Farm labor needs and farm projects of the area will be aired around the conference table at a regular weekly meeting each Friday from 9 a. m. to 12 noon in the Haskell County Courthouse, James W. Rash of Blazes Keeps Fire Truck Wheels Spinning

Three crackling blazes within six hours last Wednesday, Jan. 2, broke a welcomed several days' absence of fire runs in Haskell as volunteers of the Haskell Fire Department got a sweat-producing workout between 4:30 and 10:30 p. m., according to Floyd Lusk, HFD supervisor.

First fire of the year in Haskell was at the home of Clifton J. Morris, shop foreman of Medford Buick-Pontiac Company, at 504 South Avenue E. The 4:30 p. m. burnout started from a gas connection leak behind the kitchen stove, charring a kitchen wall and ceiling and causing considerable smoke damage.

About 100 people attracted to the fire at the house located on Haskell's main stem, witnessed competent work by Fire Department volunteers who contained the conflagration within 20 minutes. The loss was covered by insurance, Morris said.

A five-room tenant house vacated a few days ago on the Claude Wheatley farm five miles southeast of town was all but destroyed by fire of undetermined origin about 10:30 last Wednesday night. Area residents returning from a hunting trip saw the brightly burning blaze, turned in the alarm, and then assisted in helping save a portion of the house, Lusk said. He reported two of the five rooms were gutted.

Earlier, at 6:30 p. m., fire in a lint catcher in the burr hopper at the Duncan Gin occasioned another fire truck run, but there was no damage.

Lions Adopt Projects; Hear Indian Coaches

South Side Baptist Church has not yet selected a successor. During their Haskell stay, the Kimblers have had one addition to their own family, a girl, Melanie, now two years old. Mrs. Kimbler, in addition to her role of homemaker, also has served as secretary of the First Baptist Church here.

In taking leave of friends in this area, Mr. Kimbler declared, "Haskell and the people of all the surrounding communities have been very good to us, and we have been very happy here. We will miss our friends here very much, and we wish the very best for Haskell."

Haskell Lions Club members Tuesday heard snappy reports by Coaches Carlos Berry and Dave Middleton on the potential of their varsity basketballers as they head into Conference AA play, and the Lions' Board adopted special projects for the next six months, according to President Al Hinds.

In a meeting of the Board, the following projects were adopted for Haskell Lions for the next half year: January, cooperation with the internationally observed Mevin Jones Memorial project in which a concerted effort to get old members reinstated and secure at least two new members will be made; February, Safety Month with County Clerk Bill Reeves as chairman; March, Teachers' Recognition Month, Dr. Frank Cadenhead, chairman; April, Soil Conservation Month, F. W. Martin, Haskell County Agent, chairman; May, Annual Broom Sale, Dr. B. L. Langston, chairman; and June, Ladies' Night program, President Hinds in charge, with clubwide cooperation.

Dave Middleton, coach of Haskell High School's girls' basketball, reported that his squad averages five feet five inches in height, about average for a girls' team, have won 13 and lost 4 games this season, while averaging 45.2 points a game. He urged citizens of Haskell to support them "because they know when you're behind 'em."

Coach Berry, apologizing for the fact that the Haskell Indian basketballers have not the "figures" the girls have, naturally, reported a 7.6 win-loss record by the A squad. He said lack of height was hurting Haskell this year, but promised a hustling ball club in 6AA play using a full court press and fast break when the Indians open against Stamford next Tuesday night.

Lion Alfred Allen of Boulder, Colo., and Free Press Editor Porter Oakes were introduced as guests.

November 30 was selected as the date for official opening of the Christmas season in 1963, slides were shown of parade scenes of the past year, and a stimulating discussion was held on suggestions to strengthen participation in and merit of the Christmas project this year.

Louise Scott Gets $150 Fine In Assault Case

A fine of $150 was assessed here last Thursday against the defendant in the case styled State versus Louise Scott charging aggravated assault in connection with the alleged beating of her three-year-old adopted daughter, Lori Teresa, in October, 1962.

A jury composed of Arthur L. Shelley, Mike Campbell, O. J. Helweg, Harold Hodges, Eugene Tonn, and Hubert Bledsoe, after a 1½ hour deliberation, recommended the fine, which was assessed by Presiding Judge Joe Williams in Haskell County Court.

