Agreement reached to keep Towle pool open for 11 weeks

Scurry County's swimming pool in Towle Park will open this summer — thanks to an agreement reached today between an ad hoc committee and Scurry County Commissioners Court.

In the only other agenda item, Cogdell Hospital board members met with the commissioners court to hear a presentation from a national accounting firm which offered consulting services to the hospital.

The court agreed to contract with Mike Harrison for management and operation of the pool for an 11-week period, subject to approval of the agreement by the county attorney.

The committee was formed two weeks ago after citizens met with commissioners seeking a reversal of a decision made last fall to close the county-owned pool because of budget considerations. The county had estimated that the pool had operated at a $17,000 deficit.

Terry Bowden, chairman of the committee, said the committee would like to continue as an advisory committee to make the pool's operation a success. Others on the committee are Commissioner C.D. Gray Jr., Harrison, Paul Gilbert, Rick Hall, Don West, C.A. McCown, (see POOL, page 8)

School reform...

House attempts to override veto

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas House is scheduled to try to override Gov. Bill Clements' veto of lawmakers' school finance reform bill today, but Speaker Gib Lewis says he doesn't know if the effort will succeed.

"I think members at this point are getting a great deal of pressure from both sides," Lewis, D-Fort Worth, said Monday.

The Senate voted last week to override Clements' veto, and House leaders have been trying to muster the required two-thirds vote to do the same.

"We do not at this point have a solidified 100" votes in the 150-member House, Lewis said.

The Republican governor and Democrat-controlled Legislature — now in its third special session on school finance — are trying to address a Texas Supreme Court order to make more money available to poor schools.

If they don't enact a plan by Friday, court-appointed special master William Kilgarlin will propose one.

Newly okayed ADN program to start lectures Wednesday

Lectures are scheduled to begin Wednesday for Cogdell Memorial Hospital's new Associate Degree in Nursing (ADN) program.

The program, which will be under the auspices of Howard College in Big Spring but taught locally, was approved by the State Board of Nursing Examiners on May 15.

Lectures will be held at Western Texas College under the direction of Velma Clay, RN, MSN, instructor. Clinical studies will be held at Cogdell Memorial and at St. Mary of the Plains in Lubbock.

Eight students will begin the 12-month course, although Chris Bane, RN, program coordinator, said it is anticipated that as

Pea planting at Price Daniel 500 acres of black-eyed and purple hulls

Early May rains gave the green light to first-year farming operations at the Price Daniel Unit east of Snyder.

For the past several years, the 587-acre tract has been considered one of the best cotton farms in Scurry County. But this year the Department of Criminal Justice is in the process of using it to grow food for inmate consumption.

Under the direction of Sgt. Jim

Singletary, some 500 acres are in the process of being planted in black-eyed and purple hull peas. Another 30 to 40 acres, according to Warden Leslie Woods, will be used as a garden to help feed Price Daniel inmates.

"I'm not a farmer, so I'm just having to feel my way along and learn as we go," Singletary said. He added that he had talked with area farmers about pea production.

"One farmer north of Roby says they can make 200 pounds per acre in a bad year and up to 900 pounds per acre in a good year," Singletary said.

The dry peas will be combined and will be used throughout the state's prison system: Singletary used a giant Versatile tractor to break the ground. It was then bedded and planting is almost complete, Woods said.

Also occurring at the unit are efforts to get a lawn started, Woods said. "We're planted have some coming up, but we need a shower to help it along now."

Singletary said the farming operation outside the fenced area will be mostly mechanical, and only minimum inmates will be used in the farming operation.

Applications available for two guard classes

Applications became available today for two correctional officer training classes at Western Texas College, both of which start in early July.

The next evening officer class begins July 7 and will run through Aug. 30. Evening classes are held from 6-10 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays and from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Saturdays for eight weeks.

The next daytime academy class begins July 9 and will end July 27. The three-week course holds classes Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Both are 120-hour courses, but they are separate and may not be combined.

Applications may be picked up at the Continuing Education Department in the main administration building on campus. The application deadline is June 11.

Tuition is $225 per student. Students accepted for certification are certified by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice for all state prison units throughout Texas.

