Western Texas approved to offer TDCJ officer in-service

The Texas Department of Criminal Justice has given approval for Western Texas College to offer in-service training to correctional officers and supervisors from the Price Daniel Unit, Mike Thornton, dean of continuing education, confirmed Tuesday afternoon.

Candidates speak out...

Forum produces limited fireworks

Unlike the explosions which occur when state-wide candidates appear on the same platform, candidates for Scurry County offices provided only a few sparks Tuesday in a political forum at Western Texas College.

About 110 people attended the political rally hosted by WTC's social science department on the eve of the start of absentee voting in the Nov. 6 general election.

Candidates for county judge and for District 78 state representative upstaged the other races.

Republican challenger Bob Doolittle questioned incumbent Democratic Judge Bobby Goodwin's claim of being progressive while Republican John Pennington of Sweetwater accused State Rep. David Counts, a Democrat, of "saying one thing in Austin and another in Snyder."

The president has been less forceful on the topic, telling reporters recently that he supports term limits but has not decided how strongly he will campaign for the issue.

Quayle has long espoused limiting congressional tenure to 12 years. Lately, he mentions it in virtually every speech as he travels the country to help elect Republicans.

In fact, the 1988 Republican Party platform called for a constitutional amendment to set an unspecified restriction on the number of terms that House and Senate members could serve. Bush and Quayle never made

Dr. Gott, Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: In October 1981, my wife had a radical mastectomy of the left breast. Six months later, her left arm swelled to about half again its normal size. This was followed by a right mastectomy and right arm swelling. Her doctor says nothing can be done to bring the swelling down, which remains to date. DEAR READER: During a radical mastectomy (breast removal), other tissues are removed at the same time; these include the lymph glands under the arm and, sometimes, part or all of the chest muscles beneath the breast. Such an operation always causes swelling of the arm because the lymph glands, which act as lymph filters, are no longer present. Lymph the clear fluid that circulates throughout the body (and forms blisters after a burn) - can reach the arm, but has no way of returning to the heart. Therefore, the arm swells heavy uncomfortable.

Some women with post-mastectomy edema can be helped by diuretics, medicine that stimulates the kidneys to excrete excess body fluid. However, as a general rule, women with lymph edema need a pneumatic device or a pressure sleeve to force lymph through the tissues and out of the arm. A Jobst sleeve, although uncomfortable, is a heavy elastic garment worn on the arm; it often reduces edema. Also, there are numerous brands of inflatable sleeves that accomplish the same goal: providing external pressure to push lymph out of the arm. Frankly, I'm surprised that your wife's doctor has painted such a bleak picture. Physicians ordinarily make every effort to assist patients in overcoming the consequences of surgery, especially such a predictable one as I advise you to obtain another opinion, either from a primary-care doctor or from a surgeon. Although your wife would have to be fitted for a pressure sleeve, such an appliance could make her discomfort far more bearable. These devices are available through most surgical-supply houses. Before purchasing one, I urge you to obtain medical clearance because there may be some reason (of which I am unaware), why she shouldn't use such a sleeve. DEAR DR. GOTT: Is there any cure for folliculitis? I'm a 27-year-old single man and have been treated with tetracycline, Accutane and Bactrim. Whenever I stop any medication, the problem erupts again. Can you give me some direction? DEAR READER: Folliculitis, infection of the skin's pores due to plugging from the oily material contained in perspiration, is difficult to cure. Usually, it responds (as did yours) to therapy with antibiotics or Accutane (isotretinoin, a drug that reduces follicular plugging). However, once therapy is stopped, the condition returns. Therefore, you will probably have to be on some kind of medication indefinitely.

I suggest you see a dermatologist, who will be able to give you advice about which treatments are suitable for long-term use. To give you more information about other common skin disorders, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Eczema and Psoriasis." Don't be fooled by success

Experienced players know that an initial successful finesse is not an ironclad guarantee that the finesse will succeed the second time around. Just as a declarer can make a holdup play, so too can a defender. But blithely letting declarer win that trick requires cool nerve when the contract is a

Today's South worked his way into six no-trump after North had opened with a strong artificial two clubs. The opening lead was the jack of spades. Declarer won the king in his hand and played a low heart to the jack in dummy. East followed low. So declarer cashed dummy's king of clubs, came to his hand with the queen of diamonds and played A-Q of clubs, throwing diamonds from the dummy. Sure, the diamonds might be splitting 3-3, but the heart finesse was already proven, right? Now another heart was played to dummy's 10. Devious East took the queen and cashed his now good jack of clubs to set the slam.

Easy to see now, but probably declarer should not have been victimized by this ruse. If he continues with A-K of hearts after his finesse to dummy's jack has won the trick, he loses a trick only when West started with four hearts to the queen. And he avoids the disaster of going set in a contract that always should make.

Richards closing the gap?

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) Democrat Ann Richards repeated her call for tougher regulation of the insurance industry, and said she is narrowing the lead her Republican opponent holds with only three weeks left in the governor's race.

