L. Key

"You're doing it right."

"I am?"

"Oh sure. You should part your hair on the right because your left brow is low. You did know you had a lowbrow, didn't you?"

"A lowbrow?"

"Oh sure. So you need to part your hair on the right."

"Over my highbrow."

"Right!"

"About the length..."

"Oh, long hair is coming back. It's very in now."

"But I've always worn it long."

"I can see that."

"I mean, I've never cared very much about styles and fads. I just wear it the way I like it."

"Um-hmmm."

"Kinda like my own personal style."

"Obviously."

"Jackie Kennedy, or Onassis, or Bouvier, or whoever she is...She's always had this, like, personal style, you know?"

"Well..."

"And Gloria Steinhem. They each have this style and that's the way they've always done it. It's distinctive. It's THEM. So I kinda do that with my own hair."

"But you really don't want to go into the nineties looking like the sixties, do you?"

"The sixties?"

"This long hair, and your eye makeup..."

"My eye makeup?"

"Yeah. See, it should be more smudged here, and darker here, and NEVER use frost. Use flat."

"Flat."

"And your blush. It should be lower."

"But my cheekbone is here."

"Lower."

"Lower?"

"Lower."

"And as for your hair...I know just exactly what to do with it. We'll shape it a little, perm it, it'll look great."

"You mean, a permanent?"

"I know just the one to use. We'll go with those large rollers, go for the wave effect."

"But permanents aren't really permanent, are they?"

"What?"

"I mean, you have to do them over and over, don't you?"

"For you...no more than, oh, twice, maybe three times a year."

"Three times?"

"Maybe."

"But my hair is really healthy. I've never done anything to it."

"I can tell."

"You think I look sixties?"

"Make an appointment. Bring your makeup. We'll fix you up."

"Well...how much is all this going to cost?"

"The makeover is free."

"You think I need a makeover?"

"But with hair as long as yours, we'll have to use two, maybe three perm kits."

"Three?"

"Maybe. It shouldn't run any more than seventy."

"DOLLARS?"

"You'll look great. Very nineties."

"You don't think I could look maybe seventies or eighties?"

"It's up to you. It's your hair."

"That's the trouble with Gloria Steinhem. She's never around when you need advice."

FIVE YEARS AGO

Three juniors from Snyder High School were singled out for their scores on the National Merit Scholarship exam. The three scored in the top 50,000 out of 1.1 million juniors taking the test nationwide. They were Lesa Barkowsky, Thomas Brown, and Tim Curfman.

An estimated crowd of 200 Snyder supporters were on hand in Austin to hear that SHS's one-act play presentation was named State 4-A Champion for the second year in a row.

The local production of "Romeo and Juliet" not only captured the state title, but Dana Parham, in the role of Juliet, was recognized as the outstanding performer for the entire contest.

TEN YEARS AGO

Western Texas College golfers

earned a trip to the NJCAA National Golf Tournament at Fort Meyers, Fla. Four players under the direction of Coach Bob O'Day made the all-region team. They were Jeff Wagner, Ken Lawrence, Richard White and Mike Cotter.

Mrs. Jean Black, owner and operator of the Snootie Fox, was named 1980 Boss of the Year by the Scurry County Charter Chapter of ABWA.

Four Snyder High School athletes became state qualifiers in their respected events. They were Dale Jenkins, pole vault; Thomas Selmon, long jump; Brad Richardson; high jump and Neal Paige, tennis.

Susan Tolbert of Snyder, a

Western Texas College sophomore, was crowned rodeo queen during opening ceremonies of the NIRA Rodeo.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Mary Burton, outgoing president of the Snyder Jaycee-ettes and state director, presented Sharon Farmer the Jaycee-ette of the Year Award at a joint installation banquet at the Snyder Country Club.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Snyder Chamber of Commerce board members announced two appointments to fill vacancies created by the departure from the city of Jimmy Melton, who served as director and chamber treasurer. H.F. Clark was appointed treasurer and Loren Sullivan, J.C. Penney Store manager, was named to fill Melton's vacant seat as director.