County Judge Jim Alvis has disqualified himself in both this and an earlier trial of Mrs. Scott because he had filed the complaint and was one of the witnesses in the case. The earlier trial in December resulted in a "hung" jury.

Agreement on Williams to preside as judge was decided by counsel on both sides, thereby precluding an appointment of a judge by the Governor.

Shortly before noon last Thursday, the jury, after brief deliberation, reported to Acting Judge Williams with the recommendation that the defendant be placed on probation for a period of two years. The Judge's ruling was that the court could not accept such a verdict, and he sent the jury back to further ponder sentence. The $150 fine assessment followed an hour and a half later.

Maximum penalty for aggravated assault is a $1,000 fine or two years' imprisonment or both.

This ended the second trial which began late Wednesday afternoon following a full day's examination of prospective jurors during which a jury panel was exhausted and Sheriff Garth Garrett had to go to the sidewalks to pick up talemens to secure a jury.

Rotary Fellow Will Speak Here Thursday

Joe Arden, Abilene, Rotary Foundation Fellow who just returned from a productive and enlightening educational experience in New Zealand under sponsorship of member clubs of Rotary International in the Northwest Texas area, will be guest speaker at the Rotary Club of Haskell Thursday noon, Jan. 10, in the private dining room of the Texas Cafe here.

Arden, beginning a torrid speaking schedule which will have him appearing before each of the sponsoring Rotary clubs in the area between now and January 21, will enter the University of Oklahoma on that date to take post graduate work there.

Bob King, Haskell superintendent of schools, presented last Thursday's Rotary program in the form of a color slide supplemented travel talk on his family's recent Christmas' pilgrimage to Mexico City and other points of interest in Mexico, including Cuernavaca and Tasco. Program Chairman Tom Barfield presented King to his Rotary audience.

President E. J. Stewart announced dates for the coming district conference to be held March 10 and 11 in Mineral Wells and read a letter of appreciation from Sandra Letz, high school guest of the month for December, in which the student thanked Rotarians for the "very rewarding honor" of sharing a month's meetings with them.

Bob Herren, savory song-leader, led group singsong, and the Rev. C. R. LeMond, pastor of the Methodist Church, gave the invocation.

David Anderson, popular Haskell High School student and outstanding athlete was introduced as the guest of the month at this first meeting in January. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson. Stanley Furrh was introduced as a prospective new member.

Also at Rotary today were George Wilkinson of New castle, guest of Rotarian Brooks Middleton, and Porter Oakes, new editor of the Haskell Free Press, guest of Rotarian Henry Withers.

Mrs. Edwards' brother, Jack Jones, of Plainview, also was here last weekend.

Fire Department Chalks Up Busy Year With Eighty-four Run Total

Haskell's Fire Department made a total of 82 runs during 1962, five more than the previous year, and nine were general alarm blazes in which auxiliary firemen were called out, City Fire Marshal Earl Correll reported last Friday.

The insurance loss totaled $55,000 compared to the $24,000 loss figure compiled in 1961. Fire Department records show a severe fire at the Ben Franklin Variety Store and smoke damage to adjoining buildings last April 23 were responsible for the sharp increase in total loss in 1962, according to Fire Chief Tom Watson.

Twelve runs by Haskell fire trucks in March were the greatest number for any month.

Miss Parish Dies; Lived In Haskell For 55 Years

Funeral services for Miss Halla Mae Parish, 69, who died last Thursday in Haskell County Hospital after an illness of more than two months, were held at the First Methodist Church here Friday afternoon with the Reverend C. R. LeMond, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Willow Cemetery under the direction of Holden's Funeral Home.

Pailbearers were Belton Duncan, A. C. Roberts, W. S. Pogue, Jr., John Brock, Wallace Cox, Jr., and W. H. Pittman.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Parish, she was born July 22, 1893, in Huntsville, came to Haskell in 1907, and was a member of the First Methodist Church here.

Miss Parish was an insurance company representative, who was widely known through her frequent contacts with people throughout this area. She had lived in Haskell more than 55 years.

Survivors include three nieces and one nephew.

Rep. Roy Arledge Issues 'Invite' for Doin's in Austin

Next Tuesday when Inauguration Day festivities are over, Governor John Connally and Lieutenant Governor Preston Smith are duty sworn in, and the big parade up Congress Avenue to the Capitol has passed in review, then State Representative Roy Arledge wants the folks from his district who are in Austin to come see him.

