To Our Mothers

We love them, not only for what they are, but for what we are when we are with them. We love them not only for what they have made of themselves, but for what they are making of us. We love them for the part of us that they bring out.

We love them for putting their hands into the closet of our heaped-up hearts, and passing over all the foolish and frivolous and weak things which they cannot help dimly seeing there, and for drawing out into the light all the beautiful, radiant belongings, that no one else had looked far enough to find.

We love them for ignoring the possibilities of the fool and weakling in us, and for laying firm hold on the possibilities of the good in us. We love them for closing their eyes to the discords in us, and for adding to the music in us by worshipful listening.

We love them because they are helping us to make of the lumber of our lives not a tavern but a Temple, and of the words of our every day not a reproach but a song.

We love them because they have done more than any creed could have done to make us good, and more than any fate could have done to make us happy. They have done it just by being themselves. Perhaps that is what being a Mother means after all.

To have known a Mother, a Mother, who through the chances and mischances of a long life, has carried her heart in her hand, like a palm-branch, waving all discords into peace—helps our faith in God, in ourselves, and in each other more than many sermons.

This then, is our tribute to our Mothers, whose day is Sunday—and every day, in our hearts.

Of Cabbages And Kings (And Queens, Columnist Type)

Engaging columnists of city newspapers to the north and south of us, in Wichita Falls and Abilene, to wit, Glenn Shelton and Kathryn Duff, both have burst out in glorious verse and pungent prose about budding trees, little birds, cabbage plants, etc., and we feel it is our duty to help things along.

Kathryn most appropriately reprinted the potent piece about mesquite trees being the harbinger of Spring by the late Frank Grimes, longtime editor of the Abilene paper.

Gregarious Glenn Shelton, the poor man's Marco Polo, it would appear, might leave any minute on a springtime jaunt to haunts of heather, the way he's writing about Spring.

So we resurrected a "Spring Pome" written by the late father of the Haskell Free Press Editor, Arthur Porter Oakes, who was an early day editor of Glenn Shelton's newspaper, the Wichita Falls Record News.

The first Editor Oakes, like the revered Frank Grimes, had his own personal Spring barometer—bollering frogs. We don't know whether that's so effective in this area any more or not, however, frogs have a little more to holler about, now that there has been abundant rain hereabout. Just the same, here's the "pome," with apologies to Duff and Shelton:

We know old Winter's lost his might, and Spring is here to follow.
When the dogwood trees are growing white, and the frogs begin to holler.
It's here this time I surely know; it's here I'd bet a dollar,
For the whippoorwill is singing low and the frogs begin to holler.
Tator plantin's in full sway, and the old mule limps his collar
But the surest sign of Spring today is when the frogs begin to holler.
The lizard rattles on the rail, the chipmunk starts with fear,
The gobbler struts his feathered tail, because he feels that Spring is here.
The plowboy whistles all day long, and life is full of cheer;
The mocker thrills us with his song because Glad Spring is here.
All hail, thrice-welcome Spring! The best of all the year,
My old Rheumatiz I bring and lay on winter's bier.
We love this goodly season, for all there's much to do,
For we have to plant the passups, and odorous onions, too.
Wish I could write all in my soul, though I ain't no sort of scholar.
But a plain clod knows that Spring is here, when the frogs begin to holler.
When the frogs begin to holler,
Where old Brindle comes to drink,
And the sow comes to her wailer,
There is nature's clock, I think,
Where the frogs begin to holler.

Arthur Porter Oakes, who picked up his "poetic justice" while working alongside a guy named Grantland Rice back in Nashville, wrote this piece about 90 years ago. He got his inspiration from the frogs AND a seed catalog full of pictures of big red tomatoes.

Oakescripts A Pencil Pusher's Potpourri

By PORTER

Last weekend, the Pencil Pusher and his Jewel lighted and hitched at an historic hostelry "across the alley from the Alamo" in San Antonio, the Menger Hotel. There, we became saturated with some true "Texasana," while at the same time trying to match strides with a team of titillating teenagers in the persons of Darlin' Daughter Janie, and her handsome Beau, Ronnie Rhea, who came ridin' in from Amarillo, knight-in-shining-armor-like, it would appear from the look in a pair of warm brown eyes, with which we have a speaking acquaintance. Then, there was Lois, a scintillating siren from South Texas, whose home is at Alice, and a DeMolay sidekick of Ronnie's from Plainview, name of Bob Cummings, a Lochinvar type, who, without knowing or trying, did a most effective "country-boy" takeoff of his TV namesake.

