Perfect Season Racked Up By 15-16 Year Olds

Haskell's Warriors, 15-16 year old Pony League entry here in Area IV of the Texas Teenage Baseball League, closed out a perfect season here Monday night, winning 12 games, while losing none, and will go to a state tournament for its age group in Fort Worth on August 2-9-10.

Suford Cox has managed the happy Haskell Warriors throughout the season, assisted by Bob Mobley and Joe Harper. The 13-man club, which has not lost a single game all season, played each of its four opponents in the Cotton-belt League three times for a clean sweep. Other teams represented Hamlin, Anson, Rule and Rochester.

On this record-setting nine from Haskell are Bill Perry and Gary Davis, catchers; Perry Turnbow and Ricky Hamilton, pitchers; Gary Conner, first base; James Ivey, second base; Freddy Kroger, third base; Joe Josselot, shortstop; Wendell Conist, Steve Harper, Ronnie Josselot, Gary Drenowad, and Thurman Howeth, all outfielders.

Twenty-one years of alternating heartache and happiness marked the roller-coaster route of railroad building preceding the arrival of the "iron horse" in Haskell at high noon on August 2, 1906. A recount of these years is part of the drama of "Rice Springscene," the historic tableau which will be unfolded as the climax to the first annual Haskell County Hey-Day here Saturday night.

Hey-Day in Haskell County Saturday will be rich in heritage such as this, and it will be many other things, as it, too, follows a roller-coaster route. There will be "hey," which is just plain joy, say-hey, which is howdy from neighbors one to the other, clean out to the farthest fence lines, and the heritage - rich atmosphere will be there, too, through the monumental efforts of eight communities in a county working together for a community cause.

The community in this sense is really eight communities, Haskell, Rule, Rochester, Weinert, Saperton, Paint Creek, Mattson, and O'Brien which have organized themselves into a "committee of the whole" to stage Hey-Day. The county-wide event will be jam-packed with hours of frenzied activity from 2 p. m. to midnight Saturday.

Honored will be senior citizens whose seniority will be separated from that of others by the fact that they were on the Rice Springs scene, the watering place which became Haskell, before the railroad came 57 years ago, in 1906. It is the heritage of the railroad which Haskell, among other things, is bent on preserving through Hey-Day Saturday and those like it to come in succeeding years.

To secure the money to move the memory-filled depot here, a gift for $1 of the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad, and restore it in Rice Springs Park as a museum and tourist attraction is one of the purposes of Hey-Day. But more than that, a county-wide intermingling of the home folks, residents and former residents, the latter group having been especially invited to return, is the primary aim of Hey-Day.

From the time the first horned toad toes the line at the urging of his youthful "jockey" in an effort to capture prizes generously given by merchants throughout the area, to the last squeak of the musical instruments at the ball to be staged in American Legion Hall, "hey" is the order of the day.

Highlights of Hey-Day are these, and the names of individuals responsible, or who have worked the longest in preparation, are being omitted, because the recording of them would take the tax rolls, or something bulkier: A carnival of competitions inviting crowd participation interesting to the spectators as well, from 2 to 6 p. m. under the auspices of the Haskell Jaycees; an old fiddlers' contest and singing convention at the American Legion Hall, same time; a huge barbecue meal prepared on the grounds using 700 pounds of the best beef obtainable, served from 5:30 to 7:00 p. m.; the "Rice Springscene" narrated by Tom Barfield with the Rule Square Dance Club in a colorful and frequent emceeing from the wings, and staged at the amphitheater in the park where Haskell started in the first place; a dance that is billed to start about "dark-thirty" for those still able to perambulate the premises.

And the Committee of the Whole County was working away past dark-thirty Wednesday night hammering away at something that is bound to gain institutional stature here for many years to come. Hey-Day.

The departure of the well-known Haskell teacher-coach Daniel Sloan, who has been elected to membership in the Society of Education Administrators, according to word received Monday by his mother, Mrs. M. O. Brinkley, here.

