

ER contract ok'd; CEO search going well, board learns

Cogdell Memorial Hospital managers Thursday gave approval to renew a contract providing 24-hour, six-day emergency room physician care, and scheduled two sessions to interview CEO candidates.

The board also heard routine financial, medical staff and quality assurance reports, and was updated on the search for a certified registered nurse anesthetist (CRNA).

The board unanimously approved renewal of a contract with Southwest Medical Associates, Inc. of Rockport to provide six-day, 24-hour emergency room service at $41.75 an hour — a cost to the hospital of $313,626. The current contract, which expires Dec. 31, 1991, is for $37.75 an hour.

Administrator Tom Hochwalt told the board that he and G.A. Parks Jr., board chairman, were in the process of interviewing CEO candidates. They plan to narrow the list of qualified applicants to four, who will go before the board for interviews at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 8, and at the board's bill-paying session at noon on Friday, Nov. 9.

Last month, Hochwalt announced his resignation as CEO to become senior vice president with St. Mary of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock. His resignation becomes effective at the first of the year. Hochwalt told the board Thursday that he hopes that a new CEO will be hired by mid-December.

Hochwalt was not optimistic however, concerning the hospital's search for a CRNA.

"They're hard to find, and they're expensive," he told the board. "But it's necessary that we have one, living here. Without them, we could not perform surgical procedures."

Joann Norred, left Cogdell several weeks ago to accept a position in Big Spring, leaving only one CRNA, Bill Erwin, available. Currently, Erwin is on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

"We can go on like this for a short time, but physically we can't expect someone to be on call around the clock indefinitely," said Hochwalt.

Barry gets six months

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor Marion Barry was sentenced today to six months in prison, fined $5,000 and given one year probation for his conviction on a misdemeanor cocaine possession charge.

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas Penfield Jackson disregarded Barry's plea for community service, saying that Barry had abused his office and the collective trust of the community.

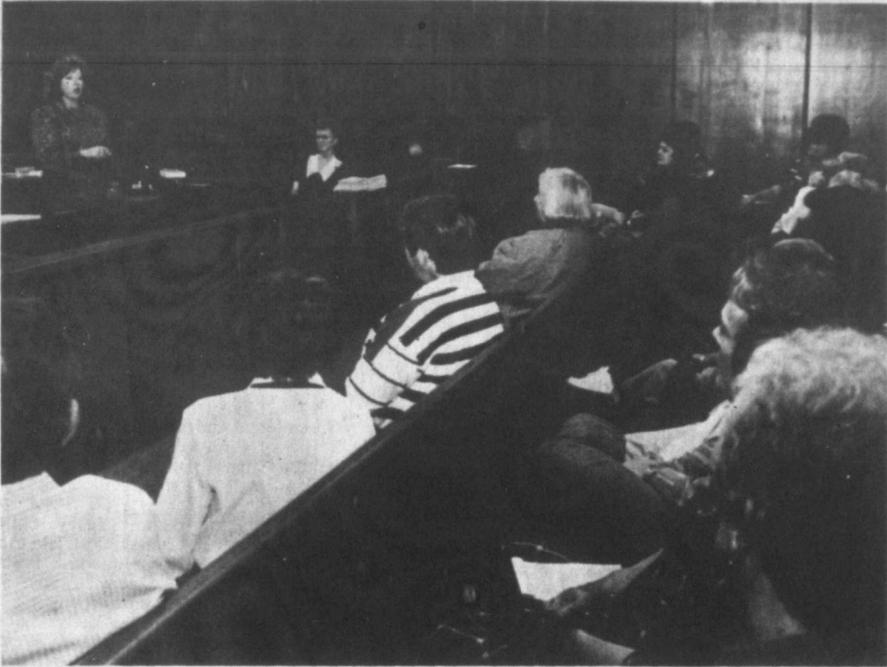

"Having failed as the good example he might have been, the defendant must now become an example of another kind," Jackson said.

In issuing the sentence, Jackson forged a middle ground between the recommendations of prosecutors, who urged that Barry be given the maximum one-year sentence, and the defense, which argued for parole or community service.

For the first time in his 10-month legal drama, Barry himself spoke in court and asked for leniency from the judge.

"I stand here truly remorseful and ask this court to impose community service as a sentence," Barry said.

In court papers submitted late Thursday, Barry for the first time admitted he was a drug addict.

Budget update...

Rich to foot bigger tax bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Drivers, smokers and drinkers are about to be socked to cut the federal deficit. But many wealthy Americans, especially those with big families, may feel they're being soaked.

A $150 billion, five-year tax increase making its way through Congress would hit especially hard at high-income people. One new provision affecting the well-to-do is being criticized as nothing less than a tax on children.

It would phase out the tax saving from personal exemptions as family income rises above $150,000 a year. Losing that tax saving would have the effect of raising the marginal tax rate on those families — and the larger the family, the higher the rate. Congressional analysts said the emerging bill would raise from 15.4 percent to 16.1 percent the portion of the federal tax burden paid by those with incomes over $200,000 a year. Their taxes would rise on the average by 6.3 percent.

On the other hand, those with incomes under $20,000 would get a tax cut because of an increase in the earned-income credit for poor working families with children. Those with incomes between $20,000 and $200,000 would face tax increases in the range of 2 percent, although the added bite on those between $50,000 and $75,000 would average only 1.5 percent.

For most people with incomes under $50,000, the bill's only increases would come from consumer taxes.

But for those with higher incomes, especially over $100,000, (see TAXES, page 10)

In Brief

Williams bank

AUSTIN (AP) — State Board of Insurance Chairman James Saxton says the board has found no evidence that two agents at Clayton Williams' Midland bank were involved in an alleged scheme forcing people to buy expensive credit life insurance in order to obtain car loans.

However, Travis County Attorney Ken Oden, who also is investigating, said it was highly unusual for the agency chief to say no wrongdoing had been found before the inquiry was completed.

Two dead

HOUSTON (AP) — Two people were shot to death and two others wounded in what police are calling an execution-style shooting outside a northeast Harris County apartment complex.

Authorities said the area has been plagued by drug activity.

Two of the victims were dead at the scene. Medical Examiner J.F. Ebdon said the two others were hospitalized, one in stable and the other in serious condition.

Each had been shot with a shotgun.

Study targets top jobs for the 1990s

DALLAS (AP) — Math and science will take on new prominence as emerging professions in the 1990s concentrate more heavily on high-tech skills, a new study reveals.

A Texas Innovation Information Network System study released this week shows jobs for laser nurses, robotics workers, telecommunications specialists and artificial intelligence technicians will flourish through 2000.

The two-year study, commissioned by the Texas Department of Commerce, identified the emerging professions to help prepare the state's educational institutions and businesses, said study director Dan Morrison.

Morrison, who is TIINS associate director, said in the 1990s the state's high schools, technical institutes and colleges will face the additional challenge of making math and science palatable to more students.

"It's going to put more pressure on the whole educational system to find a way to encourage junior high school students to become oriented to science and math," he said.

"Science and math is the key to all these jobs. If you skip high school algebra, you are out of the game," he said.

Most of the jobs in the TIINS study have a strong foundation in technology, Morrison said.

"I think there will be an ongoing change in the way people think about technology," he said.

