Board okays ADN program

The State Board of Nursing Examiners has given its approval for Cogdell Memorial Hospital to begin an Associate Degree in Nursing (ADN) program, held in conjunction with Howard College in Big Spring.

"I am delighted with the outcome of the hearing," said Tom Hochwalt, Cogdell Memorial administrator. "Re-establishment of the Howard College ADN program here in Snyder is a natural compliment to WTC's current LVN program. We are hoping that through the convenience of having both of these programs here in our community, we can stimulate additional local interest in professional nursing as a career."

A group of local hospital staff and board members, as well as Howard College officials and Rep. David Counts, appeared before the review board Tuesday in Austin. Al Blount, RN, director of nursing at Howard College, informed college and hospital officials of the board's decision this morning.

The accelerated program is for Licensed Vocational Nurses (LVNs) who have completed their academic pre-nursing requirements.

Lana Chambers, RN, director of nursing at Cogdell, said a full class consists of 12 students and noted there are presently eight students registered for the course, which is expected to begin May 30.

The program was approved by the hospital's board of managers in October. Under the agreement with Howard College, Cogdell will provide clinical experience, classroom space, office space and secretarial support for the program in addition to guaranteeing a salary subsidy for the instructor, Velma Clay, RN, MSN.

It will not be necessary for Cogdell to subsidize the instructor's salary if the full class of 12 students is met.

Although graduates will receive their degree from Howard College, all studies will take place in Snyder and Lubbock. Theory and lecture for the one-year program will be handled at WTC. Skilled labs and computer labs will be handled at the local college and Cogdell. Other public health and observational studies will also be held locally. St. Mary of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock will handle clinical experience required for the sophomore level of nursing.

Among those attending Tuesday's hearing representing Cogdell were Chambers and Hochwalt; Chris Bane, RN, ADN program coordinator; Velma Clay, instructor; G.A. Parks Jr, board chairman; and Roy McQueen, board member.

Attending from Howard College were Blount, President Bob Riley and Dr. Andy Hicks, vice president of vocational education.

In noting that eight students have registered, Chambers said four more students are needed and that eligible nurses should contact Bane immediately if they are interested.

Hicks said Wednesday that Howard College is pleased with the decision, and said the college is committed to making the Snyder program successful.

Cooperatives set meeting to vote on plan

A special membership meeting to vote on the proposal of combining Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative with Cap Rock Electric Cooperative will be held Tuesday, May 29, in the Colorado City high school auditorium.

The 7 p.m. meeting should be of interest to southern Scurry County residents.

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative is a neighboring cooperative adjoining Lone Wolf on its northwest boundary and serves 13 counties with approximately 17,000 meters.

Lone Wolf members have received by mail a notice of the special meeting, as well as a proxy by which they may vote on the proposed combining without being present at the meeting.

"This combining of the two cooperatives will help stabilize rates for Lone Wolf members as well as place us in a more advantageous position for negotiating future power supply cost," said Kenneth Rogers, Lone Wolf general manager. "At the same time, it will give our employees advanced technology and equipment we do not have available at the present time as well as added manpower in the time of emergency."

He added that he will continue to locally manage Lone Wolf Electric and all employees will continue in their present job assignments. Co-op banking and local purchasing procedures will continue as at present.

"In fact," said Rogers, "you will hardly be able to see any difference in Lone Wolf Electric after the combining, except for system improvements made possible by the combining."

The combining of the two cooperatives has also received the approval and unanimous recommendation of the co-op's board of directors, who are elected from the membership and set policy for the (see VOTE, page 8)

ASB president Banta announces resignation

Mike Banta, president of American State Bank in Snyder for the past 16 months, has submitted his resignation effective June 15.

Banta plans to join Edward D. Jones and Co. He will begin the company's training program in St. Louis on May 29. After that he will train in two separate offices and will open an office in Lubbock later this summer.

American State, which has filed application for merger with American State Bank of Lubbock, has named vice president Helen McLeod as merger coordinator.

W.R. Collier, president of the Lubbock bank and chairman of the board in Snyder, said a branch manager will be named at a later date.

The merger is expected to be completed in early July, Collier said. In announcing the merger, bank officials said there would be no change in the services available to bank customers, but that the internal changes will eliminate duplication of book-keeping and reporting functions, thus allowing the local staff more time for customer service.

Officials said the merger will provide additional strength and resources and it will facilitate the excellent quality of services available to customers in Snyder.

"Mike and his wife, Cindy, are good people and have been a stabilizing force for our banking organization in Snyder," Collier said. "Mike has done an outstanding job as the leader of this bank. We wish he and his family well in their new endeavor."

A reception in honor of Banta and his family will be held from 1-3 p.m. May 25 in the bank lobby, Collier said.

Banta has been a resident of Snyder for more than eight years. He has served as cashier, operations officer, personnel officer and loan officer with ASB.

He is a past president of the Snyder Kiwanis Club and is a (see BANTA, page 8)

SISD trustees get first look at 1990-91 budget proposals

Snyder public schools trustees got their first glimpse at portions of the 1990-1991 proposed budget during a workshop session Tuesday afternoon.

Basic high school and junior high school proposed budgets were reviewed by the board, in addition to several other ISD-related budgets. The board also listened to a presentation from IBM representatives related to the feasibility of a computer "network."

Secondary school principals presented their basic 1990-91 budgets, which include purchased and contracted services, supplies and materials, other general operating expenses and capital outlay. Those administrators then presented to the board a "hit list" — a list of items which they feel should also be considered for the budget.

The basic budget proposals did not include salaries, which will be the subject of meetings later in the summer, or building maintenance.

Trustees will eventually take the basic district-wide budget, including salaries and maintenance, and then prioritize items from the various "hit lists" before coming up with the finalized budget for 1990-91.

IBM representatives were present to discuss a network word processing system at the high school to update Typing II classes, and which could also be used to serve as a teaching tool for some math classes.

The representatives broke down costs as $10,000 for a "server," $15,000 for hardware and software and $5,600 for a five-year, 24-hour maintenance contract, based on a network of 10 stations. The network would eliminate the necessity of having to purchase software for all 10 (see TRUSTEES, page 8)

SCS meeting concerns underground district

Gary Walker, Sandyland Underground Water Conservation District manager, will address the Soil Conservation Service board Thursday in a meeting at Reta's Cake Shop.