For more information, call 573-8511, extension 240.

Filing 'homestead' can reduce tax bills

Homeowners can reduce their property tax bills in 1990 by taking advantage of partial exemptions for residence homesteads, the Scurry County Appraisal District has noted.

Ray Peveler, chief appraiser for the district, is telling homeowners that Texas law allows them to make a single, one-time only application for residence homestead exemptions.

Property owners who have never received residence homestead exemptions on the homes in which they were living on Jan. 1, 1990, and those who became 65 or disabled during 1989, must apply this year to receive exemptions for 1990. Homeowners must file signed, completed applications at the appraisal district office. A homeowner's principal residence and yard are considered the residence homestead. It can include up to 20 acres of land and improvements that have been made, such as a swimming pool, greenhouse or spa, as long as the owner uses them for residential purposes.

Peveler said that a property must meet four tests set by law in order to qualify for the residence homestead exemption. The person claiming the exemption must own the property on Jan. 1; it must be designed or adapted for human residence; it must actually be used as a residence; and, it must be the principal residence of an owner who qualifies for the exemption. The feller on Deep Creek says, "A yawn is nature's way of letting a married man open his mouth."

We're looking for a more informative calendar. Our calendar plainly tells us when Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day are scheduled, but it misses what could have been an important event.

May is almost history, and we've missed a grand opportunity to observe "Sleep Month." With daylight savings time, the nights were shorter, and we even missed what used to be a traditional Sunday afternoon nap.

Two modern conveniences have had a major impact on sleep. One is TV, but we find that the tube actually helps a person doze off. The telephone, however, will ring just about the time you drop off. If it happens to be a salesman, your corresponding anger will prevent a quick return to lullaby land.

Experts debate just how much sleep a person actually needs. Normal range is five to 10 hours, but the average is seven. If you need as much as 10, you're in the minority.

One study shows short sleepers are more efficient, energetic, and ambitious. Those who need more sleep tend to be artistic and creative. As far as catching up on sleep, the more you get the more you seem to want.

We've read about people who rarely sleep, but the body does require rest time. One corporation had gotten into the act by providing a quiet time for employees.

One insurance company turns off the telephones every Wednesday so that underwriters can do their work rather than answer questions. The idea is to boost productivity.

Wouldn't you just hate to be the telephone receptionist who tells the caller that, "Mr. Smith can't talk to you right now, he's observing his quiet time." A caller would have to assume Mr. Smith is either taking a nap or in the restroom.

Q—What is the liability for an adult who buys liquor for minors or who has a party where minors are served alcohol?

A—Under the alcoholic beverage code, a person may purchase for, or give alcohol to a minor if the person is the minor's adult parent, guardian or spouse or has custody of the minor as deemed by a court. The adult must also be visibly present when the minor possesses or consumes the beverage. Otherwise, making alcoholic beverages available to a minor constitutes a criminal offense. Violation is a misdemeanor and the penalty is a fine of between $100-$500. There may also be civil liability for damages arising from injuries sustained as a result of an adult providing alcohol to a minor.

In Brief

Two are dead

HOUSTON (AP) — A man and a woman were shot to death early today in what authorities believe may be a murder-suicide near where President Bush makes his Houston home.

The 5:35 a.m. shooting was on the 22nd floor of the Houstonian Estates Condominium, which is located in the same complex as the Houstonian Hotel where Bush stays while in his adopted hometown.

Bill Dennis, 89, died at 6:47 a.m. after he was rushed to Ben Taub Hospital for treatment of a gunshot wound, a hospital spokeswoman said.

The 35-year-old woman, whose name was not released pending notification of relatives, was pronounced dead at the scene with a gunshot wound to the chest, said Becky Barnett, a spokeswoman for the Houston Fire Department.

Houston homicide investigators were on the scene and unable to provide further details of the shooting.

Stormie just wants to 'go home' from latest hospital stay

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — Stormie Jones, the 12-year-old girl who made medical history as the world's first heart-liver transplant recipient, got an early birthday present: She got to come home.

Stormie returned to Texas Monday afternoon after a brief stay at Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh, where the historic double-transplant was performed six years ago. She celebrates her 13th birthday Thursday.