Major Cook, a 1941 graduate of Haskell High School, enters the service soon after his graduation and has remained in the Air Force since that time. He is currently stationed at Ridgewood, N. C., on a top security assignment, but is receiving a new assignment in September to Kings Air Force Base, Ft. Pava, Texas.

WARPATH ON THE BASE PATHS is what this tribe of Haskell Redskins will be going on when they tangle with Hamlin here at Fair Park Stadium Monday night at 8 o'clock in the first game of a best two-out-of-three series. The game pits against each other the winners in their geographic districts of Area IV, Texas Teenage Baseball League in the Sophomore age bracket, the 13 and 14 year olds. Winner of the series goes to the state tourney. Shown here with a 10-2 record for the season, are Haskell's Redskins, left to right, front row: Douglas Bartley, Troy Schwartz, Sammie Gardner, Andy Rodriguez, Jimmy Gonzalez, Derrell Davis, Mike Ozuna, and Mike Overton, coach. Back row: Roy Wiseman, manager; Kenneth Felker, assistant manager; James Isbell, Kenneth Jon Felker, Johnny Josselot, Bill Ratliff, Ray Herren, Mike Wright, and Randy Wiseman. Not pictured: Phillip Josselot, bat boy.

Hazards Here Result In Fire Insurance Hike

A basic fire rate with increase in fire insurance rates is in effect for residents of Haskell as a result of a re-evaluation of fire hazards, protective equipment and other factors by the State Board of Insurance, according to word received here from Austin.

The board, after a check on these factors, increased the city's "fire rate" from 30 to 35 cents per $100 of fire insurance. The new rate is applied after application of a system of credits and debits.

Hey-Day . . . A Day of Double-Barreled Destiny

Haskell County fires both barrels sky-high into the future here Saturday. It's no scatter-shot situation. Hopes are running high to hit right on target with two aims and objects: (1) To make Hey-Day such an enjoyable event as to assure its institutional status as an annual county-wide reunion and (2) to have such numerical turnout as to procure a financial cushion for worthwhile area projects that will mutually benefit the area, principally the moving and restoration of the heritage-rich depot here to Haskell's public park for use as a museum and tourist attraction.

The move to move our archaic depot is a wise one in the eyes of a respected observer, the FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM, which has the eyes of the entire Southwest on its editorial pages. And in the opinion of the Star-Telegram, we are apparently right on target with our belief in the potential of a restored depot as a lure for tourists.

Says the Star-Telegram editorially last Thursday: "Haskell has probably done posterity a favor by arranging the rescue and preservation of its old railroad depot. Construction of a new station there by the Fort Worth and Denver Railway will release the old station from railroad use. It has been purchased for $1 and will be moved to city park and restored as a museum and tourist attraction.

The time is almost at hand when any such structure from railroad's heyday is a museum piece. As more and more lines relinquish their passenger trains, fewer and fewer Americans remember their importance to the settlement and development of the country.

The foresighted can be thanked for the preservation of such relics as the Haskell depot and examples of old steam locomotives and the rail coaches of another era, for the interest in seeing what they looked like will increase.

The "foresighted" mentioned above are Mrs. Bailey Toliver, Mrs. Tom Barfield, Dr. James F. Cadenhead, and his Chamber of Commerce New Projects Committee, and folks like Jim Norman, of Rule, Felix Mullins, of Rochester, the Weinert, Sagerston, Paint Creek, O'Brien and Mattson people who are pitching in to help, to mention a few.

Every last person in Haskell County will be helping, too, to preserve a heritage when he or she comes and brings the family to Hey-Day here Saturday.

So don your coolest and most comfortable coverings. Convergence on Rice Springs Park, there to "Say-Hey," and make "hay" in every way Saturday. See you there.