No meal will be served at the 7 p.m. meeting, which is open to the public.

The meeting is being held to consider the possibility and/or feasibility of forming an underground water district. It will be an informational meeting only.

Any action towards forming an underground water district would have to go before the commissioners court, the state legislature, and eventually, the voters.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The longest odds in the world are those against getting even."

As the end of school nears, it could have easily happened in Snyder.

We heard about a principal in another town who sent a memo to his faculty. It read: "Please refrain from thank you notes to students when they miss class."

As a writing project, one local teacher thought the following essay deserved top marks. The class was given the assignment to write what they liked best about their town.

"The best town in the world is Snyder. It has lots of stores with gumball machines, a nice park with fun things to play on, pretty good schools and the teachers are okay, too. It has ducks, a bowling alley, soccer and scouts. And most of all my grandma lives there."

At show and tell at a local elementary school, one little girl got her great-grandmother's instructions on how to make soap like the pioneer women of yesteryears.

The youngster, however, updated the process slightly when she wrote: "Put two cups of lard in the microwave..."

Another youngster described his dad's frustrations with trying to play golf.

"My dad has two handicaps. He can't get the ball to stop after it hits the cart path, and he can't keep it going when it lands in water."

Q—How are speed limits determined on College Avenue?

A—City speed limits, set by city ordinance, are done so in conjunction with talks and recommendations from the Abilene district office of the Texas Department of Highways.

Teens charged

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Capital murder charges have been filed against five Amarillo teen-agers in the weekend beating and stomping death of an elderly man.

Arraigned Tuesday on capital murder charges in the death of Hilton Raymond Merriman Sr., 72, were Albert Lee Gonzalez, 17, Doug Palmer, 17, Johnny Lee Rey, 17, Russell Latham, 17, and Sean Smith, 18. All five were held in the Randall County Jail in lieu of $300,000 bond each.

A sixth teen-ager, a 16-year-old youth, remained in the custody of Randall County Juvenile officials.

Randall County Criminal District Attorney Randy Sherrod said he did not have many details on the slaying.

Man indicted

AUSTIN (AP) — A former state representative from Amarillo, Charles "Chip" Staniswalis, has been indicted by a grand jury on felony charges alleging that he falsified travel claims while in office.

The indictments handed up Tuesday by the Travis County grand jury charged Staniswalis with theft, ranging from $750 to $20,000, and with defrauding taxpayers by submitting travel vouchers for trips he didn't make.

Investigators told the Austin American-Statesman that all the violations occurred in 1988, just before Staniswalis left the Texas House.

Study: more information needed

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The largest colon cancer screening project revealed doctors and patients need more education on preventing the potentially lethal disease, a physician says.

"Colon cancer is such a highly prevalent and lethal disease that early detection is critical," said

Dr. J.B. Morris, a gastrointestinal surgeon with Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland.

He presented his study results Tuesday at the Digestive Disease Week conference in San Antonio sponsored by four national medical groups.

In the uncontrolled study in the Cleveland area, Hemocult II tests were distributed to 156,000 people in February 1988. The number of participants was double that of the previous largest colon cancer screening.

Of the tests distributed, 55,051, or 35 percent, were returned. A total of 3,375, or 6 percent of those returned, were positive. Seventy-three percent, or 2,469 people who had positive tests, subsequently visited a doctor, according to study results.

Five percent of those seeing a physician had no testing, 16 percent had only a repeat hemocult and 35 percent had neither a barium enema nor a colonoscopy. Doctors identified 36 cancers and 212 polyps.

All the cancers detected were curable, Morris said, adding that the study confirmed previous findings that hemocult tests can help in early detection of the disease. However, the research revealed surprisingly low follow-up compliance, Morris said.

Patient compliance was 35 percent, and physician compliance was 55 percent, he said.

"I think we need an intensive amount of physician education," Morris said. "I just think people aren't being aggressive enough with this disease."

Doctors did everything from ignore test results to conducting a limited follow-up exam, Morris said.

The American Gastroenterological Association recommends that anyone over age 50 with a positive homocult have a colonoscopy, which involves insertion of a devise completely into the colon to detect problems, Morris said.

Lawmaker blasts memo from Vance

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — A state legislator criticized the Trinity River Authority for spending too little time planning how to avoid such crises as the recent flooding in Texas along the Trinity.

Rep. Mark Stiles, D-Beaumont, already had criticized Danny Vance, general manager of the TRA, for taking a vacation during one of the worst floods in the state's history.

Tuesday, Stiles said the TRA should be doing more flood planning and coordinating with state and local agencies involved in the flood relief efforts. The authority also should have a 24-hour emergency hotline, he said.

Many of the residents who live along the flood-swollen Trinity River near Lake Livingston in Southeast Texas have either lost their property or are in danger of losing it from record flooding on the river.

The TRA is releasing record amounts of water from Lake Livingston's dam as flood waters on the Trinity River swell the lake. The worst flooding in 80 years is predicted south of the dam as the waters continue to rise.

Residents say the authority failed to maintain a safety margin on the lake.

Stiles said he's also displeased with the authority's attitude toward about 300 of his constituents who attended a meeting on flood control with TRA in late April.

"(The authority) took the attitude of, 'We know better than you. We don't care if you live there or not. We're going to tell you what things are like from our ivory tower ... because your eyes are deceiving you,'" Stiles said.

The TRA has shown itself to be "not as cordial as I would like them to be," the lawmaker added.

'Glitch' means no more money from Carson

NEW YORK (AP) — A "glitch" waylaid Joan "Jody" Carson's efforts to get more money from former husband Johnny Carson.

Mrs. Carson, who married the comic in 1949 and was divorced from him in 1963, was trying to obtain $120,000 a year from Carson in court Tuesday. She said she cannot live on money he provides her under a 1970 agreement.

But Justice Phyllis Gangel-Jacob noted that Mrs. Carson, mother of Carson's three sons, was married to an executive Donald Buckley for about six years after she divorced the "Tonight" show host.