Contact lenses have gotten better

By the Editors of Consumer Reports

Twenty years ago, soft contact lenses revolutionized the way people see. They were easy to fit, easy to adapt to and comfortable to wear. People who couldn't get used to hard lenses switched to soft lenses, and today more than 75 percent of contact lens wearers use soft lenses.

But soft lenses are currently being challenged by a new generation of hard lenses as the contacts of choice. Called rigid gas-permeable lenses, these new lenses are made with recently developed plastics and are superior to soft lenses in most respects.

The big breakthrough is breathability. The new plastics allow more oxygen to reach the eye than soft lenses or the old-fashioned hard lenses. That added oxygen adds an extra margin of safety because the eye needs a continuous supply to stay healthy.

It also means that rigid gas-permeable lenses are just about as comfortable as soft lenses — without the long break-in period that old-fashioned hard lenses needed. Suffused with oxygen, the cornea no longer swells and feels irritated at the end of the day. And there's no more spectacle blur — hazy vision after taking out the old-fashioned hard lenses and putting on glasses.

Gas-permeable lenses correct vision better than soft lenses, too. And they are especially good for correcting corneal astigmatism — blurred vision caused by irregularities in the shape of the cornea.

One disadvantage of soft lenses is that caring for them often requires a complex cleaning and disinfection regimen. Their wet gummy surface attracts tear proteins and mucus as well as microorganisms. Unless the lenses are kept scrupulously clean, deposits can build up and irritate the eye, and the microorganisms may cause serious corneal infections.

The hard surfaces of rigid lenses are easier to clean, and deposits and microorganisms have a harder time sticking to them. And rigid lenses are cheaper to clean, too.

Last year, Consumer Reports calculated the annual cost of caring for both hard and soft lenses. The solutions for hard lenses ranged from about $62 a year to about $110 a year. The solutions for various soft-lens regimens ranged from about $185 a year to about $400 a year.

Rigid lenses are also less fragile than soft lenses, which will also save money in the long run. Rigid lenses tend to last about two years, while the life span of a soft lens is only about 9 to 12 months. Soft lenses are easily torn by a fingernail or damaged by surface deposits.