"Technological change is going to become just an accepted fact of life and people will adapt to it and constantly be in a learning mode.

"We are basically being dragged, kicking and screaming, into a brave new world and Texas is going to be right on the cutting edge because of its strong and very large business sector," he said.

Most of the 50 jobs pinpointed by the study don't require a four-year college degree.

"These are jobs that are available to today's high school graduates with as little as 12 months of additional training," Morrison said. "That's terrific news for high school people."

The study also forecasts a change in vocational education.

"There is going to be less and less demand for auto body mechanics and others that you traditionally think of as vocational technical graduates ... as more and more identify with computers, lasers, robotics and artificial intelligence systems," Morrison said.

The increasing emphasis on technology coupled with advances in many fields means that many workers already on the job may have to update their knowledge and skills.

"More and more people are going to have to go back and get retraining," Morrison said.

"There will be new skills in the service sector and there will be a shift of skills in established industries like manufacturing."

One area already impacted by the lag between worker knowledge and existing technology is the health care field.

"The overriding concern of the health care industry is that there are not enough qualified people to fill job openings that require an understanding of current technologies," the study said, citing as examples nurses and health care technicians.

Other findings of the study are:

— As businesses increasingly look to automation, more technicians and specialists will be needed to operate and manage computer networks, telecommunications and hardware.

— Developments in agriculture will give rise to new opportunities in agriculture engineering, aquaculture, crop protection and production, sanitation, sales and research.

— The manufacturing, design and engineering fields will increasingly demand technicians skilled in computer-based technologies, robotics, artificial intelligence, artificial vision and computer-aided design.

Munitions bound for Mid East found in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — About 84 metric tons of munitions that were supposed to have been unloaded in the Middle East showed up at the Port of New Orleans near a shopping mall, federal authorities said.

"We are certainly not happy about it and we will take any steps necessary to make sure it doesn't happen again," said Marge Holtz, spokeswoman for the Navy's Military Sealift Command in Washington.

The munitions arrived in New Orleans aboard the ship Green Island, which pulled into port about Oct. 18, said Coast Guard Lt. Anthony Morris.

The vessel, owned by Central Gulf Lines Inc., was leased to the Sealift Command. It was designed to carry barges full of cargo.

Workers on Friday discovered that one barge removed from the ship was full of munitions, Morris said. Two more barges full of munitions were discovered Tuesday.

The barges were towed from a dock on the Mississippi River's east bank near the Riverwalk shopping mall to a more secluded west bank dock, Morris said.

Central Gulf Lines employees notified the Coast Guard immediately after the first explosives were discovered, Morris said.

U.S. carriers compete for European routes

NEW YORK (AP) — American Airlines' attempt to outbid an arch-rival's purchase of lucrative European routes is further evidence U.S. carriers are in tough competition flying abroad, analysts say.

American Chairman Robert Crandall said Thursday it would top the $400 million United Airlines' parent agreed to pay financially-ailing Pan Am for the routes between five U.S. cities and London.

going on among carriers to see who can reach global status the fastest," said Lee Howard of Airline Economics Inc., a Washington-based consulting firm.

Crandall's effort showed the enormous importance American attaches to obtaining routes to London, the gateway to Europe and a crucial destination for any global airline.

It also underscored the fierce competition between Fort Worth-based American and Chicago-based United, which has a strong presence in the Pacific. American's strengths have been Europe, the Caribbean and Latin America.

Both carriers have about a 17 percent share of the domestic air travel market, with United edging slightly ahead a few weeks ago to become the nation's largest carrier.

The Pan Am deal was United's second international defeat of American in two weeks. The carrier beat American for government approval of a valuable Chicago-Tokyo route last Tuesday.

"Crandall we know is a scrapper. He is going to do what he can to get a piece of this action," said Gregory Robison, a Washington-based analyst for Argus Research.

"You're talking about a much sought after, highly prized commodity when you're talking about these key European routes," Howard said.

Both American and United have built up their international operations by scooping up routes from weaker carriers. American, for instance, built its Latin American operations on the former routes of Eastern Airlines and is now looking for regulatory approval of a St. Louis-London route purchase from TWA.

"We're seeing sort of a consolidation of the industry," Robison said. "American and UAL will both benefit from this shakeout of smaller carriers."

In a letter to Pan Am's board,

Crandall said the directors have a duty to stockholders and creditors to get the most they can for the routes and should consider a competing offer from American.

But Pan Am Chairman Thomas G. Plaskett said the deal with UAL Corp., United's parent, involved marketing plans and other arrangements, not just air routes. He suggested in a letter to Crandall that American had not been interested in the same deal Pan Am made with United.

"I had understood from our many conversations, including our most recent one, that American would be interested only in buying routes and did not wish to enter into a broadscale agreement with Pan Am," Plaskett said.

Pan Am's deal with UAL came after fruitless efforts by Pan Am to find a merger partner or buyer for the airline, which has suffered big losses in recent years.

Library again offers readathon program as MS fundraiser

Scurry County Public Library is now conducting the annual Readathon Program in conjunction with the West Texas Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Children participating in the Readathon obtain pledges on a per book basis and read for the benefit of others. The program promotes literacy and community service.

Readathon kits — offering a wide variety of prizes for students who participate — are now available at the library.

Besides incentives provided by the West Texas MS office, local incentives will also be given to the top money raisers. These include two season passes to the Westerners basketball games, courtesy of Western Texas College, for the first place winner. The second place winner will receive two games of bowling at Snyder Lanes, courtesy of David Lyle.

Multiple Sclerosis is a devastating disease of the central nervous system that strikes young adults between the ages of 20 and 50. At this time the cause is unknown and there is no cure or effective treatment.

District attorney doesn't have to turn over files

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Defense attorneys for a convicted rapist accused of killing six women and burying them in the desert won't have the benefit of a look at everything in prosecutors' criminal files when the case goes to trial.

The Eighth Court of Appeals in El Paso overruled an order by 171st District Court Judge Peter Peca that would have forced the district attorney to give defense attorneys copies of everything in the files.

David Leonard Wood is scheduled to go to trial Jan. 14 on a serial murder charge that carries a death penalty if he is convicted. He denies charges that he killed the women and young girls whose bodies were found in a stretch of El Paso desert between September 1987 and March 1988.

A judge will decide today whether the trial should be moved outside El Paso because of pretrial publicity. Wood's attorneys have said they believe their client can get a fair trial in El Paso.

In its opinion issued Tuesday, the appeals court said Peca overstepped his constitutional powers, intruded on powers of the prosecutors and ignored state statutes.

The district attorney's office initially had allowed Wood's attorneys access to the file in keeping with a longstanding open-file policy. But the files were open only to the attorneys, who could only read their contents and take notes.

Everyone gets into the act

By James Jacoby

With everyone bidding, North had good reason to wonder which of the players might have shaded values. It might even be his partner, who had come in with two spades over East's weak two-heart bid. Still, judging from his own hand, North did not need much to make a slam. But how could he get the message across? Finally North jumped to five spades, the meaning clear enough: "Partner, if you can stop the opponents from taking two quick heart tricks, please bid a slam." South obediently bid six.

Declarer ruffed the second heart. Since East was expected to have a six-card heart suit for his bidding, it was more likely that he was the defender who might be void of spades. So declarer played the spade king out of his hand first. That enabled him to pick up West's spade queen and make 12 tricks.

