

Archie Wiseman, Brother of Three Here, Succumbs

Henry Archie Wiseman, 60, of Freeport, brother of four area residents, three of them here, died at 5:30 a. m. Tuesday in Freeport Hospital after a six months' illness.

Funeral will be held at 10:00 a. m. Friday at First Presbyterian Church, Haskell. The Rev. Douglas Finch, minister, will officiate. Burial will be in Willow Cemetery under direction of Holden's Funeral Home. The body will arrive in Abilene Thursday at 2:45 a. m., and will be taken to the Holden Funeral Home in Haskell.

Wiseman came to Haskell with his parents in 1907 and lived here until moving to Freeport 19 years ago. He was a farmer in this area and worked for the Dr. Pepper Bottling Company. He was employed by the Dow Chemical Company in the coastal city.

He was born January 2, 1903, in Belton.

The former Haskell resident is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Fred (Judy) Middleton, Houston; a son, Rudy, student at the University of Texas; a son, William, of Clute; and four sisters, Mrs. C. E. Lee, of Lockney; Mrs. W. L. Kirby, of Anson; Mrs. M. A. Briden, of Pampa; and Mrs. H. E. Bland, of Haskell; and four brothers, Roy and Bill Wiseman, of Haskell; Woodrow, of Springfield, Mass.; and Earl, of Hobbs, N. Mexico, and one grandson.

TRIO OF TENACIOUS TIGERS—If Haskell's upsurging Indians can get past these two mountain-tains of muscle up front where they might drink deeply of the cup of victory for the second straight week. Anson's Tigers will be clawing for a climb up Anson Tigers at 7:30 o'clock, the ladder from the bottom of the 6-AA, so watch out, Indians! it counts, and stop the man in cup of victory for the second Three reliable of the Anson eleven are the two big boys up front, Britt Thurman (73) and Dale McNinch (79), both tacklers, and the pigskin lugger is Donnie Lain, a pile-driving 185 pound fullback.

CITIZENS GROUP CONFIDENT OF FINAL VICTORY IN WATER TIFF Girl Scouts Have Inter-Troop Meet This Afternoon

John Kimbrough, leader of a citizens group pushing for construction of the Miller Creek Dam project, still appeared confident after last Wednesday's Supreme Court decision, of eventual victory in the group's long legal battle with the City of Haskell officials.

This was apparent despite a decision by the Texas Supreme Court affirming Haskell's right to spend tax money in legal action against construction of the project.

"We had not anticipated this turn of events," Kimbrough said Wednesday night, "and I don't understand the decision. Therefore, I am anxious to hear from our attorney. (As late as Tuesday, Kimbrough had not received further word "spelling out" the whys and wherefores of the decision from attorneys for the citizens' group.)

"I still maintain it violates the law to spend taxpayers' money in this manner and we'll continue to take what we believe is the right course of action—the cream will come to the top in this battle," he continued.

He said, "Meanwhile, it looks as if proponents of Miller's Creek are paying the lawyer's fees on both sides — we have spent $450 to date — our representation and those who are endeavoring to block an ample water supply for several communities of this area have expended between $6-7,000."

Asked his reaction to the ruling, Haskell Mayor J. E. Walling Jr., said, "I feel the same way I did when the matter went to the Supreme Court — that I was happy it was going to be taken to the highest court for a decision. Naturally, I'm happy about it now."

Should The U. S. Guarantee A College Education

"Should the United States Guarantee A College Education to Top Students?" was the timely question debated at the Tuesday noon-day luncheon meeting of Haskell Lions.

John Crawford was in charge of the program and introduced speakers, Frank Cadenhead, M. D., Raja Hassen, Douglas Finch and Harold Spain.

Douglas Finch and Frank Cadenhead discussed the "pro" and Harold Spain and Raja Hassen the "con."

Spain and Hassen pointed out that students with a desire to seek higher education, and the grants, loans available, it would only be another case of encroachment of the Federal government if it supported top students financially with their higher education.

Finch and Cadenhead pointed out the high cost of higher education, and the strain on the students and parents, to meet those obligations.

President Wallace Cox, Jr., read a letter from the Knox City Lions Club inviting Haskell Lions to attend their 26th Anniversary banquet the night of Thursday, Nov. 14. Several from the local club plan to attend the Knox City event.

Guests noted and introduced at Tuesday's meeting were Paul Pendleton, zone chairman, Monday; Bob Lowrance, local C of C Manager, and Betty Bruton, Wanda Nixon, Barry O'Neal, Eddie Smart and W. E. McCallum.

MISS FRONT PAGE—Jo Helen Elliott, Haskell High School senior, has been named "Miss Front Page" of HHS after she led her class to victory in a subscription sales competition among classes for the War Whoop, student newspaper. The subscription drive was initiated by the War Whoop staff, directed by Buford Abeldt, editor. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Elliott, Jo Helen is a National Honor Society and Owl Club member, a majorette with the Indian Band, and president of the Nine Teens, well-known choral group. She also is active in the youth work of the First Methodist Church.

Sheriff's Posse To Ride In Big Premiere Parade

Haskell's famed Sheriff's Posse, scarlet-shirted, palomino mounted riding club here which had the finest year in its trophy-taking history in rodeo parades and grand entries this past season, is one of five riding organizations picked to appear in the parade heralding the movie premiere of "Take Her, She's Mine" next Tuesday night at 7:30 p. m., in downtown Abilene.

The self-styled "Saddle Tramps" will have 20 or more horses and riders in the premiere parade in which movie stars James Stewart and Sandra Dee will also ride preceding their personal appearances at the movie premiere at the Paramount Theatre in Abilene, according to Jetty V. Clare, president of the organization here.

Clare said that riding club personnel here is putting in a lot of extra man-and-horse hours this week dedicated to grooming and gear-polishing in preparation for the command performance in the Key City.

Final plans for the pilgrimage of the Sheriff's Posse to Abilene will be made at a chuck wagon dinner to be staged by the riding club here on Monday night.

Haskell Merchants Attending Market

Mrs. Veta Furch and Mrs. Opal Atkins of the Personality Shoppe; Mrs. Harlin Coffield, of Coffield's Dept. Store; Mrs. R. A. Lane and Mrs. Viars Felker, of Lane-Felker; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wheatley of the C&B Store; Mrs. Elma Guest, of Elma Guest Ready-to-Wear and Mrs. S. Hassen of Hassen's are in Dallas this week attending the Early Spring Market.

Dads to Share Spotlight With Gridiron Sons

Fathers of Haskell High School Indian football squad members will be honored here Friday night at 7:30 o'clock when "Dad's Night" will be observed at Indian Stadium here.

When the Anson Tigers tangle with the Indians here, Dads of the Indian players will be on the sidelines flanking the bench on the Haskell side with their sons and will be identified by wearing their offspring's jersey numbers. Recognition will be accorded these parents in various ways at the 6-AA district ball game.

The Dads are asked to be at the Indian locker room by 7:15 p. m.