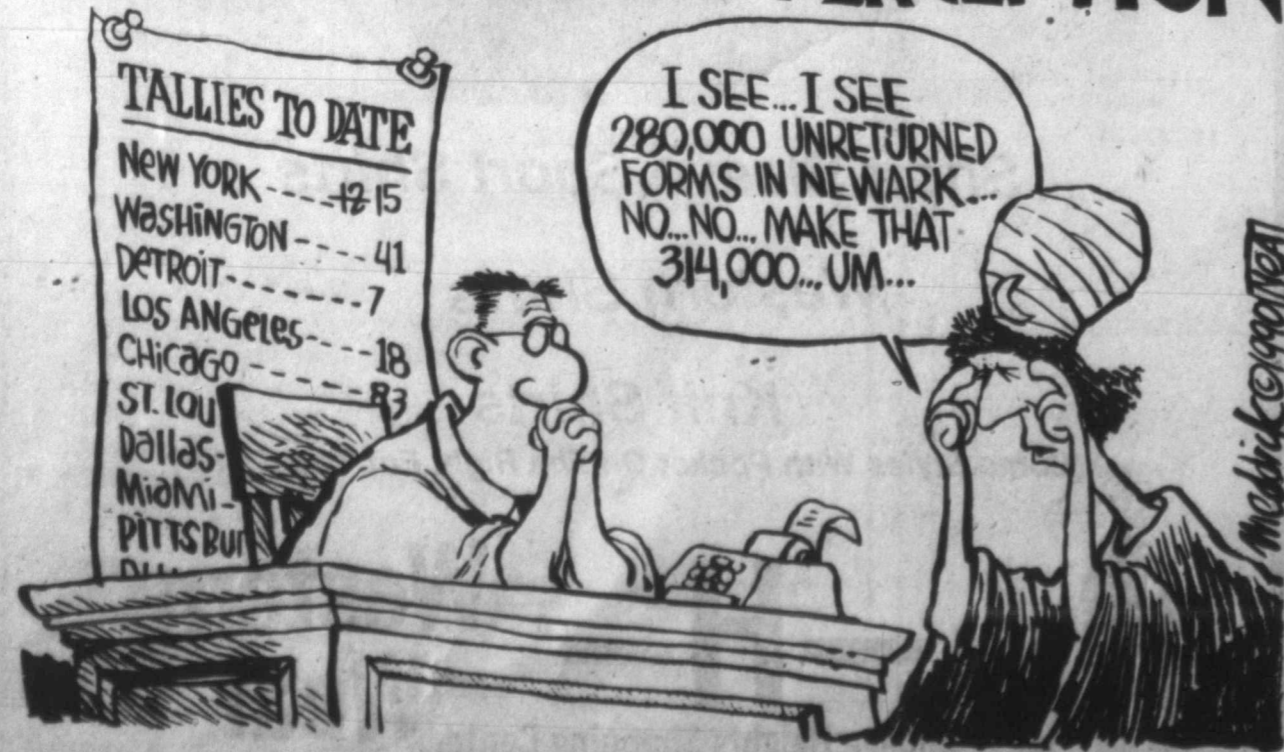

Although prices for lenses vary widely, you'll generally pay $150 to $250 a pair for soft lenses. Rigid lenses typically cost about $50 more, but they'll cost you less over time since they're more durable and cheaper to maintain.

If you want to consider switching to rigid gas-permeable lenses, talk to your eye-care professional. Unlike soft lenses, rigid lenses must be custom-made to fit your eyes, so make sure your practitioner is experienced in fitting them.

EXTRA CENSUSRY PERCEPTION

Soviet cinema group is wooing Hollywood

LOS ANGELES (AP) — First there was a Moscow McDonald's. Can a Gorky "Porky's" be far behind?

Maybe not. The USSR Film Service Corp. has opened a Los Angeles office, encouraging U.S. moviemakers to film their projects in the Soviet Union.

All comers — from historical films to a Soviet "Lonesome Dove" called "A Cowboy and a Cossack" — are welcome, say the organizers, even leftover Cold Warrior types.

So far, the office has provided production assistance for filming in the Soviet Union of the movies "Peter the Great" and "Dark Eyes," and the television shows "Dallas," "Head of the Class" and "Road to Africa."

The two-person Film Service staff now is handling 60 projects in various stages of development. The latest is the cable movie "Final Warning," starring Jon Voight as Dr. Robert Gale, the U.S. doctor who treated radiation sickness caused by the Chernobyl disaster.

What are the advantages of shooting in the Soviet Union? The USSR Film Service tempts producers with an array of outdoor locations, affordable labor, a growing pool of actors and technicians and some fairly modern equipment.

Such improvements only came recently.

"We have 39 motion picture studios in the country," said Yuri Spilny, the company's chief executive officer. "But they are not in perfect shape and some of the equipment is outdated."

Soyuzkinoexport, known as SKS, is the parent company of the Film Service, and helps provide logistical support. If you need the Soviet army for a battle scene, SKS will arrange it. Need help getting through customs? They can assist you there, too.

SKS has entered into a joint deal with a British supplier to provide catering trucks, makeup trailers and lighting equipment for all productions.

For the upcoming feature film, "The Siege of Leningrad," SKS helped reconstruct a model of the title city in World War II period detail.

"It's a huge construction job," Spilny said. "To do this in the United States would probably be four to five times more expensive." The film also will use German equipment left behind in the war.

What happens if somebody wants to make a movie similar to the red scare drama "Red Dawn"?

"If a film is pure nonsense — well, it's still possible, but government organizations will not get involved with it," Spilny said.

Several U.S. companies have expressed interest in making a film about Stalin, said David Gamburg, the president of Film Service.

"The Soviet Union hasn't yet dealt with Stalin himself because it's such a painful subject," Gamburg said. "We've been trying not to do with Stalin what the NBC miniseries did about Mussolini. We want to make a philosophical drama and not romanticize him."

The company takes on the work for a percentage of the film's budget, and will make close to $1 million for its work on "Final Warning," Spilny said that in three years the company will be profitable.

As a side business, the office is also trying to bring more Soviet films to American theaters.