It takes you back, and it'll keep you young—this kind of company will. Also makes you know how old you are when you're huffin' and puffin' along trying to keep space of this bubbly bunch, as it whirrs through La Villita and the river front area snaking through downtown San Antonio. The elder Oakeses were like Never Bend and Candy Spots in last Saturday's Kentucky Derby. We just didn't have it at the finish. There was plenty of bending, and lots of spots, too—before our eyes.

After such a weekend, we doff our favorite fedoras to the John Kimbroughs, Pat McCollums, Ed Hesters, Bob King, and other brave folks of Haskell, about whom we've heard and their chaperoning chores on Senior and Spanish trips and similar endeavors. It's oodles of funfesting, but leaves you winded!

Bein' mighty history-minded and medallion and marker-conscious, what with the super effort being exercised in Haskell County to catalogue our heritage here, we revelled in the atmosphere of Alamo Plaza and the Menger Hotel, which for 104 years has been one of the hubs of social and civic activity of Texas. The atmosphere which prevailed at the Menger when such personages as Robert E. Lee, O Henry, Lily Langtree, Sara Bernhardt, and Sam Houston found it the oasis of civiliza-

Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Oates, of Graham, are here this week visiting his mother, Mrs. Mary Oates, and other relatives.

Misses Madalin Hunt, Lewis Manley, Ruth Milstead, and Curran Hunt spent the weekend in Dallas.

The Haskell Feed Store offered the following prices for poultry: heavy hens, 9 cents a pound; light hens, 7 cents a pound; No. 1 turkeys, 9 cents; No. 2 turkeys, 7 cents a pound.

During a baseball game at Vontress Sunday afternoon between Cottonwood and Vontress teams, there was a collision between Clifford Lewellen and Raymond Mercer, and the latter suffered a badly broken leg, both bones being broken above the ankle. Mercer was carried to the Knox City hospital where the break was set and he was brought back to his home in Vontress.

Saturday morning, May 6, Viars Feiker and Miss Matti Muri Walling drove to Marietta, Oklahoma, where they were married in a ceremony read by the Rev. D. H. Hudson, pastor of the Baptist Church in that city. The young couple will make their home in Haskell.

Deputy Sheriffs Olen Dotson and Dan Kirkpatrick made a business trip to Houston Thursday, returning home Saturday.

Mrs. Sam T. Chapman, Ben Charlie Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Clay mith and sons, Sam Hugh and Bobbie Neil, spent Sunday in Breckenridge with Mrs. Chapman's mother.

"Trip To Podunk A Great Success"—headline. The critic of "Fun on the Podunk Limited," a stage production at the opera house under the auspices of the Home Missions Society of the Methodist Church, had a field day reporting the uproarious circumstances of the comedy.

All in all, declared our critic, "Haskell people didn't realize the amount of talent hidden beneath the benign countenance of this citizenship, some of which would do credit to a professional stage."

Mrs. John Oates, it said, did not have much to do or say as an "Irish Woman," but she showed talent in the character. Oscar Martin as the "traveling musician" was reported to have come very near causing the whole delegation to stop the train and return home. Mr. Hefty, a ponderous heavyweight, was "admirably represented" by Mr. T. A. Pinkerton.

Last Saturday night one of the biggest general rains that has fallen in West Texas in years came, and at this place there were two and a half inches. It rained four inches in Abilene and washed out 2200 feet of the Wichita Valley railroad track.

Reception committee for the Haskell County Singing Convention is comprised of T. C. Cahill, C. W. Wilson, O. F. Kolb, and James A. Greer.

S. H. Foster left Saturday for a few days with his family at Denton.

Col. J. Z. Miller and Josselt Miller, Jr., of Belton, arrived in the city Thursday, on a business mission.

Jim McKelvain made a trip to Stamford early this week.

D. B. Keeler, general manager, and W. F. Starley, general freight agent, of the Denver system, passed through Haskell Saturday.

60 YEARS AGO

(May 9, 1893)

Frank Vernon is having some improvements made to his residence in the southwest part of town.

The commencement exercises of the Haskell High School will be held in the courthouse at 8:30 p. m., May 15. An admission fee of 10 cents will be charged all except pupils of the public schools.

L. Lansdon, who spent several days here looking after cattle interests, left Thursday for his home in Gonzales.

Caleb Terrell returned Saturday from Knox and King Counties, where he spent several days on business.