Oakescripts A Pencil Pusher's Potpourri

BY PORTER

At this writing, Haskell has racked up six straight days of 100-plus temperature readings. We're beginning to think the boy with the horns and tail down below left the furnace door open to pursue his scorched earth policy.

It has even affected the routine of the spit 'n' whittle boys at the Courthouse. The spontaneous combustion bouncing off the pavement almost set fire to their shavin's Sunday afternoon and drove 'em across the street under cover.

Something else mighty hot around here is our Little League All Star aggregation. Those boys hustled right past Rule Friday night to advance into a wider area playoff with tonight's Seymour-Iowa Park winner tomorrow night in Iowa Park. The capable coin tossers, Dude Mercer and Buck Everett, are the bye-bye boys. They've obtained two byes in a row, but lost the site of the game to Iowa Park. You can't win 'em all.

Iowa Park breezed past Graham, Haskell's previous nemesis. Perhaps the change of opponents will change our play-off fortunes also. From what we've heard, we'd just as soon Seymour took those Iowa Park boys out of the way tonight. Understand they have three boys on the ball club who make like our varmint. They're so fast you just get a glimpse of them here and there on the diamond. But Managers Ivey and Reeves can be depended upon to figure out some "delaying action" for that torrid trio. Let's all go to Iowa Park tomorrow night, 7:45 p. m., and back our boys.

If the folks here in the "city" will kindle the same enthusiasm about Hey-Day Saturday, being demonstrated most tangibly by the people of Rule, Weinert, Mattson, Paint Creek, Sagerston, and the rest of our "satellites," Hey-Day will be a scintillating success. Come Saturday at 2 p. m. to the park. Park your carcass. Partake in the beef carcass carving. The fun-fest to be staged there is inevitable. Re-lax and enjoy it.

We've been called many things, some of 'em we haven't even heard about, we're certain. And we are cognizant of our proportions, which ain't as expansive as they used to be, believe it or not, but never thought we'd be mistaken for a whole Sub-Division. We've been called Scrub, Poison, Mighty, Royal, and even Dumbarton Oakes. When Bob Lowrance brought his lovely new wife to Haskell last week, this winsome young lady was told by her husband, "I want you to see Porter Oakes." Probably was on Bob's list of town oddities. When she did see the Pencil Pusher, Reta Lowrance was surprised. She expected to see a well-developed chunk of terrain. Well, there is enough of me to sub-divide.

Believe it was either Harold Spain or E. J. Stewart, both the cassanova type, who said at Chamber of Commerce board meeting the other day, "If Bob Lowrance can manage this organization as well as he picks a wife, we're gonna grow." And we say, "Amen." Reta is a senorita of striking puichitude, with a manner equally charming.

A "local" in the columns of the Free Press 50 years ago next week says, "For a surprise, look in the yellow car near the depot." And it's signed "Roscoe Reeves." As we recall, refrigerated freight cars carrying perishables, were always painted yellow. What was Roscoe's surprise? Alford watermelons, maybe? Somebody please tell us.

Have you noticed how many of our graduating Nine Teens are trottin' in double harness already? Fox-trottin', guess you'd say regarding them. They must have sung the prospective bridegrooms into submission. Can't blame the fortunate fellows. Those Nine Teens are a bevy of beauties.

Carl Wheatley reports seeing this amusing sign: "People are funny. They occupy the front seat in the show, the back seat in church, and the middle of the highway."

Lynn Pace, Jr., has an eye-catching sign on his runabout which proclaims, "Enjoy Beer Daily," a sterling suggestion which supports our economy and is the trademark of West Texas. We know a bunch of people who "enjoy beefing daily," and what pleasure they get out of that, we'll never know.

Seeing Clayton Dalrymple, the young Philadelphia catcher on TV the other day, reminds that he played ball for Amarillo in the Texas League before going to the majors, and married an Amarillo girl, at home plate in Gold Sox Stadium, the Amarillo ballyard, of all places. Sorta what you'd call being "married to the business." Dalrymple, in his business as catcher, sticks closer to "home" than most.