Mrs. Carson married Buckley 15 days after signing the 1970 agreement that gives her $13,500 a year until 1999 whether she remarried or not.

The judge asked Mrs. Carson's lawyer whether support "should survive remarriage."

"In fact, I've seen a memo the executive director wrote to his board of directors and he kind of made a mockery of my constituents."

Stiles distributed to reporters a copy of the memo, which a spokeswoman in his office said was obtained by Stiles after it was sent to the Texas Water Commission.

In the memo, which was addressed to members of the TRA's board of directors, Vance called the recent meeting in Liberty "as pleasant as a root canal."

A large matter of overtricks

By James Jacoby

Don't ask why West selected the 10 of clubs for an opening lead against three no-trump. Suffice it to say that strange things happen at the bridge table.

Declarer played low from dummy and won the trick with his king when East followed low. The king of diamonds brought the good news that West held the queen and could be finessed out of it. So it was just a question of overtricks.

A club was played to dummy's jack, East winning the ace. East now played a heart. Declarer took the ace. That gave declarer 11 tricks — a good enough result when a low heart lead would have held him to three no-trump. But tournament players are a greedy lot, and South wanted more. So he played the ace of spades and then ran all his diamonds. At the finish, East had to either throw away the king of spades or let go a club. Either way declarer made 12 tricks.

There are two lessons here. The first is to lead your best suit against three no-trump in the absence of any clear indication otherwise. Although West can never defeat three no-trump, a heart lead would hold down the overtricks. Second, when declarer has all the tricks left but one, it is right for him to cash the ace of spades as he did. When the diamond suit is subsequently run, East will have to throw away the king of spades to keep the clubs guarded.

Dr. Gott Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Would you please elaborate on hiatal hernia? I'm a female in my 60s and have been diagnosed with the condition. Can it heal by itself, or will I always have it?

DEAR READER: The esophagus passes into the stomach through an opening in the diaphragmatic-breathing muscle. Ordinarily, this opening is just large enough to permit the esophagus to pass through. However, as people age, this normal hole may enlarge, permitting part of the stomach to protrude (herniate) upward into the chest. This usually causes no symptoms and is a common consequence of the aging process.

Symptoms of heartburn and belching can occur because the hernia may disrupt the normal process of digestion, allowing acidic stomach juices to enter the esophagus and cause irritation. This is called reflux. It does not always accompany hiatal hernia, but it is the primary cause of discomfort in people with a stomach hernia.

Hiatal hernia does not heal; it is a permanent defect that can only be corrected by surgery (tightening the diaphragmatic opening and returning the upper stomach to its normal position). On the other hand, the symptoms of reflux can be treated with antacids, medicine to reduce the production of stomach acid, and dietary changes (smaller, more frequent and less spicy meals).

If you merely have a hiatal hernia, without symptoms, you can safely disregard the condition. If the hernia is associated with symptoms of reflux, you should ask your doctor to advise you about further treatment.

To provide you additional information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Hiatal Hernia." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Can you advise me what a parotid tumor is and how serious the condition might be?

DEAR READER: The parotid glands, situated in either cheek just in front of the ears, produce saliva. The glands are subject to two kinds of tumors: mixed tumors and muco-epidermoid carcinoma.

Mixed tumors are benign, slow-growing and easy to remove surgically. Most parotid tumors are of this type.

Muco-epidermoid carcinoma is malignant and, therefore, more difficult to treat because it grows relatively rapidly and spreads.

Consequently, the answer to your question depends on the type of tumor. A physician who is familiar with the case would have to give you specific information.

4 sentenced in boxcar deaths

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Sentences ranging from probation to 18 months in prison have been handed to four Victoria residents arrested in connection with the deaths of five would-be immigrants last year in a fumigated railroad car.

Five people from Mexico, Honduras and El Salvador died last October after being locked inside a trailer that was loaded onto a train and filled with fumigated tortilla flour. The flour had been treated with Phostoxin, a poisonous insecticide.

Tuesday morning, all the defendants asked U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela for mercy, saying their families need them. They originally were indicted on alien smuggling charges, but later pleaded guilty to lesser offenses in plea bargain agreements.

Upon questioning from Vela, Assistant U.S. Attorney John G. Crews said he had no proof that the four people actually put the aliens in the trailer.

After the sentencing, Crews said evidence points to a fifth defendant in the case, Houston resident Renato Botello, as the person who actually locked them in. Authorities have been unable to find and arrest Botello.

Vela sentenced Magdalena Arcos Soriano, 34, to 18 months in prison, to be served when he finishes a 14-month sentence handed down Nov. 3, 1989, in connection with another alien smuggling case.

Phoenix ousts Lakers

Pistons, Suns win series; Spurs fall to 3-2

by The Associated Press
The Los Angeles Lakers had plenty of Magic against Phoenix, although it was not enough to continue 20 years of playoff success over the Suns.

The Lakers' streak of eight consecutive years in the Western Conference finals was broken Tuesday night as the Suns rallied from a 35-20 first-quarter deficit to defeat Los Angeles 106-103.

Going into the playoffs, the Suns had lost six consecutive postseason series against the Lakers — dating back to 1970 — and hadn't won at the Forum for 21 games, stretching back to 1984. And Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons had a personal 37-game losing streak on the Lakers' floor going back 16 years.

But the Suns beat the Lakers two out of three at the Forum and twice in Phoenix to give Los Angeles its earliest exit from the playoffs since 1981.

"It's a great win for the Phoenix franchise," Fitzsimmons said. "We'd never beaten Los Angeles in a playoff series."

Kevin Johnson had 37 points, 14 in the final quarter, for the Suns. Magic Johnson had 43 points to match his career playoff high, set in Sunday's Game 4, but he did not get enough support from his teammates.

Elsewhere in the playoffs, Detroit advanced to the Eastern Conference finals for the fourth consecutive year with a 95-84 victory over New York and Portland defeated San Antonio 138-132 in double overtime for a 3-2 lead in the Western Conference semifinals.

Chicago, leading 3-1, plays host to Philadelphia in tonight's only game. The sixth game in the Spurs-Trail Blazers series will be Thursday night at San Antonio.