Stormie entered the Pittsburgh hospital May 20 after routine tests showed high liver enzyme levels, an indication of possible organ rejection.

Further tests revealed the rejection was moderate and could be controlled with increased doses of an experimental anti-rejection medication Stormie has taken since November.

Clad in a white Ronald McDonald House sweatshirt and clutching a small brown teddy bear, she hid behind her mother as a small group of well-wishers greeted the youngster at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport. She also shied away from television cameras and reporters.

After several minutes of prodding by reporters, Stormie snapped: "I don't want to talk. I want to go home."

But she did say she was feeling "fine."

Her mother, Lois "Suzie" Purcell, when asked about her daughter's prognosis, replied: "It looks good at the moment."

Ms. Purcell said the trips back and forth to the Pittsburgh hospital have been frustrating and tiring for the family. She compared the experience to being on a roller-coaster ride.

After their brief comments, mother and daughter, surrounded by well-wishers and family members, scurried off to Stormie's home in White Settlement, a Fort Worth suburb.

Stormie, who drew national attention when she became the world's first heart-liver transplant recipient on Valentine's Day 1984, will turn 13 on Thursday.

Stormie takes FK-506, which the Food and Drug Administration approved for use only at Children's and nearby Presbyterian-University Hospital. She received the drug intravenously in the hospital and will resume taking it orally.

Stormie received the double transplant to control a congenital condition that left her cholesterol levels 10 times higher than normal. She returned to Pittsburgh for a second liver transplant, performed early this year.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 81 and plan to live to 110. My doctor tells me I have too much iron in my system and has stopped me from taking an all-purpose vitamin with iron. I'm also prevented from cooking in iron pots that I enjoy using. What effect will too much iron have on my health?

DEAR READER: Iron is a mineral vital to the body; a deficiency causes anemia because the bone marrow cannot manufacture new red corpuscles unless iron is present.

However, excess iron is harmful. Once the body's iron-storage capacity is exceeded, the additional amounts of mineral are deposited in tissues, such as glands, lungs, liver and heart. Known as hemochromatosis, or iron overload, this condition is virtually a form of iron poisoning, leading to cirrhosis (liver inflammation and scarring), bronze discoloration of the skin, diabetes, heart failure and other less common but equally serious disorders.

Treatment consists of reducing dietary iron and, in severe cases, removing iron from the body either by withdrawing blood (phlebotomy) or using a form of chelation therapy (deferoxamine).

Adults on normal, well-balanced diets often mistakenly believe they need additional iron in vitamin supplements. While these supplements are probably appropriate for menstruating women (who may lose significant amounts of iron each month), additional iron is inadvisable for men and postmenopausal women, unless prescribed by a physician. Therefore, your doctor was correct in discontinuing your vitamins with iron and suggesting you use non-iron cookware.

Once you have eliminated oral iron, your body will, in time, use the excess for normal metabolism. Eventually, your iron level will fall to normal and, with some good fortune, you should make it to 110.

You can obtain more information about the health risks of excess iron by writing to: Iron Overload Diseases Association, 224 Datura St., Suite 912, West Palm Beach, FL 33401. Further, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Fads I - Vitamins and Minerals." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I read your column regularly and your responses from time to time regarding aplastic anemia. The Aplastic Anemia Foundation of America is dedicated to answering questions on the subject, and we are continually trying to locate those connected with the disease. Interested parties can reach us at P.O. Box 22689, Baltimore, MD 21203. I would be grateful if you would provide this information to your readers.

DEAR READER: Thank you for supplying the name and address of this support group for people who, for one reason or another, are unable to manufacture red blood cells. I welcome such useful information from readers.

Today's deal is taken from a back issue of Bridge World.

In a team-of-four match, both tables reached three no-trump. Of course, had the bidding been one no-trump — three no-trump, West would have led a heart and there would be no story, but the match took place some years ago in England, the land then and now of weak no-trumps, and each declarer opened with one heart. So at both tables the lead was a diamond. One declarer worked on hearts immediately, playing dummy's king and then a low heart. He was defeated.