"Russia wants to get into the world market," Spilny said. "We do about 150 theatrical films a year, but there is no distribution beyond our borders."

The first all-color, talking picture, "On With the Show," opened in New York in 1929.

GOOD BUSINESS!

GET INVOLVED

How does a community better itself? By working together for the entire area. Not just for personal gain, but also for indirect gain. More people must be willing to work for the entire community rather than just personal ventures. To do this, we must use our time wisely. That means ALL of our time to the fullest extent. We must remember there are three (3) kinds of time - WORK time, LEISURE time, and THINK time. Work time - such as, do we give our business, employer and community an honest days work? Leisure time - relax ourselves and those around us. Think time - to gather your thoughts and plan your time and goals. then follow through with some of the goals instead of looking for excuses to not pursue them. Everyone in a community is like an oar in a boat - either pulling together or going around in circles. How many of you have devoted time to a community project that does not directly benefit or affect you? Your community is made up of many people, organizations and businesses looped together working on many goals and projects day after day. Have you ever tried to push a chain? You can't push people or a community any better than you can a chain UNTIL... people are welded together! This is what we need. People and chain reactions working together for the benefit of the businesses, the community and themselves. Get involved TODAY! Call 573-3558 to find out what projects are being planned so that you might have an opportunity to GET INVOLVED!

CREATIVE DESIGN FOR THE 90's

Thursday, May 10, 1990 at the Jerry P. Worsham Auditorium, Sand's Design Team will host a SPRING RELEASE OF NAILS, SKIN and HAIR. Jerry Worsham and his drama department will be assisting along with Harley Bynum Photography presenting a slide show, fashions provided by Margaret's Dress Shop and fashion jewelry provided by Cox's Jewelers. There will be live models to present a preview of the latest styles in clothing, hair, nails, jewelry and more! Miss Snyder, Sarina Wright will be in attendance also. Make plans to attend this fun filled and information filled evening on May 10 at 7:00 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door for $3.00 for adults and $2.00 for students. All proceeds will benefit the Noah project.

MAY DAY

It is time once again for the Senior Citizens Center May Day! This year May Day will be held on Saturday, May 5 at the Scurry County Coliseum. The excitement begins at 2:00 p.m. when the booths open to the public. There will be arts and crafts booths, a sweet tooth booth - with pies, cakes, and assorted sweets by individual pieces, and a country store with all sorts of goodies. There will be entertainment throughout the day and a barbecue meal to be served from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. then the highlight of the day will be the AUCTION where handmade quilts, crocheted table covers, bed covers, a Robert Taylor bronze and much more will be auctioned off to the highest bidder! From 6:00 to 6:30 there will be a small ceremony to honor the volunteers that have assisted the Senior Citizens Center the past year. Make your plans to go out to the Coliseum on May 5 for a full day of fun and good food. Tickets are $5.00 each and are available by calling the Senior Citizens Center at 573-4035.

JOINT CIVIC CLUB MEETING

The Rotary, Lions, Jaycees and Kiwanis Clubs will be having a joint meeting on May 2, 1990 - 11:45 a.m. at the Snyder Country Club. The speaker for the meeting will be Jerry Farrington, Chairman and Chief Executive of Texas Utilities Company, Dallas, Texas. Farrington is Chairman of the Texas Chamber of Commerce also. All Civic club members are urged to attend.

ABSENTEE VOTING

Remember to vote in the upcoming City, College and Independent School District elections. Absentee voting is April 16 to May 1 and if you should miss voting absentee be sure and vote on MAY 5!

SMALL BUSINESS SERVICES

The Small Business Division of the Texas Chamber of Commerce now offers services through the Small Business Division Office of Business Permit Assistance. These services are:

- *Individually research information on permits and licenses issued by State agencies and State agency jurisdictions for business.
- *Handle comprehensive application process which provides requesting business with all permit applications necessary to operate a business in Texas
- *Maintain a library to conduct research on State regulations
- *Publish a free booklet, "Texas - A Guide to Business Licenses and Permits."

Please feel free to come by the Chamber of Commerce office to review this informative material.

