

GALA HOMECOMING LURED FOLKS FROM 3 CONTINENTS

Haskell was a haven of hospitality Friday and Saturday for almost 1,200 folks from three continents who at one time called this town home.

From Canada, from Peru, and from "down under" Sydney, Australia, and from many, many places in between, they came to the sixth biennial Homecoming.

The high school gymnasium here was the hub of activity—a football game, class reunions throughout the town, early and late, a pancake supper, a chuckwagon dinner...

Both twins were joined here by their brother, Dr. Allen J. Lewis, of Lubbock, who graduated from Haskell High 59 years ago...

President Smith delivered an address of welcome. The "Nine Teens," famed choral group here, sang "Halls of Ivy" and "Autumn Leaves."

Haskell's United Fund organization will take the field the week of October 21 in an all-out effort to achieve a $10,450 goal...

The goal of the United Fund effort was raised $560 from original budget recommendation of $9,890 after Salvation Army representatives, who were not present at the budget setting session, made an appeal for the same financial allocation as set out in the 1962 budget.

In order to make the mechanics of one drive suffice for the numerous needs for funds in Haskell, and since some agencies in the present fund setup are other than charitable "per se," which is one of the basic precepts of United Fund...

It was pointed out that this name might better serve the intent and purpose of the single fund campaign, and it was emphasized that those who contribute to the community effort may earmark their contributions for the use of specific agencies.

President Williams has announced a steering committee of five, whose responsibility it will be to organize and direct the 1963 campaign here.

Each of the five will be responsible for certain geographic areas of the town, and will conduct, with the help of team captains and lieutenants, a block-by-block canvass of Haskell.

Williams himself will serve as coordinator of the steering group. The other four members are Rev. Douglas Finch, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church; Rogers Durham, pastor of the First Christian Church; Woody Woodward, businessman; and Porter Oakes, editor of the Haskell Free Press.

This nucleus of volunteer civic leadership will be joined by the other officers of the Haskell United Fund, Wayne Bradford, vice president, and Mrs. W. A. Lyles, treasurer, at a planning luncheon Friday, October 11, at noon, in the private dining room of the Texas Cafe to complete all details of organizing the drive.

Haskell's United Fund agencies and the budgeted amounts for this year are: Boy Scouts, $1,500; Salvation Army, $1,000; Red Cross, $1,000; West Texas Rehabilitation Center, $500; Southwestern Diabetic Foundation, $500; Summer Recreation Program, $5,000; Girl Scouts, $1,250; Student Scholarship Program, $1,500; Little League, $1,200.

Deadline Oct. 12 On Head Count For Winters Bus

Ten to fifteen people have indicated their interest in chartering a bus to support our Indians in their invasion of Winters next Friday night.

A minimum of 29 passengers is needed to secure the bus, and the deadline is Saturday morning, Bob Dulaney and James Franklin, co-chairmen of the "On To Winters" committee, announced Wednesday.

Reservations for a bus seat should be made by calling one of them at 864-2389 or 864-2631 immediately.

Meanwhile, Superintendent of Schools Hooper T. Wilkinson reports that reserved seats to the Indiana-Blizzards game at 7:30 next Friday night in Winters go on sale in his office on Friday morning.

Dulaney said if the majority wills, and the bus materializes, the bus riders will stop in Abilene after the game and eat at the same place the team does, which will be Underwood's, on South Fourteenth Street.

Since the ball game starts at 7:30 p. m., the hour of arrival back home should not be too late, Dulaney pointed out.

Denson Is Cleared In Shooting Case

Raymond K. Denson, 63, of Rule, veteran Haskell County law enforcement officer, late Tuesday was absolved of all blame in the death of a 22-year-old Haskell laborer in a scuffle over the officer's gun, Saturday night, Sept. 28.

The Haskell County grand jury returned a "no bill" (no indictment) on a charge of murder which had been filed against the Haskell County constable the night of the shooting.

Christoval Villa, 32, died at 9:30 p. m. on September 28 of a gunshot wound inflicted as Denson's pistol went off when Villa tried to resist arrest.

After grand jury foreman Clay Smith returned the no bill to District Judge Ben Charlie Chapman, the district attorney here, Royce Adkins, made the following statement:

"The grand jury has completely investigated the charge against Raymond K. Denson. He has been completely exonerated of any fault in the death of Christoval Villa."