Speaking of ballyards, we're prejudiced, of course, but it's a shame we can't play Iowa Park here. Thanks to some enterprising citizens too numerous to mention here interested in kids, and the most dedicated grounds-keepers anywhere, Haskell Little Leagueers have the best manicured and trimmest little ball park you'll find.

Sagerton News

BY MRS. DELBERT LEFEVRE

(Delayed)

Much needed rains fell in this area Saturday night and early Sunday morning. The amount varied from one and one-half inch to two inches. It fell very slowly and all of it soaked in the fields. It came just in time for some of the early cotton and the maize. We could use some more in the fields and in the stock tanks that are dry.

Mrs. John Clark was called back to Haskell to be with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Clark while he is in the hospital in Wichita Falls. Mrs. Oscar Niernast was released from the Stamford Memorial Hospital last week and is getting to her home. She is getting along nicely, and her friends are glad to hear she can be up and around.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Benton are vacationing in Houston and other points in South Texas this week.

A blaze which started from a grass fire burned two vacant buildings on the Sagerton town site Saturday afternoon. In spite of all efforts to control the fire, the vacant filling station building belonging to Harvey Hahn of Old Glory and the small building belonging to Mr. Mischer in Abilene, both on the South side of the highway, burned to the ground. Because of the rather strong wind, buildings across the highway were in danger. Mrs. Cliff LeFevre entertained the members of the Stitch and Chatter Club in her home Wednesday afternoon of last week. has been spent recently for industrial construction in our service area

Even today, $28,000,000 is a lot of money. But a survey shows that this vast amount has been spent recently for construction of new industrial plants in our service area, and for expansion of existing ones.

... more proof that the Center of the Southwest is one of the Nation's fastest growing regions.

The figure is evidence of two things. One is that our service area is becoming more and more industrialized. The other is that when we say "The Center of the Southwest" is one of the Nation's fastest growing regions, we have the facts to back it up.

The industrial figure is one fact. The commercial and civic improvement figures are others. Day by day we become more than ever convinced that this region faces growth unlimited.

FROM A PASTOR'S STUDY
DOUGLAS B. FINCH, MINISTER
First Presbyterian Church, Haskell, Tex.

...that all a valid extension of my ministry, the nature of my whole ministry is a process of on-going self-education. What I am doing is trying out my ideas publicly, expecting that some friends will reply... whether in agreement or disagreement. Even though I am aware that the good life of the mind and the healthy exchange of ideas is not attractive to but a small group of people in our materialistic and utilitarian society; even though I am aware that the process of self-education is a reproach to the non-educated... who will often feel shame or envy or both; still I can say that, in all of the letters I have received about my column from far and near, I have never received a letter which suggested that any person was angry about anything I had written. Many persons have disagreed, and this has generally been most fruitful to me. I have gained many correspondents and have been introduced to many new intellectual companions through this column. For all of this, I am grateful. I have had many good laughs from it, too, and most often from those persons who would have been justified to have taken me to task. Which leads me to think that we have a high calibre person in and around Haskell who are not necessarily stuck in a rut, and whose minds are not closed to new truth and challenge. Herein lies the hope of our society... not in self-satisfaction... nor in some desire to be "left alone," because we have already arrived to the place where we aspire to go. Our hope lies in the fact that we are traveling in the right direction... that somewhere out there is some new truth... some better way... some purer virtue... some fresher thought... some new forgiveness... some new dedication.

May God bless all of the churches—the Church of Christ, the Baptist Church, the Methodist Church, the Lutheran Church, the Christian Church, the Roman Catholic Church, in our striving for an acknowledgment of our unity in Christ and the pursuit of the truth wherein that unity can find its best expression.

I noticed in Ann Lander's column recently where some lady had written the columnist that her husband's moustache had given her a rash under the nose and on her chin, and wanted advice from Miss Lander what she could do about getting her husband to shave his upper lip. Miss Lander replied: "Tell your husband to cut the moustache off, or choose between the moustache and his wife's kisses."