WHAT THE NATIONAL EDUCATION GOALS MEAN FOR BUSINESS

Prepared by the Center for Workforce Preparation and Quality Education/U.S. Chamber of Commerce. First of six parts

READINESS

GOAL 1: BY THE YEAR 2,000, ALL CHILDREN IN AMERICA WILL START SCHOOL READY TO LEARN

OBJECTIVES:

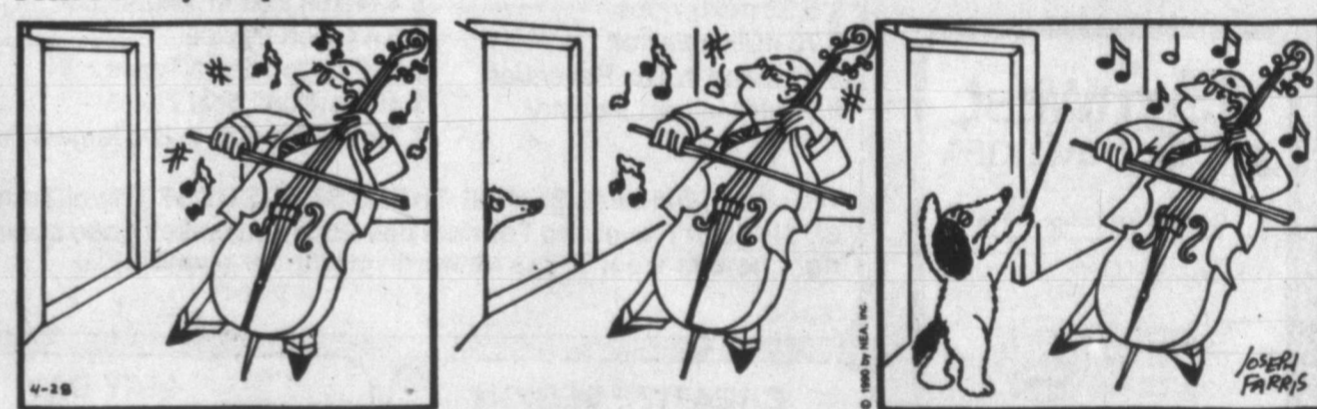

- *All disadvantaged and disabled children will have access to high quality and developmentally appropriate preschool programs that help prepare children for school.
- *Every parent in America will be a child's first teacher and devote time each day helping his or her preschool child learn; parents will have access to the training and support they need.
- *Children will receive the nutrition and health care needed to arrive at school with healthy minds and bodies, and the number of low birth weight babies will be significantly reduced through enhanced prenatal health systems.

Challenges and Implications for Business:

Ensuring that all children are ready to enter school is a goal that can be attained only with a firm commitment by education, business, and community leaders. The academic and social progress of children must be monitored carefully and early - and special help must be provided before years of academic failure have eroded a youngster's self-esteem and left him or her woefully behind in school.

Signs that a child is at risk of having academic difficulties appear well before he or she starts kindergarten. Poverty is such a sign. Today, approximately 25 percent of America's children live in poverty, 50 percent of these youngsters are black; 30 percent are Hispanic. Many of these children lack access to preventative health services. Others are born to teenage mothers. Of unmarried teens who give birth, 73 percent go on welfare within four years. Intervention services are needed to ensure that these children can enter school prepared to take advantage of educational resources and opportunities available to them.

Without early intervention and remediation, disadvantaged children run a high risk of doing poorly in school and eventually dropping out. Ultimately, this means a poorly educated workforce for employers. Head Start is an example of a successful early intervention program. It has been proposed that expanding funding levels under Head Start would help to achieve this goal. Currently, only 25 percent of all eligible children are served by Head Start.

dumped in the Gard's neighborhood some six years ago. The cat had ringworms but after proper treatment the condition disappeared and Lucky Blue has been a cherished pet ever since.

Scrones, is an "ugly cat," according to Gard. She said a girl she knew left the cat in their dog pen by mistake and she was lucky to survive.