Wasn't North's bidding aggressive? What if South did not hold the ace of clubs? Too bad. North might have bid four hearts, a sort of false cue-bid to see if South could show any additional values. But South, with a big hole in his diamond holding, would probably just sign off in four spades. North had gambled with his five-spade bid that South held the club ace, but the gamble paid off.

Congress brings home pork, cuts other costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the Senate Appropriations Committee wrote the Energy Department spending bills, Chairman Robert Byrd got $10 million for Alzheimer's disease research at West Virginia University, in his home state.

The committee's top Republican, Sen. Mark Hatfield of Oregon, negotiated $12.5 million for a neurosensory research center at Oregon Health Sciences University.

In the House, Appropriations

Committee Chairman Jamie Whitten, D-Miss., persuaded colleagues to approve $2.5 million for computer research at Jackson State University. Top committee Republican Silvio Conte of Massachusetts got $10 million for catalysis-based energy research at Boston College.

The bill was laden with additional tens of millions of dollars for research projects in other panel members' home states.

None of the spending was sought by the Bush administration or authorized by House committees with jurisdiction over scientific research. None of the House members' projects were in the Senate bill, nor were any of the senators' projects in the House measure.

But when the two different versions were merged in a conference committee, all of the projects survived intact — despite $700 million in cuts from other energy and water programs to meet deficit-reduction goals.

"Frankly, what we are doing is ignoring the science, the judgments of the scientists, and we are depending upon the judgments of the politicians," said Rep. Don Ritter, R-Pa., a former research engineer.

Rep. Robert Walker of Pennsylvania, the top Republican on the House Science, Space and Technology Committee, tried in vain last week to stop "the unauthorized pork barrel projects."

The House voted against him nearly 3-1.

Congress' struggle to find $20 billion in spending cuts this year as a part of a five-year, $500 billion deficit-reduction plan is not stopping lawmakers from taking care of their home districts.

"I'm over outraged; I'm into nausea," said Walker. "The fact is that when we are allocating money, it is not based upon merit other than the people who are sitting in the room divvying up the money."

Byrd, a 32-year Senate veteran, gave up the more prestigious majority leader's job two years ago to head the Appropriations Committee, "where I can best serve the people of my state."

"This nation must invest in its infrastructure, its research and its people," he said Thursday.

Agency probes lab test results

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials of the National Institute on Drug Abuse are trying to find out why drug testing by a government-certified laboratory in North Carolina incorrectly identified five people as using illegal methamphetamines.

In each case, the lab's confirmatory tests confused the stimulant drug with high doses of over-the-counter cold medications containing ephedrine and other stimulants, said Dr. Joseph Autry, director of applied research at the government institute.

"This is one (type of) test in one lab for one drug, and it's the only time a false positive has happened in a NIDA-certified lab," Autry said. "We're taking it very seriously."

The case that brought the problem to the government's attention was that of a truck driver, who was removed from his job last July despite his vehement denials that he was falsely accused, officials said.

Officials did not identify him and said his case has resulted in litigation. He was tested under Transportation Department regulations requiring drug testing of employees in department-regulated industries. This testing must be done by one of the 57 labs certified by the institute.

The laboratory that conducted the tests was suspended last week while institute officials try to determine whether the problem was with the lab's testing or was inherent in the testing procedure itself, Autry said.

The testing problem could have broad repercussions, such as if the case were used by critics to try to block drug testing altogether, he said.

The lab was identified in the Federal Register as Roche Biomedical Laboratories of Research Triangle Park, N.C. Company officials did not return a telephone call for comment Thursday.

In the case of the truck driver, his vehement denial of methamphetamine use prompted more confirmatory testing by the lab. This further testing showed the previous result to have been incorrect.

When institute officials learned of the false positive, they checked the seven other samples that had tested positive for methamphetamines by Roche in recent months, and found five were negative, officials said.

C-C Methodists planning auction

COLORADO CITY — An "Auction for Missions" is being planned by the First United Methodist Church to be held Saturday, Nov. 17, at the C-City Auction House on E. Hwy. 80. A wide variety of items is being collected and will be offered to the public at auction on that date.

The purpose of the auction is to raise additional money for the church's general missions and benevolent programs, both local and world-wide. It is being organized by the Missions Commission of the Church, Chairman Peggy Ratliff.

Members of the church, or anyone else willing to contribute to the cause, who have items to donate are invited to bring them to the C-City Auction House between 2-5 p.m. on each Friday from now until Nov. 17. Items may also be brought to the church located at 333 Chestnut.

SHS Tigers to battle Dunbar

Snyder attempts to remain undefeated in Tiger Stadium

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

Coach David Baugh's Snyder Tigers have a chance to go undefeated at home for 1990 as they host the Dunbar Panthers in their home finale for 1990 Friday.

"That'd be great," said Baugh, "I'd like to develop a situation where it's tough for anybody to come in here and win a ball game."

"We'd like to get a tradition started that that's our turf out there and we'll play hard here and keep people from coming in here and winning."

Snyder, 4-2-1 overall and 1-1 in district play, has defeated Clyde, Seminole and Levelland in Tiger Stadium this season and tied No. 9 Big Spring.

Last season the Black and Gold was 1-4 on its own turf.

To establish the mark, the Tigers will have to get past the 3-4 Dunbar squad coached by first year chief Otha Woodard.

"To beat Dunbar," Baugh reported, "we'll have to keep them from getting any cheap touchdowns, any long runs or long passes."

"We've got to make them drive the ball and get a chance for us to run our offense and put some points on the board."

The Panthers will line up in a wing-T set, offensively, for the most part, with an occasional straight-T formation tossed in.

"I think their best offensive player is their quarterback," Baugh stated.

Senior Leroy Danford runs the Panther attack. He is 16 of 61 passing this season for 345 yards and three touchdowns. He also has over 200 yards rushing.

Tailback Typhail McMullen is also a threat, according to the SHS coach.

"He's a dangerous back. He's broken several long runs this season."

McMullen has averaged 7.5 yards a rush with a total of 627 yards rushing on 84 attempts. He has scored six TDs in the process.

The Panther offense will look across the line at the top defense in District 2-4A.

The Tigers are averaging just 148 yards given up per contest which is fifth in the state according to AP statistics.

Snyder's secondary has swiped a record-tying 10 enemy passes this season with Mark King taking four to lead the team.

Linebackers Terry Stephens and Blair Williams lead the team in tackles with 47 and 42, respectively.

Dunbar will line up in a 26 defense about 70 percent of the time according to Baugh, with a stunt coming about one time in five.

The stunting will include moving to a 6-1 set or blowing linebackers through on a blitz. Once in awhile the Panthers will slip into a 5-0 defensive mode.

Baugh feels the strength of the Dunbar defense is their linebacking corps and their defensive tackles.

The Panthers have given up over 270 yards per game, on average. For the season their opponents have gobbled up 1,350 yards rushing.

Snyder's offense, led by senior quarterback Ed Rios, gained close to 400 offensive yards a week ago against a tough Levelland defense.

Rios was 5 of 12 for 106 yards and a TD, fullback Bryan Brunson ran the ball 21 times for 151 yards and a score and tailback Paul Anderson registered 102 running yards on 13 carries and made a touchdown.