State Legislator Arledge evacuated the home health last Saturday. Austin-bound, and his parting request was that "all the folks in my district who can, please come to the Inauguration Day activities for a memorable experience."

Inauguration Day events are open to all Texans, and no invitation or ticket is needed. The new 83rd District representative, whose territory embraces Haskell, Knox, Baylor, Throckmorton, and Jones Counties, will be exercising squatter sovereignty at Desk 122 on the floor of the Texas House of Representatives.

Coinciding with a reception in the Capitol Rotunda for Governor Connally and Lieutenant Governor, an open house will be held at 7 p. m. next Tuesday on the floors of both the House and Senate. Representative Arledge says, "he would feel privileged to see folks from home in Austin for this occasion."

Senator Ratliff Harmon In Legislature

Senator David Ratliff, asked by the Free Press for a brief projection of his coming to the Texas Legislature, opened this week's following statement to this newspaper.

Note: We are the Senator, who in the middle of pack-trail trek to Austin, his comments.)

When we look for harmony during the session of the Legislature, there will be a good reason.

In economy of the 24th session, legislation is based on agriculture, oil and gas. When these prosper, then a state prospers. Legislation during these months before each session, and it is again.

On Staying Care Free

We think our poetic license may have expired, or it might seem so to those subjected to further scanning here, but may we submit a format or formula for:

How to Stay Care Free in 1963. Or perhaps a more apt title for editorializing on the topic hereinafter could be:

What've You Got to Lose by Annihilating the Blues?

The editor and publisher of a great newspaper in this state once told us we could be freed from all daily cares if we just had three aims and objects: (1) Something to live for; (2) Something to work for; (3) Someone to love. We think he had something there, and, as we "shoot a fix" on a star to which to hitch our wobbly wheeled wagons in 1963, it might be good to think on these things.

A college president whose following is great recently said, "Life is not so much a fight to be fought, a game to be played, a race to be run, or a prize to be snared. It is more nearly God's will to be sought, a course to be laid, a work to be done, and a gift to be shared."

This Year of Our Lord 1963 is but nine days young. As we contemplate another circle of the ecliptic in the next 356 days, we know there will be many who face another year with the feeling of the Englishman when he said, "It's not the hard highway that 'urts the 'orses' 'oofs. It's the 'ammer, 'ammer on the 'ard 'ighway that 'urts the 'orses' 'oofs."

Therefore, in order to eliminate that 'ammer, 'ammer on your 'oofs, to free yourself from non-essential care and to chase away the threat of the blues, may we suggest that you pour just enough, not too much, of the following ingredients into your cup of living during the coming year, stir well, and drink heartily:

Enough joy to keep you happy, enough knowledge to make you understanding, enough problems to keep you alert, enough patience to preclude anxiety; enough work to keep you busy, enough rest to keep you healthy, enough suffering to make you sympathetic, enough worry to inspire your best, enough faith to keep you from despair, and enough of the love of Christ in your heart to make you glad to serve your fellow man.

The good life, we think, is inspired by these things.

Oakescripts
A Pencil Pusher's Potpourri

By PORTER

After one whole week in Haskell, we've obtained one observation outstanding in our minds: (And, we'll wager, we'll not waver from this already deeply planted feeling:)

WE'RE RICH! Rich with the association of friendly folks in a town and territory with a heart in the heart of North-west Texas. I feel sure the Haskell Chamber of Commerce long has had an apt "handle" for this ingratiating community such as "Hospitalable Haskell," or the like. We aren't up on that yet. But if the reception accorded the Oakeses is any barometer, "Town With A Heart In The Heart of Northwest Texas" sho' do fit. This IS the GOOD life here, and your friendliness makes it so.

The Duward Campbells, who belong to the Charlie Campbells and Fred Gilliams, you know, are rich, too. Who could be richer—with the arrival of Haskell's firstborn of '63, their Kathy, added to Kay, who was two last Friday, and Kim, who was three on Sunday?

These three little girls, two of them with the distinction of being the Number One arrivals via Stork Air Express in '61 and '63, all came with tags, saying, "Deliver First Week of New Year."