Mmes. O. R. Jones and W. E. Sherrill left Sunday afternoon to attend the district meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs in Abilene May 5 to 8 as delegates from the Haskell Magazine Club.

Mrs. S. W. Scott and little daughter, Elsie, returned last Saturday from a two month visit with her parents at Woodward, I. T. (Indian Territory).

G. W. Hazelwood is having a new coat of paint put on his residence.

J. S. Fox and W. F. Stephens have completed a 4-room tenant house and other improvements on J. L. Baldwin's place in the east part of the county.

M. S. Shook, who started north last week with 399 head of steers, ones and twos, sold them on reaching King County to 8 ranch people at $14 and $19.

S. S. Cummings sold a lot of cow ponies this week to J. D. Hughes for his ranch in the southeast part of the county.

M. E. Park has gone to Guthrie in King County, to work on a stone building being put up for W. E. Earnest.

S. L. Robertson has traded off that thoroughbred delivery horse, Albert English now owned by the gay and festive equine tion in the early days of the Southwest, and when Teddy Roosevelt recruited Rough Riders within its hallowed walls, has been preserved. And it's still there, partly in original, and partly in restored, paneled, heavy, crystal chandeliers, heavy-carpeted, antiques, ornate splendor.

For our money, if you really want to get a toenail tingling sensation over the fact that you're a Texan, arise early enough some morning when you're in San Antonio and go see the Lone Star Flag being drawn up the pole atop the northwest corner of the Alamo. There's no more appropriate place on earth to raise the Flag of Texas, is there?

After one of those unforgettable weekends with our liting and lovely sophomore at St. Mary's Hall, we left magnolia blossom festooned San Antonio, and stopped at fetehin' Fredericksburg en route home. There, amid more medallions, and because it was our anniversary, we treated ourselves to the intriguing and inviting hospitality of dinner at the Hotel Nimitz, built and operated for years by the family of Uncle Sam's indomitable and fearless World War II naval hero, Admiral Chester Nimitz. The Admiral's personal message to the guests of Fredericksburg's Hotel Nimitz, which adorns the lobby wall in his own hand beneath an autographed portrait, expresses the hope that they have the same enjoyment he experienced within those walls in his younger days.

A native of Germany, who left his homeland in 1951, and got to this country by way of the Fiji Islands, so intense was his desire to come to America, a Mr. Unger purchased the Hotel Nimitz, built in 1947, and just breathing history, a year and a half ago. In that brief period of time, he has uncovered old guest registers bearing some of the most famous names in American history which long had been stacked on dust-laden shelves. And he has started in the corner of his lobby a Nimitz museum, which is most fascinating. His dedicated desire is to restore the Nimitz hostelry to its circa 1880 grandeur, and to make of the Nimitz Museum a show-place of the countryside.

The going may be rough, because, just like some folks in Haskell, the people who live in Fredericksburg do not seem to grasp the importance or take too much for granted, the heritage under their very noses, which could be restored, preserved, and if you please, exploited, for the mutual remuneration of all Hut, somehow we feel, Mr. Unger will achieve his aim. Just as it is our own unwavering wish to help solidify, and soon, the productive working agenda laid out by Sue Pate Barfield, R. C. Couch, Sr., Judge Jim Alvis, Jim Norman, and the other members of the Haskell County Historical Survey Committee to preserve our heritage and attract tourists here, "to boot."

May we say here as they said in the good 'ol days, if you're ever in the Fredericksburg hill country, and you should make it a point to go, you'd do well to "take dinner" at the Nimitz. Those genteel German folk know how to cook. Their hospitality is ingratiating, and such a spotless place you never saw.

Had you noticed that our Bud Lane and Buzz of Route 66 TV fame are lookalikes? The other day when we gave a story over the phone to Abilene on some of Bud's activities as Jaycee president, the piece came out "Buzz Lane." That set us to thinkin' we'll just change it to "Buzz" for this year anyway. His Jaycee work is going to make a buzz-saw of him. Now if Bailey Toliver will just let him have a Corvette to drive around, we're in business!

Speakin' of Jaycees, guess where their offices are in Fredericksburg? They're in the old hand-hewn rock two-story jailhouse which is heavily barred. Appropriate enough for the Jaycees. Having been one, we can speak with authority. They always were more comfortable behind, or near, bars, of varying kinds.