Lakers coach Pat Riley, named the NBA's Coach of the Year on Monday, the first time for him despite his phenomenal success in the 1980s, said his team did not play as well as it did late in the regular season, when it finished with a league-best 63-19 record.

"As a team, we played out of character throughout the playoffs," Riley said. "Maybe we put too much energy in getting the best record."

Kevin Johnson and Jeff Hornacek, who finished with 22 points, had four each in the final two minutes of the game. A drive by Johnson cut the Lakers' lead to 97-96 with just over two minutes left, then Hornacek made a pair of free throws to put Phoenix ahead for good with 1:30 left.

Byron Scott's 3-pointer with 2.9 seconds left got the Lakers within one, but Kevin Johnson hit two more free throws with 2.4 seconds to go to make it 106-103.

Michael Cooper threw an in-bounds pass out of bounds to end the Lakers' final hope.

Pistons 95, Knicks 84
Detroit advanced to the Eastern Conference final for the fourth consecutive year, wearing down New York despite an early 14-point deficit.

Patrick Ewing, one of the stars of the NBA playoffs with two 40-point performances, was held to 1-for-10 shooting in the second half and the Pistons bench, with Mark Aguirre scoring 25 points, outscored New York's reserves 44-17.

"That's one of our strengths, wearing people down," Detroit's Bill Laimbeer said. "We come at them in waves."

Ewing, playing all but 1:59 of the game, led the Knicks with 22 points, but he missed his last eight shots. Gerald Wilkins scored 18 points for New York.

The Knicks, who led 23-9 early, were ahead 28-20 after one period. Then Aguirre, who watched the entire first quarter from the bench, took charge.

Aguirre hit eight of 10 shots for 17 second-quarter points and gave the Pistons a 51-49 lead with a short jumper at the halftime buzzer.

Trail Blazers 138, Spurs 132
Portland, again playing without centers Kevin Duckworth and Wayne Cooper because of injuries, won its third home game of the series after losing two at San Antonio.

Terry Porter scored a career playoff-high 38 points for the Trail Blazers, who led 91-69 in the third quarter before the Spurs rallied.

Portland clinched the victory by hitting six of eight free throws in the final 1½ minutes of the second overtime. Jerome Kersey clinched the win by making two free throws with 11.1 seconds left.

Clyde Drexler had 35 points, also a career playoff high, for Portland, and Kersey scored 23 points.

Terry Cummings scored 32 points, but missed a crucial free throw and was called for an over-and-back violation in the final 50 seconds.

Infielder is booted from playoff game

AUSTIN (AP) — Kerrville Tivy High School will remain in the state baseball playoffs, but without its starting third baseman.

The University Interscholastic League suspended Marty Johnson Tuesday for the remainder of the season after he shoved an umpire during a game with New Braunfels April 20.

The UIL state executive committee also issued a reprimand to senior second baseman Eric Harris who cursed at the same umpire after being ejected from that game.

Because of the conduct of coaches, players and fans from Kerrville, umpire Dennis Meyers awarded the game — tied 10-10 — to New Braunfels in a forfeit.

Meyers also alleged that Kerrville Athletic Director Donnie Laurence incited players and fans to more protests and approached him three times after the game had been called and offered him a deal not to report the incident to the UIL.

"I've been made in this thing to look like a pretty bad guy," said Laurence. "I am concerned about people telling lies. I'll be willing to take a lie detector test any day of the week."

Laurence, who has a son playing on the team and has been before the state executive committee three times in the past year, was reprimanded. The high school was reprimanded and placed on probation for a year.

Kerrville Tivy, 18-7 and the District 28AAAA runnerup, played Austin Anderson last night in the second round of the playoffs.

The Kerrville incident is the latest among many complaints the past year by game officials that they are being abused by coaches, players and fans.

During one two-week period this spring, the UIL dealt with 16 similar cases.

Fielder's home run lifts Detroit to win

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Detroit Tigers manager Sparky Anderson has been known to be quick with an opinion. But in this case, the numbers back him up.

Anderson proclaims that his slugger, Cecil Fielder, is the equal of any power hitter in the American League. "That includes the guy in Kansas City (Bo Jackson) and the guy in Oakland (Jose Canseco)," Anderson said.

Fielder can present some convincing evidence. The Major League home run leader, playing what for him was a "home" game Tuesday night, blasted his 14th homer of the season, a two-run shot in the seventh inning, lifting the Tigers over the slumping Texas Rangers, 3-2.

Fielder, who starred last season in the Japanese Central League, makes his off-season home in Arlington.

"We've been struggling so it's really nice to win, especially at home," said Fielder, who had 25 family members and friends in the stands. "I haven't been back here since spring training so it was a real good night for me."

With the game tied 1-1, Lloyd Moseby led off the seventh with a single and went to second on a balk. Fielder ripped Kevin Brown's 1-2 slider 414 feet into the center field stands against winds that were gusting as much as 30 mph, making a winner of Tigers starter Dan Petry, 4-1.

"I felt I was going to hit one out tonight, regardless of how hard the wind was blowing," Fielder said.

Fielder, American League Player of the Week for May 7-13, also increased his big league RBI leadership to 34. In the last 21 games, Fielder has 12 homers and 29 RBIs.

"With that wind, there wasn't going to be anybody else in the park to hit a home run but him," Anderson said. The balk was called when Brown moved his left shoulder while in the stretch position. Brown said he was blown off-balance by a gust of wind.

"I thought there would have to be more movement toward first base," Brown said. "He (home plate umpire Mike Reilly) saw more movement than he could tolerate and he called it."

Said Rangers manager Bobby Valentine: "He wasn't deceiving the runner or anything. That (the call) was interesting."

Petry, who allowed two runs and six hits over six innings, won his third consecutive start and boosted his lifetime record against Texas to 12-6.

First wave of floodwaters expected to crest today

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — The first crest of what is expected to be the worst flood in 80 years edged its way into the area today, and a river authority spokesman said it could inundate 200 square miles of bottom land near the Trinity River in southeast Texas.

Meanwhile, Texarkana area officials reported the first death from flooding along the Red River in northeast Texas with the drowning Tuesday of a 25-year-old Mexican national.

Authorities said the man, who had been hired to clean up debris in Bowie County, was swept away by floodwaters.