Linebacker Williams will be back in the Tiger lineup this week after missing the Levelland game with a hip pointer.

Another lineup change sees senior Saul Aviles filling in at the quick guard spot for sophomore Dakon Hollingsworth who suffered a severe hand sprain against the Lobos.

Hollingsworth's regular backup, Bobby Green has been out of practice all week ill and won't play.

Back in action for the offense will be Terry Snyder who has been nursing a sprained ankle from the Seminole game, Oct. 5. While he will not be listed as a starter, Snyder will be available for spot duty, according to SHS coaches.

In other loop action tonight, Lamesa is at Levelland and Friendship hosts Estacado.

Kick-off at Tiger Stadium is set for 7:30 p.m.

Borden Co. faces Trent in loop tilt

With Hermleigh cancelling its last four football games of the 1990 season, Ira gets an unplanned weekend of rest.

The Bulldogs, who were slated to play the Cardinals this Friday in Ira, were victimized by Borden County, 42-12, last week in area six-man action to fall to 1-6 on the year and 1-1 in league competition.

Borden County travels to take on defending loop champion Trent in the only District 6-A(6) battle featuring an area team slated for tonight.

The Coyotes, led by Jimmy Rios' 178 yards on 18 carries plastered the Ira Bulldogs a week ago to move to 4-3 on the season and 2-0 within the league for a share of first place.

Trent comes in off a 34-14 whipping of Highland last Friday. The Gorillas are 5-2 overall and 2-0 in district play.

Rios scored three touchdowns for the Borden County crew last week on runs of 15, 57 and 15 yards.

John Paul Harris and Clint Kemper each hit paydirt for the Coyotes to lead a fourth-quarter surge that put the Bulldogs away.

Trent defeated No. 8 Jayton, 38-26, early in the campaign but had a tough time two weeks ago with winless Loraine in a 21-14 win.

Kickoff time for the Borden County-Trent clash is 7:30 p.m.

FSU's Bowden goes for victory No. 200

by The Associated Press

Will Bobby Bowden finally get win No. 200 or suffer loss No. 3?

In his 25th season as a head coach and 15th at No. 12 Florida State, Bowden's record is 199-74-3, a victory total second among active Division I-A coaches to Penn State's Joe Paterno (224).

But Bowden has been stuck on 199 for two games now — road losses to Miami and Auburn. He goes for 200 again Saturday before the home folks in Tallahassee against LSU.

Both clubs are 4-2.

Since Bowden arrived at Florida State, his teams have dropped three straight games only four times — twice in 1976, his first year; at the end of the 1981 season and again in 1983, although a 34-28 loss to Tulane was reversed by forfeit.

Another team trying to avoid losing three in a row is No. 22 Oklahoma, which hasn't suffered that fate since 1965. The Sooners visit No. 10 Colorado in the week's only pairing of Top 25 teams.

Top-ranked Virginia is idle while No. 2 Auburn is at Mississippi State, No. 3 Notre Dame at Pitt, No. 4 Nebraska at Iowa State, No. 5 Illinois at Wisconsin, Arkansas at No. 6 Houston, California at No. 7 Washington, No. 8 Miami at Texas Tech and New Mexico at No. 9 Brigham Young.

Also, SMU at No. 13 Texas, Northwestern at No. 15 Iowa, Duke at No. 16 Georgia Tech, No. 17 Mississippi at Vanderbilt, No. 18 Wyoming at Texas-El Paso, No. 19 Clemson at Wake Forest, No. 20 Michigan at Indiana, No. 21 Southern California at Arizona State, Washington State at No. 23 Arizona, Baylor at No. 24 Texas Christian and Stanford at No. 25 Oregon.

Besides Virginia, No. 11 Tennessee and No. 14 Florida also have the week off.

Except for the Oklahoma-Colorado game, California (5-2), LSU and Indiana (4-1-1) are the only opponents of ranked teams with better than .500 records.

Two weeks ago, Oklahoma lost by a point to Texas. Last week, the Sooners lost to Iowa State by two. Last year, the Sooners had a 12-year winning streak against Colorado snapped 20-3.

"Two weeks ago, Oklahoma was ranked fourth in the nation and now they've had two bitter defeats," Colorado coach Bill McCartney said. "Losing never creates anything positive, but with their team pride and tradition, I know we're going to catch them at their best."

Colorado has won five straight after a 1-1-1 start. The Buffs beat Iowa State 28-12 two weeks ago. Next week, they play at Nebraska.

If McCartney wants to know what it's like to play Oklahoma and Nebraska in consecutive weeks, all he has to do is call Iowa State coach Jim Walden, whose team completes that assignment on Saturday. The Cyclones haven't beaten Nebraska since 1977.

Iowa State will use an offense the Nebraska coaches call "basketball on grass," a ball-control passing game.

"Basically, it's a philosophy of attempting to cause the defense to adjust improperly to numerous pictures and then throw reasonably easy passes, which can result in big gains," Nebraska secondary coach George Darlington said.

"It's a BYU philosophy, a West Coast passing philosophy, where they just try to get you in a position where somebody is wide open and just get the ball to him."

The Cyclones don't have BYU's Ty Detmer but they do have quarterback Chris Pedersen, who engineered the 33-31 victory over Oklahoma by rushing for 148 yards and two touchdowns and throwing a touchdown pass.

Auburn coach Pat Dye may have given Mississippi State some added motivation when he noted that "we still have to play two of the better teams in the (Southeastern) conference on the road."

He was referring to Florida and Alabama and that's bulletin board fodder, even though Dye later hedged:

"We are concerned about Mississippi State. I'm worried about this game."

Mississippi State is coming off a 38-17 victory at Tulane in which the Bulldogs had 418 yards of offense — 228 rushing, 190 passing.

Having been bounced from the national championship picture by losing to Notre Dame last week, defending champ Miami seeks to rebound against Texas Tech.

California, off to its best start since 1978, is 3-1 in the Pac-10 to Washington's 4-0 and the Golden Bears would like to prove they are for real.

Cal hasn't had a winning season since 1982 and hasn't beaten Washington since 1976 (nine games).

And speaking of 1976, Notre Dame's Lou Holtz seems to think he's facing Pitt's 1976 national champions instead of this year's struggling 3-3-1 bunch.

"Pittsburgh is a dangerous football team; they've got an awful lot of talent," Holtz said. "I'm sure they expected to have a better record at this point than they do, but that doesn't mean they aren't capable of playing with, and beating, anyone in the country, including Notre Dame."

Douglas KO'd by Holyfield

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Buster Douglas likely will be recalled as a one-fight fighter, a journeyman who made the most of his chance to grab the gold belt, then faded back into anonymity.

He will be recalled critically by some, who will question his talent, dedication and courage.

But because of his one night of glory, his shocking knockout of Mike Tyson in Tokyo last February, Buster Douglas became a heavyweight champion for a time.

And now he's a multi-millionaire.

For 7 minutes and 10 seconds of work Thursday night against Evander Holyfield, Douglas earned $19.9 million.

"It'll hurt not being the champion. But it was attaining a goal, becoming the champion, and not attaining another — defending the title," Douglas, sadness clearly evident on his round, almost child-like face, said after Holyfield took his undisputed world heavyweight title with a third-round knockout.