"The district attorney said, 'Without question, Villa's death was an accident.'"

Shortly after the grand jury recessed, one grand juror reported, "We all were in accord that this officer was acting in line of duty."

Denson, a constable 11 years and a deputy sheriff nine years previously, had never experienced difficulty with anyone in his custody.

Villa had been arrested at a barracks occupied by laborers near the Cooperative Gin just north of Rule and had been asked to accompany the officer to the Rule City Jail.

Upon arrival there, Denson on the night of the shooting quoted Villa as saying, "You are not going to put me in."

The officer reported that night, "He went for my gun and we went to the ground. I do not know who pulled the trigger."

In other action Tuesday, the grand jury indicted two Philadelphia, Pa., brothers, apprehended in Fort Worth Sept. 27 on two charges each of burglary by Sheriff Garth Garrett and Texas Ranger Homer T. Melton of Benjarin.

Now in custody in Haskell County jail, they are Eugene William Rosario, 20, and Robert Lawrence Rosario, 25. They were indicted in connection with a daylight burglary and a night-time burglary at two farm homes two and three miles southwest of Rule on September 23.

On What Really Makes A Great Town From One of Our Very Own

One of our very own, Dr. Woodrow Adcock, Haskell High School Class of 1932, chose as his subject as principal speaker at Homecoming last Saturday afternoon, "What Really Makes A Great Town?"

He must have been reading our mind and mail. And if this respected member of the Methodist clergy will permit a Campbellite "Amen" from our lay corner, we voice it here, loud and clear:

Dr. Adcock, with his discerning 50-year knowledge of it, was sizing up Haskell when he talked from the heart in the high school gymnasium last Saturday. He proposed that in order to grow and progress, the people in a town should demonstrate a willingness to accept change, that we must have the moral and spiritual character equal to a changing world.

Our native son cited vision, an organized plan for the realization of that vision, and a community spirit—all three of these ingredients—in order to be a thriving town.

Where there is no vision, the people perish, declared Woodrow Adcock. He warned against lagging, staggering, stagnating. He talked about towns about which he knew in the Panhandle that had dried up for lack of vision. Hear, Haskell!

He talked about the need for goals, objectives that can be obtained only through organized effort. "Only people who don't organize don't intend to do anything," he emphasized. Hear, Haskell!

Dr. Adcock told of what leadership can do for a community. He called attention to the phenomenal growth of Dallas, which was actually short on all the resources generally believed necessary for growth—all except LEADERSHIP.

What else is important toward inducing community growth, asked Dr. Adcock? "A SENSE OF RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE GOOD OF THE WHOLE CITIZENSHIP!" Hear, Haskell!

Do we have a sense of gratitude for the contribution this town has made to our lives? It's one of our privileged freedoms to criticize, BUT EVERY FREEDOM CARRIES WITH IT A RESPONSIBILITY.

We've never had it so good, yet, never has there been more complaining.

We respectfully request every last citizen of this community to give himself a discerning self-analysis on the points our Homecoming speaker pounded home to homefolks last Saturday.

For the sake of the future of this town, we pray all those points "at home." There were plenty of people there who NEED to take to heart, right into the core of it, what was said there.

If they do, Haskell quite soon COULD be the town it SHOULD be.

Golly, it's good to be a Dodger fan, at least. There's always something worse a Haskell Indian fan AND a Yankee fan, for instance! No wonder we've heard there was a temporary shortage of penicillin out at the hospital. To be BOTH is about the sickest-producing situation that could be brought upon a person. Just ask a well, you know 'em!

Homecoming in Haskell, our first, was such a satisfying experience. Any newsman with a probing proboscis and worth his salt, and we hope we may be "included in," would NOT be a newsman if he didn't get flat dab "upsturbed" and all churned up inside over the possibilities of the stories that circumstances like last weekend here present.

We'd give anything if we could have been "a fly on the wall" at all those class reunions Friday and Saturday. The possibilities for human interest stories that would kick you in the heart are absolutely unlimited. Each time an announcement was made at the ball game about another reunion, we thought in the back of our heritage-laden mind what a privilege it would be to sit in on all of 'em.