Furr's is another black stray who was named for where he was found. He lived with the Gards for years and even caused quite a commotion one day when he accidentally got himself caught in a neighbor's chair and had to be rescued by the combined efforts of Gard, Dr. Jerry Early, local vet, and Jackie Jenkins, animal warden.

Furr's had a knack for getting into things but one day he sealed his own doom by catching and bringing home a bat. Gard said they had him put to sleep because they feared the bat might have had rabies.

Rackie belonged to a neighbor who had some rather wild cats that lived in the area and Gard said he was one of the ones she was able to tame.

"We used a large cage previously used for rabbits and had to put on gloves to handle him and feed him until he settled down," she said.

Nikki joined the Gard's menagerie when a friend moved away and took all but one of her cats to the pound.

Mouse is a Siamese cat who replaced another cat the Gards' had who accidentally choked to death on a chicken bone.

One Halloween night she said she found two stray cats within just a few blocks of their home. She had both spayed. One disappeared a couple of years later and another was killed by a car.

Gard, who believes strongly in spaying and neutering pets, has had all but one of her cats neutered. The lone hold out is a stray black colored male cat who will come for food at mealtimes but otherwise won't let anyone get near enough to capture him for a trip to the vet.

All her cats also get yearly vaccinations and wear collars. And since she has so many cats she said that sometimes the vet will come to her home to administer vaccinations. She said she has been fortunate that the vets in Snyder are good about letting her

"pay out" her bills when necessary. Her pet food bill is also high since they have several other animals to feed in addition to the cats.

A few weeks ago one of the Gards' black cats got hit by a car. Also, about six years ago, Gard said one of the kittens they had then accidentally drowned when one of her children put it in the swimming pool. "We had been bathing cats for ticks and fleas and I never thought to caution the children about doing this on their own," Gard said.

Even though her husband purports not to like cats, she said he speaks to them and pets them when he comes home from work. She said he accepts her love of animals but he doesn't like the vet bills which can be rather high. And he won't stop the car if he is driving and she spots an animal in need.

Gard's three children also share their mother's love of animals.

Brock likes cats better than dogs because they use a litter box. His favorite is Tac, a white and fluffy kitten, that is not "wild or mean."

Eric's favorite is Lucky Blue because he's "big and fat" and he likes to sleep with him.

Kandice's favorite is P.T. because in spite of having three legs he can be "very sweet and affectionate."

Gard is originally from Baton Rouge, La. She has been trained as a dental assistant but after her daughter was born she did not work for several years. In 1989 she graduated from Western Texas College's and Howard Payne College's nursing program with an LVN's license. She has worked at Lubbock General Hospital and is now employed nights at a nursing home.

In addition to collecting stray cats, Gard also started collecting glass cats several years ago. One cherished piece is a cat doll which she acquired at the gift shop at Lubbock General Hospital.

THREE-LEGGED WONDER — Judy Gard poses with P.T., short for "Pitiful Thing," who had to have one of his front paws amputated due to a severe injury. The spirited cat has learned to manage quite well with just three legs and even spends his days outdoors. (SDN Staff Photo by Shirley A. Gorman) stead. Gard wasn't sure what could be done for him so she took him to a local veterinarian who had to amputate the leg.

"I was surprised when I came to pick P.T. up because I hadn't realized that the entire leg would have to be cut off. But there was really no other way as the leg was too damaged," Gard explained.

In the beginning, she said P.T. had a hard time learning to use a litterbox with just three legs, but now the cat manages quite well.

P.T. likes to sleep indoors at night, but during the day Gard said one of them always has to walk him across the street so he can lay around in the bushes and shrubbery, one of his favorite pastimes.

In fact, the day this interview was conducted Gard had kept P.T. indoors so his picture could be taken, but he was so annoyed at not being allowed outside that he was turned loose as soon as possible. Gard walked him across the street and, of course, P.T. headed straight for the shrubbery.

Chronic Sinus was discovered at a baseball game last summer and Gard said that since no one else wanted her she took her home with her. She was aptly named because "she is always sick and is always giving something to the other cats."

Missy came from a mall in Big Spring about four or five years ago. A woman was trying to find homes for several cats and, of course, Gard obliged her by choosing Missy.