Back to look-alikes, did you notice the resemblance between

Rams Best Hawks 8-7 In Little League Opener

"Play Ball" was Umpire Bob Dulaney's signal for Pitcher Tim Everett of the Hawks to hurl the first ball over home plate to Ram Rightfielder Lee Pippin and officially open the 1963 Little League baseball season on Monday night, May 6.

Everett held the Rams hitless until the top of the third inning when, after giving up three bases on balls, the Hawks allowed Andrew Acosta, Ram pitcher, to connect with a double, driving in Lee Pippin and Tommy Perry. The Hawks came back in the bottom of the third when Acosta gave up seven bases on balls to score Keith Everett, Terry Lowrey, and Tim Everett. Darrell Crouch's single to right field scored Glenn Pogue and Mike Cook, and successive walks resulted in a run for Crouch which put the Hawks ahead 6-2. Tommy Perry came in as relief pitcher for Acosta and was credited with the win as the Rams scored Tommy Perry on a single by Riley Middleton, a single by Tommy Perry which scored Wayne Davis and a "grand slam" home run hit by Andrew Acosta scored Lee Pippin, Tommy Perry and Ray Acosta. The Rams were out in front 8-6.

The Hawks threatened again in the bottom of the sixth, after Perry loaded the bases and walked in Terry Pringle. With the bases still loaded and only one out, Perry struck out Stephen Haynes, then scooped up a short ground ball hit by Eugene Gibbs and beat out the runner at home plate for the force out Terry Pringle, coming on in relief of Lowrey, was credited with the loss as the final score showed Rams 8, Hawks 7.

The Rams are managed by Bill Reeves and Brooks Middleton, and sponsored by Middleton, local Gulf dealer, and Jack Pippin of the Haskell Pharmacy. Playing for the Rams are: Andrew Acosta, Ray Acosta, Paul Brown, Roy Isbell, Wayne Davis, Raymond Gonzales, Gary Mayfield, Riley Middleton, Freddie Letz, Tommy Perry, Lee Pippin, Wayne Reeves, and Jack Smith.

Lutheran Women From 17 Towns Convene Here

Nine pastors, two officers from the Southern District, and seven officials of the Northwest Conference, Women of the Church were among the 134 Lutherans from 17 Northwest Central Texas cities and towns attending the annual spring convention of Lutheran laywomen held here recently.

Delegates and visitors registered from the following places: Portales, New Mexico, Gruver, Lubbock, Levelland, Lockney, Abilene, Haskell, Midland, Odessa, Roscoe, Sargent, San Angelo, Wilson, Stamford, Sweetwater, Slaton, and Winters.

Reverend Ronald Birk, of Portales, was the principal speaker, whose topic was "Whatever You Do, Do In The Name of the Lord, Jesus Christ." He declared that it is not so much what people say that leads others to Christ, but it is the type of exemplary life they lead.

Following Reverend Birk's address, the assembly was divided into 10 small groups who discussed how laywomen can witness to Christ in everyday life. The various groups then reported back to the full gathering.

Mrs. Ellis Euckert, of Winters, president of the Northwest Texas Conference of Women of the Lutheran Church, was in charge of the meeting, assisted by Mrs. Elton Klose, of Haskell, congregational president here. Haskell Lutheran women presented a humorous skit to focus attention on the forthcoming national meeting in St. Louis in August.

Other speakers include Mrs. F. E. Holman, of Taylor, vice president of the Southern District, and Reverend James Schaefer, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Haskell, who gave the closing devotionals. Talks on parish education were presented by Reverend David Jorgensen, Stamford, and Reverend Erling Petersen, Midland.

Reverend John Onda, of Wilson, introduced a stirring film, "The Uncommitted."

Mrs. David Jorgensen, Stamford, was organist for the meeting.

Pin Toppling Trophies Taken By Early Birds

Top pin toppers of the Women's Early Bird League of Haskell were honored at an awards luncheon at the Hi-Way Drive-In here recently as they completed their winter season's schedule. Play will not be resumed in this bowling league until September.

Oates Drug, "M" System Grocery, and Elma Guest Ready-To-Wear teams, the one-two-three finishers in the Early Bird Bowling League, were presented handsome trophies.

Four individual trophies also were awarded to the following: Stella Steele, high series, 555; Ophelia Medford, high game, 222; Ruby Medford, high average, 182; and Shirley Hawkins, the most improved bowler.