The other player, Scottish expert Victor Silverstone, saw no harm in first playing a low club to dummy's queen. When West showed out, South knew there was no future in the club suit, but he also realized that West was likely to have five hearts. Accordingly he took the first-round finesse in hearts against West and made nine tricks.

What if a spade had been led originally? Declarer should hold up twice, win the third spade and play the same way.

Summer activities discussed

Beta Sigma Phi held their final meeting of the year May 16 in the home of Janeen Patterson.

The meeting was called to order by newly installed president Lisa Rollins. Reports were given by the new officers, and new committee chairmen and committee members were named for the upcoming year.

New chairmen made their request for information about activities and projects for next year. Ways and Means co-chairman Wanda Early announced projected fund raisers for the next year. Lisa Rollins presented the proposed budget for next year.

Summer activities including the annual June camp-out at Colorado City Lake were discussed by members.
Supper was served by members of the social committee, followed with an exchange of gifts which revealed secret sisters for the past year.

Donna Fowler will be working out the details for a friendly venture effort which will offer the opportunity for other women in the community to form another chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Society begins rush month

Selma Brown will meet with the Scurry County Genealogical Society tonight at the Chamber of Commerce in an effort to help members kick-off their rush month for membership.

Researching family history may be important in learning family health patterns, or it might just be for fun. Everyone is invited to join the society in its research and members will be available to help get individuals started in their own research.

According to members, there is a wealth of information available in both the Scurry County and the Western Texas College Libraries to aid in research.

Scurry County Genealogical Society meets the last Tuesday of each month.

Club has dinner meeting

Members of the Twentieth Century Club and their guest met at Golden Corral for a dinner meeting to bring the club year to a close.

Birthdays for four people present were celebrated — Bob Dupree, John McMackin, Sue Trice and Lanette Patterson.

Astros hand Cards 5-1 loss in Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Bill Gullickson accomplished two goals in helping Houston beat St. Louis 5-1.

He won his 100th National League game and angered Cardinals first baseman Pedro Guerrero.

Gullickson, who pitched the past two seasons in Japan, gave up six hits and one run over 6 2-3 innings Sunday, reaching the milestone after four previous failures.

Guerrero's anger came from an inside pitch by Gullickson.

"First inning, we've got a man in scoring position and he throws one up here (neck high)," Guerrero said. "Don't ask me how he pitched, he had me mad the whole game."

Gullickson was not too concerned about Guerrero, though.

"Those kind of pitches are more out of respect to him," Gullickson said. "He is a great hitter and I'm just out there trying to pitch."

Guerrero said he was further angered by shouting from the Astros bench.

Bulls tie NBA playoff series

CHICAGO (AP) — Michael Jordan's locker room tirade woke up the Chicago Bulls. Detroit coach Chuck Daly hopes the Pistons will have the same reaction to his outburst.

How the Pistons respond will determine who advances to the NBA Finals — the Bulls or the defending champions.

The Bulls, bidding to become only the fifth team to overcome an 0-2 deficit in a best-of-7 series, captured their second straight victory Monday, defeating Detroit 108-101, to even the series 2-2.

Game 5 will be played Wednesday night in suburban Auburn Hills, Mich., and Game 6 Friday night back in rowdy Chicago Stadium. Game 7, if needed, would be played in Auburn Hills.

"We did what we wanted to do," said Jordan, whose heated words after Game 2 brought the Bulls back to life. "It's a three-game series right now."

"We have the momentum and the confidence going into the Palace on Wednesday. We have to steal a game from them and win."

Jordan, of course, was the trigger man, scoring 42 points Monday following a 47-point performance in Saturday's Chicago victory after being held to just 54 points combined in the first two games.

But the Pistons, like everyone else in the NBA, expect Jordan to score. After all, he averaged 33.6 points during the regular season, winning his fourth scoring title.

What the Pistons didn't expect was to see the Bulls play defense with the intensity they did over the weekend. Chicago coach Phil Jackson obviously learned something while studying the so-called "Jordan rules" on the Detroit tapes.

"I told the guys before the game started they get six fouls in the NBA; Use every one of them," Jackson said.