This scribe knows from experience that it is harder for a man to part with the brush pile on his upper lip than it is to get a 10-year-old boy to take a bath.

Figures released in June revealed there were 70 million jobs and 4.8 million idle in the United States. Unemployment is one of the great challenges of the present and future, however there are far too many people who would not work if offered a job. Just recently two prominent Haskell businessmen told me they were badly in need of employees—for full time jobs, but could not fill the places.

Football season is just around the corner and I just got to thinking of the many "Bowl Games" played each year. Offhand I can name 24 of them such as the Cotton Bowl, Shrimp, Oil, Bluebonnet, Oleander, Alamo, Milk, Industrial, Prairie View, Rose, Sugar, Delta, Orange, Orange Blossom, Gator, Dixie, Salad, Mineral Water, Pine, Harbor, Tangerine, Raisin, Refrigerator, Pumpkin, Hospitality, and Little Rose Bowl. So far as I know, we do not have a Soup or Tator Bowl.

Sports fans have been dreading the '63 edition of "Texas Football," which went on sale recently. I do not agree with all of the predictions found in the great magazine of Southwest Conference, Texas High School Preview, but I will say if readers would like any information about their favorite college or high school team for the coming season, they can certainly find it in the magazine.

Here is what the Preview had to say about our district 6-AA: "One of the toughest districts in Class AA football is this one, and the ultimate winner is usually one to be reckoned with in play-off action. Winters won last year and went on to the semi-finals, posting a 13-1 record. This year it looks like an open market, but no one wants to sell the defending champions short. WINTERS lost heavily and returns only 9 lettermen and 4 regulars. But those 4 are good ones and there are some good youngsters on hand to plug the gaps."

HAMLIN, 6-4 last year, returns 10 lettermen, including 3 star backs.

STAMFORD, a name that annually commands respect, must begin a rebuilding job, since the Bulldogs lost 22 seniors and return only one offensive starter.

BALLINGER, nine lettermen return, and the best backfield in the district may play for this team.

ANSON, ten lettermen are returning. Hopes for a strong defense.

HASKELL, lost heavily, but returns the nucleus for a fine backfield led by halfback Joe Thugpen, a high scoring all-state candidate. Backs James Davis, Sammy Larned and Joe Josselot are highly capable.

I may be optimistic, but I just can't see Haskell finishing on the bottom this season in 6-AA play. In fact, with a few breaks and sporting a flashy backfield other teams in 6AA better watch out because the Haskell Indians will take a number of scraps before the curtain comes down on gridiron play this fall. In fact it would not surprise this scribe if the Indians don't scarp the whole bunch.

"Texas Football" picks the following teams in the Southwest Conference play to finish third: (1) Texas and Arkansas tied for first place; (2) TCU; (3) Rice; (4) Texas A&M; (5) Baylor; (6) SMU; (8) Texas Tech.

Here is the way Prattler picks the top 10 in the SWC: (1) Texas; (2) Rice; (3) SMU; (4) TCU; (5) A&M; (6) Texas Tech; (8) Baylor.

You have to get up before sunrise to keep ahead of Postmaster Harold Spain. Remember at Lions Club, just after Harold and several other Haskellites had returned from a jaunt to Kansas City to see some major league baseball games, he remarked to Rev. Ray Nobles that the group had gone to an early church service on Sunday, before going to the big double-header baseball games. Thinking I would trap the genial postmaster, I asked him what the preacher preached about to which Spain replied: "He preached about 20 minutes" so no more questions were asked by this scribe.

2 B&PW Leaders Here Attending National Meet

Haskell was represented at the 29th annual national convention of the National Federation of Women's Clubs in Dallas by two of its woman civic leaders, Mrs. Opal Adkins and Mrs. Myron Biard.