Haskell School Superintendent H. T. Wilkinson announced Tuesday, coincident with the Dads' Day plans, that tickets to Haskell's next game away, with Hamlin next Friday night, Nov. 8, will go on sale in his office at 8 a. m. Friday.

Haskell's plucky, never-say-die Indians surged from behind on a 60-yard touchdown march with Fullback Gary Conner bulging over on fourth down from 48 inches out to earn our gritty battlers a stunning 14-12 upset win over previously unbeaten Ballinger's Bearcats in Indian Stadium last Friday night. Thirty-three seconds remained in the balgame when Haskell forged ahead.

The Indians, smarting from a 21-8 defeat in their opener last week with Winters, went on the most vicious kind of warpath to batter down the six-foot straight-win Bearcats from their wanted place at the top of the 6-AA heap.

Gary Conner squirmed through a hole in a hard-nosed Ballinger defense which had held for three downs inside the three-yard line here last Friday night and gave the Haskell Indians an important 14-12 victory.

The winning touchdown came with 33 seconds remaining to play after Ballinger had scored twice in the final period to go ahead, 12-8 in the 6-AA contest.

The game left both Ballinger and Haskell "alive" in the district race with identical 1-1 records.

"DOLL" DOUBLE-TAKE—As photogenic a pair as ever faced a camera, and just as engaging in person are Pat and Pam Millman, four-year-old, blue-eyed, natural blonde twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Millman of Haskell, who share a page in the November McCall's Magazine with a select group of other interesting children from over the nation. A story in a recent issue of McCall's by Maybelle Hall, "Children For Rent—By the Hour," detailing the modeling talents of children, prompted other parents to deluge the national magazine with stories of the talents of children yet undiscovered over the county. The Millman twins here, described by their mother as possessing a "warmth and sense of communication with other people... a gift which cannot be acquired," were picked for inclusion in the current McCall's from among the avalanche of pictures to which the magazine's attention was called. It's not hard to see why.

Each of the 30 Bibles given to the hospital by the Haskell Ministerial Alliance was personally placed in a room during a visitation by a ministerial group, and each of the Bibles is inscribed in gold leaf denoting the source of the gift in craftsmanship performed by Jack Pippin. The gift to the hospital is another in a continuing series of thoughtful community services initiated by the ministerial alliance here.

County Teachers To Hear Eminent Platform Speaker

C. L. Kay, vice president for public relations of Lubbock Christian College, will be the guest speaker at the Haskell County Teachers' Association November meeting next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in Carney School at O'Brien.

Lavon Beakley, of Rule, the association president, will have charge of the dinner meeting and business session.

Mr. Kay, a graduate of Eastern New Mexico University in Portales, where he received his BA and MA degrees, taught at West Texas State College, at Canyon, before going to his present position in Lubbock.

For two years, the visiting speaker was author of a weekly column entitled, "The Spirit of America." Mr. Kay was awarded the "George Washington Medal of Honor" by the Freedom Foundation at Valley Forge for his speech entitled, "The Battle Ahead."

During the past year, the Lubbock Christian College executive has spoken to more than 350 civic organizations.

Given Right Use Tax Money

Court said there is no evidence in the record as to this permit, or as to the water-supply contract between the city and the authority, so there is no factual support for the Kimbrough argument that there is no way in which the Miller's Creek project could affect the city's water system.

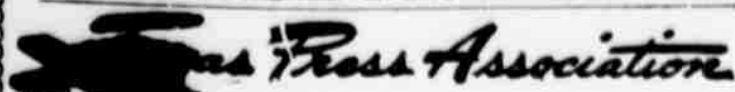

Also, the court said it cannot consider error in the 11th court's refusal to remand the case for a trial to develop the facts, because that point was not raised in the motion for rehearing in the 11th court.

Thus, Mayor J. E. Walling, Jr., of Haskell, won another round and trial can proceed Dec. 3 in Travis County on the Haskell suit against the water commission and the authority.

The trial on the city's contest of the Texas Water Commission's right to issue a permit to build Miller's Creek dam already was set for December 3, however and whether the Supreme Court handed down its decision prior to, or after that time, has no bearing on that lawsuit.

It's Like Being for Sin And Against Motherhood

Last Wednesday's Supreme Court decision granting the City of Haskell the right to expend tax money to block the building of Miller's Creek Dam doesn't alter the deplorable water situation here one iota. It just means the proponents of Miller's Creek dam are paying lawyers' stipends on both sides. And every time the high-powered attorneys of the City of Haskell are paid a dollar, a portion of that fee comes out of the pockets of every taxpayer here.

The desperate need for an adequate, ample, palatable water supply still exists. In fact, the recent development that folks from four other communities in this area have inquired of the Texas Water Commission about the potential use of water impounded on Miller's Creek is tangible evidence of the fact that water needs are more acute.

To be against moving heaven and earth to obtain as much water as possible ANYWHERE in West Texas, especially in a situation affecting your very own, as is the City of Haskell, is like being for sin and against motherhood.

Can it truly be that everybody else is out of step but the City of Haskell? It would seem so, wouldn't it, now that folks from Stamford, Seymour, Rochester and Knox City have joined a determined group from here, Munday, Rule and Goree, in declaring a desire to build a dam on Miller's Creek to get priceless and precious water.

We have heard the opponents of Miller's Creek dam, especially in the last week say, "They'll never build that dam." To borrow an expression from one of the leading opponents of palatable water for a large chunk of Northwest-North Central Texas, "We don't see it that way." Not at all.

Some folks, die-hards like ours, down Stamford way, said about 12 years ago, too. "They'll never build Lake Stamford." They said it just as vehemently. They fought it just as ruthlessly. They lost.

Lake Stamford has been built 10 years. The town has been picking up its community feet ever since. It is getting industry. It is outdistancing Haskell. It's obvious. It is foresight, planning, conscience, togetherness.

Stamford folks have been meeting their payments in the financing of Lake Stamford for 10 years, and they're ahead on the money side, with a lake to boot, and already a third of the way toward retiring the entire project on the right side of the ledger.

To our attention recently has been brought the indisputable instance in which a businessman in this town has several thousand dollars to spend with which to improve his physical plant, but is holding the money back pending the outcome of the water hassle here. We know of two industrial prospects who are convinced of the caliber of people who live here and would like to locate here. But the absence of a "shingle" on the approaches to Haskell, "Public Water Supply Approved," precludes their even entertaining a consideration of our town for establishing here.

We are sure that now they have unlimited funds with which to pay fancy legal fees, the Mayor and City Council of Haskell will try to work some other manipulation and shenanigan to stop the Miller's Creek dam project if they lose their last court case now in the way of starting construction. That is the one in Travis County District Court set for December 3 in which the Mayor and Council challenge the right of the Texas Water Commission to issue a permit to build the dam.

If they do hurt another legal monkey wrench into the machinery of development for this area and the provision of water, a commodity so desperately desired and needed for community survival and growth, they will be rendering a disservice to their fellow citizens.

We often wonder just what it would take to make the Mayor and City Council admit the water need. Probably a drought with consequences as realistic as Pearl Harbor.