"I'm surprised," Detroit's Joe Dumars said. "I fully expected us to come out with intensity and we didn't."

The Bulls, who allowed opponents an average of 106.2 points per game during the regular season, held the Pistons to 96.7 points in the first three games.

Then, in the first quarter Monday, the Bulls defense simply smothered the Pistons. Detroit made only 4 of 16 shots during the period while turning the ball over seven times for nine easy Chicago points.

A basket by Scottie Pippen with 7:38 still to play in the first quarter put Chicago ahead 10-8 and the Bulls led the rest of the game, pushing the lead to as many as 19 points early in the third quarter.

'Horns eliminated in NCAA regionals

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas Longhorns coach Cliff Gustafson put it best: "It's hard to beat a team that doesn't make mistakes."

Cal State-Fullerton didn't make but one error in sweeping through the NCAA Central Regional, winning four straight games, including two against top-seeded Texas.

The Titans advance to the College World Series in Omaha, Neb. The Longhorns, who were runners-up in last year's College World Series, wind up 51-17.

The Big West Conference champion Titans upset the host Longhorns at Dusch-Falk Field 5-2 Sunday and 3-0 Monday to win the Central Regional crown. It was the first time Texas had been shut out this year.

In typical fashion, Fullerton (36-21) combined fine pitching and tough defense to beat the fourth-ranked Longhorns Sunday.

Sophomore James Popoff gave up four hits and got 19 groundball outs to lead the Titans to their third College World Series appearance.

"I can probably say in my 24 years of coaching, this is the best defensive team I've had," said Fullerton coach Larry Cochell.

"We had to have good pitching to win this," he added.

Popoff, a 6-foot-2, 210-pound right-hander, picked up his second victory in the tournament for the No. 3 seeded Titans. He is 12-4, and was named to the All-Tournament team.

Titans pitchers combined for a 2.00 ERA during the tournament, which included a 16-3 thrashing of Old Dominion and a 6-3 victory over Creighton.

The Titans have gone 17-4 since an 18-17 start. Popoff said defense has been the team's trademark, and "it was just a matter of finding the right combination of pitching and hitting to go with the defense."

Popoff said he was pleased with his performance, but "I didn't throw my best today ... it was probably one of my top three performances."

Longhorns' pitcher, Chris Gaskill (7-4) was tagged with the loss. Gaskill struck out six and walked two. Both pitchers went the distance.

Popoff struck out three, walked one and set down the Longhorns in order in the last three innings.

Yeltsin elected president of Russian Federation

MOSCOW (AP) — Populist firebrand Boris N. Yeltsin narrowly won election today to the presidency of the Russian Federation, the largest Soviet republic, a powerful forum that Mikhail S. Gorbachev had sought to deny him.

After three hard-fought ballots in the 1,060-member Russian Congress of People's Deputies, Yeltsin won 535 votes, four more than the majority he needed.

His nearest rival, Russian Premier Alexander Vlasov, received 467 votes.

Yeltsin, a burly 59-year-old Siberian, now has a highly visible platform from which to wage his campaign for more radical economic reforms than those advocated by Gorbachev.

Gorbachev retains the two most powerful jobs in the country, president of the Soviet Union and General Secretary of the Soviet Communist Party. But many people feel Yeltsin's election to the newly created post of Russian president makes him Gorbachev's most serious rival.

After the vote was announced in the Grand Kremlin Palace, Yeltsin strode to the dais to applause and cheers and was handed a bouquet of flowers.

Yeltsin said he felt "a certain satisfaction, but at the same time, I have much more of feeling of responsibility at this turning point for Russia and the country."

"I pledge not to spare anything — health or time — to do everything to get out of this crisis and lead Russia to better times."

Dr. Spock speaks

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Dr. Benjamin Spock says American society is sick and getting sicker, and one of its worst ailments is "excessive competitiveness."

Most children are brought up to believe "you're in this world to get ahead, kid," Spock said in a commencement speech Monday at Yale University's School of Epidemiology and Public Health.

Under terms of the agreement, Harrison will contract for the concessions and agreed not to spend more than $5,000 for labor without approval from the court. The amount will be for lifeguards only and will not be used for manager's salary.