In southeast Texas, some 7,000 residents of low lying areas had been warned to leave the region below the Lake Livingston Dam because of the rising flood waters, which began sloshing their way southward over the weekend.

Roads leading into more than 15 subdivisions along the river in Liberty County are already covered with water, and officials said today the Trinity continued to soak up more land.

"This is the front end of it. This is just the beginning," said county emergency management coordinator Jim Mitchum.

The subdivisions affected by the floodwaters are scattered in the wooded area near the river, and the largest one probably has about 60 homes, he said.

Although many homes probably will sustain some flood damage, Mitchum said he does not expect entire subdivisions to be wiped out by the approaching water.

"We will not be washed down the Trinity River into the Gulf (of Mexico)," he added.

Mitchum said people who did not heed advisories to leave and now need help out of their homes can call the county for assistance. There were no such calls overnight, he said.

The Trinity River Authority, which began allowing record amounts of water flow from Lake Livingston Dam on Tuesday, continued to release 88,000 cubic feet per second this morning. Officials expected to increase releases later today, and the amount probably will reach 100,000 cfs during the weekend.

"The drainage basin of the Trinity River is 18,000 square miles," said Grady Manis, Trinity River Authority southern region manager. "Below Lake Livingston Dam, there's about 990 square miles. Maybe 20 percent of that is probably going to be underwater at the height of this."

The previous record was set in 1973 when 75,000 cfs were released from the dam.

"We'll have the first crest tomorrow," Manis said late Tuesday. "We should be at the mid-90,000s, as far as the discharge. But I think about the 21st (of May) is going to be the worst day."

He said heavy rainfall in the Crockett area will force dam discharges up to 100,000 cfs or better by May 21. But Manis said the heavy flow from about 95,000 cfs to 100,000 cfs is likely to continue for six to eight days.

Already the amount of water released from the dam by 8 a.m. today could have filled the 50-square mile lake if it had been empty on April 17, Manis said.

In Liberty County, officials are preparing for the brunt of the surging waters.

"We've got between 15 to 20 subdivisions surrounded by water, and we'll probably start to see some water in some homes Thursday or Friday in the low-lying areas," said Jim Mitchum, emergency management coordinator.

County Judge Dempsey Henley said predictions of the flood's magnitude have been right on target.

"We've been saying that this was going to be a truly devastating flood, and it looks like it will be," Henley said. "We don't have any historical data (with which) to compare what the damages and losses could be."

Sammy Davis Jr. dead today at 64

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sammy Davis Jr., the wiry song-and-dance man whose carefree charm and bejeweled style helped make him an entertainment institution, died today. He was 64.

The health of the cancer-stricken performer deteriorated steadily since his release from Cedars-Sinai Medical Center on March 13. He went home to his wife of 20 years, Altovise, and died there this morning, said his publicist, Susan Reynolds.

He had been admitted in January for treatment of a gum infection. Doctors later found that he had a recurrence of throat cancer, and no further chemotherapy was planned. His cancer was first diagnosed in September 1989.

Davis, who embraced Judaism at the age of 26 in 1954, was honored May 6 at a testimonial dinner by the Friends of the Israel Defense Forces. Over the years he joked that he was the nation's only "black, one-eyed, Jewish entertainer." He converted to Judaism while recovering from an automobile accident that cost him his left eye and nearly his life.

Three arrested at disturbance

Three persons were arrested and two others fled officers after police were called to a reported disturbance early Wednesday at 1304 24th Street.

At 2:57 a.m., callers reported hearing breaking glass. A police officer, Kenneth Woolf, 27, sustained a laceration to his hand. He was treated at the Cogdell Hospital emergency room and released.

Police arrested two men and a juvenile. The juvenile was charged with minor in possession, disorderly conduct and later released to his mother.

Charged with minor in possession, disorderly conduct and evading arrest was Rudy G. Perez, 17. Also arrested and charged with disorderly conduct, minor in possession and resisting arrest was Leroy Salinas, 19. Both were taken to the Scurry County jail.

At 9:43 a.m. Tuesday, a 19-year-old male was arrested on a county warrant for enticing a child, a misdemeanor.

Police received one call Tuesday of a motorist failing to stop for a school bus, and a second complaint of a motorist failing to yield for an ambulance.

At 1:55 a.m., an attempted burglary of a news rack owned by the Snyder Daily News was reported. The coin-operated news rack was located in front of Eckerd Drug.

Trustees begin budget workshops stations. One program could be placed in the server, from which all stations could operate.

In reference to queries from Superintendent Dalton Moseley as to costs for a five-station system, it was learned that the server would still cost $10,000, but that reductions from hardware, software and the maintenance contract would decrease by about $8,500.

The system would be expandable to a maximum of 50 stations.

Later in the session, trustees learned that a large portion of budget requests for the 1990-91 budget deal with computers, and suggested further study into the feasibility of networking might be prudent.

High school Principal Rueben Gillespie had on his "hit list" about $60,000 in word processing and computing equipment, for instance — a figure which might possibly be reduced to the $40,000 range by networking. Gillespie said he was "highly in favor" of the networking concept.

The proposed 1990-91 budget for the high school amounts to $217,924, as compared to $218,021 for 1989-90. Again, those figures do not contain salaries or building maintenance.

Among additional items requested by Gillespie were folding tables, stack chairs and chair-desk combos totalling $3,300 to replace broken items, the word processing and computing equipment and software, $5,300 to repair three lathes and a belt sander for the wood shop and $1,900 for a wire feed welder for the metals shop. The total amount of the "hit list" was $73,914 — most of which was for the computer-related equipment.

The proposed basic budget for the junior high school amounts to $58,790, as compared to $58,824 for 1989-90. Among additional requests by Principal Gary Patterson are $4,881 in computer-related items and $3,000 in Saxon math books. Also requested were testing materials and grading programs and reports estimated at $2,550, teacher training and supplies for the gifted and talented program for $1,000 and staff and curricular development funds amounting to $11,550.

Athletic Director David Baugh's proposed budget for the high school and junior high amounts to $167,265, as compared to $167,295 the previous year. His "hit list" included repair of the high jump pit for $1,479, a chain link fence batting cage for $640, 15 game chairs for $370 and four tennis nets for $480.