There was enough said and recalled by some 1200 people here in 36 hours last weekend to provide entertaining reading for any avid reader for 10 years. Pardon our "profanity," but "Scott's Emulsion," how we wished we could have been physically or materially equipped to get it all down for posterity, tape recorded, or something. The mechanics of our responsibility for this newspaper which preclude our getting around more to see more people and put in writin' the little things that really count often bothers us mightily. Some day, in some way, we hope to be able to get out among 'em more.

Weren't you proud of the classic halftime performance staged by Roark Barnes' talented teenagers in the Indian Band organization last Friday night? They deserve plaudits a-

A Pencil Pusher's Potpourri
By PORTER

Don't know when we've ever had so many tangible and graphic evidences of the changing times as our own experiences of just the past few days.

There was Homecoming, which does more than anything to build that solid bridge between the past and the present. In Haskell, this is one of the most enriching experiences "a body" could ever have. The Pencil Pusher is indebted to ever so many people for giving him a warm feelin' inside and for transfusing that feelin' of "belongin'" here.

We know how tremendously our prestidigitator, our beloved and respected Lon Plate, was missed last Friday and Saturday. We know he will live always in the hearts and minds of those who were gathered here. We felt SO inadequate in trying to competently cover Homecoming which would have been as easy as falling off the proverbial log with him. But we hope we may measure up as time goes on. And everyone was so kind and patient about our lack of background.

Yes, these are changing times. Elsewhere in this paper is a squib about what was termed a "laughable comedy" at the Haskell Opera House 50 years ago. The name of the play was "The Yankee In Cuba." Nothing so laughable about a Yankee in Cuba these days.

Nothing so laughable about a Yankee in Los Angeles either, to the Yankees! Speaking of changing times, who ever thought we'd live to see the day when the Yankees would get beat four straight by the Dodgers?

Well, Fellow Bums, we've seen it. The underdog does have his day occasionally, and such episodes provide hope for the downtrodden.

Now we know another underdog nicknamed Huskie which rose up and took a big hunk right out of the seats of the pants of our favored Indians last Friday night. We wish this particular breed of Huskie would have stayed in Alaska or stayed at Hirschi, or just "any old where" except where it was unleashed last Friday night.

Golly, it's good to be a Dodger fan, at least. There's always something worse a Haskell Indian fan AND a Yankee fan, for instance! No wonder we've heard there was a temporary shortage of penicillin out at the hospital. To be BOTH is about the sickest-producing situation that could be brought upon a person. Just ask a well, you know 'em!

The Pencil Pusher got in on the Homecoming act with the best of 'em last Saturday, deriving his own little private thrill from a teacher-pupil relationship he always has cherished.

Ellene Collins Ward, Wichita Falls, an "ex" from HHS, was here for the festivities. She may be reticent to admit it, and certainly doesn't look the vintage, but she taught the Pencil Pusher in high school. So he felt right in step with all the other bear-huggin' going on at the gym Saturday. Ellene's brother, Bailey, who also was an HHS grad, was our family doctor and one of the dearest friends we ever had. We miss him more than words can say.

That arsenic poisoning of those cattle over near Woodson is a frightful thing, and we pray our area farmers don't suffer any similar expensive experiences. The arsenic route to oblivion reminds of the salty trial we once covered in Nashville, in which a woman went through three husbands, and their insurance, that way. She was a real sentimental gal, though. She only put arsenic in their birthday cakes. That was her undoing. The fact that her husbands kept leaving this world for another, always on a birthday, got the "laws" to checking into the texture of her cakes. Sho' nuf, the flour had a pinch of arsenic in it. Just for a fatal "flavor," you know.

A group of unsung heroines are the always patient, polite, and ingratiating girls who "man" the switchboard at the area General Telephone Office in Seymour. We know we have lots of company when we say we are indebted to them for acts of kindness too numerous to identify, and hope we may reciprocate some day in some way.

Oakescript: With the season rapidly approaching when hunters can legally draw a bead on bigger game, we'd like to remind there is no open season on humans.

Didn't the sight of those workbooks and examples of push-pull Spencerian penmanship on display at Homecoming take you back? It did this of Push-Puller.

Some of the sights we saw and the folks with whom we were privileged to be at Homecoming further punctuate our declaration that Haskellites have had a directing hand in just about everything at one time or another. Ask Bob Herren about the time he and Time Magazine Cover Personality Bates Thornton turned over his Dad's pickup! Bates, who's got HIS hand in EVERYTHING, it would seem, judging by the longest TIME cover biog we ever recall, had a hand in the pickup pileup, too!