Both past presidents of the Haskell B&PW organization, Mrs. Adkins and Mrs. Biard, left Sunday to take part in the national convention which had a full schedule through Thursday.

More than 4,000 women participated from 50 state federations to follow a theme of "The Responsibility of Full Partnership."

Dr. Minnie C. Miles, of Tuscaloosa, Alabama, president, opened the convention with an address on "Status of Women" Sunday evening.

Dr. Frank A. Rose, president of the University of Alabama, provided a forceful and stimulating keynote for the convention.

"Change! Change! Change!" is the provocative title of a Monday address delivered by Dwayne Orton, editor, Think Magazine. Mr. Orton related his speech to the 1963 Federation theme, dealing with some of the important changes in the social, economic, and political spheres and relating these to the business and professional person in his or her responsibilities as a citizen and community leader.

of Commerce Projects Committee Chairman, announced program plans for "Hey-Day," scheduled for Saturday, July 27, and Lions Club President, Wallace Cox Jr., appointed a committee to prepare the tables at Rice Springs Park for the "big barbecue."

Bill Reeves called attention to the Little League Playoff, at Iowa Park, Friday night, July 26, at 7:45 o'clock.

At Tuesday's meeting, Al Hinds was presented a past president's button, by Wallace Cox, Jr.

Attendance Contest

In the second go-round of the attendance contest, Rajah Hassen's team was winner. George Fouts' team had the most members present, but contest rules state that if the team captain is not present to make his report, his team automatically is the loser, thus George Fouts drew "the skunk," and the sign goes into his store window for the next week, or until his team is proclaimed the winner.

At the end of two weeks, in the four weeks' contest, Fouts' and Hassen's teams are tied.

Industry Horizon Unlimited, Says Rotary Speaker

Vigorously and enthusiastically outlining the avenues of approach to development by a small community like Haskell, Rex Jennings, executive vice president of both the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce and his city's new Industrial Development, Inc., told Haskell Rotarians and their guests here last Thursday that "industry is a magic word in every community across the country today."

The Wichita Falls chamber of commerce executive declared, "A city like ours is no stronger than the towns in its territory, and we want to work with communities that indicate they mean business."

Haskell, Jennings spiritedly told his Rotary audience, "is rich in resources, attractive in appearance, and there is no limit to what you can do."

Wichita Falls' recent accelerated effort to raise $1,000,000 to develop industry was a "matter of necessity," Jennings pointed out. He further stated that more than the economic value accruing to such effort, the stimulation of co-operation and the pulling together of all groups in a community in one direction toward a common goal "is of even greater value."

Residents of any community that wants to build must "think 15 or 20 years down the road," the Wichita Falls civic leader said. "And very few communities know their own strength. The leadership of a few men can catch fire, and 'no greater thrill can come to the heart of a man than to drive around in his own town and see the industrial accomplishments which are the product of some of his own work," added Jennings.

The visiting speaker urged support of a strong chamber of commerce around which all groups can rally to get the job done.

He encouraged help for the type of manufacturing "you already have, or the development of ideas locally created," pointing out that 80 percent of new industrial jobs today are in plants already in Texas and organized locally. Only 20 percent come in from the outside.

A community the size of Haskell can, and has, "achieved things that have been nothing short of miraculous," Jennings advised.

Letting figures speak for themselves, the well-informed Rotary speaker said that a small manufacturing plant employing 100 people in a town this size means: 359 more people in town; 91 more children in school; $710,000 more personal income in town annually; $229,000 more every year in bank deposits; 97 more passenger car registrations; 65 new non-manufacturing plant employees to take care of additional economic traffic occasioned by the plant; and $331,000 more in retail sales annually.

There is "a new feel of things in Texas," Jennings said. He said that the magic name of industry had resulted in the setting up of 14,000 industrial foundations or organizations spending 200 million dollars a year in vying for plant sites.