Assistant Superintendent Dr. Tom Scannichio presented a proposed budget related to areas he oversees, including school administration, curriculum and personnel development, guidance and counseling, health services and community services, totalling $97,117. This compares to $88,360 from 1989-90. Most of the difference indicated between those two budgets comes under achievement test materials. It was explained that the state mandates school districts must purchase different tests every three years. Budget expenses for district-wide instructional computing were also proposed, including $8,579 at the high school, $4,137 at the junior high, $4,137 at Central Elementary, $6,775 at East, $3,215 at North, $4,140 at Northeast, $6,775 at Stanfield and $6,775 at West. The amounts are lower at Central, North and Northeast in comparison to other elementary schools because those campuses meet Chapter I guidelines (free lunch program) and qualify for federal funding.

Total budget figures for instructional computing at all eight SISD campuses is $44,536 for 1990-91, as compared to $40,091 for 1989-90.

The request list for instructional computing includes an upgrade of equipment and courseware at West, Stanfield and East elementaries, totalling $31,177 at all three campuses. It was noted that East may come under Chapter I funding in 1991-92.

Barbara Granato reviewed for trustees the proposed federal budget for 1990-91 for special education. That budget, which is met with federal funds and not local funds, totals some $80,666.

Moseley gave those present at the workshop a letter from the Scurry County Appraisal District which indicated 1990 taxable values for Snyder ISD as of May 11. The values are tentative. Currently the taxable value for SISD is $849,553,410 as compared to $735,454,098 in 1989 — a difference of over $114,000.

It should be noted, also, that the State Legislature has until June 1 to come up with a new funding system for school finance. If the issue is not settled by that date, a court "master" will determine the funding system. The court is not authorized to raise taxes, which could mean funds will be filtered down from richer districts to poorer districts. If this happens, Snyder ISD — although not considered a "rich" district — could lose some of its state funding.

All board members were present at Tuesday's workshop, as well as Lee McNair, business manager; Janice Brown, director of curriculum and testing; Theresa Vest, junior high math teacher; and Baugh, Scannichio, Moseley, Gillespie, Granato and Patterson.

Muppets' creator, Jim Henson, dies today at age 53

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Henson, the creator of the Kermit the Frog, Miss Piggy and the other Muppet characters who entertained youngsters and adults alike through television and movies, died today at a hospital. He was 53.

Henson died at 1:30 a.m. from a massive bacterial infection, Kathleen Robinson, a spokeswoman at New York Hospital, said. Henson was admitted to the hospital a day earlier, she said.

Henson created the Muppets in 1954. They became immensely popular and grew into an industry that was purchased by Walt Disney Co. for a reported price of $100 million to $150 million.

He was the voice of Kermit, one of the most popular of his creations. His work with the Muppets earned him a variety of awards, from a Peabody award for excellence in television programming to a Grammy for a Muppet album.

His family said plans for a memorial service would be announced later.

Hubert Dunn, board president, said, "The combining will give Lone Wolf Electric added strength of numbers. We believe that, by joining forces with Cap Rock, we will have more opportunity to grow and prosper and offer more and better service to cooperative members. This combination gives us not only a method to save the membership dollars, but also to continue Lone Wolf's identity and preserve the cooperative form of business for us. Cap Rock Electric will also enjoy many of the same advantages as a result of the combining."

The Lone Wolf board and management noted the combining is the culmination of over six years of study and investigation into possible solutions to the cooperative's rising costs of wholesale power and other expenses. The board's report after the investigation was that the combining with Cap Rock Electric was the best of all solutions checked out.

No leads yet in shooting

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Police say they don't have many leads in the attack by three men in camouflage clothing and Halloween masks on players in a high-stakes dice game.

Four of the players were killed and four others wounded in the episode Monday, during which the intruders fled with an undetermined amount of money.

A 1983 brown Oldsmobile believed to be the getaway car was recovered about five miles away. Police said it was stolen about an hour before the early morning shooting.

Police Chief Thomas Windham said the gunmen hit "an extremely high-dollar" gambling game, although authorities had not determined how much money was taken. High rollers had hundreds of thousands of dollars on the table, some of it in stacks of $100 bills.

Some witnesses estimated that as much as $400,000 was in the game. The gunmen scooped up "quite a bit of it," witnesses told police.

Witnesses told police that up to 20 people were inside the Glass Key Cafe, with seven or eight gathered around a pool table gambling, when three black men wearing masks charged into the cafe about 7 a.m. Monday, shouting, "Task Force!" as if to indicate they were police officers on a raid.

One other heavily armed gunman stationed himself outside the cafe as a lookout, witnesses said.

"Put your money on the table," cafe owner Albert Huey-You, 73, quoted one of the gunmen as saying before they opened fire without provocation, spraying the cafe with rapid fire.

Two men were killed instantly, two were fatally wounded, and four others were injured, one critically.

Police continued Tuesday to interview witnesses and comb over the recovered automobile.

Williams appears alone

DALLAS (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Clayton Williams has not appeared with Ann Richards at a series of planned forums and meetings, but campaign officials say he is not ducking his Democratic opponent.

"The events we do, we want to focus on our candidate and our message," Williams campaign spokesman Bill Kenyon told The Dallas Morning News. "We're not doing any joint appearances."

A spokesman for the Richards campaign said it appears Williams is not eager to share the stage with Ms. Richards.

"I think they recognize that Ann Richards is a very articulate, attractive and dynamic campaigner," said Glenn Smith. "And any other candidate is not going to look as good compared with Ann as on an expensive produced television ad."

Both campaigns have been in preliminary discussions over public debates before the November general election, but it appeared unlikely the two candidates will meet in the next few months.

In the weeks since Williams and Ms. Richards emerged as their parties' nominees, the two gubernatorial candidates have been sought for public appearances.

Although Ms. Richards' campaign said she is willing to appear with her opponent, Williams' officials have served notice that their candidate only will appear alone.

"The Richards campaign said they will come anytime, any place," said Ken Huff, who is organizing a July meeting in the Dallas-Fort Worth area for the American Association for Retired Persons. "But the Williams people told us right off they would not do any joint appearances."