All receipts will be deposited through the county treasurer's office, and Harrison will receive 80 percent and the county 20 percent of gross profit, less labor, as Harrison's only salary.

The county will be responsible for insurance, chemicals, water, electrical and major maintenance costs.

Bowden said the committee will approach the city council for assistance with water and chemicals. Because of insurance considerations, all diving boards and slides will be removed prior to the pool's opening.

Harrison currently is in charge of the swimming pool on the WTC campus. He has extensive pool management experience, having run seven city pools in Lubbock and two in Borger.

Harrison said fees for pool use have yet to be determined. Currently, fees are $1 for people 18 and under and $2 for those older than 18. Harrison said he will attempt to have family nights, birthday parties and teen dances in an effort to increase utilization. Hours of operation will be 1 to 6 p.m., seven days a week.

Tax rates can be reduced

A mobile home, even on leased land, can qualify for a residence homestead exemption if it meets the four tests.

"A property owner can still qualify for the homestead exemption if part of the residence is rented out or used for other purposes, such as a home business," Peveler said. "And the home will not lose its exemption if the owner moves away temporarily, so long as he intends to return and doesn't claim another homestead elsewhere."

Texas law provides several types of homestead exemptions for homeowners, including two for school districts. The law provides a $5,000 general school homestead exemption to all homeowners and an additional $10,000 school exemption to those 65 or older, or disabled.

The over-65 school exemption provides a special property tax "ceiling" for taxes. While the market value of an elderly person's homestead may fluctuate with the market, the taxes due to the school district cannot increase from the amount levied the first year that person qualified for the over-65 exemption.

The ceiling is raised, however, if the owner adds an improvement, other than normal maintenance or repair. When that happens, the new improvement is taxed at its current market value and the school's current tax rate, and the taxes due are added to the previous tax ceiling to create a new ceiling.

If the over-65 homeowner later dies, the surviving spouse may apply to retain the school tax ceiling provided the spouse was at least 55 years of age when the older spouse died.

Two assaults occur Monday

Two assaults of a wife by a husband were investigated Monday by Snyder police during an otherwise quiet Memorial Day.

At 11:20 p.m., a woman told officers that she had been assaulted by her husband. The incident occurred outside the city limits, and the woman told officers she would contact the sheriff's department and file charges the next day.

Following a 10:05 p.m. call, a woman later called the police department at 12:03 a.m. Tuesday stating that she wanted to file assault charges against her husband.

At 5:57 p.m., Dan Howell of Mason's Automotive reported to police that two juveniles had damaged two junk vehicles at his business. Officers made contact with two juveniles and later released them to their parents.

At 1:40 p.m. Monday, Christi Bly reported that her purse had been stolen from her vehicle while it was parked in the Walmart parking lot. The billfold was later found 6.5 miles north of Snyder on the Colorado City highway.

At 5:17 a.m. Tuesday, officers were called to the Colonial Garden Apartments on 25th St. to a reported fight, but police were unable to determine which subjects had been fighting.

At 3:22 p.m., a woman complained to police that a man had been cursing her at 1907 Ave. N. At 8:22 p.m., a complaint of a reckless motorcycle driver was reported in the 2200 Block of 40th St.

Man uses knife to free wife from car

TEXAS CITY, Texas (AP) — A Houston man used a knife to cut his wife free from her seat belt after his car rolled off a boat ramp into 12 feet of water.

Barbara Henderson, 23, was in guarded but stable condition at Danforth Hospital in Texas City late Monday.

Texas City police officer Doug Warren said Robert Henderson, the woman's husband, had stopped at Dan's Bait and Tackle Camp on the Texas City Dike Road to get fishing bait and had put the car into neutral, rather than park, on the boat launching ramp.

The car plunged down the ramp and into the 12-foot deep water with Henderson and his wife in the car.

The husband was able to get out and surface, reports state. He cried out for someone to hand him a knife so he could cut his wife loose. She was strapped in by her seat belt.

Henderson managed to reach the submerged car, cut his wife loose and get her out of the car. By then, 10 minutes had passed and the woman was not breathing, witnesses said.