Douglas apparently caught Tyson out of shape and unfocused in their fight in Japan.

This time, it was Douglas who was not in shape. Looking soft and paunchy at 246 pounds, he plodded about the ring as Holyfield ducked in and stung him with jabs and hooks.

Even in the first round, it became evident that Douglas' only chance was to land a knockout punch before Holyfield systematically destroyed him.

That powerful punch may have been a looping right uppercut in the third round. But it missed. Holyfield ducked back, then came forward with a deadly right. Douglas dropped and was counted out as, still conscious, he rubbed his glove across his eyes.

An old criticism of Douglas resurfaced — that he lacked courage.

Some critics contended he quit in the 10th round of a 1987 loss to Tony Tucker for the International Boxing Federation (IBF) title, and some observers felt he could have beaten the count against Holyfield.

"He could have gotten up. He chose not to. Maybe he has his own reasons," said Eddie Futch, who trained the likes of Joe Frazier and Larry Holmes and also trained a winner on the undercard Thursday night — Riddick Bowe.

Douglas claimed he could not get up in time.

"He caught me with a good shot. By the time I tried to pick up the count, it was over," he said. "If I could have gotten up, I would have."

In the eight months since he shocked boxing by taking the title from Tyson, Douglas ballooned to 260 pounds. He managed to get down to 246 by Thursday — still 14½ pounds more than he weighed in Tokyo.

Responding to a question, Douglas said, "I don't think weight had any bearing on this and I'm not embarrassed."

He and his handlers said he lost because of a mistake in the ring, and that it had nothing to do with his weight or his courage.

"We could go through the weight thing over and over," said J.D. McCauley, Douglas' uncle and trainer. "But he just made a mistake. He leaned into a right. It happens."

WINNER AT REGIONALS — Jason Warren, above, was a 6-4, 6-4 winner over Arlington Heights' John Oliver in Thursday action at the Region 1-4A tennis tournament in Lubbock. Tigers take 1st round victory

LUBBOCK — Snyder's tennis Tigers defeated Arlington Heights High School 12-6 in the opening round of the Region 1-4A tournament played at Lubbock Municipal Tennis Center Thursday before being eliminated, 15-3, by semifinalist Hereford.

"We played well," said coach Charlie Chrane of Snyder, "and now we have a better idea of the work we need to do to advance farther next year."

Kathy Ogburn started things out right for the girls against Arlington Heights with a 6-4, 7-5 win over Sommer Reese.

Kevin McMillan of the SHS boys' squad claimed a come-from-behind three-set win over AHHS netter Justin Williams, 2-6, 6-3, 7-6 (7-3).

Jason Warren, Michael Hess and Chris Gayle were also match winners in singles competition

Quail season may be slow

AUSTIN (AP) — Two quail counts indicate that this year's season isn't likely to be any better than last year's, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department says.

Quail season runs Nov. 3 through Feb. 24 statewide. Bag limit is 15 per day with a possession limit of 45.

"Our August counts were among the lowest on record. We didn't think they should have been that bad, so we counted again in September," said Don Wilson, quail program leader.

After the recount, the Rolling Plains improved 55 percent and the Cross Timbers region 35 percent. But South Texas numbers were even lower than the August count, Wilson said.

"We've got real good range conditions. I'm not saying we're going to have a great quail year, but I don't think it's going to be the pits, either," Wilson said.

Officials said they aren't certain why the counts were low. Good winter rainfall and a decent spring presented ideal conditions before the hot, dry June.

for the SHS boys.

Other girls to win in singles competition included Racheal Wilson, Robin Cave and Christina Gonzales.

In doubles play Snyder's girls swept Arlington Heights 3-0 including a 6-2, 6-4 match win by Henderson and Wilson over Brooke Nelson and Melissa Ewing.

The boys duo comprised of Warren and Hess knocked off the Arlington team of Aaron Moore and John Thompson in a three-setter, 6-0, 3-6, 6-3, for the only Snyder doubles victory by the boys.

Against Arlington Heights, the Tiger girls held a 7-2 advantage while the boys worked to a 5-4 margin of victory.

Best and McMillan claimed the only win by the Snyder boys in either division with their 4-6, 6-2, 6-4 decision over their Hereford counterparts in Snyder's second round match.

On the girls' side Henderson and Wilson notched a 7-5, 6-3 win in doubles and singles entrant Leslie Sandoval won her match 7-5, 6-3.

Other first day results included Brownwood defeating Pampa, 10-8, Boswell falling to Andrews, 16-2, and Hereford handing Burkburnett an 11-7 loss in round one, and Big Spring blasting Granbury, 18-0, Andrews dumping Brownwood 11-7 and Wichita Falls pounding Lamesa, 17-1.

Wichita Falls, the tournament's top seed, was to face Andrews at 8 a.m. this morning and second seed Big Spring was to play Hereford at the same time.

The winners of this morning's matches will advance to the 2 p.m. regional championship.

The Tigers fall schedule continues next week with a trip to the Colorado City Tournament on Saturday.

Investigation at Prairie View leads to coaches' indictments

HEMPSTEAD, Texas (AP) — A former Prairie View A&M football coach and a former basketball coach are the latest to be indicted in an investigation into alleged wrongdoing in the school's athletic department.

The investigation earlier led to the indictment of the woman selected to head the U.S. women's track team at the 1992 Olympics.

The indictments unsealed Thursday accuse Haney Catchings, former football coach, and Jim DuPlantier, former basketball coach, of altering receipts that were turned in with athletic department vouchers. The specific charges were of official misconduct and securing execution of a document by deception.

There have now been eight people indicted, including seven current or former employees of Prairie View.

Catchings, now employed at Tuskegee Institute in Alabama, and DuPlantier, who is working at Florida A&M University, have been told to appear before state District Judge Lynn Coker for a Nov. 8 arraignment, special prosecutor A.M. "Buddy" McCaig Jr. said.

"Things are starting to gel in some areas of the investigation," McCaig said.

The special Waller County grand jury "will make additional disclosures regarding fiscal problems" at the school in its next session Nov. 15, he said.

The eight who have been charged were indicted Sept. 24 and Oct. 11. They include Athletic Director Barbara Jacket, 54, recently chosen to head the U.S. women's track team for the 1992 Olympics, and men's track coach Hoover J. Wright, 62.

Prairie View A&M President Julius W. Becton Jr. said last week he has no plans to fire Jacket or Wright pending the outcome of their cases.

He said he was not specifically aware of the allegations against Wright, but he said he does not believe Jacket committed a felony.

Others indicted were former athletic director Brutus Jackson, former Harris County Deputy Constable James D. "Tiny" Andrews, former golf coach Phillip E. Kithcart and former golf instructor Bartolo Perez.

McCaig said all of the defendants will be arraigned Nov. 8.

The investigation by Texas Rangers is in its 10th month.

Authorities have estimated that between as much as $100,000 could be missing from athletic department funds from 1986 through 1989.

Catchings, whose bond was set at $6,000, is accused of altering dates on meal receipts in September 1988 and of submitting a gasoline reimbursement slip for a time when he was traveling on a diesel bus.

The allegations against DuPlantier, whose bond is $4,000, accuse him of filing travel receipts outside his dates of travel, McCaig said.