Other events in which Williams has not accepted joint appearances include a Greater Houston Partnership luncheon next month, the Buckholtz cotton festival on June 2, a still-unscheduled Rotary Club of Houston meeting and the Floyd County centennial celebration on May 26.

"They asked us to agree that we would give Clayton Williams time to get off the stage and be gone before we bring Ann out," said Lynn Marler, who is a Richards supporter in Floyd County.

Bill Hale, Williams' coordinator in Floyd County, said both candidates will appear May 26 at different times with news conferences scheduled for separate locations. "It just works a little better," he said. "More harmony."

Smith chided the GOP nominee for his reluctance to appear on the same stage as Ms. Richards, but Kenyon dismissed the criticism, noting that Ms. Richards has made few public appearances since winning the nomination in a brutal primary fight.

"If Ann would get out there and campaign at all, I think the public would be served," said Kenyon.

Despite veto threat...

House, Senate ok school finance plan

AUSTIN (AP) — After lawmakers sent Gov. Bill Clements a school finance reform plan that he's threatened to veto, he met with legislative leaders in what he called a new attempt to forge a compromise on the issue.

"We're all giving our best efforts to come to some kind of a meeting of the minds," Clements said Tuesday, after meeting with Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Gib Lewis.

If they reach an agreement, he said, the Legislature still could change its reform plan.

But if compromise eludes them, and Clements carries through on his veto threat, Hobby and Lewis said they would try to muster the two-thirds vote needed to enact the measure anyway.

"I think there will probably be an attempt to override my veto," Clements said. "I think that attempt will fail. Then we'll get down to serious business."

The 31-member Senate approved the school finance reform plan — passed by a legislative conference committee after earlier attempts to compromise with Clements broke down — on a voice vote.

With seven lawmakers absent in the 150-member House, the vote was 91-52, split largely along party lines.

Lewis, D-Fort Worth, said that doesn't necessarily mean an override attempt would fail: "It's not over until it's over."

The reform bill is meant to use $555 million in new funding next school year; without additional revenue, money could be shifted from property-rich to property-poor school districts.

The $13.5 billion-a-year school finance system relies on a combination of state aid, local property taxes and some federal money.

The Democratic-controlled Legislature and Republican governor are in their third special session to try to overhaul the school finance system. The last session ended without a plan after Clements vetoed a half-cent sales tax increase needed to pay for last session's $555 million reform bill.

The Texas Supreme Court in a unanimous opinion last year ruled the school finance system unconstitutional, and told the state to devise a way to make more money available to property-poor school districts.

If lawmakers and Clements don't enact a plan by June 1, court master William Kilgarlin will propose one. He has warned that he can't raise state education revenue, so his plan would have to shift state aid from property-rich to property-poor school districts.

Kilgarlin — a former Supreme Court justice who left that court in 1988 — was sworn in Tuesday as court master by State District Judge Scott McCown.

Also sworn in as associate masters were two school finance experts: Billy Walker of Austin, former deputy superintendent for the Ector County school district; and Jose Cardenas of San Antonio, former superintendent of the Edgewood school district.

"We've been charged by the court to draw a plan that equalizes the money that goes to the districts, and we're serious about it," Kilgarlin said.

"That's got to serve as some kind of notice to the Legislature that if they don't do their job, we're going to step in and do it for them," he said.

Lewis said a court-written plan would be "a raw, blatant example of the 'Robin Hood' approach."

"That's going to be devastating on many, many school districts in the state that are right now struggling just to stay afloat already to meet their obligations," he said.

Private prisons are criticized

AUSTIN (AP) — The use of private prisons as a way to alleviate the overcrowded state prison system is in jeopardy, officials said after receiving a report that outlined serious problems in Texas' four for-profit facilities.

"The future of private units very much depends on how these particular problems are addressed and solved," F.L. Stephens of San Angelo, a member of the Texas Board of Criminal Justice, said Tuesday.

Board members strongly criticized the operators of the private prisons, saying they found severe problems in the facilities.

An audit by the state prison system found the private prisons lack major education, work and medical service programs for the inmates.

The audit also showed the companies had not filled many important positions in the prisons and that several instances of excessive force by guards on inmates had been dismissed as the result of inexperience.

"I am frustrated and angry," said board chairman Charles Terrell of Dallas.

Terrell said the operators — Corrections Corporation of America and Wackenhut Corrections Corp. — had yet to live up to promises they made when awarded contracts with the state to build the facilities to hold state prisoners.

Each company operates two 500-bed pre-release centers, where inmates stay for a short period of time before their release. CCA's prisons are in Venus and Cleveland and Wackenhut's facilities are in Kyle and Bridgeport. All the prisons have been in operation for less than one year.

Terrell appointed a subcommittee to oversee correcting the deficiencies outlined in the state prison audit and also asked the state prison staff to update the board on how it would cancel the prison contracts if the problems aren't resolved.

A representative of CCA said they were aware of some of the problems and were taking action, but Wackenhut representatives said they were disappointed state prison officials made the report public without giving them a chance to analyze it first.

"I'm a little bit astonished. It almost sounds like we gotcha," said Wackenhut regional vice president Ron Champion.

But board member Allan Polunsky of San Antonio shot back, saying, "I resent your remarks. I don't think anybody is trying to set you up."

Representatives of Wackenhut, based in Coral Gables, Fla., said they had no knowledge of the audit, but James Collins, deputy director of the state prison system, said state monitors who work at all the private prisons informed them of the problems.

Steve Martin, an attorney representing CCA, based in Nashville, Tenn., said many of the education programs that have yet to start "should have been on line. They aren't, they will be or you'll take action."

Terrell said CCA had represented itself as the "Cadillac" company in private prisons, but "months later that is not the case."

The audit found many of the inmates were not enrolled in an education or a work program, or were only working or going to school part-time.

The audit also found that there were "significant delays" in providing medical care and that the private prison officials refused to cooperate with the state in providing information.

Local pageant winners meet 1989 Miss Texas

Three young misses representing Snyder were special guests, along with Leah Kay Lyle, 1989 Miss Texas, at the 1990 Miss Corsicana Pageant in Corsicana.