Coffin and headstone are stolen

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Thieves dug up a coffin and wooden headstone from a centuries-old cemetery that contains the graves of infamous gun slingers and once-prominent pioneers, said police who are searching for suspects.

Officers found an empty, 70-year-old grave when they were called to Concordia Cemetery at about 11 a.m. Monday.

Police said the coffin could have been stolen as much as a week ago. Investigators had not arrested anyone late Monday evening and had no suspects.

"Judging from the size of the hole, it's possible the coffin contained the remains of a child," said El Paso Police Sgt. Paul Cross.

The grave, in the cemetery's southeast corner, was 7 feet deep and 5 feet wide, a police report said.

Cross said police were trying to locate the cemetery's caretaker Monday.

The roadside cemetery abuts a tangle of highways called the "Spaghetti Bowl" and is often a target of vandalism.

In 1989, four youths were jailed and ordered to spend 100 hours cleaning the cemetery after allegedly desecrating a tomb and abusing a corpse. They also were forced to pay damages.

Astronaut set for final flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — He is, at 59, the oldest astronaut to ever fly in space. And that's too old, he says, to get back in line and wait — hope — for one more flight.

As a result, Vance Brand expects the upcoming mission aboard shuttle Columbia to be his last journey into space.

Brand will command the seven-man crew, four of whose members are astronauts and will operate a $150 million observatory called Astro. Liftoff is scheduled for 12:38 a.m. EDT Wednesday.

"I'll probably move on to a management job, a second career if you will, at this late date. But frankly, there isn't anything that beats flying in space," Brand said in a recent interview.

"Being an astronaut is a great job. I suppose a lot of people would do it until they were 90 years old if they could. But at the same time, why I've had a lot of enjoyment out of being an astronaut and I've had four flights. So I guess I'll maybe look at some other work."

The trim, silver-haired Brand was chosen as an astronaut in 1966 after serving in the Marines as a naval aviator and later working as a test pilot.

Brand made his first spaceflight in 1975 on the Apollo-Soyuz mission, in which the crews of the American and Soviet spacecraft docked in space. He was commander of the first fully operational flight of the shuttle system in 1982 and returned to space as a crew commander in 1984.

His decision to make this flight his last is a matter of practicality.

"The big thing is it would be too long to stand in line to get the next flight," he said.

NASA has 86 active astronauts, two of whom are older than Brand but have not flown for five or more years and are involved in management — John Young, 59, and William Thornton, 61. A class of 23 will be added to the rolls this summer.

Parents of handicapped boy want to help other people

HOUSTON (AP) — After years of frustration in trying to get financial help for their multi-handicapped son, Don and Vicki Beasley now want to help others in similar situations make it through the maze of red tape.

"When Derek was born, we had no idea what was going on," said Beasley, 37.

"We were going crazy trying to find some services. We got tired of sitting back and taking no for an answer from everybody," Mrs. Beasley, 33, told The Houston Post. "The last straw was when they told us, 'We ran out of money and you were the next one to be served.'"

Derek, 8, suffers from multiple physical handicaps and is legally blind and deaf. His parents spent years working with the state and insurance companies to get a wheelchair, a medical bed and a hot tub for in-home therapy for their son.

"The jacuzzi straightened out his spine. It was therapeutic. But the insurance company at first had said no," said Beasley, a safety consultant with CNA Insurance Co. After getting letters from physicians and orthopedic surgeons and after an in-home evaluation by a nurse, the Beasleys finally were able to win approval for the whirlpool.

"It will delay surgeries (needed) at a later time. It's an economic saving for them — a one-time cost," Beasley said.

"Insurance companies and state agencies will cooperate as long as they don't feel you will abuse and tear them up," he said. "You have got to know what to ask and who to ask it to."

The Beasleys want to share the knowledge they acquired through frustrating ordeals to help other families get financial aid and to help set up a network of parents to share knowledge of the system.

Beasley recalled that when they began their ordeal, "it was very hard to get information, and you couldn't call one person and try to find out everything. You still can't."