"National Business Women's Week" Observed With Two Events In Haskell

Haskell's Business and Professional Women's Club, emphasizing individual responsibility in civic participation in connection with National Business Women's Week, this week is holding two assemblies in special recognition of the nationally observed salute to working women.

Tuesday night, Vera Stokes, of Coleman, district director, District 7, Texas B&PW Clubs, was guest speaker at a formal dinner at the Highway Drive-In here. Mrs. Charlie Redwine, president, was in charge.

Hostesses for the occasion were members of the Civic Participation Committee, Mrs. Alvin Sherman, Mrs. E. J. Stewart, Mrs. W. P. Trice and Mrs. Porter Oakes.

Thursday night, Haskell's B&PW organization will sponsor a joint assembly with business and professional women of Stamford at 7:30 p. m. in the Community Room of the Haskell National Bank here. This is a special get-together in recognition of National Business Women's Week.

Miss Nettie McCollum, of the Haskell National Bank, and prominent Haskell civic and B&PW leader, will show a film, "Hawaiian Holiday," recording her recent visit to the enchanting island paradise. The film showing will be followed by an Hawaiian Luau for members of B&PW clubs from Haskell and Stamford. The Civic Participation Committee again will have charge of the program.

Hostesses for the Thursday night social will be members of the Projects Committee, including Meses Byron Frazier, Miller Montgomery and W. A. Lyles.

County Singing Resumes

After being recessed in order not to conflict with a series of revival meetings, and also because of hot weather, the Haskell County Singing Convention will reconvene Sunday for the fall and winter. Truett C. Cobb, president, announced Tuesday.

The Central Baptist Church will be the site of the singing session Sunday at 2:30 p. m., and a cordial welcome awaits those interested in old time gospel singing, Cobb said.

Venerated Magazine Club Has Many Reasons to Rejoice As 62nd Year Opens

Haskell's oldest civic organization, one of the oldest federated women's clubs in West Texas, the 61-year-old Magazine Club begins another activity year Saturday.

Matching the venerated club's record for sustained service, stride for stride, is Mrs. J. U. Fields, one of the true "grand dames" and persevering pioneers among Texas clubwomen, who will be starting her third term as president of this organization in her 53 years as a member.

There are yet other situations which make Saturday probably the most significant date in the Magazine Club's history. Coincidentally, the opening day of the Magazine Club's 62nd activity year also is the 75th birthday of Mrs. Fields, who has been a motivating force in the activities of Texas federated clubwomen for 53 years and is showing no signs of slowing up on the diamond anniversary of her birth.

Moreover, on Saturday, the Magazine Club of Haskell will be meeting for the first time in its solid structure on the town's main stem across from the First Baptist Church here after a year's vacancy for complete remodeling and repair. The club building felt the full force of a devastating tornado here on May 26, 1962, and stood its ground, though badly damaged, as the funnel cloud roared through the heart of Haskell.

A "Green Brunch" given by the members of the Magazine Club, beginning at 10 a. m. Saturday, will herald and salute all these significant events in the history of the organization and the life of Mrs. Fields, its indomitable leader. Members will have guest privileges and should report the number to Mrs. A. C. Pierson, social chairman, whose committee will serve as hostesses for the red letter occasion.

An inspection of the restored and renovated clubhouse will replace a program after the brunch. Meses Hill Oates, J. G. Vaughter, Dennis Ratliff, J. H. Strain, and H. G. Hammer have been singled out for commendation by fellow club members for their leadership in the building restoration and lawn and flowerbed "manicuring."

In the receiving line of the multi-faceted celebration, Saturday will be Mrs. Fields, who was state president of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs in 1925, and has remained active on a statewide scale since; Mrs. R. W. Herren, president of the Mesquite District, TFWC, Mrs. Oates and Mrs. Vaughter.

Mrs. Strain will give the invocation at the assembly for brunch.

Members of Mrs. Pierson's social committee who will share hostess honors are Meses Theron Cahill, Thomas L. Ballard, John P. Payne and B. C. Chapman.

Patricia Ann Pace, James Howard Peek Set Wedding

The couple will be married in the First Baptist Church in Goree on Sunday, October 20 at 4 p. m.