Saddam reportedly makes peace with Kurds

By The Associated Press
Saddam Hussein, who used poison gas to kill thousands of Iraqi Kurds and forcibly relocated many others, is trying to reconcile with his bitter domestic opponents, a Baghdad newspaper said today.

Taxes focus of budget

The bill would bite in several ways. The biggest change would come from raising from 28 percent to 31 percent the top income tax rate paid by the 600,000 wealthiest couples and individuals.
This would mean a tax increase for single people with taxable income (after deductions and exemptions) above $97,620 and for four-member families over $208,690.
On the other hand, as many as 4 million with taxable incomes between $78,400 and $208,690 (four-member families) or between $47,050 and $97,672 (singles) would get tax cuts because their 33 percent top rate would drop to 31 percent. Analysts note that most members of Congress fall into that income range.

This same group of taxpayers would get the bill's only tax break for capital gains — a limited cut on profits from the sale of investments that is far less than President Bush wants. The bill would prevent anyone from paying a capital gains rate above 28 percent, which would cut taxes on those who now pay a 33 percent rate.
The bill would raise the 9-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax and the 15-cent diesel tax by 5 cents.

The reported move comes several weeks after Saddam made peace with another longstanding foe, Iran, so he could move tens of thousands of troops from the Iranian border to occupied Kuwait and the Saudi Arabian border.
It was not immediately clear why Saddam would want to placate the Kurdish minority, but he may want to quell all internal opposition to prepare for possible combat with the multinational force arrayed against him.
In another development, the official Saudi Press Agency reported Thursday night that President Bush telephoned King Fahd of Saudi Arabia to review the situation in the Persian Gulf. No further details were given.

Other U.S. officials said Thursday that up to 100,000 more American troops will be sent to Saudi Arabia to give U.S.

military authorities more leverage in dealing with Iraq's forces in Kuwait, which now reportedly top 400,000.
"Our decision to add forces results from Iraq's almost doubling of forces in Kuwait and southern Iraq from approximately 265,000 in early September to about 430,000 today," the Pentagon said in a statement.

There now are 220,000 U.S. troops in Saudi Arabia and the gulf region following Iraq's invasion of Kuwait on Aug. 2.
Fears about war in the gulf sent oil prices up more than $3 per barrel in the futures market Thursday. Light sweet crude rose $3.17 to $34.25 a barrel for December delivery contracts on the New York Mercantile Exchange, a key market.

Cogdell board meets

Cogdell had an average daily census of 15.3 for September. The average long-term daily census was 23.9, up from 9.5 for September of 1989. The hospital recorded 92 admissions, performed 50 surgeries and delivered 22 newborns. Total emergency room visits were 580, up from 533 a year ago.
Financially, the Cogdell indicated a net income of $2,617 for September and $340,329 for the year-to-date. Last year's net income through September was a negative $221,124.
The hospital has a cash balance of $1,412,202.
It was noted by board members that indigent care for the year has amounted to $233,094, compared to only $97,455 last year. In addition, bad debt provisions are at $525,456.
Following the regular meeting, the board met in executive session where they gave a positive performance evaluation of Hochwalt.
"We have received the evaluation forms on Thomas Hochwalt back from the board members and I am happy to report that the consensus reflects that he exceeded expectations in performance of duties and leadership at Cogdell Hospital," said Parks, in a prepared statement. "He received a high rating in efficiently managing the hospital, with special commendation for his communication with everyone involved. We feel that Mr. Hochwalt has done a good job at Cogdell Hospital and while we regret that he will be leaving us we are pleased that we will continue to work with him in his new position with St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock."

Jackie Smith was the only board member absent from the meeting. Attending were Parks, Roy McQueen, Brenda Hedges, Jim Palmer and Bill Wilson III.

UNIT SYSTEM NOT BENEFICIAL FOR EVERY COUNTY!

Prior Commissioner's Courts and the present Court have evaluated the unit system. We have determined that there would not be a savings and could result in additional cost.

SCRAP chapter conducts meeting

Scurry County Residents Against Pollution (SCRAP) met Tuesday night to discuss implications of last week's speech by Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower, and to formulate goals for the group. The group studied that part of the commissioner's report on Colorado City that deals with the proposed "largest hazardous waste incinerator this side of the Mississippi."

According to Hightower, "It would burn 80,000 tons of hazardous waste and oilfield waste a year. It could imperil the food chain and the Colorado-River watershed, which provides drinking water to San Angelo and Austin downstream."

Members of local groups are meeting with Hightower and other officials this week to ask Governor Clements to issue a moratorium on permits for hazardous waste-burning facilities in Texas. "Next year, the Environmental Protection Agency will issue important revisions to permitting regulations for hazardous waste incinerators," Hightower pointed out. "We have to see how the new regulations will affect Texas."

In reference to groups such as SCRAP in Scurry County, Texans

Against Pollution (TAP) in Mitchell County, Hightower said he saluted their concern. "These are people spending retirement money or money they've set aside for their kid's college education because they care about their land and water. They're doing the work that the state should be doing. The state, pleading poverty, too often relies on industry data. Meanwhile, experts enlisted by the citizen's groups are finding very serious problems."

SCRAP members are planning a public meeting next Thursday, Nov. 1, at 7 p.m. at the Willow Park Inn, to acquaint Scurry County residents with the goals of the group and the challenges facing our area. Primary goals for SCRAP include: Being a source of information for community residents interested in preserving the quality of our air, water and soil; educating members to the growing number of hazardous waste disposal sites proposed for Texas and their effect on our community; preventing the contamination of our agricultural products in Scurry County; and giving financial aid where required to support the group's aims.

Battle continues over cash seizure

KINGSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Santiago Cantu says the sheriff's department has no authority to keep $17,223 found in Cantu's car, and he wants a judge to jail the sheriff.

Cantu, who is from Houston, contends that Kleberg County Sheriff Adan Munoz is not following a court order to return the money.

The Sheriff's department seized the $17,223 in cash found in his car after stopping Cantu in August 1989 for a traffic violation.

Although authorities found no evidence of drugs or other contraband, the money was confiscated under a Texas law that allows seizure of cash or other property linked to a drug transaction.

But on Sept. 12, County Court-at-Law Judge Martin Chiuminatto Jr. ordered Munoz to repay the money by Oct. 18. Chiuminatto ruled in a summary judgment that there was insufficient evidence to present the case to a jury.

Cantu's attorney, Ralph Paul Behrens of Houston, on Wednesday filed a motion for contempt against Munoz, according to the Corpus Christi Caller-Times. The motion seeks six months in jail for Munoz and $500 in fines for each day the money is not repaid.

Chiuminatto will rule on the motion at a hearing next month.

"I think it's another attempt by the attorney and his client to shift responsibility and try to penalize the department that tries to curb the drug problem that infests society," Munoz said of the contempt motion filed against him.

Show's success surprises creator

NEW YORK (AP) — Keenen Ivory Wayans, the creative force behind the hit comedy "In Living Color," says he never worried that white people wouldn't get the jokes, but he was surprised that so many like the show.

"I knew there wouldn't be a problem with white people getting it, especially urban, hipper folks," said Wayans, who created the show and is one of its actors and writers. "I was really concerned about the folks in the outskirts."