Meanwhile, we put up with a water supply so hard it would crack and corrode the teeth of a brass bull.

Oakescripts A Pencil Pusher's Potpourri

By PORTER

Seldom will there ever be witnessed a more tangible demonstration of mind over matter, particularly of an entire group of persons with singleness of purpose putting their minds to achieving an aim, then doing it, than what the home-folks saw in Indian Stadium last Friday night.

Not too much can ever be said, either, in unreserved praise for the grittiness of a gang of guys with guts, the 1963 Haskell Indians, for one of the most moving and magnificent displays of dedicated effort any football team ever put together in earning a victory with the chips down and its back to the wall.

We can't sit idly by and fail to record at least three behind-the-scenes heartstring tuggers that attended this memorable win over Ballinger. One was the avalanche of postcards, many with truly great literary efforts on them, which deluged every Haskell Indian from an idolizing fandom to let our boys know in what regard they are held.

The Indians' victory over an undefeated Ballinger was the combination of many things, but those cards furnished that extra something which defies description—a will to win.

The effect of the postcard parade probably is best explained by the reaction of a senior second-stringer close to our hearts who told his parents, "I may not get in the ball game, but this sure makes me want to stand taller on the sidelines."

We were not present when the Ballinger coach visited Ray Overton's charges in the locker room after the game. But even a second-hand report from one who was there still makes the tingle beat a tattoo on our spine. No finer tribute could have been paid any football coach than when their opponents' coach complimented their cleanly played game and told them they deserved to win. That's what happened in the Indian dressing room last Friday night.

The Pencil Pusher made a slight error in assumption last week. It was our guess that Haskell Stone was named after this town. We have been informed by Haskell Stone that the town was named after HIM!

This would come only out of conversation on a conversation between two polished dandies and dapper demurened disciples like Ellis Todd and Doug Finch sitting together at Rotary last Thursday, they advanced theories on why the Lord put coverlets on the heads of some men and left some out for discerning viewing by the world. When this pair is at peak performance, with the parlez palaver, Yul Brynner, the swooner, wouldn't have a chance.

We've got it on good authority that more than one game warden in Texas of recent vintage has been embarrassed by the circumstance of being flat dab out distanced by game and fish law violators. The 1957 model six-cylinder Fords most of them have, are and have been, latched with just won't "cut the mustard" in a set-to with a speeding flagrant violator. This is not as it should be.

gram had a Page One story about both male and female students at Texas Tech, because of a critical housing shortage, sharing one dormitory, "to a degree." It read like something out of George Dolan of the same fine newspaper, though the story was playing it straight. "To a degree" is what all those matriculators are there for in the first place. And sharing a college dorm by gals and guys "to a degree" sounds like a heckuva lot of fun. The story probably will create more housing problems... with more matriculators, with a come-on like that!

We have definitely arrived at the age of disorientation. A recent barber-chair conversation waited around to the subject of sleep, a little or a lot, needed by people hereabouts. David Josselot, quite a conversationalist in his own right, barber or no, commented to the Pencil Pusher concerning his early rising habits, "I just don't see how you do it." Whereupon we perked up in the chair, beamed, and swung our shaming countenance from side to side, taking notice of whom might be listening from one end of the shop to the other.

Then, David added, "But you don't need as much sleep when you GET OLDER, do you?" Whereupon, we slumped down into the chair and slunk out after paying tribute to the caretaker of the cash register at the Scissors Snipping Society. Don't need as much sleep when you get OLDER... Hmmpff.

In our 10 months here, not once until last week did we ever see the man that runs this place loitering on the street. On this one occasion, he stopped a good 15 minutes to talk with Mrs. T. W. Williams. No one among this inquisitive citizenship even paused to ponder what they were talking about, because they knew it was about the one subject paramount in the minds of both... an only grandchild. If you can read yet, Holly, and we bet you can. "Hello, Gorgeous!"

At the Rhea Howards' glorious golden wedding party last week, at which yours truly kissed and got kissed by more folks than in all the rest of his life put together, Columnist Glenn Shelton was bemoaning what can happen to a good column in the hands of a proof reader. Seems he was quoting that oldie about music and a woman "hath charms" and the word "breast" came out "beast."

Don't you know the lanyard pullers on Munday's cannon had a boom-in' big time when the Moguls beat Holliday 79 to 12 recently? Must have sounded like life at the 38th parallel. Wonder if the ammunition and fireworks held out with all those touchdowns.

We curbed a desperate desire to go beyond the bounds of propriety in writing a headline last week about C. G. Hamner being re-elected president of the Farm Bureau, but we'll tell it now. We started out the first deck of a headline with "Hammer Heads" then thought better of it. That's Mary's!

Haskell County History

30 YEARS AGO
(November 2, 1903)

J. Horace Bass, former superintendent of Haskell Public Schools, has been elected superintendent of the Munday schools for the present term. A meeting of Haskell farmers has been called for Nov. 8 in Haskell, at which time the proposition of organizing a Production Credit Association will be studied.

A petition signed by 158 qualified voters was presented to the Commissioners Court Monday asking that a special election be held in the city limits of Haskell on November 10 for the purpose of determining whether beer can be sold in Haskell. Permission was granted with three commissioners voting for, and one against holding the election.

Hannah and Hall of Waco were low riders on the grade and drainage structures on Highway 120 between Haskell and Rule, when the bids were opened by the Highway Department in Austin Monday morning. The bid was $26,274 and covers practically ten miles of roadbed. Work is expected to begin in 30 or 60 days.

The following story concerning Bill Kimbrough's performance on the A&M football team appeared in the newspaper published by the University of Texas. It was mailed to The Free Press by Floyd Taylor, a Haskell boy who is attending U. of T. "One of the reasons why 'Frenchy' Domingue, Aggie backfield ace as leading in scoring is that he has one of the best blockers in the conference with him in the backfield—Bill Kimbrough. A former triple threat high school player at Haskell Kimbrough has been used so far this year by Matty Bell, Aggie coach, to run interference for Domingue and Fowler. A big factor in the Aggie win over Tulane was the interception of several Tulane sorts like shortening a headline about "Rainbow Sewing circle" to "Rainbow Sewers." Has a stench to it. Think about this for a moment. You have a plain bar of iron worth about $5.00 to start with. Made into horse shoes, it is worth $10.50. Made into screw drivers or kitchen cutlery, it may be worth $250. Made into needles, it is worth $3,500. Made into balance springs for watches, it is worth $250,000.

The same thing is true of another kind of material YOU. Your value is determined by what you make of yourself. We hope any high school or college student considering being a "dropout" will think first about this.

60 YEARS AGO

W. H. Gentry, of Abilene, arrived here Monday and took the position of engineer for Earnest and Sanders Gin Company, in place of Lon Linsev, who has resigned. Martin and Wilson, attorneys and abstractors, have just received a new 15-inch typewriter, suitable for abstract and tabular work. J. M. Morgan, of Harmsville, Mexico, is here this week visiting old friends and looking after business interests.