Richards also agreed Tuesday to be interviewed by a panel of reporters on "Decision '90," a television special produced by KERA-TV in Dallas. The announcement came a day after Williams agreed to a separate half-hour interview by the same panel.

The State Board of Insurance, Richards said Tuesday in Brownsville, relies too heavily on insurance companies for ratesetting data.

The Insurance Board's rate figures should come "from their own employees, not from the employees of the insurance industry itself," she said. Republican Clayton Williams has been endorsed by The Independent Insurance Agents of Texas.

Williams in Houston on Tuesday joined two other Republican candidates for statewide office in calling for limits on the terms of p.m. legislators and state administrators.

He appeared at the Empire Broom and Mop Manufacturing Co. with lieutenant governor candidate Rob Mosbacher and attorney general hopeful J.E. 'Buster' Brown.

"We are going to make a clean sweep on the ballot in November," Williams said while pushing a broom across the broom and mop company's warehouse. "We're going to sweep out the Austin insiders.

Richards, however, said she is closing in on the lead Williams has commanded in the polls.

A recent Gailup poll commissioned by several Texas media organizations shows Richards has closed to within 5 percentage points of Williams.

The telephone poll of 1,006 registered voters shows 45 percent surveyed supported Williams, with 40 percent supporting Richards.

When it was all over, the A's 10game winning streak in postseason play was history and they seemed just a little shocked by the whole thing. They also knew Game 2 is tonight when 27game winner Bob Welch is scheduled to pitch against lefthander Danny Jackson.

The way it happened in Game 1 was a little surprising considering Davis was just about falling apart, with a sore shoulder and aching wrists and ankles.

Davis was 4-for-23 in the playoffs, with no homers or RBIs and nine strikeouts. Manager Lou Piniella even asked him to think about leading off during the

But after Hatcher walked with one out in the first inning, Davis hit a drive deep over the fence in left-center field.

"We can feel confident when we get a lead off a tough pitcher like Dave Stewart," Davis said. "But it's a team effort and if it wasn't me, someone else would get a big hit. That's the way it's been all year." Stewart gave up two more runs in the third on Hatcher's RBI double and a run-scoring grounder by Paul O'Neill. The A's beaten right-hander departed after four innings, giving up four runs, three hits and four walks.

The Reds made the A's think just a little more with three runs in the fifth off Todd Burns. Davis had an RBI single and Chris Sabo added a two-run single.

Rijo pitched around Jose Canseco twice and got out of a bases-loaded jam in the fifth when Mark McGwire popped to second. The A's were 0-for-8 with runners in scoring position.

Rijo might be needed to pitch two more games in the series, so Piniella lifted him after seven and turned it over to the Nasty Boys - Dibble and Myers. By that time, though, there was nothing for them to get very excited about.

Gregory-Portland school board members have voted unanimously to appeal the recent disqualification of their high school football team from the state football playoffs.

The District 30-4A executive committee voted Oct. 10 to disqualify the Gregory-Portland team from representing the district for giving athletes pizza parties and a pancake breakfast during last year's playoffs. The pizza and pancakes were in violation of the University Interscholastic League's amateurstatus rules for athletes.

The district will "pursue with all vigor" an appeal of the disqualification, Superintendent Bob Jameson said following Tuesday night's school board ac-

Storm bubbles in Saturn's atmosphere

LOS ANGELES (AP) - NASA is preparing to use the Hubble Space Telescope to observe an incredible celestial spectacle: a gargantuan storm on Saturn that is 11/2 times wider than Earth.

"It's creating a lot of excitement. As soon as the space telescope people heard about it, they wanted to point the telescope at it," said Daniel Green of the International Astronomical Union's Central Bureau for Astronomical Telegrams, a reporting agency for discoveries in space.

The oval white spot on the solar system's second-largest planet is growing and now measures 12,500 miles wide by 3,100 miles long, New Mexico State University astronomer Reta Beebe said

"It's lovely," she said by phone from Las Cruces, N.M.

By comparison, Earth has a diameter of about 7,900 miles. Jupiter's Great Red Spot, which also is a storm, measures roughly 18,600 miles by 8,700 miles.

Giant white spots near the equator were observed in 1876, 1903, 1933 and 1960, but only the 1933 spot approached the size of the current one, scientists said

The first reported observation of the storm was made the night of Sept. 24 by an amateur astronomer in Las Cruces, Green said. Sky and Telescope magazine also received reports that it was discovered the same night by an amateur in Burbank, Calif., O'Meara said.

Such storms appear on Saturn roughly once every 30 Earth years, the length of a single year on Saturn.

It probably was created by a sudden upwelling of Saturn's internal heat that carried ammonia gas high into the atmosphere, where it froze into white crystals, Beebe said.

The students were requested to nominate teachers who "made a difference in their lives" by helping to shape their values, inspiring interest in a particular subject and/or challenging them to strive for excellence.