It seems to be inevitable that in a home where several cats live at least one or two won't get along and that truism aptly fits Missy and P.T. who do not like each other at all and in fact have to be separated when they are indoors.

Tao was found at The Shack where he had been hanging around for a couple of weeks. It wasn't long before he also joined the Gard household.

Wildy is the black cat who won't let anyone get near enough to him to pet him, but he will come around for food at mealtimes. "I wish I could catch him to get him neutered since he is scarred from years of fighting," Gard said.

Annie was also found at a ball game.

Lucky Blue, a Siamese, was dumped in the Gard's neighborhood some six years ago. The cat had ringworms but after proper treatment the condition disappeared and Lucky Blue has been a cherished pet ever since.

Scrones is an "ugly cat," according to Gard. She said a girl she knew left the cat in their dog pen by mistake and she was lucky to survive.

Furr's is another black stray who was named for where he was found. He lived with the Gards for years and even caused quite a commotion one day when he accidentally got himself caught in a neighbor's chair and had to be rescued by the combined efforts of Gard, Dr. Jerry Early, local vet, and Jackie Jenkins, animal warden.

Furr's had a knack for getting into things but one day he sealed his own doom by catching and bringing home a bat. Gard said they had him put to sleep because they feared the bat might have had rabies.

Rackie belonged to a neighbor who had some rather wild cats that lived in the area and Gard said he was one of the ones she was able to tame.

"We used a large cage previously used for rabbits and had to put on gloves to handle him and feed him until he settled down," she said.

Nikki joined the Gard's menagerie when a friend moved away and took all but one of her cats to the pound.

Mouse is a Siamese cat who replaced another cat the Gards' had who accidentally choked to death on a chicken bone.

One Halloween night she said she found two stray cats within just a few blocks of their home. She had both spayed. One disappeared a couple of years later and another was killed by a car.

Gard, who believes strongly in spaying and neutering pets, has had, all but one of her cats neutered. The lone hold out is a stray black colored male cat who will come for food at mealtimes but otherwise won't let anyone get near enough to capture him for a trip to the vet.

All her cats also get yearly vaccinations and wear collars. And since she has so many cats she said that sometimes the vet will come to her home to administer vaccinations. She said she has been fortunate that the vets in Snyder are good about letting her

"pay out" her bills when necessary. Her pet food bill is also high since they have several other animals to feed in addition to the cats.

A few weeks ago one of the Gards' black cats got hit by a car. Also, about six years ago, Gard said one of the kittens they had then accidentally drowned when one of her children put it in the swimming pool. "We had been bathing cats for ticks and fleas and I never thought to caution the children about doing this on their own," Gard said.

Even though her husband purports not to like cats, she said he speaks to them and pets them when he comes home from work. She said he accepts her love of animals but he doesn't like the vet bills which can be rather high. And he won't stop the car if he is driving and she spots an animal in need.

Gard's three children also share their mother's love of animals.

Broek likes cats better than dogs because they use a litter box. His favorite is Tac, a white and fluffy kitten, that is not "wild or mean."

Eric's favorite is Lucky Blue because he's "big and fat" and he likes to sleep with him.

Kandice's favorite is P.T. because in spite of having three legs he can be "very sweet and affectionate."

Gard is originally from Baton Rouge, La. She has been trained as a dental assistant but after her daughter was born she did not work for several years. In 1989 she graduated from Western Texas College's and Howard Payne College's nursing program with an LVN's license. She has worked at Lubbock General Hospital and is now employed nights at a nursing home.

In addition to collecting stray cats, Gard also started collecting glass cats several years ago. One cherished piece is a cat doll which she acquired at the gift shop at Lubbock General Hospital.

THREE-LEGGED WONDER — Judy Gard poses with P.T., short for "Pitiful Thing," who had to have one of his front paws amputated due to a severe injury. The spirited cat has learned to manage quite well with just three legs and even spends his days outdoors. (SDN Staff Photo by Shirley A. Gorman) stead.

Gard wasn't sure what could be done for him so she took him to a local veterinarian who had to amputate the leg.