"Any community that sets about it in the right way with a determined mind, realizing that it takes time, and work, can achieve something in an industrial way," Jennings con-

Baptist Men To Hold Rally At H-SU Monday

Plans are being made to send a large delegation from Haskell County to the annual rally of the District 17 Baptist Brotherhood to be held on the campus of Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene Monday, July 29.

Between 700 and 1,000 Baptist men from a dozen counties in the North Central and Northwest Texas area will attend a program which will feature Dr. James H. Landes, president of H-SU, in two addresses, afternoon and evening.

The program will begin at 1:30 p. m. in the H-SU Chapel Auditorium. It will recess about 5:30 p. m. for a steak dinner in the University Cafeteria and will resume at 7 p. m., according to Lowell Welch, district president, of Abilene. Dr. Landes will speak at each session.

The speaker was introduced by Porter Oakes, editor of the Haskell Free Press, the program chairman. Vice President Roy Johnson was in charge in the absence of President Ira Hester. Danny Boone, who has resigned his position as music-youth director of the First Baptist Church here, announced he was leaving the club here to enter training for the ministry. Guests included Bud Lane, president of the Haskell Jaycees; Bob Lowrance, manager of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce; and Charles Swinson, cashier of Haskell National Bank.

Robertson Family 50 Strong, Here For Reunion

More than 50 members of the Robertson family in this area converged on Haskell recently for their second annual reunion held in the American Legion building here. A picnic supper was prepared by the Haskell segment of the family for the early arrivals on Saturday night, July 13.

Miss Jo Ann Robertson, of Dallas, entertained throughout the day on Sunday, July 14, with piano selections, and stereophonic records of religious and spiritual music were heard through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kierepka, of Haskell.

At the noon hour, the invocation was said by Morris Wheat, of Mesquite, after which all enjoyed a bountiful meal.

Motion pictures were taken throughout the day by Morgan Wilkes, and his mother, Mrs. Clara Morris, of Wichita Falls. Mrs. Morris also brought the family tree record, dating back to the great-great-grandparents of this group.

The third reunion of the Robertsons is planned to be held in Haskell again the second Sunday in July, 1964.

Members of the family came from Abilene, Wichita Falls, Decatur, Lewisville, Dallas, Mesquite, Floydada and Haskell. Those registering for the reunion were: Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Wheat and Jo Ann, of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Lyndon Norman and Vaness, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Morris Wheat, Cynthia and Kevin of Mesquite; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Robertson, Floydada; Mr. and Mrs. Ladell Prewitt, of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Robertson, Haroldan, Mitsy and Clayton, of Lewisville; Mrs. C. G. Kilpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Speck McDaniel, Pam, Tina, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McDaniel, of Decatur; Mrs. Clara Morris and Morgan Wilkes, of Wichita Falls; Mrs. Harve Fry, Jim Stanford, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Callaway, Hollis and Clinton, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Callaway, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kierepka, Carol Jo, Mike and Danny, Mr. and Mrs. Dan C. Wester, Jimmy Larnard, Bobby Black and Tony Burson.

Yankee Doodle Dandy

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Holley, of Buchanan Dam, are the parents of a son, weighing in at 7 pounds, five ounces, and born on the Fourth of July. This Independence Day arrival is named Curtis Doyle. Mrs. Holley is the former Janet Pennington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Pennington, formerly of Haskell. Other grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Holley, of Corpus Christi.

Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Bland, of Haskell.

Naomi Class Feasts In Park

Members of the Naomi Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church had a watermelon feast in City Park Monday night, with nine members of the class being served by Group 2 as hostesses.

Bruce Neillums, president, was in charge of a brief business session, and Ethel Alvia gave the opening prayer. The devotional was presented by Betty Jo Clanton on "Thoughts On Retreat." Ethel Lou Shelton provided a treasurer's report, and minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Raye Scarbrough.

It was Mrs. Annie Tate, not Mrs. Annie Pate, who was installed as noble grand of the Rebekah Lodge here last Monday night. The Free Press regrets its error.