Spot deduction on the coincidental arrival of this trio of deductions three years out of four would add up to the fact that the Duward Campbells believe in "planned economy." They are rich, too, any way you look at it.

My first newspaper job was with the NASHVILLE BANNER in Nashville, Tennessee, 24 years and 40 pounds plus ago. The "flag" of this fine newspaper read: "Tyrannies Governed by Declaration, Democracies By Debate, And A Free Press and A Free People Are Inseparable."

Now, here I am on THE Free Press among THESE free people, and it is my fervent hope, that, filling the shoes I am endeavoring to fill, those of your most able, tremendously beloved Lon Pate, I may continue to foster that freedom and that inseparability.

You know what? You get a bigger bang out of firecrackers here than in say, Abilene, Wichita Falls, or any of them city places. Why, when several of them were set off at midnight last Monday, it sounded like the crescendo of 76 trombones at a finale of "Music Man." I know the answer. No competition.

This newspaper gets around. You should see the number of places to which it goes, far-away as well as near, and in strength, too. I don't reckon it should be such a startling revelation when you "estimate the situation," as they say in the military. Productive effort such as that of Jetty Clare, Lon Pate, Al Hinds, and Company has molded a following, and this compendium has been around awhile. It all adds up to a stimulating challenge for a new feller to do his best.

I surely am glad the Lions were here first in Haskell. They grabbed off all the old men, leaving the "youngsters" with spizznerctum available for Rotary duty. Courtney Hunt and J. W. Crawford, the real youngsters with spirit in the Lions' den, MIGHT qualify as Rotarians. Lions' Prexy Al Hinds tames his charges with aplomb. We learned Tuesday when this Rotarian got a Lion's share of the meal served at the Highway Cafe.

When we mentioned at Rotary last week that we went to school in Tennessee "to get some culture we missed being raised in Texas," Brooks Middleton, who reportedly grew up about 100 yards from where he was sittin', says, "I don't know whether you're hittin' at folks like me, or complimentin' Woody," who was seated across the table. Woody Woodward hails from Huntingdon in West Tennessee, another dimple of the Universe.

Henry Withers, the utilities tycoon, spun this one: An Alaskan was talkin' to a Texan on the airplane. Said the Alaskan "I guess you have a ranch. How big is it?"

"Thirty acres," replied the Texan.

"I thought a n'y Texan's ranch would be bigger than that," declared the Alaskan.

"Where is it?"

"Downtown Dallas," drawled his companion.

Charlie Swinson, the banker, has a card on his desk which says: "I am a great believer in luck. The harder I work the more I have." Thanks to the management of the Free Press, and a double portion of black-eyed peas at the Texas Cafe New Year's dancin'g delivered by the lady who waited on us, I believe I'm well fixed on both counts, work and luck, for the year!

That gal at the Texas Cafe took one look at me, and thought, "He needs more luck and fewer calories." She cut the 'taters and laid on more blackeyed peas.

Did you know that Haskell has something that New York City hasn't? A newspaper.

The impact of Impact continues to be felt. Friend of ours, a newspaper colleague, says that while there now is a sufficiency of firewater nearby now, there also is a superabundance of gasoline over there. Don't have to go as far to get the stuff any more.

With the new 5 and 8 centers gainin' popularity at the Post Office since Monday, we asked Harold Spain if he wanted to advertise the sale of those left-over eye-catching Christmas 4-centers either at discount, or just have a double-stamp day at the Post Office. He said

Paint Creek News

By MRS. GENE OVERTON

Did you ever see such beautiful weather? It seems more like garden planting and spring planting weather than cotton stripping. Most farmers are finishing their cotton this week. They have surely had some beautiful, warm days to finish the stripping. Many have already shredded stalks and plowed their cotton land, so it will be ready for spring work. Some are sowing some more small grains, especially oats. Most afternoons someone will burn a fence row and a barrow ditch and that helps the looks of the farm as well as kills all the little boll weevils that might want to spend the winter in a nice warm barrow ditch.

The Farm magazines and the County Agent's office say if we keep all weeds cut and fence rows and barrow ditches clean we'll have less insects. So let's do.