A. P. McEmore left Monday for Abilene, where he takes a responsible position with Bass Brothers Company, one of that city's leading drug firms.

A pretty good acreage of wheat is being put in by our farmers, and the good rain on Wednesday night will help it along nicely.

On Sunday morning a livery team from Mr. Odell's stable made things lively for a few minutes by a dash through town with an empty buggy. They broke loose at Mrs. English's residence on the west side and made their run from there to the stable. They grazed a telephone pole in front of Williams' and Whitaker's Store and ran into and upset a hack in front of the Odell stable where they came to a stop. The hack was considerably damaged, and the horses were somewhat bruised.

Public Weigher W. T. Jones had weighed 1919 bales of cotton up to Friday noon. Yesterday's run was 120 bales. B. E. Karr of the Marcy neighborhood called in yesterday and put his time ahead for the Free Press and the Dallas News. Mr. Karr said he slipped a cog and didn't get much work done last week, but

WCS Program Is Based On Mission Of Membership

Mrs. Guy Kennedy was program director for the general meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service Monday morning at the Methodist Church.

In the discussion which followed the women were made to think seriously of the mission that is ours, as church members and as members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service. We claim to be a Christian nation, but people of other faiths are asking, then why is there so much crime, hatred and intolerance of other races in our country?

What is our mission and how sure are we of our motives? If Jesus Christ is supreme in our lives and if we can say with Peter, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God," and if we take seriously the command given in Matt. 28:16-20, "Go make disciples of all nations," these things give us our mission and describe our motives.

Those taking part in the discussion were Mmes. Paul Josset, Wallace Cox, Jr., C. J. Robinson, E. E. Bantyn, Ellis Todd and Wallace Cox, Sr.

Twenty-two women were in attendance.

Wooten Whiles Away Waddin' Winnin' Wampum

Pigeon poppers from Verman, Olney, and Haskell, were glory grabbers at the most recent registered trapshooting event held the first of this week at the Haskell Gun Club's layout west of the country club here.

Wallace Wooten, indefatigable bead-drawer and president of the gun club in Haskell, was high overall winner for the lay, but was pressed by Cuba Duvivant, of Olney, who won the handicap event with a 49 out of 50 bird score, and Foy Gatewood, of Vernon, who broke a doubles record.

The Vernon bird-buster cracked 49 out of 50 clay pigeons to shatter the previous 47-50 doubles mark in Haskell.

Duvivant, Curtis Gollahan, of Brownwood and Wooten slung guns for what seemed an interminably long time in the handicap event after the trio had tied, 49 for 50, in the handicap competition. Duvivant, of Olney, finally outlasted the other two, but it took 125 birds flipped from the traps to declare a winner.

Wooten was the winner in singles from the 16-yard line without a shoot-off.

A total of 2260 birds were sent sailing from the traps here during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Mullins of Haskell, their sons, J. W., Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Royce Mullins and Dana Lubbeck, returned home Friday from Ignacio, Colorado, where they spent several days visiting in the home of their daughter and sister. Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Brown and family. The men hunted deer while there and the four men killed eight deer. They reported a festive time in country abounding with deer, also hunters.

W. T. Priddys, Dedicated Couple Here 38 Years, Are Honored Upon Departure

Reverend and Mrs. W. T. Priddy, dedicated Baptist pastoral couple here for 38 years, were guests of honor recently at a farewell dinner and opening of the congregation built at a farewell dinner and opening at the home of Mrs. T. A. Tate, longtime member of the East Side Baptist Church and the Hannah Sunday School Class of the church which the Priddys helped to found and develop in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Foe and Betty Foe shared with Mrs. Tate the host and hostess honors at the nostalgic event for the retired Baptist minister and his wife who have moved to Anson. The Priddys have purchased a home there to be near close relatives in their retirement.

Mrs. Willie Anderson, charter member of the East Side Baptist Church, recalled Wednesday the five edifices which Rev. Priddy had filled with area citizens who followed in his stimulating path to Christianity.

Under Rev. Priddy's leadership, what is now the East Side Baptist Church had its beginnings as a community church in the Weaver Community southeast of Haskell. Then the congregation successively and successfully has utilized increasingly larger houses of worship, starting in the old East Ward School in Haskell, then a lumber company warehouse building converted into a church, next a small building which the congregation built which now is utilized by the Latin-American Baptist Mission here, and finally the present stately structure, the East Side Baptist Church, hub of daily Christian activity on Haskell's east side.

Even in his retirement, the past year or so, Rev. Priddy's magnetic personality and interested attention to the work of the church and the Hannah Sunday School Class have drawn people to him.

Longtime members of Rev. Priddy's church were unable to estimate how many people for whom he has been personally responsible in bringing to Christ in his long and fruitful tenure here, but it has been "literally hundreds," one said Wednesday.

At the farewell dinner given by Mrs. Tate were Rev. and Mrs. L. D. Regeon, who are devotedly carrying on the Christian legacy the Priddy's left in the East Side Church, and Miss Mildred Maraker.

A partial list of those citizens who attended the open house and gift shower honoring the departed couple included: Messrs. and Mrs. Thurman Rhonda, Fred Howard, Raymond Miller, Tom Clark, Henderson and daughter, Jack Darden, Roy Rogers, Bobby Howard, Chester Hodges, Kirby Kirkpatrick, Mmes. T. E. Mercer, C. A. Thomas, W. W. Quatebraum, J. A. Yancey, Alice Beasley, John McGuire, Floyd Rogers, E. D. Krieger, C. C. Rose, and Angie Lee.

Methodists Make Trek to Orphan's Home At Waco

When 34 members of the First Methodist Church of Haskell made a chartered bus trip to visit the Methodist Orphans' Home in Waco Sunday, one of the most enthusiastic passengers was a resident here, Mrs. W. E. Brady, who spent several years herself under the protective care of the famed orphanage there 60 years ago.

Always a strong supporter of the stimulating program at the Waco home, Mrs. Brady was the 151st child taken in there in the infancy of this great institution of humanitarian service.

When word got around that one of their very own was on the campus last Sunday, Mrs. Brady was accorded "Queen For A Day" treatment wherever she went, according to her fellow passengers from Haskell.

The 73-year-old Methodist Orphans' Home now has 27 buildings caring for 460 children. It is supported by contributions through the Texas Methodist Conference and other donors.

The Haskell contingent left here at 5 a. m. Sunday, was in Waco in time for morning worship at the chapel on the campus, ate lunch at the Orphans' Home, toured the buildings and grounds, and returned here at 9 p. m.

All 34 people from here making the trip were of one mind that the Waco home "is doing a wonderful work for the children."

Rev. Ellis A. Todd, pastor of the church here, announced that the 11 o'clock service here on Sunday, Nov. 3, will be broadcast by the Stamford radio station.

MISS MAY FIELDS, AT 90, REVEALS 70-YEAR - OLD SECRET; SHE DIDN'T THINK SHE WAS "CUT OUT" TO BE A TEACHER

Miss May Fields, nonagenarian, nimble of mind and body as she passed her ninetieth milestone on life's highway just the other day, and a living tribute to the teaching profession, has revealed all after 70 years.