But the fact that "so many people get it ... gives validity to my theory that people aren't color-conscious in their viewing habits. They're content-conscious," he said in the Oct. 26 issue of USA Weekend.

Grant to restore home causes furor

STRASBURG, N.D. (AP) — Resentment is bubbling over congressional approval of $500,000 to restore the birthplace of Lawrence Welk, the king of champagne music.

The project's leader defended the plan to renovate the sod farmhouse where Welk was born and develop a German-Russian history museum and other tourist attractions.

"People are saying we're taking money away from farmers. It's not so," Rosemary Schaeferbauer, president of Welk Heritage Inc., said Thursday. "This money was allocated for rural development. North Dakota is going to benefit a whole lot from it."

The grant is included in a $52.2 billion agricultural appropriations bill that the House passed Monday and sent to President Bush.

It piqued the interest of radio talk-show hosts across the country, who have been calling Schaeferbauer. It also raised the ire of Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., who said it's an example of the kind of projects the country cannot afford during a budget crunch.

"What will they do for an encore? Earmark funds to renovate Guy Lombardo's speedboat? Or restore Artie Shaw's wedding tuxedo?" Conte asked.

Welk, 87, does not grant interviews, but one of his daughters, Shirley Fredricks, said by telephone from Los Angeles that the grant caught the family by surprise.

"We were astonished and I must say embarrassed," she said. "We actually didn't know until last week that the funding had even been asked for."

She said the family would have preferred the money come from private sources, but Sen. Quentin Burdick, D-N.D., thought federal money could help.

Welk Heritage Inc. applied for a federal grant three months ago, after a board member saw an application in a Farmers Home Administration office.

Many in Strasburg, a town of 600 in south-central North Dakota, say the money could have been put to better use, but that the town may as well take it. "If there's money to throw away, we might as well have it," said Fred Martin, a resident of the Strasburg nursing home. "Farmers will get their share."

More hometown firms are becoming victims of change

DALLAS (AP) — A "real tidal shift in the way that business is done in the world" has sent a ripple effect through Dallas that has residents adjusting to changes in the local employment and business markets, a Dallas civic leader says.

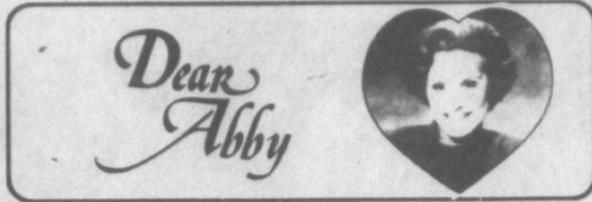

Dallasites accustomed to doing business locally, shopping at Neiman-Marcus or Zales, working for Electronic Data Systems and Southland Corp. and banking at First National or Mercantile are watching those corporate giants accommodate a declining economy.

The companies have been bought out, moved out or sought protection in bankruptcy court.

Southland, owner of the 7-Eleven chain, is the latest company to fall. Massive debts forced Southland Wednesday to seek protection in bankruptcy court.

The reorganization plan gives 70 percent of the company to Japanese investors and 25 percent to creditors, leaving the founding Thompson family with just 5 percent.

Dallas isn't alone in mourning the loss of longtime local business. Other regions are experiencing similar problems, and many could see their banks

Bridesmaid Seeing Married Man Shouldn't Walk Down the Aisle

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: How does a bride disinvite someone from being in her wedding party? When I announced my engagement four months ago, I asked five of my best friends to be bridesmaids. They all accepted. I just found out that one of my bridesmaids has been seeing a married man for the last eight months! She has mentioned this man's name, but she neglected to say that he's married.

Abby, I've never approved of this type of behavior. I've always felt that if people are dissatisfied or unhappy in a marriage, they should either try to improve it or end it. Now I can't even look at this girl in the same way I did before I found all of this out. Furthermore, I feel that it would be a slap in the face to the institution of marriage to have her as my bridesmaid.

My mom says I'm stuck with her. The other bridesmaids say, "Replace her!" My fiancé says I should explain my feelings about the sacredness of marriage and tell her that under the circumstances I prefer that she attend my wedding as a guest — but not a bridesmaid. What do you think?
ON THE FENCE

DEAR ON: Get off the fence — on your fiancé's side. Also, give her a chance to deny or confirm what you "found out." If it's true, when you "disinvite" her, offer to reimburse her for any expense she may have incurred on your behalf — unless her bridesmaid's gown and shoes can be worn by her replacement or returned. I wish you well.

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the 53-year-old man whose wife would not give him a divorce so he could marry his 22-year-old girlfriend, please pass this on to your readership and put to rest one of the oldest lines in history: "My wife won't give me a divorce."
A man is not a child asking his mother for permission to do something. If he wants a divorce, all he has to do is go to a lawyer who will file the necessary papers with the court.

A summons is then served to the spouse. All he or she can do is admit or deny the charges in the complaint. The case is then heard by a judge who will decide — if it has not already been decided — who gets what. End result: divorce.

DIVORCED IN MISSOURI

DEAR DIVORCED: This may be true in the "Show Me" state, but divorce laws differ from state to state. One seeking a divorce should consult a lawyer who practices law in the state in which he or she resides.

DEAR ABBY: My 37-year-old daughter is getting married in the spring. She has been living and working in Boston for the last 15 years. She graduated from Harvard and has a good income.

My question is, how much of the wedding expenses do I have to pay? Or what is expected of me?

I am a widow living on a fixed income and Social Security.

FIXED INCOME

DEAR FIXED INCOME: Ask your daughter what kind of wedding she is planning and what she "expects" from you.

An offspring who left the nest 15 years ago would have to be cuckoo to expect her widowed mother who lives on a fixed income to finance her wedding.

To order "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

duplicate the consolidations and failures that consumed Dallas and Texas banks in the 1980s, some experts say.

"We've gone through a terribly dynamic era," Central Dallas Association executive director Larry Fonts said. "It's changing almost with the speed of light."

"We're going through a real tidal shift in the way that business is done in the world."

These days, it's difficult to find companies that can imitate Dallas-based Texas Instruments

Inc. and Trammell Crow Co., both of which have retained their local presence while building a national identity.

Among those less fortunate was Joske's, which was purchased by Dillard Department Stores of Little Rock in 1987, and Sanger-Harris, which vanished under the name of Houston-based Foley's.

Even companies not having financial problems, like EDS or Neiman Marcus, are now owned by outside corporations.

Many Texans don't have health insurance

AUSTIN (AP) — Mariana Moreno says she loves her children, and she worries because she can't provide health insurance coverage for them.

"For me and my family, health care is a privilege we can't afford," said Ms. Moreno, of Fort Worth.

She's not alone.

Labor union officials pushing national health care reform said Thursday more than one-fourth of Texans, or 4 million people, under 65 have no health insurance.

It's the second largest percentage in the nation, behind only New Mexico, said Meredith Miller, assistant director for the employee benefits department at the AFL-CIO in Washington.

"Clearly the health care system here and throughout the country is not getting the job done, and we believe something has to be done about that," said AFL-CIO Secretary-Treasurer Thomas Donahue.

The AFL-CIO had a public hearing here in its campaign for national health care reform.