Miss Pace is a prospective Graduate of Goree and is presently at T. J. Traynham's Market.

...not with Flameless Electric Heating!

Drafts are out... comfort is in... because electric house heating lets you wrap heat around each room — with separate room controls, too! And you can choose from a variety of built-ins — installed inconspicuously in baseboard floor, ceiling, or wall. Here's a treat for your budget, too; you save on installation because no flues or chimneys are needed. Annual operation costs for heating during the winter months in the territory served by WTU averages about 7¢ per square foot of living area in the home. Why not ask your electrical contractor or WTU to survey your home for flameless electric heat?

Prattle

By AL HINDS

Prattler's Prophecy: I fear rather badly in my pre-game predictions for last week-end contests, having hit only three and missing four to give me a measly 42.7 percentage. However, I did pick SMU over Air Force and Texas Tech over A&M, and the big shot "dopesters" had picked the Air Force and A&M. Since batting so poorly last week, I just up and smashed the 'ole crystal ball, and for this week-end contests, looking through my rose colored glasses, I see it this way: Rice over Stanford. The Owls have a strong team, and should bounce back from their defeat last week-end. Texas A&M over Houston. If the Aggies are ever going to win a game this season, this should be it. Arkansas over Baylor. Hogs are bristling. SMU over Navy. Yep, I guess I'm crazy, but the Ponies have fight and zip. TCU over Texas Tech. I hope I am wrong, but after the licking TCU took from the Razorbacks last week, they are going to be fighting mad. I plan to see this game and even though I picked TCU, I'll be pulling for Tech. Texas over Oklahoma. The odds-makers favor Oklahoma, but I will string along with the Longhorns. The Haskell Indians are idle. At least I will be safe on this one.

"Thank goodness for Weinert." Frank Cadenhead quipped. Haskell, Hardin-Simmons University, Notre Dame, Vanderbilt and the Yanks lost, but good 'ole Weinert came through with a win. The reason many people do not live within their incomes is that they don't consider that living. Doctors advise walking for health, but we've yet to see a mailman who looked as if he could whip a truck driver. October 13-19 will be observed throughout our land as "National Newspaper Week." Theme of National Newspaper Week is: "Newspapers make a big difference in people's lives... and they really do." For instance when a newspaper is missing, more often than not, a man will say, "Where's my newspaper?" "My," not "the"! You've heard the man of the house say many times: "Now, my newspaper said..." or "I read it in my paper..." Yes, a man's possessive about his newspaper. He takes pride in it. He gloats when his newspaper praises his favorite political candidate or sports team. Or, he groans when his newspaper differs with his choice of personalities or issues. He'll even write the newspaper when he feels strongly about a difference of opinion. And his wife feels just about the same. She looks forward to reading the society page, or checking the paper for special bargains. Missing out on some ad or choice item of local news could "ruin" her shopping trip. Both men and women want their newspaper. In fact, they insist on it. This loyalty to a favorite newspaper didn't just happen. It came about because the newspaper is localized to meet a particular want and fill a definite need. And, because the newspaper is viewed as a necessary companion and source of information, it makes a big difference in the lives of people of all ages, of all faiths and political preferences, of all levels of income and education.

still want their paper. There is no question but what the small town weekly is more touchingly read than dailies because, in most instances, the hometown paper is the only paper in the world that gives a hoot about news of people you really know. With today's progress in transportation, there is no such thing as a distant relative.

Mayor and the City Council of Haskell challenge the Texas Water Commission's right to issue a permit to build Miller's Creek dam, are all the legal entanglements remaining on the dockets in a five-year court battle. The water commission case has been set for December 8th. Unless another legal monkey wrench is hurled into the machinery, a decision in the Travis County District Court upholding the state water commission's right to issue the permit will clear the way for construction of the dam.