Mr. H. M. West returned to Abilene Monday to see his eye doctor and was hospitalized in the Cox Memorial Hospital. His son-in-law, Ira Coleman, took him. Mrs. West is staying in Stamford with a daughter, Mrs. Horace Ivy.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Bergstrom had their Christmas dinner on Christmas-eve. Their daughter, Mrs. Allen Morris and Mr. Morris from Seymour could only be here that day. Arvie, their son who is a medical student in the University School of Medicine at Galveston, had a week at home. It was the first time in a year that he had been able to be home for a holiday. He returned to school on New Year's Day.

Mr. Jim Dean is a surgical patient in the Stamford Memorial Hospital. He underwent surgery last Thursday morning. He is getting along fine. Mrs. Dean is also a patient there with a broken leg.

Mid-term exams are over and this is report card week. Can you realize the term is half over? We started so early school will be out before we realize it.

It is school census time again and every family who has a child that has reached the age of 6, please do let us know so we may bring you a census blank and get all the First Graders registered. We can get those who attend school from the school rolls, but we might miss the 6 year olds.

Progressive Study Club Hears Talk By Mrs. Jon Baum

Theme of the January 3rd meeting of the Progressive Study Club was a Key to the New Year. Mrs. W. H. Pitman opened the first meeting of 1963 with a prayer for guidance and understanding.

A portion of the meeting was devoted to the annual business session at which the club constitution was reviewed, and members voted to assist in operation of the cancer workshop room. All committee members were reminded by Mrs. Weaver, president, that their written reports are due by February 1.

Mrs. Jon Baum presented an intriguing program on pictures and attractive and appropriate framing. Quality of pictures in homes points up personality, and quality is much more important than quantity, she reported.

Pictures, Mrs. Baum said, should be suitable to surroundings and also to each other. Selections of the same medium should be grouped together, but silk prints should be displayed alone, she told the club. Color tone in relation to wall color and size and shape of a picture should harmonize with wall space, Mrs. Baum declared.

The principal purpose of frames is to set off pictures, not call attention to the frame itself, and the color of the frame should be about as dark as the middle tone of color in a picture, Mrs. Baum concluded.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Hess Hartsfield, Mrs. Glenn Sammons, and Mrs. Howard Perry.

Nutrition Will Be HD Agent's Topic In Coming Sessions

Yearbooks are out, and another year has started for home demonstration club work in Haskell County.

Barbara McAnelly, county home demonstration agent, will give the extension program, "Your Nutrition Sense" to clubs on Tuesdays and Thursdays beginning next week.

Included in the program will be information on basic nutrition necessary for the homemaker to know in order to insure an adequate diet for her family.

The food you eat means more to you than you realize. The human body depends on food for energy, growth, and repair of worn out tissues. These are the bases for life, thus life cannot be lived to the fullest without adequate and proper food. We can add years to our life and life to our years if we apply knowledge about nutrition to our selection and use of food.

Further explanations on this subject in months to come will include information on how food becomes you through processes known as digestion, absorption, and utilization.

If you are interested in learning more about this, contact your home demonstration agent.

Back When: As I approached one of the doors of the Hotel Adolphus in Dallas, Governor James E. Ferguson stepped to the entrance just ahead of me. As he opened the door to enter, a lady was coming out. The Governor stepped aside, swept off his hat, bowed, and exclaimed: "Ladies first, always."

As the impact controversy in Abilene has finally been settled, there probably won't be as much traffic between Stamford and Abilene as heretofore.

To meet a friend and exchange greetings with him, and then in a matter of hours comes the news of his sudden death gives one pause for thought. One by one friends and acquaintances pass on and leave a certain emptiness in one's surroundings.

RETURN FROM LAND OF ENCHANTMENT

There are many schemes for separating men from their money, but the giant drilling in the oilfields is something new. It is enough to cause the smartest confidence man to sit up and take notice.

Several years ago I was given a pass to the execution of Raymond Hamilton and Joe Palmer at Huntsville. As I had witnessed death in several violent forms, I decided that I would not care to see two men take their last walk through the "little green door."

Mr. and Mrs. Buster Hunt have returned from Albuquerque, N. Mexico where they spend the Christmas holidays with their daughter and her family, the Bob Zellners.

Mr. and Mrs. Zellner, and their two daughters, Lesa and Lesley, will be moving into a well-appointed new home in a few weeks.

Mrs. Zellner is the former Sandra Sue Hunt, of Haskell.