Other teams in the league were Stella's Pill Rollers, Morton and Wilborn, of Munday, Stewart Motor Service, Ben Franklin Stores, and W. A. Lyles' Jewelers.

Maybelle Taylor Circle

Maybelle Taylor Circle of the First Baptist Church WMU met in the home of Mrs. Frank McCurley recently, and Mrs. Frank Cadenhead, Sr., presided, directing a study on enlightenment and awareness.

Members present were Mmes. O. O. Akins, R. C. Couch, Sr., J. F. Cadenhead, Sr., J. T. Ellis, C. A. Merchant, W. C. Norton, C. V. Oates, A. C. Pierson, S. G. Perrin, C. A. Thomas, Sr., Miss F. Crowley, and the hostess, Mrs. McCurley.

Garrett Gets Not 1 But 2 "Red-Handed"

Haskell County Sheriff not only caught a burglar red-handed for the first time in his eight years as a law enforcement officer—he caught two of them in 12 hours' time here last Tuesday night and Wednesday.

The first one, a 17-year-old Haskell Negro, was surprised by Sheriff Garrett inside the Phelps Ice Company and Locker Plant near the depot at 11:50 p. m. Tuesday. The Sheriff entered the building while Haskell Police Chief Tom Paul Barnett waited outside to see if Garrett might "shake someone out of the building."

Crawling through a side window into the darkened building, Garrett said the Negro "tried to run over me headin' for the door, but there wasn't room for us both, and I grabbed him."

Wednesday, the Negro youth admitted to Texas Ranger Homer T. Melton of Benjamin and Haskell County Chief Deputy Pete Mercer that he had entered the same ice plant three times in the past month, taking petty cash from a register and cold drink machines each time.

Meanwhile, Sheriff Garrett caught a second burglar, a 38-year-old Throckmorton man, after he jumped through an open window of a house at Mattson, 12 miles northeast of Haskell, about 11:30 a. m. Wednesday. The Sheriff said the man had been trying to get some clothing in the house and was scared off by a woman living there.

The second arrest came after Garrett, who was driving along the highway toward Throckmorton with Haskell District Attorney Royce Adkins, received a call to check out a suspicious car near the Mattson house where the suspected burglar was caught as he fled. Sheriff Garrett and District Attorney Adkins, speeding to the scene, made the arrest together.

Identities of the pair were withheld until Adkins completes his investigation. Both men, Sheriff Garrett said, were being held in Haskell County Jail Thursday on burglary charges. After the two catches, Garrett concluded, "The county must be gettin' smaller."

Mrs. Fred Schlee, Ft. Worth, spent a day recently in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Frank C. Scott. She was accompanied by her brother, Paul Ford, and Mrs. Ford, who visited relatives here.

Returns to California

Mrs. John W. Loe, sister of Mrs. W. H. Harrell, who had been visiting friends and relatives in Haskell, Dallas, and Abilene, has returned to her home in California to be with her daughter, who is ill. Her daughter, Mrs. Mary Jo Poole, underwent surgery two weeks ago. Mrs. Loe also missed the Pinkerton-Foster-Whitman reunion to which she was especially looking forward.

Rochester Records Exemplary Effort In Cancer Crusade

Haskell County's cancer crusade totals jumped a healthy $500 last Thursday when Felix Mullino, Rochester banker, and civic leader, turned in his community's contributions to the 1963 campaign.

"Contact is the key to our effort," Mullino said, in praising the efforts of 30 dedicated cancer campaign workers who heel-and-toed it throughout Rochester to turn in an almost $1.50 per person average contribution from the residents of their town.

It was the third year in a row that the Rochester people have solidly backed the cancer crusade for more than a $500 portion of the county total.

Mrs. T. C. Walker, county-wide drive chairman, said last Thursday afternoon, "This is encouraging news deserving of the highest commendation and it should be an example and a goal at which to aim for those communities, including Haskell, which have not yet held their drives."

Rule, O'Brien, Paint Creek, part of Weinert, and all of Haskell as of Friday had yet to report in this year's cancer crusade, contributions to which totalled more than $1,300, at last reading.

Haskell County's goal is to "better our best," Mrs. Walker said, which was last year when more than $2800 was subscribed in gifts to this cause.

Blue Ribbons Bedeck Scouts At Area Shows

A bountiful bunch of blue ribbons adorned the already award bedecked uniforms of Haskell, Weinert and Rochester Scouts at the conclusion of annual expositions held in their respective communities Saturday afternoon, April 27.