"I was surprised when I came to pick P.T. up because I hadn't realized that the entire leg would have to be cut off. But there was really no other way as the leg was too damaged," Gard explained.

In the beginning, she said P.T. had a hard time learning to use a litterbox with just three legs, but now the cat manages quite well.

P.T. likes to sleep indoors at night, but during the day Gard said one of them always has to walk him across the street so he can lay around in the bushes and shrubbery, one of his favorite pastimes.

In fact, the day this interview was conducted Gard had kept P.T. indoors so his picture could be taken, but he was so annoyed at not being allowed outside that he was turned loose as soon as possible. Gard walked him across the street and, of course, P.T. headed straight for the shrubbery.

Chronic Sinus was discovered at a baseball game last summer and Gard said that since no one else wanted her she took her home with her. She was aptly named because "she is always sick and is always giving something to the other cats."

Missy came from a mall in Big Spring about four or five years ago. A woman was trying to find homes for several cats and, of course, Gard obliged her by choosing Missy.

It seems to be inevitable that in a home where several cats live at least one or two won't get along and that truism aptly fits Missy and P.T. who do not like each other at all and in fact have to be separated when they are indoors.

Tao was found at The Shack where he had been hanging around for a couple of weeks. It wasn't long before he also joined the Gard household.

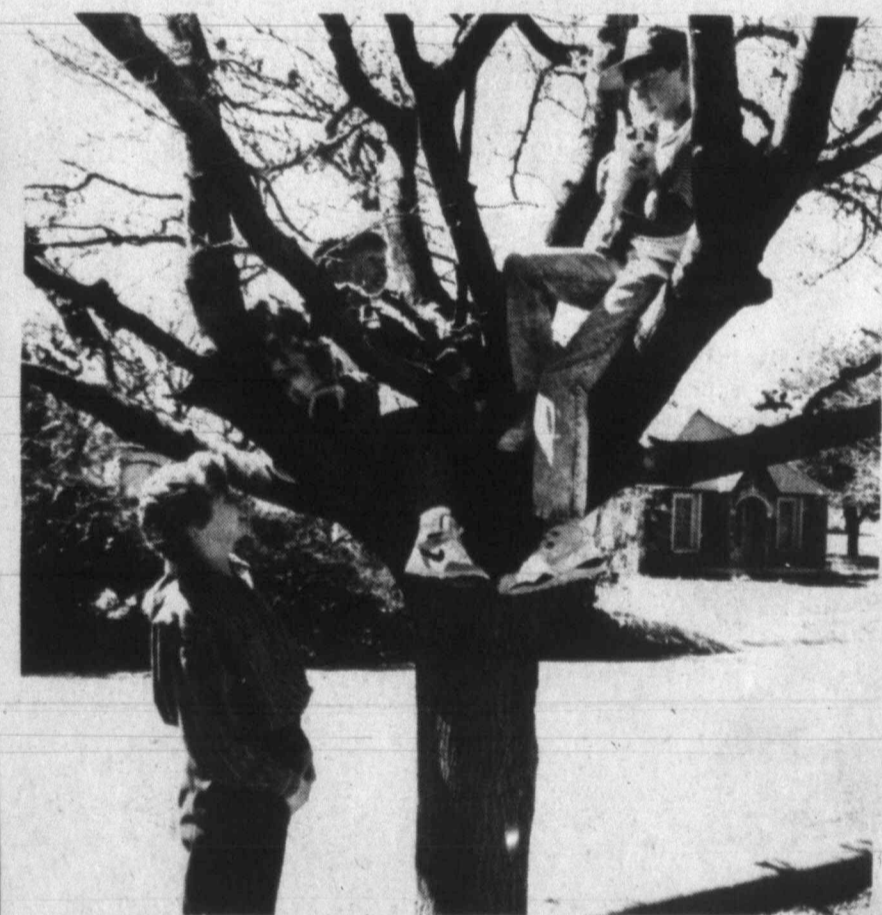

Wildy is the black cat who won't let anyone get near enough to him to pet him, but he will come around for food at mealtimes. "I wish I could catch him to get him neutered since he is scarred from years of fighting," Gard said.

Annie was also found at a ball game.