Kay Reed of Snyder, formerly of Corsicana, is director of the annual pageant which draws over 140 contestants each year vying for titles in seven age divisions. Lyle was also on hand as honorary judge along with Mrs. Lance Autry, also of Snyder.

Terryn Autry, Lacey Reed and Amy Crumpton were presented with a bouquet of roses and received special gifts from winners in their respective age divisions from Corsicana. They assisted Miss Texas during crowning and award ceremonies where over 275 trophies were given out, along with many other awards and prizes.

Terryn is the daughter of Sherry and Lance Autry and is this year's Baby Miss Snyder. She was also named photogenic, portfolio, best personality and best dressed winner in October's Little Miss Snyder Pageant.

Lacey is the daughter of Conrad and Kay Reed and is this year's Little Miss Snyder winner. She was also named photogenic, portfolio, most poised and talent winner in the 4-6 age division. Lacey was also named overall high point winner of the pageant.

Amy is the daughter of Vic and Faye Crumpton of Snyder and is the 1989-90 Sr. Miss Snyder winner. She was also named photogenic winner as well as most beautiful and best smile in her age division.

All three girls won their titles during the first annual Little Miss Snyder Pageant held in October of last year.

Meat packing plant to close Friday

5th circuit denies appeal for inmate

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals Tuesday denied a plea by Texas death row inmate Johnny Ray Anderson, who is scheduled to die by lethal injection early Thursday.

Anderson, 30, of Vidor, has been on death row since February 1983 for the murder of his brother-in-law, Ronald Gene Goode, 22, of Kountze. Authorities said Anderson killed Goode in October 1981 in a scheme to collect $67,000 in insurance money.

"We're still working on it," said his attorney, Louis Dugas of Orange. "We're trying to get a stay in the state court now."

Dugas said he based the appeal on claims that Anderson suffers from mental retardation, an abusive childhood history and the fact he sniffed gasoline and glue since he was a small child.

"He's had two stays in the past — one from the Court of Criminal Appeals and one from the federal district court two years ago — for pretty much the same thing," Dugas said. "There were a number of things addressed: his age, his retardation."

Dugas had contended Anderson received ineffective counsel in his 1983 trial, and that jurors did not know Anderson suffered from a personality disorder and abused inhalants since he was a child.

Non-traditional students honored

LUBBOCK — Fourteen non-traditional students — undergraduates who are 25-years-old and older — recently were recognized for outstanding achievement at Texas Tech University.

Currently, 5,500 non-traditional students are enrolled at Texas Tech. Each college nominated two senior-level students who best met the demands of academic excellence and a successful home life.

Billy Ed Vernon of Snyder is included among the honorees.

eight weeks' pay in lieu of notice that the plant was closing.

The negative economic impact upon Abilene could range from $12 million to $15 million in a year's time, according to economic analyst Don Altman, director of the Caruth Small Business Development Center at Abilene Christian University.

Abilene Chamber of Commerce president Charlie Dromgoole said, "We're very sad about the Gooch closing." The chamber has been working with potential buyers for a couple of weeks and will continue to try to find a buyer.

Gooch President Jim Garrison was unavailable for comment.

Jim Stiles, chief financial officer of Cullum Companies Inc. of Dallas, the parent company of Gooch, said he had no comment beyond the statement that the plant is closing.

Employees will receive hospitalization insurance for 60 days and all profit-sharing and retirement benefits will be paid in 60 days, a source said, adding that a maintenance crew would be kept for an indefinite period.

Gooch Packing was founded in 1939 by Bert D. "Pete" Gooch, who sold the company in 1969 to Cullum, which also owns the Tom Thumb food stores.

Gooch remained as a consultant and was among those at the plant on Tuesday, packing the contents of his office.

"The effects of this are more far-reaching than people expect," Gooch said. "You don't have a market for the hog farmers. And 450 people lost their jobs and they have wives and children."

He blamed the plant closing on increased government regulations and rising cattle and hog prices.

Charles Lawrence, director of the Texas Employment Commission office at Abilene, said it's too early to gauge the impact on Abilene.

"Certainly, it isn't good," he said. "So much will depend on what the people (who were laid off) are willing to accept. The jobs that are open here are service jobs, but nobody around here is hiring that many people."

The announcement stunned Abilene-area ranchers.

Beauty Salons Are Full Of Tales of Shear Terror

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Re the letter from "Sheared" who asked, "Has anyone ever sued a barber for a lousy haircut?"

I have. I took a hairdresser to small claims court. It was a matter of principle. I just wanted to recover the cost of the lousy haircut he gave me.

I presented pictures of myself before and after the haircut. My hairdresser used the defense that he was an artist and "created" hairstyles. The judge told the "artist" that in the future, he should give the clients what they want because there was only one "Creator" and he isn't working in a beauty shop.

WON MY CASE IN L.A.

DEAR ABBY: I have some advice for women when it comes to getting their hair cut. No matter how famous the hairdresser, no woman in her right mind should have her hair cut out of town by a barber she has never seen before.

I made this mistake when I went to my sister-in-law's wedding in another city. I can't see a thing without my glasses, and no barber will give you a haircut unless you take your glasses off.

Well, this "famous" barber I went to sure gave me my money's worth. When he got through with me, I looked like my brother in drag!

NEVER AGAIN

DEAR ABBY: In answer to the lady who got "sheared": I am a hairdresser — not a "beautician"; "beautician" is old-fashioned. And don't call me a "hairstylist," either — it's too snobbish.

I've been serving my clients for 23 years. Some direct every move I make: which piece of hair should be how long; what size rods to use for a perm; what kind of perm to use; how long to leave the solution on the hair; how to comb it. I follow their instructions only to be told afterward that I didn't do it the way they wanted it.

As for turning the client away from the mirror: I do that only if she's easier to reach, instead of walking around her and shlepping my cart.

Then there are those who can't keep their heads still. (Ever try cutting a straight line on a moving object?) So much for the joys of being a hairdresser.

ULCERS IN CHICAGO

DEAR ABBY: I am a beautician, and I am tired of people always putting us down.

I work for a salon that charges only $6 for a haircut ($4.50 for children). I do the best I can, but how can you please a customer who changes her mind in the middle of a cut?

I pass another salon on the way to work. The sign in their window reads: "We fix $6 haircuts."