In Haskell, a surprise added attraction at its show was the appearance of Explorer Post 16 from Wichita Falls, which heard of the Indian dances being staged by Scouts here. The Wichita Falls contingent came over to lend its talent to the colorful presentation.

Troy Boone, district Scout executive from Abilene presented blue ribbons to the following Haskell Scouts: Glen Smart, Randy O'Neal, Paul Hiebert, Tommy Perry, Ray Herren, Clifford Banner, Barry O'Neal, Eddie Smart, Bobby Black; to members of Cub Scout Pack 36, led by Johnny Smith; members of Webelos Den 36 led by Jon Baum; and members of Troop 65, led by Albert Sharp and B. T. Bremby.

Gene Overton, of Paint Creek, longtime area Scout leader, labeled this year's Haskell exposition as "outstanding."

Edd Smart, Haskell Scoutmaster, expressed publicly his thanks to Postmaster Harold Spain, Haskell Mayor J. E. Walling, Jr., and Jaycee President Bud Lane for making the trip to Albany to serve as judges of the exposition there. The Bynum Hardware and Furniture Company here also was commended for its loan of equipment for the scout show.

At Weinert, Cubs won three blue ribbons in nature, handicraft, and games in judging conducted by a team headed by Truett Alvis, of Rochester. Cubs taking part were Johnny Earp III, Rodney Dutton, Joe Yates, Jerry Sanders, Donnie King, Jeff Searcy, Tommy Miller, Gerry Stamper, and Ricky Phemister. Cub Master is H. A. Miller. Den mothers are Mrs. Alton Sanders and Mrs. Toby Yates.

Boy Scouts at Weinert, Terry Sanders, Larry Sanders, Frank Dutton, Dale Tucker, Donny Stewart, and Ronnie

Alexander, won a blue ribbon on their camping exhibit. Scout Master is Alton Sanders.