"Thoughts Along the Way"

(By MIKE CAMPBELL)

When I was a teenager, "Kalamity" Bonner published The Harpoon, a magazine, in Austin. The motto of the publication was "Minnows Are Safe, We're After Whales." "Kalamity" had a habit of dipping into the records and coming up with the ammunition to deflate some of the top-ranking politicians.

I have hesitated to go into a dissertation on nuclear fission for fear lest there might be a few readers that don't understand atomic energy—neither do I.

with the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District, it finishing up a system of new level terraces on his farm next Matson.

Herbert Williams, cooperating with the California Creek District, is building new level terraces on the Jesse E. Place Farm where he lives.

J. W. Howeth, operator of the W. F. Lindemann Farm southwest of Haskell, cooperating with the California Creek District, is rebuilding old level terraces to complete a system that was started last spring.

Frank W. Moeller, Irby, who cooperates with the California Creek District, is planning on starting in the near future rebuilding his terraces and to construct a grassed waterway through the farm to carry outside water safely through the farm.

Approximately 94 miles of terraces were constructed during 1962. This amount includes systems that were rebuilt, 15 farm ponds for livestock water were constructed, and three grassed waterways were shaped and prepared for seeding to native vegetation.

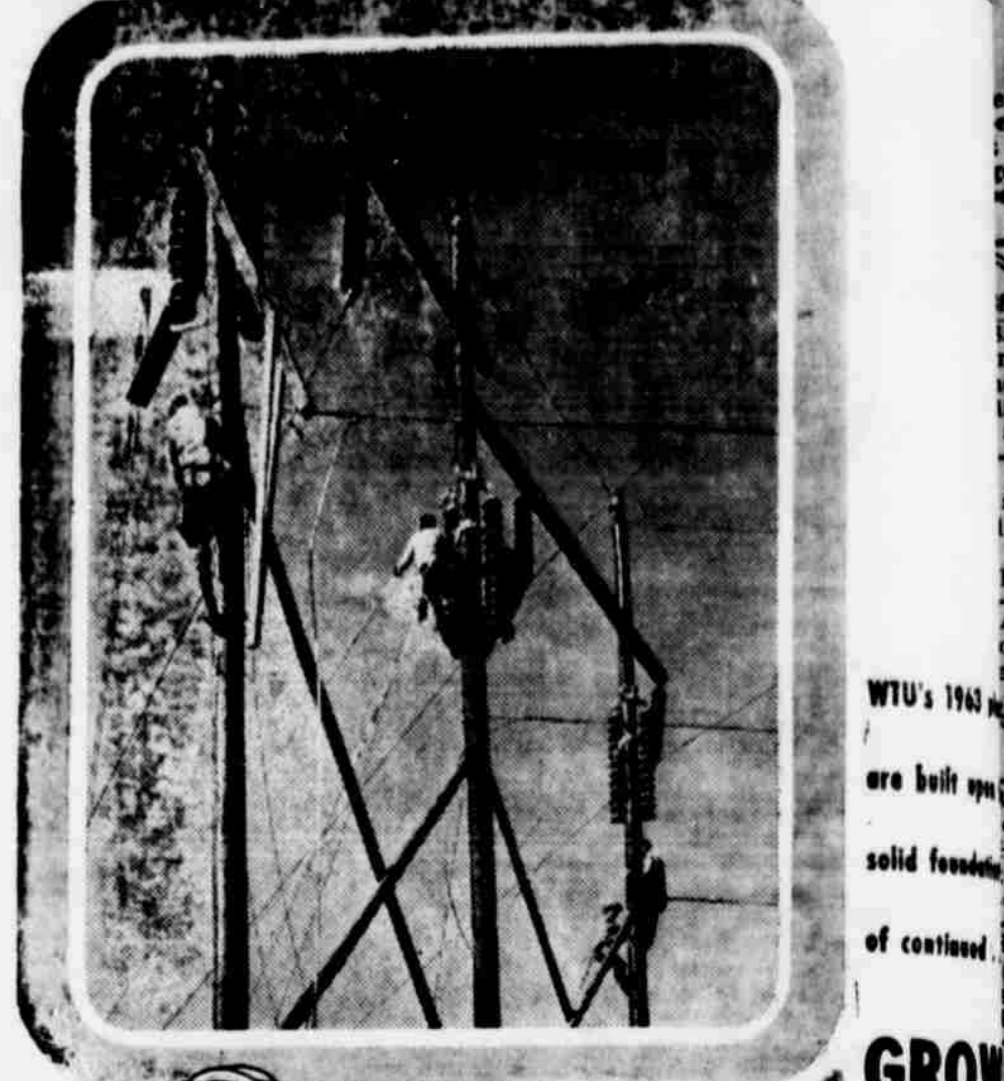

Most of these practices were carried out under the AC Program, but the Great Plains program came in for its share of the work accomplished. The Great Plains Conservation Program assisted with Brush Control, Re-seeding native ranges following brush control, the establishment of Coastal Bermuda-grass on converted cropland, one system of level terraces, and a grassed waterway.

AL HINDS

As the New Year is still "fresh", I think this little poem could help each of us as we walk, or "run" down the pathway of life:

I had a little smile—
I gave my smile away;
The milkman and the postman
Enjoyed it every day.
I took it to the shop,
I had it on the street.
I gave it without thinking
To all I chanced to meet.
I gave my smile away
As thoughtless as could be,
And every time I gave it,
My smile came back to me.

cause of the regular clanging. And then one day it doesn't matter—you hear it, and all at once it brings a lump to your throat, for there is no mad scramble, no hurried good-bye kisses, no slamming doors, just peace and quiet—that peace you used to long for and have found to be an empty thing.

To those parents who do not have children in school, I pass along this poem, which no doubt expresses the feeling of many a mother:

"Have you seen, anywhere,
A tall little lad,
And a winsome wee lass
of four?
It was only today, barefooted and brown.
That they played by my kitchen door.
It was only today (or maybe a year:
It could not be 20, I know.)
They were shouting for me to help in their game.
But I was too busy to go.
Too busy with sweeping and dusting to play,
And now they have silently wandered away.