Filling in a data sheet on the history and activities of two of the 50 county schools that dotted Haskell County at one time or the other at the instance of the Haskell County Historical Survey Committee, which is compiling a comprehensive county history, Miss May wrote this week of her first teaching experience:

"I know now that I could have made us all happier if I had tried harder, but I was inexperienced... and had a 'sweetheart' in town."

This was a current reflection on her first year of teaching, 1893-94, 70 years ago, at Fairview, more often called Tanner School, at the extreme west end of Haskell County near the Brazos River on the old Rayner Road.

Even though she considered her beginning of a sterling teaching career inauspicious, Miss May went on to actively teach more than a half century during a continuing period that bridged four generations of many families.

Early this month, Miss May was one of the featured speakers, reporting for her class, the Class of 1893, in Haskell High School, at this community's Biennial Homecoming. When she finished, Homecoming President Clay Smith asked those present whom Miss May had taught to stand up. More than 50 ex-students of Haskell High School, part of the crowd that converged on Haskell from three continents and 12 of the United States, rose to their feet. At least 45 years separated the age of the oldest from the youngest.

Another classic comment set down by Miss May in her history gathering assistance requested by R. C. Couch, chairman of the archives committee of the historical survey, was that, "It was such a lonesome time, I decided I wasn't cut out for a teacher."

Anyone entering the sanctuary of the Christian Church here on Sunday morning, now 70 years later, would be hard put to believe what Miss Fields said. Because she is still teaching! Last June, when Mrs. Courtney Hunt, teacher of the "May Fields Class" at the Haskell Christian Church, and a life-long friend became ill, Miss May substituted as teacher of the class named in her own honor. Mrs. Hunt's illness has been prolonged, and Miss May, at 90, hasn't missed a Sunday filling in for her since June.

The dedication of this remarkable spry nonagenarian to her career as a school teacher in the Haskell area is outdistanced only by a similar, and longer, devotion to her church. She became a member of the Haskell Christian Church in 1890, 63 years ago, only two years after its founding in 1888, and has been there, with amazingly few exceptions practically every time the doors opened throughout all the years.

Talk of school days telegraphs to Miss May's active mind a myriad of memories, which should be recorded for posterity.

One standout is connected with a teaching position she had at "Four Corners" near Old Marcy, now Rochester, in 1908. She recalled "only one problem of discipline while there." And a recent visit of one of her pupils while there, now living at Quemada, Texas, recalled it.

Miss May said the boys in one of the classes had been acting "rambunctious." She sent them all out for switches, and when they returned with such "lethal weapons," she laid them on the desk. Notice enough had been served. Order was restored. She didn't use the switches.

"That former pupil and not long ago he'd always honored me for the way I lived this crisis," Miss May glowed.

GARRETT'S TIP TRAPS FUGITIVE AFTER RUNNING GUN BATTLE

John Maynard Adams, 25, of Bemen, Georgia, was securely behind bars in the Haskell County jail Monday and held without bond on two burglary counts after leading officers in three counties on a high-speed, bullet-ridden chase through West Texas over the weekend.

The hoodlum was arrested as he stepped out of a Lamesa Theatre Saturday night and was returned to Big Spring where the 4 1/2 hour hunt originated as the result of a tip furnished by Haskell County Sheriff Garth Garrett following the burglary of a car and a house belonging to two north Haskell County residents while they were attending a funeral last Friday afternoon. Adams told Sheriff Garrett Monday he left Georgia October 1 and was "running" ever since. Investigations into his activities in other states have been launched here by the Haskell Sheriff.

A car described by the Haskell County Sheriff was spotted by Big Spring police in the southwest part of the Howard County city about 3:40 p. m. Information given the Big Spring authorities about the automobile being stolen in Georgia and bearing Oklahoma license plates led Patrolmen Joe Henry and Bobby Armstrong to investigate.

When he saw the policemen approach him, the driver sped off, attempting to run over one of the officers, they reported. Both lawmen fired shots into the fleeing car, but were unable to stop it. Motorcycle Officer Bob Broughton's two-wheeler overturned in chasing the car, but he was not injured.

The man ran a roadblock on U. S. Highway 80 west at Stanton and Martin County Deputy Clarence Airhart fired two more shots at the speeding car.

Finally, the fleeing burglar ditched the stolen automobile at Knott in Northwest Howard County and persuaded a farmer to drive him to Lamesa. There he bought a bus ticket to El

Aubrey Simpkins' Given Farewell Party At Rule

Aubrey Simpkins, water superintendent, water commissioner and fire chief in Rule for a number of years, and Mrs. Simpkins, who are leaving the west Haskell County community, were honored recently with a townwide farewell party in the banquet room of the First Baptist Church there.

The Simpkins family is moving to Sweetwater, where he has accepted a position as water department superintendent in that city. While in Rule, even though serving a relatively small town, Simpkins gained wide recognition for his efficient administration of water acquisition and distribution, conservation and deployment.

A large number of gifts were given to the departing family. Mrs. Simpkins served as church secretary for a number of years and Mr. Simpkins was a deacon in the church.

Methodists Make Trek to Orphan's Home At Waco

When 34 members of the First Methodist Church of Haskell made a chartered bus trip to visit the Methodist Orphans' Home in Waco Sunday, one of the most enthusiastic passengers was a resident here, Mrs. W. E. Brady, who spent several years herself under the protective care of the famed orphanage there 60 years ago.

Always a strong supporter of the stimulating program at the Waco home, Mrs. Brady was the 151st child taken in there in the infancy of this great institution of humanitarian service.

When word got around that one of their very own was on the campus last Sunday, Mrs. Brady was accorded "Queen For A Day" treatment wherever she went, according to her fellow passengers from Haskell.

The 73-year-old Methodist Orphans' Home now has 27 buildings caring for 460 children. It is supported by contributions through the Texas Methodist Conference and other donors.

The Haskell contingent left here at 5 a. m. Sunday, was in Waco in time for morning worship at the chapel on the campus, ate lunch at the Orphans' Home, toured the buildings and grounds, and returned here at 9 p. m.

All 34 people from here making the trip were of one mind that the Waco home "is doing a wonderful work for the children."

Rev. Ellis A. Todd, pastor of the church here, announced that the 11 o'clock service here on Sunday, Nov. 3, will be broadcast by the Stamford radio station.

We, in this community, are very proud of our new Post Office Building, which was moved into last week by Postmistress, Mrs. John L. Brooks. The new building will be air-conditioned and it will be much warmer in the winter than the old building. All the fixtures are either new or re-finished. Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Ulmer and their daughter, Jana, who was visiting here this weekend from Lubbock, took their grandson, Brad, back as far as Brady to meet his parents, who came up from San Antonio on Saturday.