The region including Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana is worse than the country as a whole in health insurance coverage, Donahue said. He said 25.9 percent of people under 65 have no health insurance, while the nationwide figure is 15.7 percent.

Ms. Miller said Texas' percentage is 26.9, the highest in the region. New Mexico, in a different region, has 28.1 percent uninsured, she said, citing 1988 figures from the Employee Benefit Research Institute in Washington.

Ms. Moreno is one face behind those statistics. She testified that she's worked for Justin Boot Co. in Fort Worth for 10 years but can't afford health care coverage for her three children.

"With my rent, food, child care, clothes, gas and car repairs, I don't have anything left over for health insurance," said Ms. Moreno.

Once dying breed of cattle now making a comeback

AUSTIN (AP) — By the turn of the century, the legendary Texas Longhorn was replaced by a fatter breed of cattle, but the sturdy animal is on the comeback trail.

"Probably the largest hurdle we have is convincing old-time cattle raisers they need to change," Bill Anthony, president of the International Texas Longhorn Association, said at the group's first annual meeting.

Anthony, an Ardmore, Okla. rancher, started raising Longhorns 25 years ago and has fallen in love with the breed.

"They are extremely intelligent. You can make housepets out of them if you want," he said.

But it's not their intelligence that is putting them back on the market.

"The bottom line is the Longhorn has qualities consumers want on their dinner plates and the qualities many ranchers are seeking to develop in their livestock," said Mike Moeller, deputy state agriculture commissioner.

Moeller said Longhorn beef yields a greater percentage of lean beef than any other breed.

For cattlemen, Longhorns are a low-maintenance, genetic gold mine.

Descended from Spanish cattle brought here centuries ago, the Longhorn has adapted to severe climates, can forage on poor quality grass, is resistant to several diseases and produces rich milk.

MARKER DEDICATED TO MINISTER — Dr. Wylie (Buff) Hearne and a few of the descendants of the Rev. J.T. Trice met at Snyder Cemetery on Wednesday afternoon to dedicate a marker in his memory. The Northwest Methodist Conference of the United Methodist Churches is placing markers on the graves of Methodist ministers across the country in honor of their service to the church. The Rev. Trice, who died in 1927, was said to be one of the most dynamic preachers of his time. He was a circuit riding evangelistic Methodist preacher and covered an area from north of Lubbock to Robert Lee and as far east as Putnam. Snyder was the farthest west that he traveled. Election time in Hollywood; lights, cameras and action

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Chevy Chase added $50,000 to Republicans enlisted Bart Simpson and Dianne Feinstein's campaign and Angela Lansbury was lambasted for what critics called "Distortions, She Wrote."

It's lights, camera and political action in Hollywood, where a few golden words from a celebrity can speak decibels louder than dozens of stump speeches by politicians.

Movie and television stars are getting behind gubernatorial candidates from both parties, as well as Big Green, a sweeping state environmental initiative.

As the political free-for-all nears its Nov. 6 election day conclusion, one cartoon celebrity found himself backing a cause he didn't embrace and a highly regarded TV star opposed a pair of measures she didn't fully understand.

Bart Simpson, the animated underachiever of TV's "The Simpsons," was quoted at length in a Republican news release about Democrat Feinstein's use of crib notes during a debate against U.S. Sen. Pete Wilson.

"If you're gonna use cheat sheets, man, use 'em right," Bart was quoted as saying. He even offered this advice: "The best is taping the notes in your shoe, dude."

The Fox Broadcasting Co., which broadcasts "The Simpsons," never gave permission to use the character or his words, but Bart's creator, cartoonist Matt Groening, shrugged it all off.

"That doesn't surprise me," said Groening. "Republicans think they own everything anyway."

Your Birthday

Saturday, Oct. 27, 1990

The stronger aspects of your personality will begin to shine through in the year ahead. This is well and good, provided you don't look down on others or make unreasonable demands of them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though your intentions will be good, it's best to check with your spouse first before you rearrange today's events or schedule. Your priorities could be poles apart. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Slow down if you find your ideas are in conflict with those of your companions today. You may have a tendency to focus on insignificant details to a point where it obliterates the big picture.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Associating with big spenders could provide you with delusions of grandeur today, but if you try to match their extravagance financially, you'll be just plain foolish.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you have any important decisions to make today, seek counsel and advice from intelligent friends, but reserve the right to make the final judgments yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There will be ample opportunities around you today, but there is a possibility you might view them indifferently instead of evaluating them with an eye toward their true worth.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you have a misunderstanding with a friend today, try not to blow things out of proportion and cause a serious rift. Be tolerant and attempt to understand your pal's true intentions.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be extremely careful today how you conduct yourself in situations that bring you before the public. If you make a poor impression, it could be difficult to eradicate.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're not likely to be very successful today if you try to impose your ideas on others. It's possible you might champion unpopular views.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Usually you're a reasonably shrewd shopper, but this quality might not be operative today. Things you buy now could be considered white elephants in the cold light of tomorrow.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'd better be prepared to have in your feet today that which you don't have in your head. Faulty judgment or irrational decisions could cause you to later retrace your steps.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Where do-it-yourself projects are concerned you are usually rather competent, but today it might be wise to hire an expert repair person to fix something beyond your scope.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you have accumulated some extra cash recently, the temptation to squander what you've acquired could be very strong. Unchecked a big dent in your bank book is likely.

Mauzy, Phillips feud over ad

AUSTIN (AP) — The candidates for chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court are at odds over a television commercial being aired by incumbent GOP Chief Justice Tom Phillips.

The ad includes a film clip from a CBS-TV "60 Minutes" program on the Texas court that was entitled "Justice for Sale?"

Phillips' opponent, Democratic Justice Oscar Mauzy, on Thursday made public a letter from CBS in which the network said the program was copyrighted and that CBS "does not authorize the use of its broadcasts, in whole or in part, for any partisan political purpose."

Mauzy said Phillips should stop broadcasting the ad. Phillips' campaign manager, Pat Berry, said she and Phillips saw no need to do so.

"In order to safeguard First Amendment values, federal copyright laws permit all persons to make fair use of copyrighted material," Ms. Berry said.

"Expert legal counsel, knowledgeable of copyright law, advised the campaign that its use of excerpts from 'Justice for Sale?' fully complied with copyright regulations," she said.

Mauzy said the Phillips' ad unfairly implies that he was the target of the CBS program and released a statement from a CBS producer saying Mauzy appeared to discuss his support of continued judicial elections.

"It is ironic," Mauzy said, "that Justice Phillips, who has based his campaign on his integrity, would allow such distortions to appear in his advertising — not once but twice now." Phillips also used a CBS clip in his 1988 campaign.

Ms. Berry said Phillips was "surprised that Justice Mauzy, in his campaign for the highest judicial position in Texas, would seek to hide from the voters information presented in 'Justice for Sale?' concerning the controversy that surrounded the Texas Supreme Court before Justice Phillips took office in 1988."

Guns N' Roses files suit
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Guns N' Roses has filed a $2 million lawsuit against K mart Corp. for alleged unauthorized use of the rock band's picture and name in an advertisement for a toy drum set.

The band members "suffered damage to their reputation, loss of good will, mental anguish resulting from the use of the advertisement without their consent," according to the Superior Court lawsuit filed Wednesday.