ed some 40 other corporations and now ranks as the nation's 100th biggest corporation, with sales that have already passed the half-billion dollar mark this year. A millionaire 40 times over, Thornton is a dreamer and a visionary who talks constantly about the future, yet he is also an intensely practical man who has made realities of many of his early dreams. A broad and ambitious company staffed by bright and ambitious men, Litton Industries under Thornton's guidance has branched from the microwaves tubes to seismic explorations for oil, the building of nuclear submarines, and has become one of the nation's leaders in the manufacture of electronic computers. Thornton's superb sense of timing is considered to be his greatest contribution to the company's progress. He has an intuitive dead reckoning that tells him when to move with a product and when to hold back. He made a name for himself with Ford Motor Co., as an executive after the war, then quit to become vice president and general manager of Hughes Aircraft. He left Hughes to enter business for himself in Litton Industries. Thornton was only 18 years old at the time Dr. Lewis married Mrs. Thornton and took over the task of rearing him. Dr. Lewis, however, gives his wife full credit for the way her son turned out. But it has been learned in Haskell that the Lewises moved to Lubbock so that the youth could attend college there. R. W. (Bob) Herren, Haskell businessman and rancher, recalled Thornton as "one of the grittiest boys I ever knew, whose determination even then earned him the job of starting center on the Haskell Indian football team, when at least three other candidates outweighed him 20 or more pounds." Thornton weighed 140 pounds at the time.

terback James Davis and an ailing Joe Thigpen, could manage only 15 yards rushing in the first period and nothing on the ground in the second stanza. A 41-yard punt return by James Leland late in the game and a last second desperation pass from Thigpen to James Brown that traveled 49 yards to the Huskie 20 as the game ended, were all the Indians had to war whoop about all evening. It was learned that as many as nine Indian football players were suffering with heavy colds all last week. Thigpen remained in bed throughout the day Friday until time to suit up for the Huskie game. Coach Ray Overton said his star back was suffering from a case of the flu. The Huskies scored their first touchdown with 6:40 remaining in the opening period on a two-yard lunge by Tommy Estrada, who had set up the score on a 63-yard jaunt. Joe Burton booted the conversion to send the Huskies ahead 7-0. Henson scored Hirschi's second tally on a hair-raising pass play with 18 seconds remaining in the first quarter. Faulkner, with a second down on Haskell's 31, dropped back and arched a high aerial to his favorite target who managed to grab the ball on the goal line with three Haskell defenders hanging on him. Faulkner's conversion attempt was no good. With 3:15 left in the first half, Faulkner arched another aerial to Burton from the Indian 13, but a Haskell defender batted the pass into the air and Sidney McDonald, who was trailing the play, gathered in the errant aerial for another Huskie score. Gary Blodgett's attempt to run the conversion failed and Hirschi had it 19-0 at halftime. The Huskies scored their final tally with 8:40 left in the third period, as Estrada scampered over from 11 yards out. Burton's kick was good, and the Huskies had their first victory in four outings.

LETTERS... To The Editor

Dear Editor:
The patrons of the Texas Cafe have no doubt missed the smiling face and friendly personality of one of the most faithful and long standing waitresses that Haskell has ever had. Mrs. Mary Jane Brown, who for 20 years has worked to educate her children and keep her little family together, now is compelled to sit home in a wheel chair and reminisce of the good old days when she could go out and (by the sweat of her brow) earn the money to keep her little family going.

Tragedy brought her first marriage to a close and left her with three children to raise during the Depression days. During these trying times she could be found early and late working at Tate's Cafe, trying with every ounce of energy to keep the wolf away from the door during a time when even families with both mother and father were having a battle to keep him away. Several years later when her little family was almost grown Mary married again and thought at last fate had turned the tide and she could relax and enjoy her family and new found love. Another little girl was born to this happy union and all went well until the baby was 19 months old. Then the news as suddenly as lightning from a spring thunder cloud, "Husband killed in traffic accident on way to work." Mary returned to Haskell and back to work to again care for her family which included another pretty little blonde baby. Many times Mary could not go to work because this child was plagued with hay fever and asthma. But as soon as she would recover enough, Mary would again be found back at the job, always with a smile as if all was well and fate had not played so many heart rending tricks on her life. Then suddenly as a thief in the night the terrible rare disease amyotrophic lateral sclerosis added its crippling blow to the life of this one who had already gone through more than most of us will ever be called on to bear. There are many things that can make the life of this lovely person and her 14 more pleasant times and counting years, cost money. My she will ever and I whom life with health her. A fund is the Haskell to help this one er help herself like to do. Ave care of this. We who give and others in a little for us all for us... have done it at least of these, have done it 25.40. —A. Friend Mrs. W. Star