The Good Earth

(Editor's Note: At the instance of, and in cooperation with the Haskell Garden Club, the writer, Mrs. B. F. Cobb, begins herewith a "standing" column in the Haskell Free Press. Suggestions and contributions will be most welcome for this column, which we hope will be a most readable and serviceable feature in this newspaper.)

By MRS. B. F. COBB

Feel the good earth. Sit it through your hand. Help to keep it good. By Building up the land.

After a long, hot fall, spirits begin to lag and the rocking chair to beckon. The time of rest is not just yet. There are many things to do in the garden, before putting it to bed for the winter.

If because of a dry, hot fall, you haven't planted such bulbs as tulips, crocus, hyacinth and daffodil, there is still time to do so before freezing weather. Plant the bulbs deep enough to protect them from a hard deep freeze. Iris can still be dug, the rhizomes treated with sulphur, and re-set. Three plants to a clump, will give a nice show of flowers next spring.

Dahlias will soon be killed by frost. After the plant dies down, dig the tubers; divide them and treat them with dusting sulphur. The tubers can then be stored in a dry, cool place in peat moss, sand, or dry grass clippings, until spring. In dividing dahlias be sure to leave a little of the stem on each tuber. Next year's plant comes from the piece of stalk and feeds from the tuber.

Should you not desire to dig your dahlias, bend the stalk over and cover it with dirt. The plant is hollow and water will penetrate the stems, spoiling the tubers.

Now is a good time to root cuttings or roses, althea, weeping willow and many other plants that can be propagated from a slip taken from the mother plant. Use a good rooting medium to hurry the forming of tiny roots.

Larkspur, blue bonnets and many perennials, can still be planted before severe cold weather. Visit the nurseries and seed houses and plan a beautiful garden for next year.

Don't forget to take time out to walk in your garden, for winter will soon close in, and the months will be long before there is color in the garden once more.

Three From Rule Hurt In 2-Car Mishap On SH 24

Mrs. Stark, most seriously injured, received a fractured collar bone and a lacerated forehead. Her condition was reported as fair.

Less seriously injured were her husband, with facial lacerations and Mrs. Tibbet, who was bruised and shaken up. Both were kept in the hospital for observation.

Historical Group Here Invited To Ft. Worth Meeting

A delegation from Haskell County, one of the counties richest in heritage in the state with its beginnings dating back to 1858, plans to take part in a regional meeting of the Historical Survey Committees of 19 North Central Texas counties to be held in Fort Worth on Sunday, Nov. 3. The meeting, called by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, begins at the Texas Hotel at 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. Tom Barfield, chairman of the Haskell County Historical Survey Committee, reports that members of the historical preservation group here are "talking up" the Fort Worth session to secure as large a turnout as possible from this area.

The Historical Survey Committee in Haskell County has been working with dedication since early this year in bringing up to date the recorded history of this county which will be published. R. C. Couch is chairman of the history and archives committee. Jim Norman, of Rule, is in charge of the location of the graves of Civil War veterans for historical marking. More than 80 of these graves have been pinpointed for erection of markers in this county.

Mrs. Barfield, commenting on the forthcoming Fort Worth meeting, said Saturday, "It is extremely important that every member of our county committee attend this regional meeting. This is our opportunity to strengthen our historical data gathering program, exchange ideas, get the latest information on the state program and get our questions answered."

A three-minute report of progress made on historical surveying in Haskell County will be presented at Fort Worth.

Important new historical preservation laws enacted in Texas at the last session of the Legislature will be explained at the meeting and W. R. Beaumier, of Lufkin, member of the state historical survey committee, will address the Fort Worth gathering on "The Program of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee and Progress of Its Achievement."

In order to pool transportation, area members of the Haskell County Committee interested in going to Fort Worth on Nov. 3 are asked to contact Mrs. Barfield at the West Texas Utilities office here or Porter Oakes at the Haskell Free Press.

New Facilities Begun By H. V. Woodard

There soon will be a new silhouette on Haskell's bustling business horizon.

Plans for the erection of a new 40 by 100 foot all-metal building and addition of other facilities on a larger block of land than that which he now occupies have been announced for Woodard Farm Sales here by H. V. (Woody) Woodard, Haskell businessman and civic leader, who is the owner-operator of the 8-year-old concern.

Woodard said foundation for the expansive steel strand building, involving an expenditure in excess of $15,000, will be started this week, and that the work is being contracted through A. B. Abbott and Sons, of Abilene.

The new facility here will be located on North First Street, which is State Highway 24 in West Haskell, across the road from Woodard's present location, on a tract of land with 168 feet of frontage and 286 feet in depth. Completion is expected between November 15 and December 1, Woodard said.

In announcing the expansion move, Woodard said that with new models being added all the time, "I find it necessary to carry an expanded line of tractors, and hope to provide more and better service over all for customers in this territory."

Tennessee-native Woodard has been a resident of Haskell for 10 years, and has owned his business for eight. He has been a "tractor man" for 25 years, and plans to expand his parts and accessory lines. He supplements his Ford tractors and Ford tractor equipment "main lines" with allied lines of rotary cutters, Graham-Hoeme chisel plows, Dempster products, and haying equipment in season.

Prattle

By AL HINDS

Prattler's Prophecy: Out of my pre-game predictions for last weekend contests, I have had an even 50-50, missing only two. For this weekend games involving the Haskell Indians and teams in the Southwest Conference, I pick 'em like this:

Haskell 12, Anson 6 Indians on the rampage.
Texas over SMU. The Steers, like of man river, just keep rolling along.

Baylor over TCU. Could go either way, but Trull and Company are hot.

Arkansas over A&M. The Porkers are on the rebound.

George Fouts thinks "The Big Lift Exercise" is eating pancakes with a spoon.

A congested situation is prevalent most of the time in the alley on the north side, running from the back of Oates Drug through to the Ben Franklin. As most everyone knows, alleys are used mainly by truckers who move merchandise into the stores, and of course, drivers have to park their trucks in the alley to serve the businesses.

Recently someone left their car parked smack-dab in the middle of the alley, (this has happened time and time again), and traffic could not move in or out for sometime. I am sure motorists do not block the alley purposely, but are just not thinking. However, just think what would happen if a fire broke out in one of the business houses while the alley was blocked. The business could be completely destroyed before firemen and fire trucks could move in to do their work.

The most controversial amendment facing voters in the special election set for Nov. 9, seems to be the poll tax issue. Heading the ballot in the Special Constitutional Amendment Election will be the FOR or AGAINST the Constitution of the State of Texas to repeal the provision making payment of the poll tax a requirement for voting, and so as to authorize the Legislature to provide for the registration of voters.

Putting in my two-cents worth (but if you include inflation) my two-cents worth on today's market would be worth about 5 8/10 of a cent, but anyway, I am again doing away with the $1.75 we pay for the privilege of voicing our opinion at the polls.

One comment went so far recently to say that if "Texas hangs on to the poll tax it would be foolish and unrealistic." I say it just opposite.

If we do not hang onto the poll tax it will be foolish and unrealistic.

If voters decide to do away with the poll tax, I think they soon would regret their choice.