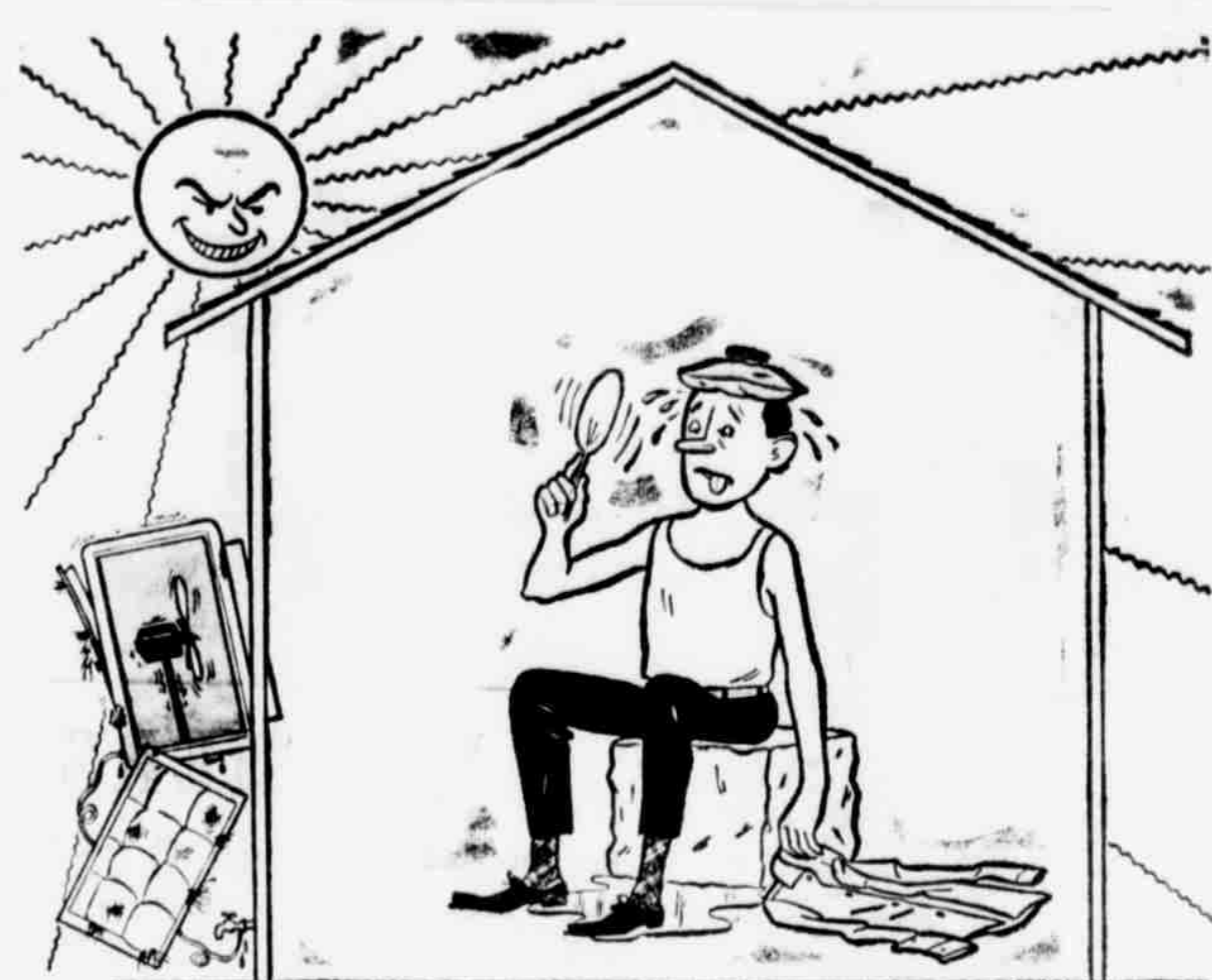

Rochester exhibits of Cub and Boy Scouts were judged by the Alton Sanders and Mrs. H. A. Miller. Three blue ribbons were won—the Boy Scouts for cooking, and the Cubs on Indian Craft and Animal Care.

Lying peacefully on my desk is a very unusual, out of the ordinary, and beautiful pipe...

Tomorrow, Friday, May 10, the Haskell Lions Club will feature their annual mop and broom sale to raise funds for the Goodfellows...

Enroute to and from Atlantic City, along with my family, we traveled through 18 states, including Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Washington, D. C., Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, and a big part of east Texas.

Before I made the trip back east, I had heard many stories saying that the Easterners were not too friendly...

Lions are made up of men who try not to cry... men who work, not shirk... men who find something to be done, and do it.

I have had the privilege of attending a number of zone meetings, district meetings and international meetings of Lions, but the greatest thrill of all my years in Lionism came not many years ago when I sat in an International Convention with 43,000 Lions at Atlantic City, New Jersey...

The situation has crystallized into a community wide effort by interested citizens, principally women to date, led in the main by Mrs. Bailey Toliver, who was the first to suggest restoration.

These efforts had gathered such momentum Tuesday that it was decided to present the case of the dilapidated depot before a meeting of the New Projects Committee of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce, to which the presidents of all service organizations here have been asked at 7:00 p. m. Former Haskellite Is AF Crew Chief At Base In Holland

Airman Third Class Samuel Lee Kelso, formerly of Haskell, recently was made crew chief of the aircraft to which he is assigned at the United States Air Force Base at New Amsterdam, Holland, where he is stationed, according to word received here.

Kelso, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Foll, of Abilene, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Shelley and Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Kelso, all of Haskell, attended grade and junior high school here, and high school at Weatherford. Entering the Air Force on June 11, 1962, he completed basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, later transferring to jet aircraft mechanics school at Amarillo Air Force Base. He completed the jet fighter mechanics' course on October 23, 1962. Following a 30-day leave, Kelso flew in late November from South Carolina to the New Amsterdam AFB where he has been stationed since arriving overseas.

Citizens' Group Bands Together For Productive Program Building

Twenty-one Haskell County citizens, representative of a cross-section of the religious, civic and business activities of this area, assembled in a convocation recently arranged by the county agent and county home demonstration agent to discuss problems and projects, county-wide in scope, that are of mutual interest to all groups and their endeavors.

Styler a "Haskell County Program Building Committee," the assembled group, at the direction of County Agent Frank Martin and Home Demonstration Agent Barbara McAnelly, considered shouldering the responsibility of coordinating efforts as one body to determine what problems exist, how they may be solved, and to map a format for the future here. Named to head the group was Maurice Gannaway, Haskell, chairman; Ray Perry, Paint Creek, vice chairman; Mrs. J. P. Perrin, Haskell, secretary.

To build a program for productive living will be the aim and object of the group, which came into existence this week after the Agricultural Extension Service notified Martin and Miss McAnelly, its representatives at the local level, that they should move to coordinate all groups, community, economic and religious, in order to arrive at mutual accord on the problems at hand, and ways and means of solving them.