If by chance you hear of a little slim lad
And a small winsome lass of four,
I pray you tell me. To find them again,
I would journey the wide world o'er.
Somewhere, I am sure, they will be playing a game
And should they be calling for me
To come out and help, tell them, I beg,
I'm coming as fast as can be.
For there's never a house might hold me today.
Could I hear them call me to share in play!"

When Mark Twain, in his early days, was editor of a Missouri paper, a superstitious subscriber wrote him saying that he had found a spider in his paper, and asking him whether that was a sign of good luck or bad. The humorist wrote him this answer and printed it: "Old Subscriber: Finding a spider in your paper was neither good luck nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising, so that he can go to that store, spin a web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

Time marches on for all... but this scribe has pity on the home where the ringing of the school bell has ceased to matter. In a family of growing children it is the stabilizing regulator for the entire household. Meals are on time, clothes are in readiness and a semblance of order is established be-

In all seriousness, I don't believe a better climate can be found—year-in and year-out—than to be found in this section of the country. Had you ever stopped to think of how many days of sunshine we have had the past year? Yes, I realize we have had quite a siege of damp weather during the past fall months, but all-in-all it has not been too bad.

Some folks like timbers thick and tall—but give me the wide open spaces where I can see all. Have you ever paused to watch the sun rise, or the sun set? No hills and not many trees to obstruct God's magnificent handiwork. As the golden ball of fire drops out of sight, streams of light of gold and silver seem to stretch forth their last magnificent beams for one final departing glimpse at mother earth's inviting blanket of fresh tilled soil—then slowly the sun drops out of sight, but the streams of light linger awhile longer, casting forth all of the glory of the departing day.

Have you watched a full moon rise with all its beauty and glory? Have you driven out in the country-side and whiffed the aroma of freshly tilled soil? If you haven't, you have missed the beauty that Haskell County offers you.

Talented Haskell artist 'Doc' Brady asked this scribe the other day if I knew the definition of a Bigamist... to which I replied: "Yes, 'Doc', but go ahead and give me your version." "A Bigamist," 'Doc' said, "is a person who took one too many."

They joined Judge Alvis and Commissioners Louis Kuenstler and John Brock in receiving and approving bonds for the remaining county officials as they participated in the oath-taking. It works like this: Points are given to the young people of the church as they participate in the activities and services of the church. The total number of possible points is 467. Those who reach 85 percent will receive an all-expense paid trip to Glorieta, Baptist Assembly, Glorieta, N. Mex. Those who reach 75 percent will receive special recognition.