Three other amendments will face voters in the special election November 9.

Number two amendment to be voted on will be FOR, or AGAINST the constitutional amendment providing for assistance payments to the (1) needy aged, (2) needy individuals who are permanently and totally disabled, (3) needy blind and (4) needy children; authorizing the Legislature to set up residence requirements for eligibility; authorizing the Legislature to make appropriations out of the state funds for payment of assistance grants on behalf of such recipients; providing for the acceptance of funds from the Government of the U. S. for the purpose of paying such assistance grants, providing that the amounts expended out of State funds on behalf of individual recipients shall not exceed the amounts that are matchable out of the federal funds; and providing further, that the total amounts expended per year out of the state funds for such assistance payments shall never exceed $60,000,000 (Sixty Million Dollars).

This one sounds good, and perhaps is good, until you read down to the part which says "providing for the acceptance of funds from the Government of the United States for the payment of such assistance grants." From where I sit it means further encroachment of the Federal Government.

No. 3 amendment is FOR or AGAINST the addition of subsection (c) to Section 62 of Article XVI of the Constitution, to authorize all political subdivisions within Jefferson County, Texas to establish, after approval of its voters, a Retirement, Disability and Death Compensation Fund covering all appointive officers and employees of said political subdivisions. "After approval of its voters," sounds OK to this scribe.

No. 4 amendment is FOR or AGAINST the amendment to Section 48-b of Article III of the Constitution of Texas to increase the Veterans' Land Fund by $150,000,000.00; said Fund to be used for the purpose of purchasing land in Texas to be sold to Texas veterans who served in the Armed Services of the United States between Sept. 16, 1940, and March 31, 1945; such funds to be expended in accordance with instructions and requirements provided by law. I'm for the Veterans.

Plucky Indians---

final minute of play, stopped the Indian attack cold for three downs but Conner found a tiny hole over right guard and fought his way for the yard and a half necessary for the touchdown.

Haskell had taken advantage of a punt kicked on the Ballinger one-yard line by Joe Jasselet and a fumble at the same point on the next play by Bearcat Quarterback Gary Brown and recovered by James Ivey to take a first-period lead.

James Davis sneaked over from quarterback to score the six-pointer and Joe Thigpen went wide around his own left end to run over the 2-pointer which actually proved to be the margin of victory for Coach Ray Overton's charges.

Thigpen's tremendous kicking (the averaged 52 yards on three thundering punts) and a timely interception by Wayne Perrin at the Ballinger 19-yard line during a sustained Bearcat march were two of the principal factors keeping Ballinger at bay during most of the first half.

Fast Start
The covered punt came after Ballinger had gotten off to a fast start with a 60-yard drive the first time they got the ball. The drive was halted at the Haskell 18-yard stripe when Thigpen recovered a Ballinger fumble.

Haskell was stopped after a first down and Thigpen boomed off a punt from his own 39-yard line which rolled to the Ballinger one, where Jasselet covered it and prevented it rolling into the end zone.

The Indians had another chance to score in the first period when Conner recovered a Ballinger fumble on the kick-off after Haskell's first touchdown at the Ballinger 22 but the Bearcats jarred an Indian back loose from the ball five plays later at the 14-yard stripe and Billy Dees recovered for Ballinger.

Ballinger threatened early in the second period when Gary Brown, one of two south-passers on the field, hit end Bobby Kurtz with a long pass to the left side from his own 25-yard line and Kurtz lugged it to the Haskell 10 before being hauled down.

One play later, however, Wayne Perrin intercepted a Ballinger pass and moved the ball out to the 12-yard stripe. Neither team mounted a real threat in the third stanza until the closing seconds when Kurtz intercepted a Davis pass on the Haskell 35 and returned it to the 25 yard line. The Bearcats picked up a first down on the 13 on the last play of the third period.

Two plays deep in the fourth period Brown went around left end for the first Ballinger touchdown. A try to run the point failed and Haskell had an 8-6 lead.

Haskell took the return kickoff and James Brown was caught on his own 19 by three Bearcat defenders.

Two plays later, Davis hit Kurtz with a pass to the Haskell 25 but Perrin lost the ball when he was tackled and Kurtz recovered for Ballinger.

The Bearcats, making good use of their multiple offense, moved to the four in five plays and Brown blasted over right tackle for the score.

Tries Pass
Brown attempted to pass for the conversion but was unable to get the pass away and Ballinger had to settle for a 12-8 lead with 6:24 remaining.

After the kick-off Haskell took over on its own 41-yard stripe when Jasselet made a fine run-back to that point.

Two plays later Davis hit Perrin with a pass to the Ballinger 28-yard stripe. Sammy Larned picked up two yards and Davis passed to Ivey to the Ballinger 13-yard line.

An off-sides penalty moved the ball to the eight and Larned, Ivey and Davis carried for short gains in that order to pick up the first down on the three-yard line.

TB Group Plans Christmas Seal Campaign Soon

Twelve board members from five communities attended a planning meeting of the Haskell County Tuberculosis Association Tuesday in the Community Room of the Haskell National Bank here.

Dr. T. W. Williams, president of the group, was in charge of the session at which plans were made to begin work next Tuesday night, Nov. 3, at 7:00 p. m. at the Community Room on the mailing for the annual TB Christmas Seal sale campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Couch, Sr., are co-chairmen of the seal sale drive this year. "Envelope stuffing" will be the principal business of next Tuesday night's session, Dr. Williams reports.

Board members attending from Haskell, Weinert, Rule, O'Brien and Rochester included Dr. Williams, Miss Nettie McCollum and Mrs. W. P. Trice, of Haskell; Mmes. E. T. Fouts and Bishop, of Rule; Elmo Stephens, of O'Brien; Fred Monk, Preston Weinert, M. W. Pheinstler and W. B. Guess, of Weinert; R. A. Shaver, Jr. and Dan Wadzeck, of Rochester.

solicitation in behalf of a $10,450 goal began here Monday.

"When Christ is near, our whole way of life is under challenge," Rev. Finch told his Rotary audience. "In the United Fund campaign, our attitudes are under challenge. Should we exclude Christ at this time?"

The Haskell First Presbyterian Church pastor and civic leader described the United Fund as fundamentally a charitable effort, "which we often view as simply a parting from our money, but, translated from the pure Greek, charity means love, and it is not cold, or impersonal," Rev. Finch pointed out.

He specifically called for participation in the United Fund drive here "as an expression of mutual concern, one for the other, manifested in terms of kindness, and manifested in someone OUTSIDE OURSELVES."

"My appeal is to your heart and conscience to receive these U-F volunteers, who are doing the leg work for you," the advance gifts chairman declared, "and we need to see ourselves as part of the whole."

Concluding his enumeration of the services and the role of some of the most charitable agencies in the Haskell United Fund budget, Rev. Finch emphasized, "We should thank God that we don't need their services, so we give to help others, showing our regard for others by so doing."

Championing the summer recreation programs included in the United Fund Budget, Rev. Finch said it was a case of the "overprivileged being joined by the underprivileged" in throwing up a very important and necessary bulwark against juvenile delinquency.