Before calling the convocation, Martin and Miss McAnelly took information obtained at a recent regional meeting of extension service personnel in Aspermont, together with research results of their own, to compile a comprehensive profile of the population, educational, and income situations which exist in Haskell County. These salient facts and figures were presented in compact capsule form at the initial meeting of the cross-section of citizenship in order to provide a better basis for determining and ferreting out the problems and projects which might come to mind and hand.

Some stimulatingly interesting figures are involved in the summaries of social characteristics and economic tendencies of Haskell County profiled by Martin and Miss McAnelly. They will be publicly presented at an early date. Population of this county, it was noted, dropped 18.7 per cent in the years between 1940 and 1960, but it has been making a comeback, gradual, but increasing, the past two years.

Another interesting observation supported by statistics is that this county's percentage of residents in the 10 to 19 age group is consistent with that over the entire state, being 17 per cent of the total population, compared with the state's 18 per cent average.

An educational summary, to be presented later, also came in for some eye-brow raising interest.

In income distribution, Haskell County is below the per capita average in Texas.

Among projects discussed for potential prosecution were the teaching of pre-school English to Latin Americans, and poss-

Weinert Seniors Set For Dream Trip to D. C., N. Y.

Seniors of Weinert High School soon will be packing for a junket to St. Louis, Washington, and New York, a trip for which they've pushed many projects to raise funds, and one to which each Senior points during his entire high school career at Weinert.

Leaving from school by bus on May 25, the Weinert Seniors will go to Dallas, where they will entrain for St. Louis. They will meet other senior groups there and will go together to Washington, D. C. and New York City.

Some tours already arranged include Mt. Vernon, the U. S. Capitol, the White House, the Washington Monument, and other points of interest. They will return home on June 1. Their sponsors, who are accompanying them on the trip, are Mrs. D. L. Moody and Dan Sloan.

1200 Voices Make Yearbook And Rafter's Ring In History Rate Fortieth Sing

The rafters of Haskell's American Legion Hall literally rang with old time, from the heart, music for seven hours April 28 as 1200 people crowded in and 300 more stood outside to listen and take part in the 40th annual Haskell District singing convention here.

It was the 40th consecutive singing session, but the institution of the singing convention dates back more than 60 years. Hallie Chapman, Haskell native, former administrator of Haskell County Hospital, and now a farmer and stockman here, completed his 25th year as president of the convention. He was elected to a new 3-year term. Returning as vice president was Truitt C. Cobb, a living landmark with singing conventions in the area, who has presided over the Haskell County Singing Convention and its regular sing-spirations at least one Sunday a month for 34 years. Mrs. Troy Ash was re-elected secretary.

Quartet singing by the famous Stamps Quartet, of Dallas, Key City Quartet, of Abilene, Big State Quartet, of Sweetwater, and the Campbell Quartet, Lubbock, set the pace for the all-day singing, which started at 10 a. m., and continued well past its announced closing hour of 4 p. m.

Dinner was on the grounds for a tremendous number of the huge assembly in Rice Springs Park, the City Park of Haskell, adjacent to the American Legion Building. Acres of cars attested to the numerical strength of the throng.

Nearby communities and hamlets had solid representation, and singing convention enthusiasts came from Altus and Lawton, in Oklahoma, and from Childress, Kikrklam, Lubbock, San Angelo, Abilene, and Wichita Falls.

At least 50 solo voices and duet numbers were interjected among the ever reappearing quartet groups throughout the day, and all took encore after encore.

There was one thing for certain. Not a person left the place without a song on his lips and in his heart.

Social Security Money In County Up 13 Percent

Monthly old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits in Haskell County now top $65,327, R. R. Tuley, Jr., district manager of Social Security in Abilene, announced here Friday on releasing his annual county benefit data report.

"This increase can be attributed to the recent changes in the law and to the growth of our aged population," Tuley said. "As most of it is spent for food, clothing, and shelter, there is no longer any doubt that social security benefits are helping to stabilize the income and spending power of many residents of Haskell County," he declared.

More people in Haskell County, he reported, could draw social security benefits if they knew more about the law, and for that reason they are urged to visit or call the local social security office whenever they have a question concerning their benefits or responsibilities.

As of January, 1963, in the nation at large, more than 18 million beneficiaries were receiving payments at the rate of $14.5 billion per month, according to recent reports.