The Beasleys' situation worsened two years ago when Mrs. Beasley was diagnosed with malignant thyroid cancer. Another son, Seth, 9, already had been diagnosed as hyperactive and needed medication.

But the family takes its trouble in stride. Mrs. Beasley, who worked for Continental Airlines until her cancer diagnosis, now is in remission and is ready to help others.

While waiting for their lawyer to set up a non-profit corporation for the information center, the Beasleys already have helped a few families burrow through the bureaucratic systems at the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, the Texas Department of Human Services and various insurance companies.

DEAR ABBY: You were absolutely and positively wrong in your advice to "Mother of Six." I've used such strong language because this goof is monumental; you owe 50 mea culpas on this one.

What if I don't like something I read in your column? Should I write to the publisher of my newspaper and tell him to cancel my subscription? Or should I contact the newspaper's largest advertisers and enlist their aid in coercing the editors to print only what I deem appropriate? Soon we would have either no media or only meaningless fluff, offensive to no one. Also, no Dear Abby.

Let me tell you what offends me: I am offended by this growing idea that we can control what people (media included) say by simply labeling it "offensive." Freedom of speech is our first and foremost civil right, guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution. You don't like what someone says? Tough. Don't look, don't listen or don't read it. But don't try to shut them up. Information isn't dangerous. Suppression of information is.

Very little TV programming is intended for 4-year-olds. They don't have jobs, and they don't spend money. I couldn't believe you would encourage economic coercion nationwide as a means of censorship to help one parent abrogate her responsibility.

But don't shut up. Just think a little. And keep on writing.

DAVID MILLER,
FAYETTEVILLE, N.C.

DEAR MR. MILLER: All right — I'll take 10 whacks with a rolled-up facsimile of the U.S. Constitution. And as one of the original members of People for the American Way (founded by Norman Lear), I ought to be ashamed of myself. And I am.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the pregnant woman who stood on a Boston bus while men were comfortably seated, pretending not to notice her: Some years ago, I got on a bus in Japan. I was able to get a seat, but the bus filled rapidly. I noticed a very tired-looking elderly Japanese woman standing, so I got up and offered her my seat — but before she could get to it, a middle-aged Japanese man jumped in front of her and took the seat! He sat there glaring at me for the duration of the trip. Apparently, their customs are not the same as ours.

S.S.T., WISCONSIN RAPIDS

DEAR S.S.T.: Customs do differ in various cultures, but I would have assumed that because Oriental people have a reputation for respecting their elders, Japan would be the last place to witness the scene you described.

DEAR ABBY: Believe me when I say that thin people are ridiculed, too. I should know. From puberty on, I was underdeveloped, which did not go unnoticed. I've been told that if I swallowed an olive, I'd look pregnant, and if I drank beet juice, I'd look like a thermometer. Also, I've been asked if I have tapeworm. All in fun, of course.

I've been called "Olive Oil," "Twiggy," "Bird Legs," "Skeleton" and "Bean Pole."

I'm 26 years old, stand 5 foot 8 and weigh 94 pounds. I have annual medical checkups and, believe it or not, I'm healthy. I've been underweight all my life. I eat everything all day, every day.

I am used to people making remarks about how thin I am, and I don't consider it a compliment. I think any kind of comment about a person's weight is rude.

DEAR THIN: Thanks for writing. You may have educated a few people today.

Most teen-agers do not know the facts about drugs, AIDS, and how to prevent unwanted pregnancy. It's all in Abby's new, updated, expanded booklet, "What Every Teen Should Know." To order, send a business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Jobs Power The Future
Big cities and small towns across the area we serve are stretching their horizons. They're searching out new industries and new companies to bring new jobs. When the companies see what we have here — people who will work hard to build a better future, some of the most attractive electric rates in the nation, and an attitude set on winning — they decide to move here.

Electricity Powers The Jobs
That's why we need to build new generating plants and power lines, and develop alternate fuel sources like nuclear power. To make sure we can keep expanding opportunities for young people who want to raise families here. To make sure you have the electricity you need — today and tomorrow.

Power For Texas
TU Electric is committed to helping make a better future for all of us. And to provide all the power that is needed to fuel the new economy. Electric Power. The Power for Texas.