The Presbyterian minister also asserted that he saw work with the United Fund as "a valid extension of my ministry in this town."

President Ira Hester presided at the meeting, attended by visiting Rotarians from Rule, Stamford, and Kennedy, Texas. He announced that Haskell Rotary placed 10th in attendance in the 41-club Rotary district for September, averaging 94.45 per cent.

Discussion of a Rotary-sponsored carnival to help the high school Spanish Club obtain funds with which to make the annual trip, and participation by Rotary in the community's Christmas parade November 30, also were on President Hester's business agenda. Leo Herren is chairman of the Christmas parade project. Alvin Sherman and E. J. Stewart are co-chairmen of Rotary's annual pet parade held simultaneously with the Christmas season heralding event here.

Beef Cattle Short Course Set At Paint Creek High

A beef cattle short course for adult farmers will be held Nov. 4 through 7, starting next Monday, under the sponsorship of the Paint Creek High School Vocational Agriculture Department, H. P. (Pat) Morrison, superintendent, and W. L. Medford, vocational agriculture teacher, have announced.

James Thornton, beef production specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Animal Husbandry at Texas A&M, will be the instructor in the course.

Thornton is a graduate of Texas Tech, where much of his college work in technical agriculture was in the field of animal husbandry with major emphasis on beef cattle after graduation. He worked as a herdman at the C. E. Yeakum Ranch at Cherokee, Texas, for six months, then taught vocational agriculture at San Saba seven years and at Kerrville three years.

The instructor has a wide and varied experience in training livestock and meat judging teams for state competition in addition to working with beef cattle. He has raised Poland China hogs and has considerable experience as a sheep and goat raiser. He has worked closely with registered breeders, commercial cattlemen, and vocational agriculture students in the fields of beef production.

The short course at Paint Creek is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p. m. Monday in the Vocational Agriculture Building. Other meetings in the series on beef cattle will be held at the convenience of those enrolled. During the dates the short course is in progress, Mr. Thornton will be available to assist cattlemen with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Medford.

Cattlemen interested in attending the short course should write or call Superintendent Morrison or Medford. An entry fee of $2 will be charged. Beef cattle short course certificates will be presented to each enrollee who attends all the training sessions.

Storm Last Week Is Still Being "Adjusted" Here

Haskell this week was still "adjusting" from 40 minutes of violent weather which banged into this tornado-conscious town last Wednesday afternoon, dumping 1.60 inches of rain in record time and pasting the premises with hail ranging from "peejunker" to pullet-egg size.

The frozen stuff pelted down so fast it clogged water drains trying to absorb the rain runoff and could be scooped up by the hand!

The impact of this sudden and freakish localized "spell" which didn't lay the dust in any direction from Haskell that particular afternoon was being felt more and more as insurance adjustors swarmed over rooftops. One locally based company had a total of 103 claims in two days.

It also has been learned since the hail laden cloudburst that Corner Nursery and Floral Company here lost half its greenhouse skylight panes, plus its crysanthemum crop beneath; three large windows on the west side of the Courthouse were cracked by the battering hail; the roof of the First Methodist Church suffered hail damage; and a healthy pecan crop took a severe drubbing.

It probably will be several weeks before the monetary extent of the damages can be accurately evaluated.

Return From Eastern Trip
Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Vogel-sang returned Saturday from a two weeks' visit in Maryland, West Virginia, and Washington, D. C. In Washington they visited Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Vogel-sang and family.

Elementary P-TA Carnival Termed A Huge Success

Total gross income of the annual Halloween Carnival sponsored by the Haskell Elementary School P-TA last Saturday night was approximately $950, exceeding all expectations. Rev. Douglas Finch, president, announced Monday in terming the event a huge success.

Capacity crowds milled the carnival at the Elementary School all evening, and all departments of activity in the festivity and entertainment-laden affair—games, food department booths, and grand prize drawing—reported record intakes of revenue.

Special recognition and thanks were given by P-TA leadership here to the Haskell merchants who donated prizes to carnival showings and the grand prize drawing.

Rev. Finch expressed special gratitude to Mrs. Hess Hart-field for her outstanding work in serving as general manager of affairs and arrangements for the carnival. Mrs. Hart-field "worked diligently for weeks," Rev. Finch said, "to bring the carnival to the satisfactory culmination that everybody happily experienced on Saturday night, and the entire P-TA is deeply indebted to her for her efforts in its behalf."

The unofficial tally of income of the carnival came to approximately $846. In addition to this $100.50 was taken in through schoolroom collections, bringing the total gross income to about $950. Official totals will be given at the next meeting of the P-TA.

The P-TA president also expressed his gratitude on behalf of the P-TA for the cooperation received from parents and teachers, and from Travis Smith, principal of the school. "The generosity of really made success," Rev.

Latin-American GI Forum To Be Established Here

A GI Forum chapter with a membership embracing Latin-American residents from six counties was organized when approximately 250 Latin-Americans met here Sunday.

The chapter, executive branch of which will be headquartered in Haskell, will have members from Jones, Haskell, Knox, Foard, Baylor and Stonewall Counties.

One of the principal aims and objects of the Forum organization will be to encourage Latin Americans in this area to acquire an education.

Gregory Pedroza, of Haskell, one of the officers of the newly organized Latin-American group, said other immediate purposes of the GI Forum will be to substantially support the United Fund campaign now under way and lead other Latin-Americans in the paths of responsible, law-abiding citizenship.

Gregorio E. Coronado, Lubbock attorney, was the guest speaker here, and found a great enthusiasm and interest among his 250 listeners for the educational, civic and legislative aims of the Forum.

Officers elected were Pete Perez, of Rochester, chairman; Martin Galindo, Haskell, vice chairman; Pedroza, Haskell, treasurer; Felipe Arendondo, Haskell, secretary; Jessie Mun-guia, Haskell, vocal; Victor Sanchez, Haskell, guardian; Tony Silba, Knox City, sergeant-at-arms; Daniel Caram, Munday, parliamentarian; Juan Lopez, Stamford, public relations.

Official delegates elected to the Forum are Felix Martinez, Anson; Chano Martinez, Hamlin; Santos Ortiz, Aspermont; Manuel Alcides, O'Brien; Jamie Quintana, Truscott; Domingo Martinez, Crowell; Manuel Fuentez, Rule; and Augustin Ramirez, Seymour.

Father Roger H. Nuytten, Catholic priest in the Stamford-Haskell parish, gave the invocation at the meeting.

First Baptist Church

Our Church Is Interested In People!

Each Sunday several thousand people in our city stay at home because they have not found a church! They want a church that is friendly, where they like the minister, where they "can get something from the sermon," one that has a strong program of education—one that will help them grow closer to God... but also they want a church that is practical and helps a person meet everyday situations.

Our wonderful church is making a great effort to be this kind of church! If you know one of the thousands in our city who has planned to go to church—but keeps putting it off—we urge you to invite that person to worship with us!
